

THE DISCOVERER

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, Inflammation and Ulceration. Falling and Displacement, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Local Weakness, than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Periods, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it. Deranged organs causing pain, weight and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system.

It quickly removes that bearing-down feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the organs which this medicine surely cures. Chronic Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound cures.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

Makes Public Statement

Tells of Her Belief in the Undying Merit of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 12.—When interviewed at her home at 194 Argyle street, Mrs. Haverstock was quite willing to talk of her peculiarly unfortunate case. "I was always 'blue' and utterly unfit for any work. My stomach was so disordered that I had no appetite. What I did eat disagreed. I suffered greatly from dizziness and sick headache, and a nervous breakdown. Upon my doctor's recommendation I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. "I felt better at once. Every day I improved. In six weeks I was a well woman, cured completely after different physicians had failed to help me. It is for this reason that I strongly urge sufferers with stomach or digestive troubles to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills strengthen the stomach, improve digestion, strengthen the nerves and restore debilitated systems to health. By cleansing the blood of long-standing impurities, by bringing the system to a high point of vigor, they effectually chase away weariness, depression and disease. Good for young or old, for men, for women, for children. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butter-

LEAGUE FOR RATIONAL SUNDAY

Toronto, Nov. 5.—The Rational Sunday League is out with a petition to the Senate and House of Commons, asking for the repeal of certain clauses of the Lord's Day act. The petition says in part: "Whereas many of the important business interests and industries of the Dominion are being injuriously interfered with and obstructed by the enforcement of the penal clauses of the Lord's Day act; and whereas a large number of the citizens of Canada do not approve of many of the coercive clauses of said act, as being unnecessarily restrictive of individual liberty, and desire that same shall be repealed; The aim is to secure 10,000 signatures. A large number are requested to secure ten signatures and these in turn will be asked to secure as many more. It is on the endless-chain principle. The league is also sending out some literature, of which the following is an excerpt: "The Methodist conference has voted $10,000 to employ an 'Expert Christian

FLOOD OF GOLD FROM OLD WORLD POURING INTO AMERICAN MARKETS

$7,000,000 on German Liner and Cunarder Carries an Immense Sum.

New York, Nov. 5.—The arrival of the first treasure ship laden with gold for the relief of the present stringency was the feature of the financial situation today. The Kron Prinzessin Cecilie brought $7,000,000 in the yellow metal, which will go to strengthen New York bank reserves. The new Cunard liner Lusitania will follow closely in her wake with $10,000,000 and $14,000,000 more will follow during the remainder of the week and early next week.

The additional withdrawals of $750,000 from the Bank of England today for the United States and $25,000 for Canada, brings up the total gold engagements on the present movement to about $36,000,000. The news that the Bank of France bought today $3,000,000 in sterling bills on London was regarded here as an event of the first importance, as indicating that French financiers were not only able but willing to help London and thus indirectly to help America by relieving the strain on the Bank of England caused by the heavy American demands for gold.

It is hoped that this action of the Bank of France will deter the Bank of England from raising its discount rate to 7 per cent, at the meeting of the directors on Thursday and the Imperial Bank of Germany from raising its rate from 5½ to 7½ per cent. The inference is drawn that it is likely to have this effect because not since 1873 has the Bank of England rate been above 6 per cent, and only for twelve days in each of the years 1899 and 1900 has the German rate been above 6 per cent since 1870.

Those bankers who saw Secretary Cortelyou when he was in the city today, are convinced that there is no intention on the part of President Roosevelt to call an extra session of congress to pass any remedial financial legislation.

STANDARD FINE SCARED EUROPE

Gould Says U. S. Credits Are in a Bad Way on the Continent.

New York, Nov. 5.—George Jay Gould, returning today on the steamer Kron Prinzessin Cecilie from a six-months' automobile tour of Europe, discussed freely the European view of the recent financial crisis in this country.

"Our credits are in a bad way," said Mr. Gould. "The people of Europe received an awful scare, and they are still nervous and afraid of our securities. But their view is all wrong, and we have simply got to get together and put our shoulders to the wheel to restore confidence."

"In this connection I want to say something of Mr. Morgan. He is a trump, and he has saved us from a great disaster."

Mr. Gould was asked his opinion as to the cause of the uneasiness in Europe.

"I believe without hesitation," he said, "that the terrible sentence imposed upon the Standard Oil Company is the largest factor. To the people of Europe the fine looks like practical confiscation—the wiping out of hundreds of thousands of dollars in their view—and they believe that a similar fate to all the rest of the big corporations. They fear to put their money in the big concerns with the Standard Oil verdict dangling before them. The fine imposed by Judge Landis has immeasurably hurt us."

The freight it gave the investors on the other side was tremendous."

Asked if his railroads would continue their opposition to the two-cent fare laws in some states, Mr. Gould said: "It is unprofitable to carry passengers at so low a rate, and in some of the states we might better put the cars away and close up the passenger stations."

DETERMINED TO DIE

Picton Lady Attempts Suicide by Inhaling Gas From Stove.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Carter, wife of a well-to-do hardware merchant of Picton, made a determined effort to commit suicide this morning. The woman had been living apart from her husband, and with her two youngest children, a boy of 4 and a girl of 5 years, took apartments on Winchester street about three months ago. This morning the landlady heard the children screaming, and rushing into the room, found Mrs. Carter on the floor, with the tube from a gas stove in her mouth. The gas was turned on in her month, and she was immediately hurried to the general hospital, where, after the doctors had worked upon her for some time, she regained consciousness. This afternoon she was reported out of danger.

SUING FOR $250,000.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—Henry L. Sprague, a New York attorney, on behalf of himself and others, is suing J. B. Booth, lumber king and railway magnate, for $250,000 for breach of contract in connection with an offer made by the syndicate for the purchase of the Canadian Atlantic Railway, since sold to the Grand Trunk. The New York syndicate put up $500,000 to purchase the road for $10,000,000, but failed to put up the balance in time, and the half-million was forfeited. It is for this half-million and $200,000 damages that Sprague has taken suit.

MORE JAPANESE BOOKED FOR B. C.

Contracts Signed and Ships Are Chartered at Honolulu for First of Year.

Honolulu, Nov. 5.—Contracts have been signed and ships chartered for the conveyance of another lot of Japanese to British Columbia in the new year, the agitation resulting from the arrival of the other shiploads having had no effect upon the local emigration agents. According to Senator Charles F. Chillingworth and S. K. Muriyama, arrangements have been made with the Allan Line. The steamship Indravelli will be in port on January 2 ready to carry 600 Japanese to Vancouver, and two months later the Dean of Ruthven will be ready to take on board 1,200 Japs for transportation to Brazil. Plans for still further shipments in the future are being made, but details have not been perfected.

The Japs, according to Chillingworth, want to go. "Muriyama, who went to Vancouver with the other Japs, sent from Honolulu, has this to say: "There are absolutely no good grounds for the opposition to Japanese."

"There are more than enough work for all, and the only trouble is that there is not enough labor to go around. Why, in less than ten days after the Kumeric crowd landed there wasn't a Japanese of the lot who wasn't at work at from $1.75 to $2 per day. They were snapped up by contractors and rushed out in all directions. The only trouble is caused by the antagonism of the labor unions, and does not indicate that there is a lack of work in Canada, or that there is not a demand for more labor than can be supplied."

STRATHROY MINISTER CALLED TO PEMBROKE

Strathroy, Nov. 5.—The call of the Rev. W. J. Knox from Calvin Church, Pembroke, was before the Sarnia Presbytery today, sitting at Watford. Mr. Knox accepted the call upon its being sanctioned by the presbytery.

Rev. E. B. Horne, represented the Presbytery of Lanark and Renfrew. Messrs. Johnston and Gordon represented the congregation of Calvin Church, and the commissioners from Strathroy were Messrs. Scott and Coutray representing the session, and Messrs. Corrigan, Wyatt and Cameron representing the congregation.

Rev. E. B. Horne, of Watford, was appointed interim moderator, and will declare St. Andrew's pulpit vacant on the first Sunday in December.

MUST PAY $1,000 FOR THAT GHOST STORY

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—The appeal of the Manitoba Free Press Company of Winnipeg against Nagay, arising out of libel proceedings against that paper for the publication of an article regarding an alleged haunted house in Winnipeg, was dismissed by the Supreme Court today with costs.

The judgment of the lower court held the paper liable for $1,000 damages, and this decision stands.

SLUMP IN BOOK TRADE

Many Autumn Publications, But Business is Holding Back.

London, Nov. 5.—Autumn books are now coming out at a great rate, and, while the prospects of the season are good, trade seems to hang somewhat. The trouble is that year by year the boom is being compressed into a shorter period of time before Christmas.

