The Earl's Son;

TWO HEARTS UNITED;

CHAPTER XXVIII.

"Yes," said Veronica, raising her eyes to his falsely smiling ones. "Truth will prevail, and murder will out, Talbot. Trite sayings, but they console and encourage us."

"Yes, yes!" he assented. "The evidence—"

She caught him up quickly.

"There may be, there will be, further evidence. Someone may have been out that night and seen or heard something that may lead to the discovery of the man who did this deed."

He met her eyes unflinchingly.

"Let us hope so!" he said, devoutly. "It is very strange! On that very night I had intended going for a stroll, and in the direction of the woods; indeed I went down the steps of the terrace, but I changed my mind and returned to the house. If I had only gone on!"

Veronica did not start, but her eyes dwelt on his face with the woman's penetrating acuteness. But he did not move a muscle.

"Why are you staying here? Why will you not come to the Court?" he said.

She shook her head as she had shaken it to the earl's invitation.

"When—Ralph is proved innocent," she said. "Until then I shall remain here and near him."

Without another word she went into the hotel and up to her room and, sinking into a chair, covered her face with her hands and thought hard.

Why had Talbot Denby told her a lie? Why had he said that he had not been out that night? She had seen him in the spinney. Was he lying because he did not wish to be a witness, to be connected with the trial?

A vague suspicion, too vague, indeed, to be a suspicion, crept into her mind for a moment, to be dismissed the next. The chief evidence in Ralph's favor was the absence of motive; and what motive could Talbot Denby have for murdering this vagrant and tramp? Yes; he had lied because he feared that he might have to appear in the case. It was cowardly; but since the day she had seen Ralph break Talbot's stick across his back she had known that Talbot was a coward.

The prison officials received the earl with befitting respect, and the governor himself assisted him to alight, escorted him into the corridor and led him to Ralph's cell. The proud old man looked straight before him, his waxen face set hard, his lips drawn tightly. "My son—here!" was the dominant thought in his mind.

The door was unlocked, and the governor, stepping aside to permit the earl to enter, said:

"A visitor for you, Lord Lynborough."

Ralph was sitting on his pallet, his head resting on his hand, his eyes fixed on the floor. He was thinking, not of the awful charge under which he was lying, but of the miniature, the portrait of his mother, of her dying words and the missing certificates.

His mother was Jane Burchett, Burchett's sister. Burchett, Mr. Whetstone, all thought that she had been betrayed, and the certificates were missing and there was a cloud over his birth. In the eyes of the world he must figure, as nameless, dishonored; for how could he prove the marriage, his legal birth? And Veronica—Veronica, who was of noble birth—how could he permit her to unite herself to a—the terrible word made him shudder. Yes, he must give her up!

He was wording his letter to her in his mind when the earl was admitted.

He rose and the two men regarded each other in silence. Ralph was surprised but not embarrassed; for he conjectured that Lord Lynborough had come to ask him some questions; but as the earl continued to gaze at him with a sad and earnest scrutiny, he said:

"Will you not sit down, my lord? I am sorry—there is only the pallet."

The earl sank onto it, then motioned to Ralph to seat himself beside him, and Ralph did so. Still there was silence, as if the earl could not find his voice; then at last he said in faltering accents and with a quiver of his lips:

"Can—can you not guess why I have come?"

"No, my lord," said Ralph. "Is it to ask me some questions?"

The earl seized upon the words. "Yes, yes!" he said. "Turn your face to the light! Ah!" He drew a long breath, and his face worked.

"I—I want to ask you about your early life, about—your mother."

"My mother?" said Ralph, with a sigh and a contraction of his brows which made his face still more like the aged one beside him. "What is it you wish to know, my lord?" he went on, rather bitterly. "She was a good mother, a good woman"—the old man winced—"she had a hard life, a life of hard work and sorrow. I do not remember ever seeing her smile." He was silent a moment. "We lived together till she died. What more do you wish to know?"

"Your father?" he said.

Ralph's brows darkened.

"I know nothing of him, my lord," he said. "He died when I was a child. The night my mother died she wished to tell me about him, but—it was too late." His voice broke, and he turned his face away. "She said that there was 'a story' to tell me, that she possessed certificates that would prove her marriage and my birth; but when I went to find them, at her request, I discovered that they were gone."

"So—so you know nothing of him, who, or what he was?" asked the earl, almost faintly.

"No," assented Ralph, gravely and still rather bitterly; "but since I have been here I have heard the story of Burchett's sister, and yesterday—" his voice broke—"I saw my mother's portrait. I had seen it before, in Mr. Whetstone's hand. She was Janet Burchett, I am sure; but my father—"

The earl looked at him with a world of yearning in his sunken eyes.

"Would—would you be glad to hear that he was living?" he asked in a low voice.

TORONTO WOMAN WELL AGAIN

Freed From Bearing Down Pains, Backache and Pain in Side by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Toronto, Ont.—"Last October, I wrote to you for advice as I was completely run down, had bearing down sensation in the lower part of bowels, backache, and pain in the side. I also suffered terribly from gas. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now entirely free from pain in back and bowels and am stronger in every way. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound highly to all expectant mothers."—Mrs. E. WANDBY, 92 Logan Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

Consider Well This Advice. No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Ralph started, then his lips twitched.

"He deserted my mother."

"No, no!" cried the earl. "He thought her dead."

Ralph turned on him swiftly.

"You know him?" he said, huskily.

The earl bowed his head.

"Yes; listen, and—don't judge him harshly. He met your mother when she was a beautiful, innocent girl—ah, be silent and wait!" for Ralph had moved and his hands had clenched. "He was above her in rank, and—and an open marriage—was, for many reasons, impossible. They were married clandestinely."

Ralph drew a long breath.

"Thank God!" he murmured. "But why—why did he desert her?"

"He did not—and yet their separation sprang from his fault. He was a proud man, and a weak if not a wicked one. He—he wearied of her. Yes, I will tell you all—reserve nothing; it is your due! He allowed her to see that he thought the marriage a mistake, a mesalliance."

"I understand!" said Ralph, bitterly. "Ah, yes; it is easy for me, who knew her, to understand. You speak of his pride; but my mother was proud, too, my lord. I can understand how little she could endure to remain beside the man who was ashamed of her!"

The earl stifled a groan.

"You put it crudely, you are—unmerciful!" he said; "but you do not know how bitterly he repented when she had gone, how bitter and unceasing was his remorse when he heard of her death. He was seeking her when the news reached him."

"Then—then—he would have gone to her!" cried Ralph.

"God knows how gladly he would have done so!" murmured the earl, brokenly. "God knows how intense was his remorse; it has embittered his whole life until this day."

"My father? You knew him, know him! Who is he, where is he?" demanded Ralph, with deep agitation, and he sprang up.

The earl raised his eyes and held out his trembling arms.

"He is here; I am your father. My son, my son!"

CHAPTER XXIX.

The earl's trembling hands rested on Ralph's head as he instinctively and unconsciously knelt to receive his father's blessing, for it was a blessing, though no words passed the quivering lips. For a time they sat side by side, the old man's hand on the young man's knee, in a pregnant silence. They were both overwhelmed by the stupendous fact that they were father and son, and they both forgot in the joy of the discovery that they were in a prison cell in which one of them was a prisoner charged with wilful murder.

As the old man's eyes wandered over the handsome face and strong, graceful figure his heart swelled with pride; and, if the truth must be told, Ralph on his part was proud that his newly found father was a nobleman, and that he himself was highly born. As was natural his thoughts flew to Veronica; and, as if in sympathy, the earl thought of her.

"I have just parted from Veronica, Ralph," he said, pronouncing the word with a lingering tenderness which was eloquent of the emotion which was warming the heart that had been so long cold and lifeless. "She was wiser than I, as I told her. How fortunate that you and she should have met, and grown to care for each other! If I had had my choice I could not have chosen a wife for you whom I should have been more glad to receive. And it is true love, love of the best kind. What a romance!" he smiled; but the cynicism had gone out of his smile and it lit up the white, wan face pleasantly.

