

THE OBSERVER

Vol. 4.

HARTLAND, N.B., JANUARY 9, 1913.

No. 30.

REDUCED PRICES

... ON ...

Ladies'

Underwear
Sweaters
Heavy Coats
and Skirts

Men's

Underwear
Flannel Shirts
Sweaters, Caps
and Sheepskin Coats

Also, a few Blankets, Children's Coats and some Odds and Ends of Stock

Baird's

Opposite the Bridge

Western Assurance Co.

(INCORPORATED 1851)

ASSETS - - - - $3,213,438.25

DIBBLE & AUGHERTON, Agents

Woodstock, N. B.

Telephone: Office, 18-41.

Residence, 74-1.

A Good Life Policy

will compel a young man, to save money. He will be glad of it when he is older. It trains him also to the habit of saving, and is the only sure way to guarantee adequate estate to this family—when he has one.

The Manufacturer Life Insurance Co.

Issues None-But Good Policies
Communicate with or consult

T. A. Lindsay, Inspector, Woodstock, N. B.

or The E. R. Machum Co., St. John, N. B.

Managers for Maritime Provinces.

YOUNG MEN

YOUNG WOMEN

We prepare young men for positions with the Railways, and young women for positions with the Commercial Telegraph Companies. We guarantee to secure positions for all our graduates. The C.P.R. pays from $55. to $150. a month for its operators. We are turning out young men and women who are getting these salaries. Let us tell you about it. Only $50 for a course. Students can enter at any time. Day and Evening Classes. Call or write, C.P.R. SCHOOL OF TELEGRAPHY, 13 Mill Street, St. John, N. B. M. B. Lewis, Manager.

"White Rose"

Gasoline

NOT the kind we had last. We guarantee the high standard of quality of this brand of "White Rose" gasoline and will stand behind it for perfect satisfaction in every particular.

C. M. Sherwood, Ltd.

Centreville, N. N.

WEST SIDE NOTES.

BY NICODEMUS

The West Side farmers are standing around anxiously looking for the weather agent to get on to his job and send along something in the snow line. As things are all team work is practically hung up.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Baker entertained their numerous grandchildren at their home on New Year's day.

Mrs. Thos. Tilley was taken suddenly ill on Thursday night. At present writing she is slightly improved.

Percy York, who has been unable to work for several months, and at times has been very sick, suffered an ill turn last Thursday night and for a time his people were very uneasy as to the outcome of the attack which appeared to be rather more severe than usual; but he rallied after a time and is at present about as usual.

A. E. and Miss Gallepe, Mrs. S. H. Shaw and C. M. Shaw were New Year's guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McCormack, Somerville.

On Thursday the United Baptist Women's Missionary Society met at the parsonage when a remarkably large attendance on the part of members and visitors was there to do ample justice to a sumptuous supper. A pleasant feature of the meeting and one rather out of the ordinary routine, was the presentation of a certificate of Life Membership in the society, to Mrs. S. H. Shaw, who for several years has been president of the local organization. Mrs. B. C. Shaw read a very neatly worded address making the presentation.

Mrs. Geo. W. McQuarrie has been down from Victoria county pleasantly spending the holiday season with her mother, Mrs. S. L. Dickinson, and with other friends.

Mrs. J. E. Clowes and Master Allen spent New Years with Mrs. Clowes' daughter, Mrs. Chas. E. Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Boyer, accompanied by Miss Ada left on Monday for a three weeks trip. While away they will visit Mrs. Boyer's brother, Hon. H. F. McLeod who is spending the winter in Bermuda.

Miss Matilda L. Farley is visiting her aunt at the "Willows".

Mrs. Jesse Estabrooks.

At Ashland, on Thursday night the death occurred of the widow of Jesse Estabrooks, after eight days illness of paralysis. She was 64 years of age. The funeral was held on Sunday, Undertaker Adams having charge, and the sermon being preached by Rev. T. Gillan. Interment was made at Coldstream.

Surviving children are Frank and Mrs. Heber Orser of Hartland, Mrs. Lemuel Brown and Mrs. Colby Underhill of Coldstream, and Merley the youngest son.

The family thanks the many friends for the kindness shown them in their affliction.

McEgan-Sears.

On Dec. 23, at the home of the bride's parents, J. Colter McEgan of Pioneer and Miss Dorothy R. Sears of Williamstown, formerly of Seven Oaks, Kent, England, were united in marriage by Rev. Henry Penna.

Canada is Safe!

We don't want to fight,
But, by jingo, if we do,
We've got the cash
That'll build the ships—
And John Bull can find the crew.
—Canadian Courier.

Death of Handford Lunn.

The death of Handford Lunn took place at his home on the night of the second of January. He leaves to mourn a loving wife who was formerly Miss Vincent, a very talented musician. His first wife was Miss Amanda Green who died about ten years ago and by whom he leaves seven sons and one daughter, Nellie, wife of Gideon Fulton of Lowell, Mass. The sons are Ezra of Waterville, Me., Colman of Sumnerfield, Harlev and Leverett of Perth, Kiburn of British Columbia, Morley and Frank at home. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, of Mars Hill, and fourteen grandchildren. Deceased was sixty-three years old. He was a man of great worth so far as principle and character goes. He will live in the lives of those who knew him most as an off read book. He was a member of the Methodist church for a great many years. He died in the sure hope of a glorious resurrection. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. C. Turner and were very impressive.

Gerald Beairto Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Beairto who were recently married in Strasburg, Sask., and who have been visiting at the bride's former home at Bridgeville, N. S., are the guests of Mrs. John A. Boyer. They are on their way to Lakeville where they will visit Dr. James Beairto, father of the groom. Mr. Beairto who went west a few years ago, has made good and occupies a prominent position with a large electrical contracting firm with headquarters at Regina—Standard.

Presentations to Rev. Geo. Ayers.

The Upper Woodstock hall was packed on the evening of Dec. 23, to listen to a concert given by the Union Sunday school at that place. After a splendid programme was carried out in such a way as to reflect great credit on both teachers and scholars, some of the teachers were kindly remembered by their pupils and the whole school was treated by Santa Claus to candy and nuts.

At the close of the programme the chairman, O. Estey, called Mr. Draper and Rev. G. Ayers to the platform, and Mr. Draper on behalf of the people of Upper Woodstock presented Mr. Ayers with a beautiful fur sleigh robe and read an address.

Mr. Ayers, although taken completely by surprise thanked the kind friends for their generous gift and loving words of goodwill.

The address follows:

Dear Brother: We, a number of your friends at Upper Woodstock, appreciating your time, worth and work's sake, and also recognizing the deep interest you have taken in the spiritual welfare of the place, and what you have done for the good of its people; therefore at this festive season we wish in some small way to tangibly express our appreciation of you and your work. Hence will you please accept this robe, not for its monetary value, but because it is a token of the high esteem in which you are held by us. May you long live to be warmed by it, and be long spared to tell "The Old, Old Story" to us and others, and as the years come and go may the robe warm the body and the thought of what it expresses cheer you in the inner man on the way of life's journey. Hoping that God's blessing may rest on you and your work in the future as it has in the past.

The address was signed by a large number of the good people of Upper Woodstock.

Deeds, mortgages and bills of sale may be secured from The Observer at 5 cents each. They will be sent postpaid to any who remit with the order. Summons, capaises, executions, tax notices, etc., are 40 cents per 100 and will likewise be sent postpaid.

F. E. Sayre is selling Five Roses Flour for $6.35; Royal Household at $6.20; Glenrose at $6.00.

Cold Weather Is Sure to Come

Even though the winter to date has been mild. Our stock of

Heavy Winter Clothing

All Wool Underwear

Overshoes, Gum Rubbers, Etc

is still complete, but we must not carry any any over

Special

Reduced

Prices

Mrs. C. A. PHILLIPS

BRISTOL

We Wish to Thank Our Numerous Customers for Their Liberal Patronage During the Old Year, and Wish Them All a Happy and Prosperous 1913.

We are very glad to be able to tell them that their liberal patronage has made the past year the most successful year we have ever had, and that although we have cut our terms down to strictly thirty days we have done more business in our Mount Pleasant store than we ever did before. We know the reason for this is that, by having two-stores and 30 days time, we could buy and sell cheaper than ever before.

The day of LONG CREDITS and BIG PRICES is past, and we intend to stick closer than ever to our SHORT TERMS and LOW PRICES.

Watch for Our Bargain Counter Ad.
Next Week

S. W. SMITH

Mount Pleasant : Two Stores : East Florenceville

The Hardware Store for Christmas Presents.

At our store you will find for the housewife many things suitable for gifts. Anything that will lessen her labor or add a touch of beauty will gladden her heart on Xmas morn. We recommend Asbestos Irons, one of those labor-saving Washing Machines, a score of things in Nickel-plated and Granite Ware, Beautiful Lamps and Clocks and a hundred articles we cannot enumerate.

For BOYS and GIRLS we suggest a Sled, Skates, etc.
For real useful Xmas Presents come to

ZIBA ORSER

Possessing exquisite freshness and a fullness of flavor not found in other teas

"SALADA"

CEYLON TEA—"Pure and Clean to a Leaf"
BLACK, MIXED OR NATURAL GREEN
Sealed Packets Only
Beware of Imitations

DEATH IN SUBMARINE

A JAPANESE NAVAL OFFICER LEAVES RECORD.

Unique Expert Report Gives Details of the Approach of Death.

Conspicuous among the submarine tragedies of the past year was the loss of one of the finest vessels of this type by the Japanese navy. She went to the bottom with all on board in consequence, it is inferred, of some act of negligence. The tragedy occurred in Hiroshima Bay, in a considerable depth of water. The task of raising the sunken craft, says Current Literature, was accomplished only after prodigious exertion, when it was discovered that her commander, Lieutenant Takuma Fuchino, had left a letter written in his very last hour. This document has found its way into many scientific papers, having been originally published in the native Japanese press and thence translated. It is an expert report of a unique kind, giving, among others, these details of the approach of death in a vessel deeply submerged: "While going through gasoline submarine exercises we submerged too far, and when we attempted to shut the sluice valve the chain in the meantime gave way. "Then we tried to close the sluice valve by hand,

But it was then too late, the rear part being full of water, and the boat sank at an angle of about 25 degrees. The boat rested at an incline of about 15 degrees pointing toward the stern. The switchboard being under water, the electric lights gave out. Offensive gas developed, and respiration became difficult. About 10 a.m. on the 15th the boat sank, and under this offensive gas we endeavored to expel the water by hand pumps. "At the same time the vessel was being submerged we expelled the water from the main tank. "We cannot use the electric current entirely; the electric liquid is over-flowing, but no salt water has entered and chlorine gas has not developed. We only rely upon the hand pump now. The above has been written under the light of the conning tower, when it was about 11.45 o'clock. We are now soaked by the water, which has made its way in. Our clothes are pretty wet and we feel cold. I had always been used to warn my shipmates that their behavior (on an emergency) should be calm and deliberate, while brave; otherwise we could not hope for development and progress, and that at the same time one should not cultivate excessive delirium, last work should be retarded. People may be tempted to ridicule this after this failure, but I am perfectly confident that my previous words have not been mistaken.

The Depth Gauge
of the conning tower indicates 22 feet, and despite the endeavor to expel the water, the pump stopped and did not work after 19 o'clock. The depth in this neighborhood being ten fathoms, the reading may be correct. "The officers and men of submarines must be appointed from the

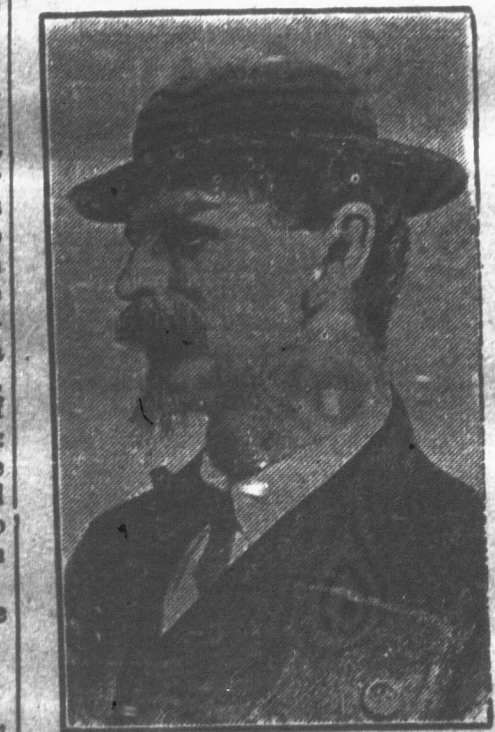

Are you one of those to whom every meal is another source of suffering?

