Meet and Resolve to Compromise Their Differences.

Two Officers Killed on Board a British Warship.

Mr. Gladstone's Eyesight Reported as Greatly improved.

Radical Measures Demanded by the National Reform Union - Malta Shaken by Earthquakes-Resignation of Mr. A. J. Mandella, From the British Cabinet.

Malta Rattled.

MALTA, May 13. - This island was shaken by a siight earthquake this afternoon.

Mr. Gladstone's Improved Condition. LONDON, May 13 .- Treatment with belladonna has so strengthened one of Mr. Gladstone's eyes that he can read and write without difficulty.

Summoned to Windsor.

LONDON, May 13 .- Right Hon. Henry Hartley Fowler, Secretary of State for India, was summoned to Windsor yesterday morning for an audience with the Queen. The Scare About India. London, May 13. - The scare about India started last week by the Spectator has made no great progress. The majority of the Indian authorities disbelieve, or at any rate deny, that there is cause for serious

Drunken Students Become Destructive.

LONDON, May 13 .- Students of Christ Church, Oxford, after a dinner at the Bullingdon Club last night, became hilarious and kept up their orgie until an early hour this morning, when they smashed all the doors and blinds of the building and broke 468 windows.

The Record Broken Again.

QUEENSTOWN, May 12. - The Cunard steamer Lucania has arrived here from New York making the passage in five days, ten hours and forty minutes. The best previous record passage was made by the Campania

Discount Rates.

LONDON, May 13. - The rate of discount iast week was 14 for both three months and 30 days. Gold continued to arrive, and it must effect a reduction of rates after Whitsuntide. Silver prices failed to improve, owing largely to the Indian scare, On the stock exchange business was dull but pricee

Results of Delving at Delphi.

ATHENS, May 13 .- French explorers at Delphi have discovered many interesting tablets, reliefs and other relics of an ancient temple of Apollo. One fragment of a frieze is seventeen meters long. It shows a procession of chariots bearing many gods and godesses.

Resignation of Mr. Mundella.

London, May 13 .- Mr. Mundella, president of the Board of Trade, has resigned his seat in the Cabinet, but retains his seat in Parliament. His reason is, he says, that he wishes to avoid the appearance of conflict between his public and private interests, which resulted from his relations to the New Zealand Loan Company.

High Honors for an Artist.

Paris, May 13.-The State has purchased the picture "Las-Cigarreas," which Mr. Walter Gay, of Boston, exhibited at the old salon this year. This is regarded as the highest of honors. In addition to this Mr. Gay was notified to day that the Vienna academy had awarded him a firstclass gold medal for the work "The Pardon." a scene in Brittany, which was shown in the Paris salon in 1893.

Radical Reforms Proposed.

LONDON, May 13 .- The National Reform Union has called a conference to meet in London in June, when it is announced action will be taken in regard to the many important questions of the day. The resolutions to be passed by the conference include the abolition of the veto power of the House of Lords and the passage of bills providing for home rule for Ireland, manhood suffrage, the cessation of royal grants, the disestablishment of the church throughout the kingdom, and the increase of the proportion of taxation borne by the land. The National Reform Union represents the Radical section of the National Liberal Federation. About 400 delegates will be present at the conference, and 30 Radical members of the House of Commons have promised to support the measures of the

Not a Love Match.

LONDON, May 13 .- The repor hat the Czarewitch is to visit England is not credited in court circles. Princess Alix of Hess, who is betrothed to the Czarewich, will accompany the Queen to Balmoral, and after her sojourn will return to Berlin and thence to Darmstadt. There has yet been no arrangement made for her meeting the Czarewitch. The engagement of the young couple is not exactly a love match, and it would excite no surprise in the inner circle if it should be broken off. Another dispatch says it is reported that the marriage of the Princess Alix of Hesse to the Czarewitch will take place on Nov. 10. The Czarewitch will accompany the Czarina to the Caucasus to see the Grand Duke George, who has long been ailing.

Disaster on a British Warship.

EDINBURGH, May 13 .- A terrible accident occurred yesterday on board the British-armored cruiser Galatea, twelve guns, Capt. Earnest N. Rolfe, C.B., resulting in the death of two officers. The Galatha, twin screw cruiser of the first class, 5,600 tons, and 5,500 horsepower, is the coast guard ship at Queens Ferry on the Firth of Forth, about nine miles from this city. Canada.

A German sayadron arrived this morning, Please mention this paper.

and the Galatea fired a salute to the German flag. After the tenth round had been fired an explosion occurred, and Instructor Whitehead's arm was blown off at the elbow. In addition two members of the crew were slightly injured. According to one report, the charge apparently exploded in the hands of Instructor Lawrence while he was preparing to place it in the gun. Loyalty of the Anti-Parnellites.

London, May 13.—The English Liberals are greatly pleased and encouraged by the loyalty displayed by the McCarthyite section of the Irish party. The defection of the Parnellite faction to the Conservatives might have inflicted a mertal wound on home rule if the main body of the Irish Nationalists had failed to support the Government in full stretch on the occasion of the division on the second reading of the budget. Instead of turning their backs on the only friends they had in Parliament, as the Parnellites did, the McCarthyites cast their votes for the Government to a man. This fidelity to their political companions has won for them the admiration of the Liberals, and their action cannot fail to find due recognition in the future.

In view of the probable early dissolution of Parliament the election agents throughout the kingdom have been warned by their respective chiefs to get everything in readiness for a new general election.

For Church Union.

LONDON, May 13 .- Rev. Dr. Lunn, who recently headed a party of English clergymen on a pilgrimage to Jerusalem, has issued a circular letter to the prelates and leading clergymen asking them to co-operate in prayer at their respective services for the unity of all the Christian churches. To this circular Cardinal Vaughan has replied that it is needless for Catholics to join in special prayer for church union. If outsiders yearn for unity, he says, they can find it within the pale of the Church. Mr. Gladstone recognized the importance of Christian unity, but declined to state his views in regard to an interchange of pulpits, which was one of the details of the plan outlined by Dr. Lunn. Several prominent Congregational ministers have refused to cooperate in the movement, as they decline to recognize alleged evils resulting from the present division of the Church. The Archbishop of Canterbury is in entire sympathy with the movement, and has sent a message to the clergy under his charge to offer prayer for unity.