"I hope—there will be no need to delay the wedding. I want to see you happy, to have your children at my knee—I have been alone so long! There are long arrears to make up—Yes! The marriage must take place at once!"

The words, the sanguine, assured tone startled Ralph from his dream, and involuntarily he looked round the gloomy cell. The earl's eyes followed him, and he too started.

"Ralph!" he exclaimed in a low voice. "I—God forgive me!—I had forgotten!—I—I thought we were sitting in the library at the Court! You—you are a prisoner—this terrible charge! But it is absurd—He forced a smile, but it was an uncertain, troubled one. "Of course your innocence will be established. It must be. At the next examination they shall discharge you; I—I will see that they do so! Murder!" he laughed, scornfully; "as if you commit a cold-blooded, vulgar murder!"

REPORT

Of the Executive Committee of the Marine Disaster Fund, 1914.

Your Excellency and Gentlemen,
 At a meeting of the General Committee appointed by His Excellency the Administrator, held in the Board of Trade Rooms on Thursday, April 23rd, an Executive Committee was appointed to carry out the resolutions adopted at a meeting of citizens held on the previous Tuesday in the Court House. These resolutions in brief were:

- 1.—To establish a Relief Fund for the sufferers from the disasters at the time.
- 2.—To arrange for its collection and distribution.
- 3.—To establish a Permanent Fund for the relief of the sufferers from Marine Disasters.

In conformity with these instructions the Committee has been actively engaged during the past four months, and, although its work is by no means finalized, and must continue for many years, it is now in a position to report progress.
 The first meeting of the Executive Committee was held in the Board of Trade Rooms on Good Friday, April 10th. Thereafter meetings were held frequently, the sessions averaging from one to three hours.
 The officers of the Executive Committee appointed by the General Committee, were: Hon. John Harris, President, and Hon. R. Watson, Secretary. It became apparent from the start that for one man to hold the double office of Secretary and Treasurer would prove too heavy a burden, and at the request of the Committee Mr. Robinson consented to act as Secretary, until such time as the General Committee met, in which body the official appointment vested.
 The tragedy at the Northern fields covered the loss of 78 members of the crew of the S. S. Newfoundland, one other succumbing to his injuries whilst in the Hospital.

The Southern Cross with 174 aboard was lost in the vicinity of St. Mary's Bay, probably during the same storm. Two other fatalities, which occurred at the testfields last spring, were taken into consideration, bringing the total death roll up to 255.
 Enquiries as to the dependencies of those lost were at once instituted. When the citizens' meeting was held in the Court House, the Newfoundland Disaster was the one under discussion. There were rumors as to the loss of the Southern Cross, but only rumors. The second, and from the standpoint of numbers more terrible tragedy, loomed dimly in the distance, but for many days the Committee was handicapped in making investigation, because of its unwillingness to abandon the hope to which so many with touching persistency clung for many long weeks. Indeed, when enquiries were first made as to the families of those of the Southern Cross, it had to be done with great caution to avoid giving pain to those who believed that there was always 'hope from the sea.'

 The work of investigation has been conducted through stipendiary magistrates, clergymen, and in one or two cases the Justices of the Peace, and members of the Constabulary. Of their ready, kindly and invaluable assistance it is impossible to speak other than in terms of gratitude and praise.
 The subscription lists remained open for two months, or until June 15. They were then formally closed, but even now a few amounts are outstanding. That a work of this magnitude could not be finalized under several months was evident from the start, and that it would take many weeks if not months, before the full facts could be ascertained, was equally evident. In order, however, to avoid anything in the shape of destitution or unnecessary suffering, immediate steps were taken. Advances were sent to those districts most in need to meet temporary emergencies, to be adjusted when the allocations were finalized. Later these temporary grants were evened up so that the sum of $25 should be received by every family in need of it, the sum of about $5,500 being thus distributed through the clergymen or magistrates.

The difficulties of investigation were greatly added to by the fact that many men had sailed under other names, whilst some on the ships' rolls were found alive and well, but unable to state to whom they had given their tickets. As a matter of fact it was not until the beginning of the present month that the last member of the Southern Cross's crew was actually identified. Some were registered under incorrect Christian names, and others were entered from places far remote from their real homes. There was one case where a careful search had to be made in half a dozen places bearing the same name, the family, a widow and several children, being discovered through a clergyman in the last named place enquired of, who had heard of them as residing at a nearby settlement of a wholly different name.
 But these were minor difficulties. The first problem to be solved was who on the list had sailed, and who had not. The results showed that fourteen of the 173 on the Southern Cross had sailed under the names of others. This practice of the disposal by sale or otherwise of tickets has long prevailed, those procuring them sailing under the name of the original owner, a custom which in the opinion of the Committee, may at any time cause serious and otherwise avoidable trouble. In addition to the 173 of the Southern Cross crew was one young lad, a stowaway. The crew of the Newfoundland was more easily identified, only one case of substitution having occurred.

The members of the Executive Committee most of whom have had considerable experience in connection with similar, if smaller Funds, have based their methods and scale of payments on lines similar to those adopted in the Greenland, Regulus, Erna and other cases, although the public generosity has enabled them to act with greater liberality.
 The plan adopted is as follows:—
 (1) To aged or infirm widows or parents, and in a few instances to other relatives who were wholly dependent upon the deceased, life annuities of $50 have been granted.

(2) To the younger widows, and adult dependents similar annuities have been granted for a period of five years. Should re-marriage take place the annuities will cease. On the other hand should circumstances, as is probable in several cases, render it necessary that the grants should be continued for a further term of years or for life, provision has been made in the form of a reserve.
 (3) An annual grant of $30, is made to all children of deceased, and to many little brothers and sisters, who were more or less dependent on them; these grants to cease on reaching the age of 15 years, and of girls 16 years of age.
 These rates are considerably higher than any heretofore paid, due to the unexpectedly generous response to the appeal.
 The grants of $100 given by the Government under the Marine Disasters Act of 1913, have been paid through the Treasury, direct to the beneficiaries, or their trustees, independently of this Committee, except that the claims have been certified, when possible by the Secretary.

Whilst grants have been made for stated periods, or for life, a course rendered necessary to enable approximate estimates of expenditure every year. The Committee, moreover, recognizes that if the money is to be utilized to the best advantage of the children these must be kept at school, and on every notice and receipt form appear the words: "Children between the ages of 9 and 14, both inclusive, are expected to attend school, as regularly as possible. All grants are subject to annual revision." The Committee asks those clergymen and magistrates, who are kindly acting as trustees to do everything possible to secure that education for the young children which is necessary to their success in life.

The dependents of the deceased number 721. This figure may be increased when further information is received, and may possibly be decreased when all age certificates have been forwarded. Not infrequently it has been found that the ages given, and the ages on the Church registers differ considerably. It is, however, a safe estimate to place the maximum number of dependents as from 720 to 730. An analysis of the figures is as follows. Accepting 721, the number recorded on July 31st, as the basis, the dependents may be classified thus:—

An outstanding feature in the disasters is the youth of those who have been lost; many of them being under the age of 21, some as young as 16. Several of these young men were married, as the 95 widows indicate, many of whom are girls from 18 to 23, whilst their children are very small, and must remain beneficiaries for from 14 to 16 years. As a matter of fact, about 80 are under 2 years of age, whilst the number of posthumous children will be over twelve.
 The average ages of the children of those lost are: Sons, 5½ years; Daughters 6¼ years.
 The average ages of the brothers and sisters placed on the children's lists are: Brothers, 7 1-3 years; Sisters, 9 2-3 years.
 The average ages of all the children who are beneficiaries are: Boys, 6 2-3 years; Girls, nearly 7 years; thus leaving an average period of payments of 8 years for boys, and 9 years for girls.
 In some cases widows are left with four, five and six children under 15 years of age, but these are not necessarily the hardest cases. The lads and lassies will grow up and in time be able to render assistance. It is where whole families have been cut off, and where the solitary is set in homes once comfortable and provided for, that the most difficult problems are found. The Committee recognizes that in such cases exceptional treatment must be accorded. The aim throughout is to help those most whose needs are greatest, but not to remove from the shoulders of those whose duty and privilege it is to support their parents in their old age, the responsibility for so doing. The Committee interprets the gifts of the public as the expression of a desire to substitute so far as money can do so, that assistance and support that would have been gladly rendered by the husband, son or brother, had he not been cut off.

