MAIL ORDERS

We solicit out of Town orders, which receive our personal attention. The length of time taken to fill orders is governed very largely by how busy we are in the department of our factory in which the particular goods are made. While we have exceptional facilities for promptly turning out goods, it is important to place orders as far ahead as possible. Orders are filled by us in the reason in which they are received, and customers can always depend on our doing everything in reason to give prompt despatch.

VERY SUCCESSFUL MASQUERADE BALL

Enjoyable Hallow'en Entertainment Held Last Friday in Oddfellows Hall

The Masquerade Ball held last Friday under the auspices of the Bachelor Oddfellows was an unqualified success, many brilliant and grotesque costumes being seen on the floor. Every one entered into the Hallow'en spirit and from beginning to end every thing went smoothly. The guests were received by the chaperons, Mrs. W. F. Ferguson, Mrs. W. H. Wallace, Mrs. John T. Reid and Mrs. H. C. Montgomery, and gave their card with their name and representation.

Dancing was then indulged in till eleven o'clock when everyone unmasked, and refreshments were served about twelve, midnight, after which dancing was resumed till after two. The music was provided by McCallum's orchestra.

There were very few spectators, most of those attending being in costume. Below we give a number of the guests with their costumes.

FIRST MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL HELD IN NEW COUNCIL CHAMBERS

Some Very Straight Talking Indulged in at Meeting on Tuesday Evening, When Actions of Officials Were Discussed at Great Length

The Town Council held their first meeting in the new council chambers on Tuesday evening. His Worship Mayor Andrew presiding. There were present at opening of session, Councillors Alexander, Quinn, Pinaut and Ferguson, and the Town Clerk.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Communication read from Mr. W. B. McKenzie, I.R.C. Engineer of Leases, asking for the surrender of two leases of land used for the old hose shed building. After discussion request was granted, the Mayor and Town Clerk being authorized to sign the surrender documents.

Councillor White then entered the meeting. Communication read from James Alexander asking reduction of assessment for 1912, being based on two lots on the R. L. Duncan property which he did not own. Referred to Assessment and Appeals Committee.

Communication read from Thos. Lockhart asking for reduction of taxes for year 1911. (A voice "Is he just getting his tax bill now"). Referred to Assessment and Appeals Committee.

Communication read from John McMillan regarding the janitorship of the new municipal buildings. Letter laid on the table.

Deed was received from the executors of the John B. Christopher estate for two streets going through the Christopher property. Referred to the Town Solicitor.

Communication read from the Building Inspector, notifying the council that Robert Graham and A. C. Bellisle were building wooden erections in Ward I, contrary to the by-laws. When informed of their action, they stated that the buildings would only be required in the winter and would be removed in the spring.

On a motion to give the Inspector authority to proceed against the offenders, Councillor Pinaut wanted to know where they stood any way. We have been always talking of the enforcement of the by-laws and nothing has been done yet. To his mind the Fire Underwriters had made the council ask ridiculous things with regard to a fire district, for this was no big city like St. John and no person would build a wood shed or a stable of brick or stone as required by the by-laws.

Councillor Alexander said if it was the council's intention to enforce the by-laws he did not see how they were going to do it if they allowed persons to break them now. His Worship was in accord with Councillor Alexander, and remarked that a communication had lately been received from the Fire Underwriters stating that nothing had been done with regard to shacks, and the people in the fire district would be up against a raise of rates very soon.

Councillor Pinaut drew attention to the condition of things in Ward III opposite the I.R.C. station, saying that there was far more danger by fire there, and if the council insisted on the by-laws with regard to Ward I, they would only be driving the business people to that end of the town, which was not in the fire district.

When the vote was called Councillor White did not vote, giving as his reason that he was in a manner interested in the subject, being listed as the owner of a wooden building in Dist. I, contrary to the by-laws. This he declared was an error, it being clearly proved to the council that the building in question did not come under the scope of the by-law, being in existence previous to the passing of the laws. On a ruling from the chair being given, Councillor White used his privilege of voting, the motion to give the Inspector authority to take proceedings being carried.

Councillor White then craved permission to make a statement regarding the buildings around the station. The condition of affairs at this part of the town was not the fault of the council he said. After the fire, he said, the Intercolonial authorities had arranged to take over all this section of land and a view to expropriation for railway lands. Because of this the town took no interest in this part, but had they known that the I.R.C. did not intend to proceed, this district would certainly have been included in the fire district.

Petition was then read from W. Sanford Smith, Moncton, asking for license to do business as wholesale and retail tobacconist. Referred to Police and License Committee.

Reports from committees were received and adopted recommending payment of the following accounts.

Councillor Ferguson then read a most comprehensive report from the delegation to the convention of N. B. Municipalities held at Moncton on October 15th and 16th. He gave a lengthy résumé of all the meetings, touching upon the various papers read and the remarks of several of the speakers. The report was received and placed on file.

With regard to the deed from the Christopher Estate, the Town Solicitor said that he was satisfied the deed was in order as far as the town could go. The deed and plan were then approved by Council and the deed was ordered to be recorded in the registry office.

Reporting from a special committee relative to the purchase of horses, Councillor Ferguson stated he had been in communication with Mr. Brunell of Sackville who offered the town one pair of gray horses for $600. The horses were of good weight 2800 lbs and in good condition, and he was satisfied that the town would not do wrong in their purchase, recommendations have been received from our town's people who had done business with this man. After discussion it was agreed to purchase the pair of horses, subject to the approval of the council on their arrival here.

Councillor Ferguson brought up a further matter with regard to the Fire Protection committee, and that was the state of the Fire Alarm system in this town. He said our Fire Alarm system was on a par with the town clock and was the laughing stock of the citizens. We had an alarm bell that didn't ring and tappers out of order, batteries uncharged and no proper tests made of the system. At the last meeting of the council it was arranged that the chairman of the Electric Light committee would arrange with Mr. Farrar to have all this work done, but so far matters were just the same as they were. As it was most necessary to have the work done he had an offer from Mr. B. O. Bates to charge the batteries and generally overlook the system for $15 per month.

Councillor White in reply to a question said he had taken the matter up with Mr. Farrar as requested and informed the council that Mr. Farrar was too busy at this time to do anything required. The matter of charging the batteries for the first time was a very delicate matter and Mr. Farrar was doubtful if he could get anyone outside of Toronto to do this. With regard to the Alarm Bell he (Councillor White) was promised that this would be attended to but the council could see that this had not been done. He was hopeful that the manager of the electric system would have been here to give his own statement to the council. As a matter of fact Councillor White stated, the council were not wholly free from the blame, as they did not act in several things when they ought to have done so, with the result that all the work was now bunched up. Mr. Bates offer was all right and did not call for much, but he could not see why Mr. Farrar couldn't do the work himself. This was followed by a general discussion taken part in by all the councillors and the mayor, in which it was stated that the work of the manager of the Electric Light department would be much more satisfactory to the council if he gave his whole attention to the work of the town, and give up his other outside work in taking wiring contracts, etc. In the end it was resolved that councillors White and Ferguson be authorized to get the Fire Alarm system in proper shape, and the

ENORMOUS INCREASE

Subscribers to The Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, are renewing earlier than every season. The subscription receipts for October were over 80 per cent. ahead of October 1912. The Family Herald grows in popularity year after year. It is the big dollars worth beyond doubt, and deserve its immense circulation. Any home that does not receive The Family Herald should give it a trial for 1913.

Electric Light committee were instructed to have a meeting with Mr. Farrar and arrange to have him cut out all his other work and devote his whole time to the town's business.

Councillor Pinaut then brought forward a list of requisitions which were dealt with, and referred to their several committees. These embraced filing cabinets and desks, electric lights in Murray building, coal for town offices, collection of rents, reduction of store rents, and tables for councillors.

It was agreed not to appoint a janitor at this time, the Public Property and Streets Committee undertaking the arrangements of cleaning and firing the town offices.

The Town Engineer through Councillor Alexander brought to the notice of the council the fact that the I.R.C. were calling for tenders to construct a new water main from their reservoir to the station, this work to be finished by January 1st, 1914. It was pointed out that the of opening the trench on the Tolouque Road would lay bare the 10 in. main belonging to the town, and there would be grave danger of the main being frozen or broken in extreme cold weather which would be injurious to the town's interests. This matter was pointed out to the engineer at Campbellton who replied that the town would require to look after its own interests. It was pointed out by some of the councillors that surely the I.R.C. authorities were not aware of the cold we had here in winter time, and considered it folly to commence operations of this kind in the winter time. After long discussion on this question the Town Clerk was instructed to write the Chief Engineer at Moncton, asking him to defer this work till the summer.

Councillor Ferguson brought up the matter of having a suitable place for housing the hook and ladder truck recently purchased, and the need of having some one of the town officials to take this vehicle out when an alarm was sounded. This matter was left for further arrangement.

The necessity for all persons making entrance to the sewers from their buildings was then discussed, Councillor Pinaut stating that the Board of Health had this matter before them and it would be dealt with at their first meeting.

Council then adjourned after a four hours session.

KILLED IN WOODS NEAR CHATHAM N.B.

