British Columbia Conservative.

Pacific Province Five to Two Against the Government—Majority Reduced to 43 With the Yukon to Hear From.

SENSATIONAL DISCLOSURES

Judge Cassels Finds that 28 Marine Officials at Quebec Have Been Taking Commissions and Presents From Contractors. Might Have Been Discovered Long Ago But for Government Obstruction.

Unhappy Financial Situation of The Government.

Ottawa, Nov. 14th, 1908. The three deferred elections held this week give the Government one seat in Saskatchewan and the Opposition two in British Columbia. The Government majority is now reduced to forty-eight with the Yukon election to be held. This is significant that it was in the last Parliament. In the last House the Opposition had seventy-three members, exclusive of the Yukon representative. There are now eighty-six with the Yukon to hear from.

There is a Conservative majority of twelve in Canada west of Ontario, there is an equal division, the Yukon having a casting vote. In the last House the Western representation stood 21 Government to 7 Opposition. Outside of Quebec province the Government has a majority of only four, and the Yukon vote may reduce it to three. In the last House it was 23 outside of Quebec.

BRITISH COLUMBIA REVOLUTION.

The over-tune in British Columbia is remarkable. In 1904 the Government carried the whole seven seats. This year it has only two of the seven. One of these was carried in a deferred election by acclamation, and it was well understood that it would go with the party obtaining power. The other was carried by a labor-liberal in a three-cornered election, the Government candidate receiving more than half the vote. So there is not one British Columbia constituency in which a majority of the electors voted for the government. In the elections this week a government majority of 161 in Yale-Caribou has been turned to a Conservative majority of over 800, and in Keeney a government majority of 767 is replaced by a Conservative majority of over 900. All the centres of population contributed to this change. Conservative majorities include 12 in Greenwood, 124 in Kamloops, 95 in Grand Forks, 144 in Hazelton, 71 in Trail, 35 in Rossland, 184 in Nilsson. Mr. Ross, the defeated candidate in Yale, was one of the so-called dark lantern brigade of obstructors and his defeat will assist in the investigation of public accounts.

ANOTHER PRINCE ALBERT ELECTION.

The deferred election in Prince Albert gave the government candidate a majority, but this was obtained in the back districts where the homesick inspectors, interpreters and other officials got in their work. The older settlements, villages and towns, first heard from Conservative majorities. It will, perhaps, be learned later, whether the remote polls were ever held, or followed the precedent of the last election in that district, where the election officers set down on the prairie and held the poll all by themselves, writing 150 imaginary names in the poll book and marking that number of ballots nominally for the government candidate.

COMING OUT AT LAST.

The Cassels' inquiry at Quebec City abundantly justifies the reflection of the Royal Commissioners as to the "lack of conscience" in the Marine Department. It also explains the enormous cost of maintaining the Dominion steamers, and the rapidly increasing expenditure of the Marine Department. Year after year, Conservative members have protested that the outlay on government ships was too large to be honest. There was an Arctic inquiry. There was investigation of the Montcalm. The accounts of the Druid, the Minto, and other ships have been before the Public Accounts Committee. But it was found impossible to bring out the important facts, and a majority was ready to whitewash every improper matter that was brought to light.

WHOLESALE CORRUPTION.

The Royal Commissioners were hampered by no such restrictions. Ministers did not even know what Messrs. Courtney, Fyche and Bazin were accomplishing until they had finished their work and made their fatal report. Mr. Brodeur was surprised and indignant—but had to take further action. Commissioner Cassels is holding a pretty free inquiry, and has no politician at his side to suppress the evidence. Therefore at the Quebec agency alone, he has received the admission from dealers with the Government that they have paid commissions or given presents to at least twenty-eight officers in the department. These include: The Government agent at Quebec; The Chief Inspector of the district; The Superintendent of the Ship Channel; A lighthouse inspector; The captain of the Druid; The captain of the Montcalm; Engineers on the Arctic, the Minto, the Druid, and the Montcalm.