Na-Dra-Co Dyspepsia Tablets will help your disordered stomach to digest any reasonable meals, and will soon restore it to such perfect condition that you'll never feel that you have a stomach. Take one after each meal. 50c. A Box at your Druggist's. Made by the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited.

distinguished among the distinguished, or there will be annoyance in cases like this. Happily, all the members of this crew have discharged their duties well, and I am satisfied. I have always expected death whenever I have left my home, and therefore my will is already in the drawer at Karasaki. "I respectfully request that none of the families left by my subordinates shall suffer. The only thing I am anxious about is this. Atmospheric pressure is increasing and I feel as if my tympanum were breaking."

"12.30 o'clock, respiration is extraordinarily difficult. I mean I am breathing gasoline. I am intoxicated with gasoline."

"It is 12.40 o'clock."

KING OTTO OF BAVARIA.

King Otto of Bavaria, now sixty-four years old, and known the world over as the "crazy King," seems far from death, as he spends most of his time sitting on the ground gazing into space. He appears healthy and strong, and it is believed he has still many years to live. His lunacy dates back to nearly a decade prior to the tragic death of his elder brother, Louis II.

SAVED BY A HORSE.

The Animal Showed Almost Human Understanding.

Hamdanie, an Arab horse owned by Pierre Ponsadine during his travels in the Moslem East, was a universal favorite on account of his docility and intelligence. Mr. Ponsadine says, in "Life in the Moslem East," that it was a pretty sight to see him tease his groom when the man was cleaning the stables. With his teeth he would nuzzle under the man's belt, extract his handkerchief from the capacious Arab pocket, or take off his groom's hat and hold it in his teeth high up almost out of reach. Another time he showed an almost human understanding. Mrs. Ponsadine was riding him. We were returning from a ride one evening, and as we entered the town, we had to pass through an archway and then turn sharply into a narrow lane. Just as we entered the arch, with my wife leading the party, a band of children came racing down the lane, and one after the other, as they turned the corner, they ran into Hamdanie, who was cantering and, as usual, prancing.

I turned cold with horror as I foresaw the awful accident that seemed unavoidable. The wise creature understood the danger as well as I did, and in a second stopped short and threw himself back, sitting literally like a dog on his haunches with fore legs well spread, receiving one after another the children, who ran full into his arms, as it were. Hard as the position was for horse and rider, he kept it up until the last child had run round the corner into him. The little ones picked themselves up, quite unconscious of the fate from which the horse's kindness had saved them.

How Johnny Explained It.

"Johnny," asked a nervous neighbor, "what makes the baby at your house cry so much?" "It doesn't cry so very much," was the big brother's indignant answer, "and, any way, if your teeth was all out and your hair was all off, and your legs was so weak that you couldn't stand on them, you'd feel like crying yourself."

A man who is in love with himself need fear no rival.

MORE BRITISH SEAMEN.

Foreign Sailors on British Ships Are Not So Numerous.

A popular delusion that British seamen are decreasing in number is exploded by the returns published recently by the quinquennial census. Instead of a decline in numbers, there has been a steady rise from 120,412 in 1901, and 128,077 in 1906, to 130,500 last year. The total number of seamen employed on vessels registered in the British Islands (with the exception of sea-going yachts and fishing boats) was 208,214.

That the proportion of foreign seamen is increasing is also a delusion. There has been a conspicuous decrease of foreigners in British registered vessels: a decline of 6,177 in the five years. Irish seamen have also declined in numbers, the most recent figures showing a decrease of 557 in the same period.

A decrease in British "sailors," as distinct from British "seamen," has, however, to be recorded; the term "sailors" including able seamen, undefined and ordinary seamen, as distinct from other ratings. This decrease is 279, or 1 per cent. On the other hand the total demand has been reduced by 4,350, so that the proportion of British sailors remaining is higher than ever.

The passing of the sailing ship is exemplified in a pronounced degree. The latest figures show only 247 vessels of this class engaged in foreign trade. In 1901 there were 2,021. The decline of sailors engaged upon this type of vessel is equally striking. Only 2,701 being employed in April, 1911, against 18,696 in April, 1906.

The percentage of foreign seamen in home and coasting trades has fallen from 5.9 in 1906 to 5.3 in 1911, and the percentage in foreign trade from 26.1 to 20.3. Of the 18,616 foreigners of stated nationality, 4,891 are Germans, 3,585 Swedes, and 2,131 Norwegians. France contributes but 572.

An analysis of the nationality of the several ratings is interesting. The percentage of Scotchmen amongst the engineers is 21.8, or nearly double that of Englishmen. Wales has the greatest percentage of masters and mates (9.2), and Ireland the largest percentage of able seamen. The Colonies provide most of the firemen and trimmers (34.7 per cent.), and it is here that the foreigners are most strongly represented (26.7 per cent.). In 1903 their percentage was 35.8.

The number of men in trading vessels in April, 1911, from whom seamen and stokers of the Royal Navy Reserve can be recruited, was 14,000 in the sailors' department and 6,000 in the engineers' department.

MIRAMAR'S FREE HOTEL.

Hostelry Where You Can Stay Three Days Without a Cent.

In this, one of the loveliest of the Balearic Isles, is the most attractive hotel known to travellers, writes a traveller. Not that it is ornate in its equipment or highly gilded in its decoration; on the contrary, it is very plain and clean and simple. But its surroundings are beautiful, its views superb, the sea it looks upon is of a ravishing shade of violet—and no charge is made for stopping as a guest under its roof.

It is, in fact, a guest house—or, as the Spaniards call it, a "Hospederia"—for travellers, established on the beauty spot of Miramar, which was the Mediterranean retreat of the late Empress Elizabeth of Austria before her assassination, and is now in the possession of the Archduke Luis Salvador of Austria.

Miramar is magnificently situated, but quite simple in design and equipment; a corner of earth's paradise, where Austrian royalties can go for the simple life and forgetfulness of pomp.

Fronting the castle is a deep gorge, and on the farther wooded side is this guest house. Palma, the principal Majorca town, is 15 miles away, on the other side of the island, and the entire neighborhood is full of attractions to the traveller. So, by making early application to the Archduke's agents, accommodation may be had at this rest house for three days free of cost. Courteous Spaniards are in charge, who will see after the welfare of the guests, who must, however, provide for their own food. Beds, linen and table appointments they receive gratis and bread and wine can be obtained very reasonably.

Good Scheme.

"Out at my uncle's the people go to bed with the chickens." "Well, at the price chickens sell at now they are certainly worth watching."

Success that is easily attained is hard to find.

Boys and "Easy Pocket Money" Girls
Send Post Card today for, how to make $100.00. Address: 120, Montreal, Can.

THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

Closed Best Year in Its History.

That the Bank of Montreal is one of our oldest as well as one of our most important financial institutions, was emphasized by the fact that the Annual Report held this week was the 95th in the Bank's history. The Bank is yearly occupying a more important place in the financial, commercial and industrial expansion of the Dominion. The Annual Report presented, which covered the year ending the 31st October, 1912, showed net profits for the year of $2,518,000, which with a balance brought forward of $1,855,000 and the premiums on new stock amounting to $834,000, make a total of over $5,207,000 available for distribution. Quarterly dividends and two bonuses absorbed $1,884,000. The sum of $1,000,000 was transferred to rest account, $1,000,000 to contingent account, and $511,000 expended on bank premises, which left a balance to be carried forward of $802,000. The Bank has now total assets of nearly $237,000,000, making it one of the strongest financial institutions on the continent. During the year it increased its paidup capital to $10,000,000, increased its rest account to a similar sum, made large gains in deposits and in current loans, opened a number of new branches, and otherwise kept pace with the growing prosperity of the Dominion. The fact that the Bank made current loans of nearly $120,000,000 shows that there is a big demand in the country for banking accommodation, and that the Bank of Montreal is doing its full share in catering to the business needs of the communities where its branches are located.

The year was the first under the general management of Mr. H. V. Meredith, and the fact that the profits for the year were some $242,000 greater than those of the previous year, must be regarded as not only satisfactory to the shareholders, but as complimentary to the foresight and business sagacity of the General Manager. It is doubtful if the Bank of Montreal was ever in as good condition to take care of the growing needs of the Dominion than it is at the present time. Its increase in paidup capital and rest accounts, its gain in deposits total assets and other matters, makes it peculiarly fitted to take a leading place in the financial and industrial expansion of the country.

The addresses of the President and General Manager were both comprehensive reviews of the financial, commercial and industrial conditions prevailing throughout the Dominion. That of the President, which referred to the Dominion as a whole, was a masterly summary of the conditions prevailing at the present time. The address was optimistic in its tone. Mr. Angus declaring that conditions throughout the Dominion were unusually sound and that satisfactory progress might be expected as long as present conditions prevailed. Mr. Angus touched upon the agricultural expansion, the increase in immigration, the growth of manufacturing, railroad development, the shipping industry, and, practically speaking, every phase of our commercial and industrial expansion.

Mr. Meredith in his address, referred more particularly to the growth of the Bank and the banking business. He touched on the forthcoming revision of the Bank

PERRIN GLOVES

Famous wherever gloves are worn. Noted for their Fit and Finish.

See that the trademark is on every glove.

A Prize Food for Prize Stock

You can raise "fat" pigs and have them fatter and fatter for the May market. All you need is a little extra care and feed "INTERNATIONAL STOCK FOOD." Feed "INTERNATIONAL STOCK FOOD" with a combination of ground corn, oats and rye—and they will not only keep healthy, but also fatten up in a way to astonish your neighbors. The average pig does not digest more than a half of the grain fed. The other half is wasted. "INTERNATIONAL STOCK FOOD" tones up the digestive apparatus, insures perfect digestion, and thus saves this waste in grain. "INTERNATIONAL STOCK FOOD" is a purely vegetable preparation—a wonderful tonic—that keeps hogs well and vigorous, and protects them against the ravages of Pneumonia and Cholera.

Make a nice profit on your "fat" pigs by feeding "INTERNATIONAL STOCK FOOD." Get a full 10-day trial from your dealer.

INTERNATIONAL STOCK FOOD CO., LIMITED TORONTO

Act, and intimated that there might be a few minor changes, although in the main the present Act was giving satisfactory service. He also dealt in an able and comprehensive way with the increased cost of living and the charge that the banks throughout the Dominion were not paying sufficient attention to the farming communities. He denied the charge that the banks encouraged farmers to borrow money and not borrow money, and stated that in so far as his Bank was concerned many millions were on loan to farmers and small traders.

Altogether, the addresses of the two heads of the Bank, like the Annual Report itself, were eminently satisfactory to the shareholders present, and should prove equally so to business men throughout the country as well.

HISTORIC WAR TERRITORY.

Greeks Have Been Fighting as Old Forebears Near Salonica.

Few military forces have ever marched through a region so rich in history and mythology as that traversed by the Greeks in their northern march to Salonica. The war correspondent who happened to be a classical scholar must have often thrilled at the association of mountain and river plain along the route of the army.

At the lovely town of Tempe he will have remembered that it was there the Greek states originally intended to meet the swarms of Persian invaders under Xerxes, though they ultimately chose the pass of Thermopylae, further south. Not far away is old Phthia, the home of Achilles and his Myrmidons. On the frontiers of modern Greece the army entered ancient Pieria, the legendary haunt of the Muses. And all the time they were overshadowed by Mount Olympus, which is visible even from Salonica.

As they penetrated into southern Macedonia they reached the scenes of St. Paul's second missionary journey, described in the seventeenth chapter of the Acts. The army must have passed right through old Berea (the modern Veria), where the Apostles of the Gentiles took refuge from the persecuting Jews of Thessalonica, who, however, pursued him thither and obliged him to hasten his journey to Athens. He must have travelled through Thessaly by the route just traversed by the Greek army. Berea was on the borders of the territorial province of Achaia, of which the capital was Corinth. Even at the time of St. Paul Thessalonica was a considerable town. It stood on the Via Egnatia, the great Roman road from Italy to Asia, and was already an important commercial seaport. It was made a free city by Augustus. Beyond Thessalonica the coast is rich in Pauline memories. Here were Apollonia, Amphipolis, Philippi and Neapolis, though these names have been lost in the long Turkish regime.

It is an interesting turn of the wheel of destiny that is bringing these scenes of St. Paul's first apostolic journey into Europe once more under Christian rule.

World's Present Population.

