The Imprisoned Heiress
—OR—
The Spectre of Egremont.

CHAPTER XXVI

The blood spurted up from the wound he made, but he had not time to repeat it for the earl sprang up and confronted him, regarding him with fear and horror.

As the intruder recognized the man he had injured, he uttered a hoarse cry of dismay, and darted toward the door.

But the earl was determined that he should not escape.

Uttering a shriek that rang shrilly through the corridor, he sprang after the intended assassin, clutching his coat.

The man immediately turned at bay.

"Let me go," he said, menacingly in husky tones. "I tell you I'll kill you if you detain me."

He enforced his words with a stroke of his dagger that took effect in the earl's side, and caused him to relax his grasp and fall back in a chair.

The assassin again turned to flee.

But he was not soon enough. Lord Ashcroft, returning from his sister's room, and hearing Lord Egremont shriek, came in time to cut off his retreat.

The man tried to get past him, but sur hero, comprehending the situation at a glance, barred his progress in that direction, and put himself on the defensive, while the wounded earl pulled the bell-cord with strength born of frenzy.

The intruder seemed bewildered for a moment, and then he rushed upon Lord Ashcroft, endeavoring to stab him.

A fearful conflict ensued.

The sound of hurrying feet came from the corridors; the Lady Lorean's shrieks rang through the house, and at these signs of general confusion and coming rescue the masked intruder uttered a yell of despair.

The next moment the family and servants came pouring into the room.

Lady Egremont and Alexina were among the foremost, and both nearly fainted at the sight of the desperate assassin.

Seeing the danger, as the men-servants began to form a cordon around him, and as Lord Ashcroft retreated before him, the would-be murderer uttered another yell, so full of horror that it almost curdled the blood of the listeners, and then he dashed toward the window.

Before his purpose had been fairly divined he had plunged through the heavy glass, and precipitated himself upon the lawn below.

"After him!" said the earl, whose wounds had not been remarked. "Bring him up here, and unmask him in my presence."

Half a dozen servants rushed out to obey the command.

"Come here, Evelyn," then said the earl. "The fellow has nearly killed me. If I had only a doctor!"

The Heir to Beecham Park

CHAPTER I

"Din-din," said the child, nodding her head with its wealth of red-gold curls. "Mamie 'ungry. Mamie a din-din, too?"

The lady shivered.

"Yes, mamie will go to a pretty place, too," she answered hurriedly.

When they reached the cab, the doctor came up to them.

"If you will allow me to suggest, 'The Plow,' is the best hotel. I would come with you, but I must drive straight to the infirmary. Give me the child for a moment while you get in. She has lost her hat, poor little thing; but the town is not far off, and the best place for her will be in bed."

Mamie went willingly to the doctor's arms. She prattled to him about

"Back was Very Painful I am now Well Again"

Mrs. Wm. Walker, Webbwood, Ont., writes:

"I was sick for several months with my stomach, I had pains in the back, and how I used to dread wash day, for my back would pain so that I couldn't lie down when night came. I also had gas on my stomach, and my appetite was so poor that sometimes I did not care whether I ate or not. The doctor gave me medicine, of which I took a number of bottles without benefit. At last I started to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and although I have only used three boxes, I am quite well again."

the "din-din" and "mamie," but much was unintelligible to him. She did not ask for her mother or seem strange. "Mamie a seep," she asserted several times, in a whisper; and she was content with the two kind belings whose hearts were heavy with pain as they thought of the long, dreary path she must tread henceforth without a touch from the loving hands or a word from the tender voice she knew so well.

"There, madam," and the doctor placed the small, gray-clad form in the cab. "This poor little mite cannot thank you herself; but, if you will allow me, in humanity's name to offer you gratitude."

The lady stopped him.

"I have done no more than my duty. I thank you, sir, for your courtesy. Will you kindly let me know as early as possible the results of your telegram? I will go to the 'Plow'; my name is Graham."

"An mite Scott. I will certainly let you know the instant I receive any intelligence. Something must be done with this child; but that is for tomorrow's consideration. She is safe in your hands for to-night."

Dr. Scott raised his hat, and the cab started along the country lane toward Chesterham. Mrs. Graham drew Marie on to her knee, and tried to chat to the child; but her whole nervous system was so shattered by the events of the past hour that the effort was vain.

Chesterham was a large manufacturing town. The news of the collision had spread rapidly, and, although the November dusk was closing in, crowds were thronging to the scene of the disaster. Mrs. Graham leaned back in a corner to escape the eager eyes, for she knew the story of the young mother's death would be known by now, and her natural refinement and delicacy shrunk from vulgar curiosity and hysterical excitement. The cab soon rattled into Chesterham, and, after a short journey, through the lamp-lighted streets, stopped before the door of "The Plow." Marie was handed out to a pretty-faced chambermaid, whose bright cap ribbon immediately claimed the child's attention, and Mrs. Graham followed slowly and wearily up the stairs, feeling her strength go at every step. The babyish voice and shrill peals of laughter echoed in her ears as the fall of future grief; her eyes were fixed on the small form, but her thoughts were with the dead young mother.

She dismissed the maid when she reached her room, and, drawing Marie to her, began to loosen the gray coat, which bore traces of dainty design beneath the dust and dirt. For the first time the child seemed to feel her loss.

"Mamie undress Marie," she said, putting up one little hand. "Mamie seep now, but wake soon."

"Mamie would like Marie to take off her coat like a good girl," Mrs. Graham replied, feeling instinctively that the youthful mind grasped already the meaning of love and duty.

The child dropped her hand and nodded her head, then submitted to have the coat removed. She was neatly dressed in a dark-red cashmere frock, made loose like a blouse; she wore a tiny thread of gold round her neck, with a little heart-shaped pendant suspended. Mrs. Graham took it in her hand, eagerly hoping to find some clew; but, on turning it, her eyes rested on a miniature of the mother's lovely face.

