News of the Week THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS, AUTHOR OF "MARGARET GARRETT'S HUSBAND," AND OTHER NOTABLE STORIES.

CHAPTER LXXVI
Although Ruth has guests Brian goes to "School."

But Ruth's gay spirits soon made him forget Mollie and his own passive deception. She told him as much of her business matters as she thought would interest him, then of her trip down on the train, repeating in a manner that the time passed quickly. Passed too without as much as one thought straying Mollieward.

The tension so often present was not felt between them. In fact, it had been a long time since they had passed so pleasant an evening together alone. Yet unconsciously Brian had seen Mollie and if he had dined with her.

Here were two people in love with each other, but because of the foolish pride of one, they were actually writing apart when the very thing which caused the proud attitude should have brought them together. Ruth cared nothing for money, she would make her own money, she was comfortable and so happier. She considered his objection to her working foolish, and thought that soon he would look at it from her viewpoint.

The next evening as soon as they finished dinner, Brian put on his hat. In response to Ruth's query as to where he was going, he returned: "Have you forgotten that I take my typewriting lesson to-night?"

"Oh, dear, how stupid of me, I had forgotten and asked Mr. and Mrs. Roberts in to play cards. We'll have to play three handed, that is all," she tried to hide her disappointment. Brian was doing something to increase his efficiency in his office to save money at the same time; she must not discourage him. It wasn't the money he would save that she pealed to her; it was the idea that at last he was bestirring himself. "Never mind, you will be home in time for the rabbit," she added brightly. "I'll not start it until near by eleven," she kissed him good-bye and patted him on the shoulder in a motherly sort of a way. She hated to have him spend his evenings away from her; but she would not say or do a thing to make him feel that she disapproved. Really she didn't; she was proud that he had thought of doing something, anything, no matter what it was.

Brian's optimistic attitude with out the effort required to make it come true, had worried Ruth. He was always "going to get there," but it was "some day," not now.

While they were so comfortable as regarded money (owing to her salary) Ruth cared little for what the financial returns might be for the present. What she wanted longed for was his success, his recognition as a lawyer. In other words she wanted to be proud of him. Often Clara Roberts would tell her of something Kenyon had done which, while it meant very little to her in a monetary way, it meant a great deal in that it influenced faith in him as a rising young lawyer; and one who in time would be recognized as such.

Clara was so proud of Kenyon, she would do so making Ruth feel that she would like to see the same direction.

She greeted her guests brightly, explaining that Brian had commenced to study typing while she was away; and that he had agreed to give up two evenings a week to it.

"I taught myself," Kenyon Roberts laughed, "not because I particularly wanted to, but because I had money to pay for tuition. But no money to pay for a machine properly, so though I manage to turn out pretty good looking letters and briefs, it is quite a saving, and unfortunately a young lawyer needs to save, and he is awfully hard to have him go out on his own stuff. I regret I did not get a touch system, and think Brian is wise to go at it systematically. It won't take him long to learn, he is quick to grasp anything."

"Indeed he is," Ruth answered proudly as she set up the card table. It swiftly hastened to have him go out to-night, but I would not let him see it. He is so good about my work, and I have to be away so much."

There was a peculiar look upon Kenyon Roberts' face when Ruth spoke about Brian's goodness when she was obliged to be away, which she fortunately did not notice. He had seen Brian, unobserved by the latter, several times with his arms full of parcels, hurrying in the direction of Washington Square. And Clara had told her that Mollie King, whom Brian used to know intimately, lived down there, he had two and two together and made four, without any trouble. But she had not seen him, and had as yet not mentioned it even to Clara.

"Brian came in about half-past ten," Ruth had just gone into the kitchen to make the coffee. Clara was sitting at the table, her eyes fixed on Kenyon Roberts.

"What business school are you attending?" Kenyon Roberts asked.

"Oh, one down in the vicinity of the Capitol," Brian answered, glad that Ruth was not in the room to hear the question.

Getting Back Three Million Dollars

THE PAPER CONTROLLER for Canada a few weeks ago added $12 a ton to the price of news print paper—the kind used in printing the Courier. This addition, following closely upon several previous increases authorized by the Paper Controller, has meant to Canadian newspaper publishers a total increased publishing cost, in the market of paper alone, in the past eighteen months, of three million dollars. This very considerable sum Canadian publishers must recover from their customers, their readers and advertisers.

In connection with the earlier increases the readers of many daily newspapers have been required to pay $1 or more per year for their newspapers, while the subscription price of very many weekly newspapers has been increased from 50 to 100 per cent. In many cases still further increases will be necessary.

But all the three million dollars increase in paper costs cannot be loaded on readers; some of this sum must come from the advertisers—this in the form of increased advertising rates. Advertising rates in Canada are generally speaking, much lower per thousand in circulation than in the United States. Speaking on this point the editor of Marketing, a Canadian advertiser's newspaper published in Toronto, says in his last issue: "In meeting the Canadian publishers' calls for higher rates, advertising buyers should not fail to recognize that for years they have benefited by the publisher's undervaluation of his space, and should be the more willing on that account to recognize the present necessities." To all of which The Courier assents.

ONE FINAL EFFORT.
 Residents of the city and county have done splendidly during the last few days in the matter of Victory Loan subscriptions, but still more can be accomplished in the last remaining hours.

