Government Going to Revise the Voters' Lists This Year I

The Bill to Disfranchise Bribe-Takers Read a Second Time.

Sir John Thompson Opposed to Compulsory Voting.

Conservative Members Move to Plac Coal Oil on the Free List-It Would Help the Barrel Industry—Sir John Afraid to Face the Music.

[Special Editorial Correspondence by Tole-graph.]

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—The most important news conveyed to the House this afternoon was the announcement, in reply to Mr. Grieve, that the Government intends to have the voters' lists revised this year.

Mr. Langlier elicited the information the Administration that $67,436 worth of pickles had been brought into the country last year, and that a duty of $24,830 had been paid on them.

Sir John Thompson made an explanation

regarding the Newfoundland gotiations, showing that there was divergence of views and Premier Whiteway, whereupon Mr.
Laurier expressed regret at the divergence, but congratulated the Government on but congratulated the Government on bringing down all the papers, and not suppressing a part of them, as they have done in the case of the papers regarding the Washington reciprocity negotiations.

Mr. Laurier asked: "Is the Government in a position to give any information with in a position to give any information with regard to the welcome news that a treaty of commerce has been signed with regard to Canada? Sir John Thompson promised to bring down the papers to-morrow.

Dr. Weldon (Albert, N. B.) moved the second reading of his bill to disfranchise men who take bribes for eight years. He men who take bribes for eight years. He explained that under this bill 25 electors could petition for a special inquiry into bribery, a judge would be appointed, and all bribed persons would be reported to the revising officers to be disfranchised. Mr. Weldon was applauded by both sides, and his bill was read a second time.

Col. Amyot moved the second reading of American coal oil is sold at Rockland, Vt., for 7½ cents a gallon, while at Stanstead, Que., just opposite, it cost 25 cents. No industry requires such protection as that. Canadian oil can be got for 12 cents or 14 cents in some parts, but it is dirty and smoky. Mr. Pope, another Conservative, seconded. There was a pause, and cries of "Carried." Sir John Thompson looked serious, and in the absence of the Finance Minister said it was not advisable to state the Government's policy till the budget is brought down.

stated on behalf of the oil men that $21 .-800,000 was invested in the business, but sou, 000 was invested in the business, but this Dr. Macdonald contended was a gross exaggeration. The refiners claim they pay out in wages, expenses and interest $4,250,000 a year, but how could they do that when their total output was only worth $1,638,000, 28 shown in the Government return? They say they do not take advantage of the duty," said Dr. Macdonald. "Why, then, are they here, lobbying to keep the duty on?" "Hear, hear," came from various parts of the chamber. Dr. Macdonald showed that both refined oil and crude oil could be bought at vastly reduced prices, but for the enormous duties imposed. He proved that the coopering industry of Canada was not improved by the imposition of a duty of 900 per cent. on crude oil, which was virtually prohibitory. If refined oil were imported in tank cars instead of in barrels as now, the consumer would save $174.778, or 3 1-10 cents on every gallon, besides giving employment to 250 or more men to make 140,000 barrels. Indeed, every industry in the land would be benefited, and gas for domestic uses would also be cheapened. Dr. Macdonald was followed by Mr. Moncrieff (East Lambton), who spoke for a few minutes in defense of the present duty on oil. He claimed that past Governments had made a bargain to retain the duty; that the Canadian producers were not too heavily taxed for their oil; that Canadian oil is as good as can be desired by the most exacting, and that to reduce the duty now would not only kill the Petrolea industry, but prevent the investment of capital to developthe districts of Gape and Athabasea, where oil was supposed to exist. Mr. Monorieff was warming up to doilver a long speech, when 6 o'clock arrived. Being private members' day, he would have been able to resume in the evening at 8 had Sir John Thompson not taken adventage to move the adjournment of the debate and then of the House, which two motions were promptly adopted. this Dr. Macdonald contended was a gross exaggeration. Fire Destroys the Building and Only Four Out of Forty-Eight Inmates Escape Alive.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 10.—The county insane asylum, four miles from here, was burned last night and 44 lives were lost. When Watchman Wm. Cheevy made his 10 o'clock trip into the insane asylum he found the fire coming out of the cell occupied by A. Lafamitane, a woman, and gave the alarm. Wm. Driscoll, the keeper, with his family, lived in the building, and he at once broke the locks of the 54 cells and tried to get the inmates out. the other night, under the auspices of the Socialist League. He began by telling of the big inroads of the liquor traffic in Engiand during the last 25 years, and said the first trust was-formed in that country by Fight the Liquor Interest. Col. Amyot moved the second reading of his bill to make voting compulsory. He made a strong plea for obligatory voting, claiming it would greatly reduce corruption. Mr. Jeanotte (Assomption), speaking in French, opposed the bill. Who would pay the costs of prosecution?" he asked. Sir John Thompson also opposed the bill. He argued that it was not in the public interest, and that it would be unfair to compol a man to go to the polls if he were opposed to all the candidates nominated.