A number of clerks, machinists, foremen and other employees.

CONTRACTORS' ADMISSION.

James J. Murphy, dealer in building material, avers that he has paid in toll to government officers $3,803.95.

W. R. Blackiston, sail maker, sold the government $3,000 of supplies in two years and paid the government agent 5 per cent. commission.

EX Drole made large sales to the government and paid the agent $3,143 commission. To other government employees respectively he paid $1,764, $1,700, $1,550, $390, $740, $464, $400, $272, $200, $185, $130, $115, $140, $120, $105, with numerous payments under $100.

R. G. Gale, of the Slade Electric Company, paid 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent. commission in three years on $10,000 of business.

Patrick Murphy, saloon keeper, sold to the government $8,761.48 worth of second-hand coal bags and other goods at 80 per cent. profit, and paid the officials 5 per cent.

J. D. Cole, plumber, received some $37,000 from the government in three years. He says that he paid Inspector O'Farrell $100; the Captain of the Montcalm $140; another captain $100; to a chief engineer $250, and to another employee $75.

Belanger & Co. say they made a payment to the government agent.

A Davies, of the shipping and wrecking firm of G. T. Davis and Sons, Ltd., paid an average of $500 a year for eleven years to government officers in commissions.

Thibodeau, grocer, paid 5 per cent. on $7,000 worth of business.

Another grocer paid the same rate.

Mr. Wigge says that he paid his commission in supplies which he made no collection.

A Anyon sold $4,000 worth of fireworks for the Arctic and paid officials 10 per cent. commission on the job.

John Drole sold meat to the department, and gave the captain of the government ship his own supply at a reduced price.

George Marchand, boiler-maker, repaired a lightship for $5,000. He paid a 5 per cent. commission and gave $10 and $15 each to four government engineers who verified his accounts.

THE PEOPLE PAY.

These statements are not contradicted to any serious extent, though some of the officials claim to have rendered service by discounting claims on the government. It is not surprising that contractors' bills against the government are excessive. The public will understand the value of certificates given by officers in the pay of contractors. For every dollar which a contractor pays in commissions he receives many in extra profit. The Montcalm, the Arctic, and other government vessels have cost double the proper charge for maintenance, and this evidence explains it.

CANNOT BE EVADED.

It is useless for Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Brodeur to say that certain Tory officials are to blame. Most of the officers implicated are appointees of the Laurier Government. All the contractors who paid the rake-off, and got extra profit out of the Treasury are active government supporters, and doubtless generous campaign contributors. No evidence shows that this system of plunder goes back more than eleven years. It is a development of the present regime, and has become a regular way of transacting government business. No one supposes that the custom could have been continued so long, and grown so general without the knowledge of men much higher in the administration than those mentioned. If some of the surviving officers appointed by Conservatives are in the inner circle, the managers of the machine have made them so bad as themselves.

IT IS NOT NEW.

Most of the facts brought to light at Quebec could have been discovered long ago if the Parliamentary inquiry had not been blocked. The Arctic inquiry was held in 1906, but was so restricted by government officials and the ruling of the majority that the inside facts could not be discovered. It was held by the majority that the certificates of officers proved the prices to be right. Now these very officers are under suspension, and we are told that they are to be prosecuted for corruption. In the Merwin inquiry two years ago, it was made clear that the Government was paying in some cases more than double the proper price for machinery and supplies bought in enormous quantities by the Marine Department. This was established in the face of government obstruction of all sorts. There was ample ground for prosecution at that stage, but the majority whitewashed everything.

WATCH THE PROSECUTION.

The government now announces intention of prosecuting both contractors and officials. We shall see how far that will go. But prosecutions should not be limited to the Marine Department, or to subordinate officials or to small contractors. If a sailmaker has paid $150 to get $3,000 worth of business, the officer who took it ought to be punished. But what about a party leader who gets $36,000 as the price of assisting a contractor to obtain a government dredging contract? What about the officers who assisted middlemen to obtain a rake-off on sales of land to the Intercolonial, the rake-off on one transaction being several times larger than the whole amount of the Quebec commissions?