Gordon McRae, a Young Man
Victim of Accident
Last Saturday

Chatham, N. B., Nov. 3.—Gordon McRae, aged 28 years, accidentally met his death while in the woods above Red Bank on Saturday afternoon. He was employed in one of A. & R. Loggie Company's logging camps and was working with others in felling trees. The tree at which he was felling struck another tree in its descent and glanced, and before the young man could get out of the way, it struck him across the head knocking him down and rendering him senseless. His fellow workmen began at once to take him to medical help and they reached Red Bank that evening where a doctor was summoned, but he passed away in a very short time after his arrival. The body was brought to Chatham. The deceased lived with his uncle, William McRae, and is survived by one brother, Herbert, and one sister, Maggie. A peculiar fact in connection with the accident is that the young man engaged to go into the woods for one month. His time was up on Friday and he finally decided to stay in the woods one more day and was coming out Saturday. At most at the last hour of the day death stepped in. The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon, starting from the home at 9.30 o'clock.

OCTOBER SEES BIG DROP IN REVENUE

New Projects Are Not Likely to be Provided For

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—The revenue of the government is declining and the administration is considerably concerned. During the first five months of the year the revenue from customs increased considerably over the same period the year before, but in September the customs returns began to fall off and there was a still heavier slump during October.

The October drop amounted to almost a million dollars. It is feared that this is only the beginning of the downward movement, and it looks as though Finance Minister White will have to report in his next budget speech a considerable deficit and a substantial increase in the public debt.

The government is preparing to cut its estimates all around the line for the coming session of parliament.

An effort will be made to continue the public works which have already been undertaken, but new projects are likely to be provided for.

If you want to double your business—use the Graphic. The most fertile field for advertisers who desire to reach the well-to-do class of steady customers is undoubtedly the Graphic.

THIRTIETH ANNUAL CONVENTION

N.B. and P.E.I. Sunday School Convention Being Held at Fredericton

The Thirtieth Annual Provincial Sunday School Convention under the auspices of the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Sunday School Association will be held in Brunswick Street Baptist Church, Fredericton, from Tuesday to Thursday, November 4-6. Preparation is being made for one of the best conventions in the history of the association. Delegates will gather to the capital city from all parts of the province. Reports bearing upon every phase of Sunday school work will be received and discussed. The programme committee have secured some of the best speakers available for the convention. Rev. Franklin McElfresh, Ph. D., of Chicago, will be the representative of the International Association, in which field he holds the office of superintendent of the Teacher Training Department. He will give a series of six addresses, fresh from his experience in the larger field. Rev. H. C. Archer of Woodstock will give his impressions of the great World's Sunday School Convention, which was held in Zurich, Switzerland, in July last. Tuesday afternoon will be devoted to the work of the elementary department, a feature of which will be a practical demonstration of elementary class work by Mrs. Havelock Coy of Fredericton and Mrs. W. A. Ross of Moncton. This will be followed by a talk upon the primary department by Miss Alice Storey and a question box on "Elementary Problems."

The Problems of Youth will be given much consideration on Wednesday afternoon and evening, both in conferences and by addresses. Rev. W. A. Ross, the general secretary, and Dr. McElfresh will be heard in this connection; while addresses will also be delivered by Rev. J. A. McKeigan of St. John and by Rev. W. H. Barracough of St. John. Thursday forenoon will be given up to reports of departments by the superintendents of each; when short addresses will be given by Rev. W. Field, R. H. Staver, E. F. Calder and G. B. McDonald. Thursday afternoon will be devoted to a consideration of the "Problems of the Rural and City Sunday Schools" respectively in which Rev. W. A. Ross will state the Rural Church Problem in New Brunswick, and Rev. F. S. Porter of St. John will speak. Discussion will be led by the Rev. R. J. Colquhoun. The University of New Brunswick will deliver an address, Prof. W. C. Kierstead of the University and Rev. J. M. McLean of Chatham will speak. The devotional services at each morning and afternoon session, which are always a feature of the annual conventions, will, this year, be led by Rev. Dr. W. H. Smith of St. Paul's Church, Fredericton.

The president of the New Brunswick Sunday School Association is Rev. J. Charles B. Appel of Douglas Avenue Christian Church, St. John; Andrew Malcolm of St. John is the chairman of the Executive Committee; while Mr. A. H. Chipman of St. John is the Treasurer. The convention promises to be one of the best in recent years.

The delegates from Campbellton are Mrs. J. M. McLean, Miss Florine Currie, Mrs. D. J. Bruce and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Keith.

FALLING HAIR

Many People Have a Simple Way of Stopping it—They Use Parisian Sage

It was Dr. Sangerford of Paris who first discovered that dandruff and falling hair were caused by a microbe.

And now that Parisian Sage, the remedy that kills the dandruff germ, is sold in every town in Canada, the people of this country have awakened to the fact that dandruff is unnecessary; that falling hair and itching scalp can be quickly stopped, and that the people who use Parisian Sage will never grow bald.

To every reader of the Graphic who wishes to eradicate offensive dandruff, stop falling hair and have an immaculately clean scalp free from itching, there is a simple way. He will sell Parisian Sage in a large fifty cent bottle with a guarantee to refund the money if not satisfied. It is an ideal, daintily perfumed hair dressing, free from grease and stickiness that will put life and beauty into dull faded hair and cause it to grow lustrous and luxuriant.

LITTLE DESTITUTION IN NOME
Seattle, Wash., Oct. 25.—The steamship Victoria, the first passenger boat from Nome since the great storm, arrived today with 415 passengers. All paid their fare and virtually all would have come out even if there had been no storm. Captain John O'Brien, of the Victoria, says there is little destitution in Nome. Only one life was lost there in the storm. Five lives were lost on the schooner Neta, wrecked fifteen miles from Nome.

DOING WELL IN EAST

The Maritime Merchant Discusses the Prosperity of the Maritime Provinces

The Maritime Provinces are now emerging triumphant from a long and trying ordeal says "The Maritime Merchant," and after referring to the decline of shipbuilding it proceeds: "Down came the commercial traveller from the big western centres and competed fiercely with our own jobbing houses that once had competition only with one another. Then our young people heard of the opportunities in the growing towns of the United States; later the lure of the West came up; and away went our sons and daughters leaving their parents to grow old on our farms. Finally our farms were left largely to aged people to work, in many instances fell into disuse, many of the old people finally following their children to the United States and the Canadian West. Such was the process that threatened for a time the prosperity of our Maritime Provinces.

"But in the latter years of this process, other processes whose power we scarcely observed for a time, were manifesting themselves.

"We have the great coal-mining industry, the great steel industry, the numerous manufacturing enterprises that have become well established. General agriculture waned terribly, but now shows signs of revival and the apple industry in the meantime has grown to enormous proportions—and is expanding rapidly. For a time our population was at a standstill, but now it is growing. In all ways things were never better than they are now. There is a real boom on, though people do not realize it, for it is a boom without sound and fury. We were down in the trough of the sea, now we are rising high on the crest of the wave, and are to rise higher and still higher."

TRAIN WRECKERS SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Judge Maltby Decides That Matter Should be Probed Further

I. C. R. Inspector Trenholm on Saturday returned to Moncton from Newcastle where he had been conducting the case of the I. C. R. in the preliminary examination of the alleged train wreckers, which examination has been going forward there for some time past. Mr. Trenholm, when seen by a press representative said that Judge Maltby of Newcastle, before whom the preliminary enquiry was conducted, on Saturday afternoon sent the then accused up for trial before the Northumberland County court which meets on November 18th.

It will be remembered that the taking of evidence was concluded on Saturday a week ago, and that judgment was reserved by Magistrate Maltby until Saturday last. The three accused are charged with having placed sleepers on the rails near Derby Jct., for the purpose of wrecking I. C. R. trains.

STOP and THINK

BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE

Many prosperous citizens have lost their valued possessions over night. Then they kicked themselves because an outlay of a few dollars on every thousand of valuation every few years would have left them protected and prosperous. Don't be foolhardy. Few things are as cheap as fire insurance in the beginning, and nothing may prove more costly in the end than its lack.

Flour trial is essential but— it is not your work!

Flour varies from time to time in baking quality. This is because wheat continually varies according to soil conditions, etc.

Therefore, if baking results are to be constantly high, baking tests are essential. It is unreasonable to expect you to make these tests at your expense.

PURITY

So from each shipment of wheat delivered at our mills we take a ten pound sample. This is ground into flour. Bread is baked from the flour. If this bread is high in quality and large in quantity, we use the shipment. Otherwise we sell it.

By simply asking for FLOUR bearing this name you can always be sure of more bread and better bread.

NEW CARLISLE

We are pleased to hear that Dr. W. L. Cates is in our midst again, after a visit to nearby towns.

Mrs. A. J. Arnold and little son Eugene, were in town last week the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kempfer.

Our new college is going on successfully. New men are added every day. Mr. Harquail makes frequent visits, while Mr. Jones and Mr. McNair seem to be bosom in his absence.

Miss Lena Kempfer spent a few days in Shigawake last week.

The weather continues wet and unfavorable, and many of the farmers have grain and potatoes out in the fields, and the grain is likely to be a total loss. Potatoes have fallen off in price in the market of late, which makes business rather dull along that line, but we are glad to see a change for the better. J. O. Sherar expects to load again in a day or two.

Rev. Mr. McLeod was surprised and delighted on the arrival of Mrs. McLeod and daughter Saturday the 25th. They expect to move into the Manse at once. There many friends are glad to see the Manse occupied again.