It was bound to come, and quickly—a book on the game of diabolo—and it was natural that it should come from C. B. Fry in co-operation with Philip Hart, father of the game as we know it. The volume deals with the real diabolo, not the farcical and grotesque imitations which are all that are known to some people. The text will be illustrated with fifty photographs and diagrams.

Lane has in hand a book entitled "Legend in Japanese Art," descriptive of historical episodes, legendary characters, folklore, myths and religious symbolism as illustrated in the arts of old Japan. The book will include no less than five hundred illustrations, besides sixteen full-page prints in color. The author is Henri L. Joly, who for many years has been making notes from every specimen of such art that came under his notice. The price is not a popular one. It is 4 guineas.

"The Princess of Intrigue" of whom Noel Williams writes in a book so entitled is Mme. de Longueville, the beautiful daughter of Henri de Bourbon, Prince de Condé, and sister of the great Condé. The period, which is the last years of Louis XIII's reign and the early part of that of Le Grand Monarque, is one of the most fascinating in French history. Mazarin, Rochefoucauld, Turenne and Coligny all come into it.

"Peppy's Diary" we all know, and "Evelyn's Diary" we know by name, but "Dyott's Diary" is less familiar. It was kept by William Dyott of Freeford Hall, Staffordshire, a general in the British army, who started it at an

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 6.

THE STATE ELECTIONS.

The elections in the United States yesterday furnish no clue to the Presidential election a year hence. There was considerable outside interest in the race for the governorship of Massachusetts. The Democratic candidate Henry M. Whitney, who declared for tariff reduction and reciprocity with Canada, was soundly beaten, but he suffered from an open quarrel in the Democratic camp. Two rival sets of delegates appeared at the party convention, and placed two candidates in the field. A judicial decision was necessary to confirm Whitney's candidature, and he went into the battle under a rear fire.
Governor Guild, Republican, who was re-elected by an increased majority, pronounced for tariff revision, to be undertaken after the next Presidential election. The result was, therefore, no test of the strength of low tariff sentiment, which is believed to have its stronghold in Massachusetts.

In New Jersey the Democrats wrested
the governorship from the Republicans, but the issues were purely local.
In other states there was no sign of any pronounced change in public opinion. There was a curious situation in New York City, where, in several elections to the bench the Republicans joined hands with Wm. Randolph Hearst's Independence League. This fusion ticket was beaten by Tammany.
Many Republicans repudiated the alliance with a man of Hearst's methods and reputation. In Cleveland the Republicans made an onslaught on that picturesque single taxer, Tom Johnson, who has served his first term as mayor. He appears to have survived.
It is not known at this writing whether San Francisco has shaken off the old regime.

MR. MORLEY AND INDIA.

The Right Hon. John Morley has been discussing the situation in India with his Scottish constituents. Mr.
Morley, as is well known, is an advanced Liberal, but during the unrest that has prevailed in that part of the Empire for a year or more he has ruled with a strong hand, employing every resource of the law against seditionary agitation, not hesitating to banish the more dangerous leaders.
Mr. Morley rightly holds that no other cause is open to the Imperial Government than to firmly suppress disorder, as the maintenance of order is essential to the future progress of the country. Even if India were self-governing, with one of her reform leaders at the head of affairs, the duty of His Majesty's ministers to suppress such agitation as now prevails would not be in the slightest degree lessened.
His sole object is to prevent confusion and carnage in India, and in carrying out that duty he has refused to be misled by fallacious analogies.

The case of self-governing Canada has been pressed upon him, and there have been those who have attempted to embarrass him, asking him how he reconciled his policy in India with his well-known views regarding India. His answer is that there is no such thing as a political panacea; that because a doctrine or course of action is true and vital in one set of circumstances, it does not necessarily follow that the same will hold in an altogether different set of circumstances. No matter what the circumstances order is the first law of liberalism and progress.

At the same time Mr. Morley is not unmindful of the significance and possibilities of the native movement, which, so long as it is confined to orderly methods, he is not disposed to check. To those who protest against the license allowed native newspapers and speakers his reply is: Whether the Orientals understand it or not, it is a western experiment that is being carried out in India. The Government there represents western civilization with its principles and practices, and, he adds, "I for one will not be hurried into repression by the argument that Orientals do not understand this toleration." For that reason the Hindus are to be guaranteed every facility for self-improvement and self-expression.

Mr. Morley has no fear regarding what can be done for the natives by schools and the press. Indeed, while sedition movements are sternly dealt with, reform schemes are being put into operation. Among them is a measure leaving the various Indian princes and protected states much more to themselves, to look after their own affairs as much as possible; and another, providing for the drawing of natives into the Government. Already two Hindus have, for the first time in history, been appointed members of the council of India. In addition to this a circular has been sent out by the Government to elicit opinion as to what the natives really want as a step towards self-government. Mr. Morley's belief is that if it is mere froth the unrest in India will disappear; but if it is the result of wholesome growth towards political consciousness in that vast population then it will continue and translate itself into new forms of self-government, which cannot but have the sympathy of enlightened and liberal Britishers.

Summed up, Mr. Morley's views on the Indian question, briefly put, are:
The Government's first duty is to see that order is established and the opportunity given to peacefully settle all political questions. At the same time education and democratic aspiration must have free play and work out their natural fruits. But when the ends aimed at can be attained by peaceful agitation and political change, disorder becomes most criminal. Therefore the repression of violence carries with it correlative duty to make the bounds of freedom still wider.

A CHANGE OF TUNE.

Our local contemporary, in a panegyric on Bourassa, says:
"He rebuked his (Laurier's) trucking to expediency in disallowing dual language and relaxing Catholic privileges in the new northwest provinces, demanding that every vestige of French rights under the old regime should be preserved in the new."

It is marvelous that the Free Press can use such language after its course in the local by-election of June, 1905.
It had then no words too bitter for Laurier, and pilloried him daily in scare headlines as the tool of "Sbarretti and the Hierarchy." He was "trucking to Rome" in our contemporary's opinion at that time, but it now represents him as having trucked to expediency, or in other words, Protestant sentiment. Our neighbor has turned a pretty sharp curve. If Catholic privileges in the Northwest were curtailed by the autonomy bills, as Mr. Bourassa argued at the time, and the Free Press now admits, the whole campaign against Mr. Hyman in 1905 was dishonest and insincere, and based upon an unscrupulous appeal to bigotry and prejudice.

The taxpayers of London are to be asked to "loosen up" to the tune of $850,000 when money is tightest.

The defeat of Bourassa is a proof of the spirit of toleration in Quebec. His stock-in-trade is an appeal to narrow racialism and religionism.

Mr. Beattie's election is now described by his organ as a redemption of London from corruption. This is scarcely complimentary to the Labor party.

Everyone who ventures to ask for more information on the Niagara power scheme before voting his own money is stigmatized as a friend of monopoly.

In Toronto the captain of a fire station has been elected president of the Conservative Association of Ward
2. In no other city would a paid municipal servant be allowed to mix actively in politics. Toronto is under tyranny of Conservative-Orange wire-pullers.

The Free Press represents Hon. A.
G. MacKay as a champion of monopoly, because Colonel Gibson, head of the Cataract Power Company, presided at his Hamilton meeting. By the same logic, the appearance of Mr.
Judd on a Conservative platform in this city would compromise Mr. Beck.
Hasn't the Free Press told us that Mr.
Judd is the spokesman of the corporations?

NO SUCH LUCK.

[Cleveland Leader.]
"And do you sell these beautiful thoughts of your soul for mere dollars?" she exclaimed.
"Nope," said the poet, sorrowfully, "I seldom get more than fifty cents for 'em."

A HOPELESS THING.

[Exchange.]
Ex-Senator Dubois, of Idaho, in Aurora, Ill., said recently:
"Mormonism, with its attendant polygamy, is, look at it how you will, a bad thing, a hopeless thing—as bad and hopeless as the case of Jacob Smithers."

Dubois smiled.
"Jacob Smithers, criminal," he went on,
"sat in his cell making paper boxes, when a dear old lady looked through the peephole in the door inquisitively.
"You poor man," said the old lady, "I guess you'll be glad when your time is up, won't you?"
"Well, no'm, not particularly," Jacob
Smithers answered; "I'm in for life."

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

[Montreal Star.]
"Beg pardon, sir," began the beggar,
"stopping a suburbanite at the ferry. 'Can you spare a few cents to help me across the river?'
"Haven't you any money at all?" inquired the pedestrian.
"Not a cent," replied the beggar.
"Umph!" grunted the pedestrian. "What difference does it make which side of the river you're on?"

ARGUES AGAINST EVENING DRESS.

