HAPPY HOUR

SPECIAL FEATURES

WEDNESDAY

"In the Hollow of Her Hand," a Select picture starring Alice Brady, will be the piece de resistance of the Happy Hour theatre's bill on Wednesday of this week. This production was made from a story by the popular George Barr McCutcheon and presents a version of the eternal triangle that is, to say the least, original in treatment. As scenarioized and directed by Charles Maigne, Miss Brady's new director, the story takes on a sure dramatic quality, a sustaining force that the spectator will find irresistible. Mr. Maigne is a director who follows no conventional school of picture production. His product is always marked by refreshing originality of treatment. He has the inborn ability to derive the most from all sorts of material and "In the Hollow of Her Hand" he has quite surpassed all former efforts.

Miss Brady's emotional ability is directed toward worthy ends indeed in her portrayal of the character of Hetty Castleton, the young "widow" who, finding herself the innocent victim of a man's deceit, kills him. Nor is her supporting cast of any mean ability. Myrtle Stedman has an important role as the wife of the murdered man who intruded Hetty into his family with the hope of revenge and she handles it with the skill of the trained artist that she is. Percy Marmon as the artist, Brandon Booth, the man who understands and loves Hetty, creates another one of this easy, pleasing characters with which picturegoers are so familiar.

The picture is laid in a variety of handsome and pretty settings, this applying to both interiors and exteriors. The photographic work of Leo Rossi is to be referred to only in words of the highest praise.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

May Allison's latest Metro feature, "The Island of Intrigue," will be the main attraction at the Happy Hour theatre on Friday and Saturday. This is taken from the well-known novel of the same name by Isabelle Ostrander, and presents a fascinating mystery story, with suggestive touches of romance and gentle humor to provide an exceedingly well balanced piece of Maida Waring, the daughter of an oil magnate, who receives an invitation to spend the summer with an old friend of her father's, Mrs. Juliet Smith. Mrs. Smith's country home is on a distant island and although the idea doesn't appeal to Maida strongly she is urged to accept the invitation by her father, who is about to depart on a long business trip.

And Mrs. Smith duly calls when Mr. Waring is at his office and Maida departs with her. What is his surprise then to receive a frantic telephone call from Mrs. Juliet Smith, later in the day telling him that she had called for Maida and found her gone, and with a woman who claimed to be Mrs. Smith! It proves to be a clear case of abduction and detectives are immediately put on the job.

Just what happens to Maida will be revealed on the Happy Hour screen when "The Island of Intrigue" is shown. Suffice it to say here that the story is filled with a mystery interest of the most intense sort, while the romance is unusual and cleverly introduced. Miss Allison is a true delight in the stellar role, and in her support appear a cast of competent players including Jack Mower, Frederick Vroom, Mrs. Lucille Ward, Gordon Marr, Lillian West, Hector Sarno and others.

Encouraging The Sheep Industry

The New Brunswick Department of Agriculture are co-operating with the Dominion Live Stock Branch in encouraging the use of Pure Bred Rams

PERSONS ELIGIBLE

Any sheep raiser who purchases a pure bred ram in his own flock shall be entitled to a premium of ten dollars the first year; Five of which will be paid by the New Brunswick Department of Agriculture and five by the Dominion Live Stock Branch, and an additional premium of Five Dollars the second year, payable by the Live Stock Branch. Applications for premiums to be sent in to Live Stock Division, Department of Agriculture, Fredericton, not later than December 1st.

CO-OPERATIVE PURCHASING OF PURE-BRED STOCK

The Dominion Live Stock Branch will pay the travelling expenses to any point east of Fort William, Ontario, of any accredited man appointed by a Society, group of Societies or group of farmers who have orders to purchase at least twenty-five pure bred rams for farmers never having used a pure bred before. This same person has the privilege of making purchases of other live stock or rams for any farmer while on the trip, so long as the minimum of twenty-five rams are purchased as outlined above.

GRADING OF PURE BRED RAMS IN NEW BRUNSWICK

The services of Professor Sackville of Ontario Agricultural College, have been secured to visit each pure bred breeder in the province and classify the rams offered for sale into three grades, superior—average and common. By purchasing your rams in the province, farmers can write any breeder of pure bred sheep and be sure of getting the class of ram he applies for. New Brunswick is the first province to adopt this classification system. Breeders and Purchasers stand to gain by it. The number of rams for sale together with the price and grade will be listed with the local Live Stock Division.

BOYS AND GIRLS SHEEP CLUBS

In order to create a deeper interest among our farm boys and girls in the business of sheep raising, arrangements have been completed to organize sheep Clubs in the province. Members must be between ages of ten to eighteen years. Ten members will constitute a Club. Two grade Shearling ewes will be the number allotted to each. Members can get credit from any bank for purchase price of sheep for one year at 6% interest. The Department will arrange a fair at which prizes will be given. The Department will load a pure-bred ram to any Club with twenty ewes.

For information on any of the above policies, write Hon. J. F. Tweeddale, Minister.

