STEWART'S Home Made Bread,
THE BREAD MY DADDY LIKES.
Daddy is evidently not one of those back number lords of creation who believes that woman's place is in the home—and only there. His taste in a wife is an up-to-date woman who will prove herself a real companion. He knows that if she is a slave to her kitchen she can't enjoy the poise or have the interest in world affairs that a little extra leisure would make possible; and so he is pleased to eat MRS. STEWART'S HOME MADE BREAD—the loaf with the home made flavor.
The smiling, well-nourished kiddie doesn't look as though suffering because mother is progressive enough to buy good bread made by a bread specialist, instead of wearing out her life in the kitchen.

Better a Peasant Than a Peer.

CHAPTER XXVIII. IN DEEP WATERS.

He is like a faithful and attached dog, whose whole being is fixed upon his master—or his mistress—and who waits anxiously, and yet not obtrusively, for a word from her.

No one notices this, and yet—yes, one person does, and he is "Old Bull!" Half an hour after the ladies have left for the drawing-room, Hal puts his head around the door of that apartment, and having with great difficulty attracted Jeanne's attention, beckons her mysteriously.

"Well, what is it?" she says, coming out to him; "have you had enough wine? where are the others?"

"Still at it—not at the wine," says Hal, "but—the cackle. That member of Parliament you brought with you has got 'em on to politics, and they seem likely to go on worrying that subject till midnight. If there's anything I hate its politics—"

"But you shouldn't run away and leave them," says Jeanne, laughing. "Would you have me to fly to the drink?" demands Hal, with mock severity. "Seriously, if I stayed there I should have been driven to drown my sense of hearing in the red port, and besides, I want a pipe."

"Well, I haven't got one in my pocket!" interrupts Jeanne.

"Don't be impertinent, miss, or I'll leave you; and you'll be sorry when I tell you that I've got the key of the round tower, that it's a splendid night—a new moon—and that I'm going up there to smoke."

"To the moon!"

"To the tower, stupid! and you may come with me, if you like."

Jeanne laughs—but wistfully. "And leave them all?" and she makes a move toward the drawing-room, brilliant with its lights, which are reflected by the diamonds in her hair. "It's not to be done, you audacious boy! You forget that I'm the hostess!"

"Come on," says Hal; "they won't miss you, you're too small."

"Tall as you are!"

"Besides, the men will be coming in directly, and then for certain the women won't care whether you are there or at Jericho. Come along, for just a few minutes!"

Jeanne cast another wistful glance, hesitates, and is lost.

"You're a bad boy, Hal," she says, "leading me into mischief the very first night. Come on, then. Where's a shawl, or something? This will do—I don't know whose it is. Now, then, quick!"

And, with her old, light-hearted laugh, she springs up the stairs—the old Jeanne of Newton Regis.

"Come down," says Hal; "that's the wrong way."

And he leads her by a smaller stone staircase to the tower.

"It's a long way up," says Jeanne, putting laughingly, for she has taken two steps at a time. "But how lovely! What a height! Now, Hal, be the showman, and tell me what are all the places I can see. Begin at the church; and don't blow off the smoke this way—they will think I have been having a pipe, and a strong one, too."

Hal does as he is told, in every way, and they pass around the tower.

"Good boy," says Jeanne. "But you have left out that large white place—the most important of all."

"Oh, so I have," says Hal, with feigned carelessness. "That's the Villa Verona."

"Italian!" says Jeanne. "Who lives there? They must be our nearest neighbors."

"Oh, only an Italian gentleman—Prince Verona."

"Only a prince!" laughs Jeanne. "What delightfully republican indifference to a title—only a prince! And is he married, and has he any sons?"

"No," says Hal. "I'll have another pipe."

"Lives there all alone in that big place?" says Jeanne. "Poor fellow!"

"There's a daughter," says Hal.

"You said—"

"There were no sons," says Hal, doggedly. "None are there. There is only one child, the Princess Verona."

He says it too carelessly; Jeanne, woman-like, grows instantly curious. "A princess! Have you seen her, Hal? What is she like?"

"I've seen her," says Hal, leaning over the battlement.

"How old is she? Is she pretty?"

"She? About your age—oh, younger; about my age, I suppose. Pretty?" and his caution is overwhelmed by his feelings. "Pretty isn't the name for her; she's perfectly lovely. Her eyes are as dark, and, no, don't think they're black—with long lashes that sweep her cheeks—and her hair—you know that picture which Vane showed us of the Italian girl whom he saw at Naples? Well, that is what the princess is like! And fancy, Jeanne! she lives all alone with the old man, her father, who burns a lamp in daylight, and sits day and night poring over compendiums and plots, alone with him and a wooden-faced doll as her companion! And she—the princess. I mean—is like—like—like a flower, all life and brightness, excepting sometimes, and there she is shut up like a beautiful wild bird in a cage!"

He stops, for, looking around—he has been staring at the villa during this half-unconscious rhapsody—he sees Jeanne's eyes fixed on him with a half-laughing, half-serious expression.

"Well," he says, "what are you staring at?"

She is silent for a moment, and also looks at the villa.

"Hal, how often have you met the princess?"

"Six times," he says, promptly. "You have remembered and kept account of every time; you have remembered her eyes so intensely that you know they are not black—though so dark. Oh, Hal, you foolish boy!"

"What do you mean?" he demands, with a heightened color.

"Hal, you are in love with her!" says Jeanne, with a smile.

He looks at her with a gravely curious and earnest gaze.

"Am I?" he says. "Do you think so?"

Then he turns to the battlements with his face away from her.

"I haven't told you all," he says. "The Princess Verona is engaged to be married. To a Count Mikoff."

"Oh, Hal!" she murmurs.

"To Count Mikoff," he goes on, as if he would not spare himself a pang. "A Russian nobleman, a man old enough to be her father, grandfather! with a manner like a French polish, and a face like creased parchment."

"Oh, Hal!" she murmurs again, and her soft arm creeps around his neck. "My poor boy! Can nothing be done? Is there no way?"

"No, nothing," he says. "I—whose this! and he turns his white, working face, as a step sounds behind them. "I—there is some one coming, keep them off me for a moment."

It is Clarence Lane.

"As you there, Lady Ferndale!" he asks.

"Yes," says Jeanne. "How did you come up here?"

"Found my way by instinct," he says, with significance. "You left the door open, and I climbed on the chance. Instinct is right, you see, as usual."

Jeanne laughs. She is still thinking of her poor boy's white face and broken voice.

"Yes, isn't this a beautiful view?" and she leads him away from Hal.

It is dangerous to rely on the chaperonage of a brother, doubly dangerous to rely on him when he is in love. Hal, thinking only of himself, utterly oblivious of the impropriety of leaving Jeanne and Clarence alone on the top of the tower, sees the door before him and escapes.

Five minutes afterward, down in the drawing-room, a song is wanted, and Vane looks around for Jeanne.

"Where is Lady Ferndale?" he asks.

Lady Lucelle is sitting near, toying with a besique box. She looks up—she has noticed Jeanne's absence, but she has bided her time. Hal, hearing the question, looks up also.