The agricultural show was brought off on the 23rd., but was not very successful owing to the uncessing rain of the past week has prevented a good many from getting in their harvest.

Miss Georgina LeCoffre, nurse, who has been spending her vacation with her parents, left Saturday morning for Montreal where she will enter the Cliche Hospital. Miss LeCoffre will join her sister Miss Claire LeCoffre, which is Lady Superintendent at the Cliche.

A pretty wedding took place at the R. C. church on Tuesday morning, 21st Oct., when Miss Ernestine Cote, daughter of Mr. Padoux Cote was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Ned Russell of Nouvelle. Rev. Father Fortin tied the nuptial knot. The bride looked charming in a cream serge suit with hat to match. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Padoux Cote.

New Richmond friends wish them all joy and prosperity. Mr. and Mrs. Russell will reside in New Richmond.

"It is a pleasure to tell you that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Lavonia, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

PASPEBIAC

Mrs. F. Gibaut spent a few days with her son Mr. F. M. Gibaut before taking the train to her home in Quebec.

Mrs. P. Acteson of Gascons has been visiting friends here.

Mr. P. F. LeGresley arrived Thursday from Thunder River and will now resume his duties with LeBoutillier Bros. for the winter.

Miss Olive L. Bisson entertained a few friends at her home on Friday evening, the guests spending a very enjoyable time.

Mr. M. O'C. Harris returned on Friday from New Richmond where he has been working during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. LeBreton of Bonaventure paid a visit to friends in Paspebiac on the 1st.

Miss M. Irene Dea spent the week-end with her parents in Port Daniel West.

Mr. Charles De LaHaye of Cape Cove arrived here on Thursday where he will spend a few weeks before leaving for his home in Jersey Channel Islands.

The many friends of Mr. J. Edmond Levesque will be sorry to hear that he has been ill, and wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. P. C. LeGallais paid a visit to Chandler on the 29th returning on the 30th.

Miss Della Sullivan spent the week-end with her parents at Port Daniel.

We are all sorry to hear that Miss Grace Ross has resigned her position at Robin, Jones & Whitman. She will be greatly missed by her many friends.

Mr. Frank LeGallais of Fenderson Co., Sayabec spent a few days here.

Mr. James Des of Port Daniel West paid a flying visit to Paspebiac on the 1st.

Several of our Paspebiac folks paid a visit to Port Daniel on Friday to attend a Halloween party given by Mr. P. O. Viall, returning the following day.

The schooner Coronation owned by R. J. & W. returned from the North Shore on Friday. Captain Duguay reports very rough weather.

PETTIT ROCHER

Miss Grace Casey returned to Beresford Saturday night after a weeks visit to the Misses Arseneau.

A very pretty wedding took place at the church of St. Polycarpe here, on Tuesday morning 28th October when Miss Malvina Vinneau daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Vinneau was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Leander Arseneau son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Arseneau, both of this place. Rev. Father Carter tied the nuptial knot. The bride looked charming in a gown of golden brown satin trimmed with baby

Irish lace and gilt, with hat to match. The young couple were supported by Miss Loretta Arseneau sister of the groom, and Mr. Wilfred Vinneau brother of the bride. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, and after the wedding dinner the company drove to the home of the groom, where after supper dancing was engaged in till very late. The young couple who are well known and liked in this district received many handsome and useful articles in silverware, glass and china from their many friends.

The Misses Josephine, Agnes, and Loretta Arseneau, and Mr. Frank Arseneau returned to Beresford Saturday night after attending the Vinneau-Arseneau wedding.

DALHOUSIE

Dalhousie, Nov. 5.—Miss Mary Desbray of Vancouver, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Haddow, at "Bonnie Brae". Miss Desbray left New Brunswick about twenty-two years ago for the West. She is to join Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Desbray and Miss Desbray of Petit Rocher, N. B., to take a trip to Europe. The party will leave about the end of November. It is their intention to take in the Mediterranean. Miss Desbray will not return to Vancouver till next spring.

The bidding was done by Mr. Andrew Loggie, of the Dalhousie branch. The store situated at the corner of William and Brunswick Sts., brought $2700 and the handsome residence which is nicely located, was bought for $2400.

to several postponements being made on account of the rain. The vegetables, however, was very good indeed, as also the dairy produce.

The Rev. Mr. McLeod was inducted into this charge, Wednesday the 22nd. Quite a number of the congregation was present. Rev. Mr. McCallum of New Richmond preached and inducted, Rev. Mr. Drumm of Campbellton addressed the minister and Rev. P. LeBell of Point la Garde addressed the people. The service was grand throughout and Rev. Mr. McLeod enters upon the work in his new field full of vigour and hope as an Ambassador of the Great King.

Just received the sad news of the death of Mrs. Tattre, wife of Rev. Geo. P. Tattre, our late pastor, now of Tabusintac, N. B. We understand the remains will be brought here for burial. Much sympathy is felt for the family.

GRAIN ON THE HOOF PAYS THE COUNTRY

A Striking Statement of the Toronto Globe Regarding Canada's Foreign Trade

The Toronto Globe says that one of the most suggestive features of Canada's foreign trade returns for the past year is to be found in the large exports of grain. The Globe continues:

"The advice to sell grain on the hoof is being disregarded, and the results must tend ultimately to lessen and exhaust productive capacity. Exports of breadstuffs increased from $91,665,330 in the previous year to $127,635,875 in the year under review. Wheat exports increased from $68,748,567 to $93,425,160, which shows that the West is fulfilling predictions, and wheat flour increased from $16,367,353 to $30,164,753, which shows that our power development is promoting secondary industries. It is evident that immediate returns are sought, more eagerly than perpetual fertility, and that the loss through the exhausting of farms is not being considered sufficiently. It is suggestive, in this connection, that exports of bacon and hams decreased from $7,822,032 to $5,632,957, and of butter from $2,074,771 to $239,290. Cheese exports totalled $20,851,367, which is but a slight decrease from the previous year's record. These important items show the need of diverting effort toward stock-raising and lines of production which restore fertility."

NEW BRUNSWICK

Development of New Industries at Fredericton

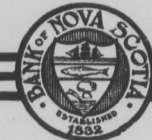

Fredericton, in common with other sections of New Brunswick, is enjoying an era of unparalleled prosperity. New Brunswick is destined in the very near future to become one of the most enterprising and prosperous of the provinces of the Dominion. In the capital a spirit of optimism prevails in the Montreal Financial Times we read:

"The cheapest of electrical power is available in Fredericton, while three companies of recognized stability have been formed to develop the natural water powers of the St. John river and to provide local manufacturers with cheap energy. Through the construction of the Fredericton and Grand Lake Railway, manufacturers will receive the advantage of the Grand Lake coal at a low figure, which will undoubtedly serve to materially reduce the cost of power."

"Fredericton possesses several large and flourishing industries that are leaders in their respective lines for the business of the markets of Canada. During the past year three large factories were erected."

"There are a great many openings for manufacturing plants and the City Council has authority to assist bona fide propositions to the extent of free sites, free water and exemption from taxation for a definite period of years. The tremendous timber resources in this district make the opening particularly bright for those industries in which wood is largely used."

Western Canada was invaded by 140,000 settlers from the United States during the season ended September 30, according to a statement issued by Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration.

BANK CLERK'S PAY

London Truth returns to the subject of bank clerk's pay in an article entitled "The Banker's Muzzled Ox."

The writer says: "The bank clerk is still the muzzled ox that treadeth out the corn. He is muzzled because he thinks it is derogatory to his dignity to organize for the improvement of his position. Doctors may adopt—as they did a little while ago—all the methods of trade unionism, striking and picketing included, in a fierce fight over fees."

"Lawyers, school teachers, journalists these and many other classes band themselves together in societies and unions, but the bank clerk cannot thus debase himself. He may have his grievances, but he will not take the only effective steps to remedy them. The bare idea that bank clerks should combine as 'ous drivers do sends a shudder through his genial soul."

"So long as bank clerks are too genteel to help themselves, it is futile for them or for the parents who allow them to embark upon such a career to complain of the slenderness of their salaries and the poorness of the prospects."

SAVE THE BOYS

Last week it was the duty, and no doubt a painful one for Judge McLatchey, to sentence two boys to a long term, four years in the Reformatory. There is no doubt the sentence was merited, and under the circumstances, was the best thing to do; but is our responsibility as citizens for this state of affairs lessened? Are we doing our duty to provide healthy and proper recreation or surroundings for the boys and youths of our town? We deplore and regret the occurrence but what are the churches, the societies, the schools and even the citizens as a whole doing to prevent a recurrence of such an incident?

The two boys who were sentenced, were bright, intelligent little fellows, clever and industrious, and if their footsteps had been guided aright, would have made good, useful citizens. Whatever, the cause, lack of home training or pernicious companionship, they drifted away from the paths of rectitude, with no one to extend the helping hand in the form of healthy recreation and amusement. And they degenerated to a very low level. Why should this be so? Is there no society to take an interest in boys of this kind who are never wholly bad, but who are lacking opportunities accorded their more pampered brothers in larger cities, who have healthful recreation and instructions in Y. M. C. A. buildings; and who perhaps don't take the same advantage as the boys would here, who have absolutely no place to go to but hang around the corners with hands itching for mischief.