The total population of the world is now estimated at 1,700,000,000. This is based on the most recent censuses, which all civilized countries now take, with a careful estimate of the number of inhabitants of uncolonized lands. The proportion of the sexes is known for 1,038,000,000 of these, the ratio being 1,000 males to 990 females. The ratio varies considerably in different places. In Europe there are 1,000 men to 1,037 women; in Africa, 1,000 men to 1,405 women; in America, 1,000 men to 994 women; in Asia, 1,000 men to 961 women; in Australia, 1,000 men to 937 women.

If all things happen for the best, why should we always lose our suspender buttons when we are at least five miles from home?

A root cellar like this won a prize last year.

THE drawing was made from a photograph of the root-cellar with which D. A. Purdy, of Lumsden, Sask., won a cash prize in last year's contest. In that last contest there were 36 prizes. There will be three times as many prizes (108) in the

1912 FARMERS' PRIZE CONTEST

THUS you will have three times as many chances of winning a cash prize. You do not have to use any certain amount of Canada Cement to win a prize. There are absolutely no "strings" to this offer.

There are twelve prizes for each Province (three of $50; three of $25; three of $15; and three of $10) and you compete only with other farmers in your own Province and not with those all over Canada.

It makes no difference whether you have ever used cement. Many of last year's winners had not used it until they entered the contest. When you write for full particulars, we will send you, free of charge, a book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete," which tells everything you need to know about concrete. It is absolutely free, and you are under no obligation to buy "Canada" Cement or to do anything else for us.

WRITE your name and address on the coupon, and mail it, or use letter or post card, and we will send you at once the book and full particulars of the 1912 Prize Contest.

Address: Publicity Manager, Canada Cement Company Limited, 504-554 Herald Building, Montreal.

THE OBSERVER

Prof. H. Stevens, Editor and Managing Director.
Advertising Rates made known on application.
Published by The Observer Limited
Hartland, New Brunswick

Terms of Subscription: The OBSERVER is $1.00 per year, payable in advance. The paper will be sent to subscribers until it is ordered stopped, but each subscriber will be notified when the time to which the subscription is due.

VOL. 4 JANUARY 9, 1913 No. 29

"Go-Preachers" Heard in Their Own Defence.

The Telegraph on Saturday had a visit from William Snedden, one of the so-called Go-Preachers who have been carrying on their work in the maritime provinces for many months past. Mr. Snedden was accompanied by Fred Smith of Smithtown, and other workers and converts. In the presence of the others, for whom he spoke, Mr. Snedden made a long and detailed statement in reply to certain allegations against Go-Preachers recently published in pamphlet form and in certain New Brunswick newspapers, including this one, which allegations passed by presbyteries, conferences and other religious associations.

Mr. Snedden denied that he or his associates believed or taught anything contrary to the commonly accepted Christian form of marriage. He said that adherents or converts of his faith had to secure a marriage license and be married by some one legally authorized to conduct the ceremony, and that he and his associates believed and taught that one man must have only one wife, legally, and until death parted them.

He denied that the Go-Preachers have lured away girls or women from any community, or that there is in their work or belief any immoral teaching or tendency. He freely admitted that women who were of age to decide for themselves and who had been converted, had, in some cases, left their homes in order to preach the faith in other places. He maintained, very earnestly, that statements published and circulated against the Go-Preachers were without foundation in fact, and even without reasonable excuse, and he said that he defied any one in the maritime provinces or elsewhere to prove to the satisfaction of reasonable men that he or his associates had ever done or caused to be done, or advised, anything contrary either to the law or the common acceptance of honesty and morality.

Some of the visitors were asked why, in their opinion, clergymen of several denominations had spoken so strongly against them. They replied that these attacks had been based in every case upon hearsay evidence, and that they had incurred the enmity of some of the regular clergymen because they taught that church edifices and pastors' salaries were unnecessary and not in accord with the teachings of Jesus. This, in brief, is the statement of the case of these men as they see it, and it is presented here without prejudice.—St. John Telegraph.

Our Neighbours

Centreville.

Starting on the New Year we confidently expect that Centreville will have the most prosperous year of its existence so far. The railroad will be in course of construction and business ought to boom. Real Estate will increase in price and ought to change hands at good figures. We need some manufacturing concern here. Lots of water power and shipping facilities will be good as soon as the railroad is complete.

Persons having money to invest would do well to look over Centreville and its prospects. We have lots of money in our village but it is controlled principally by retired farmers of whom we have no less than six. Of course they are naturally very conservative as their money was hard earned and they will take no chances. It takes a smooth talking representative selling western lots to open up their hearts and purse strings.

Chas. Agnew, dentist, of Antigonish is spending the holidays here with his brother, H. Agnew. Miss Gladys Lunn and her three brothers, Hilston George and Charles, are also spending the holidays with their uncle, H. Agnew.

Mrs. C. E. Vail died Thursday morning and was buried Saturday afternoon. The funeral sermon was preached Sunday morning in the Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Walden. Mrs. Vail has been a terrible sufferer for years from rheumatism, but her death was due to pleurisy. She leaves her husband, C. E. Vail; one daughter, Mrs. W. B. Webb, and two sons, Haddon, of New York, and Harry, of Calgary. Haddon Vail was present at the funeral.

J. K. Higgins, of St. John, arrived Saturday and has charge of the school. Mrs. Haddon Burt of Woodstock, is visiting her mother and sister.

Bethel Rebekah Lodge is to give an entertainment and refreshments to the members of Centre Lodge I.O.O.F., and their wives, Friday, Jan. 17. Installation of officers of Centre Lodge will be Monday, Jan. 20, when an oyster supper will be served.

James Lee has gone to Glassville to take charge of the school there for another term.

The Bridgewater basketball team met and defeated the Centreville team last Tuesday evening by a score of 16 to 2. This was the first attempt of the Centreville boys, and they showed up well. Chesley Stevens umpired the game in a satisfactory manner.

Bristol.

The funeral of the late Harry Lovely was held on Tuesday afternoon at the United Baptist church. Rev. M. H. Manuel of Florenceville conducted the services.

The death occurred on Saturday night of Mrs. Michael Welsh after a brief illness. The deceased was formerly Miss Jennie Love of Glassville. Besides her husband she leaves one daughter, Miss Clara, at home. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, the service being conducted at the house by Rev. M. H. Manuel.

The entertainment held in the hall on Christmas Eve was a grand success. After a pleasing programme Santa Claus appeared in person and distributed numerous gifts.

Misses Beulah and Mont Phillips have returned to Mount Allison after spending Christmas with their parents here.

Miss Florence and Walter Lyon who spent Christmas with their cousin, Miss Jennie Lyon, returned to their home in Northumberland on Friday.

Miss Alberta Curtis and Isaac Dyer were quietly married on New Year's day. They will make their home in the village.

Mrs. George Caldwell who has been very ill is able to be about again.

Chas. Jones is very ill with pleurisy. Rev. E. B. McLatchy is holding special services in the United Baptist church this week.

It being the first of the year last Sunday was election day in the Union Sunday school. E. Carey was elected superintendent, H. C. Ricker, sec'y-treas., and Miss Jennie Lyon, organist. An executive was also elected to look after any special features of the school during the year.

Nortondale.

A very enjoyable concert was held in our school house on Dec. 20. A large crowd attended and the programme was enjoyed by all. Rev. and Mrs. Lester of Millville were present and it was owing to their help and advice that the concert was carried on so successfully.

Fred Blaney is recovering from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sharp are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a son at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Albion Hallett spent Christmas at Mrs. Hallett's former home in Simonds.

Norman Sharp has returned to Aroostook Jet., after spending Christmas with his brother.

George Hoyt spent Christmas at Middle Simonds.

Florenceville.

Miss Katie McGaffigan returned on Thursday to Boston to resume her studies at the Currie School of Expression.

Miss Ella Kearney of Woodstock spent part of her vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCain.

Mrs. Allen Watters and children spent Sunday in the village.

School opened on Monday, a large number of quarterly pupils are in attendance.

The song service held in the Baptist church Sunday evening drew a large audience and was much enjoyed.

Florenceville.

Our schools reopened on Monday with a full staff of teachers, and notwithstanding whooping cough is prevalent, a good attendance of pupils; also several quarterly scholars.

Miss Lulu Pierce of Richibucto is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. C. Squires.

On Dec. 10, the "Women's Institute" met at the home of Mrs. E. C. Turner. A very interesting programme was carried out including a splendid paper by Mrs. Q. Britton on "Woman the Queen of the Home". Your correspondent wishes your readers might all be privileged to read or hear read that article.

Mrs. Britton also touched upon the training of the child. Her work was highly praised and appreciated by all present and the members all hope that they may have the opportunity of listening to the same lady in the near future. Our next Institute will be at the home of Mrs. H. H. McCain on Jan. 14.

On Saturday Eve a few of the Masonic Brethren with their wives met at the home of W. Jewett, and after spending a pleasant evening presented Mr. Jewett with a handsome pipe, as a slight token of their appreciation of his untiring devotion in lodge matters. Refreshments were served after which the company dispersed, all wishing Mr. and Mrs. Jewett many happy returns for the New Year.

Fort Fairfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen McMullen of Hartland have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Gordon Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. George V. Kearney and son Ray, spent Christmas with relatives in Upper Kent.

Mrs. Frances Dickinson of Victoria who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. D. H. Boyd for a few days, has returned home.

Miss Sarah McMullen and brother, Milo, of Hartland returned home Saturday, after visiting their aunt, Mrs. Gordon Boyer a few days.

Miss Ruth Kearney went to Upper Kent this Wednesday for a visit with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood of Plaster Rock have been visiting with their daughter, Mrs. A. Hersey.

Mrs. Emeline Baird of Peel mother of D. H. and B. W. A. Boyd, is the guest of her sons here.

Mrs. David Grant, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Verna Grant and Miss Greta Estabrooks of Easton went to Kilburn, Wednesday for a visit with relatives and friends.

The Misses Jennie and Ruth Boyer went to Hartland Monday afternoon for a week's visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Marion Monson returned home Saturday from a visit of two weeks in Centreville with her niece.

Mrs. George Gimson of Peel who has been the guest of Mrs. Day, lower Main street, returned home Monday.—Fort Fairfield Review.

Farmers in Richmond, this county, are hauling hay to Houlton for which they receive $16.50 a ton. They pay the duty and receive a profit of $4 a ton more than the sale would bring on this side. Those "Loyalists" who were actuated by a patriotic desire to have "no truck or trade with the Yankees" were only working for a miserable party advantage.—Sentinel.

Happy New Year

Swing into 1913 with a determination to discount the past at every point, and keep this the best Clothing, Hat and Furnishings store in Hartland.

May the recollections of the dying year live as a pleasant memory of a time that's gone. And sorrow—may it be buried by the goodness and the joy which the New Year has in store for you.

Happy New Year

The John McLaughlan Co., Ltd

The Up-to-Date Clothing, Hatters and Furnishers
Hartland and Woodstock

National Stock Food

Blatchford's Calf Meal

Blatchford's Sugar and Flax Seed

Blatchford's Poultry Tonic

Flax Seed Meal

We carry all kinds of Stock Foods, but recommend NATIONAL above all others

ESTEY & CURTIS CO., LTD.

Wholesale and Retail Druggists, Hartland, N. B.

Accuracy
Carefulness

Satisfaction

"The Guide Post of Our Business"

Quality
Reliability

Satisfied customers are the signs that bring business. We want every customer to receive satisfaction from every preparation bearing our name.

Do your Drug Store buying here and we'll use you right. Right in every way with the best we have. The Best in goods, the Best in assortment and quality, the Best in service.

There can't be anything better than the best—it there was, we would have it for you.

If it's Toilet Goods, Sick Room Supplies, Rubber Goods, Nursery Needs or Prescriptions we have the complete list.

"The Best We Have Is Yours"

OUR AIM:
The Best Drugs

Stevens Bros.

YOUR WISH:
Lowest Prices

"The Reliable Druggists"

J. C. STEVENS,

Centreville Manager

2 STORES:

Centreville and Woodstock, N. B.

New Meat Shop

We have opened a Meat Store in Taylor's Building, opposite the Exchange hotel, with a full line of Beef, Pork, Poultry, Fish, etc.

You will find our service good and prices right.

Luskey & Nevers.

Fall and Winter

CLOTHING

including

Suits and Overcoats, Hewson's and and Stanfields' Underwear and Sweaters.

Splendid new line of

Footwear

M. W. Caldwell,

Bristol, N. B.

Local News and Personal Items

Sheriff Tompkins was in Hartland on Tuesday.