"Jeanne," he says, rousing, "Oh, by Jove! I left her on the tower—"

"Lord Lane has the music in charge," says Lady Lucelle, slyly. "Let us ask him—why, where has he gone?" and she looks around the room.

"Lane—oh, I left him with Jeanne," says Hal, carelessly.

Vane's face grows suddenly hard. "Shall we play besique?" he says, turning to Lady Lucelle.

"Thanks, I should like it. I hope," she says, with amiable anxiety, "Jeanne won't catch cold!"

But Vane has recovered himself. "Lane will take care of that, no doubt," he says, in measured accents. "Oh, here they are!" says Lady Lucelle, as Jeanne, closely followed by Clarence, entered.

It Certainly Was Lucky Day for Him, Says Halifax Man

Milne Says Tanlac Began Building Him From Start--Feels Fine Now.

"The experience of William Milne, motor mechanic, who lives at 83 1/2 Birmingham St., Halifax, will be of interest to hundreds of people in this vicinity who suffer like he once did from the distressing after effects of the flu. Recently in relating the facts of his recent restoration to health and vigor by taking Tanlac, he said:

"I had the flu a year ago and it sapped my strength so that after the attack passed off I was so weak I could hardly get about. My appetite was so poor I barely ate enough to keep from starving. When I went back to work I would soon give out, couldn't do little jobs that used to be fun to me. Some days I was so weak I couldn't crank a car. As time passed on and I saw no improvement, I grew very despondent and felt like giving up.

"It was a lucky day for me when I began taking Tanlac. It built me up right from the start and I don't believe there is a man in Halifax who feels any better than I do now. I have regained my strength and feel full of life and energy, certainly very different from the all-gone, down-and-out feeling I had so long. The man who told me about Tanlac did me a good turn, and I want to pass it along. There is no doubt about it in my mind Tanlac has no equal for people who need something to build them up."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors; in Paradise, by Mrs. Martin F. Byrne; in Upper Gables, by Heber Andrews; in Portland, by H. C. Haines; in St. Joseph, Salmonier, by Mrs. J. A summary follows:—The Government of the United States declares it seizes the occasion to send to the Council of the League a copy of a note addressed to Earl Curzon, British Foreign Minister, on Nov. 20, setting forth in detail the views of the United States on the responsibilities of mandatory powers. A copy of that note has been sent to the French and Italian Governments. The United States Government draws the attention of the Council to the request made in that note that projects a mandate intended to be communicated to the United States Government, and that it has precise indications of the principles on which the United States may condition its approbation. The United States Government has received the text of mandate attributed to the Emperor of Japan over all former German islands, situated in the Pacific Ocean north of the equator, which text was approved by the Council of the League on December 17th in Geneva.

AMBUSHES AND MURDERS. DUBLIN, Feb. 23. Ambushes occurred in several parts of Ireland last night and more are reported to-day. In an ambush at Mount Charles, County Donegal, a constable was killed and at Bally Longford, County Kerry, a constable was killed.

Viscount Grey, at a dinner given in his honor by the National Liberal Club last night, said he was one of those who believed there would be little pleasure or interest in living in the world if there were war between Great Britain and the United States. It was plain to him that there would not be cordiality as long as the Irish question remained unsettled.

Three members of the Royal Irish Constabulary, employed in Dublin Castle, were shot to-day, two being killed and the other seriously wounded, by civilians, almost at the Castle gate at midday. TARIFF COMPROMISE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. A compromise agreement fixing the tariff on wheat at thirty-five cents a bushel was reached to-day by the Senate and House Conference considering the Fordney Emergency Bill. The wheat schedule was one of the principal stumbling blocks of the Conference. The House rate was thirty cents a bushel and the Senate forty cents. The agreement on thirty-five cents was said to involve a question of difference in the rate of exchange.

WANTS ENLIGHTENMENT. Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—There are two questions at present that a certain section of the St. John's public would like to be enlightened upon:

(1) The first is whether the gentleman who apparently likes to be known as "our George" and who is so busy in trying (1) to organize a society to be known as the "St. George's Society", which is going to confer all sorts of benefits on the poor of the city, and (2) whose greatest wish seems to be to put the sports of Newfoundland—i.e. the games not individuals—in on a sound financial basis, will inform the St. John's public what happened in connection with his last "splendid philanthropic enterprise"?

The second enquiry is whether the wave of generosity that is at present being shown by the St. John's press—particularly the Daily Star—in generously donating column upon column of their space to this gentleman for the obvious purpose of advertising himself is likely to be extended to the general trade, who wish to advertise the goods they have to sell rather than their individual selves? If so, we should like to get in on it! Of course it is possible that "our George's" contribution may help to increase circulation at a dull season—actions look a great deal better when "Ken" was in the limelight—but I have no doubts about this, personally.

Yours truly, GIVE US A REST. February 22, 1921.

The Government's Campaign Artists.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Seeing that the attention of the country is now focussed on this district, I hope you will allow me space in your valued paper for a few words concerning the political campaign now being carried on here.

The Squires-Coakerites have already paid us a visit with Dr. Campbell as the manager. Mr. Kenneth Ruby and others from the city are also with him. After feeling around the district these worthies found out that we have had enough of Coaker-Squires rule and they now are going about saying that "Squires is trying to get rid of Coaker and only needs the election of the Government candidates to sustain him in doing so."

Now, Mr. Editor, we don't intend to swallow this stuff from Ken and the Doc. Ken may be an out-and-out Squires man, but it is well known that he was not so enthusiastic last fall because then he did not get any of the promised "pickings" for his work during the general election. However, a new supply of tin kettles, pans and horns is to be made for the Government institutions and of course friend Ken will have the supplying, that is if he can hoodwink us to vote for the Government. He may be a good "tinker" but we can "tink" too.

Dr. Campbell is also rough on Mr. Coaker, but we are aware that the Doc was his nurse at the Coaker meeting in St. John's last fall, when he spoke and fought for Mr. Coaker and his regulations. Coaker and his regulations are responsible for the present stagnation in Newfoundland, but who is to blame for us having to pay 25 cents per pound for sugar?

Who raised the price of liquor 50 cents per bottle at the Controller's? Who raised the salaries of the members to $1,000 a year where the allowance before was $200? Who helped to shut down work at Bell Island? Who brought down the Yankee book-keepers to find the graft that we heard so much of in 1919? To say nothing of the thousands of dollars it cost the country.

We know the answers, Mr. Editor, and on March 12th you can rely on us to mark our ballots for Jones and Lewis.

Sincerely yours, SCRUB BULL. Kelligrews, Feb. 21, 1920.

Laymen's Convention.

The Convention of Lay Agencies of the Methodist Church held its third meeting at Gower Street last night, under the chairmanship of Mr. R. F. Horwood.

Last night's session was from point of interest, attendance, and enthusiasm by far the most successful of the convention. The importance of the general subject—"Sunday Schools"—coupled with the reputation of the speakers explain the added interest displayed.