This is a big question and ought to be carefully thought over, and a move ought to be made by the churches in some direction to tend towards the uplifting of those whose robes are dragging in the mire.

SOUTH BRUCE

Speaking of the South Bruce election, the St. John Telegraph in an editorial says:

South Bruce has a plain lesson for the Liberal leaders and for the Liberal rank and file. Its suggestion to the leaders is as to the necessity for a clear-cut and really progressive platform expressing the fighting principles of militant Liberalism. Its lesson for the Liberal rank and file throughout Canada is that the Liberal party has a magnificent opportunity for public service and for party victory if everywhere Liberals will but take up the fight with resolution, with a full recognition of the merits of their cause, and with a clear realization of the weakness of the government, the unpopularity and unsoundness of its policies, and the degrading devices by which it is seeking to keep itself in control of the resources of a great and free country.

Surely South Bruce has given the Liberals of Canada the signal for united and courageous fighting to make the true principles of Liberalism triumphant. The country is in the mood to respond to courageous and progressive Liberal leadership. The time is ripe for a national Liberal convention after the fashion of the memorable one of 1893.

$40,000,000 The Estimated Value of the Western Wheat Crop.

With this big bunch of money in circulation, surely one is justified in scoffing at the mere mention of panic, money stringency or hard times. One cannot picture the thousands of unemployed men walking the streets in search of work. Nevertheless, the slump in Western Real Estate proves the existing conditions. Building is at a standstill. The Western merchant knows it too. Many have been compelled to close up shop. Many have had to cancel all goods being manufactured in Montreal and Toronto.

This and this alone is what we want to bring to your notice.

The present overstock of clothing carried by the wholesale tailoring houses makes it possible for us to offer Suit and Overcoat values that under ordinary conditions would be unthought of.

PROFITS YOU SHARE IN

Men's Suits and Overcoats that would sell in Saskatoon or Regina for $25.00, 30.00 and 35.00, we can now offer to our customers at prices they have come to regard as popular—$10.00, 12.50, 15.00, 18.50 to 25.00. And more than this every customer during the month of November, shall receive a rebate of 10 per cent. of the amount of purchase price. This means as you will see, the best $15.00 Suit you ever bought for $13.50 or the $20.00 Overcoat for $18.00. It's what you get at the price that will please you.

More Than 200 Overcoats

From which you may select. This group includes the British Meltons, made in the dressy styles, with or without the velvet collar as you wish, and the ugliest ulsters made only in the warmest woollens of this season's most popular colorings. Belts of six styles for those who wish the smartest that is shown, $10, 15, 18, to 25. The prices you like, less 10 per cent. to November buyers.

The 300 Suits

Offer ample selection for the most fastidious man, sized 34 to 44. The styles and colorings you must see. Rich Tweeds that you know are not to be had except from the Scottish mills. Fine Worsteds that are the pride of England, and Blues of the best Indigo Dyes, and the price means money in your pockets. $10, 12.50, 13.50, 16.50, to 25.00

465 Boys' Suits and Overcoats

And there is just that many dollars to be saved by the Parents of Rugged Boys. Suits tailored for wear and Cloths only that have proven their wearing qualities. Overcoats that we are proud to show you, and the selection is unlimited. Prices, $3.50 up to $13.50.

November buying means dollars you save. Your money back if you want it. Clothes Satisfaction we guarantee.

A fortnight special services started last evening in St. Andrew's Church which are being conducted by Rev. Mr. Stewart of Toronto, he being assisted in the musical part by Mr. Nichol.

BUILDING INSPECTOR

Mr. Eugene Savage, formerly foreman carpenter on the Canada Eastern, has been appointed I. C. R. building inspector with headquarters at Newcastle. His territory is from St. Flavie to Moncton. Mr. Harold Gyles, of Moncton, will be his private secretary.

SUCCESSFUL TRIP

Mr. J. G. Wran, Moncton, and Thos. Wran, of Campbellton, returned last week from a successful shooting trip back of Kent Junction. Mr. Thomas Wran secured a very fine buck deer, which weighed 250 lbs., while Mr. J. G. Wran also shot a deer. Mr. E. E. Warman was the guide and the Messrs. Wran were delighted with their trip.

TRANSFER COMPLETED

The transfer of the Glover property on Water Street to Max P. Moores was completed Saturday. This is a valuable piece of real estate and the price paid indicates that real estate values in Campbellton are holding their own, despite depression in real estate in other sections.

UNSHIPS CARGO

Simon Poirer, of Bonaventure, who was taking a load of coal from Campbellton to his home on the Quebec side in his little schooner, The Poirer, met with a mishap Thursday evening, in leaving Campbellton harbor. He was obliged to put in at Dalhousie with a leaking craft Friday and secured men to unship the cargo so that repairs could be effected.

SERIOUSLY ILL

The many friends of Conductor Thomas Corbett of the C.P.R., will regret to learn that he lies in a critical condition at his home on Bedford street. He suffered a stroke of paralysis a year ago last January while coming from Campbellton on his train, but latterly seemed to be no worse than usual. Yesterday he suffered a second stroke and it is feared he cannot long survive.

MARRIED AT VANCOUVER

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. George G. MacKenzie on Tuesday evening, Oct. 21, when her cousin, Miss Sadie A. Moores became the wife of Mr. J. William Shearer, of Shagway, Alaska. After a couple of weeks' visiting friends and relatives in Seattle and Mt. Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Shearer will sail by the steamer Princess Sophia for their future home in Alaska.—Province. Many Campbellton friends wish Mrs. Shearer, who is a native of Restigouche, much happiness.

SCHOOL BOARD APPOINTMENTS

No record, in an accessible form, has been kept by the provincial Government of School Trustee appointments, and it is now impossible, in respect to many of the trustees, to say whether their terms have expired or not. If it were not for a safety clause, extending the term until the appointment of a successor, nearly all the School Boards of the province would be illegally constituted. It is proposed to pass legislation, next session, to make all appointments date from July 1914, and to keep a proper record in future.

ITS GOING

Just in case you didn't know, the town clock on the post office is going but we haven't heard the bell strike yet. Perhaps it is too much to expect it to do two things at once.

COUNCIL ELECTION

The County Council election for one member from the Parish of Addington will be held on Tuesday the 18th of November. No nominations have yet been made to the returning officer, Mr. D. F. Graham.

TAKES NEW POSITION

Mr. R. D. Young is severing his connection with the B. A. Mowat firm this week, and is taking up a position with Mr. S. Sandford Smith who is opening up a tobacconists' business here.

CUP HERE

The Silver Cup presented by the A. J. Reach people to the I.C.R. champions of 1913 Baseball League is now here and on view at the Graphic office. The official averages although compiled have not yet been issued for publication.

BOARD OF TRADE

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in the Town Clerk's office, Murray Block, Friday evening, Nov. 7th at 8 o'clock. As business of importance is to be discussed it is hoped there will be a full attendance.

TWO MONTHS FREE

Every new subscriber paying $1.00 will receive the Graphic from date of receipt of remittance to Jan. 14, 1914, thus getting two months free, including our Christmas edition, which will be a very attractive number.

GET FOUR YEARS

Dalhousie, N. B., Nov. 1.—The case of the Thompson lads accused of two robberies in Campbellton was disposed of in short order by Judge McLatchy Friday, who sentenced the brothers to four years in the Boys' Industrial Home in St. John.

DEATH OF MR. HENDERSON

Another of Campbellton's highly respected citizens passed away on Monday morning in the person of Alexander Henderson, who had been in failing health for a considerable time. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, three sons, Everett, James and Allan and two daughters Miss Elizabeth and Miss Hattie all of Campbellton. He is survived by four brothers, Archibald and William of Charlottetown, John of Sackville, and Thomas of Sackville, also two sisters Mrs. Muriel of Charlottetown, and Mrs. Thomas Tourgis of Vancouver. The funeral which was largely attended was held on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. T. P. Drumm conducting the services. The pallbearers were Messrs. A. G. Adams, Andrew Adams, Alexander McLean, Peter McLern, Robert Smith and G. E. Asker. The sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved family.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

Those interested in the Rhodes Scholarship will read with interest, the announcement by Mount Allison University that candidates for the Rhodes Scholarship will be awarded for that university for the year 1914, are required to present their applications on or before November 22, 1913.

FIRE AT CARLETON

Dalhousie, N. B., Nov. 2.—Four buildings were destroyed by fire at Carleton, P. Q., about twelve miles from here, Saturday. Mrs. Coulter's house and store and Poirer's blacksmith's shop were burned. The locality where the fire occurred is in close proximity to the parish church, convent and presbytery.

MRS. TATTIE DEAD

The death occurred at the manse, Tabusintac, Monday afternoon, of Mabel Louise Sutherland, beloved wife of Rev. G. P. Tattier, recently inducted into the charge of the Presbyterian church there. She was a daughter of Rev. J. M. Sutherland and aged 27 years and 9 months. The deceased lady has been in failing health for some months and was confined to the manse since coming to Tabusintac. She was a young person of many amiable qualities and was highly esteemed and respected by all who knew her. Her father, Rev. J. M. Sutherland, formerly of New Carlisle, P. Q., reached Tabusintac and was by the deathbed when his daughter passed away. The remains were brought to Chatham Wednesday evening on the Alexandria en route to New Carlisle, where burial will take place today.