Charles Cahill has opened up a restaurant at Centreville.

Charles Laskey of Bannock was a visitor in Hartland on Tuesday.

James Lipsett of Wilmot was a caller at this office on Saturday.

Miss Gladys Kimball has been spending a few weeks in Avondale.

W. R. Trafford and son of East Florenceville was in Hartland on Thursday.

The union services held in the churches this week have been well attended.

Miss Vella Hatfield of Limestone, Me., is the guest of Mrs. H. H. Hatfield.

Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Trafton of Perth were last week guests of Rev. P. J. Trafton.

W. P. McMullin has gone to Truro to take the short course at the Agriculture.

The Misses Owens were last week guests of their sister, Mrs. Charles Bowlin, Woodstock.

Mrs. T. J. Carter of Andover was recently a guest of her father, George R. Burtt.

Rev. S. Walter Schurman will preach at Jacksonville on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Rev. E. B. McLatchey of Florenceville was a guest of Rev. S. W. Schurman on Thursday.

There will be United Baptist service at Upper Brighton on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Miss Ada Hagerman has returned to Lewiston after spending two weeks with her parents.

"Five Roses" and other Manitoba Patent Flours reduced in price for cash or produce at CARR'S.

J. B. Christian returned on Tuesday from Boston where he had been attending a school for barbers.

The Manser block, one of Houlton's finest office buildings was destroyed by fire on Saturday night.

WANTED—a second class female teacher for school district No. 7, Avondale. Apply to J. A. Barter, secretary.

Garfield Larlee formerly station agent at Bath, and family and Miss Robin Thornton returned from Calgary on Tuesday.

Those in a position to purchase 40 or more gallons of kerosene will find it advantageous to call on Keith & Plummer.

This week a carload of light steel rails for construction work on the Valley railway was unloaded at this station and taken by teams to Lakeville.

A second class female teacher wanted at Armand for the coming term. Apply stating salary to Sam McAfee, Armand, N. B.

A first class female teacher is wanted immediately for school district No. 4, parish of Peel. Apply at once to James Stephenson, Mount Pleasant, N. B.

B. W. Morgan, after spending the holidays at home, returned to Trinity College, Toronto, on Tuesday, going north and taking the I.C.R. at River du Loup.

For a late copy of the Free Press News Bulletin and wishes for a prosperous New Year The Observer thanks "A Carleton county Boy in Winnipeg."

Teacher Wanted: A second or third class female teacher for Dist. No. 11, East Brighton, Car. Co., apply stating salary to Perry E. Shaw, Sec'y.

Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Barnes are enjoying a visit in Massachusetts. On their return Mr. Barnes will take the pastorate of the Baptist church at Whitehead, Grand Manan.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Shaw of Florenceville announce the marriage of their daughter, Bessie C. to Fred W. Edler of Youngstown, Alberta. The wedding took place at Didsbury, Alta., on New Years day.

L. E. McFarland having returned home is now prepared to do business in all kinds of metal at his residence, Hartland. His telephone No. 25-13, Farmers Line. See ad. in this paper.

William Shaw, formerly of Lower Wakefield, now of Vancouver, is visiting friends in the county. He and his mother, Mrs. Nathaniel Shaw of Woodstock, were guests of H. N. Beyer for the week end.

D. E. Morgan went to Hainesville last week to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Wentworth Jones. He was accompanied by Mrs. Morgan.

Mrs. G. W. McQuarrie and little daughter of Yone, Vic. Co., spent the holidays with her mother, Mrs. S. L. Dickinson, Victoria.

Users of Fertilizer may get a useful calendar and a memorandum book by writing the Dominion Fertilizer Co., St. Stephen, and stating that they saw the ad in this paper.

The California cold wave reached us last night and The Observer's thermometer registered 10 below. Other thermometers that seemed to feel the cold more showed 20 degrees.

The School Play, advertised in another column for next Tuesday evening, should attract not only the village people but those from surrounding districts. It will be well worth attending.

On New Year's day the marriage of Isaac Dyer and Miss Alberta D. Curtis of Bristol was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, East Florenceville, by Rev. E. C. Turner.

O. W. and Went Thistle, formerly of Hartland, who have been played in Aroostook for several years, spent last week with friends here and on Saturday left for Southern California.

Feb. 18, 19 and 20 are the dates for the exhibition of the Carleton County Poultry Association. Elaborate plans are being made for the event which bids fair to excel the previous shows.

O. L. Bourn, a reformed printer who is spending the winter at Stickney in the interest of F. A. Crossman, hardwood lumber merchant of Kingsfield, Me., is assisting in The Observer office this week.

The annual meeting of Carleton (north) L.O.L. will be held at Glassville on the second Tuesday in January (14th) at 2.30 p.m. All members are requested to attend. S. W. SMITH, County Master.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adams spent New Years with his sister, Mrs. G. A. Carmichael at Bridge water Centre, called on a number of old friends there, and made a short stay with Mrs. Adams' brother in Houlton.

Rev. James Sprague, James Faulkner and Miss Nancy Smith, of Arthur's, passed through Perth Friday enroute to Wilmot, where they will attend the Primitive Baptist quarterly meetings.

Died at Bristol, Dec. 17, 1912 after a lingering illness Shepherd K. Farley in the 60th year of his age. He leaves a wife and four daughters, Mrs. H. E. Carr and Mrs. M. F. Lewis of Calgary, and the Misses Roxena and Matilda at home.

A rural mail delivery route has been started embracing Mount Pleasant and Lansdowne, which places were hitherto served thrice-a-week. There are about 30 families on the new route and Isaac Pelky makes the deliveries. The change took place Jan. 1.

The annual meeting of the Royal Scarlet Chapter of Carleton (north) L.O.L. will meet at Hartland on Jan. 21. All companions are urgently requested to attend as matters of importance are to be dealt with, also election of officers, etc. A. G. BAKER, W. C. in C.

At the close of the morning service at Northampton, Dec. 21, H. W. Rogers in behalf of the good people of that place handed the pastor, Rev. G. Ayers, an envelope containing a generous sum of money accompanied by the wish that he might have a happy New Year.

It is said that the mild weather will be responsible for curtailing the lumber cut on the head waters of the St. John. There is little frost in the ground and the swamps are not frozen. Operations on the Restigouche are satisfactory, according to the report of W. C. Craig who came down last week.

Mrs. J. Arthur Armstrong who won the Piano in The Observer contest desires to thank the large number of people who gave her assistance. Particularly in Victoria county, where the paper was little known, a large circulation was secured under rather adverse circumstances. To these subscribers, Mrs. Armstrong conveys especial thanks.

On Dec. 31 a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Belyea of Lower Windsor.

Miss Marion Stevens, R. N., will leave tomorrow for Presque Isle to do special nursing in the hospital in that town.

Mrs. T. J. Hurley entertained a few friends at tea on Thursday evening.—Miss Fitzpatrick of Florenceville spent New Years with her brother, Rev. P. A. Fitzpatrick at the home of Mrs. A. Plummer.—Mrs. M. L. Hayward entertained her Sunday school class on Monday evening.

Miss Edna Allen entertained a few friends on Monday evening.—Weldon Ward had a birthday party on Tuesday.—Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Morgan entertained a few friends at tea on Tuesday evening to celebrate the 38th anniversary of their marriage.—Miss Helen Plummer left on Saturday for Woodstock where she will attend school.—Hartland corr. The Press.

HON. W. P. JONES COMMENTS INSPECTOR COLPITT.

At the golden wedding recently celebrated by Scott Act Inspector and Mrs. Colpitt Hon. W. P. Jones was one of the guests and addressing the assembled guests he said, the work done by Mr. Colpitt had been of more service to this community probably than the work of any other man for the same time in any capacity. It was work that no other man could have done. Mr. Colpitt had been courageous, honorable, diligent and persevering. He had been found to be absolutely incorruptible, so that even those who should naturally be supposed to be his enemies on account of having been prosecuted, had a profound respect for him because they realized that he was a man who would make no concessions, but who would fearlessly do his duty. Any person admires a man of that calibre. It required very exceptional qualities to persevere, in the face of the criticism of both sides of liquor question, in the work, as Mr. Colpitt had for so many years. The liquor question is one of the most difficult to deal with and the fact that he had been retained as inspector for twenty years in the County, and that in the town, after others were tried, he was reinstated, shows that he had peculiar adaptability for the position. Much had been said tonight about Mr. Colpitt's Christian life and his work in the church, but Mr. Jones felt that he was in a position to state that Mr. Colpitt carried his Christianity about with him in his business life and did not reserve it for the church alone. The Canada Temperance Act is a fairly good Act but is capable of being improved upon. An officer should have power to seize liquor upon view as is the case under the Act relating to the construction of public works. Under the Canada Temperance Act the officer must first obtain a search warrant and in order to do so he must have information of a definite character to lay before the magistrate. This takes time, and time is a very important consideration in these matters. Then there is no power to serve a search warrant after dark, and those engaged in the business take full advantage of this condition. Considering these and other handicaps, and taking a broad view of the situation, any unbiased person must agree that a great work has been done by Mr. Colpitt. Mr. Jones concluded by wishing Mr. and Mrs. Colpitt long life and continued happiness.

Sipprell—Belyea.

The home of Scott Sipprell was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon when his brother, Halden, was united in marriage with Miss Edith Belyea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Belyea of Lower Windsor. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Walter Schurman in the presence of about 40 guests. The bride was gown in cream serge with satin trimmings and cream all-over lace and was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth. The groom was unattended. Miss Elsa Sipprell played Mendelssohn's Wedding March, as the party entered the room. After lunch was served the happy couple took the afternoon express for St. John where they will remain a brief period before going to Chipman where they will reside for the present, Mr. Sipprell having a position in F. E. Sayre's store there.

Many useful and pretty gifts were received.

The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner Sipprell and is a Somerville boy. For some time he was in business in Hartland and is well and favorably known. The bride for several years taught school, her last engagement being the Somerville school. She has a host of friends who will wish her every happiness.

Produce Prices.

The recent snow falls have improved the roads somewhat so that there is an increased movement in produce. On Wednesday Hartland merchants were paying prices as follows:

Potatoes.....	$1.00
Hay (loose).....	$6 to 8.00
Dressed Pork.....	.08 to .09
Beef.....	.05
Butter.....	.24
Eggs.....	.25
Oats.....	.40
B. W. Meal.....	2.60
Hides.....	.10

"Our Church Fair"

A Play Given by Hartland School

ON TUESDAY EVENING JANUARY 14

IN THE FORESTERS' HALL, HARTLAND

Also, a Comedy Dialogue: "A Public Benefactor"

There will also be Recitations and Songs and Home Made Candy will be offered for sale

ADMISSION TO ALL: Adults, 25c; Children, 15c

Doors open at 8. Curtain rises at 8.30. Proceeds to purchase school equipment

Eastlake Steel Shingles

either galvanized or painted. Are Always Reliable

They are more economically durable and quicker to apply than any others, fitting accurately—and therefore most easily laid.

They have been thoroughly tested in all kinds of climate, invariably proving Fire, Lightning, Rust and Weather Proof.

If you're building, make sure of satisfaction by ordering EASTLAKE for the roof—the fullest information if you write Metallic Roofing Co., Ltd. Wholesale Mfrs., Toronto, Canada.

Metallic Roofing Co.

Ceilings, Clapboard Siding, Eastlake Shingles, Eve Troughs, Conductor Pipe

for inside or outside work, direct from the factory. Latest Designs. Measures taken; diagrams made free. Give us a call and save money.

L. E. McFarland, Agent, Hartland, N. B.

Farmers' Telephone Co.

Subscribers Please Add the Following Names to Your Directories:

Woodstock Exchange Burden & True, Gro., Woodstock, 10-2 Steven Bros. Drugists, 27-1

Hartland Exchange A. W. Estabrooks, General Store, 5-11 Rockland, 30-12

Grenville News, Res., Hartland, 7-21 J. Ed. McCollum, 7-21

Willard McIntyre, "Up, Brighton 3-5 James Scarrah, "Mt. Pleasant,

Florenceville Exchange W. W. Wilson & Co., Store, Centreville, 3-14

Robert Carvill, Res., Lakeville, 15-21 J. F. Williams, 15-12

Hanford Waters, 2-4 Rev. M. H. Manuel, Res., Florenceville, 6-4

John Porter, Res., Williamstown, 2-3 Thos. Corbett, 2-22

Frank Emery, Pioneer, 2-2 F. B. Charleston, Res., Florenceville, 6-2

Meeting of County Council.