Mr. Cleveland (Richmond and Wolfe, Quebec), a Conservative, moved that coal oil be placed on the free list. Queen Natalie are somewhat in a quandary as to wnether their solemn reconciliation should be followed by a remarriage or not. It will be remembered that considerable doubt has always existed as to the legality of the divorce, which has always been declared to be invalid, both by Queen Natalie and many of the experts of ecclesiastical law in Servia. Ex-King Milan and the Servian Government, on the other hand, have maintained that it was fally legal.

The question now arises as to whesher they can live together again without a remarriage taking place. Possibly King Milan may be induced to insist upon the performance of some ceremony of this kind, with the object of making it a protext for demanding a large sum of money from the Servian treasury by way of a wedding outfit.

MILAN, Italy, Feb. 10.-La Scala Theater Milan, Italy, Feb. 10.—La Scata Italiant was last night filled with a brilliant audience, who assembled to hear the new opera, "Falstaff," composed by Verdi. The work was accorded a most hearty reception. The quarrel scene in the second act received an encore, and the aged composer was called three times before the curtain, and each time he was given an ovation. In the second act Maurel was obliged to repeat Falstaff's air, and when he had finished he was greeted with deafening applause. At the close of the act Verdi was called before the curtain five times. The last time he appeared with Signor Boiti, the librettist, the leader of the orchestra. At the close of the opera Verdi was given seven more recalls, and was greeted with cheers, hand-clapping and the waving of handkerchiefs. The origin of disease-germs has been the subject of elaborate investigation and experiment by the ablest biologists, and although our knowledge is still largely speculative, much is known about the way in which such germs are "horne about and deposited in soils suitable for their growth and reproduction. Notes.

Ottawa, Feb. 10.—This afternoon Archbishop Tache, of St. Boniface, published a statement here in which he endeavors to reconcile the views of the Pope as expressed at the council of Baltimore with those lately expressed by Mgr. Satolli, the Papal delegate. The Intention apparently is tonfluence members of Parliament to favorably consider the request of the Manitoba Catholic minority for remedial legislation as a consequence of the abolition of separate schools in Manitoba by the Legislature. Archbishop Tache asserts shat Mgr. Satolli's decision as to the public schools in the United States does not afford a solution to the Manitoba school question.

A BROTHERHOOD CHURCH.

The Southgate Road Congregational Church in London, England, has changed its name to Brotherhood Church. At the meeting in which the change was publicly recognized a representative of the church said the new movement implied a confession of failure; that they intended now to act out the true principles of Christianity, recognizing that men were not to fight for existence like beasts, but should mutually help and comfort each other. The addresses were given by the Rev. T. H. Darlow, Mr. Keir Hardie, M.P., the labor reformer, and Mr. Percy Alden, of the Mansfield House. Two utterances were especially noteworthy. Two utterances were especially noteworthy. Keir Hardie said: "Our college system is at fault. It crushes enthusiasm for humanity in the young men whom it takes in hand, and turns them out learned only in books whose thought has become musty. We want ministers in touch with the throbbing pulse of humanity." Mr. Alden said: "When I look upon the wizened faces of little children in the street, I am amazed that Christians can enjoy life while such conditions last. For my own part I declare before God that I will seek no enjoyment in life till they have been altered." There is something in the movement in England in favor of Labor Churches and Brotherhood Churches which Christians everywhere will do well to heed. The masses of the people, whether they are right or wrong, do not believe that the churches realize human brotherhood, and therefore clubs, lodges and various forms of secret societies take the places which the churches ought to occupy. Mr. Hardie is right; the ministers are far too often out of touch with people. That, however, will not be so true in this country in the future as in the past. Many of our seminaries already are providing for the study of social questions as well as of theology; and the number is constantly increasing who are willing to say with Mr. Alden that they will seek no enjoyment in life until the evil conditions have been altered.