[London Daily Mail.]
Ninety well-known people who were asked by the Savoy Restaurant, "Shall we enforce the rule making evening dress compulsory in our restaurant?" have replied in the affirmative.
The single objector to compulsory evening dress said: "It is certainly a stupid rule which would prevent a man in this democratic century from dressing as he pleases. People are more important than rules of fashion. It is just such conventional ideas which keep up England's reputation of being a country enslaved to form."

EMANCIPATED.

[Harper's.]
An old colored mammy, of Charleston, South Carolina, who had never seen any modern street cars (this was many years ago), visited some relatives in Savannah, Georgia, after the introduction of the trolley lines. So great was her wonder and delight, that she exclaimed, with genuine African enthusiasm:
"My Lawd! De Yankee don't manicate de niggers, and now dey 'manicape de mule!'"

INCREASED COST OF LIVING.

[New York Commercial.]
Peroxide of hydrogen has advanced some 200 per cent in the market, it is announced.
Does this mean fewer blondes while you wait?

WHERE HIS TROUBLES END

[Puck.]
Mrs. White (sympathetically)—So your husband is in trouble again, Maude?
Mrs. Black (cheerily)—No'm; he's out of trouble, dead now—de scoundrel's in jail.

A MATRIMONIAL AD.

[Illustrated Bits.]
First Tramp (reading advertisement):
"Man wanted to chop wood, bring up coal, take care of garden, mind chickens and children."
His Pal (groaning)—Oh, them matrimonial advertisements make me tired!

HUSBAND'S FRANK EXCUSE.

[Philadelphia Press.]
"Now, then," demanded Luschman's wife the next morning, "what's your excuse for coming home in that condition last night?"
"Well, to tell you the truth, Ma'am," he replied, "none of the ladies would take me in."

KEEPING COOL.

[Washington Star.]
"I'll just keep cool,"
A man once said.
"I'll never lose my heart nor head,"
No genial mood
My soul shall warm;
Nor shall I blush
Before the storm."

While others felt
From day to day
The fervor of Emotion's sway,
He marched along
And never had An impulse fine,
Or instinct bad.
Now come and shed
A generous tear;
He knows no hope,
He knows no fear
In vain for him
Are pulse and breath,
He kept so cool
He froze to death.

SAME OLD SPEECH.

[Toronto News.]
R. L. Borden's task is done,
Gee, he's had a lot of fun
Telling of the Liberal crimes:
Same speech fifty-seven times.

IN THE STREET CAR.

[Toronto Star.]
Frequently a thoughtless or selfish passenger occupies the middle of the space that would accommodate two, or sitting sideways to look out of a window or talk to a neighbor, while others stand uncomfortably, reluctant to request a favor or rebuke the monopolizer of other people's rights.

VALUE OF LATIN.

[Washington Star.]
"Do you think the study of the dead languages is valuable?"
"I should say so," answered the apothecary. "The Latin name of a drug sometimes constitutes two-thirds of its cost to the purchaser."

LEADER MAKAY.

[Hamilton Herald.]
Hamilton Liberals have heard and met their Provincial leader, and their opinion of him is decidedly favorable. In A. G.
MacKay they feel that they have "a man to cheer for." His is a winning, magnetic personality, and he has in large measure the gift of persuasive, forceful speech.

A VIEW.

[Chicago News.]
On the train from Toccoa I said to a young man sitting beside me, as we climbed the mountain and caught a magnificent blue glimpse of a distant, hazy valley:
"Look, what a long view you get from here."
"Yes, sah," he replied, seriously, after a steady look, "as fah as yuh can see."

IRISHMAN'S WIT AND LOGIC.

[Christian Register.]
In a Glasgow car was an aged Irishman, who held a pipe in his mouth. The conductor told him he could not smoke, but he paid no heed. Presently the guard came into the car, and said, with a show of irritation:
"Didn't I tell you you couldn't smoke in this car?"
"Well, Oim not smoking."
"You've got a pipe in your mouth,"
"So OI have me feet in me boots," said
Pat, "but Oim not walking."

LOBSTERS.

[New York Sun.]
If all the lobsters in the bright blue sea
Were cooked and stacked in front of you and me,
Now, what a paradise this earth would be.
And then if all the lobsters that we meet
Were dropped into the ocean's vast retreat,
How few there would be left on earth to eat!

BEAUTY DETHRONED.

[New York American.]
The brilliant contention of M. Marcel Prevost in Figeac that the reign of feminine beauty is at an end, crowns elegance as supreme. He says that mere beauty is now regarded as crude, at least in smartest Paris, and that elegance, the reigning charm, because it is art. It is capable of subtle and varied expressions.
It is an achievement, while beauty is an arbitrary, born special privilege.
Subtly and perhaps unconsciously, but positively, the French woman of fashion has rebelled against the old-time arrogance of mere beauty and created, in its place, the exquisite art of elegance, in which many can compete.
Try to start a discussion in a salon over who is the greatest beauty in Paris, and you will find that the subject is lacking or languid; but ask who is the most elegant woman, and there'll be glittering animation.

Stimulation and Nutrition

STIMULATION is an immediate result.

NUTRITION is a slower process.

ALL preparations of Beef
Extracts are stimulants, so that immediate results are noticeable.

BOVRIL is unique in that it possesses high nutritive value, and it is so easily assimilated that its strength giving properties are felt at once.

Liebig, the originator of solid extracts, did not claim nutritive value for his discovery—nor was nutrition obtained in a Beef Extract until BOVRIL was discovered.

The charm of BOVRIL lies in the fact that with its tissue-building powers and its immediate energizing effect, it is the most palatable of food preparations.

BOVRIL is standardized and what it does today it always will do.

ALWAYS have BOVRIL
handy!

PRINCESS DEVOTES LIFE TO ANIMALS

Youngest Daughter of Leopold Seeks Society only of Her Pets.

Brussels, Nov. 5.—Princess Clementine, King Leopold's youngest daughter, seems to have resigned herself to remain a spinster and has mapped out her life accordingly. She leads a retired, lonely existence, seeking consolation in the company of animal pets, dogs and parrots more especially.

Her favorite dogs are Havana grif-fons. She has no less than twenty of them, all comfortably installed in a wing of Laeken Palace, remodeled and refitted up for them and other pets. They are the wildest animals for pets that can be imagined and have torn innumerable trousers of officers and skirts of ladies-in-waiting.
The princess always has at least two of her griffons with her. As soon as anybody enters her royal highness's drawing-room the animals fly at the person, barking furiously.
King Leopold himself has been repeatedly greeted in this manner on entering his daughter's salon. But all his protests have remained unheeded.
Not even out of consideration for her royal father's nerves will Princess Clementine restrain the ardor of her beloved griffons. The wilder they are the better pleased is she.

At Laeken Palace Princess Clementine has a large collection of tropical birds, among them two Congoese paroquets. One of these was presented to her by an official of the Congo Free State, who brought the bird from Africa. Greatly to the princess's disappointment the parrot proved most difficult, hardly ever talking. Acting on the advice of the court veterinary, the princess bought another at the Antwerp zoo, as a mate for her bird.
The two made a good match and both became inveterate talkers. These birds have been spoiled by their royal mistress. She takes the greatest care of them herself.

Princess Clementine is a capital horsewoman, and an excellent whip.
She knows enough about horses to send a pet to veterinary surgeons.
Never does she miss the weekly inspections of the royal stables in Laeken, when the hundred and more horses are examined by the court veterinary.

The death of Dr. Weigel, a surgeon of Rochester, from a disease due to constant use of the X-rays makes the fourth who has lost his life from this cause. The others were an assistant of Thomas Edison, a Boston physician, and a woman of San Francisco named Fleischman. In the case of Dr. Weigel, since 1904, when his right hand and all but the thumb and a finger of the left hand were removed, there had been four operations trying to save his life. The first removed a part of the right shoulder; then a part of the muscles covering the right breast. Mystery completely envelops the cause of death, the disease being unknown to medical science, though it is believed to involve some great principle of life. Dr. Weigel was president of the Rochester Academy of Medicine and the American Orthopedic Society.

If Lillian Nordica finally carries out her project for an American Bayreuth she will not be the first singer to emerge as a manager. Jean de Reszke has a private theater in Paris, accompanied by the royal stables, and, accidentally perfect, and there the other day Rossini's "Barber of Seville" was sung by the owner, his brother Edouard, Adelina Patti and Mario Ancona, and who is the greatest singer in the world.
M. Prevost, and interest will be lacking,
or languid; but ask who is the most elegant woman, and there'll be glittering
animation.

INTERESTING ANNIVERSARY

"Gravel Road" Sunday School Have Services and Social.

