The Sound of Wedding Bells —OR— Won After Great Perseverance!

CHAPTER XXIV.

There is a general laugh at this, which makes the little eyes dance with wrath, and certainly would have brought forth a storm of passion if the kidneys had not appeared at the moment. At sight of them the good old man grew gentle and calm in a moment.

Dulcie is very quiet during the meal, but she smiles as cheerily as of old, and Archie does most of the talking.

When the footman has taken the things away, she picks up the paper, but Sir Archie gently puts his hand upon it.

"I'm going to read this morning," he says, and he draws an easy-chair forward for her.

Dulcie laughs, and looks up appealingly at Lady Brookley; but her ladyship smiles and shrugs her shoulders.

"Better give in, my dear," she says. "He is a most wickedly obstinate boy, always was. Never mind, we'll punish him. We'll make him read it right through, advertisements and all."

Dulcie leans back in her chair, and Archie having just wheeled a footstool for her, commences to read. He has evidently done it before, for he picks out the right passages.

"Humph!" growls the earl. "you don't read like Miss Dorrimore; she doesn't stop at the long words."

"Beg pardon," says Archie, gravely, "education neglected, you know; obliged to spell words of more than three syllables over to myself first."

And he goes on. Presently the earl goes off to his club, and Lady Brookley rings the bell.

"We are going for a drive, my dear," she says. "No auction rooms to-day."

"Great Heavens!" exclaims Archie, forgetting himself; "you don't mean to say that you take her to auction-rooms, aunt?"

"Why not?" says Dulcie, gravely, and Archie colors.

"Eh! oh, of course. Yes, certainly, well, we are not going this morning."

"As you have Sir Archie, I don't think I'll go, if you don't mind, Lady Brookley," she says.

"Nonsense, my dear," says the old lady, sharply; "the air will do you good."

"Look here," says Archie, with an inward pang at the sacrifice, "I don't think I can manage it. I've got an engagement at the club. I'll be back to lunch, if you'll have me! Good-bye."

And he hurries out. Dulcie's face flushes, and the old lady's eyes twinkle.

"Stupid boy!" she says. Dulcie looks up inquiringly.

"Didn't you see, my dear?" says the old lady. "He thought you didn't want him, and like a sensible fellow he effaced himself."

Dulcie laughs; but something, a sudden moisture in her eyes, causes her to hide them with their long lashes.

A Woman's Problem

How to Feel Well During Middle Life Told by Three Women Who Learned from Experience.

The Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Read these letters:—

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I started the Change of Life five years ago. I always had a headache and backache with bearing down pains and I would have heat flashes very bad at times with dizzy spells and nervous feelings. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new person and am in better health and no more troubled with the aches and pains I had before I took your wonderful remedy. I recommend it to my friends for I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. MARGARET GRASSMAN, 759 N. Ringgold St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beverly, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for nervousness and dyspepsia, when I was going through the Change of Life. I found it very helpful and I have always spoken of it to other women who suffer as I did and have had them try it and they also have received good results from it."—Mrs. GEORGE A. DUNBAR, 17 Roundy St., Beverly, Mass.

Erie, Pa.—"I was in poor health when the Change of Life started with me and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or I think I should not have got over it as easy as I did. Even now if I do not feel good I take the Compound and it restores me in a short time. I will praise your remedies to every woman for it may help them as it has me."—Mrs. E. KISSLING, 931 East 24th St., Erie, Pa.

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered by women only and held in strict confidence.

"That is a nice thing," she says, a little spot of crimson on her cheek; "the companion to drive away her mistress' nephew."

"The old lady coughs, and hides a smile.

"Archie is very sensitive, my dear," she says. "By the way, don't you think he is rather a good-looking boy?"

Dulcie nods. "Yes," she says. "I think he is more than good-looking!"

"So do a great many more," retorts her ladyship. "It has always been a wonder to me that he hasn't been a wonder to me that he hasn't been a very rich, you know, and so many have set their caps at him."

Dulcie doesn't look up. "It's my opinion—I tell you in confidence, my dear—that he has lost his heart to some young girl in that awful Wales. If he hasn't, what on earth should he go there for?"

Dulcie shakes her head, and a sudden feeling of resentment—unnatural enough—nerves her against the unknown young lady.

"I hope she will be worthy of him," goes on her ladyship; "for he is a dear, good fellow. I don't know a better-hearted boy in the kingdom."

"I'm sure of that," says Dulcie, warmly, and with a sudden light in her eyes.

And her ladyship smiles again, with a little satisfied twinkle in her eyes. At luncheon Archie puts in an appearance, a flower in his button-hole, a soft light in his blue eyes.

"Well," he says, "have you enjoyed your drive?"

"Yes," says her ladyship; "you were a stupid boy not to come with us."

"Oh, I haven't been idle," he says, and goes into the hall and brings in a parcel. "Look here; I went round to the bookseller's and got some books; I thought Miss Dor—I thought you'd like to have a new novel or two." And he cuts the string and takes out the books.

"Thank you," says her ladyship. "What a thoughtful boy you have grown!"

"Haven't I?" he says, as he takes his seat; "quite a useful member of society."

"I wish you'd make yourself useful by serving on the committee of the club, and getting 'em to stuff up some of the windows," growls the earl.

"If you two can tear yourselves away from your beloved clubs, why, you can dine with us. Dulcie, I wish you'd tell them to get out the yellow seal claret for Sir Archie."

Dulcie looks up, but Sir Archie cuts in:

"I'll tell them; but I don't care what claret it is, aunt."

"That's nonsense!" says her ladyship; "all men care about their claret. It is the only thing they care for, Dulcie; take my word for it."

When the luncheon is over, Archie finds himself near Dulcie, and he says, in an undertone:

"Miss Dorrimore, if—if you think I shall be in the way, there is no occasion for me to go to the Gardens."

Dulcie looks up with a little smile that is rather pitiful.

"Why should you not go?" she says. "Very well," he says, "you did not want me this morning, and I thought perhaps—"

"Oh, but you mistake," she says, hurriedly, "and—besides, please do not forget that my likes and dislikes count as nothing here. Will you try and remember that?"

He inclines his head. "I will remember everything you wish me to remember," he says, gently. "Then I may go?"

She puckers her dark brows. "Why do you ask me?" she says, almost fretfully. "I am nobody. Ask her ladyship."

He inclines his head again, and repeats into silence until the carriage is announced; then he puts them in and follows, his heart beating fast and furious, for he sees a smile of encouragement in Lady Brookley's eyes. As he hits upon the right way to go her?

It is a crowded show. The tents are full of a surging mass of fashionably dressed people, who wander through the promenades between the banks of blossoms looking more at each other's costumes than at the flowers, and before they have "done" the first tent Lady Brookley has fallen in with some friends and have been carried off by them, and Dulcie and Sir Archie are left alone.

"Won't you take my arm?" he says, as they enter a marquee where the crush is the thickest; "better, I think, or we shall lose one another."

Dulcie puts her hand upon his arm resolutely, and suppressing the desire to press it to his side, he steers her through the fashionable mob.