A Family's Narrow Escape From Suffocation by Ceal Gas.

New York, Feb. 9.—George A. Wildes, his wife and six children, ranging in age from 8 to 21 years, living at 48 South Eighth street, Brooklyn, E. D., had a narrow escape from being suffocated early Tuesday monning by coal gas escaping from the heater in the front basement and finding its way into their rooms by the registers.

Mr. Wildes was awakened by the coughing of one of the children, but found himself powerless to move. The smell of gas showed him that his condition was due to semi-asphyxiation, and by a mighty effort he managed to drag himself to a window.

The fresh air revived him, and he was able, with great difficulty, to rescue the rest of the family, who were in as bad a plight as himself. Dr. Beardsley, who treated the sufferers, said that had the family not been aroused they would have died in about fifteen minutes. Under his treatment all are out of danger, but still very sick from shock and nervousness.

Rheumatism Cured in a Few Hours -BY THE-ALKALINE TREATMENT

All Schools of Medicine are taught that there can be but two causes of disease, Acids and Alkaiies, and where there is one case of alkalinity there is a million of acidity. The Alkaline Treatment discovered by Professor Brunton, the Canadian Chemist, neutralizes the acid which is the cause of every known disease. Stimulates the blood vessels, restoring circulation. Rheumatism. Catarrh. Paralysis, Eczema. Sour Stomach. Kidney Troubles, Indigestion. Debility, any form of Blood Poisoning, etc., are treated successfully. THE ENGLISH SPEAKERS OF THE WORLD.

In a conversation with Dollinger shortly before his last illness Prof. True, of Rochester University. New England, reports that the venerable dector spoke with much anxiety about the tone of modern English literature. He explained his anxiety by expressing his belief that at no distant sime the English tongue would, be pre-eminently the language of all civilized nations. The greatest works of English literature were worthy of being ever popular. From a German, this opinion about the spread of the English tongue was full of interest. It is computed that at the opening of the present century there were have 19,000,000 people who spoke the about 21,000,000 people who spoke the South of Committees and the English tongue was spoken by mently 31,000,000, and the German exceeded 30,000,000, and the German exceeded 30,000,000,000, and the English and the Pertuguese three-cights. Of the 182,000,000 people, or thereshouts, who are estimated to have been using these seven languages in the 1801, the English speakers were less than 13 per cent., while speaker were less than 13 per cent., while speaker were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English speakers were less than 13 per cent., while speaker were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English appeakers were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English appeaker were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English appeakers were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English appeaker were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English appeaker were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English appeaker were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English appeaker were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish were 16, the German 18.4, the English appeaker were less than 13 per cent., while the Spanish we In a conversation with Dollinger shortly by about 30,000,000, and the Portuguese by about 13,000,000. The English language is now used by nearly twice as many people as any of the others, and this relative growth is almost sure to continue. English has taken as its own the North American continent, and nearly the whole of Austral asia. North America alone will soon have 100,000,000 of English-speaking people while there are 40,000,000 in Great Britain and Ireland. In South Africa and India also the language is vastly extending.

There is complaint that members of Pariament, while attending to their duties at Ottawa, do not enjoy as good health as they do when pursuing their vocations at home, and we have heard of instances in which serious illnesses have been attributed to a sojourn in Ottawa.

One reason for the breakdowns that have taken place may be traced to the entire change of methods of life to which a member of Parliament is compelled to bend. The farmer delegate is accustomed, while at home, to early hours. He rises with the lark, metaphorically speaking (though careful observers have recently attempted to combat the view that the lark, on his native heath, is an early riser), he works hard, mainly in the exhilarating open air, he eats well of plain but substantial food, and he retires to bed at a seasonable time, rising each recurring day thoroughly refreshed by a good night's rest.