PATRONAGE.

The government now promises to abolish the whole patronage list in the Marine Department. That is a good undertaking, and we shall see how it is carried out. But why should not the rule be extended to the Railway Department, the Department of Public Works, and every other branch of the public business?

AN AWFUL RECORD.

The complete financial statement to the end of October is now issued. It shows a depressed revenue in every department except public works, as compared with last year, and for the seven months a decrease in every department except the Post Office. Following is the revenue statement:

October, 1907	$8,228,071
October, 1908	7,519,716
Decrease	708,355

For the 7 months, 1907 (March to October) $8,257,779

For the 7 months, 1908 (March to October) 48,247,268

Decrease 1,010,541

Increased ordinary expenditure for October 1,536,811

For the seven months 5,468,120

Capital expenditure for the seven months exceeds that of the previous year by 4,896,443

MANY DON'T KNOW HEART AFFECTED.

More People Than are Aware of It Have Heart Disease.

"If examinations were made of every one, people would be surprised at the number of persons walking about suffering from heart disease."

This startling statement was made by a doctor at a recent inquest. "I should not like to say that heart disease is as common as this would imply," said the expert, "but I am sure that the number of persons going about with weak hearts must be very large."

Hundreds of people go about their daily work on the verge of death, and yet do not know it. It is only when the shock comes that kills them that the unsuspected weakness of the heart is made apparent.

"But undoubtedly heart weakness, not disease, is more prevalent nowadays. I should think that the stress of living the war and time of modern business life, has a lot to do with heart trouble."

These are no doubts but that this is correct, and we would strongly advise any one suffering in any way from heart trouble to try a course of MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

THE HERALD

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 25, 1908. PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY AT 81 QUEEN STREET, CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. ISLAND. JAMES McISAAC, Editor & Proprietor.

Provincial Election.

In the Provincial general election, held on Wednesday last, the Government had a close call. The parties now stand sixteen Government supporters and fourteen Opposition. The majorities in several cases are small and only a few votes more, polled for the Opposition, would have put the Government out of power. In their appeal to the electors and all through the campaign the Government's position was untenable, and their candidates dared not hold up the record of the administration for the last seventeen years. They trusted to a policy of concealment and the ransacking of ancient political history for success. Their attempts to becloud the real issues before the people and to divert public attention from the unworthiness of the Government were not as successful as they had hoped. The people saw through the game and the result has been that the Government has almost been put out of action. It is difficult to say just exactly what the relative positions of the parties may be by the time the House meets. Seven Opposition have been elected in King's County, six in Prince County and one in Queen's. The Kennedy family have rendered grand service to the Conservative cause in this fight for good Government. Two Kennedy brothers have been elected as Opposition members, Murdoch for the first district of Queen's, the seat he occupied during the last two sessions, and James for the fourth district of Prince, where he defeated the Commissioner of Agriculture, Hon. S. E. Reid, by over one hundred majority. It was a bad day for the Reids; both of them, running in the same district went down before the Conservative candidates. Captain Joseph Reid was defeated by Michael Delaney by a majority of fifteen. In this case surely the Government were leaning on "rotten reeds." The defeat of Hon. S. E. Reid Commissioner of Agriculture, will necessitate the appointment of a new Commissioner, but the Government in extremis will likely be very cautious in making the selection. The people see, from what has been accomplished, what they could have done had they just made up their mind. A little extra effort would have defeated the Government, and placed the Conservatives in power. It would only have taken a few more votes to do this, and it is too bad that the job was not completed when we came so near to it. As it is the Government find themselves in a pretty tight place, and their condition is likely to be worse as time passes. It must be admitted that an excellent day's work in behalf of good Government was done and the successful Opposition candidates are to be congratulated. The Leader of the Opposition, Mr. J. A. Mathieson, deserves much praise for propounding a reasonable and comprehensive platform, and is entitled to the heartiest congratulations for his own success, and for the large measure of success that has crowned his efforts as Leader of the Conservative party. To the other successful Opposition candidates we also extend our congratulations. The writer would deem it a pleasure to be with them to assist in cleaning out the Augean political stables. He came pretty close to it. We shall see. We would advise all friends of good Government, and all who have been active in promoting the Opposition cause, not to allow their interest to flag or their vigilance to relax. There may be very interesting developments in store for the near future, and it is well to hold ourselves in readiness for any eventualities.

