Township Wins

City Must Pay Taxes on Carroll's Point Property

Judge Gauld has found in favor of the township of East Flamboro
on the appeal by the city of Hamilton from the assessment by the township of the Carroll's Point property.
This will bring nearly $1,000 in taxes to the township coffers. The assessment of about $30,000 on the land was appealed from by the city
on the grounds that it was cemetery
property and exempt from taxation.
Reeve Peter Ray brought evidence to show that the city had farmed the property and got a good crop of grain from it. In confirming the assessment Judge Gauld granted to the city the right of stated case
for the appellate division. F. R.
Waddell, K. C., for the city and J. L. Counsell, K. C., for the township.

Letter of Appreciation

The officials of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Federation desire to express their sincere thanks for the liberal donations the citizens of Waterdown
contributed to the fatherless children's Christmas Tree to be held at the Armouries, James Street North, Hamilton, Thursday evening, Dec.
22nd.

Millgrove

A very pleasant Surprise Party was given Mr. and Mrs. Levi Shelton at their home last Monday evening. Friends from Detroit, Hamilton, Toronto, Waterdown, Dundas, Greensville, Niagara Falls and Beamville were present and made the evening a merry one. The large number of autos with lights on gave the lane
the appearance of an electric lighted
city street.

Greensville

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Main have returned from their wedding trip to Brockville and Napanee.

Mr. Jim Slater of Toronto, spent the week end at Mr. W. B. Hyslops.

Mr. Chas. Gravelle, Sr., age 92, an old resident of this place, was buried at Dundas last Tuesday morning.

money collected by the Waterdown

Society for the year 1921.

Nomination Day

Next Monday will be nomination
day in the village, and from present indications there will be several candidates nominated for the Reeve's chair. Mr. R. Smith, who has been in the council for 20 years, and Reeve
the past two years, will again enter the race. Councillors D. S. Atkins and Geo. Dougherty have declared their intentions of entering the contest for Reeve. Mr. W. A.
Ryckman will probably be a candidate for the reeveship also. A number of his friends have been urging him to stand for the office, and last night a deputation waited upon him
and formally asked that they might nominate him next Monday. Mr.
Ryckman would promise nothing more than that he would consider the matter, but it is anticipated that he will consent to the nomination in view of the strong support which has been assured him.

Unless there are several last minute decisions there will be no election for councillors. Mr. J. J. Burns and A. J. Lovejoy are the only ones who have definitely stated their intentions of running for councillors.

The next few years will be important ones in the making of Water-down and it is necessary that the very best hands are at the helm of village affairs.

WINTER CARE OF COLTS

The First Winter a Critical Time for Weanings.

Two or More Colts Do Better Together—Nourishing Feeding Also an Important Factor—No Gain in Too Early Pasturing.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The first winter is a critical time in the life of a colt. The care and attention he receives during this period determines, to a great extent, his future usefulness. If he be poorly fed, neglected, and allowed to become thin and weak, it is probable he will never be as good or valuable an animal as he would have been under more favorable circumstances. Comfortable Quarters Important.

He, in the first place, should be provided with warm, comfortable and well-ventilated quarters, and, while he should be taught to lead, and stand tied, it is much better if he have a roomy stall to stand in. Two or more colts will probably do better together than one alone. At the same time, it is often necessary to winter one without company. He will do better by himself than with a colt a year or more older. The next question is: "What, and how much should he be fed."

The Matter of Feeding.

In our opinion there is little danger of overfeeding at this age. While there are exceptions, it is usually safe to give a weanling all he will eat, provided he gets regular exercise; but it must be understood that he should not be given more than he will eat. It is a mistake to keep food before him all the time. He should, with apparent relish, eat all that is given him, in at most an hour and a half, and then he will be ready for the next meal when the time arrives. It is not easy to say just how much food a colt of a given age and size should consume, but the attendant, if a careful and observant man, will soon be able to determine the quantity to be given at each meal, and be able to give sufficient, without waste. Hay and oats should be the food upon which to depend for growth, both muscle and bone. If other grain than oats be given, we will take back what we have said about "there being little danger of overfeeding."

Give Best Quality of Food.

All food should be of first-class quality. Well saved timothy makes a good substitute. Hay should be fed in the necessary quantities three times daily, and we prefer whole to cut hay for such young animals. The manner in which oats should be fed will admit of argument. In our opinion, and experience, rolled oats gives better results than whole. We find that colts relish rolled oats that have been scalded and allowed to become cool, and that they thrive well on such. The practice of mixing a ration of rolled oats and a little wheat chaff or cut hay in a pail, pouring some boiling water on it, covering it and allowing it to stand for a few hours before feeding, gives excellent results. The morning's meal can be prepared in the evening, and the evening's meal in the same vessel in the morning, the noonday meal being either dry, rolled or whole oats. In addition to hay and oats, the colt should be given a carrot or two with the noon meal, and a feed of bran, either damp or dry, at least twice weekly. This may be extra, or in lieu of oats, as is indicated by the apparent requirements of the colt. As regards water, it is well to allow free access to water at all times. Where this is not practicable the colt should be given water at least three times daily.