For once, perhaps the first time, Dulcie put her veil back, and Archie enjoys the perhaps questionable pleasure of seeing eyeglasses leveled right and left at the lady or his arm, and hears more than once the muttered "Who is she?"

But he puts up with it. Since that evening—that fatal evening for Dulcie—when he held her in his arms and whispered, "I love you," he had not been so happy.

"If I can but keep from frightening or offending her!" he mutters, and he registers a mental vow to watch every word he says and keep a strict guard over his tell-tale eyes which, whenever they go to Dulcie's face—and how often they wander thither!—declares eloquently the passion he bears for her.

She does not talk much, he treats her almost as if she were like one of the sensitive plants, gently, considerately, quietly content with the murmured monosyllable she vouchsafes him now and again, and pointing out to her the choicest specimens it is right that she should see.

And Dulcie? She would be more or less than human if she did not appreciate his delicacy and goodness. In the old days she might not have detected it, certainly would not have valued it, but now—ah, well, sorrow and trouble make us all quick to notice the kindness in others, and Dulcie is grateful.

Everyday Etiquette.

"When o invitations have been issued for a wedding and you receive an announcement card for the event, is it customary to send a present?" asked Marie.

"When no invitations have been issued announcements are, strictly speaking, sent in their stead and one may not send a present or may, as one feels like doing," advised her aunt.

Evening Telegram Fashion Plates

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

A SMART STYLE FOR HOME OR PORCH WEAR.

2001—Ladies' House Dress, with or without Back Yoke, and with Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.

Gray and white striped seersucker is here shown. The waist has gathered fulness beneath a square yoke, which may be omitted. The sleeve, in wrist length, is finished with a band cuff. In shorter length, a neat, pointed cuff forms a suitable trimming. The skirt has roomy pockets and is a three-piece model. The Pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. It requires 6 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for a 36-inch size. The skirt measures about 3 yards at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

A VERY POPULAR STYLE.

2236—Girls' Blouse Dress, with Two styles of Sleeve.

This will be a very attractive model for a school dress in serge, galatea, linen, repp, checked or plaid suiting. The style is simple and easy to develop. The Pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 4 1/2 yards of 44-inch material for a 12 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

"The Slacker."

I held back two years from enlistin',
And never a thought did I give
To the boys that was doin' the fightin'
And dyin' that others might live.
I said 'I'll let others go do it—
The fightin' in which I should share—
And if they gets killed that's their picnic,
There's no reason why I should care."

I knew that the Germans were brutal, I'd heard of the deeds they had done.
I wished they were exterminated,
I hated them every one.
But still I held back from enlistin',
A coward, a dastard, a bum.
There's no name too bad fer to call me
I deserved them, I did, every one.

I sported a pin and a watch fob,
Kid gloves and a gay coloured tie,
And a ring set with rubies and diamonds,
I tell you I was some swell guy.
I went with the girls to the tickets,
I took them to dances galore,
While my brothers were fightin' for freedom,
And givin' their lives by the score.

For two years I kep' from enlistin',
Then as I was passin' along One day, down that street by the barracks,
I heard just a snatch of a song.
I stopped where I was and I listened,
Then I heard a trampin' of feet,
And I saw about three hundred soldiers
All marchin' along Duckworth Street.

I stood for a moment and watched them,
Then turned on my heel to go home,
When a soldier stepped up close beside
me
And said "Now's the time matey,
come,
'Tis high time you had on the khaki,
Come show up your manhood today.
Show up the good stuff you are made
of,
Go up and enlist right away."

I turned and I walked off and left him;
But somehow the words seem to prick,
And for several days and nights after These words to me always did stick:—
'Tis high time you had on the khaki,
Come, show up your manhood to-
day.
Show up the good stuff you are made
of,
Go up and enlist right away."

For a week more I kep' from enlistin';
But those words still were urgin' me on.
So next day I went up and enlisted
And a neat suit of khaki did don.
I tried to keep back, but I couldn't,
For always a voice seemed to say—
'Come, show up the stuff you are made of,
Go up and enlist right away."

I threw off my ring and my watch
fob,
I gave all my old duds away;
For khaki suits becom' my complexion.
I'm glad I'm a soldier to-day.
I have fought, I have toiled, I have sweated,
I have gone many days without food,
I've been wounded in hand, arm and ankle;
But I wouldn't go back if I could.

For justice, for freedom, for honour
We'll fight, and if need be we'll die;
But we need many others to help us
Keep the "Union Jack" floatin' on high.
'Tis time boys you had on the khaki,
Come, show up your manhood to-
day.
Show up the good stuff you are made
of,
Go up and enlist right away."

Seizure of Samples.

Not long since a local prospector,
who is now in the region of White Bay where a mining discovery was made about a year ago, forwarded here by the S. S. Prospero samples of minerals for analysis. A telegraphic communication preceding the arrival of the steamer, reached the authorities, stating that a box of minerals sent on the steamer was not the property of the shipper, and requesting that it be withheld by the police until further notice. The samples came in due course and were seized by Detective Sergeant Byrne, who is now awaiting instructions. Meanwhile the prospector is under surveillance and will have to explain on his return to the city.

Police Raided Store
in Search of Liquor.

What happened to be an unsuccessful attempt to secure a big stock of liquor that was supposed to be hid away in some secret cupboard at a West End store, was made by the police last night. It was reported to the police that the proprietor of the store had started a business in opposition to the Government rum shop on Duckworth Street, and that he was selling the booze at $5 a bottle. So, armed with the legal authority, they visited the place, but on making a systematic search found nothing stronger than cream ale which is "within the law."

Your Boys and Girls.

The new baby should be weighed frequently and an account of the daily changes should be recorded.
The importance of this must be fully realized to keep him in health. The first week of life the baby usually loses several ounces, but each succeeding week he should gain. It is only by weighing him that you can tell whether or not his food is nourishing him properly.

If a baby, nursed by its mother, goes to sleep immediately after nursing, if his bowels move regularly and his gain is natural, he is properly nourished and in normal condition. If he vomits, is fussy and constipated and does not gain in weight, his food is not what he should have.

Such a condition shows that the mother's milk is not sufficient. It is only by careful watching and consultation with the family physician, that the baby will have the care that results in a normal, healthy child.

Household Notes.

Shoes should be polished daily.
Nut loaf is a good substitute for meat.
The best substitute for sugar is honey.
Always cook slow foods on ironing days.
Excellent knitting bags can be made of raffia.
Stuffed fish baked makes an excellent meat course.
Not an ounce of fat should be wasted in the kitchen.
Olives are improved by being laid in olive oil before serving.
Velvet which is to be freshened must be steamed, not pressed.
Baby's room must be kept well aired but free from draughts.
Calla lilies bloom best in winter if each bulb is given a 6-inch pot.
Wheat bread will not be missed if corn bread appears at breakfast.
There is nothing better than bacon
drippings for frying chicken.
Beet sugar can hardly be distinguished from ordinary cane sugar.
Try to set aside a sunny little room for a sewing room in your house.
Scored taste can be removed from fat by trying a few raw potatoes in it.
Bacon, if fried, should be put in a heated pan, a cold pan ruins the flavor.
Castor oil rubbed into the scalp occasionally will keep it in a healthy condition.
When a lamp wick is too large for the burner draw a few threads from its center.
Hair has to be kept in good order constantly before it acquires a well-groomed look.
If the ants find the jelly when it is put in the sun, stand the glasses in a pan of water.
Shoes should have their heels straightened the moment they commence to run over.
Kerosene oil will prevent rain drops from collecting on the windshield of the motor.
The disease called fungus, which is common to goldfish, is usually caused by overfeeding.
A good substitute for outdoor exercise, when the weather is too bad, is stationary running.