DEATH AT NEWCASTLE

Mr. William H. Russell, the inventor, died suddenly Tuesday morning at the residence of Mrs. F. B. Gough, Newcastle, where he was boarding. Mrs. Gough was in the next house for a few minutes and found him dead when she returned. His wife died some years ago. He leaves one son in the west. Mr. Russell was a professional inventor. It was his lifework, and he held many patents for inventions and improvements. A motor, driven by a double-acting hydraulic ram, occupied his time and absorbed a good deal of the company's capital, but did not prove to be practical. A roller bearings and various other improvements are held to be of practical value, but have not as yet been very profitable to the owners.

FIRE IN TOWN

The Fire Department were called out on Tuesday morning about four o'clock to a fire at the home of Mrs. Lawlor in Duncan Street. The fire had made considerable headway in the interior of the building, but the brigade were successful in keeping it in check, the outside of the building being little damaged. It is thought the fire started from an overheated stove pipe near the stairway, and Mrs. Lawlor was only able to save a very few of her household effects.

BIG, HEARTY BABY BOY

Mrs. Beck's Fondest Hopes Realized—Health, Happiness and Baby.

Upper Lake, N. S., Can.—"I wish to thank you for the benefit I received by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles from which I was a great sufferer, so that I was completely run down in health. Other medicine did not help me, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me well and strong. I now have a big, hearty baby boy, and praise your medicine for the wonderful lot of good it has done me."—Mrs. ISRAEL BECK, JR., Upper Lake, Lunenburg Co., N. S., Canada.

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to a childless and lonely old age. Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to some derangement of the feminine system, often curable by the proper remedies. In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal. If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

NEW ZEALAND'S NAVAL SCHEME

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie Believes Local Navy Plan is Right One at Present

London, Nov. 1.—Speaking at Cutlers' Feast, Sheffield, Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, New Zealand's high commissioner, said that his opinion was that until we could first weld together the various portions of the Empire in some common council we should never weld together one truly Imperial fleet. "I ask," he proceeded "is it right that the overseas Dominions, without an adequate voice in Imperial affairs, in proportion to their populations or contributions, are going to continue to build navies to be handed over to the authority elected by people of one portion of the Empire and controlled by a minority that may be elected on some local issue with which we have no concern? Even there be no need of undue haste, it is absolutely necessary that there be no undue delay. We have felt we ought not to rely entirely upon the Mother Country. Attempts are, however, being made to defeat the work we have in hand. Especially is that done in this country. We in New Zealand have no right to interfere with your internal administration, and I maintain you have no right to interfere with the work we are carrying out. The desire on the part of those who are endeavoring to defeat our work is not from any interest they have in our country, but they fear it will be a success and may be quoted as an example."

In conclusion Hon. Mr. Mackenzie said he was voicing the opinion of many people beyond the seas when saying he hoped the time was not far distant when some form of Senate might be established where the colonies could voice their ideals and aspirations, leaving of course, the Mother Country still to have as she was entitled to have, major voice in great affairs.

WEDDINGS

ARSENEAU—LUMBAR

A very pretty wedding was held in the Catholic church at Virginia, Minn., when Miss Dolly Lumbar of Springbrook, Wis., became the wife of Frank J. Arsenau of Campbellton, N. B., on Tuesday, Oct. 28th.

The bride wore a dress of satin, champagne and real lace and chignon, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore a dress of embroidered linen also carrying a bouquet of roses.

Miss Lulu McCann of Chippewa Falls, Wis., attended the bride and Barney Lumbar, brother of the bride attended the groom. The bride is one of Springbrook's most popular young ladies, having lived there all her life and was always a leader in all social times while at home. The groom is a very prosperous young man and is employed at Oir, Minn., where they expect to make their home when they return from a short trip.

MAUGER—ROSS

The marriage took place at St. James Church, Hopetown on Thursday, Oct. 23rd of Miss Mary Effie Ross, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ross to Mr. Charles F. Mauger. Rev. Mr. Vibert performed the ceremony. As the choir sang "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden," the bride who looked charming walked up the aisle leaning on the arm of her cousin. She wore her travelling suit of navy blue panama cloth with hat to match.

The bride was attended by her friend, Miss Vines Walker, while Mr. John Traverse supported the groom. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of grooms parents where a sumptuous repast was served to over 70 invited guests, then dancing was indulged in until the wee small hours. The many useful and handsome presents showed the esteem in which both Mr. and Mrs. Mauger are held. Their numerous friends wish them every happiness and prosperity in their new sphere of life.

AN EX-CONVICT HELD AT MNNCTON

Ticket of Leave Detained Till The Authorities Are Notified

Robert LeVigne, formerly of Campbellton, and a ticket of leave man from Dorchester Penitentiary, applied for protection at the Moncton police station Thursday night, and was detained by the local authorities for having broken the parole upon which he was released from the prison. He will be detained there for four or five days until Ottawa can be communicated with.

He says that on March 4th, 1912, he was sentenced by Judge McLatchy to two terms of two years each, in the penitentiary for breaking and entering two stores in Campbellton. From one of these stores he secured a small amount of cash, but from the other he got nothing. He was given two sentences of two years each and these were to run concurrently so that in reality he had but two years to serve.

He was taken to Dorchester on March 15th, 1912, and was released under ticket of leave on the 28th of July, 1913, while he had still seven months to serve. He says that he returned to Campbellton and worked there sometime with the International Railway. He then went in to the lumber woods at a place called Dundee, and worked there for three weeks. It seemed that in both instances he has fallen before the curse that seems to blight every convict who comes from the pen and tries to make an honest living, he was deserted by everyone as soon as the fact of his having been a convict leaked out. When he was in the woods at Dundee he was unable to report regularly to the chief of police of Campbellton, and got an idea into his head that the police were after him.

He therefore made his way to Halifax where he attempted to join the Coast Defence Artillery corps, but without success since application for enlistment in that body must be accompanied by a certificate of character.

He therefore made his way back toward Campbellton, and got as far as Moncton last night, applying for protection at the police station here.

MOTHERS! DO YOU KNOW

That when you put a salve onto your child's skin, it passes through the pores and enters the blood, just as surely as if you put it into the child's stomach?

You would not put a coarse mass of animal fat, colored by various mineral poisons (such as many crude salves are) into your child's blood by way of the stomach? Then why do so by way of the pores?

Take no risk. Use always the pure herbal essence provided in ZAM-BUK. ZAM-BUK contains no trace of any animal oil or fat, and no poisonous mineral coloring matter. From start to finish it is purely herbal.

It will heal sores, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns and bruises more quickly than any other known preparation. It is antiseptic, quickly stops the smarting of a sore or cut, cures piles, inflamed sores and blood-poisoning. It is a combination of healing power and scientific purity. Ask those who have proved it.

WHY REFUSE THE SAME PRIVILEGE

Recollections of the Time When Canada Fought For Home Rule

Singularly appropriate at this time, when so much talk is in the air regarding the armed resistance to Home Rule for Ireland, is the article in the Manitoba Free Press, recalling incidents when we in Canada were making the same request for local governments in local affairs.

Canada has greatly prospered since she was given this privilege and it becomes the agitators and hot heads to refuse to Ireland the same blessing we have so greatly enjoyed. The Free Press says in part:

"The granting of home rule to this country was one of the most important turning points in the history of the British Empire. It is not yet three-quarters of a century since Lord Durham made his famous report on the affairs of British North America, in which he told the British government that the only way to keep Canada a British country would be through recognition of the right of the Canadian people to govern themselves. The report, which is one of the most memorable state papers in British history, was the fruit of Lord Durham's study of conditions in Canada. He was sent out as governor, with extraordinary powers, his instructions being that he was to adopt such measures as he judged necessary to restore tranquility, and to report, upon the most effective means of governing the country for the future.

To the minority in the Canada of that time who supported the dominant Family Compact, the Durham report brought dismay, followed by anger and denunciation. These Loyalists, as they called themselves, resorted to what Professor Adam Shortt, in his Life of Lord Sydenham, in the Makers of Canada series, speaks of as "the now familiar representation of the home government as itself tainted with disloyalty when its policy may not happen to harmonize with this or that colonial interests the touchstone of imperial principles, and has assumed Loyalty as one of its party cries."

The favorite amusement of the self-styled Loyalists in Upper Canada at that time, Professor Shortt notes, was "to burn in effigy those members of the imperial cabinet who were suspected of being disloyal to the Family Compact's conception of imperialism." The Canadians who supported the policy of the Durham report were denounced by the Loyalists as "Durhamites, with various aliases, such as republicans, Yankees, traitors, with a long and picturesque line of qualifying epithets not at all of a flattering nature."

Loyalists' petitions against the granting of home rule to Canada were "carried to the foot of the Throne." As a specimen of the tenor of those petitions, this passage from one of them may be taken:

"It (the establishing of responsible government) would lead to the overthrow of the Empire; the majority are only seeking illegitimate power; it is we, the minority, who stand for justice and protection and impartial government; a colonial cabinet is absurd; the local and sectional interests are too strong; the British government must remain as umpire to keep the parties from flying at one another's throats."