 In Elliston one family mourns a father and a son.
 In Little Catalina, two sons, a brother and a nephew, have been called from one family.
 Of an aged pair in Foxtrap the sad story reads:—"Their three sons were lost in the Southern Cross. Their only other son was killed on the train four years ago."
 Another family of the same name, in the same place, lost two sons, cousins of the former, both leaving widows.
 At Clarke's Beach, two young men have been called from the one family, leaving a sickly father to support five children between 3 and 15 years of age.
 In Harbor Grace is a widow of 31 with six children, the oldest of whom is 12, and the youngest not one year. In Tilton was a family of six. The father, a widower, and the brother aged 23, have been taken.
 The foregoing are individual instances, but the record of almost every case, is a record of sorrow, and of loss, whose poignancy may be lessened, but the sadness of which must remain so long as memory lasts.
 The number of beneficiaries is as follows:—

Every Stiff Joint Limbered, Rheumatism Cured
That Old Family Remedy "Nerviline" is Guaranteed for the Worst Cases.
CURES NEURALGIA, BACKACHE, LUMBAGO.
 Rheumatism to-day is unnecessary. It is so well understood and so readily curable that every day we have reports of old chronics being freed of their tormentor.
 "I can speak confidently of the Nerviline treatment, for the simple reason that it cured me," writes Albert B. Cornelius, from Kingston. "You can't imagine how stiff and lame and sore I was. Nights at a time I couldn't sleep well. I followed the Nerviline directions carefully—had it rubbed into the sore regions four or five times every day. Every rubbing helped to reduce the pain. The swelling went down. I got a fair measure of relief in a week. I also took two Nerviline Tablets with my meals. They increased my appetite and spirits, purified my blood and toned up my system generally.
 "I am as well to-day as a man could be—in perfect good health. I give Nerviline all the credit."
 A large family size bottle of Nerviline costs only 50c, or the trial size 25c, and is useful in a hundred ills in the family. Whether it's toothache, earache, headache, neuralgia, lame back or a cold, Nerviline will cure just as readily as it will cure rheumatism. For family use nothing equals Nerviline.

This leaves an approximate balance on hand of $60,000, which will probably be required to meet the necessities of the survivors of the Newfoundland disaster. Before, however, that phase of the Committee's work is referred to it should be said that out of the 255 cases, 235 have been approved by the Committee. In three cases the Committee was notified that no help was required, or desired, whilst eight had left no dependents. One or two of the remaining cases, are still under consideration.

If Catarrh has Spoiled Your Hearing Get Cured To-Day by "Catarrhzone"

Don't Stay Deaf Any Longer—Follow the Procession—Use Catarrhzone

Catarrhzone is no experiment for deafness. Thousands before you have cleared Catarrh out of their heads by the aid of Catarrhzone and have thereby been cured of deafness.
 No batteries or miniature telephones to bother you—no internal medicine to take—you have simply to follow special directions for the Catarrhzone Inhaler. Do this and you'll find a wonderful improvement in short order.
 Any druggist can supply you Catarrhzone, or you can for $1 secure it post paid under plain wrapper from the Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Nine cases in ten of hard hearing are curable.
 By curable we don't mean yellowable—we mean that the sense of hearing can be permanently brought back. Catarrh usually causes that deafness.
 Cure the catarrhal condition and you remove the cause of your poor hearing.
 If you were sure you had catarrhal deafness you would use a real cure at once—of course you would.
 There is a cure for you—one that is inexpensive—pleasant to use—and sure to do its work thoroughly.

Britain's Position Defined.

Sir Edward Grey has cleared the atmosphere. We now know definitely where Britain stands. British friends ship for France is not to prove a broken reed. In the past there have been conversations between them as to military and naval support. Sir Edward Grey says England will make an agreement and put it in writing.

He also let Germany know that the British Navy will prevent the German Navy from bombarding French coast towns, and followed it up by giving France a definite promise. He declared in words which are thrilling every British heart around the Globe. "Since Germany will have it, she shall have it in full measure." The German fleet is not to be despised. It is virtually a new creation, and has all the modernity of a fleet born during the past fourteen years. The Berlin correspondent to the London Times thus refers to the growth of the German Navy:—

About the most remarkable feature of German Navy Estimates, and the best index to the growth of Germany's actual strength at sea, is the rapid increase in expenditure on "keeping ships in commission." The amount has practically doubled in seven years. The total votes in 1908 amounted to £1,836,000, in 1913 to £2,149,000, in 1910 to £2,206,000, in 1911 to £2,362,000, in 1912 to £2,570,000, in 1913 to £2,965,000 and for the present financial year the figure is no less than £3,410,000.

"My Lady's Room."

NEVER was furniture of any kind, or at any period, more beautiful, comfortable, thoroughly attractive and well-made, or more eminently adapted to its own special use, than is the furniture of to-day. This is remarkably noticeable in some of the elegant articles that are made for the refined woman's use. We are showing examples in the handsome Writing Desks for Ladies we have on view this week.

These Desks are specially designed for daintiness and comfort, they are of Bird's-eye Maple, Mahogany, Circassian Walnut, Quartered, Fumed and Weathered Oak, also in early English finish; all have chairs en suite.

These Desks are suitable for drawing-room, boudoir, or sitting-room, in fact, used in any room they make writing a pleasure.

squadrons followed. Sir George Callaghan's Flagship, including with the latter 29 vessels of the latest types. In the first and second squadrons were eight Dreadnoughts, in the Third eight King Edwards, and in the Fourth three Dreadnoughts and the Agamemnon. Astern of these ships were the smaller cruisers, arranged in sections of fours. The station keeping of these fast-moving vessels was no less precise than that of their heavier comrades. It took exactly one hour for the First Fleet ships to pass the yacht, and by the time the last had gone the leading vessels of the Fleet were far away on the horizon. Nothing could be more impressive than this stately procession of the striking force of the Empire, the immediately ready Fleet, upon which would fall the first brunt of war.

Now after a slight pause a moving panorama of huge grey hulls was formed by the Second and Third Fleets, in two lines, these being the vessels which have been mobilized for the exercise which are to take place in the Channel this week. They were led by the Lord Nelson and Prince of Wales. When these battle squadrons had passed, there still remained the cruisers of the Second and Third Fleets and the auxiliaries. Over some of these latter vessels hung a cloud of smoke, such as had been necessarily absent from the First Fleet ships, indicating probably that their stokehold complements were new to them. But a week's exercises at sea will shake down the ships' companies and make these vessels as smart as any.

CONTRASTS OF THE SHIPS.
These 22 miles of warships in motion, in seemingly endless columns, stretching from Spithead far away to seaward, each vessel gliding smoothly through the water with but a wash of spray over her forefoot, made a sight which those privileged to see it are not likely to forget. A finer opportunity for comparing the vessels could not be afforded. King Edwards and Dreadnoughts, Bulwarks and Majestics, presented not only a contrast of armament and equipment clearly indicating the advances of recent years. The same was true of the fifty or more cruisers. So, too, the significant difference in the vessels forming the striking force of the reserve was apparent. It must be said at once, however, that the latter ships presented an extremely good showing, considering what a short time they have been out of the dockyards and how lately their crews had joined. It was half-past 11, or exactly two hours after Lord Nelson had passed the yacht, that the last vessel in the lines paid her salute to the King. But long before this the entire assembly of ships had begun to melt away in the far distance, the various squadrons separating for the exercises in which they are to take part.

The Three Squadron Fleet.

Germany will before the end of the present summer have, together with the Fleet Flagship, three squadrons of about equal strength in commission—the first squadron at Wilhelmshaven, consisting of seven of the earliest Dreadnoughts; the second squadron at Kiel, consisting of the Dreadnought Westfalen and either five or six older ships; and the third squadron, also at Kiel, consisting of seven quite new ships.

The Supply of Men.