Up until midnight the great opportunity is open not only to render a great patriotic service, but also to gain personal advantage, as well as securing some of the bonds.

Now then, one last final effort all together on behalf of sending the returns from city and county well over the top.

The boys at the front have never once failed in their duty—in this regard even at the cost of life itself. Can anyone of us afford to do less than they, especially when there is no personal danger, but only personal gain involved?

If you have already done something, do still more.

If you haven't done anything, see to it that you make every effort even in these last moments to get out of the slacker class.

MANY MATTERS TO BE LOOKED AFTER.

Paradoxical as it may sound a war is not finished when it is announced to have been ended. All of history shows that. For instance, it took a very long time indeed before adjustments were finally made after the final defeat of Napoleon at Waterloo and most people will recall the lengthy work which Kitchener had to do after the Empire had celebrated Victoria Day in the Boer struggle.

As the outcome of such upheavals there is always more or less debris to be cleared away and there is going to be more than ever of this sort of thing in connection with the tragedy that ended. There are the designs of the various defeated races which have hitherto formed the polyglot nations known as Austro-Hungary, the Ottoman Empire, the Balkan States are always ready to reach out for more than their share of anything that is going on top of that the street and the menace in Germany is undoubtedly most acute with a strong undercurrent of Bolshevism, which may develop into an over-sweeping flood. When France accepted the terms of Germany in 1793 Alsace and the largest part of Lorraine were not only ceded to the conquerors, but in addition there was a levy of five milliards (a milliard is a thousand millions) and German garrisons were to remain on French soil until all was paid. This they did. In the case of the indemnities to be demanded from Germany a similar course will have to be pursued, but under conditions far more difficult than was the case with the France of the 70's. That country was not depleted in cash and other resources as the Fatherland is to-day, neither did the spectre of threatened famine and anarchy stalk the land. There is Russia also, to be rehabilitated, a Herculean task. Under all the circumstances there is still very much for Allied armies and also the navies to accomplish before the map of Europe can be finally altered.

In domestic matters also the Allied countries have many matters of vital importance to face. It is not going to be the same world as before the war and it may be taken for granted that a number of sweeping changes will be inaugurated. The reconstructive period will likewise prove a time of much strain. With war production industries suddenly checked and with vast numbers of men returning from the front to resume occupations there is certain to be much dislocation. In short it will probably prove an era of very much the same pattern as that which existed during the first twelve months after the commencement of hostilities. As far as Canada is concerned her agricultural implement factories should become exceedingly busy to the replacement of farm implements that over four years of devastation had which has been practically a total loss. Industrial goods will have to be produced in vast quantities to supply the broken countries overseas, highways and other kindred enterprises, including ship building, should find employment for vast numbers and in addition the keen competition of Germany will no longer be such a factor as it was formerly. In the matter of the world, as for the farmer his prices are certain to remain at a firm and remunerative figure for a long time to come. With wise direction then the usual slump which has taken place after other great wars should be very largely minimized until there is once more an all round steady state. Certainly this great Dominion with its plentiful resources and possibilities should feel the jolt almost less than any other land.

THE BACK TO THE LAND CRY.

The Courier has previously expressed the opinion that the "back to the land" program for returned soldiers was a more easily written slogan than actual experience might implement. As a matter of fact men who have served their country on the battlefields become part and parcel of a comradeship which cannot be gratified in newly settled districts and for this and other reasons, tilling of the land is not likely to make much of an appeal to them.

Col. Geo. C. Nesmitt, M.D., who has had a large experience among the men on the firing line and the wounded soldiers in the hospitals, likewise does not believe that many of them will settle on the land. He was strongly in favor of land settlement as a solution of the problem, but his experience has led him to believe that a very small proportion of the returned men will take up farms, and gives reasons why he has come to this conclusion. He says: "I spent many an evening in France, in our little mess, discussing the problem of what the men would want to do when they returned, and how they would be absorbed into the life of the community. From what we had seen we came to the conclusion that many of the men who had been working in clerical positions in cities, now that they had a taste of life in the open, and had become rugged would go to the farm in preference to the city. But we have had to reverse that conclusion. We now find that the men, even those who had come from the land, will not go back to the farm when they come home, because, for one reason, they have become more or less gregarious; they have lived together, and men who had lived a lonely life before, they have made strong friendships, and they have come to a different point of view on almost everything."

During the course of a recent talk upon the subject, he concluded: "Economic conditions after the war will play a large part in the absorption of the returned soldiers. Whether competition be great or not I do not think these men will go on the land unless some means can be provided whereby they can live together and have a community life. I do not think they will consider for one moment going back on those large farms on the prairie."

It will thus be seen that the Colonel not only considers that "back to the land" will fall as an attractive cry for those returned men who have not hitherto been engaged in farm work, but in addition that those who have been agriculturists will seek other fields of opportunity.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Still time to get in on the Victory Loan and not feel lonely.

Just about time to be planning for that Christmas shopping.

The great peace congress of the Allies will assemble at an earlier date than expected because of the threatened troubles in Europe. Then the real troubles of the Hapsburg and Hohenzollern outfits should also commence if justice is done.

Ottawa thinks that the ex-Kaiser may be interested in the ownership of lands in Canada valued at millions and owned by a German-American syndicate. If so confiscation should be the immediate order.

It is finally announced that the erstwhile heir to the German throne has followed the example of his taken refuge in Holland. They are a safety first bunch, all right.