The anniversary services of the Gravel Road Sunday School were held Sunday and Monday, Oct. 27 and 28.
Rev. J. S. Fisher, of Lambeth, conducted a most successful service in the afternoon, assisted by the Lambeth choir, which rendered excellent music.
In the evening Mr. Weiden, of Tempo, in the place of Rev. Giffin, of Lambeth, who was ill, preached a very instructive sermon assisted by the Sharon choir. Considering the weather a large attendance was present at both services. The collections amounted to between $9 and $10.

On the following Monday an excellent basket social was given. The children showing their excellent training under the care of Miss Ronald,
all taking their parts exceeding well,
especially the little girls in their drill.
The dialogues showed the dramatic talent of the young people of that section. The tableaux, especially "Bliss Disturbed," captured the audience. Mr.
A. Trumper showed his ability in the rendering of "The Charge of the Light Bridade." The readings given by Miss Hooper were much appreciated. The Hunt Orchestra rendered a number of selections in excellent style. The best of order prevailed, though the house was crowded to standing room.
Mr. George Uptgrove, the superintendent of the school, filled the duties as chairman to perfection. Collections for the evening amounted to about $40.
For the season over $80. The school desires to thank outside friends for their kind assistance in contributing towards the success of the evening.

ENGLISH CAVE DWELLERS

Comfortably Furnished Apartment Is Found in a Brick Stack.

London, Nov. 5.—Highgate has its troglodytes. The interesting discovery was made public at the local police court on Friday when two youths, Henry Ward and Thomas Eddy, were charged with being suspected persons.

A resident of Milton avenue, Mr. E.
Olive, said he saw some boys loitering near his house, and whilst chasing one he lost sight of him on some waste land near the Great Northern Railway.

On this land there are some enormous stacks of bricks. In one of which he discovered that a cave had been hollowed out. A fire was burning brightly, and the "room" was furnished with three chairs and a table.
The floor was covered with oilcloth, and in one corner was a broom and shovel.
The Magistrate: A good lodging-house?—It is very comfortable, sir.
Any provisions there?—I did not see any.
Police Constable Pannell said that he took the prisoners into custody, but though he searched the cave and the other stacks of bricks he failed to find a third lad.
Mr. Olive said he believed that a gang of seven lived in the cave.
Ward said he had nothing to do with the boys of the cave, and had never heard of it. He saw some boys in the prosecutor's garden, and was watching them when the gentleman came up. They had a bag, and took some coal from the coal hole in front of his house.
Prisoners were discharged with a caution, and the police were advised by the bench to keep an eye on the cave.

"Falling my lawful issue, he would be; but that contingency has, thank God, not yet occurred. If Robert Drummond or any accredited agent of his wishes to make inquiries, I shall give them all the necessary information. I am in no way bound to give it to you. All that concerns you is that Miss Stormont is my only daughter, and, therefore, naturally and legally my heiress, and as her father I decline any further discussion involving her name. You have my answer, and my opinion of the value of the 'knowledge' you have chanced to pick up. Perhaps you will leave me now," rising as he spoke, and standing at his full height, the habitual stoop had disappeared.

Ashe's pale handsome face had paled a little further at that word "legally." "This is all very well, Sir David," he said, "but this Miss Stormont, with a slight dubious shrug, "is not the young lady who disappeared so strangely last August—that you do not and can not deny; and if I make this romance in high life public—and why should I not?—and the Thistlethwaites add what they have to tell, there will be some very curious things, indeed, to tell, and the word of such solid, stodgy respectabilities can't be lightly set aside, well—there will be a very pretty scandal."

"Where is the younger Miss Stormont?" a good many people would ask.

"That question, too, I am quite prepared to answer to any one who has a right to ask it. I in no way recognize yours," replied Sir David, with the same unexpected, and baffling composure, before which, as before the chill light of common day, Ashe's soaring dream-palace, which had seemed so solid, so well founded, and slowly but surely crumbling away, and to depopulate of his could stay the ruin.

The well-cut lips were rather white, they were drawn somewhat tightly from the line of even teeth, which with the balked gleam in the eyes, suggested the snarl of a vicious dog, which would bite if it dared.

As he said, with a very faint imitation of his usual ease of manner, "I can only congratulate you on being so well prepared for a number of awkward questions. Still it lies pretty much with me whether they need be asked or not, and whether Sir David Stormont will continue to enjoy general respect, or Lady Stormont that pretty little delusion which it would surely be a pity to disturb. My knowledge is not so valueless after all; it would at least make most welcome copy for a society paper."

"Lady Stormont will soon know all the facts," said Sir David, with that composure which comes with a final and tremendous decision, "but as I should not like her to be caused needless distress, I am quite willing to give a fair and reasonable sum for your silence. I won't put a fancy price upon it—what your society editor would give you for your scandal, shall we say? But as he would not pay you a second time, neither shall I. I do not choose to be definitely black-mailed. I must have a written acknowledgment that you have received the money—we can settle the amount by and by, and the reason for which you took it. That at least will be some slight protection. I do not know the exact value of your word at present, but should you break it to me, well, I will make that document just as public as you make my affairs. That, I think, would somewhat redress the balance as to general respect. I shall write you a check just now if you like, as I don't think there is anything further to be said, or, if you prefer to think over it till tomorrow, you can let me know your price then." Sir David was no longer inclined to choose his words. "Till tomorrow then—well," and he sat down to his letters, turning his back upon Ashe.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The sun rose next morning upon a dazzling wonder world, in which, on earth or heaven, there were but two colors, blue and white, but such blue and such white! Nothing could change the contours of the eternal peaks, but down in the valley every shape and outline was smoothed or wholly concealed by the muffling mantle of ineffable white. A keen frost had crisped the surface which, while it made walking possible, rendered the task of clearing the railway all the harder, while the road was even more unfavorable for a carriage.

In any case, Isabel was, however, hardly fit to travel. Her adventure had supposed that at least Lady Stormont supposed that to be the cause—had left her feverish and excited. She started at every footfall, every sound, as if she were on the strain of expectation.

"Is my father out?" she asked at last abruptly. "I have not seen him this morning."

"He went out early, but he may have come in again," said Lady Stormont, both surprised and pleased that she should ask for her father. "If you will promise me to rest for a little, I shall go and see."

The great deserted place seemed more silent than usual as she went to Sir David's room in search of him. What had become of every one? she wondered. Conyers had sent up a message of inquiry for Isabel, but she had seen nothing of him nor of Ashe that morning; though the latter was no cause for regret. The room was still empty, but conspicuous on the writing table was a bulky envelope which, to her surprise, was addressed to herself. She looked at it in wonderingly for a moment before it occurred to her to open it.

Afraid to glance at the first few sentences she swiftly crossed the room and locked the door. She would need silence and solitude for what lay before her.

"Marian, my dear wife, dearer than ever to me, though of late I have given you little reason to think so," the letter began, "will you read now what I once thought I would keep from you with my last breath, but now, whether I am doing right or wrong, I can keep it from you no longer. I cannot deceive you, cannot let you believe any longer—you, who have ever been the soul of truth and loyalty, and I can tell you now, as at last I know that, however I have sinned against you, I have not, as I dreaded, done you the last drop of deep and deadly wrong. Though God knows it would have been in ignorance. That burden, at least, has been lifted from me; had it been laid upon me, too, my punishment would have been, indeed, greater than I could bear."

"Marian, will you try to believe, though, as you read this, it may well seem impossible to you, that all my life from the very first I have loved you? A woman like you, who has but one love to give, deep and true and lasting, can hardly comprehend the wanderings of a young man's fancy—how his eyes and his feelings are ensnared for a time, till he wakes up from the fleeting dream to reality again, to find, perhaps, that the brief madness had laid waste his whole life—If it were only his own! Try, in mercy to me, though, to think of this as you read."

"At first I did not understand my own heart. I was foolishly impatient, but as a young man sometimes is, that my life was so thoroughly mapped out for me. Everything was so well arranged, so well organized, that though when the time came, and Sir David stepped into the place of Sir Malcolm, there could hardly be any change, the old traditions must be continued, everything would go on as usual. I seemed to see the life that lay before me to its minutest detail; even my wooing was planned for me. I was to wed my cousin Marian, and, dear to me though she was, and though I had the grace to know that I did not deserve my good fortune, I had the young man's passion for the new, the unknown, the untrod. I wanted something more than the future of a jog-trot ease and comfort which seemed to lie before me. That autumn, perhaps you remember, I went to Sutherlandshire. I wanted some deer-stalking, some wilder sport than the Stormont moors could give, and there, in an evil day for her, I met Elsie Macleod.

"You have never heard of her existence; once my chief hope, my life effort, was that you never might; but you have seen her name—it is written on that Testament—the sole possession which Isabel brought home with her."