The city representative may not get out of bed or retire at so early an hour, and he may spend less of his time out of doors, but the life of the average urban representative is at least regular. In Ottawa, members of Parliament are compelled to reverse all this. They have to submit to a perfect revolution in their habits. The House begins its sittings at 3 o'clock, and it often remains in session until midnight, or beyond it. To all intents and purposes one-half of the night is turned into day, and much work that might be done in the forenoon and afternoon is performed after the ordinary citizen, who is careful of his health, and desires to live long in the land, has gone to bed.

Nor are these all the disadvantage that an attendant in Parliament has to contend with. An endeavor is made to adapt Parliamentary surroundings to meet the comforts of every one, but the attempt has proved a lamentable failure. The legislative chamber, the library, the committee rooms, even the lobby are continually heated up to meet the demands of the more cold-blooded, the sick and the infirm in attendance, and where there is a second chamber, in which the majority of the members are old men, it can readily be seen that in keeping the temperature to a pitch to suit their wants, healthy man will find the atmosphere oppressive. The fact is that the air of the Parliamentary buildings is so cooked, and the temperature is maintained at such height, as to render existence in it very severe on the lungs of the healthy new-comer.

After a time, if he is sufficiently strong, he may get inured to it, but if, as is often the case, he suffers from severe colds, from lung affections, from catarrh, is it to be won dered at? A man living for so many hours in a superheated atmosphere and then suddenly emerging into a temperature of arctic intensity proves an easy victim to attacks of this description. He is apt to talk as he walks, thus permitting the undiluted air to rush down his throat tolungs weakened by vitiated air, and no one need be surprised if dangerous results are experienced. In justice to Ottawa, it is but fair that this explanation of the frequent illness of members of Parliament should be afforded. The climate of the Dominion capital may be a trifle more severe in the winter months than that experienced in this city and other centers situated further to the south, people in public questions, apart but there is nothing in the external surman. To the change of methods of life and to the attempt to level up the temperature of the Parliament buildings to meet the wants of the most cold-blooded man in attendance must be traced most of the troubles that from time to time afflict the lawmakers and other attendants upon Par-

Dr. Dollinger's memoir recalls a visit Dr. Dollinger's memoir recalls a visit from Mr. Gladstone in 1871 at 6 o'clock in the evening. "We began talking on political and theological subjects, and became both of us so engrossed with the conversation that it was 2 o'clock at night when I left the room to fetch a book from my library bearing on the matter in hand. I returned with it in a few minutes, and found Gladstone deep in a volume he had drawn out of his pocket—true to his principle of never losing time—during my momentary absence, losing time—during my momentary absence and this at the small hours of the morning!

Colored shoes for men are to be very fashionable this coming spring and summer, and shoe manufacturers and dealers are and shoe manufacturers and dealers are making extensive preparations based on this anticipation. Red and russet are the colors most manufactured just now, but something else, new and startling, may be sprung unexpectedly. One large retailer in New York says the demand for colored shoes has been almost as great with him during this winter as it was last midsummer.

Modern cutlers despair of reproducing the ancient sword blades of feudal Japan, as modern artificers in iron despair of imitatas modern artificers in iron despair of imitating the artistic sword guards of that country. According to tradition the test of the ancient Japanese sword was even more rigid than that of Saladin's blades. It was enough if the latter would cut in twain at a single blow a down pillow, thrown in air, but the Japanese blade, suspended horizontally beneath a tree, must sever any leaf that, falling, should accidentally light upon the edge of the weapon.

"Parliamentary Procedure" is the title of a recent monograph by Professor Jesse Macy, of Iowa College, published by the Macy, of Iowa College, published by the American Academy of Political and Social Science. It is a careful examination of the advantages and disadvantages of the cabinet system of government as found it England and Canada, and of the American system. Professor Macy takes as the basis for his paper two recent works on government, one by Dr. J. G. Bourinot, on "Parliamentary Procedure," and the other by Mr. T. H. McKee, on "Congressional Practice."

Those gossamer-like Japanese napkins used in some cheap restaurants cost rather less than a 1 of a cent cach, and, all things less than a 1 of a cent each, and, all things considered, are cheaper than the more durable coarse lines which they replace. Their logical accompaniment would be those cheap wooden chop sticks served in native Japanese and Chinese restaurants and destroyed after once being used. As evidence of sincerity, they are presented to the customer in a block, but sawn so nearly assunder that he breaks them off from their fellows as one does matches that are sold in like condition.