The opening address was given by Mr. Wm. Soper on "The work of the Primary Department." Mr. Soper in his preliminary remarks referred to the difficult task of instructing the smaller children in that way which would yield the maximum result in the development of his mind and character. One type might be best appealed to by story, another through music, while others through the illustrations on the black board. If there can be found any justification for the establishment of teacher training classes it surely is apparent in the great problem of the service and the training the child to know God as he has revealed himself to man, to know Jesus Christ who became a little child, to inspire him to live as God's child, to be loving, trustful obedient, and to awaken in him a desire to do God's will. The speaker then quoted some interesting statistics which elicited quite an animated discussion before the session adjourned.

The second address was delivered by Rev. D. B. Hemmion, B.A., on the subject of "Teacher Training Classes." Mr. Hemmion should have been heard in order to be able to fully appreciate his address, and nothing short of a verbatim report of the Rev. Gentleman's speech could do justice to his effort. While firmly convinced that the establishment of "Teacher Training Classes" was a vital necessity in the present interest of the Sunday Schools, teacher and scholar, Mr. Hemmion made it clear that he had the most profound respect for those Sunday School teachers, who as a rule are recruited from that class of people who are busily engaged during the six days of the week, and are from the laity class—yet have not the advantage of the Teacher Training Institutions. He could think of no one who had taken up a more important and more admirable work than that of the Sunday School, and said he could think of no greater reward that could come to one in the evening time of life than to be taken by the hand by a former Sunday School scholar of many years back and told that he owed his decision to live a Christian life, to his beneficent influence and help while under his charge at the Sunday School. Reference was made to the Teacher Training Class which he is at present conducting on Wednesday nights at the Institute Room of the Methodist College, and at which about forty teachers attend regularly, and said he could think of no greater reward that could come to one in the evening time of life than to be taken by the hand by a former Sunday School scholar of many years back and told that he owed his decision to live a Christian life, to his beneficent influence and help while under his charge at the Sunday School. The third and last speaker was Miss M. Bradbury of the Methodist College staff. Miss Bradbury spoke on "The Work of the Senior Department" and delivered a most interesting address. The work of the Senior Department was to promote the systematic study of the Bible which she feared was not studied as much as it should be either in the home or in private, yet it was the Book of Books, replete with most interesting history, romance, the most beautiful poetry in fact all that is most worthwhile can be found in the sacred pages of the Scripture. Another objective of the Senior Department was evangelistic work. There was a time when ranks of the church membership were swelled a result of great revivals. But the present age demands personal contact and individual efforts. Christ called Peter and James and John and those called others. And yet another object was directed towards missionary effort, and the motto is, "Others", in closing Miss Bradbury made a very earnest and strong plea for help in the work of the Sunday School, that good citizenship may predominate. A country's greatest asset is not its area, its resources, but its people, it is therefore of the very highest moment that good, honest, upright men—men of character, men of principle, should be the aim and object of all our ministrations to the rising generation.

Thinks it a Mistake.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—I think it would be a great mistake for our hockeyists this year to go to Boston or elsewhere. The hockey teams are very evenly matched and there is great interest in the games. I understand the directors of the rink are offering a note in the spirit in which it is written, namely, the best interests of the city, the citizens and hockey.

Hockey League. If the hockeyists go, that scheme will have to be abandoned, all interest will be taken out of hockey for the rest of the season. The Hockey League will suffer, and no one as far as I can see, will benefit, except those who go the trip, if that is any benefit. Just now we want all the amusement possible. We want all the money we can raise for charitable and other purposes and when our men go away they kill hockey. When a team from Halifax, etc., visits here they interfere very little with their game, which makes all the difference in the world. I trust the hockeyists will look at this note in the spirit in which it is written, namely, the best interests of the city, the citizens and hockey.

As this is urgent, you will greatly oblige me by publishing this letter in to-day's paper. Yours sincerely, GEO. W. E. AYRE. Feb. 24, 1921. 'Liberal-Reform' and the Country's Condition.

The people of St. John's are to be asked on March 12th to elect two members to represent them in the Assembly, have had, like the rest of the country, fifteen months of the rule of the Liberal-Reform Party and with the sample of Government which the Liberal-Reformers have given them in that time, and the people can judge for themselves what they are likely to encounter during the rest of the term of the present Legislature. Everybody in the country before the General Elections in November, 1919, had it dinned into his ears that the Liberal-Reformers were going to bring in their train such benefits for this country and its people as were never enjoyed before, that it was to be made into a land flowing with milk and honey, that everybody was to have unlimited employment at the highest wages, and that, in the homely way of saying things, our people would never see a poor day again. At the time they were enjoying a substantial measure of prosperity, times were good, labor was abundant, wages were high, fish was fetching fine prices, and the condition of every class amongst us was such as had never before been enjoyed. However, the Liberal-Reformers set a record themselves in denouncing the Government then in office as being made up of crooks and grafters, who had enriched themselves at the expense of the taxpayers, and the Liberal-Reformers promised the people that if they would overthrow these grafters and put them in office, they would ensure for the people even better times than then existed, and would also guarantee the people the additional advantage that an end would be made to the carnival of corruption and extravagance, which they said existed previously, because all of their party were true-blue patriots, working solely for the public advantage, and not wanting anything in the way of money or any assistance whatever from the public funds. On the strength of these promises the people elected these Liberal-Reformers and then looked for these promises to be made good, but can anybody apart from the Liberal-Reformers themselves, and their army of hirelings, say that any benefit has come to the country or to a single element in it from the overthrow of the last Government and the election of the present party to power?

Twenty-five years ago, Newfoundland was visited by a financial disaster known as the "Bank Crash." The effects of which were felt in every settlement great and small around our whole seaboard, but the conditions which the Bank Crash produced were no worse than those which exist to-day, or which still threaten this hapless country. The people of the country in those times had nothing like as much to pay for every necessary of life as they have to pay at present, and if they got small prices for their fish or for their farm produce, they came out of the transaction every year a great deal better than they can with conditions as they are to-day. The Liberal-Reform Party because of its incompetence and mismanagement has, in a few short months, brought this country down from the heights of prosperity to the very depths of adversity. Go where you will, in the city or in the outports, you find the same conditions existing. The people are impoverished and see nothing before them except misery and discomfort. Friends of the Government are rolling in riches, taking big salaries and getting all sorts of money "on the side," but the taxpayers are brought to the very verge of beggary. Take the tradesmen of St. John's, for instance. Never in modern years has there been such unemployment and hard times as the past fall and the present winter. Last week deputations from the various Unions and Labor organizations waited upon the Municipal Council in St. John's asking that work be given the needy unemployed in clearing snow from the streets, and the people looking for this work are men who a few months ago were prosperous, happy, contented tradesmen, mechanics and well-paid workers in every line. If the mechanics are in this unfortunate position the Longshoremen and others are even worse off; and, although this is the worst winter in history, with coal twenty dollars a ton, flour fifteen dollars a barrel, and sugar twenty-five cents a pound, the distress and hard times in St. John's help to cause distress and hard times in the outports. The people of St. John's cannot buy from the people of Harbor Main all the articles that these have to sell, such as potatoes, and other vegetables, meat, splits, wood, and every other requisite out of which the men of the different settlements of Harbor Main District were able to make their living, or, if the people of St. John's manage to buy at all they can only buy at a much reduced price, and consequently the people of Harbor Main District have to cut down the amount they ask for all of these different articles. Proof of this has been given the past few months in the way that the prices of potatoes, meat and other things have had to be cut because of the hard times in St. John's which have been directly brought about by the mismanagement of the men now in power and the extravagance of the present Government.