Irish National League. LIVERPOOL, May 13 .- The annual convention of the Irish National League of Great Pritain was opened here yesterday. T. P. O'Connor presided. The report of the treasurer showed the income for the year £3,513. Addresses were made advising the Irish party to maintain a close last October in five days, twelve hours and constant alliance with the Liberals, frankly, throwing himself upon the mercy inasmuch as the British masses had maintained an unswerving fidelity to the principle of home rule for Ireland. Delegate Quinn, on behalf of the Glasgow branch, moved to rescind the rule compelling Irishmen to vote for Liberal candidates in municipal elections, and allow them to vote for labor or other candidates. The chairman, T. P. O'Connor, said that would be equivalent to a severance of the Irish from the Liberal party. The delegates from Glasgow, Edinburgh and several other cities opposed the motion and it was lost by a large majority.

LIVERPOOL, May 13. — The National League convention passed a compromise resolution expressing regret that dissensions had divided the members of the league and recommending that all difficulties be settled within the league's councils, whose decisions the members should accept loyally and finally. The convention resolved also to appeal to the Irish people to discourage public controversy as injurious to the national movement. T. P. O'Connor was re-elected president.

LIVERPOOL, May 13 .- At the National League this evening T. P. O'Connor presided. It passed resolutions expressingfull confidence in the judgment, integrity and patriotism of the Irish party leaders. Justin McCarthy said in his address that the Irish situation was as hopeful as ever. John Dillon and Michael Davitt exhorted all Home Rulers to unity.

Bloodshed in Brazil.

RIO JANEIRO, May 13.-Telegrams from Rio Grande do Sul state that the Government forces have been defeated by the in. surgents at Catharhav. Six Federal officers and 74 men were killed and 180 wounded and taken prisoners.

GOOD RIDDANCE!

"Doc" Andrews and His Wife Skip Out and Avoid Rearrest.

TORONTO, May 13 .- A warrant was issued late last evening for the rearrest of Dr. Ransome Andrews and his wife on a charge of malpractice, Nellie Lafontaine, a witness in the recent charge of murder brought against the same couple, being the victim. The Andrewses left town as soon as acquitted and are supposed to have gone to Budalo. It is not likely they will be pursued.

Queer Place for a Wren's Nest. Westminister Gazette: A wren has chosen a strange place for its nest in a sheepyard on Mr. Hodson's farm at Ilford, Sussex. An old jacket hangs from a beam, and in the pocket of this the bird has built its nest and laid five eggs.

After Years of Good Conduct Condemned To Be Flogged and Reimprisoned.

Beautiful Experiment in London-The French in Aleace Insulted-Henry Irving May Be Knighted-A Great Wedding -Cable Sparks.

London, May 14 .- A story reaches London from Russia even more heartrending in its essential details than the story of the hero of "Les Miserables," which it closely will cease this manner of intruding pills on resembles. Thirty-eight years ago a Russian lad, 18 years old, Ivan Rykoff, who drank too much vodka at a wedding feast, entered a church and carried off the wax candles. Under the cruel laws of those days he was condemned to the Siberian mines. Several months later he escaped after fearful adventures and reached the | yet been noticed by the Paris press, and city of Tomsk befriended by a farmer, secured the passport of a deceased workman, and became a good citizen. He married, prospered and became locally prominent. Recently at a family reunion he told his wife and children the story for the first time. The prohibition. At Colmar, on Tuesday, a French walls must have had ears. Ten days later a gendarme entered his bedroom one morning and told Bykoff he was charged with escaping from Siberia. The gray. haired man turned pale. "Is it true?" asked the officer. "It is true enough,

"Very well, you are my prisoner." Rykoff dressed himself and went to prison. By the advice of his lawyer, he forwarded a petition praying to be released. His plea produced an impression on the officials, and Rykoff was set at liberty, but only for a few days. On further consideration it was decided to bring him to trial. In court he related the story fully and of the judges. Justice, however, was in of London. exorable, and the law was allowed to have its course. Rykoff was condemned to be taken back to the mines of Siberia and kept in penal servitude a longer time than that fixed by the court which tried him when a boy. Before leaving the prison where he is now confined he is to receive a severe flogging of 40 or 50 lashes. It seems incredible that such a sentence should be executed, now that international publicity offices get too large commissions.

has been given to the pitiful story. A Beautiful Experiment. A frozen soap bubble broken in two and floating like an iridescent transparent egg shell on the surface of a vessel of liquid air was one of the most marvelous sights shown by Prof. Dewar on Thursday in a lecture at the Royal Institution on the effects of intense cold. The investigation of this new field of science is developing many wonderful bits of knowledge, some of which are sure to be trrned to valuable practical account before long. The pretty experiment spoken of which delighted the audience was quite simple. The professor poured a few spoonfuls of liquid air into a glass vessel. The intense cold caused by evaporation produced a miniature snowstorn in the atmosphere above the liquid. The operator lowered the soapbubble on the end of a rod into the freezing atmosphere. The bubble became darker. The movements of the rainbow-colored film grew slower. It contracted somewhat in size, and a moment later froze. A slight movement broke it from the rod in two pieces, which floated for an hour, gradually accumulating a tiny snowdrift within, precipitated from the freezing air above.

England's Hospitality to Americans. The visit of the warship Chicago to the Thames is to be made the occasion of a really extraordinary demonstration. By this hospitality not only will last year's courtesies at the New York naval review be returned, but Englishmen will also take occasion to pay tribute, in almost extravagant enthusiasm, to the foreigner, who, they acknowledge, is the greatest naval historian. Both Admiral Erben and Capt. Mahan are overwhelmed with private invitations and courtesies, and the public featuries of their entertainment will be among the most brilliant events of the

A Dazzling Wedding.

The arrangements already commenced indicate that the wedding of the Czarewitch and Princess Alix of Hesse will be the most gorgeous ceremony of the kind witnessed in Europe for many years. Every reigning family will be represented, and all the Asiatic potentates owning the Czar's sovereignty will send delegations and special missions to St. Petersburg with costly gifts. The shopkeepers at the Russian capital and Moscow expect the most brilliant and profitable season of this generation; and the owners of villa property in the neighborhood of Peterhof, the Czar's Baltic palace, are so confident that the boom will affect them that they have already trebled their rents. Queen Victoria, according to current report, has responded nobly to the family call by promising $50,000 toward the bride's dowry.

The Evils of Duelling.

Examples continue to become public of the evils of duelling. At Funfkirchen, Hungary, this week, two volunteers, lifelong friends, were playfully boxing in the barracks yard. Suddenly two officers who were watching declared that one had slapped the other's face, and this insult no volunteer could bear. Young Billitz and his comrade, Szarvas, assured the officers that nothing of the kind had taken place. The officers reported to the colonel, who sent for Szavas and ordered him to challenge Billitz, or otherwise he would never be allowed to pass his examination for officer. The young man called out his Wittekind London New York comrade for a duel with sabres. In the first round Billitz received a slight wound in the arm and then a serious cut in the neck. Szarvas had two ribs hewn asunder, besides being wounded in one of his lungs. He is in a precarious condition at the military hospital, but his honor was preserved from the stain that threatened it.