Opposition to President Hippolyte of Hayti has at last evinced itself in revolu-tionary outbreaks. A general uprising throughout the island is now looked for. throughout the island is now looked for. Many of Hippolyte's former adherents in the north have abandoned his support, and it is said that he has enemies even in his own personal bodyguard. According to all accounts Hippolyte has lately been conducting himself in a manner not entirely becoming the head of the republic. Foreign residents in the island have long been complaining of his ugly temper, and of his evident determination to insult and plunder them at his pleasure.

Gold has been found in the sand of the ocean beach at many places along the Pacific coast from the straits of Juan de Fuca to Southern California, but only in small and widely separated stretches does it exist in sufficient quantities to pay for working it by processes so far known. It is believed the gold so found does not come from the land, but is washed in from some hidden reef in the ocean bed. The Review of Reviews for February appeals with uncommon force to men of action and men of affairs in the large and smal and men of anairs in the large discussion upon such questions as the municipal ownership of gas and electric lighting works, the problems of city transit and administration, the gifts of millionaires for public purposes in their respective home cities, and such practical questions as the inheritance tax. The beauty of the treatment of these questions by the Review of Reviews lies in its freedom from mere theory and dissertation and its reliance upon plenty of solid and timely facts. One can always go to the Review of Reviews without disappointment. The feature of the February number that will perhaps attract most attention of all is Mr. W. T. BABIES ON FIRE

Babies burning up, babies in agony from itching and burning eczemas and other torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly and blotchy skin and scalp diseases. None but mothers realize how these little ones suffer when their tender skins are literally on fire. To know that a single application of the CUTICURA REMEDIES will in the great majority of cases afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because most speedy) cure, and not to use them is to fail in your duty. Why delay a moment longer the use of these great skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies? Cures made in infancy and childhood are speedy, economical and almost invariably permanent.

Miserable All the Time and could hardly get around the house. She began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in one week she was improving. When she had taken but three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla she was eared of that dreadful disease. As for me, I was troubled with Oatarrh, Heart Fashiye and Liver Complaint. Kingston, Feb. 9.—Thos. Kenny, aged 40, of Gueipli, a convict in the penitentiary, committed suicide last evening. Kenny, who has always been a quiet and ineffensive-prisoner, about-a week ago was assigned to the insane ward. He was last evening standing near another convict, who was acting as an orderly, watching him cut bread; when, without a warning he snatched the bread knife from the latter's hand and sprang away. The man ran after Kenny to racover the knife, but the desperate man raised the weapon in a menacing manner and his pursuer recoiled, when the suicide calmly drew the blade across the left side of his thoot, withdrew it and plunged it in the right side and then made for his cell, where he died in a few minutes. "Hum! English then," interrupted the doctor, with a quick glance at the figure on the bed. "Any friends in this country?"
"She mentioned that she was on her way to Chicago to meet her son and daughter, and some other friends, but I do not know 'their address."

"She ought to have some friends here to care for her, but be is so far away it would be useless to send for him, at least until we know more about her condition. Was she traveling entirely alone?"

"I judge so. She spoke of no one being with her when she was found."

"You found her; you saved her. I heard about it," said the doctor, his face glowing.
"I went for assistance," Virgie returned, quietly.

"I went for assessable," virgie returned, quietly,
"You did much more than that, madam. Did you escape unhurt?"
"Entirely, and my little daughter also, for which I cannot be too grateful. My maid, however, has a broken arm, besides several bruises; but she is very comfortable, and requires but little attention, so if I can make myself useful by caring for any others who are suffering, I shall be more than glad to do so."

The physician thought a moment, and then

"Have you ever had any experience in a sick-room," after was an invalid many years before his death."

"Then you might do good service here, if you are willing to devote yourself to this case under my direction. There's only one woman in the house. She cannot, of course give her whole time to nursing, and this lady will need close watching and a great deal of attention during the next two or three days. Indeed she really needs someone who can be depended upon."

Virgie flushed again.

It was very strange, she thought, that she, of all persons, should be commissioned to care for Lady Linton at such a critical time.

But she did not hesitate; it was her duty manifest some interest in her condition and surroundings, and seemed to remember all that had occurred.