"Marie's mamie," exclaimed the child, taking it and kissing it—"dear mamie!"—then, with infantile changeableness, she rushed with a little shriek to the door, where a kitten had just appeared, and with great delight picked up the downy little creature and caressed it.

The advent of dinner soon attracted her attention, and she prattled away merrily in her baby language while the dishes were carried in. Mrs. Graham forced herself to talk to the child, and tried to divert her mind from its gloomy thoughts by devoting herself to the task of tending the little one. She was not a young woman, and the events of the day had proved almost too much for her nervous system; but with true unselfishness she tried to forget her own troubles in ministering to the tiny atom of humanity thrown so cruelly upon the world's ocean, which may have no haven or port of love and affection to look to.

TIRED OUT ALL THE TIME
Nerves Gave Little Rest

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Harrowmuth, Ont.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would take weak, fainting spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, day or night. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to publish this good medicine. I had that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will serve to help others."—Mrs. HARVEY MILLIGAN, R. R. No. 2, Harrowmuth, Ontario.

"In a recent canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 100,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 said they had been helped by its use. This medicine is for sale by all druggists."

A Wise Discretion

It is said of Mr. Justice Avory that before he became a judge he defended more murderers than any other man living.

Naturally he knew a lot about criminals and their doings, and once when he was prosecuting a man on a charge of burglary the prisoner, incensed at something counsel had said regarding him, interjected angrily:

"Here, hold hard, gov'nor! You'll be accusing me of murder next."

Mr. Avory—as he then was—turned over a few papers which lay in front of him, and then, in his cold matter-of-fact manner, said:

"To which murder do you refer? I have here particulars of three in which you are alleged to have been concerned."

For the rest of the hearing the prisoner remained silent.

Swallowed a Screw

In an operation declared to be most unusual, a wood screw one and a half inches long was removed from one of the bronchial tubes of James McGinn, 18 months of age, Long Island.

The child had been suffering for days with what appeared to be broncho-pneumonia and was being treated by Dr. R. H. Shippey. Dr. Shippey yesterday decided there must be some irritating substance present and had an X-ray taken.

The screw disclosed, the operation was performed at Seaside Hospital by Dr. Albert Schurten and is apparently successful.

Just Pubs and Inhalers Vicks for All Colds

Mr. E. O'ford, No. 1 Plymouth Road, E., Obtains Excellent Results by Applying Vicks Vapo-Rub over Throat and Chest

Mr. O'ford writes: "I had a very bad cold and had several treatments from a doctor. I used a sample of Vicks Vapo-Rub, according to directions, and found it doing me some good. I secured a large pot from my druggist and in a week I was quite well again. I recommend Vicks to everyone."

For a great many years the medical profession realized the need for a more "direct" way to treat inflammation of the air passages commonly known as "colds." Medicines taken internally have to be first absorbed by the stomach and then pass into the blood.

A Chemist's Discovery.

Finally a chemist in the States found a way to combine Menthol, Camphor, Thyme, Eucalyptus, Juniper Tar, and other time tested remedies in ointment form so that, when rubbed over the throat or chest for sore throat, chest colds, bronchitis, or croup, the ingredients are vaporized by the body heat.

These vapors, passing up by the mouth and nose, are inhaled with each breath directly into the affected air passages, reducing the inflammation and breaking up the congestion. At the same time the ointment is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment.

This discovery was called Vicks Vapo-Rub. In Canada and the States it is so popular that over 17 million jars are used annually in the treatment of all forms of cold troubles.

Vicks is especially fine for children as it is "just rubbed on." There is no dosing.

Post Office Made to Run Itself

Three Important Services Given Without Anyone on Duty.

A miniature automatic post office, which will supply three important services without anyone having to be on duty, has been built for the G.P.O. and is to be seen in the courtyard at St. Martin's-le-Grand.

Little bigger than a telephone box, it contains a letter box, a telephone and automatic stamp machines. The letter box is built into the back of the kiosk-like construction, and above it are the stamp machines. At night it will be lit on the top by a lantern displaying the words "Post Office," "Stamps," and "Telephone."

It is to be sent to Bath, where it will act day and night as substitute for a sub-office which is to be closed for reconstruction.

"The idea is not likely to be generally adopted," a G.P.O. official told a "Daily Chronicle" representative yesterday. "The kiosk, which is 3 1/2 ft. by 3 1/2 ft., and about 9 ft. high, would take up too much space on the pavements to be really practicable."

"At present we have no intention of making any more, this one having been built for its special purpose at Bath. If it is a success we might consider its adoption in other places where an office has to be closed for repairs."

Canada's Net Debt Increased

Owing to the heavy interest payments on the public debt, the total net debt of Canada increased by $35,405,272 during the month of November. In the same month last year the increase in the net debt amounted to $27,816,530. Decreases in revenue from customs and excise were responsible for the increase in the amount which was added to the debt in the month just past, as compared with the November, 1923, figures. The net debt of Canada is now

$2,411,754,947. On November 30, 1923 it stood at $2,414,641,424.

The statement covering the eight-month period which has just closed shows a falling off in ordinary revenue of more than $39,000,000, when comparison is made with the figures for the eight months of the last fiscal year. Total ordinary revenue collected up to the end of November of the present year was $240,330,000. Last year these collections amounted to $279,743,989. The decrease in customs revenue during the eight months of this year, as compared with the eight-month period of 1923-24 was approximately $10,000,000, and excise taxes showed a decrease of nearly $30,000,000. Total customs revenue received up to November 30 of the present year was $72,964,622, and total excise tax collections were $55,588,248.

During the month of November alone, customs yielded $8,218,746, as compared with $9,534,482 in November, 1923, and excise tax collections amounted to $7,697,436, as against $11,327,747.