But, bad as conditions are to-day, the thing which the people of Harbor Main, as well as of every other District of the country have to face, is the fear that things will go very much worse the next few months as a result of the commercial collapse brought about by the blundering stupidity of the Government in relation to our fisheries. After attempting to enforce the crazy policy now known as the "Fishery Regulations" the Government were compelled, at the end of the year, to abandon these in regard to Italy and Greece, and last week the fish exporters decided to call upon the Government to abandon them so far as Portugal was concerned. The Fish Exporters only took this step because they were convinced, by the utter hopelessness of Coaker's scheme that the situation had gone beyond recall, and that the sooner they cut loose from all regulations and got back to regular methods of business the better, if indeed they had not waited too long and left the country in a condition of commercial paralysis. The most direct result of the fisheries has been to leave the country to-day with more fish of last year's catch in St. John's and the outports, unsold and with little or no prospect of sale, than ever before in its history. To-day the stores of the merchants are filled with fish which ought to have been sold in the foreign markets months ago. It is doubtful if much of this fish can be sold now, because in another month or two the Norwegian catch of the present winter will be ready for sale, and after that there will be British, French, Icelandic and other fish offered to our customers in Southern Europe. This means that conditions will be worse in this country during the next few months than at any time the past twenty years, and the people of Harbor Main are going to share in the distress and depression which that condition of things will bring with it. The people of Harbor Main will consequently be showing sound judgment if, in the pending election they line up as one man against the Government and administer these corrupt politicians a well-deserved check by voting for the Opposition candidates.

DR. JONES AND CAPT. LEWIS, Curlers' Charity.

A VERY SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR. The Charity Sports held yesterday by the St. John's Curling Association was a great success, the amount raised on behalf of the city poor exceeding all expectations, and the total now on hand has doubled all previous records in the history of the Curlers, and every credit is due to the committee for their splendid efforts. Beginning at 9 a.m., the rinks were occupied all through the day, and the different games were well contested, and were thoroughly enjoyed by the large numbers who attended. His Excellency the Governor and suite visited the rink at 11 a.m., and showed great interest in the games. He was so pleased that he returned at 4 p.m., and was made feel at home by the members of the Association. The ladies were kept busy all through the day, and early in the evening the teas were sold out, and the proceeds were reluctantly refused admittance to the tea tables. The Methodist Guards' Band was present during the morning and rendered a number of excellent selections, which were highly appreciated. The C.L.B. Band attended during the afternoon, and gave their usual high class renditions. In the evening the C.C.C. Band assisted the Curlers, and remained till the closing hour, giving a first class rendition of all the latest musical selections. The auction was the biggest event of the day, and the proceeds of the committee. Auctioneer O'Driscoll very quickly disposed of the large assortment of goods that was for sale, and with brisk bidding the sum of $1800.00 was realized. The Curlers have worked hard during the past month to make Charity Day a success, and yesterday's record results has been their reward. To President Higgins and his energetic committee congratulations are extended for their splendid work on behalf of charity. A meeting of the committee in charge of Charity Day, will be held during the week, when all matters will be finalized. The total amount realized (including the auction) will be in the vicinity of $3,000, the largest on record.

Died Suddenly.

Mr. William Green, of Jackson and Green grocers, died suddenly at his residence, Freshwater Road, at 8.30 o'clock last night. Mr. Green had been engaged shovelling a path from his stable to Freshwater Road during the day and at 5 p.m. visited his store where he remained for an hour serving customers. He returned home soon after six o'clock and half an hour later partook of supper. About 7.30 deceased was suddenly seized with vomiting and severe internal pains and asked his wife, who was present in the dining room, to hurry for a Priest and Doctor as he feared he was dying. Both were summoned, Dr. Roberts arriving a few minutes after the vital spark had fled and Rev. Dr. Carter a minute or so later. Deceased who was a native of Placentia, was widely known in the city, where he has resided for upwards of twenty years.

Ready for the Ice.

The aeroplane which will be used at the icefields for the purpose of locating the main patch of white-coats, is now being rapidly put in readiness for its trip, and will probably take a flight to St. Anthony with mail from Botwood about March 1st. The plane which is fitted with a powerful wireless apparatus, will, when it leaves for the icefields, carry a supply of foodstuffs sufficient to maintain its crew for some weeks. The ice navigator will be Capt. S. H. Winsor.

Girl Students Play Exciting Hockey.

M.C. DEFEAT SPENCERIAN. Before many admiring fans the girls of the Methodist College defeated the Bishop Spencer team by a score of 4 goals to 1 in the Prince's rink last night. The game was a most fascinating one and the spectators were kept in a state of perpetual excitement. The score of the game was 4-1. The girls were British, French, Icelandic and other fish offered to our customers in Southern Europe. This means that conditions will be worse in this country during the next few months than at any time the past twenty years, and the people of Harbor Main are going to share in the distress and depression which that condition of things will bring with it. The people of Harbor Main will consequently be showing sound judgment if, in the pending election they line up as one man against the Government and administer these corrupt politicians a well-deserved check by voting for the Opposition candidates.

Hockey Notes.

Up to press hour we were unable to find out whether to-night's game between the Terra Novas and St. Bon's would be postponed or not. It is said that the ice is very soft but no definite information could be obtained. The St. Bon's Terras game will be the last for the season unless, of course, the League will play the extra round for which the Rink Directors will provide a special cup. Callahan will not be able to play for St. Bon's in their next game. A game between the Commercial Cable Company and the Post Office is scheduled for 11 a.m. to-morrow. Judging from the games put up by these teams last year, to-morrow's ought to be a good exhibition. C. Cable Co. G. P. O. Channing H. Raines Defence H. Sinnott G. Spares H. Clarke H. H. Train Notes.

The incoming local express, which has been nearly a week out from Port aux Basques, was at Arnold's Cove this morning. It is being prepared by a rotary. A train from Carbonear was due here this morning. The Heart's Content branch is again open, but passengers who left by this morning's train did not connect. A rotary left town this morning to attempt to clear the Placentia branch line. The Bay de Verde and Trepassay lines are closed. A mixed train went out to Carbonear at 6 p.m. yesterday. The regular morning train left for Carbonear at 8.45 a.m. to-day. A mixed train leaves here for points as far as Millerton Junction this afternoon. It was raining down as far as Holyrood this morning and the storm is coming this way.

Store Robbed.

Thieves Enter New Gower St. Shop. Early yesterday morning, an entrance was forced to the store of J. Noah, New Gower Street, and a large quantity of watches and other jewelry stolen, as was also some small furniture. The police have been notified and will probably round up the perpetrators soon.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Feb. 24, '21. The taste for Chlorate of Potash Tooth Paste is not merely a fad; there is a scientific psychological reason why dentifices containing this popular Chlorate of Potash is an effective astringent, cures ulceration of the mouth, tongue and gums, and tends to place and keep the mucous membrane in first rate condition; it has also been found to be a good cleanser and whitener of the teeth. Properly combined in a tooth paste with antiseptics, aromatics and sweetening agents, it has all the qualities of a perfect dentifrice. One of the finest of these Chlorate Tooth Pastes is Tepeco, an all Canadian preparation, and one which we believe will give the fullest satisfaction. Price 50c. a tube.