Cause and Effect. Statistics have just been published, showing that the excess of the death rate over births in France during the past few years has varied from 10,000 to 40,000 per annum. Other statistics are instructive in their way. In 1885 about 57,000 hectolitres of absinthe were retailed. The figure had risen in 1892 to over 126,000 hectolitres, and there was a marked increase in the consumption of all other alcoholic Rosebery Attacks Landscape Advertising.

Lord Rosebery's attack upon landscape advertising in his Academy speech the other day has given an impetus to agitatation on the subject. One of the greatest countryside advertisers announces that he the attention of the public. The tacit boycotting of all concerns which disfigure landscapes is becoming a strong and popular policy. It is without open organizatiot, because such a movement would be of doubtful legality.

The French Insulted. The work of Germanizing Alsace has just taken a turn which, strange to say, has not has received only casual mention in a few German newspapers, although the New York Sun correspondent, writing from Strasburg this week, declares that the whole conquered province is wildly indignant. The Government has absolutely forbidden theatrical performances in the Frenchlanguage, and issternly enforcing the company announced the play "Galatea" for the benefit of a local charity. The company were peremptorily bundled out of town and the theater was closed. A similar summary procedure was followed in other places. The prohibition is singularly tactless and inopportune. The French lan-God be praised," replied the trembling old | guage is tolerated in Lorraine. Metz, for example, has a standing French theater and French company. There is some talk of appealing to the Emperor against the Statthalter. Meanwhile the indignant Alsatians are organizing resistance.

Newsy Cable Notes.

LARAMIE, Wyo., May 13.—Union Pacific Railway officials attempted to stop the advance of "Gen." Sheffler and his commonwealers, who stole an Oregon short line train yesterday. They ran all the engines and cars out of the yard at Montpelier and emptied the water tonks. Theprecautions failed to check Sheffler's advance, who stole an engine and six box cars at Montpelier, and left there at 8:05 a.m., running regardless of everything. Word was received subsequently that Sheffler and his men had abandoned their stolen train at Cokeville.

A Narrow Escape.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 13 .- Several hunfred persons had a narrow escape from a terrible fate here to-day. In the course of a fire in the barrel house at the Emery Manufacturing Company's refinery a tank of benzine exploded. The cap of the tank was blown 300 feet in the air and a large volume of flame went with it. A strong west wind was blowing and kept the fire in the air. A panic ensued among the spectators who were watching the fire and they fled in all directions. Thirty people were more or less burned.

IN THE BACK OF THE ORGAN. Messrs. Talmage, Day and Moody then started for the organ, but before they could get near it the flames burst from the K. Fairbank Company sets forth that they top. The gentlemen then made a hurried exit. In the meantime ex-Supervisor Reed, who was in the Summerfield M. E. Church, directly opposite the Tabernacle, had also seen the smoke coming from the Tabernacle window, and had sent in an alarm of fire. Before Dr. Talmage and his friends had reached the outer gate of the church the whole interior was in flames. By the time the fireman arrived the flames were BURSTING FROM ALL THE WINDOWS.

Two extra alarms and finally a special call were sent in bringing all the engines stationed in Brooklyn to the fire. The became at once very popular, and is now flames spread with lightning rapidity and largely sold all over the country. sparks flew in all directions. The fire got fiercer and fiercer each moment, and at last the men had to forsake their posts and seek safety in the street. The firemen could do nothing in regard to the hotel other than keep the flames from spreading to the adjoining houses. Both buildings burned fiercely until 4 o'clock, when they were got under control. The firemen were kept busy putting out small fires which occurred in the houses near by and in the vicinity of the church. A SECOND CHURCH SCORCHED. The Summerfield Methodist Episcopa Church at Greene and Washington avenues caught fire from flying sparks and was damaged to the extent of $25,000. The people living in the hotel lost all of their effects. No one was injured, although three women were taken down the fire escapes from the third, fifth and sixth floors respectively. One of the women rescued was Mrs. Mary A. Loomis, of Savannah. Despite the efforts of the firemen the flames spread quickly and adjoining houses caught fire, five on Greene avenue sustaining damage all the way from

Mr. Odell Accepts - An Enthusiastic Gathering-Election of Officers-Robt. Boston, M.P.

The Liberal Association of East Middlesex met on Saturday afternoon in the Liberal rooms on Dundas street and unanimously tendered the nomination for the Local House to Mr. W. H. Odell, Belmont. Mr. Odell was not present, being detained at home on pressing business. A telegram was sent to Belmont, notifying him of the choice of the convention. A reply was received in a short time stating that Mr. Odell cordially accepted the nomination. The news was heartily cheered. The hall was crowded as it was a week before and enthusiasm ran higher than ever.

The following nominations were made: Nominee.
Dr. Routledge H. Wilkerson
R. W. Jackson D. B. Burch
W. H. Odell Jas. Anderson

Mr. Purdom stated that no obstacle that he could overcome would prevent him from accepting the nomination so kindly offered to him. He found, however, that it was impossible for him to enter into the contest, but he would be only too pleased to assist the choice of the convention. In conclusion Mr. Purdom said: "I believe the Reformers of East Middlesex are much better organized now than when I entered into the contest. I believe they are more enthusiastic, and I believe that they can undoubtedly carry the riding if they are united." Dr. Routledge declined for business reasons. Mr. R. W. Jackson left his name before the convention, while he advised the delegates to choose the strongest man and the one who would poll the biggest vote. While he would be proud to be the standard bearer of the party in East Middlesex, yet he would work just as hard for the candidate, whoever he was. In the absence of Mr. Odell, Mr. James Anderson, who proposed him, spoke. He denied that Mr. Odell was a P. P. A., as some people had been saying. He had attended one meeting, but withdrew and would have nothing to do with the organization. Fair play to every creed and every nationality was Mr. Odell's motto he, could assure them. (Cheers.) Continuing, Mr. Anderson said it would be a calamity to the Province if Sir Oliver Mowat was de-

Mr. J. H. Rosser followed. "There is nothing," said he, "in political circles that would give me greater pleasure than that the Hon. Sir Oliver Mowat should be sustained at the coming election. (Hear, hear.) I cannot think that an intelligent Province such as Ontario is could for a moment be led astray by such clap-trap talk as we hear at the present time. I have too much confidence in the intelligence of Ontario; I have too much confidence in its integrity and in the good morals of Ontario to think that the electors could be led astray by any such talk as is going abroad. I am surprised that these stories, circulated by people of at least doubtful reputation and character, should be taken stock in at all or even repeated. However, this is one thing that will have to be met on the platform in the coming election. Although I withdraw my name from the convention I matter who the choice of this great meeting falls upon, I am your humble servant.