Total ordinary expenditure for the eight months elapsed was $208,871,732, as compared with $211,259,606 for the previous fiscal year.

POLICE SURPRISE COMMUNISTS.
ROME, Jan. 13. The police to-day surprised and arrested 33 Communists who, after a number of incendiary speeches, were christening and decorating a Red flag with the emblem of the hammer and sickle. The Communists had gathered in an old garage in the outskirts of Rome, placing sentinels around the building to prevent being surprised; the meeting had reached its climax when the wife of one of the Communists, Maria Piccioni, with a champagne bottle in one hand and a bouquet of flowers in the other, was about to christen the flag which bore the inscription "although struck by lightning the future is ours." At this moment a police officer followed by a squad of detectives, revolvers in hand, jumped in the garage shouting, "hands up in the name of the law, you are all under arrest." Signora Piccioni dropped the bouquet and the bottle of wine which was shattered on the floor. The police then seized the flag and handcuffed all present. The prisoners were loaded in motor trucks which conveyed them first to the central police station and then to the Regina Coeli Prison. Of those taken into custody, eleven were women. This morning the police seized a flag which had been planted on a pole in the Corso Vittoria Emmanuel. The flag bore the inscription "vivi l'anarchy."

PREMIER MUSSOLINI ATTACKS FREEMASONRY.
ROME, Jan. 12. Although the eagerly awaited session of the Chamber of Deputies proved a disappointment to the crowds of sensation seekers who crowded the galleries, the sitting to-day was not without importance in that it again saw Mussolini in the characteristic role of aggressor. Continuing to borrow a leaf from Marshal Foch's code of tactics, that the best offence is to attack, Mussolini presented a bill designed to deal a death blow to Freemasonry in Italy. The Bill provides that all secret societies and clubs must file with the police copies of their constitutions, by-laws, rules and regulations, as well as a complete list of the full names of their officers and members. Severe penalties are provided for failure to comply with these provisions. Although it was known that the Fascist Government contemplated such a measure for many months its presentation, nevertheless, induced a profound impression.

CHINESE SOLDIERS LOOT.
SHANGHAI, Jan. 12. Both victor and vanquished in yesterday's coup, by which Chai Hsiang Yaan, deposed Military Governor of this Province, regained control of Shanghai, united this morning in an orgy of looting. Soldiers ran wild through Nantao, the native city which adjoins on the south the French settlement here. Native merchants and householders in that region were today frantically removing possessions into protected foreign quarters.

LONDON SMOTHERED IN FOG.
LONDON, Jan. 12. The worst fog in many years smothered London and suburbs yesterday and caused a number of street accidents and some deaths. The traffic was scanty and difficult. Early in the day it stopped almost entirely and later scores of omnibuses unable to reach their charges parked along the curbs. The only effective means of transit was the subways which were congested.

EIGHT ASPHYXIATED.
NEW YORK, Jan. 12. Eight persons were found dead or fatally poisoned from illuminating gas here yesterday. Three others who were overcome were revived and will probably recover. Only one of the eleven is believed to have turned on the gas with the intention of ending his life.

Historical Records HARBOR GRACE THANKS THE RELIEF COMMITTEE FOR ASSISTANCE DURING THE DISASTROUS FIRE

(H. F. SHORTISS)
Article XVIII.
On Sunday, August 31st, 1832, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, a sermon will be preached and a collection taken up at the Wesleyan Chapel in the town of Carbonear towards the relief of the sufferers by the late fire at Harbor Grace. Nothing can show the intimate and kindly feeling between the two towns at this time than instances of this kind.

HR. GRACE, Aug. 27th, 1832.—At an adjourned meeting of the inhabitants of Hr. Grace, held at the Court House, on Monday last pursuant to advertisement, for the purpose of the Committee respecting the proposed plans for the streets on that part of the town which has been destroyed by fire, and for the despatch of other business, Rev. J. Burt in the chair. The following resolutions were agreed to.

Proposed by J. L. Prendergast and seconded by R. Anderson, that the petition to His Most Gracious Majesty, a draft of which has been favoured by W. Sterling, be adopted by this meeting and generally signed.
Proposed by Mr. Ridley, seconded by Mr. Anderson: That the Main St. of Harbor Grace (Water Street) in that part of the town recently destroyed by fire, shall hereafter be fifty feet wide, and that this meeting have come to this determination after the most mature deliberation.

Proposed by J. Parkin, seconded by J. Blakie: That a commission of three or more persons be appointed to trace a plan for the future erection of the Town; and certain instructions be given to such commissioners as to the basis of the proceedings. And that the landowners and leaseholders shall sanction and consider binding such determinations of such commissioners. That one part of the instructions to such commissioners be, that taking two-thirds from the water side and one-third from the north side of the present street be the medium line in forming the new one. Proposed by James Blackie, that Mr. Keough—by Mr. Jno. Richards, that Mr. Anderson—by D. Candler—that Mr. Ridley—by Jno. Pitts—that George Lilly—and by Geo. Bayley, that R. Pack, be the Commissioners for the said purpose and that three of the said number form a quorum; which general proposition was seconded by W. Sterling—except the last clause respecting which J. F. Crawley seconded Geo. Bayley. In reply—The Rev. Gentleman, addressing himself to the gentlemen of the Deputation, adverted to the interest which must necessarily be associated at any time, and on any occasion, by the honor of a deputation from the enlightened and benevolent inhabitants of the metropolis of the Island, but on an occasion like the present when Christian charity has been the stimulus, and within a period so definitely marked by zeal and promptitude, the mental effect was increased to its utmost intensity. The paternal sympathy and munificent assistance which had been apparent, called forth the warmest and most sincere acknowledgment. Indeed the extensive liberality which the Committee are every day becoming acquainted with has kept their minds in an increasing state of grateful excitement. They have to name not only the prompt and kindly aid of their neighbours at Carbonear, in the supply of food and labor—the timely grant of food, blankets and camp equipment under the direction of His Honor the President—the immediate disposal of ready-made clothing, principally emanating from the St. John's Dorcas Society, but they also have heard that this morning, trunks have been received from the capital, containing garments of superior material for distribution in a private channel—acts alike honorable and beneficent. The succession of such bounty, illustrative of sentiments so genuine and so diffusive of what lucid recital it were the desire of the committee to tender. The Rev. Chairman therefore begged the gentlemen of the Deputations to accept in a few words an assurance of the part of the Committee of the weight of obligation under which the inhabitants of Hr. Grace were placed, and the real pleasure it would afford the Committee to co-operate with them, and receive any suggestions from their friends in St. John's, connected with the disposal of goods committed to them—earnestly trusting that a superintending Providence would be manifest in furthering their mutual endeavor and that a single eye to the genuine object in view may be their constant aim. The Rev. Chairman in the name of the Committee on the part, and in behalf of the sufferers by the late fire, begged to tender to the gentlemen of the Deputations their most cordial and heartfelt welcome, accompanied by the best wishes, that those who are thus the means of conveying blessings to others may in their own experience be amply blessed.