While the three squadron Fleet is so nearly complete as to make its entire completion appear an urgent necessity, the reserve formations naturally reserve a neglected aspect, especially as there are no reserve ships in commission at Wilhelmshaven.

The most fruitful argument of all, however, for more personnel and more ships in commission is found in the need—espied at present especially in the Mediterranean and the Pacific—for better naval representation of Germany abroad without interference with the units at home. Some time will probably elapse before the real extent of the new spurt is made known.

BRITISH FLEET READY UNDER ADMIRAL CALLAGHAN.

It is somewhat of a coincidence that the present crisis arose at a time the Admiralty had assembled for a review by the King of the largest fleet ever seen in British waters, and that it has become acute before the time came for this mammoth armada to demobilize. A Times correspondent describes the review in part as follows:—

"Down the great waterway, the long columns of ships passed his Majesty. First there were the four battle cruisers in single line, headed by the Lion, followed by the Queen Mary, Princess Royal and New Zealand, in stately order, the latest of our battleships then came on in two parallel columns, led respectively by the Iron Duke and the King George V. . . . The four First Fleet battle

British All.

The pregnant words of support from Ireland uttered by John Redmond are epoch making in their way. We cannot conceive words were ever more apt to stir the hearts of Britons. The offer of Redmond and his fellow countrymen will for ever dissipate the ground for distrust which has been honestly felt by many of the opponents of Home Rule. That distrust cannot live in the white light of such burning patriotic words as those uttered by John Redmond when he assured the Government every soldier might be withdrawn from Ireland, her armed sons, the Catholics of the South and the Protestants of Ulster would defend Ireland. It was a veritable stroke of statesmanship and patriotism.

War News.

LIBAU CLAIMED AS GERMAN VICTORY.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
In some quarters the report of a German-Russian naval engagement at Libau is regarded as conveying news of a great German victory, probably bottling up, perhaps crippling the Russian fleet. With the occupation of the Aland Islands, Germany possesses a safe high road in Finland and naval military base to operate against St. Petersburg itself. Within the shelter of these islands the fleet might lie in perfect security. It would command the entrance of the Gulf of Finland by a sea route and St. Petersburg and the Russian naval stations of Revel and Cronstadt.

OUTPOST SKIRMISHES.

BERLIN, To-day.
A strong Russian column of Infantry and Artillery crossed from the German frontier at Schwidden early to-day. The Commander threw out skirmishers, established outposts, and was apparently relying on strong support from across the Russian line. Russian patrols encroaching on German territory were forced back into the Czar's territory at Eichrenied and Tilsav by German frontier guards. According to word received here, the Germans attacked a Russian detachment. There was a brief skirmish. The Germans made the first capture of war prisoners. At Hohenzelza, 50 Cossacks were surprised and overwhelmed by a detachment of German guards. The force of which they were outposts, were driven back near Alenstein, a town in East Prussia, situated on the River Alle on the German border. Troops from Lublinitz, Silesia, to-day, after a short skirmish with Russians, took possession of Czestochowa, Russian Poland. Bendzig and Kalish, Russian Poland, also have been occupied by Germans.

BRITISH NAVY WILL PROTECT FRENCH SHORES.

LONDON, To-day.
Britain has mobilized her forces and awaits events to-day. She is not a belligerent Power nor is she a neutral one. The Government has given France an assurance that the British Fleet will not permit the German German-Russian naval engagement at Libau to attack the French coast. It has not yet pledged itself to contribute an army to the Continental war. The British Government regards with deepest distrust Germany's violation of Belgium's neutrality, but makes no declaration as to whether she considers that measure a provocation for war. The British Admiralty issued an order prohibiting the use of wireless within the waters of the United Kingdom by merchantmen which must dismantle their apparatus when ordered.

Red McGhee Says: A bunch of youngsters c'r'y Spring git' measured for a crown as king before the season starts. Then they begin to peter out. They slump afield or fall to clout an' fade to unknown parts. Jus' three or four'll stand the gaff an' hang on with some big league staff an' do the big time grind. Near August, when their mettles tried, you'll hear fans talk on ev'ry side 'bout who's the season's find. This year the crown jewels seem to spread themselves around young Scott's head—new shortstop for the Sox. When Heinie Wagner took, to bed Bill Carrigan 'j'ud held his head—the glooms came 'round in flocks. He didn't think he had a soul to fill in at the shortfield hole an' Bill was sure some blue. He had this Scott kid from St. Paul who might be able to play ball—Yes, Scott would have to do.

The kid went in. In just a week he'd showed 'em he could stop the leak—in A I style at that. He frolicked all around the lot and pounced on grounders, sizzlin' hot, like pussy on a rat. And bats. He whacks the ball a mile. He oozes pepper all the while an' keeps things on the trot. You dopesters, when you all unwind, to pick the big league season find, just train your lungs on Scott.

POLICE COURT.—Two drunks were let go on paying for cab hire; a fireman for vagrancy, will be put on board some steamer; a laborer, for larceny, will be dealt with this afternoon.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.—The engagement of Mr. T. J. Rollis, of the R. N. Co's Freight office, to Miss Lizzie Griffiths is announced, and the wedding will take place towards the end of the month.

CAUSED NO TROUBLE.—Prior to the sailing of the s.s. Portia, five firemen left the ship. Without difficulty others were procured in their places and no trouble ensued.

PLAY BALL.

Near the Shooting Range there is some Baseball Game, imported specially for Regatta. Spectators are requested to keep outside of the lines, as the pitchers will not be responsible for anyone getting hurt.—aug4.11

CEASING MOBILIZATION.—This morning the French Consul, M. Suzor, received a message from the Admiralty at St. Pierre advising him that he had received orders from Paris not to proceed further with the mobilization of the French Naval Reserve.

BRUCE PASSENGERS.—The s.s. Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques at 6.50 a.m. to-day with the following passengers in saloon: D. H. Edstrom, J. Ancon, Miss J. McAllister, Miss E. Rennie, G. Wallace, A. Rennie, P. Rennie, T. A. Belfey, R. A. Finn, V. G. Curry, Mrs. E. Weeks and Miss Weeks.

REGATTA DAY EVENTS.

Volunteers, Reservists—From 12 to 1 p.m. on Regatta Day we offer a special prize of $5.00 for the best shot; 400 other small prizes will be awarded during the day, viz.: Watches, Watch Chains, Tie Pins, etc., etc. The Shooting Range is at head of Pond, near Swinging Boats.—11

Wheat Army at Work.

"An army of 60,000 harvesters, in addition to the farmers themselves, began June 15 to gather the greatest wheat crop in the history of the United States," says the Outlook. "The wheat belt of the interior States will be a busy place until early fall, gathering and thrashing the abundant production. If the spring wheat, now in most promising condition, produces as estimated, the Government statistics indicate 947,000,000 bushels for the total output of the year, larger by eight per cent. (187,000,000 bushels) than the best previous yield, last year."

Doctor Speaks Out to Tea and Coffee Drinkers

The Boston Advertiser of June 15, 1914, quotes Dr. D. H. Kress, of Chicago, in an address as saying that tea, coffee and cocoa cause more deaths than alcohol.

"These table beverages are sapping the life of our nation. They are making us a race of weak-kidneyed, weak-livered beings, unable to reproduce ourselves. The kidneys and liver do not perform their proper functions, and the waste matter left in the system tends to bring on arteriosclerosis.

"Statistics show conclusively that as the consumption of coffee, tea and cocoa have increased, the number of nervous diseases and insanity have increased proportionately."

This strong statement from a medical authority, cannot be lightly disregarded.

It is easy to prove in one's own case whether tea and coffee cause the frequent "spells" of nervousness, indigestion, biliousness, liver complaint, headache, heart disturbance and other ills.

Try quitting both tea and coffee 10 days, and use

POSTUM

—then note the difference.
Made from prime wheat and a bit of molasses, Postum is a pure food-drink, entirely free from the pernicious drugs in tea and coffee, or any other harmful substance.

In thousands of homes Postum supplies a table beverage, pleasant to the taste, and to be used freely as a re-builder, where tea and coffee tear down.