Big Game Season Opened Yesterday

Monday was the big day for those who follow moose, and the deer, for on that day the season opened which lasts until the end of November, during which time it is lawful for them to shoot one bull moose and two deer.

It is expected that there will be an exceptionally good season this fall. Persons who have been in the woods report that deer and moose are very plentiful, while other game animals are seen in large numbers. A well-known guide has stated that he saw twenty deer in a group recently, and many other smaller groups.

One resident, who has returned from a visit to the woods, reports seeing many deer roaming in the open, the game being so tame and so numerous that they graze with the cattle in the fields and cross the meadows like ordinary cattle.

On the other hand, deer have been reported to be working damage to the crops in some localities, despoiling the standing grain and nibbling at the root crops.

It is expected that there will be an unusually brisk season in the issuing of licenses, as there is promised to be a record number of huntsmen in the woods this fall.

The public are looking forward to the acquisition of some juicy venison steaks, as now that the ban has been removed, moose and deer meat may be offered for sale.

This is the last year that hunting will be permitted on the great area around the Nepisquit that marks the proposed game refuge, classed by guides as the finest game section in the province. This reserve takes in some 400 square miles of territory, most of it on the northwestern part of Northumberland county.

The popularity of the New Brunswick woods has spread all over the continent, consequently the guides find themselves flooded with more requests from American sportsmen than they can conveniently handle. The restrictions that were placed upon the residents of the southern republic during the war have been removed and it is expected that every lover of the gun and open field will hike for the tall timbers during the season.

A majority of the huntsmen will make for Northumberland, Restigouche and Gloucester counties, for that is where the deer and moose are said to be most plentiful this year.

Chautauqua Here From Sept. 20 to 23

Once more Newcastle is among the fortunate towns of the Province in having the Chautauqua for three full days. This year the features are bigger and better than ever. Miss Medie Hamilton, the superintendent, is giving three very fine lectures. The McKinnie Operatic Co. give us a real musical treat singing everything from Jazz to Grand Opera. Dr. Andrew Johnson in his famous lecture "Eliot's Dennis" makes you forget all your troubles. The Musical Posters, the most clever team of artists on any stage give two hours clever witty musical entertainment. Dr. Frank Bo'n, the man who had charge of all the Allied propaganda in Holland and Switzerland gives us some inside facts on how the Hun carried on his underground work. Something new in this part of Canada is Daddy Gobreckers Yaddlers who do some really wonderful things in a musical way. The last feature is Stephen A. Hzboush who was born in the Holy Land and brings to us a real message from the far East and with his Oriental costumes is a big feature. Taken all together this years Chautauqua is the finest programme every attempted and you will remember for years to come this show. This year the committee in charge are selling all the seating space to season ticket holders and it is quite possible that only season ticket holders will be able to gain admission.

Get your tickets early and save the committee a lot of extra work. The tickets are for sale at The Brunswick Shop, The Town Office and The Dominion Express Co.

G.W.V.A. Holds Interesting Meeting

In spite of the weather man the Town Hall was filled on Friday night last when the Great war veterans met, at 8 o'clock the most enthusiastic meeting yet held in Newcastle. The meeting was called to order at 8 p. m. after which, as is customary, all stood for a few moments with bowed heads in memory of the fallen comrades. Capt. A. L. Barry then addressed the meeting expressing regret that Capt. Duncan of Chatham, who was to have been present, could not do so on account of the storm. He also explained to the men the aims and objects of the association and pointed out how necessary it was to have a large membership in order that full benefit might be derived.

He said that by the winter it was expected to have good club rooms for the men. The Y. M. C. A., had already donated $150 for that purpose and more was expected from the balance of the Prov. Patriotic Fund. A few members about 25 in number were taken on bringing the membership near the 100 mark. On account of the heavy rain many out of town veterans were prevented from coming to join the association but they may obtain application forms by writing or applying in person to Sec'y J. P. Ryder at the Customs office.

As there is a new election of officers every six months, the following were elected.

Pres.—A. L. Barry; Vice-pres.—Howard Atkinson, Sam Craig, Jack Lawlor; Sec'y-Treas.—J. P. Ryder; Exec-Com.—Alan Murray, Cleo Demers, Herb Morrell.

A vote of thanks was passed to the citizens of the town and the ladies of the Red Cross Society thanking them for the very excellent dinner and entertainment provided for the veterans on Aug. 27.

The meeting was adjourned to meet again on next Friday Sept. 19.

After the regular meeting the members of the executive met and discussed the matter of club rooms. A favorable price was decided upon and a committee was appointed to inquire and try and secure it. The idea of a Fair to raise funds for the fitting out of club rooms, and to be held later in the fall, was also discussed.

The meeting next Friday is expected to bring in a large number who have not yet enrolled.

LORD BEAVERBROOKE SCHOLARSHIPS

Conferences between His Honor Judge Crockett, Lieutenant Governor Pugsley and F. B. Ellis, who were requested by Lord Beaverbrook to administer his scholarship trust, developed some questions which it was felt necessary to refer to Lord Beaverbrook himself. Awaiting receipt of further instructions, the committee find themselves compelled for the present to postpone definite announcement as to the terms and conditions under which the scholarship awards are to be made.