The deputation then were made acquainted with the issues which had already been made, the further supply of which His Honor the President has notified by letter, as already shipped, together with other information connected with the object of their mission. The following resolutions were then put, and unanimously carried:—That this committee impressed with the deepest gratitude for the true benevolence displayed by the inhabitants of St. John's in so promptly and humanely subscribing largely towards the relief of the sufferers by the late calamitous fire at Harbor Grace, beg leave in the name of the sufferers and in their capacity as a Committee, to tender to the inhabitants of St. John's at large, their most sincere and heartfelt thanks, for the praiseworthy and charitable disposition so splendidly evinced by them on the present occasion.

Proposed by N. Stabb, seconded by J. Parkin: That the special thanks of this meeting are due and hereby given to Newman W. Hoyles, Chairman, and the general committee of relief appointed by the inhabitants of St. John's for not only accepting the arduous duties necessarily attaching to and devolving upon them, but for the handsome terms in which the chairman has communicated their views through the deputation of condolence from the inhabitants of St. John's.

Proposed by J. Starke, seconded by J. Hippelary: That the most particular thanks of this Committee are due to and hereby given to Robert Job, Patrick Keough and John Shea, being the deputation appointed by the inhabitants of St. John's; and this Committee request that the gentlemen so forming the deputation will believe the assurance hereby given by this committee of the high estimation in which their visitation is held by the public at large, but more particularly by the numerous sufferers by the fire, and who will long remember with gratitude and esteem the soothing influence of their visitation of this scene of distress and present misery; not doubting but that when the public mind is somewhat tranquilized, and the condition of the sufferers in a degree ameliorated by the issue of the relief so bounteously afforded them, that the sufferers themselves will come forward and give the deputation some substantial proof of the sincerity of their professions.

At a meeting later the gentlemen of the deputation, Messrs. R. Job, J. Shea and P. Keough, were received with those manifestations which were intended to convey the feeling of respect and gratitude so prominently entertained by the Committee, and were shown to the Magistrate's Box. As scenes, in connection with its object, had for a moment subsided, Mr. Job addressed the meeting. He stated the mission on which himself and friends had crossed Conception Bay—that a Public Meeting had been held in St. John's for the purpose of affording immediate relief to the sufferers by the late fire, that a subscription had been opened for that purpose, that a deputation of that Committee being determined on for the express purpose of carrying to the inhabitants of Hr. Grace the sincere sympathy and heartfelt condolence of the inhabitants on the awful dispensation of Providence, with which they had been visited, and their earnest desire to operate with the Committee of Relief in all measure tending to alleviate the suffering and distress resulting from so deplorable a devastation. They (the gentlemen of the deputation) begged in the name of the Committee and inhabitants of St. John's to express the deep and general feeling of commiseration entertained on the occasion, together with the satisfaction it would afford them to be made useful in facilitating those suggestions and measures which shall be deemed expedient for the present consideration. Mr. Job concluded with an expression of desire that a Divine hand may so overrule this event that it might ultimately result in much real benefit to the inhabitants of Harbor Grace.

Mr. Shea participated in all that had been advanced and with most genuine feeling entered on the object of his benevolent townsmen, and the solemn pleasure it afforded himself and his associates to convey those sentiments and personally to minister in the cause of the homeless and afflicted.

Mr. Keough in a brief address and with a heart sensibly affected, united in the sentiments already expressed. Further resolutions of thanks were sent to His Honor Richard Alexander Tucker, Chief Judge of the Supreme Court and President of His Majesty's Council in Newfoundland, for the help afforded by the Council in this terrible calamity.

In my next I will give particulars of improvements planned for a new town, and which shows the energy and progress of these men who during the next thirty years did so much to build up this important place.

Star Association Reunion

The members of the Star of the Sea Association held a re-union at the rooms last night, which proved a most enjoyable affair. There were gathered members of all ages, those who saw the society in its early stages, and have been faithful to it, through its long and eventful career, and with them were the younger generation on whom rests the responsibility for keeping the society in future years. President Cashin and the officers were present and helped to make the evening one of pleasure for those attending. The programme opened at 9.30 when the C.C.C. Orchestra began a programme of dance music that was arranged to suit the tastes of all. The dances of years ago were there for those who desired them as well as those of late years, and the whole programme was indulged in by as many dancers as it was possible to accommodate. During an interval President Cashin briefly addressed the members, and expressed the hope that this re-union would become an annual affair and exhorted all members to work for the aim that is in view, namely: to have one thousand members on the roll, by the end of the year.