The Toronto Globe has a learned editorial on "The Beauty of Curves." What charming young things was in the editorial eye when that was written?

An American mission will go to Spa. As for the Crown Prince he has gone to his pa.

The crews of German U-boats at a mass meeting renegated their oaths and avowed that they would still continue the undersea warfare. They are thirsting for more blood and should be accommodated with their own as a sample.

Your Problems Solved

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D. (All rights reserved.)

Dr. Linscott in this column will help you solve your heart problems, religious, medical, social, financial and every other anxious care that perplexes you. The Trinity—A Theological Student asks: "What is the explanation of the Trinity?" Theologians speak of this subject as a profound mystery, but really it has ceased to be a mystery to me. Christians do not believe in three Gods, but in one, but that there are three personal manifestations of God, God dwelt in Jesus, so that he had the power of God in performing his divine mission. Hence we believe in Christ's Deity. The Holy Spirit which Jesus sent to the earth is the Spirit of Jesus, and therefore we truthfully say that the Holy Spirit is God.

"An Anxious Mother" with four boys and two daughters to support wants my advice. I can only answer your question here in general, but I send a full answer by mail. Your shoulders will be made strong enough to bear the burden placed upon them, so cheer up and say, "Be gone dull care." I do not know what work you are capable of. Do the thing which comes next to your mind and that will bring you to something else, if the first should prove not to be your right calling. If you speak as well as you write you could make a lot of money as a specialty saleslady.

 Dear Sir,—At a recent meeting of the Civil Servants of Brantford held in the Post Office, a resolution of appreciation and thanks was passed for the influence you used on their behalf with your editorials, relative to the Memorial of October 28, 1918. I have much pleasure in commending same to you.

TRY TO DODGE OBLIGATION.

By Courier Leased Wire.
 London, Nov. 15.—British newspapers comment on the fact that considerable anxiety is being displayed by the German capitalist classes in efforts to evade the war charges facing their country. The wealthier Germans are said to be transferring large amounts of money to neutral countries. The result of this policy is pointed out would naturally be to shift the burden of the war onto the shoulders of the poorer classes.

The Times and other London papers declare that the Allied Governments will not allow slackery of this sort to interfere with any rightful demands which they may make upon German resources. This is declared to be realized by financiers in neutral countries, who look upon the manoeuvres of the German capitalists with suspicion.

War Surpluses.

The greatest auction sale in the world is now being prepared. The vendors are the British Government, the articles of sale varying from blankets to typewriters, from saddles to motor cars. The preliminary catalogue of surplus stores which will be available for disposal as soon as peace is declared is now available. Do you wish to buy a railway motor-omnibus, an airplane, a machine, a tank, or merely some everyday article such as a bicycle or a lawn-mower? You will find it in the catalogue, and when the goods will be disposed of is not yet decided, but the catalogues are being prepared in greater detail and will shortly be available. This.

The Digitized Brigades.

London railway stations have afforded some amusing sights, during these last few years, but none quite so remarkable as that seen on the August holiday. Digitized regiments of the British army were seen by some war-worn subscribers who had a "We would not have missed it for anything" look about them. It was a brilliant general in scarlet livery, decorated with gold braid, straddling his own luggage on a hand truck from the arrival platform to the station yard, in the evident hope, poor man, of finding a taxi.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S PEPPERMINT CURE FOR COUGHS.

MUST SAVE MEAT.

Famous St. Bernard Dogs Have Been Killed.
 All but one of the famous St. Bernard dogs kept by the monks of that ancient monastery in the Alps have been killed. Shortage of meat caused by the war led to this massacre.

The St. Bernard Pass is of historical renown. It connects the valleys of the Rhone and the Dora Baltea. It was traversed by Roman legions thousands of years ago. In medieval times the pass served as a route for pilgrims and the heads of mercenaries. Napoleon crossed the Alps at this point in 1800.

The great monastery was built in the middle of the 16th century. It was a relief station for a host of travellers who were surprised by snowdrifts while crossing the pass. The St. Bernard dogs were used to find the frozen victims of the storms. It is known that a dog was specially trained for this work of relief and carried the first aid to the injured in a little basket attached to their collars. These dogs reached thousands of lives, and being many of whom were of historical prominence. And for the first time in the history of this famous monastery the dogs had to be slaughtered for want of food.

Another time a report of this sort would create profound interest in Paris, but at present the human race is thinking of its own necessities and cares less about dog heroes. Living more or less on the edge of the surface of the sea.

To-day the people of France are restricted in the consumption of food in the matter of which dough or flour is used and sugar. There are three meatless days, and to prevent anyone buying meat in advance the rule restricts purchases to 200 grams of meat on a day preceding a meatless day.

The sale of meat is prohibited on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. In hotels and restaurants no guest is entitled to more than 100 grams of meat as part of a meal Tuesday. This restriction is aimed at hoarding. Even slaughter houses are entirely closed the meatless days. Thus the attempt is made to prevent as far as possible any violation of the rule. Of course any attempt at enforcing restrictions of this sort in the provinces would be needless. French peasants eat little meat, once or twice a week at the most, if at all.

The average Englishman consumes much more meat. England had three meatless days a week applied to restaurants and similar dining-rooms, beginning with the Sunday of St. Martin. However, these meatless days were abolished, the order taking effect May 17 this year. In place of the former restriction a meat card was issued. This card entitles the holder to a certain amount of meat which he may buy four specified days of the week. Englishmen are accumulating about double the amount of meat eaten by the same number of Frenchmen.

