ANOTHER LONDON MIRACLE.

An Oddfellows Lodge Passes a Resolution of Thanks. The Extraordinary Case of Mr. E. F. Carrothers—Literally Helpless for Three Years—Recovered Permanently. His Story—A Story Fought With Hope for Others.

London Advertiser. Canadian Order of Oddfellows. Local Perseverance Lodge, No. 118. LONDON, Nov. 22, 1892.

To the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, GENTLEMEN,—I have much pleasure in forwarding you a vote of thanks passed by a resolution of the above lodge thanking you for the good your valuable medicine Pink Pills, has done for our brother, E. F. Carrothers, who for three years and a half was almost helpless from locomotor ataxia and given up by our doctor as incurable, and who is now we are happy to say by the use of your Pink Pills able to follow his employment.

Trusting that your valuable medicine may be the means of curing many sufferers and a blessing to them as it was to our brother, I am yours truly, on behalf of the lodge, ED. GILLET, Secretary, 521 Phillip Street, London Ont.

This is to certify that the above facts are a true statement. E. F. CARROTHERS. The above is a true statement, but in order to fill the facts of this extraordinary case more fully before the public an Advertiser reporter proceeded to investigate it. It was his pleasure and duty some time since to record the remarkable cure of Mr. E. J. Powell of South London, wrought by the medicine known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It was a striking story of release from life-long affliction but it was even surpassed by the miraculous experience of Mr. E. F. Carrothers of 109 William Street, Mr. Carrothers was a well known and successful business man and a member of Alderman R. A. Carrothers, and by virtue of long residence and personal qualities is well and favorably known throughout the city. He is a carpenter and joiner by trade, and a good workman. His friends and acquaintances are aware that a healthier and more robust man never walked the streets of London until a few years ago, when he was suddenly stricken with what is generally supposed to be paralysis. They heard with regret that he had been pronounced incurable and as he was unable to leave the house, only occasional callers saw him again during his long and painful illness. Within the last few months they have been agreeably surprised to see him around again plying his vocation and apparently as vigorous as any man in his line of business. It is now widely known in the city to what agency Mr. Carrothers owes his magical restoration to health and strength.

A TALK WITH MR. CARROTHERS. The other evening the reporter called upon Mr. Carrothers and found him seated by the fire in the bosom of his family, looking cheerful and comfortable. Within the last few months he said he was only too happy out of the depths of his affliction and to relate the circumstances of his affliction and his wonderful cure.

"I had always been a strong, healthy man," he said, "until this stroke laid me low. I had known what sickness meant. It had been three years ago last April when the attack came. I went to bed apparently in my usual health one night and awoke about 5 o'clock in the morning as my wife found me on the floor. I could not get up, and I lay like a log. At first I was speechless but managed after a time to articulate feebly and not very intelligibly, my wife then called for the head of Mr. Moorhouse came and placed a mustard plaster across my bowels, telling me to lie quiet for a few days. I did so because I could not do anything else.

"As I was entitled to the services of the local physician Dr. Fingel, I sent for him. He gave me some medicine that relieved the excruciating pain in my head. He brought another doctor with him (I don't know his name) and they subjected me to a regular course of treatment by which I was suspended from a support around my neck. I asked the doctor what the matter was, but as he gave me some medicine to spare my strength, he did not tell me directly, nor did Mr. Gillet, the secretary of the lodge, whom I also asked. I inferred that there was something they did not wish me to know.

"I had now been about a year in the same condition. Sometimes I was able to get out of bed, but never out of doors. At other times I was unable to feed myself. I had absolutely no control over my muscles. If I attempted to touch or pick up anything my arm would usually stray, apparently of its own volition in an entirely different direction. I was more helpless than an infant, and I suffered a great deal. The doctor commenced the injection of some compound into my arm and leg, but a kind of abscess gathered in each and it had to be lanced. This was very painful. A quart of matter of a greenish color came out. I seemed to get stronger in general health, but my paralysis remained the same. In December 1891, after two years and eight months of this helplessness I was given up by the doctors as hopeless. The great master of the order, who had come to London to look into my case, and the secretary of Perseverance Lodge, called to see me and informed me of this. I had given up all hope myself so the blow fell lighter. The lodge had all this time been paying my weekly sick dues, and I understood that after the doctor's certificate of my helplessness had been handed in they made arrangements to continue giving me permanent aid.