To Our Subscribers.

It is now drawing close to the end of the year, when everyone who carries on any business must make an effort to collect his outstanding bills, in order that he may have wherewith to meet his own obligations. In consequence of our attention being considerably directed towards other things recently we are perhaps a little late in bringing this matter to the notice of our subscribers. But, we feel sure, that all are quite alive to the fact that it is impossible to conduct our business without money. This much being understood and admitted without hesitation, it is unnecessary to deal in any further generalities. We simply wish to say that we are particularly desirous that our friends would be so kind as to remit their subscriptions at the earliest possible convenience. Only a little over a month of the year 1908 remains, and we would esteem it a favor if all would make an effort to remit before the sands of this year run out. We are obliged at this season to lay in supplies of material sufficient to carry us through the winter, and all this cannot be done without money. This everyone knows to be true. We have been very easy on the question of money of late, and would not mention the matter at all, were it not that business cannot be done without it. In view of these facts, we sincerely hope and believe that our subscribers will consider this single reminder sufficient, and that they will, without delay, send in their money. As the admonition is somewhat late, we trust the response will be all the more prompt. For purposes of convenience we have enclosed printed envelopes addressed to this office, accompanied by forms with blanks for date, place and amount in each case. These blanks and envelopes are likely to be enclosed in all the papers of this week's issue; so that if some who do not use us anything may receive them, they will understand that they were not sent them for immediate use. They may set them aside, so that they may be used at a future time. All subscriptions received shall be acknowledged by receipt in the following issue of the paper. We have endeavored to set our meaning before our readers as plainly and simply as possible, and we submit the matter to the kind consideration of our friends, with the earnest hope that we shall, forthwith, have the pleasure of filling out and returning numerous receipts for money remitted. Who will be the first to respond?

Small wonder that Rockefeller is known as "Oily John." When he gets into the witness box to tell how he strangled competition, and with the connivance of the railways built up his big combine, his manner is so ingenious, and his expression so benevolent, that his auditors actually think their ears deceive them, and that instead of being a recital of one of the most ruthless trade practices of the age, they are listening to the story of the early trials and vicissitudes of some exemplary and ultimately successful young man.—Ottawa Citizen.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned returns his grateful thanks to his loyal and true friends in the second district of King's County for their generous support and faithful cooperation in the recent Provincial election. He thanks those who voted for him; those who worked for him; those who facilitated his canvass in different sections of the district; those who represented him at the polls; those who extended to him the generous hospitality of their homes; in a word, he thanks all who, in any way, assisted him, or showed him a kindness during the election campaign. For all these kind offices the undersigned, reiterates his true and loyal friends his unfeigned thanks, and begs to subscribe himself.

Theirs Faithfully, JAMES McISAAC.

Orders have been received in Lawrence Mass. to prepare the Boston and Maine car shops for a resumption of work on Monday next. The shops were closed up during the early stages of the financial depression of last year.

The New Grand Theatre at Winnipeg, costing $30,000, just being completed, collapsed last Friday evening. The side walk was covered with debris, but fortunately no one was hurt. The theatre was built by a company.