A Fast Sailer Here.

The American schr. Elizabeth Howard, an exceptionally fast sailer, is now here for salt before proceeding north to buy herring. She is a brand new vessel of novel model and is capable of making over 16 knots in an open sea. She resembles a racer, having no bowsprit. She is 137 feet long, 25 feet wide and 11.4 feet deep.
She has demonstrated that she is a clipper, having covered the distance from Turk's Island, West Indies, to Canso, Nova Scotia, in nine days, a record.

Obituary.

There passed peacefully away at his residence, 22 Plymouth Road, on Saturday, Nov. 3rd, Herbert, youngest son of Mr. Herbert Gosse, of the Light House Department. He has been an invalid and great sufferer the whole of his life time, being 25 years of age October past. He leaves to mourn a father and one brother, Mr.
Walter Gosse, grocer, to whom general and sincere sympathy is expressed.

FRESH COD IN MARKET.—Although conditions were rough on the local grounds yesterday, the cod markets were well stocked with cod.

COOPERS BUST.—Local coopers have been working night and day for the last few weeks trying to meet the demands of the trade. The prices being paid for drums and casks are the highest for many years and workmen are making more money per week than they made in three, two years ago.

Our Volunteers.

Yesterday was the busiest day at Recruiting Headquarters for a considerable time. Fourteen young men offered their services for Empire and Homeland. Their names are:—

- B. Morrissey, Brigus.
- J. Locke, Little Bay Islands.
- B. Hynes, St. John's.
- D. Cassell, Grand Falls.
- S. Ricks, Grand Falls.
- W. Wheeler, Grand Falls.
- W. Lane, Salvage Bay.
- J. C. Crane, Tilton, C. Bay.
- J. Clarke, Tilton, C. Bay.
- E. Kelly, St. John's.
- D. Shute, St. John's.
- J. Walters, St. George's.
- J. Abbott, St. George's.
- A. Young, St. George's.

Shooting Tragedy.

A man named John Harris, of Rose Blanche, was accidentally shot dead at that place by a companion named Abraham Sannier, word to that effect having reached Deputy Minister of Justice Summers, K.C., last night from Magistrate Furneaux. The only particulars to hand concerning the tragedy are that both men were out in a boat bird shooting at the time.

OUR FALL FASHION EXHIBIT, 1917.

We have enlarged all of our Departments, which gives us room to add to our stocks many new lines and greater varieties. We feel fully justified in making such preparations on account of the continued and rapid growth of our business.

The goods now on exhibition in the various Departments of our stores, are typical of the accepted and authoritative fashions for the Fall and Winter Season. We desire to impress upon you the fact that our efforts in making this collection, were not combined solely to the higher priced kind, for we have gone to the extreme to procure a very extensive assortment of goods at popular prices.

YOU ARE CORDL.LLY INVITED TO ATTEND THIS STYLE EXHIBIT.

You'll find it instructive and of such ample scope that choosing apparel to suit your own individuality will be an easy task.

Visit Our New Corset, Blouse and Underwear Department on the Second Floor.

Each season brings some notable improvement in Corsets. More especially is this true of the new lines we carry. You will find our Corset Department models conforming to the latest requirements, beautifully made and finished in every respect.

No woman, whatever her social position or the size of her purse, can allow this event to pass without carefully examining all the new Corset improvements which she will find displayed in this Department.

Crepe-de chene & Blouses

Attention is called to the magnificent collection of Crepe-de-Chene and Georgette Crepe Blouses now on exhibition in this Department.

The lines shown embrace many kinds exclusive to this Store, which by their beauty and natty styles, cannot fail to arouse the favorable comment of the shopping public. They are mostly hand embroidered and are beautiful specimens of the blouse-makers art.

Pri-es range from $3.75 to $10.50

Warm and Serviceable Coats for Children and Misses.

These Smart Coats were imported from a manufacturer who specialized in the production of clothes for children, and whose designs are credited with being the smartest and most serviceable cold weather coats produced.

These coats are very carefully tailored in every detail, and will be found to fit comfortably and correctly. Considerable attention has been paid to the selection of materials in which these coats are tailored, and only approved fabrics of superior quality, handsome appearance and directly suited to the Newfoundland climate are shown.

Desirable Fall Hosiery for Women.

Women can never overestimate the importance of suitable Hosiery for Fall and Winter wear. Reliable Hosiery means cold weather comfort and is a real preventative of chills. The Fall and Winter Hosiery sold at this Store is the product of the best manufacturers. The different grades shown are the very best obtainable under present conditions.

Immense Showing of New Fall Hearth Rugs and Floor Coverings.

The Carpet Department is now showing, what is without doubt, a unique display of the most desirable Hearth Rugs, the products of the world's best manufacturers.

The immense variety of new and distinctive patterns constitutes, we believe a record display for any individual house in St. John's.

Our stock of Linoleums and Floor Canvas is particularly complete and affords a comprehensive collection of the most handsome designs.

A Remarkably Complete Display of House Furnishings.

It is a recognized fact that the best time to purchase Fancy Linens and House Furnishings is in the Fall. The Fall display of the most beautiful designs in Fancy Linens, which may be now seen at The Royal Stores, Limited, is decidedly worthy of a visit from women interested in the problem of beautifying the home.

The stocks of House Furnishings carried by this Store are unique, and afford purchasers a selection unequalled anywhere in St. John's.

NEW FALL MILLINERY.

This Department is showing an unequalled assortment of the very finest productions in Fall and Winter Headwear for Women and Misses, while large purchases effected at a considerable reduction on prevailing prices enables this Store to offer these high-grade hats at very special prices.

Smart and Useful Sweater Coats.

Every one should have a Sweater Coat. The kinds now shown at this store are distinctively dainty in design, made from the best obtainable materials in the most attractive colorings, and are beautifully finished in every detail. There are many styles to select from and each style possesses some distinctive feature.

An Instalment of New Tweeds and Serges.

Tweeds and Serges this year have assumed an even more prominent position than ever.

These durable fabrics are the backing of London Dressmakers, and are greatly used in New York, together with all kinds of fur trimmings in profusion.

Here we have them in a great variety of makes. They are shown in widths ranging from 48 to 56 inches, in bright and cherry color combinations.

Being Unsportsmanlike About Bill.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Some time ago I wrote about the way in which women use, abuse and misuse all the privileges the department stores give with each other in giving them (I wonder if women realize that the extension of these privileges is one of the reasons that the department stores find it hard to pay their girls what they should. Surely if they did they would be willing to forego such costly rights as changing things so freely and having even the finest bundle sent.)

At that time I believe I said that men were more fair about matters pertaining to business dealing than women.