Let Him Get Reasonable Exercise.

He should be turned into a yard or paddock for a few hours every day that is not too rough or stormy, and the more gentle handling and lessons in leading, etc., he gets the better. His feet require attention. The wear is usually not sufficient to keep them in proper shape, the toes grow long and the heels deep and narrow, and the wall turns inwards below the quarters. If this be not corrected or prevented, permanent harm may result. The feet should be carefully examined at least once monthly and dressed to as near the normal size and shape as possible by the use of a shoemaker's knife and rasp. The stall should be cleaned out, at least once weekly.—J. H. Reed, V.S., O. A. College, Guelph.

To the Farmer:

The purchase of a Piano or Victrola is only purchased invariably once in a lifetime. Therefore it behoves the purchaser to get the best and make sure you have the best.

I have had 25 years experience in tuning and repairing musical instruments, therefore feel quite confident I can choose the best instruments on the market.

I shall be pleased to place any instrument in your home beside any other in fair competition and let you yourself be the judge, without you feeling under any obligations absolutely. I can also save the purchaser quite a few dollars on account of my expenses being so low. I will always give you my best personal service and devote the whole of my time to supplying the country people. A postcard or telephone call will oblige.

How Winter Rhubarb is Produced.

In making a permanent business of rhubarb forcing, it is necessary, each year, to set out a new bed, as plants once forced are of no further value. In the spring large roots should be dug, split in one bud sections and replaced in rich moist ground. During the growing season they are kept cultivated and free from weeds. In the fall they are covered with manure. Next spring a second bed is planted as before. That fall a large part of the first bed is taken up, leaving sufficient to replant another bed the next spring. The roots are taken up the last thing in the fall before the hard freezing weather comes and are placed in piles in a shed where they can easily be got at during the winter but will remain frozen. About December 1st take in a sufficient number of roots, place these bud side up on the floor of a warm cellar—about 45° or 70°—and cover with an inch of sand. Be sure to fill in all interspaces. Keep this sand moist. About a week later the buds will begin to swell and in from four to six weeks, depending upon the heat of the room—the cooler the place the slower growth starts—you should have rhubarb ready for market. After these roots are exhausted throw them away and put in more. If a constant supply is required make a new bed every two or three weeks during the winter. Be sure to keep all light dimmed. Put burlap or brown paper over the windows to get the bright pink color so much desired.—A. H. MacLennan, Ontario Vegetable Specialist, Toronto.

Unnecessary Loss Among Young Pigs.

On 75 Minnesota farms a total of 5,286 pigs were farrowed with an average of $3.31 per litter. Of this number 9.21 per cent. were farrowed dead, 18.21 per cent. died before weaning, 68.30 per cent. were raised, and 31.70 per cent. of the original pig crop was lost. Improper feeding and lack of exercise by the brood sows during the winter were responsible for most of the trouble (unnecessary trouble) at farrowing time. Brood sows should be encouraged to get out and work every day. The droppings should be watched. If the sows are constipated, oilmeal or bran should be introduced into their ration until satisfactory condition results. For immediate action a reasonable dose of epsom salts should be given.

Arsenate of lead or paris green are good remedies to use against chewing insects. When paris green is used it is well to add an equal quantity of lime to prevent injury to the foliage.

Winter Care of Pregnant Mares.

The pregnant mare should be well fed and given regular exercise or light work. All food and water given should be of first-class quality. She should be given more grain than the non-pregnant mare, as she has the foetus to support. All possible care should be observed to avoid digestive derangements; hence, everything consumed should be of good quality, easily digested, fed in proportion to the amount of work performed and at regular intervals. In addition to hay and oats she should be given a few raw roots daily, and a feed of bran with a cupful of linseed meal at least twice weekly.

Work that requires excessive muscular or respiratory effort should be avoided, so also should plunging through deep snow, slipping, etc. All nervous excitement should be avoided; so also should sights which frighten her; also offensive odors; and operations.

The use of drugs should not be tolerated, except upon the advice of a veterinarian. If necessary to give a purgative, it is much safer to give raw linseed oil than aloes. Towards the end of pregnancy, still greater care should be observed; and, while daily exercise up to the very last is advisable, it should be given more carefully and less of it when she becomes somewhat clumsy on account of size and weight.

While it is better to allow her a box stall when in the stable at all times, it is practically necessary after about the tenth month of gestation; as the period of gestation is irregular and the foal may be born, without any well-marked premonitory symptoms, any time after ten months.

After the foal is born the mare should be given at least two weeks' idleness, and if she can be allowed to run idle until weaning time, it will be all the better for both herself and the foal.—J. H. Reed, V.S., O. A. College, Guelph.

The manufacturer's success is due largely to his ability to buy raw material at the lowest prices, to sell the finished products through an efficient distribution system, and to take advantage of more economic methods of production. He builds up a system to eliminate waste, inefficiency, and extravagance. Every farmer should do the same.

Timely Hints.

Store all harvesting tools and machinery.

Remove binder canvases and store in a dry place.

Make note of broken parts and order them.

Extend to the safety levers on cutting box and silo fillers. Sharpen the knives and oil working parts.