"When on one of these long, magical northern evenings I first saw Elsie start out from among the bracken by the side of a lonely moorland loch, she seemed like some shy creature of the wilds, akin to the cloudy hills and the silent glens like the fleet hinds. Next day I saw her sitting, prim and demure, in the empty, barnlike kirk, where her grandfather, good old man, half blind and half deaf, droned out his weekly sermon to some half dozen people, little Elsie, in her quaint frock and bonnet, which might have been her mother's, looked like some tender seedling blooming amid granite boulders—and she died despairing in a workhouse ward—truly we men know not what we do! But she had wild, hot blood in her, too. Her father, a scapegrace lad, had run away from college and enlisted in a regiment bound for India; but he had the old Highland fighting spirit in him, and in the Mutiny he so distinguished himself that he was gazetted captain, and, further, so won the favor of his late colonel's daughter that they made a runaway match. Her family never forgave her marriage with a manker, though he had some of the best Highland blood in his veins. Had he lived, he would doubtless have made a name and a place for himself, but he was killed in an obscure skirmish, and the poor young wife went home to the old grief-stricken father and to the lonely manse amid the misty northern hills. Here she lingered out a sort of death in life for a few years, and then the child Elsie was left alone with the old man and his old counselor, about as infirm as he. She had never been at school. What she knew her

6005—A PRACTICAL SACK NIGHT-DRESS.

A plain, well-fitting model for a nightdress, which may be developed either in long cloth or flannel, is a welcome acquisition to the woman who prefers home-made garments to those which may be bought ready for wear. The design here illustrated is an extremely practical one, the yoke insuring a comfortable fit about the neck and shoulders, while the sack shaping of the gown effectually does away with the uncomfortable bulkiness that so often distinguishes flannel garments. If desired the gown may be made in the square neck effect shown in the smaller sketch, in which development it is cut without the yoke. If muslin or cambric is used for making lace or embroidery may be used for garniture, but for a flannel development all the trimming necessary is a little fancy stitching, worked in silk. For the medium size 6 yards of 36-inch material will be needed for making.

6005—Sizes 32, 36, 40, 44 inches, bust measure.

Trifles Make Perfection But Perfection Is No Trifle.

It is only by the most careful attention to every trifling detail in the milling of "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR that we have been able to bring this brand up to its present state of perfection, and are able to maintain it.

Every single bushel of grain which enters our mills, every single bag and barrel of flour which leaves them is tested and re-tested at every stage of the milling, in order to insure the absolute purity and uniformity for which "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is noted the world over.

This attention to trifles is costly, but it enables us to maintain a reputation for perfection, which is no trifle, and users of "FIVE ROSES" can rely upon getting the "flour of perfect quality" for all household uses.

The Piano Loved by Musicians

There are pianos, living on their past reputation. There are others that do not enjoy the same reputation in Canada that they are supposed to hold in other lands.

The New Scale Williams is no such piano. It is loved for itself. The ravishing tone, all its glorious sweetness, evenness and volume—the sensitive, sympathetic touch—the power and possibilities of this magnificent instrument—make it the delight of the artist, the proudest possession of the home.

The builders of the New Scale Williams make price the last consideration. It is solely a question of superiority at every stage of the work.

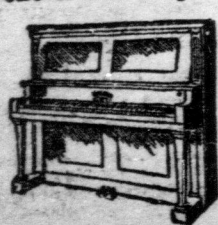

The New Scale Williams Piano

is mechanically and architecturally perfect. Its creation from wood and metal is the work of master hands, directed by the deans of the art of piano building.

It is, beyond question, Canada's finest piano, and one of the world's masterpieces. It is the virtuoso's preference—the singer's greatest assistant—the choice of the teacher—the joy of the amateur.

Fill in the coupon below—take to your local dealer or send to us—and receive, absolutely free, several booklets issued by us—all beautifully illustrated and wonderfully interesting to anyone contemplating the purchase of a piano.

BOARD REFUSES TO TAKE ACTION

In Regard to Talbot Street School Complaints.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL FOR CITY

Trustees Will Look Into the Proposal—
More Increases for Teachers.

The regular meeting of the board of education was held last evening. The sanitary condition of Talbot street school was again the fore, but the board was of the opinion that conditions had been somewhat exaggerated, and refused to take any action in the matter.

A committee was named to deal with the question of a technical school for London.

The coal question was again brought up, and Trustee Strong's motion to prevent a recurrence of the difficulties of the present year, was sent on to No. 2 committee to deal with.

There was considerable routine business disposed of.

Talbot Street School.

The matter of the condition of Talbot street school was brought up by Chairman Fitzgerald.

Dr. Teasdale declared that the repairs and improvements recommended by the medical health officer had been made, and since then he had not heard of any complaints. He thought that there was not any need of further change. He had not found any teacher complaining of any foul odor in the school.

Trustee Graham thought there was undue agitation about this school, and that the school was as healthy as any in the city. The Smead-Dowd system of heating and ventilation was not the most modern, he admitted, but it seemed to be doing pretty fair work there.

Chairman Fitzgerald thought that if there was any doubt about the ventilation, something should be done.

The board took no action in the matter.

The Coal Question.

Trustee Strong moved that all coal and wood be delivered to the schools during the months of July and August, the coal to be weighed on the city scales. He suggested that Trust Officer Weir be appointed at a salary of $100 a year to see that all coal is properly delivered and weighed.

Trustee Westervelt seconded the motion.

Trustee Graham thought that No. 2 committee should discuss this matter, and he moved that it be referred to that committee.

Trustee Teasdale did not favor the motion of Mr. Strong, as it was not necessary, he said, for the correct delivery of coal. He did not think it possible to deliver the coal in the months of July and August. Some of the bins in the schools could not hold a sufficient amount of coal for the entire season.

The amendment was carried on the following division:

Yeas—Trustees Graham, McCormick, Teasdale, Tillmann and Weekes. Nays—Trustees Strong and Westervelt.

A Protest.

The Teachers' Guild protested against the discrimination of the board of education against women teachers, and also asked that the teachers who have had over twenty years' experience should at once be raised to the maximum salary.

On motion of Trustees Strong and Weekes, the matter was referred to No. 1 to report.

Miss Jean R. Laidlaw asked that the scale of salaries for kindergarten be revised, as there appears to be unjust discrimination against them. On motion of Trustee Teasdale this matter was referred to No. 1 committee to report on.

Several applications for positions on the teaching staff were received and were sent to No. 1 committee.

The janitors of the schools presented a plea for an increase in salary, asking $15 per room per annum. No. 2.

The teachers of Grade and Avenue asked the board to reset the lower grades of that school. No. 2.

Communication Filed.

Mr. R. A. F. Stinchcombe complained of the rowdiness of the school children of West London, and other schools. The communication was filed.

Trust Officer Weir reported that he

Fooled the Doctors and Got Well

GIN PILLS CURE RHEUMATISM

They certainly were a surprised lot of doctors out Tyneside way. They had been treating Mrs. Harris for years. Gave her about everything that was ever heard of for Rheumatism, and then told her the disease was chronic.

A friend told Mrs. Harris about GIN PILLS. Just to oblige her friend, Mrs. Harris took a box. When that was gone, she dismissed the doctors and bought another box of GIN PILLS. By the time these were gone, she was so much better that she bought the third box and laughed every time she saw a doctor.

Tyneside P. O., Aug. 6, 1906.
I received your sample box of GIN PILLS, but as there was only enough for a trial I got a box from our druggist, and now I am taking the third box. The pain across my back and kidneys has almost entirely gone, and I am better than I have been for years. I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism, but it has all left me.

The doctors can't explain it. They don't try to. They said Mrs. Harris could not be cured. GIN PILLS cured her. Proof beats explanation all to pieces. Do YOU want proof? Write mentioning this paper, for a free sample of GIN PILLS and try them yourself. Then you will see what GIN PILLS will do for YOU. Write now to the Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, for a free sample.

Sold by dealers everywhere. 50c a box — 6 for $2.50.

had served ten notices during the month, and had summoned three persons in the police court for non-attendance at school.

On motion of Trustees Graham and Weekes, No. 1 committee was empowered to advertise for a relieving principal for the public schools.

A Technical School.

Chairman Fitzgerald appointed the following committee to inquire into the matter of a technical school: Trustees Graham, Teasdale, Weekes, Westervelt and Tillmann.

The reports of committees were adopted without amendment.

A Salary Increase.

Miss Jean R. Laidlaw, supervisor of kindergarten applied for an increase in salary equal to $1,200 per annum.