The concert party that is now playing at the Star Movie was guests, and favored the Company with several selections. Mr. Sandy Lawrence

Notes on Votes

Cable message, Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 5th.—The reins of Government to-day passed into the hands of a woman, Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, the first feminine Governor in the history of the United States. In Wyoming Mrs. Ross becomes the first woman Governor of a state which again proclaims itself a real pioneer in rights for women. It was thirty-four years ago that Wyoming territory, on becoming a state, took a long stride forward by writing "votes for women" into the new Constitution. Mrs. Ross is the widow of the late Governor William B. Ross, and only accepted nomination at the last moment in the sense that it came as a tribute to her husband.

Mrs. Ross gained a reputation during the short campaign for "a minimum of talk." Her terseness was demonstrated in accepting the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with a message of less than 400 words. In an appeal to the women of the State, Mrs. Ross wrote less than 300 words. She made no speeches. She has three sons, the youngest of which is twelve years old. Mrs. Ross is concerned principally with two things, the welfare of Wyoming as a whole, and the effect of her conduct in office upon future candidates of women in other states. "If elected," she said before election day, "I will exert myself to the utmost in so conducting state affairs that it may never again be said women are unfit for executive office."

Get After the British Fish Market.

From a despatch published on Saturday it would appear that owing to the falling off in the fisheries in home waters, Britain is looking elsewhere for supplies. The same message stated that Major Gen. Sir Garnet Hughes, a distinguished Canadian soldier, had already crossed the Atlantic in order to make arrangements in Nova Scotia to supply the British markets.

Canada is availing of every opportunity to increase her exports, and this is but one instance of the wide awake policy that she is following. Our first real attempt to attract attention to our resources was made last summer, and the information given by Mr. Davies in the article entitled "Newfoundland at Wembley," which appears elsewhere in this issue, is sufficiently convincing of the benefit derived or to be derived from this venture.

Two million people visited the Newfoundland Pavilion in other words, Newfoundland was "discovered" by the greater number of those visitors last summer. Such a remark means nothing discredit to ourselves, for it applies with equal force to many other parts of the Empire, of the particulars of which many people in Great Britain know little or nothing. The fault, however, is not theirs. So far, development of the Dominions has been a slow process, and it is only within recent years that more active measures have been taken to attract attention to their unlimited resources. Advertising is essential in this respect and no opportunity should be lost by us to make the world, and particularly Great Britain, aware of what this country has to offer and of the climate and other geographical advantages that she possesses.

Sir Garnet Hughes, who apparently possesses the same business acumen and enterprise of his father, who was Canadian Minister of Militia for several years, has been quick to realize that the British demand for fish is a golden opportunity for a fishing country like Nova Scotia. That it offers to Newfoundland opportunities equally as valuable must be obvious to everyone, and we have the additional advantage of being more favourably situated to supply the demand. The chief difficulty is in shipping facilities, but the fact that in recent years we have been sending across the Atlantic a considerable quantity of fresh salmon indicates that the development of a fresh fish industry on a larger scale is a practical proposition.

Next summer Newfoundland will again be represented at Wembley, and we should avail of the opportunity to include in the exhibit a comprehensive display of our fish and particularly of our fresh fish. The outlay on such a venture would not be inconsiderable, but the results would, it is safe to predict, more than justify the expenditure.

Needs Attention

The attention of the Council is called to the condition of the steps on Garrison Hill and the need of keeping them free of the accumulation of ice and snow with which they are at present covered. As a general rule the steps on the various inclines of the city receive constant attention, but at present the Garrison Hill steps are neglected through some oversight. When the spring of the year arrives, it is hoped that the Council will see to it that the hand railing which has been broken down for a long time, is repaired.

Obituary

REV. THOMAS W. ATKINSON. (By Visitor, Daily News.) At 7.30 o'clock yesterday morning the Rev. Thomas Whitefield Atkinson passed away in the 78th year of his age and the 52nd of his ministry. His illness was of brief duration. He had recently closed his home prior to proceeding to Bay Roberts to spend life's sunset with his son. Before doing so he accepted the invitation of the Misses Crocker to spend a few days at their home. Almost immediately after his arrival there illness supervened; and for several days he was confined to his bed. Despite tender ministrations and devoted care, it became manifest that the only hope of recovery was in his removal to the Hospital for special treatment. This was done on the advice of his physicians on Saturday morning, but it soon became evident that the flame of life was flickering, and within forty-eight hours he passed peacefully to the veil. His son Dr. Atkinson of Bay Roberts who had been with him at every available moment, during the past week, returned to his home, where the news reached him of his father's passing.

The late Rev. T. W. Atkinson was a Yorkshireman, and one of the very few Ministers of the Newfoundland Methodist Conference, whose membership dates from its inception. It was as a probationer at the Eastern British American Conference that at the age of 26 Mr. Atkinson entered the Methodist Ministry. He was for many years the Congregationalist, and to the last retained his love for the hymnology of his church and the ability to interpret it by a voice of exceptional power and sweetness. His first station was in St. John's which then included the present four city circuits, Pouch Cove, Portage Cove and Topsail Bay, and seven ministers cover this territory. Then there were three. From here the young minister, fired with Yorkshire fervour, was sent to the "Rocky Mountains" where, as an old man, he proceeded to Shoal Harbour, which at that time comprised the whole of the district of Random. His next circuit was Fogo, which then included Change Islands, Horwood, Carmanville and Musgrave Harbour. Then followed in succession a first term at Twillingate, Western Bay, Harbour Grace, Barin, Heart's Content, Bonaville, Pouch Cove, Harbord, Catalina, in the second term; Twillingate, and Green's Harbour. Thereafter Mr. Atkinson retired from the active work, and for some years was visitor to the city of St. John's. In 1892 the highest honour at the disposal of his brethren was conferred upon him by his election to the Presidency.