Mrs. Chas. Peden Gains 27 Pounds

Was Twice Examined and Each Time Told Operation would be Her Only Hope.

"I have just finished my third bottle of Tanlac and have gained twenty-seven pounds," was the truly remarkable statement made by Mrs. Chas. Peden, residing at 550 Mill St., Huntville, Alabama. Mrs. Peden is one of the best known and most highly respected women of that city where she has made her home for a number of years.

When I commenced taking the medicine," she continued, "I only weighed ninety-eight (98) pounds; now I weigh one hundred and twenty-five pounds and never felt better in my life. For years I have suffered with a bad form of stomach trouble, constipation and pains in my side and back. At times the pains took the form of torture and I was twice examined and each time told that an operation would be my only hope. I had fallen off until I only weighed ninety-eight pounds and was so weak I could hardly get around.

"I had no appetite scarcely at all and what little I did eat would cause gas to form in my stomach which gave me palpitation of the heart, sick headaches and a dizzy feeling about the head. When those spells came on me, I would get awfully nervous. I worried about myself until I could rest and sleep but little.

"I had fallen off until I was almost 'skin and bones' and my strength and energy were slowly leaving me. I had a dread of the future and could see nothing but the operating table and the knife. I had a perfect horror of an operation, but had made up my mind that it was either life or death and prepared to submit to it. I had made all preparations for the operation and called on my sister to tell her goodbye, as I did not know whether I would live to see her again or not. My sister begged and pleaded with me not to allow them to cut on me to wait and try a good tonic for a while. The next day as I returned from the consultation room I thought of what she said, and as I had heard so much about Tanlac, decided to try it as a last resort, and stopped at the drug store and got a bottle. Of course, I had lost heart and had no faith in medicine, but to please my sister, I made up my mind to take it, and oh, what a happy day that was for me!

"I never returned for the operation, but just kept taking Tanlac and my improvement has been so rapid that none of my clothes fit me. Right from the start I began to improve. The medicine seemed to take hold right at once. It had a soothing effect, and in a few days I felt no pain at all. I was so happy over my wonderful improvement that I sent and got another bottle of Tanlac and have just finished my third bottle. I feel like I have been made over again into a new woman.

"As I have said before, I now weigh one hundred and twenty-five pounds and none of my clothes are big enough for me, and I will have to make them over again. I now have a ravenous appetite and my husband says I am simply eating him out of house and home. I have even gone back to my coffee which I was told not to touch. These horrible pains in my back and head have all disappeared and I sleep like a child. I am no longer nervous, and when I get up in the mornings I feel refreshed, cheerful and bright. I am now able to attend to my household work again and I feel as if I had started life all over. My husband is highly delighted and my recovery is the talk of the neighborhood. I do nothing but rejoice all day long over the recovery of my health and praise Tanlac to everybody.

"I feel so grateful for my escape from the operating table and the knife, that you may publish what I have said; you may if you wish, tell other women suffering as I was, to come and see me and I will be glad to tell them about my case."

Tanlac is sold by E. J. Morris, Newcastle.

The Brant of The Atlantic Coast

The eastern Brant or Brant Goose is a bird which has caused considerable controversy among both sportsman and ornithologists. This partly because of its remote nesting grounds for it breeds only north of the Arctic Circle, in Greenland, and probably as far west as Melville island, where it has been taken in summer, and where it meets the summer-range of the Black Brant. The Victoria Memorial Museum of Ottawa has specimens of both these species taken at Winter harbour, Melville island, by Frank Hennessey, in 1909. The scientific name of the Atlantic coast brant (Branta bernicla glaucogastra) indicates that it has whitish or pale-coloured under parts, differing in that respect from the Black Brant (Branta nigricans) which breeds in the western Arctic regions and is restricted in its migrations to the Pacific coast.

The brant are salt-water birds and very rarely straggle inland. The brant was formerly one of the most abundant of all the sea-fowl, and the early historical records tell of the swarms which were found on the Atlantic coast, finding refuge in every bay and inlet along the coast where eel-grass is abundant, arriving on the coast of New England in October, and continuing to come until November, scattering thence along the Atlantic coast to the Carolinas.

Mr. E. H. Forbush, State Ornithologist of Massachusetts, in his "Game Birds, Wild-fowl and Shore Birds," published in 1912, assembled records to show that the brant which were formerly among the most plentiful water fowl have decreased noticeably in the last five years. His data seemed to indicate that the brant, which were once so numerous that they were obliged to scatter along the coast to find sufficient feeding grounds for their wants, have now been so reduced in numbers that a few isolated localities give ample accommodation for all that are left, and as practically all the brant in North America visit these few localities in migration, they crowd them so that the impression is given there that they have not decreased in number, and have even increased. This is a condition analogous to that of the Passenger Pigeon when in 1888 a great part of the species seemed to have concentrated in a few localities in Michigan. There they seemed at that time more numerous than ever, yet now the species is believed to be extinct.