French brigades in medals, the more remarkable as it accompanied by a similar and much more drastic restriction in the consumption of bread. The rationing of bread, as a means of saving time, is a general one who wears a decoration and orders an extra portion of bread.

Bread has been the staff of life for the French people. Still France is in a better position than adjacent countries. Meat is very scarce and costly in Belgium. In Antwerp one has to pay 30 francs for a pound of meat, and 30 francs for a pound of bacon. In Madrid near Antwerp a butter paid 22 francs for a two-year-old steer. Cows are sold for 5,000 and goats for 500 francs.

At Val de Travers, Switzerland, two hundred and fifty of the Government having violated the price of calves. The butchers were fined 1,500 francs each and will have to pay the cost of the trial, while fifteen farmers to whom the butchers had paid more than the maximum price allowed, were acquitted by the jury.

In the course of proceedings in the court it was shown that an army officer of the Commissary Department in buying cattle for the army had also paid more than the maximum price permitted. Now the state's attorney is going to prosecute the army officer for the same offence for which the two butchers were found guilty.

In Vienna meat rations for hotels, dining-rooms and boarding-houses were cut 20 per cent, beginning July 1. Even the supplies for hospitals were reduced to per cent. The cost of increased prices.

IN MEMORIAM.
RICHARDS—In loving memory of William D. B. Richards, who died in Brantford, on Nov. 17, 1917.
Sleep on and take thy rest, lad,
Far away from the world's care and pain.
Sleep on till the Great Day of Meeting,
When we never shall part again.
Though our hearts are heavy with sorrow,
And the parting seems hard to bear,
We know you are safe with the Saviour,
We leave you in His care.
—Father, Mother, Brother & Sister.

HIRD—In loving memory of Gunner Thomas John Hird, who was killed in action at Passchendaele, on November 16th, 1917, aged 24 years and nine months.
Duty called and he was there
To do his bit and do his share,
His heart was good, his spirit brave;
His resting place a hero's grave.
God knows how much we miss him,
He knows the tears we've shed,
And whispers "Hush, he only sleeps,
Your loved one is not dead."
The happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still,
No morning dawns, no light returns,
But what we think of him.

COULDN'T FIND THE RAILROAD.
"I do hereby declare that after diligent search I have been unable to find the within named garnishee defendant the Michigan Central Railway Company," is the remarkable endorsement of a writ recently returned unserved by the Detroit sheriff's office, an attached note explained that the company was not subject to garnishee, since American railroads had been taken over by the Government.

HIS PROPHECIES ALL CAME TRUE.
Rev. Walter Wynne, a Londoner, ranks as a true prophet. Having his predictions on Biblical study, he foretold the exact date of Jerusalem's fall last year, the reverses sustained by the German armies this year, and that the Hun would sue for peace before October 15, and an armistice would be arranged this month.

Successful Year's Work Was Reviewed by Y.M.

Adjourned Annual Meeting of Directors Was Held Last Night
OFFICERS ELECTED
The fifty-first annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. was held in the Red Triangle club room last night, there being a representative attendance of the board and active membership.
Mr. H. Ryerson, who has been president during the trying war years, occupied the chair, and expressed his gratitude for the work done by the board and active membership during his term of office.
Rev. J. W. Gordon conducted the devotional exercises.
The report of the boys' work was presented by the boys' work secretary, Mr. A. W. Geddes.
Geo. H. Williamson presented the General Secretary's annual report. Both reports indicated good progress in the past year, and a resolution was passed expressing the appreciation of the meeting of the entire staff of officers, who have charge of the building.
Mr. C. Cook presented the report of the treasurer, which while it showed a deficit of $7700, was explained by reason of the heavy fuel bills and increasing cost of maintenance.
This will be fully overcome in the new year by the readjusted membership rates.
Mr. Geo. Whitwill presented the nominating committee's report, recommending the following for the term of 1919: President, J. M. Young, C. Cook, P. H. Secord, Andrew McFarland, Major E. Sweet.
Following the annual meeting, the board met and elected officers for the year, the results being as follows:
Hon. Pres.—Geo. Wedlake.
President—J. M. Young.
Vice-Pres.—Jon. Reilly.
Treasurer—C. Cook.
Rec. Sec.—G. G. Scott.
A warm tribute and resolution recorded of the services of Mr. J. M. Young, who retired from the position of Rec. Secretary after seven years of excellent service.
President-elect Young paid a high tribute to the work of Mr. P. H. Ryerson, stating a few of the major points of his service. He had been true in all details in the matter of building management, the

AT MIDNIGHT=

If you have not already subscribed to the Victory Loan you will lose your last chance to subscribe to a Canadian War Loan . . .

BEHIND Canada lies fifty months of blood and anguish, fifty months of trial and sacrifice--of glorious triumphant battling against the hosts of evil.

And now in the surging joy of victory comes to us a sobering sense of duty yet to be performed

Canada's part in the finish of the war must be as well done as was her part in fighting and winning it.

Canada's great duty to her living and dead must be met with the same manliness, seriousness and determination which has won her the respect and admiration of the world in waging war.

Canada's Victory Loan, 1918, must be oversubscribed--that Canada, in peace may discharge responsibilities which the war has thrust upon her willing shoulders.