(Applause.) Mr. J. H. Elliott said that when he took prominent part in the proceedings of two weeks ago he had not the least conception that his name would come before the convention. The reason he wanted a man brought out was because of the principles that the party had upheld for so many years. He advised all to put down any sectarian talk and continue to support equal rights to all men. Mr. Elliot believed that every man should have ambition to serve his country, and he fearlessly submitted his name, hoping that the convention, in its wisdom, would choose the best man. The speaker thanked his mover and

Mr. Robt. Boston, M.P., also addressed the meeting, and was accorded an enthusiastic reception. Sir Oliver Mowat was on his trial, he said. He reminded his hearers that the great little man had been like a father to Ontario and had laid the foundation of this splendid Province. He advised the young men especially to support the Premier, who was getting aged and would soon retire from political life. The older men knew Sir Oliver's record and would support him on that. Mr. Boston then urged unity, and spoke very favorably of the candidate-elect. He referred to that gentleman's honorable career in the county council and of his great popularity in the riding. He was a man who had no enemies and many friends. Mr. Boston closed a very practical and well applauded address with some pertinent remarks with reference to organization. Mr. W. H. Jackson believed that the delegates had done their duty and selected the best man. He wished them the best of success and thanked the electors for all past favors, saying that he would work as on earth never enters into their thoughts, hard for Mr. Odell as he would for himself. Mr. J. H. Elliott was more than pleased that he was not a candidate, and said that he would work heart and hand to elect Mr.

Odell. Messrs. J. D. Clarke and Ald. Parnell also addressed the convention on invitation. They urged united work, and vic-

A sold his farm to C who still owns it. B dies leaving the east half of his farm to D, and the west half to E. D claims all the line fence between the east half, and has given C notice that he is going to take away half of it in six months. Can he do so? Ans. -Yes, unless C refuses to pay the amount awarded by the fenceviewers, which must be fixed before the notice can be acted upon. 2. Should any of C's stock get on D's farm (before the removal of the fence) can D impound them, D having forbidden C to touch the fence? ANS Yes. 3.-E claims C cannot move half of the fence between the west half, as it has stood there ten years. Is that the law now? If not, what steps should C take to recover, as he certainly owns half of the line fence? ANS.—Cowns the line fence on the west half and has the same rights as D to the fence on the east half. The possession of the fence has never been exclusively in either owner, and the law on ten years limitation does not apply.

It insisted that no system sonation was growing into a monstrous evil. of electric wiring should be used in any building unless it be accessible. The time had passed for burying wires in the plastering or placing them under the floors without protection. When out of sight, they should be protected by tubing. It suggested the need of an authoritative and thorough supervision of the electrical laws and ordinances and devices and materials which have a direct bearing on the fire risk. As the loss of property by fire is constantly increasing, there should certainly be a united effort to lessen the danger. Last year over $170,000,000 worth of property was destroyed by fire in Canada and the United States, or $20,000,000 over the total loss in 1892. No doubt incendiarism causes a considerable portion of this destruction; but carelessness, the failure to observe proper rules and methods, is responsible for a far greater proportion. The National Board naturally insists that there must be an improvement, or insurance rates will go up.

THE MEN.

Mr. Meredith is a good lawyer. Mr. Hobbs has also been successful at his business. He is a wholesale merchant and manufacturer. He has met with phenomenal success. His firm takes second place to none in Canada to-day.

These facts are admitted.

But Mr. Meredith has centered all his interests in Toronto; he has become the standing paid counsel of that city. His energies are devoted to build up that city, which is the rival of every other city in Canada. On the other hand, Mr. Hobbs conducts a large wholesale and manufacturing business in London. The progress of London, the increase of her trade and commerce, is his first care. Surely intelligent Londoners can judge where their votes should go in the ensuing election, especially in view of the fact that Mr. Hobbs supports the best Government that has ever existed in Canada, while the Opposition have been the condoners of all the wrongs perpetrated by their friends at

PRAISED ABROAD. The London Standard, the leading Conservative journal in Great Britain, says in its agricultural columns "that the Ontario Agricultural College, with its great experimental farm, is one of the most valuable agricultural institutions in the world, is sufficiently shown by the nineteenth annual report, which we have just received." Some of the information given is, it adds, useful to the farmers of all countries. From all over, wherever Ontario institutions are known, comes proof of the careful and able management of Sir Oliver Mowat and his colleagues. While the chief Conservative newspaper of Britain testifies as to the work under the charge of Minister Dryden, the British Commissioner to the Columbian Exposition in Chicago, spoke in the very highest terms of our public schools and their work, while Prof. Tuke, the Australian Commissioner, who has visited and inspected the public institutions of every civilized land, reports that our asylums for the insane are the best managed and most economically conducted in the world. It is only office hunting politicians who become detractors of the administration. Competent outsiders render a different verdict. There is food for reflection for independent electors in these

EAST MIDDLESEX.

There will be general satisfaction throughout East Middlesex that Mr. W. H. Odell, of Belmont, has consented to become a candidate for the Legislature at the ensuing election. The Liberals have taken time to consider the situation, and, in our opinion have put the strongest man in the field. They had the choice of four good representative citizens when the convention met on Saturday, either one whom would have made a splendid run; but Mr. Odell was held to be the more likely of the quartet to bring out the full strength of the triends of the Grand Old Man in the ensuing Provincial election. Mr. Odell is a representative farmer. He is an extensive dealer in live stock, and is known to almost every voter in the riding as a man of upright character and a most worthy Canadian. Mr. Odell has already served the electors of the large and progressive township of Westminster, of which he was elected reeve by a majority and re-elected by acclamation. He was appointed chairman of the equalization committee-the most important committee of the county council -and his services proved invaluable to its members. The Liberals have thus a candidate of unexceptional standing. He supports a Government that is conceded by ministration that Canada has ever known, and if his friends give him their undivided support he should be elected by a substantial majority. East Middlesex has before now returned a Liberal representative, and if the electors choose Mr. Odell

II. Taking the Shilling-A Lesson from Modern History.

There is a notion in the minds of many persons, John Ruskin says, that the gathering of property of the poor into the hands of the rich does no harm in the end, since it must be spent at last and return to the poor again. But because a robber might spend the money he extorts as well as the men whose labor earned it, that is no excuse for his theft.