The Regular Semi-Annual Meeting of the County Council of the Municipality of Carleton, will be held at the Court House on TUESDAY, the 21st day of January next, at ten of the clock in the afternoon.

Dated this Twentieth Day of December, A. D. 1912.

J. C. HARTLEY, Secretary-Treasurer Municipality of Carleton.

Fort George, B. C.

Record Railroad Construction will cause British Columbia to be the scene of greatest development in Western Canada during the next decade. Premier McBride says will be spent in British Columbia between now and the end of 1915.

$100,000,000.00

Fort George

Is in the centre of this great development

All lots in Central Fort George were sold in sixty days. Other Additions have been put in since. These are going rapidly.

Lots may be had from one hundred and fifty dollars each—Double Corners, three hundred and twenty-five, payments $10 per month per lot or 10 per cent discount for cash.

Now is the time to buy, before the railroads get there. Those who invested in Fort George one or two years ago have already made big profits, but the growing time is ahead.

If you have a few or many dollars to invest is the place to put it. I can sell you lots in town sites from St. John to Vancouver, but I believe Fort George is the surest and quickest money maker.

Fort George

Write me for further information.

JOHN T. G. CARR

Sales Agent for New Brunswick.

Hartland, N. B.

Selling Out Our Entire Stock of Clothing Below Cost

Men's Suits: $7.50 Suits for 5.00 Ladies' COATS as low as $3.00

3.00 " 5.75 A few sizes Reversible Cloth Coats that were $15, now selling for 10.00

4.00 " 7.00 Capes, $2.00

10.00 " 7.75 A very Special Bargain in One Heavy Coat, Rubber-lined.

12.00 " 8.50 1 Ladies' Fur Coat, only $5.00

15.00 " 11.00 Ladies' Rubber Coats reduced to $4.50

Men's Black and Blue Serge Suits that once sold for $12, now only $9.

Boys' Suits, $3.50 and upwards. Men's Overcoats $5.00 and $7.50

Men's Overcoats, 4.00 and $5.00 Boys' Overcoats, $1.45 and upward.

Youths' Overcoats, $1.45 and upward. Mackinaw and Brodie Jackets.

Sheep-lined Coats, a good supply on hand. The Famous Bannockburn Pants always on hand.

Come Early and Make the Best Selection.

This Sale lasts only 25 Days.

BOHAN & CO.

BATH, N. B.

We Give Coupons in the Observer Piano Contest

Exchange Hotel

W. F. Thornton, Proprietor

Well equipped in every way. Livery Stable in connection.

Main St., Hartland, N. B.

Exchange Hotel

BATH

Turney Gibbons, Proprietor.

Splendidly equipped. Good table.

Livery, Sample Room, Hack to all trains.

Special attention to commercial men.

Dionne Hotel

Dionne & Stevenson, Props.

Perth, N. B.

Modern equipment. Free hack from station.

Good sample rooms, and livery in connection.

When in Hartland call on

W. E. THORNTON

for up-to-date work in

Barbering and Hairdressing

You cannot get better satisfaction in any barbershop north of Woodstock.

Highest Prices Paid

Potatoes
Oats
Dressed Beef
Pork
Butter
Hardwood

Call Us Up Before Selling.

Hatfield & Scott.

Quality, Efficiency, Sentiment

MEET IN THE OLD FAVORITE

↓ XMAS GIFT ↓

Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen

A Refinement and Usefulness All Its Own

Waterman's Ideal with its inner high quality and superior patents is a gift selection that will please every one just as it would you. Nothing is more useful or easy to buy and send. Pens may be exchanged to suit the recipient. There are plain styles as well as gold and silver mounted. There is the same superiority in all. Compare the trade-mark shown above to avoid substitutes.

In Christmas Boxes. Booklet on request.

Sold by the Leading Stationers, Jewelers, etc.

L. E. Waterman Company, Limited, Montreal

WHAT THE WAR WAS ABOUT

LITTLE THINGS THAT HAVE LED TO BIG BATTLES.

More Territory Wanted Is Usually The Cause For Most Wars.

What are they fighting about? That is a question that could be truthfully answered, in nine wars out of ten, by some variation of La Fontaine's fable about the wolf and the lamb. But it would never do for one country to say to another: "We badly want some of your territory, and we are going to have a try to take it from you by force." So some more or less reasonable pretext has to be found, or some deliberate insult given which the other side cannot ignore, says London Answers.

To illustrate the petty pretext, let us take the war between France and Holland in the reign of Louis XIV. That war was declared because, it was said, the King of France had been ridiculed on some medals struck at Amsterdam. The assertion was that the Dutch ambassador to France had caused to be struck a medal bearing his head and the motto: "In conspectu meo stetit sol," which may be translated: "At sight of me the sun stands still."

The Altered Wire.

As the sun was the device of Louis, and he was generally referred to as "The Sun King," this was held to be very offensive, but it would hardly have led to war if the French king had not been on the look-out for an excuse to tackle the Dutch, with a view to stopping their military development.

It is curious that not only has no example of that medal ever been found, but historians are pretty well agreed that it never existed!

As an instance of the provocative insult, the little thing that directly led to the Franco-German war of 1870-1 stands out from every thing else of the kind. The real cause of that war was that Prussia wanted Alsace and Lorraine, and felt herself strong enough to take what she wanted; but France was made to declare war by an insulting alteration made by Bismarck in a telegram that had been written by a secretary to convey to a German newspaper the fact that in an interview with the French ambassador, the old King of Prussia had court-teously and inoffensively refused the French request that he would give guarantees not to proceed with the candidature of a German prince for the throne of Spain.

Touched By a Feather.

Bismarck meant to have war, and he altered the telegram to make it appear that the refusal had been given in insulting terms. It seems incredible that any statesman would declare war on the strength of a newspaper statement, but there is the fact.

It was a very trivial thing that put the French on the road that ended in the possession of the fine colony of Algeria. One morning in the month of April, 1837, the French consul-general at Algiers went to see the Dey on business. The Dey pressed a claim which one of his subjects had against the French Government, and the consul-general met it by some counter-claims. The discussion became animated, and the Dey flicked the Frenchman's face with a peacock-feather fan he held in his hand. That gave France her opportunity, and she took full advantage of it.

By Lack of Tact.

Napoleon's disastrous campaign of 1812 in Russia was brought about by the unfriendliness of the Russian ambassador at Paris. Neither Napoleon nor the Emperor Alexander desired war, and there were no difficulties between the two countries that would not have been adjusted amicably if the Russian ambassador had been up to his work. He was naturally an overbearing man—the worst sort of person of whom to make an ambassador—and he had so little tact that he presented a demand to Napoleon in such an insulting manner that there was no option but to refuse it. Although the Emperor afterwards said that he would have been quite willing to discuss the matter in an accommodating spirit, if it had been put to him in a different way.

If it had not been for that rudeness of the Russian ambassador, the whole history of Europe since that time would have been different. We might not have come out of the Peninsular War victorious; there would have been no battle of Waterloo; the modern German Empire would be non-existent; and a lineal descendant of the Great Emperor might be now reigning in France. Truly small things make history.

It is doubtful if there would have been any Crimean War if the Emperor of Russia had not addressed Napoleon III. as "My good Brother," as is customary among sovereigns. It was just the little bit of feeling engendered by that slight that tipped the balance and decided the French to join us.

Everybody knows that the immediate cause of the war between the United States and Spain in 1897 was the sinking of the Havana Harbor warship Maine.

How Kiel Was Captured.

It was thought that the ship had been destroyed by a Spanish torpedo or mine, and "Remember the Maine" became a sort of war-cry with the Americans.

Prussia and Austria invaded Denmark in 1864 on the pretext that the Danes had been markedly rude to German subjects. The real reason was that Prussia wanted a naval port on the Baltic.

She didn't quite manage it as the result of that war, for Austria was a co-partner in the fabled duchy of Schleswig-Holstein; but two years later Prussia picked a quarrel with Austria, defeated her in the Seven Weeks' War, and took Schleswig-Holstein for herself. That was how Germany got Kiel, so useful to her now she has a navy.

A Tip.

If you would be A real success, Think more of work, Of pleasure, less.

Grinder.

"I see that a fellow over in England has invented a wire netting guard that will prevent automobiles from splattering mud on pedestrians." Grouch—"But what's mud for?"

J. J. Hill's Fearlessness and Shrewdness Made Him Rich

"King of the Amer West." Began Work as Clerk in Ontario Store

James J. Hill is rightly regarded as the foremost of Aladdins of American railway enterprise. He is a Canadian by birth, having been born in Wellington county, Ontario, in 1838. He was a great admirer of the works of James Fenimore Cooper, and it was through the influence of his books that Hill's attention was called to the great possibilities of the West. To get the money by which he could make the trip from his home, it was necessary for Hill to go to work in a store. For three years he slaved in a menial position, and, besides supporting his mother, managed to save a little money, enough to take him on his great expedition.

Hill went to St. Paul, which was a small village then on the hem of civilization. The conditions there were hard and the life rough. Hill hired out as a mere roustabout on a wharf, carrying wood and freight on his back from the wharf to the decks of Mississippi steamboats for $2 a day.

He became a shipping clerk in the offices of the Dub. que and St. Paul Packet Company. It was in this position that he first came in contact with some of the problems of transportation. It fired him to greater things, and he was soon established in business for himself. He became the agent for the North-western Packing Company and the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, also engaging in the sale of coal and wood. He was the first, incidentally, to introduce coal in St. Paul, and he was the first to establish communication between St. Paul and Winnipeg, then known as Fort Garry.

In 1873 Hill went into partnership with Norman W. Kittson, of the Hudson Bay Company, and together they operated steamboats between Moorhead and Winnipeg. He was prevailed upon to attempt the reorganization of the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, a bankrupt railroad, standing $35,000,000 in debt.

The road was a joke in financial circles, and alarmists did all they could to discourage Hill in his intention to make it a paying proposition, but without avail. He persuaded Donald Smith and George Stephen to help him, and in 1879 the road was reconstituted under the name of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railroad. Hill was made the general manager of the road.

Mr. J. J. Hill.

He saw personally to its development, and in 1886 the main line of the track was almost completed. All the bridges were built, tunnels cleaned, and the line ready for grading. Over 4,000 men were used in the work. To-day the Northern Pacific Railroad, which it has since been rechristened, represents a trackage of 6,000 miles.

Hill is now known as the "King of the North-West." His railroad hauls the greater portion of the 80,000,000 bushels of wheat raised annually in Minnesota, the 9,000,000 bushels contributed to the market by the Dakotas, and the 24,000,000 bushels from Oregon. Only his fearlessness and far-sightedness have enabled Hill to become one of the nineteen richest men in the world.

ROYAL YEAST

LOOK FOR THE BLUE PACKAGE
BE CAREFUL TO SEE THAT LABEL ON PACKAGE IS BLUE.
NO OTHER COLOR EVER USED ON ROYAL YEAST
REMEMBER THE COLOR BLUE
E.W. GILLETTE CO. LTD.
TORONTO - ONT.

TORONTO CORRESPONDENCE

INTERESTING BITS OF GOSSIP FROM THE QUEEN CITY.

The C. N. R.'s New Townsite—General Lessor and Other—Interesting Law Suit—Hamilton's Fate

It has long been recognized that Toronto's great handicap as compared to Montreal lies in the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Grand Trunk Railway both have their headquarters in the city. The C. N. R. keeps its headquarters in Toronto, but the Grand Trunk Railway has its headquarters in Montreal. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more. The C. N. R. has been making a great deal of money, and it is now in a position to make a great deal of money more.

from politically some day, though he is not yet in the background. As a young man he was prominent in the political life of Toronto, and over 20 years ago, when only 20 years of age, was elected as an alderman for two terms. He was one of the group of young men whose weekly meetings and discussions on public questions are still recalled with the warmest pleasure by everyone who participated.

Afterward, Mr. Lindsay became manager of the Crown's West Coast Co., of which position he was elected President in 1904. For the past three years, having retired from that position, he has lived in Toronto. He is still interested in public affairs and is understood to be the possessor of a considerable fortune.

It is of passing interest that he is the founder of the "Variety," the Toronto publication which has recently been in the limelight in connection with the dispute with Principal Savage.

Hamilton's Fate.

The winning of three football championships in one day by the city of Hamilton has brought that rival of Toronto more prominence in these parts than it has had in many a day. Football popularity may not be the best kind of publicity, but the ambitious city's feat is undoubted evidence of the existence of a more than ordinary civic spirit.