Canadians, let us, with devoutly thankful hearts, and proud consciousness of duty well done, finish our great task and oversubscribe the 1918 loan.

'FLU SPREADS OVER CIVILIZED WORLD

Germ Eludes Bacteriologists and Health Authorities Are Baffled

The influenza epidemic continues unabated. Its ravages are not confined to this city or even to Canada, and cables from all parts of the world rather spreading over the civilized world. It has baffled medical skill to an unusual extent and has claimed more victims perhaps than any other epidemic in a century of years. The germ has eluded the bacteriologists and medical men now agree that the best cure is prevention.

The greatest prevention is to build up the body powers of resistance and to get the system into the best physical condition possible. It is now universally agreed that it is possible to perfect the powers of resistance of the human system so that it can throw off almost any infection not excepting Spanish influenza.

It has been discovered that persons who are nervous and run-down are the earliest victims, and if you find yourself tired or weak and losing flesh or if you are in a generally run-down condition and below your normal weight, this warning should be heeded promptly.

If you are in this condition nothing on earth will build you up and strengthen you like Tonic, which contains the most powerful tonic properties known to science. As a reconstructive tonic and system builder it is without equal and contains the very element needed by the system to give you fighting strength to ward off the influenza germ. This is a statement of facts and is supported by the recognized authorities and reference works, including the United States Dispensary and the Encyclopedia Britannica and leading text books used in the school of medicine. This statement is further proved by the fact that millions of persons who have actually taken Tonic have testified to its extraordinary merit as a medicine and by the fact that Tonic is today having the greatest sale of any tonic on the market, over eleven million bottles having been sold within the past three years.

Tonic is also the ideal strengthening tonic for persons who are suffering from the after-effects of influenza, grippe or bronchial troubles and hundreds of thousands are using it daily with the most gratifying results.

In connection with the Tonic treatment it is necessary to keep the bowels open by taking Tonic Laxative Tablets, samples of which are included with every bottle of Tonic.

Tonic is sold in Brantford by Robertson's Drug Store, in Paris by the Apps Ltd., in Mt. Vernon by A. J. Peck, in Middleport by William Peckie, in Onondaga by Neil McPhaden.

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENT IN QUEBEC

The construction and completion of the Quebec Bridge attracted the attention of North America. Another great work has been under way, and is now complete, Mount Royal Tunnel, Montreal. BOARD OF TRADE APPOINTED ITS DELEGATION RE HIGHWAY

Other Committees Also Named at the Meeting Last Night—$6300 Raised For Victory Loan; Problems of Peace as Seen by W. F. Cockshutt

At the Board of Trade meeting last night there was a large attendance. In opening the meeting, the president, Mr. C. G. Ellis, said: "Since our last meeting a great and glorious victory has crowned the efforts of the Allied Canadian share in this great war has been conspicuous. Our soldiers have fought and died for liberty. Our money and resources have been used without stint. Canada has taken her proper place among the nations—Canada will have her place at the peace table."

For the future optimism is our watchword. The public must exercise prudence, yet with courage face the issue. The president of the U. S. Steel Corporation says: "It is easy to pessimise as a result of demoralization and it is as easy to see a feeling of confidence. Let us rather be optimistic, for we have every reason to believe that Canada will have greater prosperity than ever."

The president then went on to explain the work that the board had been doing during the summer and fall, dwelling particularly on the work of General Foster, the Board of Trade expert organizer, who has agreed to return on the 29th inst. to give the board the benefit of his experience. The formation of the Ontario Fire Prevention League, a branch and chapter of which will be organized here at an early date. The Spanish influenza, with an appreciation of the efforts of the Board of Health and of the noble services of the men and women in nursing and otherwise caring for the stricken ones.

Later in the evening on the suggestion of Mr. Spence, it was decided to appoint a committee to act with similar committees of the City Council, the Hospital Board, the Medical Association, the Trades and Labor Council, the Municipal Alliance, etc., to take suitable action in regard to those of them who

The official organ of the Journeymen Tailors' International Union contains a warning that union tailors in Ottawa and Brockville are on strike for union wages, and knights of the needle should give the fact the fullest possible publicity.

Once again the men and women who carry the union card have shown unmistakably that they are not in the weaker class, and it did not need an outside counsel to force them to go over the top either. From all sides the tollers in the workshops, the factories and the munition plants are being heartily commended for the splendid manner in which they have responded to the Victory Loan appeal.

"Labor unionism is justified by its accomplishments. It has elevated the workingman's standard of living, has given him higher wages, more leisure, better working conditions, increased his efficiency, diminished accidents, averted disease, has kept the children in school and raised the moral tone of the home. It is unbefitting for a non-unionist, after reaping all its benefits with union labor, to denounce it."—Rev. J. C. Armstrong, Superior, Wisconsin.

The wages of the boot and shoe workers employed in the plant of the Regent Shoe Company, Toronto, have been increased ten per cent as the result of peaceful negotiations carried on by Organizer E. W. A. O'Brien of the International Union and Business Agent Walter Brown, of the local Boot and Shoe Workers' Union. Negotiations with other local firms have progressed satisfactorily and it is expected that agreements will be reached with all of them.