Professor Wells W. Cooke, in his "Distribution and Migration of North America Ducks, Geese, and Swans," published in 1906, states that there seemed to be no record of brant on the Arctic coast of the mainland between Franklin bay and the peninsula—nearly a thousand miles. Later explorations by the writer in 1911, and on the Canadian Arctic Expedition in 1914-16, show that the western Black Brant breeds as far east as the west end of Coronation gulf, reducing the blank gap by about three hundred miles. The Atlantic coast brant apparently breed almost entirely on the eastern portion of the northern part of the North American arctic archipelago.

They arrive late in May or in early June on the northwest coast of Greenland, and breed northward probably as far as land extends. When icebergs begin to appear they move southward in September passing down the Boothia peninsula and the west coast of Hudson bay from whence they apparently cross

The System is Poisoned

By Failure of the Liver and Kidneys to Purify the Blood Relief Obtained by Use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Too much eating of heavy, highly-seasoned foods and too little outdoor exercise are the most frequent causes. The liver is upset, becomes torpid and inactive, the bowels are constipated, the kidneys are overworked in an effort to get rid of the accumulating poisons and breakdown. Headache, backache, aching limbs sound a warning note, and when this is not heeded the natural development is rheumatism, lumbago, and painful and fatal forms of kidney disease.

To best overcome this condition Dr. Chase worked out in his private practice a prescription which has come to be known as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their combined action on these filtering organs. No treatment has ever proven so successful in awakening the action of the kidneys, liver and bowels, and thereby cleansing the system of all impurities. For this reason Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a world-wide reputation as the most thorough cure for rheumatism, lumbago, chronic indigestion and constipation.

Mrs. Alex. Gordon, Walkerton, Ont., writes: "A few years ago I suffered from kidney and liver trouble, with pains in my back. I had heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills being good for this, so I commenced taking them. I had only taken a couple of boxes when the trouble was all removed."

Mrs. M. Nickels, 192 Milton street, Sarnia, writes: "I have found Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills an excellent remedy. I suffered considerably with kidney trouble and backache, but after I had taken five boxes of the Kidney-Liver Pills they gave me relief. Since then, which was about five years ago, I keep them on hand, and use them whenever I feel the need of them."

the Labrador peninsula to the Gulf of St. Lawrence. They rarely if ever appear on the eastern coast of Labrador or the east side of Newfoundland. Reaching the shore of the Gulf in the fall, they turn eastward toward Anticosti and Prince Edward Island. They then proceed across the neck of the peninsula of Nova Scotia, down the Bay of Fundy, and steer direct for the outer shore of Cape Cod. Sometimes they are deflected by the wind and run on to the Massachusetts coast, but they usually round the cape, and pass Nantucket, touching only at outlying points on the coast until they reach Virginia and North Carolina, where most of them winter, although many winter at points farther north and some in Massachusetts waters. Professor Cooke, basing his deductions on the reports of many observers extending over a period of years, states that they return in February to Long Island sound. By the end of March the van has reached northern Nova Scotia, spending the next month around the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

All observers agree that the brant do not go around the east shore of Newfoundland in spring, but steer directly north across the Labrador peninsula. The average date on which they reach latitude 46 in the Gulf of St. Lawrence is March 23, and it is not until May 30 that early arrivals have been recorded in latitude 79, showing an average speed of 34 miles per day. Prince Edward Island observations show that the brant arrive at the island in spring nearly always in the night, and that the dates when the large flocks leave Cape Cod coincide with the date of their arrival at Prince Edward Island. About June 1, when Mr. Forbush thinks probably comprise a great part of the Atlantic coast night, as sembo outside of Charlotte harbor, in great flocks, and then go across the Gulf of St. Lawrence to the northward. They are never seen in spring on the west shore of Hudson bay, according to the observers although they come down that coast in the autumn.

The limited routes of migration seem to give an explanation of the great apparent numbers of brant. Practically all the individuals of the species collect from a great area beyond the Arctic Circle and concentrate upon one line of flight along the Atlantic Coast. On such a line of flight the individuals of such a species will naturally appear very numerous until they approach extinction, and particularly so when they are driven away from all but a comparatively few feeding grounds.

Brant are well protected in summer by the remoteness of their nesting grounds. However, they have a very brief season of summer there, and severe and unseasonable storms very likely may destroy most of the increase of the season, as in some seasons practically no young birds appear. If shooting is unchecked, the brant, like the Eskimo Curlew, might approach to extinction almost unwarmed.

The Migratory Birds Convention Act protects these birds in spring and as they are similarly protected in the United States, it is to be hoped that their numbers will increase in the years to come.

To obtain copies of the Migratory Birds Convention Act apply to The Commissioner, Dominion Parks Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Ontario.

The New Tyranny That Threatens Us

A New tyranny has come with America.

Like many an old tyranny, it comes with the name of righteousness upon its lips. With upcast eyes it deprecates the sinfulness of its victims.