Supreme Court

The appeal of Courage, J.P. from the judgment of Magistrate James who sentenced him to 12 months imprisonment on a charge of arson in connection with a fire which occurred at the store of D. Pelly on Nov. 9th, occupied the attention of the full bench to-day. At the trial which took place at Port Blandford, Mr. W. J. Browne, B.A., appeared for the crown and Mr. A. King, B.A., for the accused. Mr. J. W. McNelly, with Mr. King appears for the accused in the hearing of the appeal. Mr. McNelly asked to have the conviction quashed on the grounds that it was contrary to the evidence and claimed that it was quite possible for some other person besides the accused to have committed the offence. Another point raised was that the Magistrate had not the power to sentence the prisoner to a term of 12 months. Pointing out that Section 9 of the Statutory Magistrates Act says that 6 months is the maximum penalty, he argued that this section contradicted Section 8 and therefore was inoperative. Mr. Browne heard in reply pointed out that the witness at the trial had taken every precaution to traverse the area surrounding the store, and found no other footprints in the snow excepting those of the prisoner and his servant girl leading from the one premises to the other. All the other footprints and the movements of those who were at the fire were accounted for, and therefore those prints on which the prosecution was based were not made by other than Courage and his servant. Recess was taken at 1 p.m. until this afternoon when Mr. Browne will continue his argument.

MASTER OF BATTERED VESSEL TRIES IN VAIN TO END HIS LIFE.

SEVENTEEN HALIFARSTERS MADE PORT TO-DAY WITH A STORY OF HARDSHIPS AND BRUSHES WITH DEATH AS FEW SAILORMEN LIVE TO TELL. NEW YORK, Jan. 12. Seventeen halifarsters made port to-day with a story of hardships and brushes with death as few sailormen live to tell. They were the captain and crew of the Portuguese windjammer, Manuel Carago, which went down with a hold full of bones last Saturday morning after eight days of brave battle against gales that beset her from the time she left Rio de Janeiro until the battered hull was sighted by the Shipping Board freighter, Kenowis. Her master, Joseph Mogano, was taken off the Kenowis on a stretcher suffering from the pain of three broken ribs, received when he rescued a seaman from being washed overboard. Mogano three times attempted to kill himself in his cabin, but the members of the crew saved him each time. His last attempt was when his crew was removed from the Carago to the Kenowis. Instructed to burn his ship because she was a menace to navigation, the master sought to make the defeated four-master his funeral pyre, but was forcibly removed.

Magistrates Court

A case which attracted unusual attention was heard before Judge Morris in the Magistrate's Court this morning, when a domestic servant of the city had her employer named W. Callan and a foreign going seaman named Nash summoned for assaulting and beating her on the night of Jan. 10th. The woman, who by her appearance gave every indication that she was seriously ill, took the stand and told the court a tale of brutal treatment. She stated that she was knocked down, caught by the throat, bound hand and foot by the accused men, and conveyed in a sleigh to the lockup. She first entered the home of her employer on Dec. 29th at a month's wages of $8.00, and was requested to carry out the customary household duties. On Thursday last she complained of being ill, and she was obliged to take to her bed, and remained there until 7 o'clock the next evening, when she came down stairs and partook of some tea. During meal hour some hot words were spoken between witness and her employer with the result that the latter took steps to have her removed from the house. Meanwhile she stated, Nash interferred with the girl while she was seated in a chair, and after she had been thrown to the floor, the foreigner held her down by the throat, while the employer bound her feet with a black scarf and her hands with a towel. The girl resisted and screamed for help, and eventually succeeded in freeing her hands which were again secured by her assailants. Cullen then went out to search for a vehicle to have her removed to the lockup. In the first place he was unsuccessful, and after making a second trip, which took him about fifteen minutes, the sleigh arrived. During all the time the feeble woman was kept down on the floor by her second assailant. She was then placed in a sleigh, only partly clad, with her eyes closed, thrown about her, and was rushed to the police station by the two men. The guard at the lockup in giving evidence stated that the girl was brought in shortly after midnight and placed on a chair. Her feet were found tightly bound, and she was crying and looked quite miserable. He phoned the Supt. of Police on the matter, and was ordered to make her as comfortable as possible, as it was too stormy at the time to send her home. She remained in the lockup all that night. The accused men had very little to say for their reprehensible conduct, and Judge Morris in summing up stated that it was his most outrageous case of cruelty that has yet come before his notice. He convicted them both and they were each sentenced to a fine of $50.00 or in default thirty days' imprisonment. In the event of the fine being paid it was to be handed over to the girl. Mr. Devine appeared for the prosecution, and A. Kelly for the accused.

FOR EVERY ILL.—MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR COLIC, BRUISES, AND PAINS.

How Chrysler Sweeps All Tradition Aside. No one need fear that he will not be rewarded who gives to the world something distinctively superior to that which has preceded it. And nowhere is recognition so swift and reward so munificent as in America. Chrysler Six came into a seemingly crowded motor car market and almost immediately swept its way into unprecedented acceptance as a quality product. That which ordinarily takes years to achieve was won almost over-night. Why? Because the Chrysler brushed aside outworn traditions in engineering, in design, and in performance, and gave to the world advantages it could instantly see and feel and experience. It squarely confronted problems of height and weight and size, solving them according to the crying needs of the moment rather than the needs of five years ago. It brought to bear both scientific exactness and artistry—endeavoring to embody in the new car elements of grace and elegance no one else had attained. That is why the Chrysler has taken the country by storm—why it still stands and will long stand alone—why if you want what the Chrysler gives, the Chrysler alone can satisfy you.

ST. BON'S AND GUARDS OPEN THE BALL

ST. BON'S... GUARDS... The opening hockey match of the season was played before a crowded house on the ice in perfect condition.