Annual Carnival at Parade Rink to-night.

Has Made Many Friends.

Major Gallaher Salvation Army, who is delayed in the city owing to the difficulties of railway connection will tonight conduct a meeting at No. 1 Citadel New Gower Street. Probably this will be the Major's last meeting in the city for some time, and Salvationists and their friends may be expected to gather in full force. The Major has made many friends in St. John's; that he will make many more in the outports when cleared rails permit of travelling—is certain.

Broken Faith.

FLOWERS BLOOMING.—Notwithstanding the troublous times in Ireland, the Freeman's Journal of the 22nd inst., says that buttercups and primroses are now in bloom in Wexford and the other Southern Counties. "In Flanders' fields the poppies blow," O'er those who here and there have fallen, To save the world from overthrow, Their torch is quenched, whose souls with God are, The night of tyranny, That Liberty and Nationhood, From trammels forged by malice, should Forever flourish free. The buttercups and primroses On Wexford's hills are fair; But, ah, they cannot hide, alas, The crimes committed there— In England's name— To England's shame— Our Empire's despair! Primroses by the hedges seen Are spotted red with blood, I ween, Aye, hushed blood, of that we know Which dyes the soil, where poppies grow 'Bove hero hearts that sleep below.' In Flanders' fields, DAN CARROLL.

The Bell Island Tragedy.

MISSING MAN NOT YET FOUND. No sign has yet been seen of the man Squires who was reported missing from his home at Bell Island since the 19th inst. According to the report received by the Inspector General, Squires left his home at 1.30 p.m. on the day in question, in company with Kenneth Butler and J. Hodnot, and went off on the ice at No. 6 slope. After getting out on the ice he left the others and went east. When he was about a mile away from them he returned to land for a piece of rope, and having got it, he went out again to pick up a bird he had killed. The others were near the shore at the time and hearing the ice crack, they landed at once. Squires was at this time about two miles below the east end of the Island. He started for the shore and when he got in he shouted to the others to catch the rope. There was about 100 yards of shore ice, and between it and the moving ice there was a channel of nearly five feet. Hodnot started towards Squires, but when he had covered half the distance Squires left the place where he had been and started off in a westerly direction. Hodnot shouted to him but he paid no heed and went on his way. Hodnot followed as far as he could and then returned. He got up on the bank below Freshwater and followed as far as No. 1 slope. He did not see Squires after getting on higher ground but heard him shouting and firing, the sounds appearing to come from the direction of No. 6 slope. Hodnot subsequently went home and reported Squires as missing. Search parties immediately set out, lining the cliffs and places where they could get to the shore. They watched all night but could see no sign of the missing man, the ice having moved off considerably in the meantime. On the following day a search party in a boat went over near the ice but not a trace of him could be seen. Squires was in the survey office of the D. I. S. Co. and was also a member of the C. L. B. Band of Bell Island. He was 25 years of age and married.

TOO MANY COOKS spoil the broth, but two Professors, working in harmony, have made a magnificent success of the "Prince of Plisen." Tickets at Royal Stationery Co. SLOB ICE.—Messages to the Minister of Shipping received yesterday report a solid jam of slob ice as far as can be seen. NO STORM SIGNAL is hoisted to foretell the row between Tom Wagner and the Prince of Plisen which occurs in the first act, but they fight so madly that Gus Neary has to arrest 'em. FRESH AIR FADDISTS can find no fault with "The Message of the Violets" or "Song Havana" in the "Prince of Plisen." Those airs are pure and fresh as the breath of heaven. DONT LISTEN.—If you've sworn off smoking for Lent, go out in the Lobby when Cabot Fitzgerald begins his "Smoking" song, or you'll topple right off your Lenten smoke stack. Every one who buys a copy of the "Battle of the Scribes" helps the St. George's Society, and every English man and woman or their descendants buy one and help out the Society in funds.—11

LAUGHING IN CHURCH.—Recollections of the humorous "stunts" in the "Prince of Plisen" will make you laugh right out in church. Better not think about them.

ROUND HIM UP.—A well known gentleman who, to help along the Curriers' charity auction sale yesterday, purchased a pair of long trousers and several pairs of socks, had the articles stolen from him at the rink by some mean sneak, whom the police should locate.

Splendid Address at Wesley Church

On Tuesday night, at 8 o'clock, the Rev. W. B. Bugden, B.A., Pastor of Wesley Church, addressed the Young Men's Literary Class, taking as his subject, "The rights and duties of Citizenship." The Rev. gentleman opened his address by stating that, to become a citizen, carried with it certain rights, such as the right of protection by law against slander, character, property, etc., also certain duties, such as obedience to the law, and aiding in carrying out the law. Here the speaker cited the cigarette, prohibition, and other such laws, pointing out that it is the duty of every citizen to see that they are properly and rigidly enforced.

The speaker then went on to show how far each citizen is responsible for the laws of his country, stating that "he who stands aloof while the laws of his country are being violated, is guilty as the violator." Referring to the moral conditions of the city the speaker quoted several cases that had come under his notice, which proved conclusively, that the need was never so great for citizens to realize their duties as citizens. In concluding his address Mr. Bugden made a strong appeal to the young men present to realize their duties as citizens and govern themselves accordingly. The address was well taken, and at the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker for his most helpful and instructive discourse. A.E.P.

Children's Carnival.

WILL TAKE PLACE SATURDAY.
 On Saturday afternoon the annual Children's Carnival will be held at the Prince's Rink. His preparations are being made, and as quite a lot of pains are taken and originality displayed in the costumes as a rule, it is expected that this year's carnival will at least, equal any of former years. A special committee of three ladies and three gentlemen will award the prizes which are being offered. The orchestra will be in attendance and everybody is anticipating an enjoyable afternoon.

The Prince of Pilsen.

Yesterday, two performances of the "Prince of Pilsen" were given, both being well attended. The production improves at every performance and the proof of the manner in which it is appreciated lies in the length of the run, the large audiences obtained at each performance, and the number of people who have gone to see it twice or even oftener. There will be three more performances and as the proceeds will benefit the city orphans, everybody should make an effort to attend.

Obituary.

 Yesterday morning, at 5 o'clock, Mrs. Elizabeth Rixon Carnell, widow of the late John T. Carnell, passed away at the age of 76 years. The end came after an illness of three days. It was not till last Sunday that Mrs. Carnell was taken ill. She was a daughter of the late J. W. McCoubrey, Editor of the Times, and leaves five sons to mourn their irreparable loss. Edward, Director of Edgar Abbott & Co., Chicago; Andrew of the Carnell Carriage Factory, St. John's; Hugh, of the Syme Eagle Co., Chicago; Frank, accountant in the Royal Stores Ltd., St. John's, and Dr. Arthur of this city. To these and the many friends of Mrs. Carnell and her family the Telegram extends sympathy.

MARY J. J. DUNN.