Then, after a thorough examination, it was ascertained that her injuries were not nearly so serious as had at first been feared. There was a severe contusion on one side, where the broken timbers of the car had pluned her down to the floor; she had several ugly scratches and flesh wounds, besides bruises on the head, and one ankie was badly spanined. The stupor, as the physician though; had been caused more by the shock to the whole nervous system than by her injuries, and he now said that if no new symptoms developed she would improve rapidly.

And it proved even so. At the end of a week she was able to be bolstered up in bed, and began to appear more like herself and to realize that she had another lease of life. "Yes; in a day or two, I believe; her maid is doing nicely now and able to travel. But, bless me. I must not sit chattering here when there are more than 40 patients waiting for me."

A Wonderful Cure.—Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. About a year ago I took a very severe cough, had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly, to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lymans Vegetable Discovery, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little affect. But since using three bottles of the VECETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know." 3 Why nature built a young woman so that she prefers waltzing to washing dishes is one of the mysteries.

Virgie could not fail to feel a thrill of triumh at these words, she, who had been the that girl" and who had been held up to such scorn and contempt in those cruel letters so long ago.

"I am simply your nurse for the present," so he replied, with averted face; "perhaps some other time before I leave you I will sell you my name," and her ladyship had to be content with that.

But Virgie did not remain quite so much with her after that; she did not need such constant care, and she left her more with the woman of the house. She went in several times every day, and was careful to see that she had every attortion, but there was a quiet dignity and reserve about her which Lady Linton admired.

Boston, Feb. 9.—The Wellesley College girls the other night held a mock session of Parlisment, and in the gaise of the noted members discussed the home rule measure, sired their knowledge of men and things English, and incidentally amused a large number of friends who had assembled in the gymnasium. All parties were represented by impersonations of their leading men, and the members sat about the rectangle in the middle of the gymnasium.

On a raised platform at one and sat the Speaker, Miss Edith White, '93, wearing a long black gown and white wig. In trout there was an array of clerks, all dressed like the Speaker. Outside of the members seats were a number of young ladies representing the supporters of the various speakers, and they added to the effect by cherring or hissing as they tell the coasylon required. HYPNOTIZED AND MARRIED.

Peculiar Claim Set Up in a Suit Fer Divorce.

Waterbery, Ct., Feb. 9.—The application of Mrs. Mary Hemingway Gardner, of Watertown, for a divorce from George Gardner, her youthful husband, has been made before a South Dakota judge, and causes much surprise in social circles here, where she was a leader at one time.

A year ago she sloped, but returned a few days later, descriting her husband. In her application she alleges that she was under the hypnide influence of her husband at the time of the marriage.

Whisky Barred Out.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 9.—A party of Chicago capitalists have been endeavoring to secure a 99-year lease of the property at Bond and Euclid, owned by John Rockefeller. For a time it seemed probable that the lease would be made, but Mr. Rockefeller insists that one condition shall be that in all the 99 years not one drop of liquor shall be sold on the premises. The Chicago men have not fyet agreed to accept this condition.

Suspicious of the "Combine." Suspicious of the "Combine."

Newark, N. J., Feb. 9.—The AttorneyGeneral of the State of New Jersey has made application for the appointment of a master to take evidence in the case of the State against the Jersey Central, with a view of deciding whether or not the Central Company has in good faith really severed its connection with the Reading "combination." If it is found that the management of the road are only playing a part, and their attitude is a false one, the State will, on the master's report to that effect, put the road in the hands of a receiver.

How a Beautiful Flower Was Named
An old legend tells of two lovers walking by the River Rhine. The lady begged her suitor to pluck a little pale-bine flower growing on the bank. In doing so, he fell into the water and was drowned; but, while sinking, he threw the flower to her, and cried: "Forget me not!" One of the most laughable productions on the road is "Me and Jack," which will be presented at the Grand to-night. It is well known in the city and has always drawn bumper houses here. "Me and Jack" is a nondescript piece; it is a burleaque, a spectacular comic opera and farce comedy blended into one—a clever conglomeration of nonsense, fun and incongruity. It has a superb chorus and talented principals, and sparkles with gems of wit and music. The funny work is supplied by Williams and O'Brien, who keep the audience in epileptic laughter by their drollery and burleaque specialties. There are some very clever dancers in the company, which is a large one.