Postum comes in two forms:
Regular Postum, must be boiled, 15c and 25c pkgs.
Instant Postum, a soluble form, made in the cup instantly, 30c and 50c tins.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds and the cost per cup is about the same.

Final Meeting of Regatta Committee.

The Regatta Committee held their final meeting in the T. A. Armoury last night. President A. W. Hancock presided and the other members present were: Vice-Pres. Higgins, Secretary Noonan, Treasurer Ellis, P. Hanley, W. J. Martin, J. Perez, J. L. Shattery, J. Day, P. E. Moore, N. J. Viancombe, R. Dowden, T. D. Carew, W. I. Crotty, N. Andrews, J. P. Crotty and J. Coffey.

His Excellency the Governor intimated that there was nothing to mar this year's Regatta and that he would be only too pleased to be with the Committee for the day.

A communication was received from W. G. Gosling, Esq., thanking the Committee for electing him an honorary member and said that it gave him great pleasure to be able to act in that capacity.

The two pendants donated by John E. Roche were forwarded in time for our Regatta but owing to delay in transit they will not reach here before to-morrow.

The remainder of crews then were entered and coxswains drew their stakes and buoys as follows:—

Sisters Find Hoard of Miser Brother.

He Left More Than $5,000 Cash in a Strange Hiding Place.—Had a $12,000 Farm.

Newton, Kan., July 23.—Taken to a hospital in a dying condition, as an act of charity, Charles Perrine, 78 years of age, an old soldier, who has lived the life of a hermit 40 years, had $1,800 in bills in his clothes. The finding of the money gave Perrine's sisters, Mrs. George Ann Nutter, of Girard, Ill., and Mrs. Emily Wagoner, of Villah, Wash., who had been summoned here, an idea that he might have more money concealed in the house on his farm near McLain, and a visit there on the day of his death resulted in finding $65 in gold and $385 in currency, in old clothes hung on the wall of his bedroom.

No further search was made until the second day following, after his funeral, when another search was made and $1,195 in currency found in various places. The search was kept up until a total of $5,135.80 was unearthed.

The farm which he homesteaded is valued at $12,000. Perrine was taken ill on a visit in Newton and was taken to a hospital as an act of charity by a lawyer he knew. He had always lived a solitary life and had little or nothing to do with his neighbors. His clothes were always of the poorest description. His estate will go to his sisters by the terms of an old will which was found.

REPORT

Of the Executive Committee.

THE SURVIVORS.

Consideration of the survivors of the Newfoundland disasters presents problems of a character almost wholly different. In the matter of those who have been called away, the Committee have been enabled to deal with them as they are. Their enquiries have been exhaustive and every aid that sympathetic hearts and willing service could render has been promptly given. But the problem of the survivors rests for solution in the future. At present the position stands thus:—The survivors number 45. These may be classified thus:—

- (1) Permanently incapacitated 11
- (2) Partially incapacitated 10
- (3) Temporarily incapacitated 9
- (4) Uninjured, and as well as ever 15

For the permanently incapacitated this involves life pensions, and as many of them are young, the expenditure called for will be necessarily heavy, spreading over a period of probably 40 years. The second class will require aid probably about 5 years, the third class for one or two years. As soon as the conditions of the sufferers have assumed a normal character it will probably be possible to make a more accurate estimate of the requirements but, as it now appears, the sum required to meet the demands, now apparent, will be $34,775, or say $35,000. But there is another aspect which the Committee has not failed to recognize. It is not reasonable to suppose that those terrible nights on the icefields have left no traces on the health of those who were called on to endure their rigour. The Committee feels that these contingencies must be kept in view, and that an adequate sum should be reserved to meet the requirements. It has therefore set aside $25,000 for this purpose.

With reference to the third part of the Committee's duty, the establishment of a Permanent Fund the Committee has not been inactive, although little of a practical character has been as yet accomplished. It was felt that it would be wiser to finalize the distribution plans of the Sealing Disaster Fund before taking the larger matter up. In June last the following petition was presented to the Judges of the Supreme Court:

Petition.

Hon. Sir William Howwood, K. C., Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Newfoundland.
Hon. George H. Emerson, Judge of the Supreme Court of Newfoundland.
Hon. George M. Johnson, Judge of the Supreme Court of Newfoundland.

My Lords:—
The Marine Disasters Committee desire to call the attention of your Lordships to certain matters in connection with the Fund now being raised and which closes on June 15th, with a view to obtaining directions from your honorable Court, as to their powers.

The great generosity displayed by citizens, both at home and abroad, will place the Committee in a position to meet every reasonable and just demand, on a more generous scale than heretofore attempted. It may be that the Committee's powers do not permit of the diversion of any moneys subscribed for the relief of the sufferers from the Sealing Disasters of 1914, but there are many contributors in St. John's and there is good reason to believe, elsewhere, who desire that the benefit of the Funds subscribed may be extended to those families of our countrymen who have sustained similar losses of life at sea.

The Committee, therefore, desire to ask your Lordships:

1. Whether it is within the power of individual donors to the Fund, to direct that their gifts or a portion thereof may be utilized for Marine Disasters other than those especially under consideration.

2. Whether the interest on the moneys subscribed, which at 4 per cent. compounded quarterly, will be a considerable amount for some years to come, may be used for the Permanent Disasters Fund.

3. Grants to young widows are for five years. Should they marry again these grants terminate. Similar lapses may occur through excessive mortality. It is suggested that these lapsed balances be transferred to the Permanent Fund, subject to the permission of your Honorable Court. This permission is respectfully asked.

The following is an extract from a letter dated June 8th and directed to Hon. John Harris, Chairman of the Committee, by His Excellency Sir Walter Davidson, who was in close contact with many of the large givers in the Old Country. His Excellency says:

"I would suggest for the consideration of your Committee that, if it should be possible to spare some portion of the large sums now in your hands for the immediate needs of the sufferers from this calamity, it would be wise to form a Fund in aid of those who are left destitute through the toll levied on our seamen and fishermen by the inexorable sea."

The Committee is authorized by Mayor Ellis to say, that when in New York, Boston and Montreal in connection with the Relief Fund, the hope was generally expressed that a sufficient sum would be raised to enable the Committee in charge to devote some portion of it to a Permanent Fund for the relief of the families of the Newfoundland Sailors and Fishermen lost at sea.

On behalf of the Executive Committee of the Marine Disasters Fund of 1914,

J. ALEX. ROBINSON,
Hon. Secretary.

To the foregoing a reply was received from their Lordships saying that the matter could only be effectively dealt with by special legislation.

In view of this reply the Committee solicited the co-operation of some legal gentlemen, Messrs. Colway, Blackwood and Warren, who have kindly promised to prepare such legislation, as may be necessary, in accordance with the resolution adopted at the meeting of citizens in the Court House on April 7th. Meanwhile, it is the purpose of the Committee to commence the work of organization at the first opportunity.

While the Committee realizes that almost the entire sum subscribed will be needed to meet the justifiable requirements of dependents and survivors, it is of opinion that any lapses due to re-marriage or to unexpected mortality, should be transferred to the Permanent Fund, as also the interest derived from the Capital sum; and these phases of the matter will be represented to the legal committee, with a view to securing such legislation as may be necessary.

At one of its first meetings the Committee decided to ask for tenders from the various Banks, for sums of $20,000 and $100,000 respectively. All the Banks replied, the highest offer being that of the Bank of Montreal of 4 per cent. compounded quarterly. The highest tender was at once accepted. If the interest is allowed to be credited to the Permanent Fund a far-forward step will have been taken, and the benefit will be spread all over the Island.