"And now as to the remedy which proved my earthly salvation: A next door neighbor one day sent me in a label of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I read it, and acting on a whim, and not with any real expectation of benefit, gave my little girl 50 cents to buy a box. The first box made me more cheerful; it seemed to keep me up and I began to feel a glimmer of hope. With the second and third box the improvement continued, and I felt more than delighted to find that I was commencing to recover the use of my limbs. Through a friend I got a dozen more and the lodge added half a dozen more. I kept on taking the Pink Pills, and I gained steadily so that I am now what you see me to-day. Yes, I am capable of earning my living as before. I am working at my trade in London West at present and walk over there a distance of nearly two miles from the house and return every day.

"You are naturally thankful for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills then?" interpolated the reporter. "Thankful!" echoed Mr. Carrothers. "I can't find words to express my gratitude. You can imagine a man in my position, always strong and healthy before stricken down that way, with a family dependent upon him; and after giving up all hope of being anything but a useless burden, to be restored this way to strength and happiness—haven't I reason to be thankful, and my family too?" And he went on to thank the secretary of the lodge, who lives a couple of blocks further south at 521 Phillip Street.

MR. GILLET'S STATEMENT. "There is nothing that can give me greater pleasure," said Mr. Gillet, "than to say a good word for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I tell you they saved the lodge a good deal of money in Mr. Carrothers' case and there is not a member of Perseverance who won't say the same thing. We had paid out over $400 to our sick brother, and of course it was a big drain on our finances. We asked the local physician, Dr. Fingel, to examine him so that we would know whether he was going to get better or not. The doctor insisted for several weeks that he was incurable and a certificate to that effect."

Mr. Gillet opened his secretary and extracted the document referred to in the foregoing records. It read as follows: Dr. Fingel, Office, 354 Dundas Street, LONDON, Dec. 2, 1891.

DEAR SIR,—At your request I carefully examined Bro. Carrothers, of Perseverance C. O. O. F. M. U., who has been unable to perform his duties for several years, and find him suffering from the results of cerebral hemorrhage (extravasation of blood into brain). As your informant has indicated whenever the kidneys are not in normal condition, and in the case of men they affect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, over-work or excess of any nature.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and Solely, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents, a box or six boxes for $2.50. Bear in mind that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk, or by the dozen or hundred, and any dealer who offers substitutes in this form is trying to defraud you and should be avoided. The public are cautioned against all imitations and substitutes. The price at which these pills are sold make a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

ON TRIAL FOR 90 DAYS. The most complete and latest list of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. They are never sold in bulk. We have no agents. We will back our belief and send you any Doan's Backache Kidney Pills you may wish to try for Three Months. Largest list of testimonials on file. Send for book and Journal Free. W. C. We take the opportunity of saying goodbye to our guest agent.

I believe we are to lose the services of two of our prominent clergymen this spring.—Rev. Mr. Nelson will remove to Hillsboro, N. B., soon, and Rev. Jacob Howe will send in his resignation to take effect in June. We wish both these gentlemen success in their new field of labor.

The late census shows a great increase in the population of Gibson and accordingly the Trustees have awakened to the fact that another department is necessary to the school, and they will soon begin to put this into effect. The school house is a very large building and the top part which has hitherto been unoccupied will be made the primary department.

Deputy Sheriff Hawthorne and Sergeant Phillips took the prisoners, Gordon and O'Neil, to penitentiary at Dorchester yesterday.

Mrs. Biggs, accompanied by her son Charles, will leave for Boston Wednesday to be present at an interesting event in which her son Percy will be one of the principals.

TORY FAMILY JABS.

Vote in Censure of one of Their Colleagues.

For His Treasonable Utterances at a Public Meeting.

OTTAWA, March 22.—In the House of Commons yesterday there was a lively family row in the Tory party over Clark Wallace's disloyal speech at Kingston, and it looks as if the orange and green colors were not pining well together.

Mr. Casey rose to call attention to the speech made by Mr. Clark Wallace at Kingston advising the sending of assistance from Canada to the Ulster Orangemen in the event of an uprising against home rule. He quoted Wallace's speech and said nothing had ever been uttered more calculated to incite armed rebellion. Here was a member of the administration encouraging the people of Ulster to resist the authority of the British queen. If physical resistance to law was not treason, why was Reil hanged?