When Men and Women Are Equally Unscrupulous

I have just had my attention drawn to one matter in which men and women are equally unscrupulous. And that is in their attitude toward any merchant who tries to have them pay back bills.

At our discussion of the credit system, several merchants wrote me letters. One of them told of a man who had owed a small bill of two dollars for over a year. He had rendered this bill in monthly accounts (at a cost of thirty-two cents) and then one day when the man was in the store had called it to his attention. The man had paid it and then had said angrily, "That is the last time I will ever trade in your store."

Again, a dentist once told me that a certain young man owes him sixty dollars. This man was making little money at the time the bill was contracted so the dentist was patient, but since then he has had money left him and has a machine and many other luxuries. Yet he entirely ignores the dentist's bill.

Why He Couldn't Send a Bill Collector

"Why don't you send a bill collector?" I asked.

"Couldn't do that," he said, "because I have several of his relatives for my patients and they would all leave me."

There's two examples of what I call a thoroughly unjust attitude toward business dealings on the part of men and women alike.

To retaliate against a perfectly just measure such as the merchant asking for the two dollars or the dentist's sending a bill collector, by withdrawing one's trade, is downright mean and unfair.

Honor Ought to Keep You From Using Your Power

To be sure, you have the power but honor ought to withhold you from using it.

A good sportsman would say, "I got what I richly deserved."

Suppose the people who paid your salary paid you that way, where would you be? And these people have bills to pay just as you have.

Letting bills run like that unless you are hard pushed (and even then you could surely plan to pay a certain proportion on them week by week) or unless there is some question of adjustment that you are not satisfied with, is an unsportsmanlike thing to do and kicking when your creditors do is still more so.

STATIONARY ENGINES, 2, 3, 6, 8 and 12 h.p. in stock, and other sizes to arrive. A good, strong and serviceable make that has given entire satisfaction. Ask for our prices and terms before buying elsewhere. L. M. TRASK & CO., 140 Water Street, nov3,61

THE REFRIGERATOR

The refrigerator is a popular kitchen utensil which holds everything successfully but ice. For some reason or other, as soon as ice is placed in a refrigerator it begins to shrink and finally evaporates in the form of sawdust and water, which is later deposited in a neat puddle on the kitchen floor by the law of gravity.

Refrigerators are filled with mournful regularity and by an independent citizen who owns the only ice-house in town and is extremely deliberate in his movements. "Nobody ever saw an iceman who was in a hurry to reach an empty refrigerator before last night's milk was turned into a cottage cheese. One of the saddest epochs in the life of woman is to place a large pan of undiluted milk in the refrigerator, wearing a thick coating of cream on its bosom, and then discover that during the night it has turned sour from the ankles up, owing to the ice having gone out the back way. If there were some way to pen up a fifty-pound chunk of ice in a refrigerator so it could not escape on the instalment plan, there would be more happy and contented housewives.

All kinds of foods can be placed in a first-class refrigerator without fear of infecting any of its neighbors. This is proven by setting a mutton white onion alongside a fresh brick cheese, neither of which will affect the taste of the other. This experiment, which is widely used for demonstrating purposes, ought to satisfy the most hardened skeptic.

Before the refrigerator was invented people had to keep food that was subject to sunstroke in the cellar, which required the housewife to chase up and down stairs at a depressing canter. As this wore out the cellar stairs and also the lower limbs of thousands of estimable wives, the keen, analytical mind of man brought out the refrigerator with an overflowing drain pipe which is filled with ice weighed by the calculating eye of the iceman. Some icemen have excellent eyesight and can measure one hundred pounds of ice to a thousandth of an inch, but others are troubled with chronic, double-barreled astigmatism and should have their vision operated on by the grand jury.

The refrigerator does not cost so much to run as a hard-coal furnace, but it needs more watching than a married man of gay and festive instincts.

A savory dish for a winter day is cooked sausage minced fine, mixed with mashed potatoes and browned in the oven.

GERMAN PEACE.

For peace that's made in Germany the allies do not care; it would be cheap and verminy, not warranted to wear.

The peace the Kaiser's pondering, and planning with a gun, would surely fade in lauding the colors all would run. This war! The world is hating it, but peace would be more punk with Germany dictating it, and handing out the bunk. The allies are much wiser than arguing with Kaiserdom about the terms of peace. When peace again is given us, and people know repose, and war's red dog, that's driven us, back to its kennel goes, that peace must be no platitude, no phrases neatly turned, of wide and yielding latitude, to be ignored or spurned. No paper written gaudily, whose terms may be withstood, no fabric woven shoddily, or "something just as good." When gentle peace has come again, it must have come to stay; no king shall make things hum again by starting up a fray. The peace that comes from Germany would last 'till Kaiser Bill should once again determine he was strong enough to kill.

Household Notes.

When canning apples be sure to have plenty of syrup in each jar or mould will find its way into the jar of apples.

Rub vaseline over the strings of a tennis racket before putting it away and it will come out in spring in better condition.

Things that are good for your skin are all green vegetables, particularly spinach, onions, scallions, eggs and nearly all fresh fruit.

FRAMED PICTURES.

We have a large selection of Framed Pictures on our walls which it is well worth your while to see. If you are a Picture-lover you will be delighted with them, and you'll surely remember a bare spot where some favorite Picture would just fit.

The subjects are varied, some are reproductions of famous old Masters; others are specimens of what is best in Modern Art—and all are the best of their kind.

FIGHTING IN MAC

PAR

A statement issued by the British War Office to-night reads: The intermittent fighting in the region of Chemin des Dames, which has been so violent during the afternoon, has now subsided. The whole front of Chateau-Thierry—British and French—has been calmly bombed the enemy between Lake' Dornen and the enemy patrols were dispersed in the neighbourhood of Mogelendend.

CHARGES ALLIES' AIMS TOO FAR.

LONDON

A. J. Balfour, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, replying to a peace motion proposed by Lees Smith, Lib. member for Southampton, declared that the Allies had carried their demands beyond their original aims. He said that the Allies had not and are not otherwise vindictive, but one of the objects of the double peace emancipation and security. Balfour asked the House to believe in the cause for which he was struggling and which would bring to a successful conclusion. Great as are the sacrifices made, we are ready to continue until the great righteous objects we have in view are secured. Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the Exchequer, in cheering moved the closure, which was carried by 282 to 23. The motion was then negatived by a division. To-Day's Messages.

FIGHTING IN MACEDONIA.

PARIS, To-Day. A statement issued by the War Office to-night reads: There was intermittent fighting in the region north of Chemin des Dames. It was very violent during the afternoon along the whole front of Chaume Wood, Eastern Heights—British artillery vigorously bombarded the enemy front between Lake Dorien and Vardar. Enemy patrols were dispersed in the neighbourhood of Moglena and Cerna bend.

CHARGES ALLIES' AIMS CARRIED TOO FAR.