1st Period.

The Guards defended the eastern end of the face off, which took place at 7:30 and after the preliminary whistle, St. Bon's settled down to play.

2nd Period.

The score 2-1, the teams, supporters anticipated that the second half would produce some thrills, nothing much occurred beyond fact that the St. Bon's followed example set by the Guards and tried more to individual effort than combination, and the Guards, on the other hand, brought a little more work into play.

3rd Period.

Two minutes of the last period had elapsed before Furlong, of St. Bon's, succeeded in defeating Currie in the fourth time by a smart hook which sent the puck like a flash into net.

Notes on The Game.

The game was well handled by Tobin, the official referee, but there were some kicks and other minor infractions that occasionally escaped his notice.

Newfoundland at Wembley

Its Educational and Commercial Value--Two Million People Visit Our Pavilion.

Immediately following the return of Mr. D. James Davies, B.Sc., who was in charge of the Newfoundland Exhibit at Wembley, the Evening Telegram requested him to write an article on our display in order particularly to indicate its value from an educational and commercial point of view. In the following article which he has very kindly prepared, Mr. Davies has shown that so far as our exhibition covered the natural resources, the success of the undertaking was beyond our highest expectations, and is the strongest argument in favour of extending its scope next year.

The Exhibition year of 1924 will be ever memorable to the inhabitants of the British Empire as the year when this great heritage of British citizenship stood in miniature at Wembley and Newfoundland's pavilion representing the oldest British Colony--the foundation of this great agglomeration of races and countries--attracted over two million people within its doors.

School children came by the tens of thousands with note books and pencil to gather information about this Island Colony, where history is teeming with adventure and romance.

Photographs giving the general layout of the exhibits have been on view in the town, so I will confine this short article to the effects of the exhibits both educationally and commercially on the minds of the enormous number of people that came to view.

The mural decorations supplied by the Furness Withy Company showed that the land of fogs of the old geography books, is a land of bright sunshine, sparkling streams, tall timber and green glades. The thirty-five thousand postcards sold at the Pavilion during August, September and October have brought the scenery and industries of our country to thousands of homes spread over the world.

The paintings kindly lent by Mrs. Power expressed in a most artistic manner the delightful colour tints of our Island home.

The best collection of caribou and caribou heads ever displayed at an exhibition was an object lesson to the visitors of the splendid animals that wander in the interior of our country.

A great number of British people who thought the ragman was still responsible for the newspaper of the world, will never forget the million of Daily Mail and Daily Mirror paper made from the spruce and fir of Newfoundland.

The Cod Liver Oil section, so ably laid out by Harrington & White, the London agents of W. A. Munn, attracted the particular attention of His Majesty the King, who had to take the oil in his childhood days mixed with orange wine.

The Stamp exhibit was acknowledged by expert philatelists to be the best collection in the whole of Wembley and Mr. W. J. Edgar's table top, showing the map of Newfoundland and the Union Jack in different coloured stamps combined with his wall map done on the same lines have impressed upon the minds of scores of thousands of people the triangular shaped coastline of Britain's oldest Colony.

The annual meeting of the M.G.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary took place yesterday afternoon in the club rooms. The reports for the past year were presented and adopted and showed that the auxiliary had a very successful year. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

President--Mrs. C. Peet.
1st Vice-Pres.--Mrs. H. J. Wyatt.
2nd Vice-Pres.--Mrs. A. Campbell.
Secty.-Treas.--Mrs. Anita Russell.
Hon. Members--Mesdames J. S. Pitts, Chesley Ayre, and A. H. Murray.

Social Committee--Mesdames H. J. Russell, C. H. Butt, H. Butt, Chas. Bowden, and R. Cramm.

Plans for the season's work were then discussed, and it was decided to hold the annual sale on St. George's Day, April 23rd. Arrangements were also made for the holding of a card tournament in the club rooms on Wednesday next, January 21st. Further plans will be outlined later and the members of the Auxiliary are looking forward to a busy and successful year.

Express Passengers.
The following passengers crossed over to Port aux Basques by S.S. Kyle at 8.45 last evening and joined the express:--H. E. Ellis, J. Winsor, R. Langlois, F. Walker, B. Sinnott, W. Connolly, Miss C. McAllister, W. E. James, J. Leighy, N. Snelling, D. M. Hoover, L. Goodacre, A. C. McKenzie and F. A. Johnston

OPEN AIR SKATING.--At Burton's Pond last night hundreds of people were present and enjoyed a few hours of open air skating. The ice was in splendid condition.

Our hair seals were both an attraction and a revelation to the visitors; the great majority of whom knew only of the fur seals of the Pacific, and the fine exhibit of leather goods--pouches, shoes, purses and book-bindings made from the skins of our seals were, if anything, superior to the displays of Morocco leather articles on view at the Palace of Industry.

The above are some of the features of our pavilion which had a more or less, direct educational appeal.

OUR MINERAL AND TIMBER RESOURCES.
From the commercial viewpoint--the mineral section created a good deal of interest--the copper collection was exceptionally good, but it was unfortunate that a great slump in the copper market should have happened to coincide with the Exhibition year.

The lead and zinc ores attracted the attention of some of the big people in the smelting world. They were glad to hear of another source of lead and zinc ores as the markets in these metals are now short and likely to remain short for many years. I was asked, specifically to keep these people well informed of the lead and zinc conditions in Newfoundland and near summer some of their engineers will visit Flaccetta Bay and other lead and zinc areas with the view of carrying out the development of our prospects.

Slate merchants made exhaustive enquiries about our slate deposits and they are prepared to buy large quantities of our slate if we can deliver them in England at the market price. Immediate action should be taken in this connection on account of the impending building boom in the old country. It is now proposed to add considerably to our mineral side next year by further exhibits of large piles of ores of copper, lead, zinc, coal and slate.