"If I were to put a turnpike on the road where it passes my own gate"-to quote Ruskin's concrete case-"and endeavor to exact a shilling from every passenger, the public would soon do away with my gate, without listening to any plea on my part that it was as advantageous to them in the end that I should spend their shillings as that they themselves should."

That is what would happen, no doubt, in the case of one man and one gate. Yet how many turnpikes were put up in Canada fifteen years ago to exact a shilling from every farmer and working man, that are kept up to this day, and so strong that there seems to be no power in the land able to pull them down?

Fifteen years ago the farmers themselves took the shilling (in their minds), or at least enough of them to turn the political scales. They were told that they had only to agree to shut foreign goods out of the country, and, lo! tall chimneys would spring up like gourds in the night, and silver would pour into the lap of the farmer and the workingman like rain. Thousands believed it, and honest Alexander Mackenzie was driven out of office.

What happened? The turnpikes were put up, and the shillings began to be taken in tolls, but only to find their way straight into the pockets of the tariff barons, making these rich at the cost of the many, who ad no choice but pay the tolls.

Alexander Mackenzie lived long enough to hear his praises sung as a true man by the ones who had forsaken him to pursue a shilling as unreal to them as the fabled cup of gold at the end of a rainbow.

The tariff barons are grown so strong that they can defy the farmer and the workingman. The country has been carved up into constituencies to suit them, voters' lists are made up to keep their friends in power, and where money is wanted to run the elections the barons are ready to spend a share of what they extort.

No class of the people has been brought to realize the situation more keenly than the farmers, who indeed are almost the only class producing goods in excess of the needs of the home markets; and yet for every $100 sent abroad, they get back after the tolls are taken out less than $90.

The farmers are growing desperate, and I do not wonder at it. They have organized in a way, and they hold meetings in secret to lay plans to recover lost ground. But like all secret bodies, they are at the mercy of the ambitious and crafty of their

There never can be free and honest public opinion where the tyled lodge room bears the sway. It is so easy to stuff men in the secret chamber, and there is no way in which the mischief done there can be un-

And what is it that the leaders are proposing in the privacy of the lodge rooms? We know by what they are seen doing in public. They are urging the farmers of Ontario to do to Oliver Mowat in 1894 what was done to Alexander Mackenzie in 1878. With no other objection against a statesman who has given the best years of his life to the service of his native Province than the trumpery one of how certain offices may be filled, they are conspiring to place the Govcrnment of Ontario in the hands of the party which has got the Dominion by the throat. If they succeed, what do they hope all but violent partisans to be the best Ad- to gain? Sheriffs and registrars may then be elected by the people, or they may not; that is very uncertain. But one thing will be settled beyond peradventure. The tactics which have made the tariff barons all powerful in the Dominion will make the Socialists and Adullamites gathered around he will do them credit. Organization Mr. Meredith all powerful in Ontario, and the farmers may organize in vain for

For Internal and External Use.

In using medicines to stop pain, we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system, Opium, Morphine, Chloroform, Ether. Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, the patient losing the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice: it masks the symptoms, shuts up, and, instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, kills the ner ves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these uncertain agents when a positive remedy like Radway's Ready Reliei will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least danger, in either infant or adult.

It instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays inflammation, and cures congestion, whether of the Luags, stomach, Bowels, or other glands or mucous membranes.

CABINET CHANGES, A Toronto dispatch to the Buffalo Express contains the following rumors: The Ontario Cabinet held three long sessions this week. All the Ministers are in the city, and they are prompt in their attendance at the meetings. The two questions of importance that have been discussed are the dissolution of the House and the action to be taken on the retirement of the Hon. C. F. Fraser. Rev. Price Hughes on a Liturgical Service.

[London (Eng.) Chronicle.]

Yesterday morning Mr. Price Hughes

opened his ministry at Craven Congregational Chapel, Regent street, which has recently come into the hands of the West London Mission. Mr. William McArthur, M. P., one of the Junior Lords of the Treasury, presided at the organ, and will continue to do so. Mr. Price Hughes based his address on the fact that he proposed to introduce at the Sunday morning service in Craven Chapel a liturgical service such as is common at many Wesleyan chapels. He began by pointing out the remarkable fact that even in days of Pentecost, when conversions were daily taking place, and the people were filled with the Holy Ghost, that even then we read that Peter and John went up to the Temple to pray. It might easily be imagined that these two men would say that it was quite unnecessary to worship God enywhere except in the "upper room," as they were having they did not say that. What John and Peter did say was-let us have both; let us have a free spontaneous evangelistic musical liturgical service in the Temple. And, added Mr. Price Hughes, ever since I have been able to think upon the matter I have agreed with Peter and John. He was in favor of a common form of prayer in order that the people might take part in it. It was impossible to secure an element of active congregrational praying unless you had a common form of prayer. They had in the English language an ancient liturgy, which no more belonged to the Church of England than to him. Because that church had taken an extremely ancient liturgy, and adapted it to her use, it did not follow that they became Anglicans by using it also. To meet certain objections to the liturgy as used by the Church of England the Methodist conference undertook the revision of the morning service. They carefully altered the absolution form, and left out everything to which the most sensitive Protestant could object. And it was that revised version of the liturgy which he wished to introduce into that particular service.

LONDON.

LONDON. May 12.—The London cheese market was opened for the season to-day with a good number of buyers and sellers present. As the season has not very far advanced the offerings were light, only eight factories having their make boarded. The bidding, however, was brisk, and a great inclination was shown on the part of two or three buyers to secure what was offered. Avonbank took the lead as far as price was concerned. The first bid was 10c, but it soon reached 104c, and the lot was sold. The highest bids for the other factories were West Nissouri, Geary's and North Middlesex, 102c; and Kvelyn, Union Hill, Cherry Hill and North Branch, 104c. All were sold excepting North Middlesex and North Branch.

LATEST ON CHEESE.
The Montreal Trade Bulletin says: The market here is a firm one at 11c for finest western, with sales at that figure, and second qualities at 112c. The May make is expected to be exceptionally heavy, and all cheese made west of Montreal since last Monday will be grass goods. The Brockville board was cleared at 102c, about 1,700 boxes being sold at that figure. The Liverpeol cable is quoted at 59s 6d, but it should be 61s according to actual sales there.

The Mission Circle of the Dundas Center Methodist Church spent an enjoyable time at the residence of Wm. and Mrs. W. H. Wortman, Dundas street, Friday evening.