LONDON, To-Day. A. J. Balfour, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, replied in the Commons to a peace motion proposed by H. B. Lees Smith, Lib. member for Northampton, declared that the aims for which Britain entered the war were not and are not either imperialistic or vindictive, but one and all are noted for the double purpose of the emancipation and security of Europe. Balfour asked the House to show by an overwhelming majority that we believe in the cause for which we are struggling and which we know we can bring to a successful termination. Great as are the sacrifices already made, we are ready to continue them and to continue them indefinitely until the great right and unselfish objects we have in view are finally secured. Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, amid loud cheers moved the closure, which was carried by 282 to 33. Lees Smith's motion was then negatived without a division. Lees Smith, in moving his resolution, maintained that successive secret agreements between the Allies had carried their war aims far beyond their original aims. He declared that the recent rumor that Germany, in addition to losing Alsace-Lorraine, was to be deprived of territories on the left bank of the Rhine had been confirmed in a secret session of the French Chamber by M. Ribot, Foreign Secretary. Balfour interrupted here that there never was such an agreement. Lees Smith reiterated that it was an agreement made between France and Russia while Nicholas was Emperor. If this was carried out, said the member, there would be a new series of causes of discontent and discordant hatred which would once again trench Europe in war blood.

U.S.-DUTCH AGREEMENT REACHED.

WASHINGTON, To-Day. An early agreement between the U. S. and Holland on the disposal of the Dutch tonnage in American ports was seen here to-day in the release by the war trade board of the Dutch steamer Nieuw Amsterdam for the return trip across the Atlantic. The vessel will leave the American port shortly carrying as cargo packages of freight for Holland, ten thousand tons of corn for Belgian relief and several hundred Dutch refugees as passengers. Wire cable, badly needed for the operation of Dutch coal mines, will make up part of her cargo. Licenses for the Nieuw Amsterdam's cargo was held up by the American authorities when the Dutch Government refused to give assurances that she would not be interned for safety as soon as she reached the other side. In the negotiations that followed the American Government refused to recede from its position and finally the Dutch yielded. A final agreement as to the operation of other Dutch vessels held in American ports was believed to-night to be in sight. The principal clauses of this agreement, it is reported, will provide that a large number of the Dutch ships enter the American coast-wise trade to release American vessels for overseas service, that part of the tonnage be placed in trade to the Dutch East Indies for the benefit of Holland and the Allies, and that a limited number of ships be permitted to ply between Holland and America, carrying cargoes to be approved by the War Trade Board. The refugees who will sail in the Amsterdam have gathered in the U. S. from many ends of the earth. Some came from the Dutch East Indies and many from Don't Scold, Mother! The Cross Child is Bilious, Feverish.

Look at tongue! If coated, clean little stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Child-lore says this harmless "fruit-laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little give-to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so "surely look and see that yours is made by the California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

THE CAPTURE OF PASCCHEN-DAELE.

LONDON, To-day. (Official)—Operations were undertaken this morning by British troops with complete success against the enemy's defence in and around PASCCHENDAELE and on the spur north-west of the village. The text of the statement. The assembly of our troops for the attack was carried out successfully. At a late hour the assault was launched as arranged. The enemy had been ordered to hold this important position on the main ridge at any cost. The assault was carried out at a number of points, particularly on the high ground north of the village and for the collection of fortified buildings and assisted by the work of our aircraft, combined with the valuable observation gained by our advance batteries. The assault was dealt effectively with enemy's batteries and with the concentrations of hostile infantry.

BOSTON ELECTIONS.

BOSTON, To-Day. Governor McCall and the rest of the Republican State ticket were re-elected by a large majority plurality to-day. Three proposed constitutional amendments, including one forbidding the appropriation of State funds for private institutions, were adopted.

GERMAN POLITICAL APPOINTMENTS.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. The Frankfurter Zeitung, copy of which has been received here, says that Count Von Hertling, the new Imperial German Chancellor, has appointed Herr Freidburg, leader of the National Liberal Party, and Friedrich Von Payer, Progressive member for the Reichstag, respectively, Vice-President of the Prussian Ministry and Vice-Chancellor. The newspaper adds, however, that the appointments are not yet confirmed by Emperor William.

YES'S LEAD SO FAR.

NEW YORK, To-day. Returns from 1,777 election districts out of 5,772 in the State on 7 women's suffrage give yes 176,796, no 167,319.

WHAT ELSE FROM CHICAGO?

CHICAGO, To-day. The Bi-partisan ticket returning the sitting Judges of the County to office to-day was defeated by an estimated plurality of 80,000 votes by the Socialist ticket, which was charged with having appealed to an anti-American and anti-war sentiment in portions of the county. Outside of the city of Chicago the German settlements voted for the Socialists.

DIED AT SYDNEY.

SYDNEY, To-day. Frank White, a machinist employed in the Coal Co.'s general machine shop at Glace Bay, was found dead in his own yard this morning by workmen on their way to work. The deceased had worked in the general machine shop yesterday and was down town on business last night, and when he failed to return it was thought he must have had to return to work on a rush job. However, some men living near him were horrified to find him lying lifeless alongside his fence about 6 o'clock. He leaves a widow and several young children.

MERRILL RELEASED.

ST. JOHN, N.B., To-day. Capt. John E. Merrill, formerly of the Princess Pats, who shot and killed J. F. Rogers, a clerk in the Canadian Government Railway Offices at Moncton, on October 17, 1916, has been released from the Provincial Hospital here. He has gone to Montreal to obtain a position. Merrill was born in England, but went to New York when young. He served with the American Army in the Boxer troubles and in the Philippines. While travelling for a Montreal house in the present war began and he enlisted in the medical service in St. John, later being transferred to the Princess Pats. He was wounded several times and gassed. It was his mental condition due to the gassing that caused the tragedy for which he was acquitted. He has several medals for bravery. Merrill has a sister in Halifax.

WAR REVIEW.

In a great area more than 160 miles in length the Italian armies are falling back upon and through the plains of Venetia to a new and shorter line of defence. From the Felia Valley to the head of the Adriatic Sea the entire line of the Tagliamento River has been given up by General Cadorna, while from virtually the border of the Trentino north eastward and eastward through the Dolomites and Carnic Alps to the Felia the Northern Army is carrying out a retrograde movement southward through the mountainous country towards the plains. The Germans and Austro-Hungarians everywhere are following up the Italians in their retreat, but with the Italians offering resistance in rear-guard actions along the whole front. Meanwhile the British forces in Belgium have won another notable victory over the Germans in the region of Ypres, having captured in one of their intrepid dashes, following a rain of shells of all calibres, the town of PASCCHENDAELE, about five miles from Roulers, the fall of which would cut Germany's communications from her submarine bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge with the south. The indications from meagre advices thus far to hand are that the Canadians, who bore the brunt of the operation, extended their line 300 yards beyond PASCCHENDAELE. The decision of the Italians to evacuate the Tagliamento line was taken after the enemy had intensified his pressure along the upper reaches of the river in the highlands and pushed his forces across the stream in the centre and to the south. This movement compelled a simultaneous withdrawal along the northern front from the Felia Valley to Colbricon. Apparently the main Austro-German forces are not in close contact with the retreating Tagliamento Army, for the German official says that their retreat is indicated by confagurations over the route of retirement. On the plains the Italian cavalry is doing the same effective work as in retarding the enemy during the first eight days of the retreat from the Isonzo, when it held the Teuton advance guards and permitted General Foch to bring his forces to the west bank of the stream virtually intact.