There passed away, at her home, Mullock Street, yesterday afternoon, after a long illness, a well known lady of the East End, in the person of Mrs. Wm. Dunn, wife of Fire Chief Dunn. Harbor Grace Notes.

An apology from your correspondent for not being on the job, so to speak, within the last week or so, is hardly necessary, seeing that it is the first time we have had a day from the city since Saturday, the 20th. The very heavy storm of the 18th, which lasted for many days, was the heaviest seen here in many years, and the old standers say that the snow banks were higher in their experience; Street Street, as well as other places, being in a street, and the drifts being in some of the houses, and the streets seemed to be the worst of the storm, and business in the city was practically suspended. The snow on the harbor on route to the city, spent almost two days at the "harbor," and the snow for quite a distance was 15 and 20 feet deep. In this time, no doubt, she has had the city. The one arriving at St. John's this afternoon, was a very welcome visitor; she brought a large mail with her. We were beginning to feel that our capital was some remote part of the world, and that we were isolated somewhat.

The storm of Friday of the previous week was felt here pretty much, but so much as to believe a considerable amount of the Bay, had been closed up for nearly a week, and on account of the change of wind, became broken up, as far as the Bay of St. John's is concerned. The upper part of the harbor seems to be pretty solid and is being crossed by our South Side friends.

Mr. Charles Roseworthy, teller at the Bank of Nova Scotia here, has been transferred to St. John's office, and will leave tomorrow morning. He has been in charge of the bank for some time, and has been very successful in his work. He has been in charge of the bank for some time, and has been very successful in his work.

Through a message received in the last week, we learn of the passing of Mrs. J. Lacey, at the residence of her son, John, Somerville, Mass. Mrs. Lacey was 82 years of age, and was a very kind and generous person. She was a native of St. John's, and had lived in the city for many years.

(Before the Chief Justice.)
In the matter of the Companies Act, 1899, and Amending Acts.
In the matter of the Empire Woodworking, Ltd., and in the matter of the application of John Davey and the Eastern Trust Co., the liquidators of the above company, that the Court may direct what amount of remuneration shall be paid to the said John Davey and the Eastern Trust Co., as such liquidators, and in what proportion of such remuneration shall be distributed amongst them, and that Henry J. Crowe be appointed to represent the shareholders.

E. S. Piment for liquidators is heard in support of the motion; C. E. Hunt for Henry J. Crowe consents.
It is ordered that Henry J. Crowe be appointed to represent shareholders and that the matter be referred to the Registrar to take evidence and report as to the services rendered and what (if any) remuneration is payable to the liquidators.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Archibald and Miss Rose Archibald arrived by the s.s. Kyle in St. John's on Friday of last week, and came on here by Tuesday afternoon's train, after having spent an enjoyable visit to friends in the States and Canada.

Messrs. J. Savage and J. Curran, of Messrs. Harvey & Co., Ltd., St. John's, have been in town for the past couple of weeks, superintending the packing of Mr. E. Simmons' fish.

The harbor is now filled with ice, as far out as the Island; and if the frosty weather continues, it will be some time before it is open for navigation again.

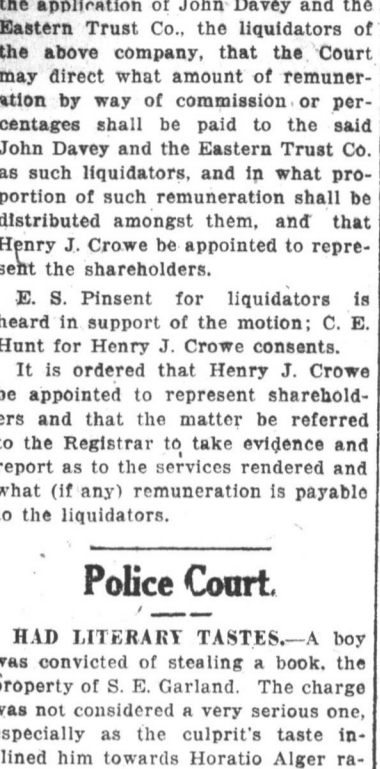

All were pleased to hear, through a message received in town yesterday that the schooner "Asquith," Captain Arthur Snelgrove, had reached Barbados. Much anxiety was felt over the whereabouts of this ship, as she had left for Sydney, N.S., and had not been reported for nearly thirty days. Her sturdy captain is a Harbor Grace man, and we wish him bon voyage back to the home port again in due time.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Shareholders of the Marine Railway Docks Co., Ltd., was held on Tuesday last, the 15th inst. The Company has had a very successful year, a dividend of 10 per cent. being declared. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, only a small number were present. The Directorate for the coming year was appointed, and is as follows: Messrs. Robert Duff (Chairman), President; John Tracy, Vice-President and Managing Director; and E. Simmons, Secretary-Treasurer; being the same as last year.

Hon. F. McNamara, of St. John's, and Mr. C. A. Jerrett, of Brigus, arrived in town by Tuesday afternoon's train to attend the adjourned meeting of the Marine Railway Docks Co., Ltd., and have been detained here since then owing to no trains being able to get through.

Embroidered serge, duvetyne, broadcloth, velvet, gabardine, and satin could be used for this style. A 38 inch size will require 4 3/4 yards of 44 inch material.

Police Court.

HAD LITERARY TASTES.—A boy was convicted of stealing a book, the property of S. E. Garland. The charge was not considered a very serious one, especially as the culprit's taste inclined him towards Horatio Alger rather than Deadwood Dick, and he was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

GETS THREE MONTHS.—A well-known character in police circles was charged with being a loose and disorderly person. He was sent down for three months.

Still in Port.

S. S. Senef, which was loaded last week with provisions for points in Bay de Verde and Trinity, is still in port waiting for the ice to move off. The provisions are badly needed as the people in these districts had depended on getting their usual supplies by train. The trains are all blocked, and the Government Railway Commission is apparently helpless to improve matters.

The fleet of tin ships, of which the Senef is one, purchased at an enormous expense for coastal service, is absolutely useless under present conditions.

Reported Wreck.

S. S. Kyle reported to the Minister of Shipping that when leaving the port of St. John's she passed a submerged wreck with one spar five feet out of water, situated in the Narrows, exactly in line with leading lights. The wreck is supposed to be that of the Elizabeth Fearn and is a danger to shipping.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

MORE SHINING PEBBLES.

I was asking the father of four youngsters a day or two after Christmas if he hadn't had a wonderful Christmas with his brood.

His face lit up for a minute, and then he looked thoughtful. "There isn't anything on earth more wonderful than seeing a little youngster, not more than five or six, when he sees his tree," he said. "My two youngest! Say, I wish you could have seen their faces Christmas morning. But with the older kids—well, I don't know."

(His two oldest are a boy 12 and a girl 10.)

"Oh, they like it," he went on, "but in a different way. They're thinking about what they're going to get, and comparing it with what the other kids in the neighborhood get, and wanting to outshine them. They aren't like the little kids, delighted with anything, and they haven't learned sense like grown-ups. I don't know what to think of them sometimes."

Gifts to Create Envy.

I don't think there is anything to think about except that they are ordinary human beings at an age when they don't disguise their feelings.