It professes, as bigotry has always done, an infinite solicitude for the welfare of those whom it persecutes. Its environment is novel, and its purpose is one not dreamed of by the earlier inquisitors, but in its essential nature this new tyranny of the Prohibition laws represents the age-long spirit of persecution which has vexed the soul of mankind throughout the slow centuries of progress. Diverted from one channel, it seeks another.

As long as the "total-abstinence" movement confined itself to exhortation and persuasion, to extolling the merits of lemonade and deploring the honors of drinking bottled ale, there was nothing in it that was offensive except its own essential silliness.

But when it contrives to capture the machinery of government and to enforce its principles by the use of the public prison, it raises an entirely different issue.

The question no longer turns upon whether beer does or does not lower the tone of the digestion and lessen the motor muscles of the esophagus; it may do these things or it may not; but the question now becomes whether or not my esophagus is my own and whether or not I may do as I like with it.

The prohibitionist may stuff himself with hot muffins and strong tea till he bursts, and I shall never stop him. Far from it. Let him burst if he likes. But if I drink bottled ale, the prohibitionist, on the plea of my own welfare, sends me to prison. There is involved here an outrage against the first principle of individual liberty, which has hitherto been the corner stone of British and American institutions.

For America it is too late to protest. The cloud envelops us, and it will be at least a generation before the wholesome breezes of a returning sanity suffice to dissipate it. But in England the moment is ripe for the enlightenment of public opinion as to the nature and operation of the criminal laws now directed in America against the users of beer and spirits.

The present legal position is as follows. All of the forty-eight States of the American Union and the nine provinces of Canada are now either "bone dry," or are drying up.

A vast Political Trick

The matter is a little complicated. In the United States, till 1917, the question of Prohibition was left to the separate States. But the war situation changed everything.

The Federal Government, using its "war powers," passed a Statute, in its "war powers," in its nature temporary, prohibiting all further import and also forbidding all sale of intoxicating liquor in the United States from July 1, 1919, till one year after the close of the war.

The rapid ending of the war threw the operation of this Statute into the time of peace, but it went into force, none the less. It is in force at the present moment.

But the law in question is only a small part of what was done. On January 20, 1920, there went down upon the country the full force of the 18th Amendment to the Constitution duly adopted and ratified during the war time by two-thirds of the Federal Congress and by three-quarters of the State Legislatures. This prohibits all sale, manufacture, import and export.

The amendment is supreme. Under the American system of Government no power in the land can set it aside, save only a repeal by a similar amendment.

In Canada the position is analogous. "Local option" districts in the provinces voted themselves "dry." Then the provinces followed suit. Even seventeenth-century Quebec turned over in its sleep and voted itself as "dry" as the French conscience will allow, permitting only the use of lighter wine.

Meantime, the Federal Government of Canada, acting by Order in Council under the War Measures Act (as who should say DORA in England), forbid till the close of the war and for one year after it, all import, all movement from province to province, and all manufacture of intoxicating liquor.

It is held that the "one-year-after-the-war" extension is ultra vires, and cannot be enforced; and the Parliament of Canada has thus far failed to turn the Order into a Statute. The Canadian Senate, sitting itself in "dryness" in a "dry" capital, refused to act. But there is little doubt that the operative forces which are behind the movement can force their will upon the Legislature. Canada, at best, is merely under a stay of sentence.

One naturally asks, how has all this come about? On the face of it, it looks like the will of the people, the overwhelming wish of the majority. In reality, it is nothing of the sort; the whole thing is a vast political trick, revealing the less fortunate side of democratic rule in commercial community.

The local option laws were supported by thousands who had no quarrel with the drinking of beer and wine and spirits.

The voter did not propose to go "dry." But he did not like—nobody liked—the ill-conducted, badly-regulated "saloons," which cursed the country under the old law. He preferred to "get it from the outside" and be done with the saloon. It never occurred of him that presently there might be no "outside." Now he sits in sorrow.

For let it be noted that the final

Miss Viola Hubley, of Upper Goshen, N.B., writes: "My sister had sores on her foot that commenced like boils and then discharged. She suffered such intense pain that she could not wear her shoes and had to remain in the house. We commenced using Zam-Buk and the pain soon disappeared. Then the sores stopped discharging and before long the place was entirely healed over. We shall never be without Zam-Buk again."

stages of the process were not accomplished by the votes of the Legislature, an entirely different matter.

The politician views things with a peculiar eye. He looks towards those who are noisy, strident, determined those who propose to make trouble.

The prohibitionists, the active ones, are all this. They are organized and vociferous. They invoke the name of God and they count the votes that they can "swing."

Against them the humble private voter cannot stand. He hopes that they will fall to coerce the Legislature, but he dare not say so. Here business intervenes.

Everybody in North America is in business, directly or indirectly. There is no lecture class except those hanging on the back of freight trains. And business is peculiar; it is as timid as a hare; threaten it with "loss of custom" and its hardihood dies in its heart.

