Where Widows Commit Suicide. Old customs die very hard in China, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, and in several parts of the Ce lestial empire it is still considered a high act of virtue for a woman to commit suicide after the death of her husband. According to the law, the pro-ceeding is actually legal in some prov-inces, and such is the state of public opinion that in districts where it is officially prohibited the authorities rarely interfere. These extraordinary voluntary sacrifices may frequently be seen, and I myself saw one take place. The widow herself, clad in white, the Chinese mourning color; the gallows erected for the occasion and the immense crowd gathered to witness the

grewsome spectacle made a picture

Mother, there is no use wasting time making over clothes when you can buy them so cheap as you can here. The neat, well dressed girl who takes pride in her attire, is learning habits that will stand her in good stead later on. Making of clothing for girls has become a distinct branch of tailoring. Lots of firms are making dresses, but only one or two stand at the top. These one or two sell three products for this city to us, and there are new ideas here you cannot get anywhere else, and this kind of Girl's Clothing costs no more

Of the lady singers special mention may be made of Miss Castleden of Moosomin, who sang "Awake," every word of which was quite distinct, and the audience were delighted. Miss Butler of .Qu'Appelle, sang the wellknown song, "Good-bye" very effectively, and Miss Jickling of Regina,

"The Swallows." The other lady singers were Miss E. Elkerton, of Chamberlain; Miss O'Connor, Regina; Miss Marshall, Regina; Mrs. W. Binning, Lumsden; Miss Cote, Kamsack, and Miss M. Mair of Lumsden. From 6.30 to 7.30 in the Metropolitan church the competition for class A choirs- was held, the competitors being three Regina choirs. The Methodists were the first to sing and their rendering of the "Magnificat" and the test anthem, "Look on the Fields" was excellent, the expression and time with which they sang had a marked effect. St. Paul's choir followed with the Anthem,"The Morning Stars" and afterwards the test piece.