Trustee Graham moved that Miss Laidlaw be given $400 per annum, in addition to her salary as kindergarten teacher. At present Miss Laidlaw receives $175 for acting as supervisor.

Trustee Graham's motion, adding $225 to her salary, was adopted. In addition to this she will receive $650 as kindergarten teacher, making her salary $1,050. Next year she will receive $50 additional, making the maximum $1,100.

Trustee Westervelt moved that Miss Laidlaw's request for $1,200 per annum be granted, but the amendment was not seconded, and the main motion carried.

Efficiency of Teachers.

Chairman Fitzgerald advised the board that Inspector Edwards and Principal McCutcheon be instructed to prepare a statement of the efficiency of teachers under their control, and that no contracts be proffered the teachers until such report is given.

He also was of the opinion that since the ventilation and heating of the Talbot street school was not up-to-date, steps should be taken to improve conditions in that school.

Regarding a technical school, he advised that a committee be appointed to deal with this matter and report at the next regular or special meeting of the board.

Inspector's Report.

Inspector Edwards submitted his monthly report. He called attention to the overcrowding in the Richmond street school, where there are 49 pupils, and where three grades are taught.

Lorne avenue school, Grades I. and IV., were also overcrowded, with the ventilation defective.

In Quebec street school Miss Beattie has 66 pupils on the roll, with two grades. Some relief should be given, he said. The total enrollment in the public schools was 5,299, an increase of 74 over October, 1906. The average attendance was 5,287, an increase of 255 over October, 1906.

Miss Stella Macklin was transferred from Grade VII, Talbot street school, to Grade V, Simcoe street. Miss Ethel Thompson has been placed in charge of Grade V, St. George's school.

Principal's Report.

Principal McCutcheon submitted the following report: The attendance for October at the Collegiate Institute was as follows: Upper school, on roll, 58; average, 56. Middle school, on roll, 153; average, 146. Lower school, on roll, 426; average, 422. Commercial school, on roll, 134; average, 130. Total on roll, 771; average, 728.

The number on the roll for October, 1906, was 724, average 678. In September, 1907, there were 768 on the roll, with an average of 761.

Fire drill has been held on several occasions lately, and the main building has been emptied in from 55 to 65 seconds. The Cadet Corps is being organized satisfactorily, already 47 members having been enrolled by Capt. Greer.

Principal McCutcheon visited the Berlin Gait College, and reported that Gait has one of the finest equipped chemical laboratories in the Province. Berlin has a wing for domestic science and manual training.

Grant for Cadets.

The Collegiate Institute Cadets, through their officers, Capt. J. Greer, Lieut. C. McBride and Lieut. C. H. Tennant, applied for a grant of $250 to help defray the cost of uniforms for the cadets.

On motion of Trustees Graham and Strong the grant was made.

Mr. S. S. Jones and Dr. John H. Downing, teachers of commercial work in the Collegiate, asked the board to eliminate Class III. for teachers in the Collegiate, giving them the rank of assistants. They are employed in the commercial department, and practically do the work of assistants.

On motion of Trustees Graham and Weekes their request was granted.

Those present were Chairman Fitzgerald, and Trustees Graham, McCormick, Grainger, Teasdale, Tillmann, Strong, Westervelt and Weekes.

BIG FOOTPRINT ALARMS FARMERS

Ranchers Near Vernon, B. C., Go Armed in Fear of Gigantic Being.

Vernon, B. C., Nov. 5.—With a human footprint 19 inches long, the big toe alone measuring 5 inches, it is left to the imagination to fill in the superstructure of some huge monster that has frightened the inhabitants of the valley. Men, women and children have turned out to look with awe and wonder at the mysterious and enormous "hoof."

It resembles that of a naked human foot in all the essentials and its partner is at the other side of a six-foot creek, giving some idea of the prehistoric strides of the creature.

A resident was calmly saving timber when a neighbor sprung the yarn on him so suddenly that he thought he had somebody from the New Westminster insane asylum to deal with.

But the informant was perfectly sane, and produced a stick with the pedal particularly carefully marked. The footprint was down the hill there for anybody to see. No one certainly ever heard of the fertile Okanagan producing stray giants, but an old Indian gave color to the theory by averring that 40 years ago there were what he terms giants who stole children and things. Perhaps this may be the last of the Canadian mound builders.

The reservation folks have had a genuine scare and have called up all the whites round about to help them. Rifles are all loaded and lanterns flit about in the darkness. It is unsafe for a stranger to loom into view too suddenly when the least crash in the brush is sufficient to excite the tense nervous system. Some have gone on the trail on horseback with magazine guns, but even with a Maxim under each arm few could stand the ordeal of confronting a monster estimated at some 13 feet high, judging by the foot. Besides, the possession of the creature alive would be as good a financial "spec" as a valuable quarter-section of Okanagan land.

SERVIA'S HOOLIGAN PRINCE

London, Nov. 5.—Prince George, of Serbia, who at one time enjoyed popularity in Belgrade, has by a long course of tyranny and insult completely alienated the esteem of Servians.

His latest eccentricity was to insult the commander of the guard, Major Dunyovitch. As the major was leaving the palace a court carriage containing the prince passed by. As it was rather dark Dunyovitch failed to recognize the prince, and did not salute.

The prince, who was in his carriage, sprang out and began to abuse Dunyovitch. "Why did you not salute me?" he yelled.

The major, assuming the correct military attitude, apologized, and said that owing to the darkness he did not see his royal highness. "March!" said the prince, "don't bark here, thou dog!"

Dunyovitch replied: "Take care what you say! I am a commandant here."

Thereupon the Crown Prince launched a few curses at him and drove away. It is stated that the police have discovered a plot for the "removal" of Prince George. The conspirators are alleged to be mostly regicides implicated in the crime of June 11, 1903, and therefore neither the Government nor the police dare do anything.

The prince is in a perpetual state of nervousness, and for weeks he has not slept in his palace in the Kronenstrasse. The king has therefore given him rooms in the Konak.

CERTAINLY WORTH TRYING

Says Many Persons Here Can be Made Happy Again.

There is so much rheumatism here now that the following advice by an eminent authority will be highly appreciated by those who suffer:

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces of Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in a teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime; also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and torturous disease who will fail to find ready relief in this simple home-made mixture, and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter, which cause not only rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after awhile.

Though nearly all the metals have risen in price, mercury has fallen. This is due, says the Engineering and Mining Journal, to the decline of the process of pan amalgamation for working silver ore. Gold mines utilize very small quantities of mercury. The two great consumers are China and Japan, where it is utilized for manufacture of vermilion and explosives of secret composition.

Latest News From Far and Near

Complete Isolation Doom of the Inter-Provincial Rugbyists

Toronto, Nov. 6.—The News today says: Mr. N. H. Crow, of the C.A.A.U., this morning sent out a letter to all clubs in affiliation with the governing union that will have an important bearing on clubs in the new Rugby League in a forceful way the serious predicament in which they have all landed themselves through their connection with the discredited Rugby body.

The closing paragraph of the letter in question points out that no entry from a club having in its membership disqualified members can compete in any sports or meets held under the U. N. sanction.

COMPLETE ISOLATION.

Asked for an explanation of the clause, a member of the board of governors said: "It simply means that every member of the Inter-Provincial Union, whether they take part in senior or intermediate games, will be barred from all sanctioned meets of the C.A.A.U. It is the only logical thing to do under the circumstances. The men must be isolated completely who have defied the governing union."

"Disqualified men are barred from membership in every amateur club that I have any acquaintance with, and why should the C.A.A.U. make an exception? Take the Argonauts Club, for example. They cannot, under the constitution, admit the Rugby players to membership who are under the ban of the C.A.A.U., and before this fight is ended you will see a rebellion of the C.A.A.U. The members of the Rugby section are alone responsible for the recent mix-up, and when the rowing season comes around there will be trouble, and lots of it."

A SWEEPING LAW.

This ruling of the C.A.A.U. is even more sweeping than the disqualification of the senior players, if it is followed out to its last analysis. The only two men of any athletic prominence on the senior Argos team, while the intermediates comprise several paddlers, Longboat, Taylor and Julius Thompson, the carmen, McDonald, a clever Garrison track athlete, several hockey players and a number of others, who will be affected.

Perhaps, however, the team most interested will be the Tiger III, which is made up exclusively of Hamilton Y. M. C. A. boys, who, if they retain their connection with the Tiger football club will be no longer eligible to compete in Y. M. C. A. sports or C. A. A. U. events.

Just what immediate effect the ruling will have on the Rugby situation is problematical, but the chances are it will result in immediate desertion of the intermediate Inter-Provincial ranks by players who are not anxious to take a chance of endangering their amateur status or to come into conflict with the C. A. A. U.