It is an old story that history repeats itself. The above-quoted passage from a petition three-quarters of a century ago against the granting of home rule to Canada, and many like passages that might be cited from the speeches and writings of the opponents of the policy advocated in the Durham report, sound like utterances of today made by the opponents of the granting of home rule to Ireland. The predictions of ruin and disaster which were made in this country in the forties of the last century, are being made again at the present time, in almost identical terms, in regard to the establishment of self-government in Ireland.

"The majority seeking illegitimate power" and "we, the minority, stand for justice and protection and impartial government"—when we read those declarations, and hear them re-echoing now after all these years across the Atlantic, it makes us realize, indeed, that history repeats itself. And may we not believe that the history will repeat itself further, and that the dire predictions being made by the opponents of home rule in Ireland will prove to be as well founded as were the dire predictions of those who opposed home rule in Canada?"

A $65,000 FIRE IN QUEBEC CITY

Le Soleil Newspaper is a Sufferer by The Blaze

Quebec, Nov. 1.—Fire which broke out yesterday destroyed the contents of the dry good store of Edward Belanger, on Mountain Hill, and threatened one time to spread to the adjoining premises, occupied by the Soleil Newspaper company. Damage to the extent of $65,000 was done to the Belanger store, while the Soleil building was also injured by smoke and water.

The fire started, it is said by the explosion of a new furnace in the basement of the Belanger building which scattered live coal all over the cellar. The flames rapidly spread through the premises and the Soleil building got so hot that the employees had to leave their work. Although the Soleil building was saved, great difficulty was experienced in publishing the paper.

The Roofing that Needs No Painting

Amatite ROOFING

THE Amatite mineral surface will hold its own against the weather for a long time. You don't have to look over your Amatite Roofs to see whether they need painting every year or two.

The cost of paint, therefore, is done away with—all that trouble and nuisance and bother is gone. Simply lay your Amatite, nail it down, take away your ladder and forget that you have a roof.

A sample of Amatite will be sent free on request, together with a handsome little booklet, giving details. Address our nearest office.

CANADA'S DAIRYING INDUSTRY

"The ice cream trade in Canada and the home consumption of milk is valued at over $30,000,000 a year, making it rank next in importance to butter-making and greatly surpassing in value the output of cheese. The Dairying output in Canada represents over $109,000,000 each year," writes Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Canada's Dairy Commissioner, in this week's issue of the JOURNAL OF COMMERCE, Montreal.

"There are now 3,760 cheese factories and creameries in the Dominion and 12 condensed milk and milk powder factories. The value of the Dairy output increased from $66,000,000 in 1900 to over $109,000,000 in 1910."

The Dairying Industry is one of the most important in the Dominion and, in the words of Mr. Ruddick, "There is every inducement for the farmers of Canada to continue in the business of milk production and to increase that production very largely."

The article, which is illustrated, gives a most comprehensive history of the industry and also deals exhaustively with the future prospects.

CAUGHT YOUNG MAN ROBBING HIS TILL

The Experience of a New-castle Merchant—The Thief Leaves Town

Newcastle, N. B., Nov. 1.—To enter his store to find a man at the till helping himself, was the experience of Mr. Wm. Staples, son of George Staples, grocer of this town, one morning recently.

Mr. Staples had been out spending the evening with friends and returning home late went into the store to get a book he had left there, when he was surprised to see the intruder. After a severe lecture by Mr. Staples the young man was allowed to go. Next morning another merchant with whom the would-be thief was employed, and who had missed several things from his store, swore out a warrant for his arrest, but when the officer went to serve the warrant the young man had left for parts unknown. It is thought that this is the same person who entered the store of Mr. Thomas Russell recently and emptied the till there.

CHAPTER VII.

"From Sight of Men Into Torment." Seldom have I passed a more miserable hour than that which followed upon the seeming phenomenon I have described. Cameron was nervously in tatters and my own pulse was something more than threatened. The sight of a usually brave, strong, self-contained person of stolidly phlegmatic temperament transformed into a relaxed, nervous, apprehensive creature is enough of itself to try one's fortitude, even with the most favorable collateral conditions. And the collateral conditions here were quite the reverse. That which had affected Cameron had exerted an influence upon me as well, knowing, as I did, all the circumstances and being interested, as I was, in my friend's problem. And so while his plight tore at my heartstrings, my own inability to grapple with the mystery contributed an added mental distress.

To my dismay I found Cameron quite incapable of anything approaching a calm, common-sense discussion of the matter, and realized to the full the mischief which this last performance, coming as a climax upon a week of more or less disquietude, had effected.

He sat most of the time with head bent forward and knees doubled, his feet touching the floor but his heels raised and in constant vibrating movement, as though stricken with palsy. The fingers of one hand toyed incessantly, too, with the fingers of the other, in a variety of twisting, scisselike inversions. In vain I endeavored to arouse him; to stir in him a spirit of retaliation. Some one was playing tricks upon him, and that some one must be discovered and brought to justice. Common sense told us that, however mysterious these happenings appeared, they would not have occurred without human agency. It was our task to discover the agent and punish him. This was my line of argument; but through it all, Cameron sat unmoved and unresponsive.

And then there came to me again, that unwelcome suspicion that all along he had been hiding something from me; that he divined the cause and the source of the persecution, but for some reason of his own would not divulge them.

I rang for one of the footmen and had some brandy brought, and forced Cameron to swallow a stiff drink of it, in which I joined him. But even this stimulant had small effect upon him. And when, finally, I reluctantly bade him good-night, I was overwhelmed by the pathos of his condition. So wrought and tortured, indeed, was I, by the sad picture of de-throned courage which followed me home, that sleep fled me and left me wide-eyed until the dawn.

The tidings which came to me with my coffee that morning, were more than half expected. Cameron was ill, and his physician had been summoned from New York.

When I reached Cragholt the doctor had come and gone, and a trained nurse was in attendance. Evelyn, meeting me in the hall, conveyed this intelligence in a breath, and then, laying hold upon me, a slender hand upon each coat sleeve, her big eyes pleading and anxious, she ran on:

"It is shock, Dr. Massey says. Deeper shock, he called it. He says Uncle Robert has suffered from some sudden grief, fright, or other dreadful mental impression. His temperature is way below normal and his pulse is a sort of rapid feeble flutter. Oh, do tell me what you know about it. What shock has he had? You were with him last evening. He was gay enough when you and he went from the music room. What happened afterward?"

Carelessly I rested my palms upon her shoulders.

"My dear little girl," I said, soothingly. "I am sorry I can't satisfy your very natural curiosity."

"But I can't satisfy it," she corrected, promptly. "It's interest."

"Well, interest then. I'm sorry, I say. Something did happen; but to tell you just what it was, and why it was a shock to him, I am not able. Not now, at least. Maybe, some day, you'll know all about it."

There never was a more reasonable young person than Evelyn Grayson. Most girls, I fancy, would have teased and grown peevish at being denied. But she seemed to understand.

"Do you want to see uncle?" she asked me.

"I don't believe it would be wise," I answered. "Probably I, being a reminder, might do him harm. Tell me how he seems? He isn't unconscious?"

"No. He answers questions. But he never says anything for himself. And Philip, he looks so pinched and old and pale. And his hands are so cold. The nurse has taken away his pillows and raised his feet, and it's gruesome, that's the only word that describes it."

"But he'll soon be better!" The doctor said that, didn't he?"

"Yes. He said that."

But the reaction which usually follows shock was only partial in Cameron's case, and for days his life was in danger. Then followed a period of slow, general recovery.

As the month of October progressed I feared the liability to relapse. I knew, instinctively, with what dread sensations he must be awaiting the fourteenth of the month. He had been forbidden, of course, to receive any mail, just as he had been denied visitors; but I felt that in an uncertainty that must of necessity prove injurious. And so I took Dr. Massey, in a measure, into my confidence, and gained from him permission to see Cameron for a brief moment.

"He has been asking for you," the physician informed me, "but I fancied it better to make no exceptions. Now, however, I see that you may be a help instead of a hindrance."

Despite the more or less circumstantial reports as to his condition and appearance which had filtered to me from the sick room, through the medium of Evelyn, Miss Collins, the nurse, and Dr. Massey and his assistant, Dr. Thorne, I was not altogether prepared for the marked change which less than three weeks had wrought in my friend. He was peaked and bloodless and tired and old. And his voice was little more than a whisper.

He made a brave effort to smile, as I came in, but it resulted in a sad grimacing failure. I lifted one of his thin, clammy hands which lay inert on the coverlid, but it gave me only the feeblest answering pressure.

"I'm so glad you're better," I told him, absently. "Fancy the doctor allowing me to see you! That shows what he thinks."

"Yes," he whispered, "I'm coming round, slowly. And I wanted to see you, Clyde. What day of the month is this?"

"The twelfth."

"Day after tomorrow, it will come," he said.

"Don't be too sure," I replied. "I think they've done about enough to satisfy any ordinary villain."

He was silent for a moment. Then, with just the faintest turn of his head from side to side, he said:

"But they are not ordinary, villains."

"Well," I said, "if it does come, I shall find out how it goes here; and that will be a step towards bringing them to justice."

"You'll find out?" he queried, incredulously.