DANDRUFF GOES! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Save Your Hair! Double its Beauty in a Few Months. Dandruff is the enemy of the hair. It keeps the hair from growing all over the scalp. A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, brittle, brittle and scraggy. Just rub a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, lustrous, and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair beauty.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Rippling Rhymes

THE FIRST PLOW. Old Tuba! Cain was badly bored by all the wrangles of his day; he made a plowshare of a sword, and thought that war was 'done away.' "Gee whiz," he said, "when people see how much a plowshare beats a sword, they'll get a forge and try like me, to safely earn their bread and board. The tools of war I laugh to scorn, no worky triumphs have they you; a man can't cultivate his corn with any sort of patent gun. War makes the weary man, and agriculture makes them grin; no husbandman can shear his sheep with 'n' catapult or culverin." Alas for good old Tuba! Cain, and all the lessons that he taught! His bright example was in vain, for ever since we've scrapped and fought. The steel that should have made a spade, if we had followed up his plan, was used to form a flashing blade, with which to carve our fellowman. The metal that would form a plow became a sword of weight and size, to slice a fellow from his brow clear down to where his wishbone lies. I wonder if we're wiser now, since war has bled the nations white? Shall we proceed to make a plow, and say to swords and guns, "Good night?" Or will we rest nine years or ten, and then get hungry for a scrap, and say, "Give me the sword again—we want to disarrange the map?" by the President or

SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

THE REY. Charming and dainty, Enid Bennett will appear in her newest Thomas H. Ince-Parmount picture, "The Biggest Show on Earth," at the Rex next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The unusual character of the picture, its dramatic action and superb photography, made a deep impression upon the audience and tended to enhance Miss Bennett's popularity among her admirers in this city.

Old men in the audience were reminded of their youthful days by the scenes depicting life in the circus, the presence of wild animals in cages and the thrilling scenes where Miss Bennett, as Roxie Kemp, entered a cage of lions and charmed them by the force of her eyes.

Aside from these incidents, the story has a well sustained plot, which is carried out to a dramatic and logical conclusion.

"JUST FOR TO-NIGHT." Tom Moore's world of admirers will find him more delightfully entertaining than ever when he appears as a "Goldwyn" star in "Just for To-night" at the Rex Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Goldwyn could not have obtained a better medium for introducing the popular screen player as one of its famous group of stars.

"Just for To-night" tells the story of a man who, in his adventure-filled quest of love, is confronted by situations that would have balked a less determined person than Theodore Whitney, Jr. (played by Tom Moore). The girl for whom he risks all, hides her identity from him for some strange reason, and that adds to his many trials, she is the niece of Major Blackburn, whose home has been robbed of costly jewels. At the same time Whitney's father is shocked by the loss of a valuable mining stock certificate. And the same detectives are employed on both cases. The girl has an affair with a mysterious man who meets at frequent intervals at night on the lawn. This leads the detectives to suspect her of the robbery, but when the major is informed of their suspicions he orders the detectives from his house.

But both mysteries are solved when Whitney poses as Lord Roxenham at the Blackburn home. How he later recovers the missing certificate and uncovers a band of jewel robbers after being exposed as an impostor brings a thrilling climax and supplies a splendid setting for a love scene with Whitney and the girl as the principal figures.

"GENERAL POST." What is regarded as one of the most important theatrical engagements of the new season is announced for the Grand Opera House, Monday, Nov. 18th, when Thos. A. Wise and Edward H. Robins, America's foremost stars will appear with a distinguished New York company in "General Post," the sensational comedy success of the season.

"General Post" is not a war play. It was written for laughing purposes, and there is not a dull moment throughout its three acts. It derives its name from the old English game of stage coach when "General Office" was called, all changed places, in the play you find peers, in the ranks and tailors in command. How the elderly old baronet tries to extricate himself from the unpleasant position of having to stand at attention before his colonel, his erstwhile despised tailor, is only one of the many ludicrous scenes.

THE BRANT. From society dramas to photoplays of the road, is only an ordinary step for a screen star of the ability of Douglas Fairbanks, and as a result of this versatility, the athlete and smiling Artistic star will be seen in the role of a tramp in his newest photoplay, "He Comes Up Smiling," which will be displayed at the Brant Theatre next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday.

The scenario was written by Frances Marion, from the famous stage comedy by Byron Ongley and Emile Meyer, which in turn was based upon the celebrated novel by Bobbs, Merrill Co. Mr. Fairbanks appeared in the original cast when

Music in the Home

WHERE HYMN-SINGING CAN BE IMPROVED. It is the observation of a Canon of the Anglican Church that people often take their theology from hymns, and that a conception, true or untrue, of the whole appeal and force of religion is often formed from this source. Probably few could disagree with the canon's statement for it is patent to everyone that music occupies a most prominent place in religious life, especially the singing of hymns, which in the average church service is the people's portion of the service.

To be given its proper place, hymn singing must be intelligent and sincere. In the great majority of cases, however, the congregational music may be sincere, but so often it is not intelligent or at least as intelligent as it might be. Familiar words are repeated without a realization of their meaning. By an unvarnished break at the end of a line, perhaps, the actual words sing false to make sense at all. Slurred singing is not apt to have the influence for good it is intended to have. But on the other hand, the proper rendering of hymns is one of the most powerful influences in church music. In this respect a marked improvement is apparent to-day, yet there does not appear to be a corresponding improvement in the music of the hymns. A correct rendering of the words is much bettered by a correct rendering of the musical accompaniment. Congregational singing will reach its highest standard when people are taught from childhood to read music naturally as they read books.

knows his work better than it ever did before. Again the acute situation which has formed the building up of a good vocal section, has compelled the leader and his chief workers to go out into the highways and byways seeking out new members, and this in some cases has met with more success than had been hoped for.