Gifts have come to mean to them not just things to play with, but something to show off, to create envy with, to surpass others with. Their father says they haven't learned sense like grown-ups. Are grown-ups any different? Isn't it the same from childhood to the chimney corner?

Once upon a time I was sitting on a beach with a group of children. Two of them rushed up to me and showed me handfuls of gay colored pebbles. "I've got more shining pebbles than he has," said one. "No, he hasn't," said the other. "Anyway, I'll get more," and he rushed off to scramble madly about, looking for more.

Helped Give Us Civilization.

I suppose it has its uses, as all human instincts have. The Author-nian claims that we should not have our vast and wonderful civilization without this love of luxury and ostentation to drive men on to work and risk as they would not otherwise work or risk, and thus benefit the rest of the human race as well as themselves. I am not so sure. We would not be better off without quite so much civilization. The Author-nian asks me where I would draw the line, and we launch on an argument in which neither ever convinces the other.

But whatever the usage of this instinct, there is no question but what it also does infinite harm—and no doubt but what to try to want things only because of the actual gratification or use we can get out of them ourselves and not because others have them, is an ideal we ought all to strive toward.

THE SOREHEAD.

For years I used to buy my prunes and cheese and eggs; I went ten thousand times, or more, and wore a path around his store. I could recall, and every nail-head in the wall. And when each month of trade was done, I always paid him hand made money, and never said "Please, check it down until my goat comes back to town." Then, for a change, I bought my goods, my prunes and cheese, at Grocer Wood's. I thought I'd trade for a while, since change of base is all the style, and then return to Gregg's once more as in the festive days of yore. But meeting Gregg upon the street, and giving him a freezing sweat, he handed me a frozen stare, as roughly as a grizzly bear. Oh, he was sore and full of bile because I left him for a while; he seemed to think he owned my soul and had a mortgage on my roll. The good old years will roll away, and whiskers will change to gray, and dynamos will rise and burst and bow-wows turn to wicker-wurst before I go to Gregg's again to blow my hard-earned iron men. The merchants in this world of ours should always speak their thoughts with flowers; if they express their thoughts with bricks they drive off patrons by such tricks.

PATENT THAT MADE £2,500,000 SOLD FOR £20.

The inventor of the glass ball in the soda-water bottle was unable for years to sell his patent, and finally was forced to give it away for £20. The purchaser made £2,500,000 out of it. This revelation was made by Mr. Godfrey Cheseman, secretary of the National Union of Manufacturers, at the first meeting of the newly incorporated Institute of Patentees. Mr. Cheseman also told of another man—the inventor of the screw-topper who received practically nothing for his invention, while the purchaser made a fortune. "Inventors are continually exploited," he said, "and rich men among them are extremely rare. An invaluable invention has been recently made for the telephone, but the inventor could not dispose of the patent in this country, and it went to the United States."

WHY PORT HOPE LADY PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Miss May Luckey Tells of Her Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills and Why She Recommends Them to Her Friends.

Trinity College, Port Hope, Feb. 23rd. (Special)—Dodd's Kidney Pills have helped me wonderfully. So says Miss May Luckey of this place. "For a long time I was troubled with pimples and blotches on my face," Miss Luckey goes on to state. "They were very bad and I did not know what to do."

"Then a lady friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. After using six boxes the blotches and pimples have vanished. I wish to recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everyone who suffers with the same disease."

Pimples and blotches are caused by impure blood. The natural way to treat them is to put the kidneys in condition to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They have been in use in Canada for over thirty years and have made an enviable reputation in the treatment of such diseases as pain in the back, dropsy, urinary troubles, diabetes and heart disease.

If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills for kidney troubles ask your neighbors about them.

The Banks of Newfoundland.

Dear Skipper.—Seeing that the "Log Book" wanted the enclosed story, my husband, an old seaman, calls to mind all he can remember of the words, but it is nearly 50 years ago since he sang it. Perhaps, however, this will help someone else to find the missing lines, as he thinks there are at least two more verses. Being old readers of the "Weekly Post" we all always watch the "Log Book."

Oh! come all you roving heroes, and sporting blades beware. When you jump on board a packet ship no dungaree jumpers wear. But always have good monkey jackets for your own command.

For it's think of cold nor-westers on the Banks of Newfoundland.

Oh! there was Paddy Flynn and Nick McGinn and also Mick O'Moore. For these poor, wretched mariners did suffer in Marybone.

(Words forgotten here.) They spent their money right out of hand. Not thinking of the cold nor-westers on the Banks of Newfoundland.

Oh! the starboard watch they came on in and the port watch went below. The starboard watch were called up when they should have shovelled the snow. (The remaining part of this verse forgotten.)

Oh! there was a girl on board that ship, Maggie O'Connor was her name. Unto her I had promised marriage, for on me she had a claim. She took off all her petticoat to make mittens for my hands.

For I cannot see my true love perish on the Banks of Newfoundland.

Oh! I had a dream, a happy dream. I dreamt that I was home. Alongside of my own true love, and she in Marybone.

A jug of ale on my knee, a glass of ale in my hand. But when I woke my heart was broke on the Banks of Newfoundland.

I am sure you will agree with me that it is extremely good of Mrs. Bell to go to so much trouble for us, and we hope somebody else will be able to do as she wishes—supply the remaining words which her husband could not recollect. ## Huge Revenue From Liquor.

Mr. H. B. Thomson Estimates Annual Profits Under Government Control. (Daily Colonist, Victoria, B.C.)

"That Government control and sale of liquor, if properly managed, should result in a substantial tax relief in British Columbia, amounting to possibly as much as $8,000,000 yearly, is the belief of Mr. H. B. Thomson, former Food Controller."

Mr. Thomson, in stating his views to The Colonist, predicted that the job of effectively administering the liquor business would soon be recognized as the heaviest confronting the Government, and declared that the appointment of a Cabinet Minister whose sole duty would be the administration of liquor control affairs, would be essential to the efficient handling of the problem.

Mr. Thomson made these statements when asked for his opinion of the proposal of some British Columbia salmon packers that the Government assist them in the sale of 750,000 cases of salmon by using the purchasing power afforded by the sales of liquor.

"I have not gone into the present season's situation as regards the disposal of the British Columbia salmon packers' pack, but quite appreciate the difficulties in which they find themselves," said Mr. Thomson. "Any way the Government could assist them to dispose of their product, which circulates so much money every year in the country, would strongly appeal to everyone, because if we cannot get the money back into the Province for our products, there will be very little to circulate and pay out in wages."

Mr. Thomson was asked what he considered would be the purchasing power in money that the control and handling of the liquor trade would give the Government.

"That is a difficult question," he replied. "The control of liquor will be a monopoly, and prices and profits may be fixed to yield almost any revenue. The Government, while taking care to make a good round profit, would have to guard against class legislation which would have the effect of allowing the rich to enjoy what the poor could not buy."

Turnover of $30,000,000.

"Taking into consideration the requirements and the vast possibilities of expansion, it would be fair to estimate a turnover of about $30,000,000 a year, and this should yield a net profit to the treasury of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 annually."