Hamilton used to be a continuous host of all stock jokers in Toronto. On the stage the continues to some extent, but it would seem that the practice is dying out. Perhaps one reason is that Hamilton is getting so big that it no longer considers Hamilton as a serious rival. Toronto now points with pride to the fact that its population is increasing every year by more than 10,000 births, apart from the population added by immigration and annexations. Some six or seven years ago Hamilton put on a considerable spurt and secured the location of a large number of important American industries, but in recent years its increase in population has not been so rapid. At the same time it has nearly every natural advantage that Toronto has, and with the right kind of civic spirit and enterprise there is no reason why it should not become a large city.

THE EMPRESS'S PROMISE.

How She Showed Her Appreciation of Kindness.

An English gentleman who owns a fine estate on the coast of Spain once told the following charming story of the late Empress of Austria to a writer who communicated it to the New York Observer:

In the spring of 1892 the Austrian consul called on Mr. D., and said that the Empress Elizabeth, understanding that he proposed to spend the season in England, greatly desired to rent his house. Mr. D. replied that he should feel highly honored if her majesty would consent to occupy it for the summer.

When he returned with his family in the autumn, a note came from the empress, saying that she would pass through Jerez on a certain day, and desired to breakfast with them. Her majesty expressed her indebtedness to the D.'s for a delightful summer, and begged that she be allowed to make them some compensation; but the offer was gracefully refused. At length the empress said:

"Is there nothing I can do to show my appreciation of your kindness and courtesy?"

"Well," replied Mr. D., "if on your majesty's return to Vienna you will send me a small photograph with your autograph, I shall be honored in its possession, and I shall value it very highly."

Several months passed without the appearance of the promised post, and both Mr. and Mrs. D. rather unwillingly arrived at the conclusion that the illustrious lady had entirely forgotten them. But at last an enormous packing-case arrived from Vienna. It contained a finely-framed full-length oil-painting of the empress, the work of the Austrian court painter, one of the most famous artists of Europe.

INVESTMENT VS. SPECULATION

Speculation means risking or gambling your money, while investment is defined by safety of principal, combined with a fair interest yield.

When we try to interest you in bonds, we offer you the highest class of investment, where safety of principal is assured, and 6% earned on your money.

We offer bonds in $100, $500, and $1,000 denominations.

J. A. MACKAY & COMPANY

LIMITED
Guardian Bldg. Royal Bank Bldg.
MONTREAL TORONTO

Model Breakfast

—has charming flavour and wholesome nourishment—

Post Toasties

and Cream.

This delightful food, made of Indian Corn, is really fascinating.

Corn, says Dr. Hutchison, a noted English authority, is one of the ideal foods.

As made into Post Toasties, it is most attractive to the palate.

"The Memory Lingers", Sold by grocers—

Packages 10 and 15 cts.

Made in Canada by Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Ltd. Windsor, Ontario.

RULE FORTY-SEVEN

Little Mr. Turton bustled to and fro in the silk department of Manley's great stores.

"Come, come, Miss Blake! Can't you find something to do? Suppose Mr. Manley himself came in and found you idling in business hours! It is not business—not business!"

He darted away across the floor, bowed obsequiously to a customer, led her to the right counter, and saw that she was properly served.

"Now, Mr. Harrop," he said to the first salesman, "we must push business to-day! It is most important that we should beat the record for this month last year!"

"It is always most important," said Harrop to his chief. "You're never content unless we beat all our past records!"

"If a business does not advance it goes back!" said Mr. Turton anxiously, "and I can't let the department go back. Mr. Manley has no patience with a department that gets behind!"

"I hope Mrs. Turton is better to-day," said the salesman kindly.

"I've every hope that the new doctor will do her good. It's a long business. But she said to me herself this morning that after eighteen months in bed, she must take a turn soon. Very kind of you to inquire, Harrop! Mrs. Turton will be so pleased when I tell her. Oh, dear me—dear me! Here are Miss Sanders' shelve undusted again! I shall have to fine her. Miss Sanders, if you please!"

A girl stepped forward. "Do look at these shelve—neglected again! Suppose Mr. Manley came in, and saw them! What would you do?"

The girl shrugged her shoulders indifferently. "He would probably discharge you on the spot!" said Mr. Turton, in a low tone. "And what prospect is there for any young lady who has been summarily discharged from Manley's Stores? I am very sorry, Miss Sanders, but you know Rule 18. I can do nothing else but fine you a shilling. The rules of the firm are meant to be obeyed. Please don't pain me by making me fine you again!"

"I won't forget again, Mr. Turton," said the girl smilingly to the eager little man.

"That's right! I wish I could remit the fine, but conscientiously—"

He shook his head. "Conscientiously" was his word. His staff knew him as "conscientious" Turton, and recalled joyously the occasion when in a rush of business he had forgotten to put away goods after serving a customer, and had promptly fined himself half-a-dollar for his error.

The tide of business set in steadily. Mr. Turton pervaded the department, being, as it were, everywhere at once. Mr. Manley himself strode in, and gazed grimly at the proceedings.

Mr. Turton dashed to the rescue of all girls who seemed nervous with customers under the great man's eye. A shrill-voiced elderly lady demanded something which she insisted she had been supplied with before, and denounced loudly the girl who said they had never stocked the pattern.

Mr. Turton leaped into the gulf, took over the awkward customer himself, convinced her that she had bought the old pattern somewhere else, sold her something suitable, and led her, a comparatively amiable woman, to the elevator.

Mr. Manley made a sign to him as he returned.

Mr. Turton hurried across to him, trembling. "Don't waste too much time on these old cats!" remarked Mr. Manley.

"I prefer, if possible, to satisfy them, sir. It hurts me if the department misses sales."

Mr. Manley nodded. And as the occasions were seldom when he did not express vigorously his discontent with what an employee had done, Mr. Turton walked away with an air of pride, like some subaltern who has been commended by his general on the battlefield.

Every day felt happier when Mr. Manley moved away to worry another department.

There was a flow of good business. The returns were undoubtedly going up. None of the staff violated any of the six-fifty business rules.

Mr. Turton gaily calculated that, as things were going so well, he might take his full hour for dinner that day. Then, by eating his dinner in five minutes, he might contrive to rush home to Camden Town and spend ten minutes with his wife.

It would be a treat for the invalid, and he might venture for once to be away from the premises. Cheerful in the prospect, he bustled around the department, and then, turning round a corner unseen, he beheld, though unseen himself, young Frank Manley kissing his daughter Mabel!

It came as a tremendous shock to the little man. He moved away to his tiny office at the end of the department, and pretended to be looking over invoices.

His own daughter—Rule 47! The terrible rule ran through his mind. It stated definitely that any employee flirting in business hours would be instantly dismissed. Poor Mabel! She would have to leave Manley's! To Mr. Turton it seemed as if she were being cast out of Paradise. And her salary would cease. And that forty pounds a year had been so helpful in paying the terrible doctors' bills. How could she—his own daughter—dare to violate such an important rule!

"I wonder," thought Mr. Turton, "whether I might caution her against any future offence."

Then there came back to him the case of Miss Webber and Mr. Andrew. He had been obliged to report them, and Mr. Manley had cast them out in summary fashion. It was true that they had married, and now had a prosperous little shop at Streatham. Still, they were outside Manley's! And though they were both quite friendly towards him, and said that he had been their best friend—still, he always felt like an assassin when he saw the young couple.

How could he overlook the violation of rules by his own daughter, when he had reported it in others? Then his wife would have to know! The news would be sure to set her back!

Poor "conscientious" Turton bent back over the pile of invoices in agony.

At last he made up his mind. He had to be fair to all. The rule must be enforced. He wondered whether Mr. Manley might be disposed to be merciful, considering that his son was mainly responsible, and then dismissed that possibility from his mind. Mr. Manley always boasted that he made no exceptions, and had no favorites.

At last he felt that he could hide himself in the office no longer. He came out, and dreadingly attended to his duties, though utterly lacking in the cheerful alertness he had always commended to young salesmen. His daughter noticed his sad face, and said:

"You've had no bad news of mother, have you?"

"No, dear. Please attend to your duties. Rule 11 prohibits casual conversation in business hours."

At last, when his dinner-hour came, he went slowly downstairs to Mr. Manley's office. He heard Mr. Manley's great voice thundering away at the manager of the lace department, and trembled as he heard it.

"Improve or go!" roared Mr. Manley.

The head of the lace crept ignominiously out of the private office. Mr. Manley looked up as Mr. Turton entered.

"His returns down three months running!" grunted Mr. Manley. "Can't stand that, Turton, can I? What do you want? Morning returns down?"

"I really don't know, sir."

"Don't know!" shouted Mr. Manley. "I put you there to know. When I managed a department thirty years ago I knew my returns to a halfpenny!"

"I beg pardon, sir, but I have been much upset. I detected an employee in my department violating Rule 47."

"Flirting in business hours! This is a business house, not a marriage agency. Oh, but it takes two to flirt. Who were the people?"

"Miss Turton," stammered Mr. Turton.

"Your daughter! Well, a rule's a rule. She knew about it. You ought to have brought her up better! Tell her to leave to-day. Who was the other—a customer?"

"It was Mr. Frank, sir."

"H'm! Well, I ought to have brought him up better, I suppose. I'll attend to him. You know what to do with the girl. Anything more?"

"No, sir."

"R'ght! You see I'm busy?" Mr. Turton went back to his department. He never troubled about dinner. He sat in his office, and wondered whether it would be long before Mabel got another place.

He speculated whether any firm would take a girl who had been summarily dismissed from Manley's. He thought he would not tell her till she went home. Then he would break the news to her. She would do nothing all the afternoon if she knew, and, after all, she owed a duty to the firm. Then the disgrace, too! How could he face the department afterwards?

He contrived to struggle through the dreary afternoon. Mr. Manley once walked into the department, and Mr. Turton, to his horror, saw him watching Mabel. It would be the last straw if Mr. Manley roared out at her that she was to get her things and go; but, after a terrible five minutes, Mr. Manley moved on.

At six o'clock the departmental telephone rang.

"Mr. Turton, you're wanted in the private office," said a girl.

He hurried down the stairs, speculating what the new trouble would be. Perhaps Mr. Manley would propose to get rid of the whole family!

He entered the office, and saw Mr. Manley standing by the fireplace with his son.

"Sit down, Mr. Turton," said Mr. Manley.

Mr. Turton tumbled into a chair. "There's more in this than I thought," proceeded Mr. Manley. "Frank, here, tells me that he's engaged to your daughter."

"I assure you, Mr. Manley, that I had no knowledge of it."

"Mr. Turton is quite correct, father."

"He ought to have known. Love-making in his department, indeed!" "I assure you, sir," began Mr. Turton.

"Well, there's no question about it—the girl will have to go!" interrupted Mr. Manley. "Can't have this sort of thing in business hours! Do you think it fitting that my son should be engaged to an employee's daughter?"

"I've done my best for you, sir, and it's been a dreadful surprise to me."

"Well, I've talked things over with Frank. He won't give way, so, you see, Mr. Turton, I don't see how I can keep you as manager of the silk department!"

Mr. Turton sat dumb. The expected blow had fallen. He was deposed from his high position!

"Quite impossible—you must see it—that the future head of the firm should be engaged to the daughter of an employee!"

Mr. Manley paused impressively. "So I've only one alternative. I've been looking for a trustworthy man to take Harris's place as general-manager ever since he broke down! You'll take over the duties to-morrow, Mr. Turton, and at the next board meeting you will have his place on the directorate. Now, a director's daughter is a different thing!"

Mr. Turton sat speechless.

"I suppose Frank had to marry someone," continued Mr. Manley, "and I was always afraid of him getting one of those golfing, motor-ing, extravagant girls. One of them can spend more than any three men can make honestly. Now he'll be marrying a girl who knows the value of money, and how hard it is to make. Why, I married his mother from the hosiery department of Webb & Timmins before I was his age. Best investment I ever made. She'd a business head. Well, she's a smart little girl, Turton, and has a nice face. She managed a spiteful old lady this afternoon in a style that convinced me she could manage a husband."

"Put Turton, mind you discharge her to-night!" he added, in conclusion. "How can I go raising Cain in the department if I know that my future daughter-in-law's got her eye on me?"—London Answers.

Peanut as Civilizer.

The peanut seems to be playing the part of "civilizer" in some of the colonial districts of Africa. Traders give a negro a bushel of nuts for seed on condition that he returns four bushels from his crop, and since the yield in good years is twenty-fold, the black man generally has a surplus that he can sell at the rate of a shilling a bushel. From a single station in Senegambia there were shipped in one year 20,000 tons. Small boys and scientists have long been in agreement as to the value of the peanut: now statesmen also will have to do it honor, since it seems likely to lead the native African into the paths of agriculture.