The total amount distributed amongst the beneficiaries for the first half year is $13,380, including $1,055 to the survivors and the total expenses to date amount to $35,85, particulars of which are attached. The services of Mr. W. G. Currie have been engaged for a nominal sum to take charge of the books, to assume his duties after the first half year's accounts are finalized, and thereafter to send out the half-yearly cheques. The firm of Messrs. G. N. Rees, Son & Watson have kindly promised to act as Honorary Auditors.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The committee desires to place on record its gratitude to His Excellency the Governor, the Prime Minister and Mayor who, being absent from the Colony at the time of the tragedies, devoted their time and energies to the promotion of the relief movement in England, Canada and the United States;

To the clergymen, Stipendiary Magistrates and Justices of the Peace, who have rendered such invaluable aid;

To the Inspector General of Police who has readily responded to all requests for assistance as well as to those officers in city and outports, who were detailed to do the work desired;

To the Board of Trade and its officials for the free use of a Committee Room;

To the collectors and committees in St. John's and the outports, to whose activities the splendid response to the local appeal was due;

To the members of the various committees in London, Liverpool, New York, Boston, Gloucester, Lynn, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Hamilton, Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, Sydney, Glace Bay, North Sydney, Sydney Mines, Springfield, Campbellton, St. John and other cities to whose devoted efforts the success of the appeals is so largely attributable;

To Newfoundlanders abroad, and those friends of the Colony who so promptly and generously rendered assistance;

To the Governments of the Dominion of Canada and the Province of New Brunswick; the Cities of Toronto, Montreal and St. John, N.B., and the Municipality of Cape Breton County; the Bank of Montreal, Bank of Nova Scotia, Royal Bank of Canada and Canadian Bank of Commerce; the American Red Cross Society, and all corporate bodies which made votes from their funds;

To those Societies and companies in St. John's and throughout Newfoundland whose members have given their services free in their efforts to increase the Fund, and for their substantial benefactions;

To the labourers in mine, factory or works who gave of their time, that their earnings might go to those who had lost their breadwinners;

To the Ladies' Committee which has consented to undertake the work of distribution of clothing at the appropriate moment;

To Drs. Keegan, Macpherson and those medical men in the outports who have gratuitously furnished evidence as to the health and prospects of the survivors;

To the Government for the free use of the Postal and Telegraphic facilities;

To the Anglo-American Telegraph Company for the free use of its cable and wires;

To the Press which has devoted many columns of space to acknowledgments, and in furthering the interests of the Fund;

To those in other lands, many of them unknown to Newfoundland, unless by fame, who used voice and pen in telling the tragic story from pulpit or by the printed page, whose sympathetic portrayals caused so many to come to the assistance of our stricken countrymen;

And to all, at home or abroad, who have in any way helped in its efforts to perform the duties allotted to it by the General Committee, now in session.

Respectfully submitted, on behalf of the Executive Committee,
J. ALEX. ROBINSON,
Hon. Secretary.

Salvia Hair Tonic Makes Hair Grow

Ladies should have radiant hair. There are thousands of women with harsh, faded, characterless hair, who do not try to improve it. In England and Paris women take pride in having beautiful hair. Every Canadian woman can have lustrous and luxuriant hair by using SALVIA, the Great American Sage Hair Tonic. SALVIA is a beautiful, pleasant, non-sticky Hair Tonic. 50c. a bottle.

This Good World.

This good old world is wonderful, it gives us every chance; and if our lives are blunderful, and if we don't advance, the fault is ours, that's evident; we do not play the game; we ought to make a heavy dent in History or Fame. The world is kind and generous to every useful man; 'twill help (I'll help a tinner!) us, in every worthy plan. If we are prompt and dutiful, and labor day by day, the world will act just beautiful, and help us on our way. It makes me feel jim jamous, from scalplock down to shoes, when kickers, loud and clamorous, this good old world abuse. It's so beastly burdensome, with grief and woe so rife, their staying here's absurd and some of them should 'quit this life. But when they get to Paradise they'll still stand round and kick, and want to shake the narrow dice to see who throws a brick. All worlds are stern and rigorous to that besotted mind which only can be vigorous when it has fault to find. This fine old world we're broiling in, where sunshine's always free, this world we're blithely tolling in, is good enough for me!

A Cure for Queerness.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Once upon a time there was a girl who had the reputation of being very retiring and a bit queer. As a result of this reputation all her friends and acquaintances treated her differently from the way they treated ordinary folks. They were conscious of her queerness, and that consciousness affected their manner. Needless to say, she did not grow any queer.

One day there came into this life a very wise lady. She liked her, she was much with her, and responded to her presence power to sunshine. She opened her heart to her, and she became happier, at ease, and contented. At first with her friend, then with others. "You have worked a miracle," she said to the wise lady, "How did you do it?"

The wise lady smiled. "All I did," she said, "was to forget she was queer and treat her just like other people. She wasn't really different, you know, only shy. All she needed was to be taken for granted and to be treated naturally."

Differentness and diffidence are always being confused.

And the result is that those very people who particularly need the sunshine of natural friendliness are driven still more into themselves by the chill of formal and artificial treatment.

Try treating one of these shy, diffident folks exactly as you'd treat anyone else and see if it doesn't change and improve him. Of course, one dose of the treatment will not cure any more than one dose of medicine will make a patient well.

Very wealthy or famous people are another class who seldom get perfectly natural treatment. Their wealth or renown is an impalpable, but real, barrier between them and the common folks. Some people try to be extra nice to them on account of it; others are distant and disagreeable in their anxiety not to trifle; and even those who do not run to either extreme cannot be entirely natural because of their consciousness of that impalpable barrier.

In one of the sweetest books ever written, a great financier comes into contact with a young girl who does not know he is wealthy but thinks he is friendless and lonesome. She tries to cheer him up by being especially kind to him, and the delight he takes in her simple, natural friendliness is really touching.

Criminals, too, I think, suffer from people's fixed notion that they are a class apart. It seems to me that one thing that would help them more than sympathy or money would be to treat them naturally.

Let me tell you a secret. After all, good people and bad people, rich people and poor people, great and plain, young and old, shy and fearless, are all just folks. Learn to treat them as just folks and you have found the royal road to men's hearts.

And if you are ever afraid of anyone try to remember what Sam Walter Foss, the beloved poet laureate of our common people, said, "You'll find he's just scared of you as you are scared of him."

Cable Ship in Port.

The cable ship Minla, Capt. DeCarteret, arrived in port yesterday afternoon to replenish her coal supply. The Minla has been engaged making repairs to the Atlantic cable from 400 to 650 miles east of here, renewing the intervening 250 miles of cable connecting Ireland with Newfoundland and landed at Heart's Content by the Great Eastern, Capt. Halpin, in June 1873. The cable lies at a depth of two miles and the work of renewing it was rendered difficult by the stormy weather that prevailed. Owing to a delay in the operations the ship ran short of coal and was obliged to put in here for a supply. After coaling she will again proceed to sea to resume her work.

"Thora"

Sung to Large Audiences at the Nickel Theatre.

Nickel patrons turned out in large numbers last evening to see the wonderful picture, "The Neter to Return Road" adapted from the story of Mrs. Otis Skinner. It is a two reel film, produced by the Selig artists, and they excelled themselves in it. "Curious Sea Creatures" was also an attractive film. In fact all the pictures last night were of a high class and are well worth seeing. Mr. De Witt C. Cairns, who has won the highest praise for his delightful singing, sang "Thora," and it simply brought down the house. The applause was thunderous, showing that those who heard it were charmed. This evening the entire programme will be repeated. The Nickel has a grand programme for to-morrow, Regatta Day. Every one should make an effort to attend.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modern and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKS CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland—ap17.13

Responding Nobly.

The Royal Naval Reserves of Newfoundland are responding to the call of the Admiralty in a very creditable manner. The numbers on board H. M. S. Calypso are gradually increasing. On Sunday every member in the city (thirty-five) reported for duty, and yesterday upwards of twenty others from the outlying settlements presented themselves. By the local train last night about fifteen arrived from points in Conception Bay. Several more will arrive from the northward by to-morrow's express, and by the end of the week it is expected that the majority of the men will have arrived.

Arrives For Repairs.

The French barq. Jacques Coeur, Capt. Caron, arrived here yesterday afternoon from St. Pierre, after having landed her catch of codfish at that port. The vessel was leaking badly and upon arrival here entered the dry dock for immediate repairs, which will likely occupy a week. The Jacques belongs to Fecamp, France, and carries a crew of 32 men, all of whom belong to the French Navy.

HEAVY RAINSTORM.—The rain showers of yesterday afternoon and last night were the heaviest here for years. There were a few heavy peals of thunder but no damage is reported to have occurred.