In the course of an able sermon yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. Antliff, referring incidentally to the unusual charm of the day, said that every year he grew more entranced with the natural beauty of God's world and he had no sympathy with those who sometimes spoke of the world as "a waste, howling wilderness." Take sin out Pantries incomplete unless they contain our of it and what a world it would be !

and "Hell" were listened to by overflowing congregations Sunday. There was a great central gathering somewhere in the universe, he said, and there Christ had gone whither his saints would follow. He ridiculed the idea that the soul ever died or slept. As soon as it left the body it went to the spirit world. As for "hell," the fire that a sinner would feel there would be from within, not from without. He did not know how long heli would last, but it was not necessarily never-ending. Dr. Wild alluded feelingly to the loss of the late deacon, Wm. Johnston, and his wife, who died within a few

The anniversary of the Centennial Methodist school was celebrated Sunday with three interesting services. In the morning Rev. J. W. Annis occupied the pulpit, and in the evening Rev. B. Clement. The sermens on both occasions were especially to the children and were listened to with intense interest. The most largely attended service of the day was that of the afternoon, when Rev. W. Rigsby, of King Street Methodist Church, and Mr. J. G. Shuff, superintendent, delivered addresses. The music was supplied by the children, who were seated on a temporary platform. It was of a special nature and

Rev. J. W. Annis, of Queen's avenue Methodist Church, preached to a large congregation Sunday night on a subject seldom touched upon in the pulpit—"Party Politics." The preacher explained the sifference be-The tween politics and party politics, and stated that because of the abuse of the latter many people held aloof from the study and interest in politics generally. The rise of parties was sketched, their names referred to and the ideals of the parties dwelt upon. Every person was urged to study the parties of the country, to take an interest in their doings, and any one who had a vote should use it. Mr. Annis showed that bribery and corruption had existed in high places in Canada to such an extent as to make some ashamed of being Canadians. Political corruption and dishonesty was one of the greatest dangers existing in a country. Christianity had less influence in our politics than in any other department of life. Christians were citizens of heaven and representatives of Christ, and should carry their Christianity into politics. They should help the good men in their own party and party papers to higher standards, to avoid personalities, the imputing of false motives and using arguments such as were often used, and which were dishonorable and contemptible. SUICIDE OF CHILDREN.

Killed Themselves to Relieve Their Mother.

Kissed and Then Jumped Into the Danube-The Mother May Become Insane,

VIENNA, May 14 .- A sad affair occurred here syesterday. A lone widow named Jerabek nad two children, a girl and a boy, aged 11 and 9 years respectively. The woman was compelled to work hard to support herself and her children, who were too young to give her any assistance. The children determined to kill themselves and thus relieve her of the burden of their support. Yesterday they went to one of the bridges spanning the Danube and mounted the parapet. Then they hastily embraced and kissed each other and clasping hands jumped into the river. Before assistance could reach them their bodies were swept out of sight. When the mother returned from her work she found her lodgings deserted. She began to look around her for the children, thinking they had gone into the streets to play. Not finding them she re-turned to her home, where she found a note which she had overlooked, in which the children said that as they were only a burden to her they had decided to commit suicide. The widow is frantic because of the loss of her boy and girl, and it is feared that she will become incurably insane.

Crouch. THE TURF. Hamilton Times: A prominent sport, who has followed and plunged on the races to the dismay of many a bookmaker, who is now a resident of Toronto, was in the city Saturday. He told the Times that on race day backers of Joe Miller will have to pay $3 for a chance to win $1. In his opinion it is all over but the shouting. Dictator is his choice for second and Lon Daly for third. He says there is a good deal of uncertainty about Thorncliffe starting, but if he does he will about take second place.

Lou Daly's price has been cut to 6 to 1. Joe Miller is a more pronounced favorite for the Queen's Plate than ever. This is due to the impressive style in which he worked five furlongs at the Woodbine on Saturday.

Democratic Senators Accused of Being Bribed by the Great Trusts

To Put Up the Tariff, Particularly on Sugar-Midnight Conferences.

New York, May 14.—The Press this morning prints a full page article under a Washington date which it claims is a full history of the compromise tariff bill introduced in the Senate last month, and a full and true account of the Democratic surrender to the great trusts. The article states that the Sugar Trust not only paid $500,000 for the legislation it wanted, but also guaranteed United States Senatore who speculate a rise of 30 points in Wall street on Sugar Trust stock. It is alleged that midnight conferences were held between Senators and Sugar Trust officers within a stone's throw of the White House. It is claimed that the Standard Oil, Lead and Whisky Trusts were cared for in the same way.

"Turn to the Right

This calculation, which was not inconsistent with the keenest watchfulness on my part whenever we turned a corner or passed the mouth of an alley, was brought to an end by our safe arrival at the house. Briefly apologizing to the king for the meanness and darkness of the staircase, I begged leave to precede him, and rapidly mounted until I met Maignan. Whispering to him that all was well, I did not wait to hear his answer, but, bidding him be on the watch, a led the king on with as much deference as was possible until we stood at the door of mademoiselle's apartment, which I have elsewhere stated to consist of an outer and inner room. The door was opened by Simon Fleix, and him I promptly sent out. Then, standing aside and uncovering, I begged the king to enter. He did so, still wearing his hat and mask, and I followed and secured the door. A amp hanging from the ceiling diffused an imperfect light through the room, which was smaller but more comfortable in appearance than that which I rented overhead. I observed that Franchette, whose harsh countenance looked more forbidding than usual, occupied a stool which she had set in a strange fashion against the inner door; but I thought no more of this at the moment, my attention passing quickly to mademoiselle, who sat crouching before the fire, enveloped in a large out-door cloak, as If she felt the cold. Her back was towards us, and she was, or pretended to be, still ignorant of our presence. With a muttered word I pointed her out to the king, and went towards her with him.

"Mademoiselle, I said in a low voice,
"Mademoiselle de la Vire! I have the honor-She would not turn, and I stopped. Clearly she heard but she betrayed that she did so only by drawing her cloak more closely round her. Primed by my respect for the king, I touched her lightly on the shoulder. "Mademoiselle!" I said impatiently, "you are not aware of it,

She shook herself free from my hand with so rude a gesture that I broke off, and stood gaping foolishly at her. The king smiled, and nodding to me to step back a pace, took the task on himself. "Mademoiselle," he said with dignity, "I am not accustomed

His voice had a magical effect. Before he could add another word she sprang up as it she had been struck, and faced us, a cry of alarm on her lips. Simultaneously we both cried out too, for it was not mademoiselle at all. The woman who confronted us, her hand on her mask, her eyes glittering through the slits, was of a taller and fuller figure. We stared at her. Then a lock of bright golden hair which had escaped from the hood of her cloak gave us the clue. "Madame!" the king cried.