"Yes. I'll get your mail that day, myself. I'll tell that monument of pomposity, your butler, Mr. Checkabeedy, that I am to see every letter that comes to the house and know how and by whom it is delivered. Let them not get here without hands, you know."

"Other things seem to be done without hands," was his conclusive comment; and I had no reply for him.

Concerning Murphy and the murdered Chinaman, Cameron did not ask, and I was glad he did not. For Murphy had been discharged from custody, for lack of evidence; and though there were some desultory efforts making to place the blame for the Celestial's violent taking-off, I doubted that they would have practicable result.

The precautions against surprise on the fourteenth, which I had outlined so briefly to Cameron, I carried out with added detail. For instance, I instructed Romney to report to me every person who passed in or out of the gates guarded by his Lodge. I had Kilgour, the superintendent of the Cameron acres, issue similar orders to his men concerning any strangers seen on the estate that day. And, finally, when not fetching the mail from the post office, myself—and four times I made the trip—I sat on guard in Cameron's study, waiting and expectant.

But the day passed, it seemed, without the looked-for incident. Every letter, by post or by hand, which came that day, inside the Cragholt limits was by me personally inspected, and amongst them all there was no one which bore the faintest resemblance to those two baleful missives of the two preceding fourteenth.

When I had made my last trip to the post office, finished my final inspection, and was almost jubilant over the significant cessation of the threats which, in their ultimate fulfillment at least, had brought my friend as close to dissolution, I made haste to carry to Cameron the glad news.

Oddly enough, his condition in the past forty-eight hours had materially improved, and as Dr. Massey attributed this, in part at least, to the influence exerted by my brief visit, I was now permitted to repeat the treatment at pleasure.

It wanted but a few minutes of eight o'clock, and Checkabeedy seized the occasion to inform me, as process Cameron the mail, that Cameron had been waiting for nearly a half-hour; a fact which I knew quite as well as he, but when I had chosen to disregard in favor of more pressing and important employment. Nevertheless I had dressed before going for the last mail, and as a moment would suffice to assure Cameron that all was well, I relieved the mind of the distressed butler, by assuring him that dinner should not wait over five minutes longer, so far as I was concerned.

A very light tap on the chamber door was answered by Miss Collins, who came out into the passage and closed the door behind her.

"I fear it is not advisable for you to see him, now," Mr. Clyde," she said. "He has suddenly had a return of some of his worst symptoms, and I am sure Dr. Massey would object to his being at all excited."

"But I shan't excite him," I explained. "I have the very best of news for him. It is his anxiety over a certain matter, no doubt, which has brought about the symptoms you speak of. I know I can relieve his mind, which I have reason to believe has been all day under an unusual strain."

But still this efficient-looking, white-clad woman was not wholly convinced.

"It must be only for a minute then," she finally allowed. "You can go in alone. But at the end of sixty seconds," she added, as she glanced at the little gold watch she wore pinned to her spotless waist, "I shall interrupt you; and then you must leave."

Yielding, perforce, to her condition, I entered. And as I did so, Cameron half rose on his elbow, regarding me with what I thought was anxiety for my report.

"It's all right," I said, quietly. "All right. Not so much as a line from the enemy. They have withdrawn, just as I—"

But he interrupted me.

"Here, quickly!" he was saying. "Take this!" And I saw then that one hand was drawing something from beneath his pillow. The next moment he had given me a long envelope of that thin, waxy texture I had learned to loathe.

For a heartbeat I stood appalled, transfixed.

"Quick!" he insisted, excitedly. "Open it! Read it! I'll not leave you long and I must know its contents."

"But how—" I began, as I tore the end of the envelope.

"God knows," he answered, before I had put my question into words. "I had been doing; about an hour ago, I stretched out my hand, unconscious, and that lay beneath it, on the counterpane. It crackled as I touched it; and I saw then, even before I recognized the seal of it."

Sixty seconds! Was there ever such an interminable period? Sixty long seconds before that door would open with the interruption that would spare me. I fumbled with the devilish paper; let it slip through my fingers; tore a bit here and a bit there; finished the tearing; and then, dissembling, began tearing the other end. And still the seconds lagged; still the door remained stationary.

"My God, Clyde!" Cameron cried, in a frenzy of impatience. "What's the matter with you tonight? Are you never going to get that thing open?"

And then I, desperate, too, with eyes fixed imploringly on the door, was about to answer him with the truth—that I did not want to open it; that I would not, could not read the contents; that he must wait and trust me, absolutely—when, quite without design on my part, the envelope fell to the rug at my feet. And as I stooped to recover it, I heard the door knock turn.

When I regained the upright, Miss Collins was entering, and the letter was in the pocket of my dinner jacket.

"And so you see, Cameron," I said, speaking distinctly and with double purpose, the nurse being in ear-shot, "everything is quite right. 'What's the matter with you tonight?' Are you never going to get that thing open?"

The reproach in his eyes stung me, and the pain of it followed me from the room and stabbed me at intervals during the day. And yet it was not the part of civility to have acted otherwise than I did. The temptation had occurred to me to invent phrases and sentences expressive of satisfaction over the effort of the previous communications. But I doubted that, in my agitation, I should be successful in the deception. And so, my only course had been delay—stupid, bungling, palpable delay it was, I suppose, but after all it had served; and, though it left Cameron in doubt, gave me time and opportunity to arrange some plan for extracting the fangs of this epistolary adder before it could strike its prey.

Purposely I delayed reading the letter, myself, until after I had dined. I chose uncertainty as to its contents as less likely noticeably to affect my demeanor than an exact knowledge of the minatory message which I felt sure it carried.

I think I fancied I should be able to conceal my real state of mind. Certainly I tried to do so. But I was very soon conscious that Evelyn had divined my dissimulation. Her eyes became suddenly grave and questioning, her laughter quieted, and her conversation, which had been glad and gay, relapsed abruptly into the serious. When the coffee and liqueurs had been brought on, Mrs. Lancaster asked to be excused, and left us alone together.

There followed then a moment of silence between us, while I selected a cigarette and lighted it. She had edged her chair a little closer to me—she was sitting on my right, as you half—and leaned forward, her slender but divinely rounded forearms extended across the shining damask of the tablecloth.

As I dropped my match upon the tiny silver tray which the inimitable Checkabeedy had placed conveniently at my elbow I turned to her and saw her question in her imploring gaze and attitude even before she voiced it.

"Tell me!" was what she said. And although I knew that she would demand it I was unprepared. To gain time rather than information I bade her be more explicit.

"Everything," she pursued, inclusively, with a peremptory emphasis which indicated her determination not to be denied.

My hesitation resulted in some amplification on her part. She was impatient as well as resolved, and repeated what she interpreted as my reluctance to gratify her.

"Everything," she repeated. "Everything that you have been hiding from me from the first. I am entitled to know. What about the head that was cut from the portrait? What was it that caused the shocks which brought on Uncle Robert's illness? Why did you go for the mail four times today, and sit all the rest of the time in Uncle Robert's study? What has happened to make him worse this afternoon? What is troubling you, now? I'm not a child, I'm a woman, and I refuse to be kept in ignorance any longer."

She was glorious as she thus formulated her demands, her cheeks blazing, her eyes brilliant, her voice a crescendo. She must have seen my admiration. Certainly I made no attempt to hide it; and before she had quite finished I had possessed myself of her clasped hands, and was bestowing upon them an applauding pressure.

And her argument prevailed. She knew too much not to know more. Cameron's wishes in the matter could no longer be regarded. Just how tactfully I managed the disclosure, it is not for me to judge. Perhaps I told more than I should. Possibly I revealed too little. I was guided solely by the wish not to alarm her, unduly. And yet, as nearly every feature of the affair was of necessity alarming, it became a vexing problem as to what to include and what to omit.

Eventually she heard the whole story, every phase of it. And so it is not, altogether clear in my memory how much I conveyed that night and how much was left for me to add ten days later.

There is no question, however, regarding that third letter which had been so mysteriously received that day. I drew it from the envelope, there, at the table, and we read it together, by the light of the pink-shaded candles; our chairs touching and her cool little left hand clasped hard in my sinewy right.

PRETTY WEDDING ON WEDNESDAY

Miss Alice Barbara Mowat Quietly Married at Her Mother's Home

The marriage of Alice Barbara daughter of Mrs. J. Porter Mowat, and George Leslie McCrae of Montreal, eldest son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. McCrae of London, Ont., was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Chapel Hill, on Wednesday morning at 8.15.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. W. Squires, M.A., pastor of the Methodist church in the presence of only the immediate members of the family, the bride couple standing in front of a wall banked with maiden hair fern, smilax, and yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The bride who was given away by her brother, Mr. John T. Mowat looked charming in Ivory Charmeuse with Rose Pointe lace trimmings, veil and Juliet cap trimmed with orange blossoms.

The exquisite bridal bouquet was of Orchids and Lilies of the Valley.

Many lovely gifts were received from friends both in Montreal and Campbellton.

Mr. and Mrs. McCrae left on the Limited for a short wedding trip to St. John and American cities after which they will reside in Montreal.

The brides travelling suit was of Taupe broadcloth with purple Velour hat and fox fur.

CHANDLER

The weather has been colder for the last couple of days, but the roads are still muddy. Chandler school house is being moved west about a half mile, as in its old position, it is dangerous for the school children owing to the traffic in that vicinity.