A TREATISE ON TEA!

When you buy our Teas in lead packages you are sure of getting Tea fresh, fragrant, strong, clean and, last but not least, airtight. It is impossible for tea not to get stale in packages not airtight, such as paper bags. In other countries for years past tea is sold by retailers only in lead or tin cartons.

If you have not been buying Tea that way, start in to-day.

- It is necessary, however, to buy the right teas. They are as follows:
- ARMADA: Packed in the most attractive package in the market. A pure Ceylon Tea, at 50c. per lb.
- OLD HOME BLUE: In lead packets. A blend of Indian and Ceylon Teas, at 50c. per lb.
- SERENDIB: An old favourite, price 40c. per lb.
- OLD HOME RED: A blend of Ceylon and Indian, at 35c.

TIGER: Another old favourite, at 35c.
LION: At 30c.

Marine Disasters Fund.

Meeting of General Committee.
At the Board of Trade Rooms yesterday afternoon the Executive Committee of the Marine Disasters Fund met the Committee that represented Boston and New York, viz.: Hon. J. P. McCormack, Chairman; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Somerville, Mrs. Margaret Murphy, Mr. Michael Murphy, Mr. Samuel Gosse, Mr. William Dugan and Mr. William Murphy of Massachusetts; Major Charles C. Kraushaar, Mr. Joseph McNamara and Dr. Selwyn Brown of New York.
Hon. John Harris, on behalf of the General Committee, made a brief address extending a hearty welcome to the American visitors, after which Hon. J. P. McCormack, Chairman of the Boston Committee, spoke, intimating that he and his associates had not come to be lauded for their work because they had come with the Old Home excursionists, and therefore their presence was merely a coincidence. He said it was with pride and gratification that he found Newfoundlanders showing their patriotism, as they subscribed liberally. When the news of the terrible sealing disaster reached America, sons of Terra Nova, some of whom were grief-stricken, started to establish a relief fund, and this work was well in shape before an appeal came from Newfoundland. Mr. McCormack had already told in the press of the splendid work done in Boston by ex-Mayor Ellis, Hon. Wm. Taylor, Hon. F. W. Mansfield, Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and others, but he would like to emphasize the action of the Colonial Club of Roxbury, which rendered great aid in placing their bill at the disposal of the Boston Committee free of charge.

It was the earnest wish of Hon. Wm. Taylor, of himself and of greater Boston Committee, as well as that of the donors that a permanent fund would be established. In closing he stated that the cost of the printing and other incidental expenses were being covered by the Newfoundland Ladies' Society of Boston.
Mr. W. B. Somerville, Treasurer, then presented two cheques, which totalled $7,677.32. It was shown that other amounts had been sent from Lynn and Gloucester. A contribution was also going to come from Chelsea, bringing Massachusetts donation in the vicinity of $10,000.
Howe John Harris was proud that it was his pleasant duty to reply and thank the Boston friends for the very large amounts they had raised by their zealous and self-sacrificing work. It was a great consolation to Newfoundland to know that such practical sympathy was in evidence at home and abroad for the relief of those who lost their breadwinners. In conclusion he thanked Mr. McCormack and associates for their magnificent donation. Ex-Mayor Ellis, who happened to be present, was also thanked for the good work that he accomplished.
Hon. R. Watson then made a formal resolution of thanks and pointed out that Lynn's contribution was $500 and Gloucester $535. Hon. Mr. Robinson also spoke on this Resolution.

General Committee Met.
His Excellency Governor Davidson

then arrived and a meeting of the General Committee began. His Excellency presiding.
The report of the Executive Committee was then read.
His Excellency the Governor briefly reviewed the salient features of the report, and expressed his appreciation of the work accomplished, and approved of the recommendations made. He made particular reference to the good work done by the members of the Committee. There was much in the report that called for special comment, and it was now open to the General Committee for discussion. In the meantime he moved the adoption of the report.
Rt. Hon. Sir E. P. Morris seconded the motion. He had much pleasure in endorsing the suggestions made by the Committee. He referred particularly to the generosity displayed in England, in Canada, in the United States, by Newfoundlanders abroad, and by friends of Newfoundland. He especially rejoiced that the Old Island had done her part nobly, as was evidenced by the ready response to the appeal made throughout the outposts. His Excellency then put the motion, which was unanimously carried, after which he tendered to Hon. John Harris and the members of the Executive Committee the thanks of the larger body present.

Hon. R. Watson then moved that Hon. J. A. Robinson be appointed Hon. Secretary.
Hon. Mr. McCormack spoke to the motion which was unanimously adopted.
Hon. John Harris moved a vote of thanks to His Excellency for presiding; he referred to the great interest manifested at all times by His Excellency, the depth of which might be shown by the fact that despite the exceptional responsibilities at present resting upon him, he found time to preside over the meeting.
The motion was adopted amid much applause, and after a brief acknowledgment by His Excellency the meeting adjourned at 6 p.m.

BATTLE OF Evesham 1265. During these years occurred the struggle known as the Barons' Wars. After the battle of Lewes 1264 all disputes were to be referred to a Parliament, but the King's forces, strengthened by many barons jealous of the power of Simon de Montfort, attacked him at Evesham. Simon was killed and Henry III. was restored to power.
SHELLEY born 1792. One of the most brilliant poetic geniuses of the 19th century, renowned for the daring and unorthodox opinions which he held. His works breathe the true spirit of poetry and secured for him a place in the first rank of British poets.

Romeo and Juliet

And the Holiday Bill.
Last night Rossley's was crowded notwithstanding the fact that it was a very wet night and another attraction in town. Romeo and Juliet had the large audience in roars, for it is very novel and amusing, and Mrs. Rossley deserves great credit for preparing so fine a burlesque; every one was positively charmed and delighted. Geo. Scully was great, and the stage setting was very beautiful. The two reel feature, "Under Suspicion," is one of the best films ever presented; in fact since Mr. Rossley's buying his films outright it is utterly impossible to find any better. On Wednesday a change of pictures and new songs of Romeo and Juliet. A grand show with lots of variety.

GREY'S GREAT SPEECH

Defines British Attitude.

Rejects Dishonorable Offer of Germany

Insists on Respect for Belgian Neutrality Will Prevent German Fleet from Bombarding French Coast. Will Make Written Agreement with France as to Material Support. Bonar Law Gives Unionist Support. Redmond Promises Irish Will Unite to Defend Ireland from Foreign Foe. John Burns Resigns. Overseas Dominions Support Mother Country.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Aug. 3. Sir Edward Grey, in making a statement to the Commons to-day on the war situation, said he understood the German Parliament would be prepared, "if we can pledge our neutrality," to agree for its fleet not to attack the Northern coast of France. He declared this offer was far too narrow a compromise for consideration. The maintenance of Belgium's neutrality was becoming a more serious question every hour. The Cabinet felt strongly that France was entitled to know immediately whether in the event of an attack on her unprotected northern and western coasts she could depend on British support. The Foreign Secretary said England did not construe anything in its previous diplomatic relations with other Powers in this matter as restricting its freedom to decide what her attitude should be now. "If a foreign fleet," he said, "comes down the Channel and bombards the French coast, England could not stand aside." In other parts of his speech Grey said, "If the independence of Belgium should be destroyed, the Independence of Holland also would be gone." The Foreign Secretary then asked the House to consider what British interests were at stake, "if in a crisis like this we were to run away." This was greeted with loud cheers. Sir Edward continued, "Do not imagine that if a great power stands aside in a war like this, it is going to be in a position to exert its influence at the end. I am not quite sure whether the facts regarding Belgium are as they reached this Government, but there is an old obligation on this country to do its utmost to prevent the consequences which these facts would lead to if they were not opposed. We have as yet made no engagements for sending an expeditionary force out of this country, but we have mobilized our fleet, and mobilization of our arms is taking place. We must be prepared for the consequences of using all our strength."

At any Moment we Know not How Soon, We May Have to Defend Ourselves.