What has it to fear from the mild and kindly citizen with his pipe in his mouth and his glass of beer in front of him? Nothing. He will never organize and shout and threaten to withdraw his trade. But the prohibitionist will. And with his threat he wins. No leading business man in Canada or America dares openly to oppose him.

And there is more than that. There is a peculiar national, or rather continental, hysteria about the thing.

This continent grew accustomed to think of beer and spirits in connection with "sprees" and "saloons" and with the headache of the "morning after."

It became so preoccupied with "drunkenness" that it confounded drinking with being drunk. The result is that, with proper management and with plenty of drum-beating, the hysteria can be worked up for an occasion to the voting point. After which the voter, in deep gloom, goes round looking for a drink at the back door of a closed saloon.

If the movement eliminated drunkenness there would be at least that much to be said for it. Even then it would be at least that much to be said unfair to sacrifice the comfort and amenity of a whole nation for the benefit of its degenerates. But it does not eliminate drunkenness.

Communities under a prohibition law are filled with "boot-leggers," illicit sellers, with drugged liquor, with brutal and fiery substitutes that inflame the brain and tear the body. The drunkard alone is in his element. He moves in a charmed world of intrigue and underground adventure looking for a drink.

It is an old remark that Prohibition does not prohibit. It cannot. You cannot make a criminal act of a thing that the individual conscience of many, probably most, of the best citizens will not call a crime.

We do not need the law to tell us that stealing is wicked. We feel it so in our hearts. But when the law tries to tell us that drinking beer is wicked our real and deep feeling in the matter is that the "Law is an Ass!"

If the people in Great Britain want to see their country filled with spies and informers, with parasites who fatten upon the fines levied on honest men, with thugs and criminals who sell abominable liquor in the side lanes of their cities at an extortionate price if they want a form of national rule in which smug hypocrisy stands triumphant and is voted into power, let them follow the example of Canada.

The Editor The Union Advocate
Dear Sir:

By reason of the refusal of the local branch of the New Brunswick Telephone Co. to give my office a half decent service I have been forced to have the phone removed from the office. Being anxious to give my patrons an efficient service I very much regret to have been forced to make this move but I feel that the service given me in the past by the Telephone Company has not been of any value. I am making this a public objection to the service given our town by The New Brunswick Telephone Co. and a demand for an up to date system. The Telephone Co. has in use here, a system such as has been discarded by nearly every town in the Province and the service rendered is in keeping with the system.

The only reason that we have been subjected to this kind of service is the fact that the subscribers have not made an organized demand for a real service and until some is made in this direction we may expect just the same old service.

This is a case for the Retail Merchant's Association to take up and a meeting should be called for that purpose. The Local Manager of the Telephone Co., Mr. Lewis, has openly admitted that the system used here is an old fashioned obsolete one and in no way fitted for the amount of traffic handled through his office.

The condition of affairs brought about by the lack of telephone service has reached a climax and in fairness to the subscribers an indignation meeting should be held and a demand made for a decent service.

Trusting my patrons will appreciate the stand taken by me in this matter and that some action will be taken at once to give our town a fair return for the money paid to the N. B. Telephone Co.

I am,
Yours very truly,
A. H. COLE

Lowell, Mass. Sept. 12 1919
To the Editor of The Union Advocate,
Newcastle, N. B.

Dear Sir:
Having returned from a very on joyous vacation spent at my old home and cogitating upon the things that occurred during my stay there, I visualize, as it were, the features and occurrences in connection with the celebration in Newcastle when your heroes and heroines were given a "welcome home" that they will never forget.

I've seen a good many parades in various sections of the country and while the Newcastle parade was not as formidable as some, it made up in quality what it lacked in quantity. The floats were as good as I have ever seen and the parade was splendidly managed.

The celebration was a credit to the city, the county and the province. I tried to get a picture of that pretentious and splendidly proportioned victory arch before I came away but failed to connect. I sincerely hope that the young men whom you so signally honored will show their appreciation by conducting themselves in such manner as to warrant the continued love and esteem of their fellow citizens. Hurrah for Newcastle!

Painful Rheumatism

May be Driven Out of the System by Enriching the Blood

In the days of our fathers and grandfathers rheumatism was thought to be an unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism, as well as many young people. Medical science did not understand the trouble—did not know that it was rooted in blood. It was thought that rheumatism was the mere effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not cure the trouble. In those days there were thousands of rheumatic cripples. Now, medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and that with good, rich, red blood any man or woman of any age can defy rheumatism which can be cured by killing the poison in the blood which causes it. There are many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, and many who have conquered it by simply keeping their blood rich and pure. The blood making, blood enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and it is the more general use of these pills that has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of poor blood, which is shown by loss of appetite, palpitations, dull skin and dim eyes, protect yourself against the further ravages of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have cured thousands of people—if you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

New Minister Of Public Works

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Hon. A. L. Sifton, who since entering the Government in 1917, has been Minister of Customs was sworn in yesterday as Minister of Public Works. He succeeded Hon. F. B. Carroll, recently appointed to the chairmanship of the Board of Railway Commerce. No successor has been appointed to Mr. Sifton in the Dept. of Customs. It is understood for the present Hon. J. D. Reid will be acting Minister. Nothing definite has yet been decided as to whether Sir Douglas Hazen is to re-enter the Government. It is believed, however that he has the offer of a portfolio, and it is not unlikely that another shuffle will shortly be made to arrange for his inclusion into the Ministry.