MONTREAL, To-day.

Charges that Capt. Gonzague Savard, in charge of Montreal's mobile squad, was in a home for indolents were investigated by Controller Ross, the Executive head of the City Police Department, and announced that they were untrue and that Savard was sick at his sister's home.

PACIFISTS IN PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, To-day. The Commons to-day discussed a peace motion proposed by Hastings B. Lees-Smith, one of the founders of Ruskin College in Oxford, which is supported by the Pacifist group, declared that House is of the opinion that providing satisfactory guarantees can be obtained with regard to the independence and restoration of Belgium and the evacuation of the occupied territory, no obstacle should be placed in the way or preliminaries towards negotiations for peace and a settlement which ought to embody an equitable solution of the problem of Alsace-Lorraine and of devising the enforcement of effective international machinery for the avoidance of future wars. A. J. Balfour, British Foreign Secretary is expected to reply to the motion.

BALEFOUR HITS FROM THE SHOULDER.

LONDON, To-day. In the course of his remarks, Balfour expressed the opinion that discussions of this kind did little to assist the object that those who started them had in view, the attainment of an honourable peace at the earliest possible date. He ridiculed the idea that secret treaties existed, as suggested by Mr. Lemaitre. He declared that Britain was not a party to any such treaty; he did not believe any such treaty existed. He regretted that members had used such an argument, which of course would be repeated in Germany without contradiction, and which had for its basis that the Allies' aims were not those they had loudly proclaimed of freeing small nations and making the constitution of states in Europe as possible harmonious with the wishes of their inhabitants. It never was and is not the object of the Allies to take from the German empire admittedly German territory, said Balfour. But of course the Allies desire the restitution of Alsace-Lorraine to France. The Allies, continued the Secretary, were not fighting for that alone or as an isolated object of their war aims. We are fighting in the first place, said he, that Europe might be freed from the perpetual menace of the military party in Germany. He asked whether the movers of the amendment and their party had no cure for the mis-government and most brutal and barbarous cruelty in Armenia and Arabia. The Pacifist members seemed to think that all these matters could be satisfactorily settled if they could only bring the European powers to talk together around a table. Is that common sense? he asked. Is it supposed that Germany would ever consent to restore, as has been publicly suggested, the ancient kingdom of Poland? Of course she would not. It is no use waiting to meet around a peace table to determine that. Is it imperialistic to desire to see an independent Poland? Is it imperialistic to desire to see Armenia released from the tyranny of Turkey? Is it imperialistic to desire to see Alsace-Lorraine restored to France? Is it imperialistic to desire to see Italy embrace those of her own race, civilization and language? Is it imperialistic to desire to see Roumania under Roumanian rule? (See 4th page.)

Whipping a Tired Horse Does Not Give Him Strength

YOU may whip a tired horse so that he will win a race or get his load over a bad spot in the road, but that does not add to his strength. In reality it further depletes his reserve of strength and leaves him exhausted.

Neither Do Stimulants Restore the Tired, Worn-out Nerves

The Food Cure

Mrs. A. North, Grand Street North, Bradford, Ont., writes: "Both my husband and I can speak very highly of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, having used it with splendid results. My husband suffered from weakness and a run-down system, and became so bad he finally had to give up work. He also had spells of melancholia. He commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after a treatment of this medicine I never saw such a change in anybody. He is now able to attend to his work, and is enjoying splendid health. "Before I started taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was troubled with nervousness, sleeplessness and a pain around the heart. The Nerve Food built up my system, made me feel stronger in every way, and relieved me of the annoying symptoms from which I had suffered. We always keep Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the house ready for use in case it is needed."

ary relief with the new method of reconstructing the starved and depleted nerve cells.

A little patience is required to follow out this building-up process, but this is the only way in which disease of the nerves can be really cured. The nerves are starved for proper nourishment. You supply the nutrition in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The results are certain, because you are working hand in hand with Nature.

As strength is restored the appetite is sharpened, digestion improves, you get the good of the food you eat, headaches disappear, you find yourself gaining in confidence, in vigor and in energy. You begin to have new ambitions, to enjoy your work and to feel again that life is really worth living.

CANADIAN ADVANCE.

Canadian Headquarters in France, via London, Nov. 6.—In another great advance along their whole front the Canadians seem to have taken Passchendaele, Goudberg and Messelmarkt. If this is so no more signal triumph has been won in the whole history of the Canadian Corps. Our divisions will have more than settled the old score of St. Julien. Dominating Roulers and the Roulers plain, Passchendaele would give the Allied forces a firm footing on the series of great spurs extending from Cheluvell ridge running northwest for miles. The possession of Passchendaele ridge would make a great triumph in a long struggle to secure possession of this higher ground. It would give the Allies the advantage of a position in the salient and relegate the Bosche to the lower levels dominated by our guns. Knowing too well the vital necessity of maintaining this position secure, Hindenburg, after the successful Canadian advances on Bellevue spur and the capture of the great farm and Meetechoele, issued a special army order commanding that Passchendaele should be held at all costs, and if lost, must be retaken. For days the enemy had been rushing up guns and new formations of troops to insure his hold on the position. His efforts proved unavailing. The best troops of the enemy have given ground before our forces who have moved steadily towards their objectives since the beginning of the Passchendaele operations on Oct. 23. At 7 o'clock this morning our guns opened a tremendous barrage of fire. Two minutes later, the men from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Western and Eastern Ontario, were out of their shell holes and over the temporary mud-wall trenches. In the advance which at 8:30 had carried them beyond their objectives it was an artillery and machine gun fight for one hour and a half. Our guns were never silent. Protected by the splendid barrage our infantry moved slowly forward while our counter battery dominated the enemy's guns and swept his assembled artillery positions with their fire. The details of the fighting are not yet to hand, but our forces on the right plunging towards Passchendaele have advanced well beyond the ruined village, overcoming fortified enemy shell holes and concrete strong points in the advance, capturing numerous machine gun positions which threatened our attack from the Passchendaele-Zonnebeke road to the village itself, where the enemy from cellars and machine gun positions in ruins fought to break down our attack. To the left, our infantry met with desperate resistance on the 75 yards front of Meetechoele, where this enemy stronghold formed the key to the whole left position as Meetechoele did to ours. Messelmarkt was the scene of another determined resistance.

British Front in Belgium, Nov. 6.—The Canadians in to-day's drive against the German lines advanced about 300 yards beyond the centre of Passchendaele, having battled their way to their final marks. A considerable number of prisoners already have reached their cages.

General headquarters this evening says: Teuton forces have crossed the Tagliamento River along the whole front. It adds that the pursuit of the retreating Italians is progressing.

ITALIAN REPORT.

Italian Headquarters, Northern Italy, Nov. 6. (By Associated Press.)—The Italian retirement to the new lines is being methodically carried out. The morale of the troops is good in all ranks. Cavalry is again acting as rearguard, screening the movement and fighting heroically. The general situation is likely to be grave for some days, while the operation proceeds of reconcentration along the new lines. An observer who returned to-day from a tour along the Tagliamento front, told the correspondent that conditions were much better than had been generally understood. The men were displaying good morale. The impending menace to their country stirred the spirit of all; even those few who had been disheartened by their recent trials. Instead of disorganization, there was every evidence of systematic getting together.