The Usual Result.

"She married him just for his money."

"Did she get it?"

"Yes, but now she wishes he was poor and decent."

HOME

Dainty Dishes.

Orange Egg-nog.—Two tablespoons syrup stock, juice of one orange, one teaspoonful lemon juice, one-half cup cold water and one egg. Mix together syrup stock, orange and lemon juice. Separate egg, beat yolk light, combine, adding water. Pour on to stiffly beaten egg white, beat well and serve at once in a tall glass. To make syrup stock for sweetening acid drinks, boil together two cupfuls sugar and one cupful water for five minutes, using as needed.

Grape Juice and Egg.—One egg, one-half cupful rich milk, one tablespoonful syrup stock, one-quarter cupful grape juice. Separate egg. Beat yolk light and add milk, syrup stock and grape juice and pour into glass. To the beaten white add a little powdered sugar and a taste of grape juice. Serve on yolk mixture. Chill all ingredients before using.

Oyster Stew.—Three-fourths cupful rich milk, six oysters, one-quarter cupful hot water, one teaspoonful butter, salt and pepper. Wash oysters, discard liquor and steam over hot water till edges are curled. Scald milk, add to it the butter, pour in steamed oysters and liquor, season and serve with hot toasted crackers.

Scraped Beef Balls.—One-half pound round steak, one toast round. Wipe steak with damp cloth. Place on plate and scrape up meat fiber by means of a broad-bladed case knife. Form pulp into little balls, and lightly broil in heated pan, rolling them about until slightly browned. Salt lightly and serve on a hot buttered bit of toast. Do not oil or grease the frying pan.

Junket Ice Cream.—One-half cup

THE TURK HELPS A WOUNDED BROTHER.
The Turk Has a Heart Despite His Bloody Reputation.

men can make honestly. Now he'll be marrying a girl who knows the value of money, and how hard it is to make. Why, I married his mother from the hosiery department of Webb & Timmins before I was his age. Best investment I ever made. She'd a business head. Well, she's a smart little girl, Turton, and has a nice face. She managed a spiteful old lady this afternoon in a style that convinced me she could manage a husband.

"Put Turton, mind you discharge her to-night!" he added, in conclusion. "How can I go raising Cain in the department if I know that my future daughter-in-law's got her eye on me?"—London Answers.

Peanut as Civilizer.

The peanut seems to be playing the part of "civilizer" in some of the colonial districts of Africa. Traders give a negro a bushel of nuts for seed on condition that he returns four bushels from his crop, and since the yield in good years is twenty-fold, the black man generally has a surplus that he can sell at the rate of a shilling a bushel. From a single station in Senegambia there were shipped in one year 20,000 tons. Small boys and scientists have long been in agreement as to the value of the peanut: now statesmen also will have to do it honor, since it seems likely to lead the native African into the paths of agriculture.

The Usual Result.

"She married him just for his money."

"Did she get it?"

"Yes, but now she wishes he was poor and decent."

ful of soda dissolved in hot water. Bake in a slow oven. This cake will be improved by adding half a cup of chopped nut meats.

Keeping Lamps Trimmed.

Despite the reign of the electroliner the lamp still has many followers. Many take to lamps because they must; some because the light it sheds is softer, more becoming and better for the eyes.

When a lamp fails to give a good light do not waste time reviling the manufacturing, but look to your own duties.

Perhaps the wick is crooked, or too short or not in squarely. Rub off the top of the wick each day with soft paper, and if it fails to draw, put it up on the catches or get a new one. Unless sure you can put in the wick correctly send the lamp to a store and have it done properly.

Perhaps a new wick is less necessary than removing the oil with which it is clogged. Boil in vinegar and water and dry thoroughly.

Fill your lamps daily. Never light a lamp that is nearly empty, as it increases danger of explosion. Fill a lamp by daylight; if it must be done after dark keep away from a flame and wipe all oil from the outside.

Even with the best oil a poor light results if the burner is not clean. This should be washed once a month in a quart of cold water, to which has been added a tablespoonful of washing soda and a little soap. Boil several hours, pour off the blackened water, cover with fresh boiling water, soap and soda, boil five minutes, rinse in clean, hot water and rub dry with a clean soft cloth that is not linty.

Lamp chimneys may be rubbed off with soft paper daily, and when smoked should be washed in hot ammonia water, rinsed in cold water and polished with a tea towel and soft paper.

Little Hints.

A simple little idea that to pass on to the housewife was suggested the other day by seeing a bride of a few months struggling to wield a broom while wearing her husband's cast-off gloves to save her hands. The gloves were, of course, a good deal too large for her, but in spite of this they were making her hands hot and uncomfortable and sweeping under such conditions was most trying.

Now to make the old gloves usable for housework it is only necessary to split the backs along the seams and then cut a slit or two around the thumbs. The protection to the hands is as good as with the original gloves and the discomfort is reduced to nothing. This cannot be done, of course, with rubber gloves, intended to protect the hands when forced to dip them in hot water or soda, but it is a useful hint for the housewife who does her own sweeping and mopping and wishes to preserve the beauty of her hands.

Some one advised to try clothes pegs to attach cheesecloth to the jar when straining fruit for preserves, or for similar work where a cheesecloth strainer is used. The idea is not bad, but there is another one with far better results. Have you ever seen the little clips that photographers, amateur and professional, use to dry prints? The little clips are strung in a line, and the prints are clipped at the corners and left until ready to mount.

These clips are little wooden affairs, less than half the size of a clothes peg and much more suitable for clipping the cloth to the edge of the pan or bowl than a clothes peg would be. They are for sale in a photographic stock house or in the photographic department of a store. They are cheap and will be found useful in the house in a number of ways. A wire arrangement in the centre permits a string to be run through them without interfering with the clipping part, and they can be strung across the room and used for drying small articles.

The possibilities of the brush in the kitchen have by means been exhausted. The unnecessary waste of time and energy in cleaning jars of any kind is evident when you see a woman struggling to get at the crevices of a narrow necked preserve jar with a cleaning cloth. It is as bad as the struggle to clean the inside of the lamp chimney. Reams of paper have been used to present to suffering womankind various new methods of getting at the interior of a lamp chimney when it is necessary to wipe it out, but there is nothing about cleaning the interior of preserve jars. Get one of those five or ten cent long-handled brushes and just see how simple and easy a job it is to dip right down into the edge of the interior of the glass and remove every bit of dirt without effort of any undue kind.

Another suggestion for the brush in the kitchen is to get a stiff nail brush for use when cleaning celery. You will find it useful in a number of ways when cleaning vegetables.

It is easy to tempt those who sit around and wait.

"Privates in the army eat more than the officers." "Is that right?" "Yes. There are more of them."

A smile goes a long ways and is sometimes a far better traveller than a punch.

GRL IN THE SERBIAN RANKS

REGRETS THE LOSS OF HER BEAUTIFUL HAIR.

The Father, Having No Son, Made Her Swear to Fight Turks If War Came.

A correspondent of the London Daily Mirror, who has been with the Serb Army in Macedonia, sends a story of a young woman who has won distinction for herself as a soldier in the hard marches and fighting that have marked this campaign. She is Miss Sophia Yovanovitch, who is described as being 19, fair, slim, of medium height, and expressive dark blue eyes, with "hair cropped, dressed in rough but serviceable military uniform, and carrying a carbine, looking a soldier and being a soldier."

The correspondent had a talk with the girl at Uskub, and this is what she said:

"I was born at Belgrade on Jan. 28, 1893, and my parent, were comfortably well off. My father and his parents at one time owned a great deal of land in Macedonia, and had suffered much at the hands of the Turks."

Wanted Serbia Free.

"He was keenly interested in any political movement which might help to achieve his ideal of a free Serbia. For over twenty years he belonged to a committee, an independent and irregular band of Christians who helped to keep the Albanians at bay."

"My father's one sorrow was that he had no son to whom he could hand his rifle. When he was on his deathbed in September, 1911, he called me to his side, and, placing my hands over his heart, asked me to swear by his memory and our name that if ever the occasion arose I would take the place of a son in fighting the Turk. I swore that I would do so, and ever after that oath was like something burning in my brain."

"When there was talk in September of a possibility of war with Turkey I twice wrote the Committee of Public Safety, and begged them to obtain for me an audience of the King, as I wished to join the army. They replied that the King was very busy, and that they could do nothing for me."

Approached King Direct.

"I was eating my heart out with grief, but, of course, could do nothing. Then one day I had a happy idea. I would approach the King direct. I waited until King Peter opened the Skupschina, and then approaching his Majesty implored him to let me serve with his soldiers. The King was most kind. He told me to see Gen. Yankovic (now commanding the third army), and the next day I received a letter to take to the General."

"By the time I got to Nish, where the General had preceded me, I found that he had gone further on, but had left instructions for me. I was sent to Procupine, and there I was taught how to use a rifle and was made a member of a committee."

"After a fortnight's stay we moved on to Vranja. I then had my hair cropped quite short. I am afraid that I did mourn the loss of my hair, of which I had always been so proud."

"A day before the declaration of war we crossed the frontier. Our committee was fifty strong, and the men were just like so many big brothers to me, but of course I did my full share of the work."

Threw Bomb at Foe.

"Our first fight was on the day before the declaration of war at Veyaglave (Vey's head), when a band of Albanians attacked us. We entrenched ourselves behind a karaul (stone block house), when the enemy fired on us. At the word of command I took aim and fired."

"Afterward I was hoisted on to the top of the block house and threw a bomb at the enemy. There is something fascinating about the sound of rifle firing. I don't think I bothered about the danger."

"Then we marched to Czernagourka and had a long struggle against the Albanians. Being towared I suffered much in hill climbing and sprained my foot, but that did not stop me from taking part in the fighting."

Miss Yovanovitch's sweetheart is a fellow member of the committee. He is an engineer, and said he was going to England next year, and after a short stay there would proceed to the United States. Directly after the campaign the couple were to marry.

Obvious Reason.

"My husband has deserted me and I want a warrant," announced the large lady.

"What reason did he have for deserting you?" asked the prosecutor.

"I don't want any lip from you, I want a warrant. I don't know what reason he had."

"I think I understand his reason," said the official feebly, as he proceeded to draw up a warrant.

POOR COPY

BANKING BY MAIL

To enable those living at a distance to conduct a bank account this Bank gives particular attention to Deposits sent by mail :

BANK OF NEW BRUNSWICK

East Florenceville, N. B.

H. M. MARTELL

Graduate Optician.
Resident in Carleton Co. six years. Always here to back up the guarantee of perfect satisfaction in glasses for any defect of vision. Office at Day's Hotel, East Florenceville. Write or call if you want glasses. Can arrange to examine your eyes either at office or at home.

THE HOULTON BUSINESS COLLEGE

More than 15 of our students are from New Brunswick, and we could assist twice as many. If you have been considering the matter, why not enter now.

YOU WILL FIND FRIENDS HERE
O. A. HODGINS, Prin., Houlton, Me.

Dentistry

Dr. J. E. Jewett
in Hartland every Monday.

Edward McSheffery

Blacksmithing and Horse Shoeing

Jobbing Promptly attended to

BATH, N. B.

John K. McIntosh

BLACKSMITH

Horse Shoeing a Specialty
Jobbing Work of all Kinds

Bath, N. B.

RELIABLE INSURANCE

FIRE, LIFE & ACCIDENT

Perley S. Marsten,

Successor to

Asile & Cosman,

Representing the

OLDEST AND LARGEST COMPANIES

Queen Street, Woodstock, N. B.

P. R. SEMPLE

East Florenceville, N. B.

Dealer in

Hardware, Plumbing,
Tinware, Furnaces
and Stoves

The
New Empress Range

manufactured by the National Mfg. Co., of Ottawa and Brockville, is the best on the market today. Come and see it. Ask us to prove the assertion

Our Neighbours

West Glassville.

Mrs. Bearsto was the guest of Mrs. Alex. Lyon one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Perry and son, Lawrence, spent New Years with Mrs. Perry's father, John McLaughlin. Mrs. David Young and children were also callers there.

Miss King and Miss Katie Ronald were the guests of Mrs. Joyner Lamont on New Years day.

David Brewster who has been suffering from a sore on his leg, has gone to Woodstock for treatment.

Mrs. Norman Perry and Mrs. J. K. Perry were callers at the homes of Mrs. Alex. Lyon and Miss May Armand on Thursday last.