Electric lights have now been installed in the Chandler Hotel as well as the Staff House, and in the course of a day or so the main street will also be illuminated. Chandler Hotel is crowded to its utmost capacity, and all boarding and rooming houses are in the same condition, but still every day's trains bring more strangers to the new town.

A new arrival at Pabos Mills is a little daughter to Mr. and Mrs. George A. Clapperton. Mr. Clapperton is the manager of the Pabos Mercantile Co.

On Wednesday last, the marriage took place of Mr. Jack Magrath and Miss Julia Wall, both of Chandler. In the evening a dance was given at the home of the bride's parents where a merry crowd gathered and danced until the wee small hours of the morning.

On Thursday evening the staff of the Abertaw Co., gave a jolly little entertainment in their "Engineers' Quarters." The large room was prettily decorated with evergreens and colored papers. The large fireplace with its bright fire added a cozy look to everything. There was dancing with refreshments between the dances. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Prouty, Mr. and Mrs. Rutter, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Rail, Mrs. Poirier, Misses Houdard, Nadler, Sutton and Beck, Messrs Henderson, Coleman, Young, Smith, Small, Styles, Patterson, Wade, Halliday, Curran, Kennedy, Percy and A. J. Arnold, Nadler and Rail.

MORE PAPER MILLS FOR THIS COUNTRY

Eastern Provinces May Benefit From Several Industries Soon to be Established

Consumption of paper is growing to such an extent in the United States that Canada is becoming an ever-increasing factor in the situation. Newsprint enters the United States duty free, except that produced from Crown lands timber, so that 80 per cent. of Canadian paper enters the United States exempt from tariff tax, as that proportion is produced from privately owned lands.

May Have to Move Over Here

The International Paper Company has large areas of woodland in Canada, but, as they are all Crown lands, wood pulp made from that timber cannot be exported, and the International may be forced to build mills in Canada to get the use of these timber areas. It is naturally to be expected that they will want to make some use of their tracts. The trouble with the International Paper Company is its lack of sufficient wood lands in the United States. It has a capacity of 1,700 tons of newsprint daily, a good sales organization and good water powers. By scrapping its mills across the border, or perhaps putting them on special papers, and building mills in Canada, it could probably use its valuable water powers in more profitable ways.

There is now a slight over-production of newsprint in Canada and the United States, probably amounting to 50 tons daily. That situation helps to knock out the old, poorly-arranged and ill-equipped mills.

Favorably Situated

The foregoing information has special significance for Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The great paper market in the United States is New York, with Boston, Philadelphia and other Atlantic cities also using vast quantities of paper. Both Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are exceptionally well situated for the shipment of paper to United States ports. With the development of the vast water powers of the two Eastern Provinces there is no reason why paper cannot be manufactured as advantageously in the Maritime Provinces as in Ontario or Quebec. A rapid expansion may be looked for in the paper business in the Maritime Provinces if the Canadian-Made Policy, that has actuated Federal and Provincial Government during the past few years, is rigidly maintained. Every Canadian will subscribe to a policy which has as its object the export of the finished product from the Canadian paper mill rather than the pulp wood from private or Crown lands. A dollar's worth of pulp wood is multiplied into five dollars by the time the finished paper leaves Canada. That is, the money paid for the wood and the wages for cutting it are only about one-fifth the total amount paid for the different processes of manufacture from the wood to the finished product and the wages that are paid throughout the processes. From the fact that the wages paid for the manufacture of the paper are circulated several times over by the wage earner before they go back into capital, it is evident that we should retain all the processes in Canada.

Steadily Gaining

The proportion of pulpwood produced in Canada, which is consumed in manufacture in this country, is steadily gaining. Last year it amounted to 46.9 per cent. as against 44.2 per cent. in 1911. The effect of legislation restricting the export of manufactured pulpwood is noticeable in Quebec, as in 1912 only 56.5 per cent. was exported against 62 per cent. in 1911.

Under a reasonable trade policy there is bound to be a tremendous growth in the pulp and paper business in Canada in the next few years.

SELF-HELP IN THE FACTORY

Employer and Employee Co-operate in a Big Rubber Company

An employees' mutual benefit society has just been organized by one of Canada's largest rubber companies for the purpose of rendering assistance to employees in cases of sickness and death and of supplying them with medical attendance. Men are entitled to $4 per week for the first ten weeks they are incapacitated by sickness or accident; women and all others earning at the rate of 12 cents per hour will get $2.50 per week for the same period. A clause provides that no benefits shall be paid in cases where sickness is the result of intoxication or immoral conduct. The sum of $50 will be paid to assist in defraying the funeral expenses of a deceased member. The establishment of such societies as this improves the relations between employer and employee. Moreover, experts state that little difficulty will be experienced in adjusting a system of workmen's compensation to the conditions created by such societies.

PRESENTATION TO RAILROAD MAN

Popular Quebec Official is Banqueted on His Departure to Montreal

On the occasion of the eve of his departure from Quebec, a number of the friends of Mr. Clifford Bastin gathered in the Auditorium Hall on Saturday evening and presented him with a valuable gold watch, as a tangible mark of esteem in which his friendship was cherished. The presentation, which was made by Mr. Paul O'Brien, who in doing so made a few appropriate remarks, was altogether unexpected by Mr. Bastin, whose presence at the hall was secured by a ruse. Nevertheless, the recipient in feeling terms returned his appreciation for the kind regards of his friends, and assured all that the memory of their companionship would always linger with him.

During the course of the evening a number of speeches were made, all eulogistic of Mr. Bastin and the regret felt at his departure. Songs and refreshments also contributed to the evening's function. Mr. Bastin has resigned the position of inspector for the Canadian Freight Association and accepted a more lucrative position with the Grand Trunk Railway freight department in Montreal and left yesterday afternoon for the sister city to enter upon his new duties. A number of his friends crossed over to Levis to see him off. Mr. Bastin is succeeded as inspector for the Canadian Freight Association by Mr. Walter Walsh, hitherto cashier of G. T. R. freight department here.

Many friends of Mr. Bastin in this district will be glad to hear of his advancement in railway work, and wish him every success in his new sphere in Montreal.

STEAMER FLOODED BY STORMY SEAS

S. S. Cascapedia at Quebec With Saloon Cabins Filled With Water

Quebec, Nov. 4.—The steamer Cascapedia, Captain Hearn, of the Quebec Steamship Company, which arrived here this afternoon from the Maritime Provinces, had a very stormy passage, having her saloon flooded. While between Cape Rosier and Fame Point, from three o'clock on Saturday afternoon to half-past five o'clock on Sunday morning, she made only 25 miles, against a northeasterly gale, accompanied by snow flurries, with the thermometer registering 24 degrees. The wind then began to drive the steamer back.

A heavy sea washed over her bow on to the saloon deck, smashing in the two forward saloon doors. The steamer then ran down to Cape Rosier and anchored under the lee of the cape until the gale abated. Captain Hearn, a veteran mariner, says he never saw such heavy weather in the Gulf of St. Lawrence before. The Cascapedia left for Montreal at five o'clock this evening.

$136,000 FOR B. TREASURY

For Military Ground at McGivney's Junction

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—The treasury of New Brunswick is to be enriched by $136,000, as a result of the concluding of an agreement between the federal and provincial government for the handing over of a manoeuvring area at McGivney Junction. The area consists of 65,000 acres, and is to be paid for at the rate of $2 per acre. It is situated about the centre of the province where the Transcontinental and the Intercolonial railway cross so that afford easy access from all directions.

BATHURST

Bathurst, N. B., Nov. 4.—Mrs. J. B. H. Storer of Dalhousie, who with her little son Ian, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bishop for the past month, returned to her home during the week.

Mr. E. P. McKay, Manager of the Bank of Montreal accompanied by his little daughters spent the week end in Campbellton, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Byrne returned during the week from Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. William Russell of Shediac, who were guests of Mrs. Robert Armstrong have returned to their home.

Miss Lyle Kennedy of St. John, has been visiting Mrs. Robert Armstrong. She was called here on account of the death of her grandfather, Mr. Robert Armstrong.

A sale and goose supper under the auspices of the ladies of the S. H. Church will be given in the Masonic hall on Wednesday afternoon and evening, the 12th inst. Efficient committees have been appointed to attend to the different departments and a successful affair is looked forward to.

NOT FEASIBLE NOW

Leading Grain Grower Admits Impracticability of Free Trade at Present

The controversy between the editor of the "Grain Growers' Guide" in Winnipeg and Mr. F. W. Green, secretary of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, and one of the most prominent men in the Grain Growers' movement, continues. In the "Guide" of recent date appears a lengthy communication from Mr. Green in answer to some charges that have been made against him. The following is an interesting paragraph from his letter: "On Free Trade, Nothing definite is the charge. Wrong again. I am in favor of Free Trade, absolutely, as indicated above, but admit it hardly possible at the present time. I am not in favor of a quick agreement fixed up to oppose my own country, or class. Not in favor of free trade for my rival while I and my fellow farmers are to be bound. Not in favor of an agreement binding me to keep out of my rival's garden while he, forsooth, is permitted unlimited range in mine. To be below the average workman, near home, or from abroad, or their employers."

In commenting on Mr. Green's letter the editor of the "Guide" makes no reference to the feasibility of free trade at the present time.