PEACE RUMORS.

LONDON, Nov. 6.

The Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. cables that wild peace rumors were current on the Bourse yesterday, it being reported that the Central Powers would make offers of peace before December in the shape of a proposal for a preparatory conference at Bern. According to these rumors each belligerent will be asked to send two delegates, Germany selecting Prince Von Buelow, former Chancellor, and Dr. Karl Helfferich, the Vice Chancellor.

BRITISH ATTACK.

LONDON, Nov. 6.

The British attacked this morning on the Flanders front in the neighborhood of Passchendaele. The war office reports that satisfactory progress is being made.

GERMAN ATTACK REPULSED.

PARIS, Nov. 6.

The French broke into the German lines at several places last night and took prisoners, the war office announced. A German attack near Carnillet, on the Champagne front, was repulsed.

A WEEK'S BRITISH CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Nov. 6.

British casualties reported during the week ending to-day total 21,891 officers and men, as follows: Killed 4,976; wounded or missing, officers 813, men 15,861.

ADVANCE POSTS.

LONDON, Nov. 6.

The war office communication issued last evening says: On the battefront we advanced our line of posts slightly during the night southeast of Poelcappelle. West of Beclerae a hostile bombing attack upon one of our posts was repulsed. The hostile artillery has shown great activity against the sector of our line immediately north of the Ypres-Roulers railway. Our own artillery activity has continued.

DEFYING RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 6.

Leon Trotsky, President of the Central Executive Committee of the Petrograd Council of Soldiers' and Workmen's Delegates, to-day sent a request to the Petrograd garrison not to execute any military orders except those approved and signed by the Soldiers' and Workmen's Revolutionary Committee. Simultaneously the committee sent military commissioners to important points in and around Petrograd. The afternoon papers interpret this action as an attempt by the Maximalists to seize political power. The papers believe, however, that the Government has decided to combat vigorously any such attempt.

PASSCHENDAELE CAPTURED.

LONDON, Nov. 6.

The town of Passchendaele, lying northeast of Ypres, has been captured by British forces, according to an official statement issued to-night.

ON THE AILETTE.

French Front in France, Nov. 6.—The Germans still hold the northern slope of the Valley of the Ailette, after their retreat from the Chemin-des-Dames, of which nothing remains but the historic name and its dominating position over the marshy low lands. The famous little river, whose entire course the correspondent was able to follow on Sunday as it meandered through the boggy undergrowth, would scarcely be worth marking on an ordinary map, as its greatest breadth is only about three yards. The Germans had made many passes over the stream, all of which were destroyed when the last man of their retreating forces went over. The French patrols everywhere reached the southern bank, but whenever they attempted to attain the other side they met with a murderous machine gun fire. The whole southern slope of the valley was swept hour after hour on Sunday with German shells of all calibre, most of them charged with noxious gases. Every place where the Germans believed the French were concentrating received continuous salvos which, however, did little damage. Several thousand projectiles were fired by the German artillery in the course of the day in this sector, most of which apparently were fired at very long range and struck without exploding. The correspondent approached the front lines and a splendid view could be obtained right along the valley and over the ground, for possession of which the German Crown Prince has spilled so much blood. Seemingly a short distance away, and well within machine gun range, could be observed the ruins of the villages of Chamouille, Neuville, Chermisy, Bouconville and Vaucellec, while along the crest of the plateau could be discovered here and there faint traces of what once had been Chemin-des-Dames, now a mere collection of deep shell craters, running into each other. Below this road, on the northern side, the gaping mouths of great tunnels opened, showing where the Germans had concentrated and sheltered their troops. Very light damage had been done to these shelters, except in cases where timbers sustaining roofs and sides had been sprinkled with petrol and set on fire, sometimes causing the earth to collapse. Marching over the battlefield, at this plateau, it was easy to realize the terrific murder of the fighting which had been going on these many months. Both the German and French trenches and positions had been shelled out of all shape; it was difficult to understand how the troops held out under the incessant bombardments. There was not an inch of ground that had not been pulverized, and now frequent rains the ground has been formed into a sticky mess to pass through which is really a form of punishment. The great mounds known as the Casements and California Plateau, stand out boldly, making the reason plain why both sides fought so obstinately for their possession. Returning to the rear the correspondent found the villages of Cromme and Outches just a heap of stones, even the graveyards having been turned into mud. Meanwhile over on the other side the French troops are keeping in closest contact with the Germans, whose intentions cannot yet be devised. Their shell fire, although heavy, appears to come from only a few scattered batteries, the intervals between which are held by machine guns.

GERMAN SOLDIERS PROTESTED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.

The fact that German soldiers themselves appealed to Ambassador Gerard, "the representative of a Christian state," to protest against the atrocities and butcheries in which their commanders forced them to participate, will be disclosed in a forthcoming issue of a pamphlet by the committee of public information, entitled "German War Practices."

CHANGE OF WAR MINISTERS.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 6.

General Verkhovsky, Minister of War, has been granted indefinite leave of absence by government order which relieves him of office. General Manikorsky has been appointed acting War Minister, temporarily. Serious difficulties had arisen between the Minister of War and his colleagues according to the newspapers. It is said that the Minister's associates disapprove of his actions and especially of his views on Russia's foreign policy, which they say had something of an internationalist tinge.

JAP-AMERICAN AGREEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.

Japan and the United States have received a complete agreement in regard to China, and at the same time have arrived at a clear understanding as to the military, naval and economic co-operation in the war against Germany. This momentous development was announced to-day by Secretary of State Lansing, who made public notes exchanged by him and Viscount Ishii, the special Japanese ambassador, formally recording an agreement and recognizing that Japan has a special interest, in China but pledging the independence and territorial integrity of the great eastern republic and re-affirming the doctrine of the "open door" for commerce and industry. In a statement accompanying the note Mr. Lansing said: Viscount Ishii and the members of his mission, now on their way had performed a service of the highest value to the United States as well as to Japan by clearing away misunderstandings, which, if unchecked, promised to develop a serious situation in the Far East. He spoke of an attitude of constraint and doubt fostered by a campaign of falsehood and secretly carried on by the Germans, and said that through the frankness and cordiality of Japanese commissioners the propaganda of years had been undone in a few days.

Taking as its text the announcement of the first American casualty in the world war, the Daily Mail prints an eulogistic editorial on American participation in hostilities.

MEETING IN ROME.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.

The coming meeting in Rome of the Premiers of England, Italy and France, is indicated by official despatches received here to-day to be of greater scope than only the consideration of military measures to meet the German drive into Italy. M. Painleve, the French Premier, was accompanied to the Italian capital by Franklin Bouillon, French Minister of Missions abroad. General Foch, the French Chief of Staff, and General Robertson, British Chief of Staff, were awaiting the Premiers in Rome, and in the meantime have been concentrating measures for co-operation of French and British troops with the Italian armies. General Smuts, of South African fame, is also in attendance with Lloyd George, the British Premier. An explanation of the general purposes of the gathering of statesmen and soldiers, is given in the cable as follows: It is necessary that there should be a large plan of concerted action between the Governments themselves in addition to technical military action and orders, hence the call to Premiers and political heads of the Entente. The advisability of creating an inter-ally war commission may possibly be discussed and attracts much attention here.