No doubt in some churches, war conditions have tended to make the choir singers ease up on their former regular attendance, flooding the stress of calls on their time. In other instances the members have been even more loyal than previously. One case comes to mind of a young soprano singer who was doing more than her share of Red Cross work but who always reserved the Friday nights because she said "I need the church, relaxation and enjoyment that the weekly practice has always afforded." Further, the years of war have driven many a choir member from the feeling that they were just a big family. As choir members went overseas they met to make him a presentation. Periodically they were called together to fill a box for each of the boys across the ocean. Members would ask others, on meeting, of the best word from brothers at the front and this common bond cemented closer relationships.

THE NOTES. Many teachers endeavor mistakenly to correct the common error of straddling the notes pupil striking the time instead of holding the two notes as one) by crossing out the second note with a good deal of pencil scribble. Nothing could be a more flagrant violation of the two strike principles of teaching; it puts the blame on the wrong shoulder. If he not the copy which needs correction, but the pupil. Further, it is hard to defeat the very thing the composer had in view in writing the notes—namely, to have the tone sustained for a definite length of time, equal to the sum of the two tied notes.

A GLANCE AT CHOIR CONDITIONS. The dwindling of the male section in many a choir through the men being overseas or too busy with other necessary things, has been a heart-break to the leader. But improvements have been accomplished in other directions. The women's voices have been better trained. When there are only two practices, the leader is too considerate to insist on either of these parts going over and over a difficult passage. Yet with 15 to 20 soprano and two-thirds that number of contraltos facing him, he has no communication about drilling them hard. The result is in some choirs a contrast, the female section NERVOUS AILMENTS. Few people realize that nervous ailments often arise from digestive troubles and, if untreated, in some cases, to direct food poisoning. Then the system languishes and the nerves become exhausted in striving to continue their work. Impure blood also causes nerve troubles and the cause lies in the stomach, where the mischief starts. As the nourishment is carried to the nerves by the blood, it will be seen what an important condition the system depends upon. The nerves and the blood, and how such troubles as nervous headaches, nervous dyspepsia and insomnia may begin.

In such cases relief is usually obtainable by means of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills replenish the blood with the food elements on which the nerves thrive; at the same time they exercise a tonic influence on the digestive organs, enabling the system to derive nourishment from the food taken. By this perfectly natural process nervous ailments are steadily dispelled by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you are suffering from nervous or require a blood-making tonic, give these pills a fair trial, and see how speedily the best of health will be yours.

THE COMMUNITY CHORUS. The question has been raised as to whether the Community Chorus is to be merely a social factor or to develop real musical significance. Musicians will find it worth while to give some thought to this idea and in accordance with their observations and conclusions take part in the effort to promote the movement. In some localities it may seem to be desirable to attempt the larger work, even those of oratorio style in other instances it may be much more advisable to keep to the smaller pieces and sing the folk songs, or simple four part choruses of a patriotic or national character.

ELEVEN QUESTIONS THAT SHOULD MAKE YOU THINK

- 1—Have you bought Victory Bonds?
- 2—Have you bought to the limit of your resources?
- 3—Is it not possible for you to buy another bond?
- 4—Have all the members of your household bought bonds?
- 5—Do your neighbors know you have bought bonds?
(Set a Good Example by displaying your Honor Card or Poster in your Window)
- 6—Have you put the same spirit of sacrifice into your bond buying as did our soldiers in their gallant fighting at Ypres, Vimy Ridge, Courcellette, Passchendaele, Cambrai and Mons?
- 7—Can you look a maimed soldier in the eye and feel that in your bond buying, you have done your full duty?
- 8—Do you realize how easy it is for you to buy another bond?
(By saving only 14c per day for one year you can pay for the extra $50 Bond you buy now. 28c per day will buy a $100 Bond.)
- 9—Are you keeping in mind that you are lending, not giving?
(The funds you invest are still yours, the security the best in the world, the rate of interest liberal.)
- 10—Do you know that the continued prosperity of Canada depends on your buying bonds?
- 11—Have you figured out the fact that as owner of a Hundred Dollar Bond, the government will pay you during the fifteen years, $82.50 in cash, and at the end of that period your $100 in gold? So in return for your $100 investment, you receive $182.50.

THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT

THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT—The past two or three months in Great Britain there have been several tournaments arranged for officers and men from the United States, Canadian and Anzac contingent. One of the most notable of these was the Overseas Officers' Golf Tournament, recently held at Sandy Lodge. There were a large number of entries and the winner of the Medal Round was Captain R. A. Gray, with a score of 33 from scratch. Captain Gray is a very well known Canadian Golfer indeed. He was manager of the Elm St. Branch of the Bank of Toronto, and Captain of the Rosedale Golf Club when war broke out and was one of the first of the 3000 odd Canadian golfers to enlist. His drive is long ball and has a lot of good short shots in his bag. Captain Gray, who holds the amateur record of the Rosedale course (72) is a director of The Royal Canadian Golf Association. His place on the Board is very fittingly, never having been filled during his absence of some four years, from the Dominion. "Bobbie" is one of the most popular of Canadian golfers, and friends here will extend hearty congratulations in his really notable performance at Sandy Lodge.