Teething Troubles

Baby's teething is a time of worry for most mothers. Baby's little gums become swollen and tender; his bowels get out of order and constipation, colic or even diarrhoea sets in. To make the teething period easy Baby's Own Tablets should be given the little one. They sweeten the stomach; regulate the bowels and keep baby good natured. Concerning them Mrs. Marcell D. LeBlanc, Memramook, West, N. B. writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past six years and have found them indispensable. To my mind nothing can equal them in allaying the fever accompanying teething. I would not be without them and can strongly recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

Criterion of Civilization.

It is impossible to contemplate without interest the struggle made by different nations, as they emerge from barbarism, to supply themselves with some visible symbol of thought—that agency by which the mind of the individual may be put in communication with the minds of a whole community. The want of such a symbol is itself the greatest impediment to the progress of civilization. For what is it but to imprison the thought within the bosom of its author, or of the small circle who come in contact with him, instead of sending it abroad to give light to thousands and to generations yet unborn? Not only is such a symbol an essential element of civilization, but it may be assumed as the very criterion of civilization, for the intellectual advancement of a people will keep pace pretty nearly with its facilities for intellectual communication.—William Prescott in "The Conquest of Peru."

The plates have been packed in airtight cases for shipment to Baltimore, where they will be developed.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. The N.S. and N.B. Egg Laying Contest

The Egg Laying Contest to be held at the Experimental Farm at Nappan will do much to establish the suitability of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick as egg producing provinces. Already the Experimental Farm and Agricultural College have produced a number of hens that lay over 200 eggs in a year and there is no reason why more breeders in the province should not do likewise. The Contest will not only show that Nova Scotia can produce high layers, but it will also bring out those that are breeding for high egg production, and will give them a standing in the business which nothing else will.

As Egg Laying Contests are being conducted at the Experimental Farms in practically every Province in the Dominion, a comparison of yields will be interesting and will be closely watched by all interested in poultry production. It is therefore, up to the breeders of the Province to see that this Contest, being held at Nappan, which starts November 1st, has as entrants, some of the best breeders in the Province. We want to put Nova Scotia on the map as an egg producing province.

Owing to the lateness in advertising, entries will be received up to the last of September, providing the Contest is not held earlier. Rules and Regulations have already been well published, but copies may be had on application to the Dominion Poultry Husbandman, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ont. The entrance fee of $5.00 for a pen of ten birds should be sent at time of application, and all cheques and money orders should be made payable to W. A. Fraser, Accountant.

LEAVE IT TO "PAL"

Dog's Owner Relies on Animal's Intelligence.

Offspring of Gray Wolf and Highly Bred Scottish Guardian of Sheep, Four-Footed Companion is Beyond Value.

While in Alabama I made the acquaintance with the strangest dog I have ever heard of—the most unique creature it has been my province to get acquainted with, writes George F. Herba in the Birmingham Dispatch. He belongs to a man living at Tysonville, but is known all over the state, and his name is "Pal."

Pal's mother was a shepherd and lived on the plains out West, where she looked after a big herd of sheep. In fact, she was one of the best sheep dogs in the whole region. His father was a gray wolf. So Pal is half wolf and half dog—a common enough thing out West.

Pal grew up with the sheep his mother looked after, and learned all the tricks of rounding them up and bringing them in. But he learned a whole lot more than the average sheep dog knows. He learned that every other animal as well as sheep can be directed and guided and taken care of if you know how to do it. So when Pal's owner wants any certain animal on the farm brought in, he simply tells the dog what he wants and Pal attends to it. He can tell the dog to go to the pasture a mile away and bring in a certain mule and he goes and brings it in. He can direct him to bring in a certain cow or calf or hog and it does so.

But the strange thing about it is that Pal also brings in other dogs. His owner has numerous bird dogs, which he trains upon the plantation. Pal helps train them. If a dog gets too far away, the trainer says, "Pal, bring him in," and Pal does so. He runs to the dog and crowds him toward the owner. He simply will not let him go in any other direction. He doesn't fight the other dog, although at times it may be necessary for him to take hold of an ear and nip it a little. But he annoys the dog until there is nothing else for it to do but to be guided by Pal.

Then Pal is the high sheriff or policeman of the whole plantation. He keeps the peace between the other animals. If two dogs get into a fight, Pal separates them. If he finds a couple of hogs or chickens fighting, he does the same thing. He doesn't bother anything upon the plantation unless it is doing something it ought not to do, and then he takes a hand in the matter and settles it. If he finds a pig in a field where it doesn't belong, he drives it out without being directed to do so. If a horse slips its bridle while hitched to the hitching post and cowers down the road, it is only for a few moments, for Pal is close upon its heels or at its nose and he brings it back and keeps it standing where it was left.