"Madame de Bruel!" I echoed, my astonishment greater than his. Seeing herself known, she began with trembling fingers to undo the fastenings of her mask; but the king, who had hitherto displayed a trustfulness I had not expected in him, had taken alarm at sight of her, as a thing unlooked for, and of which I had not warned him. "How is this?" he said harshly, drawing back a pace from her and regarding me with anger and distrust. "Is this some pretty arrangement of yours, sir? Am I an intruder at an assignation, or is this a trap with M. de Bruhl in the background? Answer, sirrah!" he continued, working himself rapidly into a passion. "Which am I to understand is the case?" "Neither, sire," I answered with as much you injure me by the other. I am equally in the dark with you, sire, and as little expected to see madame here." "I came, sire," she said proudly, address-ing herself to the king, and ignoring me, out of no love to M. de Marsac, but as any person bearing a message to him might come. Nor can you, sire," she added with spirit, "feel half as much surprise at seeing me here, as I at seeing your Majesty."

"I can believe that," the king answered

"I would you had not seen me." The King of France is seen only when he chooses," she replied curtseying to the "Good," he answered. "Let it be so, and you will oblige the King of France, madame. But enough, "he continued, turning from her to me; "since this is not the lady I came to see, M. de Marsac, where is "In the inner room, sire, I opine," I said, advancing to Franchette with more misgiving at heart than my manner evinced. Your mistress is here, is she not?" I continued, addressing the woman sharply. "Ay, and will not come out," she rejoined, sturdily keeping her place.

"Nonsense!" I said. "Tell her—" You may tell her what you please," she replied, refusing to budge an inch. "She can

"But, woman!" I cried impatiently, "you do not understand. I must speak with her. I must speak with her at once! On business of the highest importance."

"As you please," she said rudely, still keeping her seat. "I have told you you can Perhape I felt as foolish on this occasion as ever in my life; and surely never was man placed in a more ridiculous position. After overcoming numberless obstacles, and escaping as many perils, I had brought the king here, a feat beyond my highest hopesonly to be baffled and defeated by a waiting woman! I stood irresolute; witless and confused; while the king waited half angry and half amused, and madame kept her place by the entrance, to which she had retreated.

I was delivered from my dilemma by the curiosity which is, providentially perhaps, a part of weman's character, and which led mademoiselle to interfere herself. Keenly on the watch inside, she had heard part of what passed between us, and been rendered inquisitive by the sound of a strange man's voice, and by the deference which she could discern I paid to the visitor. At this moment, she crid out, accordingly, to know who was there; and Fanchette, seeming to take this as a command, rose and dragged her stool aside, saying peevishly and without any increase of respect, "There, I told you she could hear,"

"Who is it?" mademoisel!e asked again, in a raised voice.

I was about to answer when the king signed to me to stand back, and, advancing himself, knocked gently on the door, "Open, I pray you, Mademoiselle," he said

"Who is there?" she cried again, her voice teembling.
"It is I, the king," he answered softly;

but in that tone of majesty which belongs not to the man, but to the descendant, and seems to be the outcome of centuries of

She uttered an exclamation and slowly, and with seeming reluctance, turned the key in the lock. It grated, and the door opened. I caught a glimpse for an instant of her pale face and bright eyes, and then his Majesty, removing his hat, passed in and closed the door; and I withdrew to the farther end of the room, where madame continued to stand by the entrance.

I entertained a suspicion, I remember, and not unnaturally, that she had come to my lodging as her husband's spy; but her first words when I joined her dispelled this. "Quick!" she said with an imperious gesture. "Hear me and let me go! I have waited long enough for you, and suffered enough through you. As for that woman in there, she is mad, and her servant too! Now, listen to me. You spoke to me honestly to-day, and I have come to repay you. You have an appointment with my nusband to-morrow at Chaverny. "Is it not so ?" she added impatiently. I replied that it was so. "You are to go with one friend" she went on, tearing the glove she had taken off, to strips in her excitement. "He is to meet you with one also?" "Yes," I assented reluctantly, "at the bridge. madame.' "Then do not go," she tejoined amphatic-"Shame on me that I should betray my husband; but it were worse to send an innocent man to his death. He will meet you with one sword only, according to his challenge, but there will be those under the bridge who will make certain work. There, I have betrayed him now "she continued bitterly. "It is done. Let me go!"

AN OLD MAN'S FIGHT. (Toronto Telegram.)

A sight of Oliver Mowat might do much to rouse the enthusiasm of the Liberals, Their Old Man never led them but to victory, and if he appealed to the masses personally in a tour of the Province his presence in each constituency might be worth many votes to the candidates of his party. Nor would the risks be great if the aged remier decided to take the field in person. He is an old man, but a hale old man.

Sir John threw the might of his own personal strength into the fight against the Grits in 1891. He was an older man for his years than Sir Oliver Mowat is. He campaigned in winter, while the Ontario Premier has the summer before him. Sir John gained the battle, but he lost his life. Sir Oliver has a chance to gain the battle without braving hardships that would en-

Frank Brown Says Dodd's Ridney Pills Give Universal Satisfaction-The Reason is They Never Fail to Cure.

SHELBURNE, May 14.-Frank Brown, the well-known druggist here, says: "In the past eighteen months I have sold 119 dozen of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Considering the quantity I have sold, I have had an opportunity of ascertaining whether the pills give satisfaction or not. I can say that during my fifteen years' experience in the drug business I never sold a medicine that gives the universal satisfaction that Dodd's Kidney Pills do. I am satisfied any person suffering with kidney trouble only requires to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a fair trial, and he will be convinced of their wonderful curative properties. Lost With Thirteen Men on Board. Whelesale & Retail Lumber Merchant GLOUCESTER, Mass., May 13.—The fish ing schooners Martha and Susan have been given up as lost with thirteen men.

CONSOLATION.

Shakespeare was not accounted great When good Queen Bess ruled England's state, So why should I to-day repine

Because the laurel is not mine? Perhaps in twenty-ninety-three Folks will begin to talk of me.
And somewhere statues may be built
Of me, in bronze, perhaps in gilt,

And sages full of quips and quirks Will wonder if I wrote my works. So why should I repine to-day Because my brow wears not the bay?