W. H. Armand went to Woodstock on Thursday.

George Allen's hay press is at work on this road.

Mrs. Friend and granddaughter, Hilda Gardiner, of Nantucket is spending the winter with Mrs. Friend's son, Alfred Roley.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Perry took New Years dinner with Mrs. Norman Perry.

J. R. Lamont was called to Woodstock by the serious illness of his brother-in-law, John E. Leard.

Silas Gee of the Consolidated Telephone Co., passed through here last week. They are running the line through to Ketchum Ridge. We all wish them success wherever they go.

Quite a number attended the ball at Glassville on New Years night. All report a good time.

Robt. Ronald of this place, and a few of the boys from Glassville attended a party given by Miss Edna Mack of Beaufort on night recently.

Master Cecil Craine who has been spending the holidays with his uncle, George Reelander, has returned to his home in Bath.

Miss Aurilla Doherty was called home by the illness of her sister. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Our school opens on Jan. 7, with our former teacher, Miss Sara DeLong of Woodstock, in charge.

Greenfield.

Etta Lamoraux who has been spending the last few months in Easton has returned home.

Lena Ritchie and Nellie Barnett are spending their Christmas vacation with relatives in Lowell.

Paul Wakom after spending a few weeks in this place has returned to his home in Limestone.

Wilnot and Winnifred Golding attended the Christmas concert and dance at Bathsville.

Bernice McKay who has been employed as milliner at Carleton has returned home.

We were glad to see the members of our "Young People's Social Club" together again at the home of Lulu Kilpatrick, Saturday afternoon and evening. All reported a good time. A sumptuous supper was served by Misses Lulu Kilpatrick and Bernice McKay.

Alanda McKay attended a wedding at Robinson, Me., on Christmas.

Edna Ritchie, Lottie Kilpatrick and Alice Stewart will attend The Consolidated school at Florenceville the coming term.

Ray Kilpatrick, who has been teaching in Kirkland is spending his Christmas holidays with his parents here.

Mr. Denley, who received serious injuries in a dynamite explosion is gaining rapidly.

Edith Ritchie and Neta Estey are visiting friends at Four Falls.

Rowena.

Among those who spent their Christmas holidays at their homes were Rae and Iva Larlee, Ethel Rat-tray, Ethel Williamson, Trueman and Wm. Williamson, Arthur Williamson and Willard Hansen.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Finnemore are receiving congratulations on a baby girl.

Our pastor, F. C. Burnett, is spending his Christmas vacation in Nova Scotia.

Charles Owens spent Christmas with Jack E. Gregg.

Douglas Chase of Chipman has been visiting friends in this place.

Gilbert Cory of Houlton has been visiting his sister, Mrs. L. Gregg.

Mr. Robinson of St. Jacques spent a few days with his daughter, Mrs. David Boone.

Mrs. Jack Gregg has gone away for the winter.

Mrs. Wm. Cole is now at Arthur-ette with her parents.

Mrs. Perry Conn who has been boarding at Mrs. Wm. Cole's has now gone to Lickford where her husband is working. She intends staying the winter.

How He Escaped An Operation

And Was Completely Cured of Piles of 14 Years' Standing by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Chas. Beauvais.

Doctors say that about one person in every four suffers more or less from piles, and who can imagine a more annoying, torturing, disagreeable ailment?

After trying a few treatments without success, and as the ailment grows worse, the medical doctor is consulted. An operation, he says, is necessary. You think of the suffering, expense and risk to life itself, and hesitate before taking such a step.

In many thousands of such cases Dr. Chase's Ointment has made thorough and lasting cures. Read this letter for the proof.

Mr. Charles Beauvais, a well-known citizen of St. Jean, Que., writes: "For 14 years I suffered from chronic piles, and considered my case very serious. I was treated by a celebrated doctor who could not help me and ordered a surgical operation as the only means of relief."

"However, I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and obtained great relief from the first box. By the use of three boxes I was entirely cured. This is why it gives me great pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to all who suffer from piles as a treatment of the greatest value."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Mrs. James Boone and Grace L. Boone made a trip to Gladwin Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Caldwell were the guests of Mrs. Alex. Cole on Sunday.

S. J. Hudson was the guest of G. L. Boone on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Cormie of Rowena is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. Smith of Hill Top.

Waterville.

A very enjoyable concert was given in the Orange hall on Thursday evening, Dec. 19, consisting of dialogues, songs and recitations. After the programme a beautiful Christmas tree was brought to view from which gifts were distributed to nearly every one present.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Susan Miller took place at the Third Tier Baptist church Monday afternoon, Dec. 23. Rev. E. C. Jenkins, preaching very impressively from the words, "For what is your life?"

Miss Emma DeWare spent Christmas week with friends in Glassville.

Ernest Brooks is recovering slowly from his accident, that of being hurt by a falling tree.

John Stokoe who was shot accidentally while holding a revolver is not yet able to be out.

Word has been received of the marriage in Vancouver of Arnold F. Jewett to Miss Mary Eloise Steeves, daughter of School Inspector Steeves of Sussex. Mr. Jewett is a brilliant graduate of the University of New Brunswick and has many friends throughout the province.

A donation amounting to nearly sixty dollars was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Jenkins by the members of the United Baptist church on Friday evening Dec. 20, at the home of Chas. Gray. A very pleasant evening was spent and a luncheon was served by the ladies.

Alfred Kay who was so badly burned by falling on a hot stove is still very poorly.

Melrose, Mass.

Miss Della F. Clark of Middle Simonds is spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Bird W. Shaw.

Fred Miller has returned home from Milford where he was superintending repairs on a big power house.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Shaw broke their long established rule of making Christmas dinner and spent Christmas at the home of Mrs. Shaw's sister, Mrs. Fred Hart of Cambridge.

Mrs. B. W. Shaw has recovered from her illness.

George Miller formerly of Woodstock spent Christmas and the week end at his old home in Haverhill.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Shaw of Lynn were calling on friends here recently. Mr. Shaw is much improved in health.

B. W. Shaw left on Friday for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he is to superintend the installing of a $15,000 steam heating plant in a new building belonging to Vassar College.

Wicklow.

Miss Miriam and Bernice Tweedie of Saskatchewan are visiting friends and relatives of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patterson of North Bay, Ontario, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Patterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Estey.

Mrs. Arthur Brown and Misses Blanche and Carrie Estey of New York were the guests of their brother, Chas. Estey.

William Goodwin of Vancouver has been visiting at T. H. Estey's.

Mrs. John Fulton spent Christmas week with her sister-in-law, Mrs. David L. Armstrong of Patten.

Notice of Sale

To Helen A. Foster, of the Parish of Brighton, in the County of Carleton, married woman, and to all others whom it may in any wise concern:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That under and by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in a certain indenture of Mortgage bearing date the eighteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and four, and recorded in Carleton County Records in Book Y, Number 4 of Records, on pages 79, 80 and 81, and made between the said Helen A. Foster of the one part, and James G. Campbell, of the said Parish of Brighton in said County of Carleton, carpenter, deceased, of the other part, there will, for the purpose of satisfying the money secured thereby, default having been made in the payment thereof, be sold at public auction in front of the post office at Hartland, in said County of Carleton, on SATURDAY, THE EIGHTH DAY OF FEBRUARY,

NEXT, at the hour of two of the clock in the afternoon, the lands and premises described in said indenture of Mortgage, as follows:

"All that certain piece, parcel or tract of land and premises lying and being in the said Parish of Brighton, County and Province aforesaid, and known and described as being a part of lot number 'sixty-one' on the eastern side of the River 'Saint John' and bounded as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stake placed where the railroad crosses Maurice Day's 'north line'; thence running west along said Maurice Day's 'north line' to the 'River Saint John' fifteen rods; thence north along the said river eighteen rods and one-half; thence east along John A. Campbell's south line fifteen rods to the 'railroad'; thence south eighteen rods to the 'beginning'; and bounded on the east by the New Brunswick and Canada Railroad (formerly so called); on the south by lands deeded to Mrs. Maurice Day; on the west by River Saint John; and on the north by land owned and occupied by (2nd May 1875) by John A. Campbell; with a reserve of two rods along said 'Campbell's line' for a road; being same land this day deeded to said Helen A. Foster by James G. Campbell and wife."

Together with all and singular the buildings and improvements thereon and the appurtenances thereto belonging or in any wise appertaining.

Dated this sixth day of January, A. D. 1913.

ALBION R. FOSTER
EVA M. FOSTER
ALBINA E. CHASE

Executors of the Last Will and Testament of said James G. Campbell.

Second Class Female Teacher Wanted

For District No. 4. Peel. Apply at once to JAMES STEPHENSON, Mount Pleasant, N. B.

FOR SALE.

Sleigh, Robe, Turnip Pulper, Fodder Cutter, Cultivator, Fanning Mill, Sundry Other Things

For sale low by H. M. STEVENS

Somerville.

Money to Loan

on Real Estate
Large or Small Amounts
M. L. HAYWARD.
Hartland, N. B.

YOUR CHANGE

TO MAKE GOOD MONEY
by selling Nursery Stock during Fall and Winter months.

OVER 600 ACRES
devoted to Nursery stock. We offer the choicest and hardiest varieties and guarantee delivery in good condition. Good pay weekly, outfit free, exclusive territory. Write now for particulars and secure Agency in your district.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.
TORONTO, ONT.

Watches, Clocks, Wedding and Engagement Rings.

Repair work neatly done. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Agent Crown Tailoring Co.

T. B. THISTLE, Hartland, N. B.

JOHNSON'S ANCOYME LINIMENT

Used 102 Years for Internal and External Ills.

Gives speedy relief from coughs, colds, cramps, diarrhoea, muscular rheumatism, bruises, etc.

25c and 50c everywhere
I. S. JOHNSON & CO. Boston, Mass.

There Are Reasons

WHY YOU SHOULD USE :

Dominion Brands Mixed Fertilizers

Ask our agents, or write and ask us what those reasons are. At the same time mention this paper and we will send you our valuable Pocket Memorandum Book and our Handsome Calendar

Dominion Fertilizer Co., Ltd

Office and Factory: St. Stephen, N. B.

SPECIAL SALE

Household Furniture

During the next week I will sell all my large and varied stock of Household Furniture at these specially reduced prices:

- | | |
|---|---|
| 15 White Enamelled, Brass Trimmed Bedsteads $3.15 to $5.80 | 1 Lounge to match above, $10.40 |
| 15 Woven Wire Bed Springs; the latest and best made; very low price. | 4 Extension Tables, oak finish, $5.45 |
| 20 Mattresses, assorted, prices ranging from $2.85 to $5.25 | 3 Large Bevel Glass Oak Framed Mirrors |
| 1 Dining Room Set, leather bottom chairs, oak finished, price now $28.75 | 6 Common Coramodes, very cheap. |
| 1 Parlor Set, very beautifully upholstered, only $25.80 | 24 Dining Room Chairs |
| | 28 Kitchen Chairs |
| | 6 Rockers |
| | 4 Spring Cots, with mattresses to match |

On the goods above that are not marked very low prices will be quoted.

This is a splendid opportunity to buy NEW Furniture at less than second-hand furniture frequently sells at auction.

A splendid assortment of NEW Goods for Winter has just been opened up, and these will be sold at low prices for cash or produce

Our Made-up Hats are Being Sacrificed Regardless of Cost

C. Humphrey Taylor

Do You Intend to Build or repair your house this year?

Call and see us. We can quote you on anything you require.

Plans and MATERIALS at lowest Prices

Doors, Sashes, Mouldings, Stair Finish, Hardwood, Spruce and Pine Flooring, Verandah Posts, solid or built, Rail, Flooring and Balusters, Clapboards and Siding

Ask to see Sketches of Verandahs and Porch Fronts

We handle the very best grade of Roofing.

Hartland Woodworking Co., Ltd.

POTATOES

Hay, Oats, Pork, etc.

WANTED

for which we will pay highest market prices in CASH.

Buffalo Fertilizer

is equal to the best. Ask us for Proof.

BOHAN BROS.

Bath, N. B.

THOMAS W McAFEE

Barber and Hairdresser

Razors Honed and put in Good Condition.

When in Hartland and need a haircut or shave give me a call at the Allen Shop.

WHY IMPORT

FERTILIZER?

when you can get the best that can be made, manufactured within 100 miles of your home town. Best of references Buy Dominion High Grade Brands and be satisfied

Frank Hagerman

Wholesale and Retail Agent,

HARTLAND

W. P. Jones, K. C.

Attorney-at-Law, Solicitor, etc.

WOODSTOCK N. B.