"If the business were economically and well handled, as I have no doubt it will be, it should have the result of cutting the individual taxpayer's burden in half, and leave a sufficient amount to provide adequate funds for the maintenance of roads and hospitals and similar institutions," continued Mr. Thomson. "This can be ascertained by ascertaining our normal revenue from lands, minerals, timber and other basic sources and

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT. AIR.

Beats Electric or Gas.

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor T. W. Johnson, 246 Craig St., West Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

only taking into account the individual taxpayer's contribution."

Asked if taxes were likely to increase, Mr. Thomson pointed out that the world was now passing through an era of reconstruction, accompanied by conditions entirely different from the old order of things, and he quoted some figures to show some of the vast fiscal changes that have taken place within the past few years.

Demands are Greater.

"The demands on our governments," he said, "are far greater than they were before the war, and the money must be found somewhere. Few people know that the burden of Canada, as far as the Dominion is concerned, exclusive of all Provincial and municipal indebtedness, is now more than twice the burden borne by the 105,000,000 people of the United States in the late war period. The exact figures are most interesting. Canada's federal debt in 1914 totalled $44,391,000. In 1920 it had climbed as high as $2,276,000,000. The United States debt in 1914 was only $1,028,564,000. Last year it was $24,062,510,000."

"The people as a whole must realize the stupendous responsibility of burdens of this kind and must come from. The loss in revenue to the United States during last year on account of prohibition is stated at $1,000,000,000, made up of lost revenue and cost of enforcement. The bootleggers and moonshiners are now getting the money which should go to aid the taxpayers. From January 16 to November 20, 1920, United States officials seized 21,826 stills, and still worms, and 50,468 breweries and fermenters."

Referring to the possibilities of developing the liquor business, Mr. Thomson stated that a large income could be expected as a result of the money expended in British Columbia by visitors and residents, the majority of whom being from the United States and other arid spots.

Can't Stop All Rum-Running.

"One would be foolish to overlook the great quantity of liquor which will cross the line," said Mr. Thomson. "It will be humanly impossible to prevent illegal shipments out of the Province. When you consider that a bottle of good Scotch whisky, which normally cost $1.50, can be sold in many places in the United States for $40, which plus exchange, would bring the price up to $45, the bait is far too alluring to be resisted by those on the lookout for easy money and aren't particular about their methods of getting it."

"When all is considered, the handling of the liquor business will be found the heaviest administrative job the Government has, and it should be taken in hand by a Cabinet Minister with no other demands on his time or thought. This point cannot be emphasized too strongly, because the success or failure of the Government control plan will mean so much to the people of the Province, and the relief from taxation will be so great if the task is properly managed."

Just Folks

DOING THINGS WORTH WHILE. This is doing things worth while—Meeting people with a smile, Being cheerful, keeping true, Doing what you find to do, Planting roses at your gate, Walking head-erect and straight, Being helpful when you can, To a troubled fellow-man.

You don't need the stamp of fame Or its lustre on your name To be truly useful here; You can serve in any sphere, Be it high or humble post; Serving where you're needed most, You can always play the friend, Staunch and faithful to the end.

If the old red, white and blue Has a loyal friend in you, If the ones who know you best Find you faithful to the test, If within the home you keep There is little cause to weep, If you help the world to smile, You are doing things worth while.

Sun Nearest in Winter.

It may seem incredible, but it is the fact nevertheless that we are about three million miles nearer to the sun early in January than we are at midsummer. The respective distances, to be exact, are 91,245,000 miles in January, and 94,450,000 miles at the end of June or the beginning of July.

Why, then, is it not warmer in winter than in summer? Simply because our part of the earth is tilted from the sun in winter, thus giving us long dark nights. Another strong reason is that during the winter days the sunlight falls on our region of the globe at such a sloping angle as to give very little heat.

To the casual observer the sun always looks the same size when it has risen well above the haze which clings about the horizon. The instruments of the astronomers, however, clearly show how much bigger it is in winter than in summer.

If the earth's annual path were a perfectly circular one we would be, of course, always at the same distance from our luminary, but as it is not circular we are either constantly getting farther away from or nearer to the sun.

Another interesting fact is that the nearer we are the faster we move. Our average speed round the sun is 18 1/2 miles per second, and in that brief time the earth departs from a straight line by only the one-ninth part of an inch.

The Rev. Dr. W. T. Money goes up and down, like everything else, and a dollar is worth just what it will buy."

Suppose we translate the dollars into what they would buy. Suppose we take a standard article of food, whose nourishment value is well

Be Careful How You Turn.

An ancient belief exists in the virtues of dancing or turning round in the direction of the sun. Sun-dancers are still held in Mexico, Chile, and Spain, in which the turns of the dance are arranged astronomically and the movements of the heavenly bodies are followed in the dance both as to time and direction.

We are 'taught not to stir a pot the wrong way or the sugar in our tea; while mayonnaise sauce would be ruined if stirred one way and then the other.

A story is told of some Scottish boatmen who considered it unlucky to start on a voyage, however short, unless they turned their craft round three times with the sun.

It may be asked why once or twice would not have answered just as well. The number three, however, is one upon which the superstitious set great store. Some of the ancients regarded it as the perfect number, for it represented the beginning, the middle, and the end; it was the Trinity.

So round went the canny Scot's boat three times with the sun.

Fate's Grim Jest.
 The strange tricks Fate plays with the lives of men is illustrated by the recent case of a diver who met his death through drowning in an ordinary bath.

The incident calls to mind the case of a sword-swallower who used to perform outside publichouses, thrusting a formidable blade several feet long down his throat as often as his admiring audience required him to do so. Yet this redoubtable steed died from suffocation as a result of swallowing a small fish-bone.

There is an account of a Spanish bull-fighter who had earned considerable repute in one quarter of Spain only to receive a fatal kick from a young steer on the farm of one of his friends.

A similarly unlucky end was that of a circus performer whose particular feat was to plunge into a pond, chained and manacled, and liberate himself before appearing on the surface. While taking a bathe one evening this performer took a dive into a river and, becoming entangled in some weeds, lost his life.

The Sacred Carpet.
 This year over nine thousand Indian troops, provided with free passages by the British Government, have visited Mecca as pilgrims.

It is the life desire of every Mohammedan to journey to the holy city of Mecca. And in preparation for this pilgrimage he spends many years making his own praying carpet. This carpet he eventually leaves behind in Mecca, which now contains millions of carpets left by pilgrims.

Green is the sacred color of the Mohammedan; therefore, his mission over, he wears a green turban, to show the world he has been to Mecca.

The world's riches could not buy one carpet which is borne to Mecca every year with much pomp and ceremony. It is the sacred carpet of the Mohammedans, a thick, black pile carefully woven by the most expert weavers, and large enough to cover any of our public buildings.

A fresh sacred carpet is woven every year, and the one it replaces is carefully put away and preserved.

Once a year the sacred carpet travels by train from Cairo to Suez with a strong retinue of soldiers, pilgrims and priests. It crosses the Red Sea in a boat, then an imposing camel caravan escorts it over the Arabian desert to Mecca. At the tail of the great procession walk seven priests, five playing flutes and two beating drums.

At Mecca the holy carpet covers the Kaabah, the sacred black stone from which Mohammed rose to heaven on his great horse, Alborak.