Four men lost their lives in a fire which partly destroyed a seven-story business building on Canal Street New York yesterday and incidentally afforded an opportunity for a display of heroism on the part of two firemen, who at imminent peril saved the lives of four men trapped at the top of the building.

As a result of a fire in a northwestern coal mine near Butte Montana 3 men are dead and six are missing. Six missing miners attempted a rescue by No. 2 entry, and it is stated that there is not a chance that they have escaped, for in that section of the mine fire is raging furiously. The fire was started by lights on the caps of the miners. Damage will be heavy.

An offer of $700,000 for the remaining York Loan Co. property Toronto was refused by the National Trust Company lately after two weeks deliberation, with the information that no offer under $1,000,000 would be considered. The firm which made the offer is the Assets Realization Co., Chicago, who sent S. H. Putnam to Toronto to try and put the deal through.

The British schooner Delta Terra, Capt. Abram, with fish from Tor Bay, was wrecked at Melber's Back, while trying to make Halifax Sunday. There was little wind and the vessel was carried on the rocks by the current. The crew and three passengers were rescued by boat from the schooner Jubilee, which was making port and which was within hailing distance. The vessel is a total wreck.

Boston, Nov. 23—A shipwreck, one of the worst here for several years, happened in Broad Sound, at the entrance to Boston Harbor about 12.15 a. m. The Hugh G. a three-masted schooner, bound to Boston from Harvey, New Brunswick was rammed near Graves Light, off Winthrop and sank, by a mud scow and sank to the bottom with her captain and four of his crew before they could get a boat free of the sinking ship. The scow was a small scow was drenched. In less than two minutes, and with little sea, the schooner sank beneath the surface. Three of the crew were saved.

The death of Miss Katharine Campbell, daughter of Duncan Campbell, Reserve, N. S. took place a few days ago as the result of severe burns on her body. The young lady seventeen years of age, was standing before the stove when a burst of flame set fire to her clothing, and before assistance reached her she ran with her clothing on fire. She fell unconscious a short distance from the house. She was carried back and a doctor summoned. The unfortunate girl was almost roasted, her flesh being in a terrible state from the burning of her clothes. The doctor and family did everything possible to alleviate her terrible suffering, but without avail.

It is believed in New York that twenty-five persons lost their lives the other day in an explosion. It is definitely known that fifteen persons are buried under hundreds of tons of earth, and a number were thrown into the air by the explosion and ten more persons are reported missing. The exact number dead cannot be reported, for those who are working to recover the entombed bodies must dig through fifty feet of dirt, rock, and a tangle of pipes and timber. The streets were crowded with school children when the explosion occurred and that scores of children were not killed or injured is remarkable. A woman and three children were almost opposite the excavation when the earth crumbled under their feet and they were swept down into the hole under tons of wreckage. Two other children were on the opposite side of the street when the sidewalk caved in and they, too, lost their lives.

Kaiser William & Britain.

The full text of Emperor William's proxy interview in the London Daily Telegraph is now to hand, and it is certainly a remarkable deliverance. It commences with the gentle assertion that the English are "mad, mad, mad, as March hares," and completely given over to suspicions unworthy of a great nation. The Kaiser then proceeds to admit that his patience is taxed severely by the jealousy and mistrust with which the British people regard him. In the next breath he states that the prevailing sentiment among large sections of the middle and lower classes in Germany is not friendly to England, and that he is in a minority of the best element in Germany in extending the hand of friendship to Great Britain. After pointing out that he refused to receive the Boer delegates when they came to Europe and had broken up a coalition of the powers which had aimed at coercing Great Britain and stopping the Boer war, he further says that, during the black week in December 1899 he received a letter from his revered grandmother, Queen Victoria written in sorrow and affliction, and that he at once prepared a sympathetic reply; in addition to this he worked out a plan of campaign and submitted it to his general staff for their criticism, and despatched it to England, where it is among the state papers at Windsor castle "awaiting the serenely impartial verdict of history." By a curious coincidence, he declares, that plan of campaign was the one actually adopted by Lord Roberts, and carried by him into successful operation.