As a man who has been in Canada for many months now, is certain "some golf" Captain Gray also won the Bogey Competition. About half the returns are as far in from the clubs participating in the Royal Canadian Golf Association Red Cross Drive on Thanksgiving Day. The average score is about $500 per club and if this percentage is kept up the Association will go well over "the top" in its efforts to raise $25,000 for the Red Cross. Considering the fact that the "Driver" took place at the very crest of the influenza wave the results are most encouraging. The "flood" undoubtedly robbed the fund of thousands of dollars.

The Great British golfers have been asked to send their old clubs and balls to France for use of the men there who now and again find time to get in a game on some improvised course and ground. While at a very great one of the many really first class links to be found in France. Many tales of paths and statistics many of these links in France.

There is a mother sending her boy's clubs with the more words "He will not want them again." "It was all." The rest of the tale is obvious. And a wife—"Bill would have been so glad to know that his football club would help to give any soldier officers some fun." Imagination may be left to conjure up

HOOD'S PILLS
Cure Biliousness, Indigestion, etc.
Best for all Liver and Bowel Troubles.

Royal and Ancient—The tales of heroism of the posthumous spirits of the gifts. The givers' spirits go marching on—that is the great thing.

And here in an item that the many rich munition-made men in Canada might read to advantage: W. Robert W. Coak is an Englishman who making an art of aluminium castings for flying machine has helped win the war and incidentally made for himself a fortune. His home is at Clacton-on-Sea, where owing to the war the golf club was on the verge of bankruptcy. Mr. Coak who is president of the Clacton Advance-ment Association thought that it would be "bad business" for a resort like Clacton not to have golf links, and although not a golfer himself, he thought to "take up the game" when he can spare time from war activities promptly stepped in and bought the property and then handed it over to the Clacton Advancement Association. Canada could stand a few Robert W. Coaks sprinkled up and down the country from coast to coast.

From the 24th to Oct. 31st, in the province of Ontario, golf courses given over to the Home-to-Sea competition.

A good deal of golf is still being played before May 24th, and after October 31st, but with the exception of British Columbia the golfing season generally in the Dominion may be said to embrace the above mentioned days.

As a result of the large increase in the number of golfers reported from coast to coast and as a result of the Daylight Saving scheme, there has been an increase probably of 30 or 40 per cent in the number of games on the courses in Canada in 1918 compared with 1917. The total of the holes made in one would go to hear and this assertion for whereas in 1917 there were 12 such feats recorded in 1918, there were 50.

The following is the complete list of the golfers who accomplished the 20,000 to 2 shot in the season just closed.

Mr. H. J. Henry Anderson (Canadian), Lakewood in 1917; Vancouver, Mr. Robert Bone (captain of the Vancouver Golf and County Club and a well known Scottish-Canadian Golfer, Vancouver; R. A. Mackie (also a Scottish-Canadian golfer), Lakeview Golf Club, Toronto; C. H. Jeaman, Winhuac Golf Club; George French, Sarnia Golf Club; H. W. Glasco, Winhuac Golf Club; Dr. F. C. Morrison, The Royal Montreal Golf Club; Wm. Kinney (professional of the golf club, Saskatoon, also made a hole-in-one in 1917); Dr. W. F. Reid, Digby, N. S. (Secretary of the club); Lieut. She was seriously ill from the very first, but hopes were held out for her recovery until almost the very last. Mrs. Ausleybrooke was born at Millard, and had lived here ever since her marriage, which was of a very happy and prosperous nature. She was very interested in every good work and will be greatly missed by her large circle of friends. The funeral which was private, took place at 2:30 p.m. Friday afternoon to the Congregational cemetery.

The peaceful slumbers of our village were disturbed on Monday morning about 4 a.m. with a ringing of bells. No one was in doubt what all the noise was about, and a great many at once turned out to assist in celebrating. It was certainly glorious news for everyone, but was mixed with extreme sadness for those whose sons, friends or relatives had made the supreme sacrifice. It was a most happy occasion, as far as possible. A number from Brantford and vicinity went to Brantford in the afternoon, and the celebrating continued in the village with the firing of fireworks until late in the evening.

Increase in Subscription Rates Commencing Dec. 1, 1918

The subscription rates of the Brantford Daily Courier and the Brantford Daily Expositor, commencing December 1st, 1918, will be as follows:

Delivered in Brantford and Vicinity, 45c. per month
By the year, Paid in Advance, $5.00 per annum
By Mail, " " 4.00 per annum
Single Copies, 2c.

After publication of this notice, payments in advance on subscriptions will only be accepted to December 1st at the old rate, after that at the new rate.

This advance in subscription rates has been made necessary by the tremendous increase in the cost of white paper, the price of which has recently been fixed by the Paper Controller at Ottawa. By this one item alone thousands of dollars are added to our annual cost of production, and in addition, labor, presses, stereotype supplies, type and all other items of expense have enormously advanced in price during the last few years.

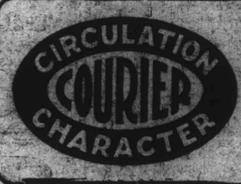

Even at the new rates the Brantford papers are only now charging prices which have been in force for some time back on almost all the other daily newspapers published in this section of the Dominion. In many cities the subscription rates are very much higher.