So far as the forces of the Crown are concerned, the Premier and First Lord of the Admiralty have no doubt whatever of their readiness and their efficiency. They never were at a higher mark of readiness. There never was a time when confidence was more justified in their ability to protect our shores and our commerce. If the situation develops, as it seems probable it will develop, we shall face it. I believe when the country realizes what is at stake it will support the Government, with determination and with endurance." From all parts of the House there came roars of cheering. In the preceding part of the discourse, while discussing the question of Belgium, Sir Edward Grey said, "It is said we might stand aside to husband our resources in order to intervene at the end to put things right. If in a crisis of this kind we run away from our obligations, honor and interest with regard to the Belgian treaty, I doubt whether whatever material force we might have at the end, it would be of much value in face of the respect we should have lost." At this point Sir Edward was interrupted by loud cheering, but continued, "If we engaged in war we should suffer but little more than if we stood aside. We are going to suffer terribly in this war, whether this country is at peace or war, for Foreign Trade is going to stop." Sir Edward gave an explanation of what occurred during the mid-ocean crisis in 1911. He said he took precisely the same view in 1912. He continued:

"It is decided that we ought to have a definite understanding in writing as to the military and naval forces of France and England were not binding on either side. That is our starting point. That statement clears the ground as to the settlement of our obligations."

Sir Edward continued: "The present crisis has not originated in a matter which principally concerns France. No country had less desire to be involved in the Austro-Serbian dispute than France. France was involved because of its obligations of honor. We have had a long-standing friendship with France. As to how far that friendship entails obligations let every man look into his own heart and feelings, and construct the extent of our obligations. At last the suspense is at an end. We believe every Briton with any sort of manhood in him will hear the news with relief. Since Germany will have it, she shall have it in full measure," said Grey. "No nation ever went into war with better heart or clearer conscience than Britain does now." Towards the close of his speech Grey said, "We must be prepared and we are prepared to face the consequences of using all our strength, at any moment, we know not how soon, in order to defend ourselves."

LONDON, Aug. 3. James Ramsay Macdonald, the Socialist Labor member, declared he was not persuaded that Britain was in danger, or that her honor was involved. He was convinced she should have remained neutral. Andrew Bonar Law warmly supported the Government, and referred amid cheers, to the pledges of support received from the British Dominions Overseas.

LONDON, Aug. 3. Wild cheering from all parts of the House, greeted John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, when he assured the Government that every soldier in Ireland might be withdrawn to-morrow, and the coasts of Ireland would be defended against invasion by her armed sons—the Catholics of the South and the Protestants of Ulster.

LONDON, this a.m. John Burns, President of the local Government Board, has resigned. He disagrees with the war policy of the Government. It is believed in unofficial circles in London that war will be declared within 24 hours.

BERLIN, Aug. 3. The cruiser Augsburg sends the following by wireless: "Am bombarding the naval harbor at Libau, and am engaging the enemy's cruiser. The naval port of Libau is in flames. Libau is one of the principal naval ports in Russia, located in the Baltic."

PARIS, Aug. 3. Two defeats of German troops invading France have been announced here. It is stated that in one engagement on the frontier, the Twislan Uhlans, the famous cavalry of the Kaiser's army, have been routed by the French troops, two thousand prisoners being captured and two German officers and twenty soldiers being killed.

LONDON, Aug. 3. A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Paris, says the German troops have taken possession of the Belgian town of Arlon.

LONDON, Aug. 3. The Standard says there is every possibility of the formation of a coalition Government in the British Isles to tide over the present crisis. Andrew Bonar Law, Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Balfour, Opposition Leaders, were in consultation with the Cabinet Ministers to-day.

BALCOURT, France, Aug. 3. Germans opened fire on the French posts at Petit Croix, yesterday; details not known.

BERLIN, via Brussels, Aug. 3. The Russian Ambassador at Berlin, has been handed his passports.

LONDON, Aug. 3. The Daily Chronicle publishes a rumor that Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, has been assassinated. The rumor is not confirmed.

PARIS, Aug. 3. The German Ambassador is still at his post in Paris to-day, and there is no indication of his intention to leave.

PARIS, Aug. 3. The invasion of French territory by German troops is regarded in official circles here as making war between the two countries automatically without formal declaration.

LONDON, Aug. 3. The greatest satisfaction is expressed on all sides at the loyalty to the Mother Country shown by the Overseas Dominions. The Telegraph says that the Dominions are with the Mother Country heart and soul. It would seem as if our attitude had been interpreted by the German Government as one of craven apprehension. She shall see. "From this moment on let the word be 'let them have it.'" The only peace-at-any-price papers that are left are the Daily News and Reynolds. The former even whines cravenly that violation of the Belgian neutrality guaranteed by Britain is no casus belli. The Chronicle has recanted, and accepts Britain being involved, as inevitable.

LONDON, Aug. 3. To-day being Bank Holiday, when all business, except in a few small shops, is suspended, London wore a Sabbath air. The streets and parks were crowded by people in their best clothes, congregating around Parliament and other Government buildings and at the newspaper offices, awaiting war news. Save for the display of a few flags, there were no patriotic demonstrations, but Ministers attending Cabinet meetings, were cheered as they entered or departed from Downing Street.

LONDON, Aug. 3. The Baltic Corn Exchanges opened this morning, but little business was done. All foreign Embassies and Consulates also opened. Swarms of nationalities of both sexes gathered at the German and French establishments asking for passports. The German Embassy was guarded by half a dozen police detectives; and a number of the staff were packed in their offices ready to leave at short notice if developments required.

LONDON, Aug. 3. The House of Lords passed without discussion, the Bill suspending temporarily the payment of Bills of Exchange, giving the Government power to declare Moratorium. The Bill immediately received the Royal assent. The Marquis of Lansdowne said that the Opposition was willing to support the Government in any difficulties in which it might find itself.

The Prima Donna.

At the Crescent Charms Large Audience.

The Crescent Picture Palace was packed to capacity last night. The prevailing weather conditions did not prevent the people from attending in large numbers and it is sufficient to state that all were delighted with the programme, the principal item of which was the first appearance of Miss Clark, the prima donna, who certainly can lay claim to the title. Four splendid reels of pictures. The first, a two reel drama which looked for the attention of the patrons to the last. Miss Clark then appeared and was greeted with a hearty welcome. She sang variations from popular ballads which so pleased her hearers that the talented songstress responded to the third encore.

To-morrow the holiday bill an entire change. "A Romance of the Forest" is the feature subject in two reels, and Miss Clark will please her hearers with one of her best successes.

The fair ideal is the square eye deal. You get it at TRAPNELL'S.—July 23, 14

PROCLAMATION!

GEORGE the FIFTH by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting:

His Britannic Majesty's Government find themselves under the necessity of availing themselves of the power reserved under Article 8 of the International Telegraph Convention and Article 17 of the International Radio-Telegraph Convention to suspend the transmission of telegrams and radio-telegrams to and from or in transit through the United Kingdom, and to and from or in transit through all British Possessions and all British Protectorates whatsoever, save and except such telegrams and radio-telegrams as are on the service of His Majesty's Government or of the Government of any British Possession or Protectorate.

With a view, however, to minimize inconvenience to the public, His Britannic Majesty's Government will, until further notice, and as an act of grace, permit the transmission of such telegrams and radio-telegrams in plain language as foreign Governments or the public choose to send, provided that such telegrams and radio-telegrams are written in English or French, and on the understanding that they are accepted at the sender's risk and subject to censorship by the British authorities; that is, that they may be stopped, delayed or otherwise dealt with in all respects at the discretion of those authorities and without notice to the senders; and that no claims in respect of them, whether for the reimbursement of the sums paid for transmission or otherwise, will be considered by His Majesty's Government in any circumstances whatever. It is, moreover, essential that such telegrams and radio-telegrams should bear the sender's name at the end of the text, otherwise they are liable to be stopped until the name is notified by paid telegram. Registered abbreviated addresses will not be accepted, either as addresses or as the names of senders.

Note.—The term "telegram" is applied to radio-telegram messages sent from shore to shore, as well as to those sent by cable or land line.

The term "radio-telegram" is used to denote messages exchanged between ships and the shore.