It is this latter statement which has more particularly offended King Edward and the British people. The secretary for war has declared that no such document ever reached the war office, and the latest cable reports announce that King Edward is so much displeased especially at this portion of the Kaiser's interview, that he has cancelled his proposed visit to Germany.

From all sides come declarations tending to prove that the statements contained in the Emperor's interview are to use a polite phrase, not proven. The French press admits that a movement was on foot during the Boer war to coerce Great Britain. It is said that France declined to be a party to it, not so much out of consideration for Great Britain, but because an essential condition stipulated by Germany was a fresh ratification of the treaty of Frankfurt which would have meant for France the final abandonment of Alsace Lorraine while guaranteeing the status quo of Russia, Germany, and France, in Europe. The Russian press also denies it. As regards the claim of the Emperor that he was the author of the plan of campaign which subjugated the Boers, the German press is no less indignant than the British. A prominent German newspaper declares that the soul of the German nation is deeply wounded by the knowledge that the Kaiser worked out a war plan with which to annihilate the valiant Boers, and asked whether he was also a party to the destruction of 30,000 Boer farms, "and the plundering of women and children placed in the deadly concentration camps." The British press recalls Emperor William's celebrated telegram of congratulations of President Kruger, and the London Spectator sarcastically expresses its surprise that such a war expert could have resisted the temptation to supply a successful plan of campaign to General Buller.

Taking the incident as a whole, Emperor William seems to have afforded the late Mr Whistler a new text on "the gentle art of making enemies" both at home and abroad.—Ottawa Citizen.

Passengers In Deadly Peril.

The lives of five hundred persons were imperilled Monday when the fruit steamer Admiral Dewey inward bound to New York from Jamaica, ran into the steamer Mount Desert, bound for the fishing banks. The Dewey coming suddenly out of a fog bank struck the Mount Desert amidships opening a gap in the fishing vessel which extended from the upper decks to the waters edge. There were 450 passengers, including twenty women and six children on the Mount Desert. A panic ensued but the captains kept the vessels together until calmness was restored and the passengers from the damaged steamer were taken aboard the other.

Loss of Life In Tornado.

A tornado struck Berryville Arkansas killing 3 persons and demolishing about a dozen houses and stores. A message to St. Louis says there was a tornado just North of London and that ten persons were reported killed but reports has not been verified. Dispatches report the town of Waterville and Jethro were almost demolished by a tornado and several persons killed in each place. A tornado passed near Ozark, Mulberry and Berryville, Ark, killing the persons. No details are obtainable.

Mr. Dan. McGillicuddy has been condemned to pay a fine of $100 or spend a hundred days at hard labor for having printed in his paper the Calgary News, a violent attack on the editor of the Eye Opener, a publication that figured somewhat in the discussion of the late parliamentary campaign. What Mr. McGillicuddy was found guilty of printing was about the most violent attack on a man that has appeared in a Canadian newspaper for many years and he may think he got value for the money he will have to pay. The interest in the case however, is in the fact that it shows that the law of libel is operative at Calgary. Perhaps some one will now have courage to apply it to the case of the Eye Opener and check an outflow of exceedingly bad reading matter.

Mr. Aquith has informed the British Parliament that his Government's idea is that Great Britain should have a preponderance of 10 per cent, over the combined naval strength in capital ships of the two next strongest naval powers. This means a heavy burden on the taxpayers; but it also seems to be considered unavoidable. The Campbell-Bannerman Government, of which Mr. Aquith is the successor, was earnestly desirous of reducing the army and navy outlay, and so lessening the burdens laid on the people. Circumstances have been too strong for it however. It will be some time before a people that only desires to mind its own business can reduce its armaments to its police needs.