-The coming election contest promises to be one of the hottest ever fought in the city. Four old men not less than 60 years of age, well known in the East End. engaged in a dispute over politics on Friday evening. Blows resulted and when tired the four proceeded to the middle of the serious had not some spectators separated the combatants.

-Lewis, Augustus and Moses Elms, were arrested Saturday morning about 4 o'clock by Constables Ward and Ward for refusing to appear in court on a summons. The trio were subpænaed as witnesses in the case of Frank Jarvis, the Delaware hotel-keeper, who was accused of selling iquor to the red men, and which came up before Squires Smyth and Lacey on Saturday. On the Indians failing to appear the warrants were issued and the case adjourned till Friday.

-The friends of Mrs. Thomas Green, Cartwright street, will regret to learn of the death yesterday, after a long and painful illness, of her youngest daughter Kate. The deceased attended the Collegiate Institute until taken ill last fall, and was one of the brightest and most diligent pupils in attendance. She also was an active worker in the young circles of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church and had endeared herself to all by her amiable disposition and many excellent qualities. The family have the sincere sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement. Masonic.

To-morrow evening a reception, of a military character will be tendered to Hon. J. M. Gibson, grand master of the Masonic fraternity, by the Lodge of Strict Observance, Hamilton. The offices will be filled by the following members of the militia force: Major J. J. Mason, W.M.; Lieut. Thos. W. Lester, S.W.; Lieut. J. H. Herring, J. W.; Major Chas. Armstrong, S.D.; Lieut. F. R. Waddell, J.D.; Lieut. J. D. Laidlaw, I.G.; Capt. J. S. Hendrie, D. of C.; Capt. Jas. Adam and Capt. W. A Kerr, stewards. Little Boys and Girls Dance.

The closing exercises of Messrs. Dayton & McCormick's juvenile classes on Saturday afternoon were highly successful. About 200 attended. The programme consisted of twelve numbers, comprising the latest dances of the season. A very pleasing feature of the entertainment was the graceful manner in which Miss Hester Magee executed the Spanish Cachuca. Although only 6 years of age she executed the difficult movements perfectly. Miss Susie McGill, another little tot of 6 years, delighted the large audience by dancing the shaun trews. The dresses of the little girls were quite elaborate, and the academy presented a gay appearance. The parents and friends of the children were highly delighted with the afternoon's entertainment, and Messrs. Dayton & McCormick may well feel proud of the splendid showing made by the little ones.

St. Thomas Tips. ST. THOMAS, May 13.—An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner Gustin on the body of James Armstrong, who was found beheaded and otherwise mutilated at the nambulism, and the jury returned a verdict THER] of accidental death while sleep-walking. Thomas Edwards, a painter and decorator, was found in the eastern part of the city on Saturday with his throat cut and suffering from delirium tremens. The jugular vein was not cut, and the man recovered sufficiently on Sunday to tell his story and laugh about it. He had imagined that a flock of sparrows turned him. Afterwards they changed into Leading Editor's Opinions soldiers and tried him for being a traitor. Williams' Royal Crown He imagined that he was sentenced to be burned at the stake and to have his tongue cut out. It was to escape this imaginary punishment that he cut his throat. Edward lives at 98 Commercial street, Buffalo, where he has relatives. Mr. Fetherstone Martindale, of Cayuga, died here yesterday while on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Dawson. He was 87 years old. and leaves a wife and son and daughter.

Princess Colonna, the daughter of Millionaire J. W. Mackay, passed through here yesterday on the M. C. R. private car Traveler. She was going to New York to rejoin her husband after their late domestic difficulties.

Dr. Antliff's Successor.

At the official meeting of Dundas Street Church board of managers, Rev. E. B. Lanceley and Rev. E. T. Scott were selected from the ministers of the London Conference as qualified to be appointed by the stationing committee to Dundas Street Church for next year. They will ask for the appointment of one of these ministers, the preference being given to Mr. Lanceley. A committee was also appointed to interview the stationing committee if necessary, in order to have such an appointment made as would be acceptable to the Dundas Street people, should it be that either of the two before-mentioned gentlemen cannot be sent. The prevailing opinion, however, is that no opposition will be offered to Rev. E. B. Lanceley, so that his return may be anticipated about July 1, to one of the best appointments in the London Methodist Conference.

John Campbell's Views. Mr. John Campbell was nominated at a convention to bring out a Mowat Government candidate for London. He declined, but made a speech, a part of which was: 'Men and women are largely what they are by the accident of their birth. How can I help being a Presbyterian? How came Mr. Masuret and Mr. Coffey to be what they are, good Catholics, or Mr. Crenyn a good member of the Anglican Church? Perish sectional and religious strife in this grand country." Mr. Campbell does not seem to know it, perhaps, because of his modest appreciation of himself; but the emergencies of the times call for such men as he to fill the high places, and by precept and example endeavor to raise the popular mind to the consideration of nobler things than religious hatreds and jealousies, -[Winnipeg Nor'Wester.

NO USE FOR HIM.

Mr. and Mrs. McCurdy in Court-Hotel-Keeper Fined.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCurdy created most of the business at this morning's Police Court. The specific charge against Mr. McCurdy was that he neglected to suproad, which had been newly graveled, and port the wife whom he had vowed at the used stones and sticks. Some facial dis- altar to cherish and love. Mr. McCurdy figurement was caused by this, The said he went home sober on Friday and affair might have ended in something promised to go to work and give her all his wages, but she wouldn't give him his tools. "He only wants the tools to sell and spend the money for liquor," said Mrs. three Indians from the Oneida reserve, has been selling and I have been buying his tools."

The Magistrate-I believe it. Mrs. McCurdy-A hotel-keeper bought some of them for 75 cents the other day and I had to buy them back.

The Magistrate-Haven't you warned the hotel-keepers not to sell him liquor? Mrs. McCurdy-I have, and they keep right on doing it. I want him to stay away -the drunkard. I carn my own living without him. McCurdy-Your honor, she came into Morkin's and struck me over the head with her umbreila and pulled off my necktie the other day. She never has the meals

The magistrate here interrupted the fiery encounter of words between husband and wife by advising that McCurdy pay her $15 for his tools and stay away from her. McCurdy started to speak disparagingly of his wife but was cut short by the court. "I'll send you down for contempt if you keep that up," said the P. M. "It isn't for your mouth to abuse her." The prisoner consented to the arrangement and was released.

James James pleaded guilty to selling iquor on his premises during prohibited hours and was fined $20. He remarked that he did not commit the offense himself. Mrs. Isabel Marshall had George Jones bound over to keep the peace in return for a similar favor conferred by George some Mr. J. Brooks unwittingly moved the