The list of names referred to in the letter includes every player who has competed in a senior Inter-Provincial match this year.

Professional Hockey Goes Under The "Copper" Teams Lack Funds

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 6.—Secretary M. Laughton, Canadian "Soo" hockey team, International League, yesterday received word from Michigan "Soo" that promoters there had thrown up hockey, and that there would be no team in the Michigan "Soo" this season. This decision on the part of the Michigan team was followed by messages from the Copper country to the effect that it had been deemed advisable to drop professional hockey there for a season.

The Canadian team, which had been signed, consisted of: Goal, Lehman; last season's team; point, Leander; Brandon; cover, Schaefer, of last season's team; rover, Taylor, of last season's team; center, Lorne Campbell, captain of Pittsburgh last year; Gaul and Marks, forwards, and spares, De-Gray and Lalonde.

Immediately upon receipt of news from the other teams, Secretary Laughton wired the men under contract that there would be no hockey here this season, and their services would not be required. The Canadian team had made strong preparations for the season, and were disappointed at the failure of others to enter the league. It is not known what effect their action will have on the Corby cup, which was to have been played for this season. It is said that Michigan "Soo" could not secure men for a team. A three-team league is not satisfactory to Calumet and Houghton. The Canadian "Soo," according to a statement of the management, will witness some splendid amateur hockey this winter, if the International League fails to pull together again.

SPORTING GOSSIP

BY SOUTHPAW

The London Rugby team is out of the game for the season.

This decision was made at a meeting of the players last evening. Lack of sufficient financial support is given as the reason for the action.

This means that Hamilton and Dundas each take a game by default.

List to these chirps from the Hamilton Herald:

London would rather see Dundas win any day than the Tiger intermediates, says the Hamilton Advertiser, all of which shows how the outlying villages stick together in order to try and down the gridiron kings of this great city.

London is against the Tigers in the intermediate Rugby race, but that helps Dundas about as much as warm weather helps the coal dealer.

According to advices from Hamilton the Argos are in for one grand beating when they tackle the Cubs at Toronto Saturday. The Argos started off all right, but like London, they fell in the rut before they got well under way.

Evidently, Simpson, the much-touted Chippewa Indian, is seeking some cheap notoriety at Longboat's expense. The lanky Onondaga, on form, should romp away from the other red-skins in easy fashion.

The Orioles, of last season's City Hockey League, are said to be getting together a team for the coming season. If there is a city league, and the Hortons do not play in it, the Orioles should make it warm for the other clubs.

The Ramblers promise to give a good account of themselves, for and should note the Hornets and the rest a run for their money.

Primeau's run of 223 last night in the City Tenpin League series is certainly good bowling for this time of the year. In fact, such work would be considered excellent even in mid-season.

British Sporting Gossip

London intends giving a warm welcome to the athletes from all parts of the world who will meet to compete in the Olympic games, which, for the first time in their history, are due to be decided in England next year. The gigantic stadium which is being erected at Shepherd's Bush will not only be the largest but the most complete and conveniently appointed building of its kind in the world. At present it is but a forest of joists and girders, but so strenuously are the workmen laboring at their task that it is expected to be completed early in the New Year.

It is anticipated that at least twenty-five nations will be represented at the games, and competitions in almost every imaginable branch of sport will be held. Committees have been formed all the world over for the purpose of finding out the best men to represent their various countries, and in the result we should witness a meeting of champions the like of which the world has never yet seen.

Another attraction will be an International Sports Exhibition, in which every sport and pastime will be fully represented.

$5,000 for a Football Player.

For some time past Chelsea has been seeking new players, amongst those inquired after being Quinn, the famous Scottish forward, and J. Jackson, the old Woolwich captain.

Very high transfer fees, however, have been placed on every player wanted, and it was not until Friday that the West London Club secured the transfer of F. Rouse, an Everton forward, for the fee, it is understood, being about £1,000, the sum paid by Middlesbrough to Sheffield United for Common.

Rouse can play equally well at inside left or inside right, and has appeared with success at center forward. He is a big, bustling forward, and a capital good shot. Twice he has assisted the English League against Ireland, and his style should fit in well with that of his new club.

Rouse stands 5 feet 10½ inches, and weighs 13 stone. He is a widower, his wife dying early in the year.

"All Blacks" Nearly Beaten.

The New Zealanders received their first check at Wakefield, their match with Wakefield, Trinity ending in a draw of a penalty goal and a try (five points) each. The game, which was witnessed by 5,000 spectators, was of a very moderate nature, especially in the first half, and the visitors by no means did themselves justice, and entirely failed to bring off any of those brilliant movements of which they had before shown themselves capable.

Wakefield naturally put their best team in the field, whilst the New Zealanders introduced two new men into their Gleeson and Lavery.

In the first half Metcalf kicked a splendid penalty goal, and Lynch

scored a try, which Metcalf found too difficult to convert, Wakefield at the interval leading by five points to nil.

Ten minutes after resuming, for an infringement in the scrum, Trinity were penalized, and from an easy position Messenger placed a goal. For some considerable time afterwards Wakefield held their own, and it was not until about a quarter of an hour before time that Rowe, with a try, enabled the colonials to just draw level. Messenger failing with the placetrick. The try was not regarded with favor by the crowd, who booed vigorously.

So far as they have gone the New Zealanders have scored 49 points to 44 against them—i.e., 25 to 6 at Bramley, 19 to 8 at Huddersfield, 25 to 11 at Windnes, and 5 to 5 at Wakefield.

MAY FIGHT FOR $25,000

Tommy Burns and Johnson Offered a Big Purse for a Battle.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 5.—A purse of $25,000 has been offered by Jim Coffroth, the well-known fight promoter, for a forty-five-round battle between Tommy Burns and Johnson, to be decided in the arena of the Colma Athletic Club on New Year's afternoon for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Coffroth made an offer to Johnson immediately after he had knocked out Jim Flynn last Saturday afternoon.

Johnson accepted the offer in a hurry, and Coffroth sent a cablegram to Burns in England notifying him of the offer.

If Johnson and Burns fight they ought to attract one of the biggest crowds that has ever witnessed a fight battle in California.

SEVENTH REGIMENT ACCEPTS CHALLENGE

The Seventh Regiment Baseball Team, of this city, has been challenged to a game of indoor baseball by the Twenty-Fifth Regiment team of St. Thomas. The challenge was accepted and the contest will be played on Nov. 19 at the local Armories.

Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, has a peculiar municipal franchise. Every person who pays a $2 dog tax is entitled to vote in elections for mayor and aldermen. The system has led to abuses. It has been discovered that six enterprising women voted on the strength of a single dog.

Worse still, one ingenious woman, unable to get a real dog, had to qualify for a license for a china dog on her mantelpiece. Municipal franchise reform is now regarded as a question of urgency in Victoria, and the unkind association of dogs with mayors and aldermen is doomed.

Tigers Have an Outside Chance To Tie Up for the Championship

Ottawa Must Beat Montreal and Hamilton Trim Argos to Make It a Tie.

Hamilton, Nov. 6.—Hamilton's defeat at Ottawa does not put the Tigers out of the running, although their chances of landing the Inter-Provincial championship were severely cramped. There are only two more games to be played in the championship series, and in order to put the Tigers on even footing with Montreal, Ottawa must defeat Montreal in the championship next Saturday, and the Argos must defeat Argonauts in Toronto a week later.

The Ottawas assured the Tigers on Saturday night that they would turn the trick in Montreal next Saturday, and put the Tigers in the running. And judging by Saturday's form, Ottawa ought to defeat Montreal. Their back division is better than Montreal's, and there is not enough difference in the two lines to offset the superiority of Ottawa's men behind the line.

But Ottawa on Ottawa grounds and Ottawa on outside grounds appears to be two different teams, judging by this season's past performance. The Argonauts trimmed Ottawa in Toronto with apparent ease, but when the team went back to Ottawa they were outclassed. Then the Tigers trimmed them to a standstill in Hamilton, went back to Ottawa and the tables were turned, the teams being the same with the exception of one man, whose presence may not have changed the result much.

But there is no love lost between Ottawa and Montreal, and if the former team can possibly pull out a victory it will lose no time in doing so. The Ottawas claim that with competent officials they would have beaten Montreal in Ottawa, and just to show that such was the case they are anxious to win next Saturday. They will go to Montreal with a large crowd of supporters and a barrel of money, and the game should be one that is well worth seeing. But Montreal realize that Ottawa will be a hard team to beat, and is taking no chances. Kingston will be brought back from New York, and the team will undergo a series of hard practices this week, as Chaucer needs the money and must win.