WANT EQUAL RIGHTS.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 6.

In an address on Sunday at Biling, West-Prussia, Philip Scheidemann, German Socialist Leader, said his party would support the new German Government if it kept its promise including those for equal rights in Prussia, and the abolition of political censorship concessions. The support of the Socialists also was conditioned, he said, on carrying out by the Government of a clear and firm foreign policy in furtherance of everything compatible with Germany's honor and future for the attainment of a speedy and lasting peace. Other- wise, said Herr Scheidemann, the Socialists would fight the new government as they had fought the Michaelis regime. Once equal rights in Prussia were granted and the control of the Reichstag majority over the make-ups of the Government and its policy were established, developments which were springing into being before their eyes, there would be no excuse, Herr Scheidemann declared, for refusing to negotiate peace with Germany on the pretext that it was ruled autocratically.

DOUBTING VON HERTLING.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 6.

First doubts whether all would be as easy with parliamentarism under the Von Hertling era, as generally assumed, are beginning to be expressed in parliament circles in Germany. The report is in circulation that Von Hertling in conversation with members of the Bundestag, declared that his personal views on parliamentarism are unchanged and that he had conducted negotiations with the party leaders only for information, and to quiet their minds. The Vossische Zeitung points out that the Chancellor has found no time to confer personally with any of the leaders since his appointment.

LAURIER TO OPEN CAMPAIGN.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will open the campaign on Friday evening at a public meeting in Quebec City.

GERMAN WAR APPROPRIATION.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 6.

A new war appropriation bill will be submitted in the German Reichstag, which opens on Nov. 22. It calls for fifteen billion marks.

GERMANY'S MAN POWER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.

Cable reports reaching here from Switzerland say that Germany has reached a crisis so far as her manpower is concerned. For three years according to these despatches, Germany has lost on an average 1,200,000 men annually. This will at least be equalled in 1918. It is contended that if they continue the war on the same scale for another year the Germans must have at their command a reserve of at least 2,000,000 men, whereas they actually will have a reserve of only one and a half million, including youths of the class of 1920.

PICTURES OF THE REGIMENT SHOWN—OUR POSITION IN THIS WAR MADE CLEAR TO CROWDED AUDIENCE.

There was barely standing room at the Patriotic Concert held in the British Hall last night when the pictures of the Regiment were shown and patriotic addresses delivered by Hon. R. A. Squires, Hon. W. F. Coaker and Mr. W. J. Higgins. Included in those present were His Excellency the Administrator, Sir W. H. Horwood, accompanied by Hon. R. Watson, Hon. J. R. Bennett, Minister of Militia, Majors Rendell, Montgomerie and Carry, and others prominent in military and civil life. There was also quite a number of returned heroes, many of whom had the privilege of seeing themselves shown on the screen.

The Volunteers and Foresters headed by the C. L. B. and C. C. C. bands held a parade through the city and afterwards assembled at the hall where the Minister of Militia in a brief address explained the object of the gathering, which was to give the outport citizens an opportunity to see the pictures of "Ours" and to hear expert addresses on the war.

Hon. Dr. Lloyd, Acting Prime Minister, presided and in opening the meeting gave a brief sketch of the history of the Regiment. Perhaps no Regiment had won so many distinctions as "Ours" and it was a pleasure to all to see pictures of those who had achieved so much for themselves and their country.

The performance opened with a selection by the C. L. B. Band, following which the pictures were shown. Hon. R. A. Squires was the first speaker and after expressing his pleasure at being associated with the Minister of Militia in his efforts to help on voluntary enlistment he said it was the duty of every eligible man to offer his services, so that he may relieve those who deserve a rest from duty on the firing line and to fill up the gaps made vacant by the men who had paid the supreme sacrifice. He pointed out where the voluntary system failed in England and conscription had to be put in force. The same had to be done in Canada where all were placed on an equality and called to serve through legislation embodying considerable force in certain sections. Here, however, no section should need pressure to bring them to a realization of their duty, as all are the same English, Irish, Scotch and Welsh blood which made Britain mistress of the seas. Our ancestors were men of great courage and fought and conquered wherever they went, as is shown by the fact of their settling in this country, and the response to the call of the blood alone should be able to account for more than the number of recruits required. Three years ago Newfoundland was a little red triangle on the map, a land enshrouded with fog, whose people lived on fish, but to-day through the noble deeds of our soldiers and sailors it is a shining light of patriotism stained with the blood of our best manhood. The message that our Regiment must be kept at full force should be carried to the homes of all present. Britain is in the struggle for freedom and fair play and if all would realize this they would at once come forward and put a stop to the evil doings of German nationalism. Sacrifice is the essence of victory and the honor of the future will be measured by what we do for the Empire to-day. In conclusion Mr. Squires said "Let us show the blood of our ancestors and help the God of Peace conquer the despotism of harm and might."

Hon. W. F. Coaker followed in a stirring speech, pointing out that the call to arms was more serious to-day than it was three years ago. He emphasized the fact that at least 400 recruits were wanted before January 1918 was ushered in. He hoped the voluntary response would be liberal. He did not want to see conscription enforced, but more men were needed. Some 5,700 had gone already forward to fight in the Army and Navy but more than that number had not

Congoleumn MATS.

It's a long time since there has been anything to beat these for value.

Only 23c. each.

Priced for popular selling.

Take our word for it, that this line of MATS will be a big selling sensation.

Household Notes.

The cheapest way to buy apples is by basket, and those that show signs of spoiling can be canned. When stamps are stuck together put a thin piece of paper over the stamps and press with a warm iron. The most important point to remember if you would be well dressed is to maintain the most spotless freshness.

GETTING UNDER COVER.—It is again reported in political circles that Mr. W. Jennings, M.H.A., is to be appointed to the position of Inspector of Lighthouses made vacant by the death of Mr. R. White. This hardly seems fair to Mr. T. Cornick, mechanic, who has been assistant to the late Mr. White for 25 years and over 30 years in the service.

Wrapping the block of ice in a good way to save the ice in the refrigerator and a poor way to save the food. When you want Mince Collops, try ELLIS'. Peplum blouses are more becoming to the average figure than the blouse that is worn under the skirt. The peplum is very fashionable.

The Letters B. F. H. T.

For us this week, the above letters represent:—

- B Stands for BLOUSES, in Cream and Black Silk, $2.80 to $3.50
- F Stands for FURS. See Window. $3.00 to $4.50
- H Stands for HATS, both in Ladies' and Men's Autumn wear.
- T Stands for ENDS of COTTON TWEED, per pound at 80 cts.

READY TO WORK NIGHT OR DAY. Gas is your ever ready helper right in your home—no begging for delivery, no delays in getting it. One gets so used to it that one is apt to forget how helpful it is. Take a little trouble. Study its uses: get to understand how to obtain every particle of help you can from it. Remember that for Light, Heat or Cooking it has no equal. If you have any little difficulties with it, bring them to the Gas Office. Our advice and help will be most readily given.