Mr. Wallace admitted that his speech was correctly reported. It expressed his opinion and he did not propose to withdraw anything. The record of the Orangemen was one of unimpeachable loyalty. He had recently reported that Lord Salisbury, when prime minister said in May, 1892, and was not accountable to the house for what he said regarding British politics. He was as free to express opinions upon Irish affairs as Mr. Costigan.

Mr. Dawson, (Liberal member for Adirondack) an Orangeman, expressed his regret at Wallace's admission. All lovers of free institutions should be prepared to submit to the rule of the majority, and in the United Kingdom the majority of electors had voted for home rule. Mr. Wallace's speech was an incitement to rebellion against the queen's authority. Mr. Wallace's speech was a violation of the highest principles of the Orange order. He closed by moving a resolution censure Wallace's Kingdom speech and his admission of its accuracy, and declaring it to be the duty of all her majesty's subjects loyal to submit to the law; that the constitution provides a remedy of redressing grievances; that no changes ought to be brought about by

or other physical force; that any attempt to coerce her majesty in respect to any portion of her empire is an unparliamentary and treasonable act and should receive the uncompromising resistance of all loyal citizens; that the conduct of Wallace in expressing sympathy with and holding out a hope of active aid to these wretches to levy war in Ireland against her majesty is deserving of the severest censure of parliament and that no changes ought to be brought about by Judge Clarke and Mr. Macmaster Exchange Blows.

The New York Times before the Railway Commission, Mr. Macmaster and Mr. Haggart acted as referees in a dispute between Judge Clarke and Mr. Macmaster.

Judge George M. Clark, of the C. P. R. solicitor, and Mr. Donald Macmaster, Q. C. of Montreal, had a stand up fight this week before the railway committee of the privy council. Both gave and received blows. They were separated and finally apologized to the committee before shaking hands.

The case under consideration was the application of the Toronto Junction Street and Railway to compel the G. T. E. and city of Toronto to pay an equal share of the cost of the extension of the streetcar line to the Danforth. The committee some time ago ordered the Street Railway Company to bear the entire cost.

The matter today came by way of appeal from the Street Car Company. Hon. John Haggart, minister of railways, presided. The other members of the committee were Mr. John Bell, Q. C., representing the Street Car Company were looked after by Messrs. Donald Macmaster and A. W. Atwater, Montreal. The large audience, including Mr. Wm. Waterbury, assistant manager of the G. T. E.; Mr. T. T. Tait, assistant manager of the C. P. R.; Mr. C. W. Wagoner, superintendent of the C. P. R., as well as a score of lawyers engaged in other cases.

Mr. Foster as leader of the house attacked the opposition and then admitted that Mr. Wallace had perhaps got no notion of the interests of the Street Car Company but the matter did not justify a resolution.

Sir Richard Cartwright said the government must either endorse Wallace's speech or leave it in open question.

Mr. McInerney said he considered Mr. Wallace's speech one which should not be approved by the house. It was calculated to provoke strife among British subjects. He would vote for the amendment.

Hon. Mr. Costigan created a sensation by saying that he agreed in the main with Mr. McInerney. The Hon. Mr. Haggart, the Hon. Mr. Bell and Mr. Wallace had all voted a parallel to Wallace's, as Hon. Mr. Haggart had not said anything touching the matter of allegiance to the Queen. He considered Wallace's utterances, and said he would vote for the amendment. This announcement caused a commotion in government circles.

Sporadic McLeas, (York) and Costigan apologized for Wallace.

Mr. Curran, solicitor general, regretted that Mr. Wallace had not repudiated his utterances, or stated that he did not mean armed resistance to British rule if home rule was granted.

Mr. Berger (Conservative) said the house was face to face with a question more fraught with danger to Canada than anything it had before it for years. Wallace had practically repeated his speech in the house, and the matter must, therefore, be dealt with. The British government had undertaken to take care of the men who were fronting rebellion in Ulster.

Before the house met at half-past eight o'clock, the ministers had a hurried cabinet council to discuss the situation, but the result was not announced.

Dr. Berpin on the home remaining said the leader of the government should state at once whether the resolution was to be treated as a non-confidence or not.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that if the resolution passed it would not be by the aid of the friends of the government.

Mr. Berpin—that means that any man who votes for the resolution is not a friend of the government. He condemned the government for refusing to call its supporters together and explaining its position to them. Because of the reply given