Our great pulp and paper exhibits with large sticks of timber standing on pedestals around the pillars of the pavilion, also the big development of the Humber depicted in a scenic form attracted the most intense interest of paper manufacturers all over Europe.

Scandinavians, Austrians and Germans were specially attracted by the staff of the exhibition straight to our building and they made the most exhaustive enquiries about our timber and they were very eulogistic about the quality and fibre of our spruce as raw material for pulp and paper.

The great possibilities of an eel grass industry are already well known. Finally, I would like to state of the enthusiastic comments of fishermen and others on the good qualities of the lines and twines supplied by our Colonial Cordage Company and the fine case of blankets and other woollen goods from the Riverstone Woolen Mills were highly commended by visitors in the textile trade.

There are strong hopes of a better World Exhibition in 1925. With the exception of Canada, the staffs of the pavilions for 1924 were all amateurs, but their experience during last year will help them to remedy all defects and enable them to portray in a more striking manner the resources and attractions of their countries.

With a parish extending 1,000 miles from the northern shores of Labrador to Baffin's Bay and Davis Straits, the Rev. Samuel Milliken Stewart, of the Colonial and Continental Church Society, cannot complain of want of room for his laboratory. In spite of ten months' ice and snow, and a temperature sinking occasionally to 60 below zero, Mr. Stewart seems to have taken little bodily harm. He spoke to a London reporter with enthusiasm of the success of his work.

"We have no 'rice Christians,' in my parish," he said. "The Eskimos are a clean-living and sturdy race, and they accept the truths of the Gospel and carry its precepts into their daily life."

"They speak a curious language, in which cases and tenses are all added on to the root word, so that we sometimes get words of 40 or 50 letters. There is a difficulty in reducing it to writing in Roman letters, so we have introduced a system of shorthand called the 'Creo-Syllabic,' which has only 64 phonetic characters."

Keen Readers.
"By means of this we are able to translate portions of Scripture and tracts, which the men learn to read in two or three weeks. They are great readers when they get the chance during the long dark months of winter."

The chief food of the people is seal and fish. Hard biscuit they get from the whalers and other traders. They have no money, and all trade is carried on by barter--skins, ivory and furs.

"There are great quantities of salmon in the rivers," said Mr. Stewart, "and trout of large size in the lakes, but there are no cereals of any kind. Edible berries are plentiful in some places."

"The cold is sometimes awful. I travel round my parish with dogs and a sledge, and on one occasion the cold was so terrible that some of the dogs died. Yet I cannot say that I have felt any ill-effects from it."

"The people have a very high code of morals; they do not drink, and they are very helpful to each other. Many interesting sagas are handed down from father to son."

Great Thrills in "Hearts Aflame"

REMARKABLE FOREST FIRE ONE OF BIG SCENES IN BARKER'S PRODUCTION.

Reginald Barker, director of big screen photodramas, has given photography fans something new to enthuse over in his latest production, "Hearts Aflame," a Metro picture which was seen for the first time yesterday at the Nickel Theatre.

Nothing as vivid and intense as this forest fire has yet been presented in photoplay form. The scene has been remarkably photographed; one can actually see the flames lick at the trees which rapidly give way before the conflagration. Wolves and bears leaped madly before the cameras in an attempt to escape the devastating flames. And through the blazing forest, an old locomotive driven by a young girl, slowly makes its way in an attempt to reach a powder magazine.

The story is that of Harold Titus' novel, "Timber," an engrossing tale of the Michigan woods. There is a love romance which it, like the rest of the picture, real; and the participants are a strong-willed young millionaire's son who attempts to rescue himself in the sight of his father and his friends.

Wedding Bells

LEE-WILLIAMS.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's Church, Petty Harbour, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 30th, when Miss Rita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cararet Lee, of Petty Harbour, and Ernest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Williams, of the Goulds, were joined together in Holy matrimony.

Miss Lee being a very prominent young lady in church circles and a member of the Choir the ceremony was fully choral and was performed by the Rector. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father preceded by the Choir. The bride was prettily attired in a fawn costume with hat to match and wore a set of fox furs, the gift of the groom. She also carried a beautiful bouquet of Chrysanthemums, Hyacinths and maiden hair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Marion Lee, and Miss Louise Chafe of the Royal Stores. The groom was attended by Arnold Chafe, of the Goulds, as best man. The bride and groom being both popular young people were the recipients of many and costly presents including a beautiful organ from her father and many other valuable gifts.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a happy evening was spent. A large number of guests were present, including the Rector, Rev. F. Severn and Mrs. Severn, John and Mrs. Boone, H. J. W. and Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. H. Williams, Emmanuel and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Thorburn. The Rector proposing the health of the bride and groom, referred to the good work the bride had done for the church in Choir and Guild. He was glad we were not losing her altogether. She was only going from one church to another in the parish from St. Andrew's, Petty Harbour, to the Church of the Presentation, Goulds, and he trusted that she would spend a long, happy and useful life. By request Mr. John Boone in a happy speech proposed the health of the bridesmaids. After the reception the bride and groom drove to their future home at the Goulds. We wish them every happiness in their future life.

The Choice of Most Women
Pearline washing powder is selected by many women who know what a real good washing powder is. Pearline costs only ten cents a package and saves dollars in toil and labor. Years ago Pearline was the favourite--it is still the favourite with all its numerous users. Your grocer knows that Pearline is considered the best of all washing powders and this is why he will recommend it every time you ask his opinion. For cleaning pots, pans, kettles, etc., there is nothing like Pearline. For all washing or scrubbing a little Pearline added to the water makes the work much easier. Every woman should use Pearline. Ask your grocer for Pearline--Oct 14, 1924.