Taking the Next Census.
 The government takes stock of its resources this year. July 1, 1919, begins the next decennial census of the population and industries of the United States. It comes fittingly at an important epoch in the nation's destiny and at a time when we are launching upon a new era of expansion and foreign interest," Thomas R. Logan says in Leslie's. Our statesmen and students will be deeply concerned in the data accumulated as to the value of our industries as well as to their extent. It will be a greatly energized and strengthened America which the new census taker will find. He will observe and record the effects of the war upon our industrial life. He will report also the exact number of our citizens by races and ages. It will be possible to determine how far General Crowder's draft registration fell short of the actual number of population of draft age. The last census showed 38,751,224 population. Guesses as to the present population range from 108,000,000 to as high as 112,000,000. Inroads of the war, of influenza, without compensating immigration, have abated our rate of increase. Despite this, the totals may surprise us.

"Times" as Smallest Seller.
 "Having blown the horn of our American friends as to their circulation," said Lord Northcliffe at a luncheon to American editors, "I may be permitted to say that each afternoon we print here a special daily newspaper with perhaps the smallest circulation in the world. I will ask you to come and see it produced. It is the permanent record edition of the Times, which we make for libraries all over the world. We produce it on paper that we believe to be indestructible, with indelible ink."
 —Publisher's Weekly.

Reno.
 "And what is this place?"
 "This is Reno. The limited stops here twenty minutes."
 "Oh, I've heard of Reno."
 "Of course you have."
 "Is twenty minutes long enough to get a divorce?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Weekly Agricultural Report

Extremely unfavorable weather conditions for harvesting the remainder of the hay and the grain crops is the report from all sections. Considerable of the cut grain is already becoming quite weathered and, unless better weather conditions prevail soon, there is danger of the grain growing, with a consequent heavy loss. Wind and rain storms have caused the grain to lodge quite badly in many places; this will render it difficult to cut. The grain is a good sample and will give a fair yield if it can be harvested. Many reports come in of potatoes rotting quite badly in the fields. This is largely confined to districts where no spraying is done. The loss in these districts will be quite heavy and will reduce the total crops in the province to some extent. In the larger potato-growing districts the crops is coming along well and good yields are reported. Prices continue around $3.00 per bushel at shipping points.

Several carloads of lambs have been sold from the North Shore district, the price realized being 12c per lb. live weight. Some of these went to Montreal. Lambs are reported to be in good condition. Milk production is going down quite rapidly, as it is to be expected at this time of year. The output of cheese and butter in the province will be 15% greater than last year. It has been a good season generally for dairying. The pastures have been good.

Saves Shortening

One of the first things you notice, after "Beaver" Flour comes to your house, is that you are using less shortening than you used with western spring wheat flours.

You also notice that the Pie Crusts, Cookies and Doughnuts are lighter and flakier—that the Bread Rolls and Biscuits have a delicate flavour, a delightful, nut-like, homey flavour that is doubly welcome after the tough, almost tasteless bread you used to make with western spring wheat flours.

BEAVER FLOUR
 Milled of Blended Wheat

is really two flours in one, for two kinds of wheat are used in blending. "Beaver" Flour contains the choicest Ontario winter wheat, strengthened with western spring wheat.

This gives you the finest pastry flour that can be milled—with the right strength to make a good size loaf of bread or a big pan of snowy Rolls.

More than that, everything made of "Beaver" Flour has a deliciously appetizing, nutlike flavour that is entirely lacking in the strong, western spring wheat flours.

Try it yourself—see how you save shortening—see how you come to depend on the even strength and quality of this famous flour—see how everything tastes so much better. Your dealer should have "Beaver" Flour—or will get it for you.

Heavy Passenger Travel On C.N.R. Lines

Passenger travel is remarkably heavy on all sections of Canadian National Railway Lines, and particularly so in the Eastern section where trains between St. John, Halifax, Sydney and Montreal, are every day filled to capacity. The popularity of the Maritime Express and Ocean Limited is amply demonstrated by many applications for sleeping car reservations on these well equipped through trains.
Requests for space are so numerous that extra cars are being carried and often trains run in two sections. With the rush of travel from troop steamers arriving at Halifax and Quebec this means considerable of a strain on the railway for equipment.
Passenger business which has been very brisk all summer is likely to continue lively through the fall.

FOR FREEDOM
William Farnum in "For Freedom," is the present screen attraction at the Happy Hour Theatre on Thursday. Always a favorite here, this sterling actor's latest work has been received with unstinted praise. In this latest William Fox vehicle for Mr. Farnum—a deluxe production—the war is used only as a background for an intense human interest story. It tells vividly the pathetic experience of a convict who, imprisoned through the machinations of a "william," obtains a parole to fight for his country, gives a fine account of himself in battle, and eventually is vindicated.

There is not a moment without a "punch," and Mr. Farnum's work is up to his best—which is saying much. Lonesome Luke coming extra.

Girls Lemon Juice A Skin Whitener

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier. Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.