In connection with the movement on the part of the government to reduce the length of parliamentary debates, the cabinet might consider the advisability of adopting the Washington system, under which a member who wants to make a speech simply in order to have it printed for circulation among his constituents, can hand in the manuscript to Hansard without actually delivering the speech in the house. This, it is said, tends to save a great deal of time, and would undoubtedly cut out a considerable number of speeches during the session which are delivered by members in order that they may have the printed copies to distribute in their constituencies.—Ottawa Citizen.

The Revival of Trade.

The prompt and pronounced revival of trade immediately following the elections in Canada and the United States is a matter for general congratulation. At the same time it indicates the immense influence of the quadrennial political excitement upon industrial conditions, more especially in the United States. In Canada the influence is much less noticeable, and it is a question whether the reflex of industrial conditions across the line is not a more potent factor than anticipated changes in our domestic politics.

The immediate effect of getting the elections over has been possibly more noticeable this year than formerly. During the first week following the elections in the States bank clearings which had been steadily on the decline for over a year at once took the up grade. Of the seven largest cities in the United States the bank clearings increased from 10 per cent to 72 per cent, and in Pittsburgh the continued decrease was only 9 per cent. In Canada the change was not so pronounced, chiefly for the reason that this country was not so directly affected, and in any case, has not suffered from the worldwide depression to anything like the extent that the United States has suffered.

Doctors

say take Cod Liver Oil—they undoubtedly mean Scott's Emulsion. It would be just as sensible for them to prescribe Quinine in its crude form as to prescribe Cod Liver Oil in its natural state.

the oil is emulsified and made easy to take—easy to digest and easy to be absorbed in to the body—and is the most natural and useful fatty food to feed and nourish the wasted body that is known in medicine today. Nothing can be found to take its place. If you are run-down you should take it.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

It was not until nearly eight months later that the real crash occurred; the period of stagnation extended over a year, and the period of financial convalescence will probably extend over until next spring, when complete recovery of prosperity may be anticipated. In the meantime everything points to an uninterrupted progress towards recovery, which may even be more rapid than the conservative estimate.

While on this subject The Citizen may be excused for advertising to the advice given in these columns early in the present year to people having money to invest to purchase high-grade stocks outright at the then prevailing price. At that time Nova Scotia Steel preferred, paying 7 per cent, and as sound as any security can be said to be, was obtainable at $80 per share.

Sir Henry Joly De Lotbiniere

Sir Henry Joly de Lotbiniere came prominently into Canadian politics just thirty years ago, when he accepted the task of forming a cabinet in this province after the dismissal of Lieutenant Governor Letellier of Mr. O. B. DeBoucherville. The situation was a peculiar one. The McKinnon Government was on the eve of appealing to the country and its friends were anxious to strengthen it wherever that was possible.

Taxes and the People

Nothing is certain according to the poet of economics, but death and taxes. It has long been a close question which of these processes aggrieved humanity the more. The content is a tie, apparently with nothing in either to recommend it except its certitude.

PEOPLE SAID SHE HAD CONSUMPTION

Was in Bed for Three Months. Read how Mrs. T. G. Book, Brookridge, Ont., was cured (and glad her little boy) by the use of

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

She writes: "I thought I would write and let you know the benefit I have derived through the use of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A few years ago I was so badly troubled with consumption and coughing and spitting blood that I could not live through the fall. I had two doctors attending me and they were very much alarmed about me. I was in bed three months and when I got up I could not walk, so had to go on my hands and knees for three weeks, and my limbs seemed of no use to me. I gave up all hopes of ever getting better when I happened to see in B.B.R. Almanac that Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup was good for weak lungs. I bought a bottle and by the time I had used it I was a lot better, so got more and it made a complete cure. My little boy was also troubled with weak lungs and it cured him. I keep it in the house all the time and would not be without it for anything."

Price 25 cents at all dealers. Beware of imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Ask for it and insist on getting the original. Put up in a yellow wrapper and these pins across the trade mark.