But even if Ottawa should win next Saturday, the Tigers have got a hard row to hoe in order to land the honors. The game in Toronto with Argonauts will be no clunch, as Hamiltonians remember how hard the Tigers were extended in order to win last year, and then they only managed to win by two points. That Argonauts are a hard team to beat on their own grounds has been shown this season by the manner in which they trimmed Ottawa, and the close game they gave Montreal, the latter securing a victory after the score was tied a few minutes before time was up. Although the Tigers will not have a game for two weeks, they cannot afford to lose any practice, especially if Ottawa should win next Saturday.

ABOUT FRED SIMPSON THE INDIAN RUNNER

No more interesting story has been told in Canadian athletics than that of the inauguration of Fred Simpson, the Peterboro Indian, who ran second to Tom Coley, in the Hamilton Herald road race, into foot-running. Up to a year ago he had done no running, and at that time had anyone suggested that the Red Lake tribe contained a man who would produce the sensation of the year in this sport, he would have been laughed at, as an irresponsible dreamer. Simpson, until the night before the Examiner road race in 1906 had no intention of being a runner, though some of his friends had entered him. On the evening preceding the day of the race, however, he decided to run, and, leaving the plow in the field, like a flash of old, for the jump into fame, and a new sphere. His work that day, when, without training, he finished third, attracted local attention, and demonstrated the fact that he was a runner of more than ordinary ability. He was taken in hand, and has since been in charge of Mr. "Dick" Baker, who believes that he has one of the best runners Canada has ever produced.

He is a clean liver—does not smoke or drink, and has no bad habits calculated to detract from his ability as a runner, and it is this fact which gives his friends reason to hope that their expectations will be realized in him.

Simpson is a great grandson of a former chief of the Hiawatha band of Mississauga Indians, Pasha-Gee-Zig, and was born at Hiawatha, where his family migrated in 1831 from Grape Island, Bay of Quinte. The young runner has lived all his life in Hiawatha, and is looked upon as one of the most reliable and respected Indians in the band. He was married several years ago to Miss Muskrat, and has two brothers, who also live with this band.

Canadian Fighter Discourses at the National Club.

London, Nov. 4.—Gunner Moir and Tommy Burns have settled all details for their forthcoming championship fight. Burns objected to Moir's gloves. It was decided that Moir should have a pair made similar to the Canadian's. Both fighters were introduced to the members of the National Sporting Club. Burns thanked them for the cordial reception, which was a great pleasure to him. He was here, he said, to see the old country and give Moir an opportunity of winning the world's championship. He hoped the club would give him a square deal, and he would be satisfied.

VOICE RESTORED

One-Time Deaf Mute Now Able To Sing and Converse.

Paris, Nov. 5.—A striking demonstration of what modern science can do was given today at the Academy of Medicine when, in the presence of a hundred physicians and surgeons, a girl of 20, who two months ago was believed to be an incurable deaf mute, sang a solo and later answered questions asked her by doctors in the audience.

She is one of four pupils of Dr. Marage, and exhibits in her accomplishments the good effects of his new system of training deaf mutes to hear and speak.

He uses in his practice a so-called "vowel-siren," an instrument commonly used by Paris professors of acoustics to amplify the volume of the human voice.

According to Dr. Marage cases of absolute deafness are exceedingly rare. By use of the vowel-siren, he says, the rudimentary faculty of his patients is rapidly developed, and at the same time they learn to imitate sounds and thus become able to speak.

"Whatever his degree of deafness," said Dr. Marage, "the deaf mute is susceptible of improvement if he can repeat what he hears. The young girl who sang and spoke today has been under treatment only six weeks."

Dr. Marage for many weeks has been applying his method successfully in the asylums of Paris.

PICK FAST HORSES BY FACIAL EXPRESSION

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 4.—Students of racehorses here say that Whiskbroom, the dashing 2-year-old filly, racing in the colors of Fred Cook, is a striking illustration of the theory that a race horse should be selected by the characteristics of facial expression instead of individuality of form. They claim that this little filly were turned loose in a field with a dozen 2-year-old thoroughbreds, and any turfman were given the privilege of going into it and picking out the 11 best-looking ones, Whiskbroom would almost certainly be the one left unclaimed.

Whiskbroom would never impress a turfman as a race mare so far as her physique was concerned. When it comes to her head and face, however, she fills the bill of those turfmen who say that they can tell a race horse by the shape of head, the brilliancy of the eye, and the shape of the ear. Her jockey, Leo Gangel, boasts of the intelligence of the filly.

She knows him as she knows the character and quality of food that is given her and she is best satisfied when she knows Gangel is sleeping in the next stall to her.

Gangel said:

"When I can get a stall next to that real comfort than when stopping at a good hotel. The filly looks so pleased when I am near her, and she don't want anyone else to ride her."

NEGRO'S MAD RIDE

Exciting Adventure on the Footboard of an Express.

London, Nov. 5.—Passengers by the Liverpool to Manchester express had an exciting experience on Saturday night.

While the train was traveling at nearly sixty miles an hour through Newton-le-Willows a young negro sailor opened the door of one of the compartments and walked along the footboard.

He returned safely, and endeavored to persuade a fellow-passenger to accompany him to America. He tried to drag him out of the door, but Gray managed to pull the communication chord.

When the train had stopped the guard found Gray in an exhausted condition and the negro trying to force him out of the open door.

After separating the men the guard locked the negro in a compartment by himself. By reaching the communication cord, however, the sailor automatically put on the brake and prevented the train from being started.

Next the guard enlisted the services of three other passengers to keep the negro under control, but after the train had proceeded a little further on its way it was again stopped.

Finally the guard and the three passengers were compelled to throw the negro on the carriage seat and sit upon him until police aid could be secured.

It is thought that the old Caylloma silver mines in Peru are probably situated at a greater elevation than any other considerable mines in the world. Their altitude varies between 14,000 and 17,000 feet. They were worked by the Spaniards in the sixteenth century and before that, it is believed, by the Incas. An English company is now preparing a hydroelectric plant for them. This plant will be situated at an altitude of between 15,000 and 16,000 feet. It will derive its power from a waterfall on the Santiago River, and in a dry season from Lake Huallacho, one of the sources of the Amazon. The power will be transmitted by cable about three miles.

KID BROAD THREATENS TO TAKE TO THE STAGE

Says Gym Bagley, in the New York Mail:

Have you heard the latest? Well, it's a scream. Kid Broad has threatened the stage. On the level. He's going to do a monolog, or an epilog, or a catalog, or something with a log in it.

Imagine the Kid coming on poured into wine rags, with his mandsard done up in sidecombs and his puss ironed out by the massage gee.

"Ladies and Gents, I am owing to redde any pome, but I tell oo wh sorry uh my pas life."

And then he intends to spring a few stories in German dialect. There's a combination. If you can beat that you've got me winging. I'd sooner catch that German dialect, plus the Kid's own scrambled struggle, than see the Statue of Liberty do a skit dance.

The American sweet tooth during the past year consumed that of sugar valued at $300,000,000. This is 76 pounds per year for every resident.

BEER MAKES BLOOD

MALT has certain food-elements which the body can transform into healthy blood quickly and with the least digestive effort.

HOPS contain a medicinal principle which tones the nerves without reaction, and so supplies nervous energy and saves it as well.

BEER as brewed in Ontario is made from choicest Ontario barley malt, selected hops, and the purest of water, dealt with under conditions which insure purity and quality.

BEER is a term which covers light, ale, porter, and stout and is the practice of distillers, brewers, singular beverages made under most hygienic conditions, from the best of the world's malt, hops, and pure water.

Beer with meals is good for 997 people out of every thousand—and is especially good for women. Ask your own doctor about it—beer is probably good for you.

AGAUNI

Nine-tenths of these Aganni shares have been taken up by the leading business men of the city.

Nearly twenty thousand shares are held in and around Haliburton, near which place the mine is situated.

The property is all paid for, the Government requirements have been fully met, the claim will be "patented" as soon as the papers can be made out, and all working charges have been promptly settled.

A recent assay has returned 1,500 ounces silver to the ton, and to continue developing a small block of shares is offered the public at ten cents (10¢) per share fully paid.

The directors are exceptionally strong, and they fully endorse the shares. These men are leading citizens, whose money has been bought and largely worked the property up to date.

This offer is limited, both in number of shares and in time, as they will be sold in the market shortly, possibly immediately after the special general meeting soon to be held. Some of the shareholders have taken three and four different lots of shares, thus proving their confidence in the property and management.

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Wednesday, Nov. 6.—Hay did not sell as well as yesterday's market, and the buyers refused to pay the prices demanded by the farmers. There were 12 loads on the stand, and $17.50 to $18.50 per ton were the prices.

Straw sold at $1.50 per cwt. Oats went mostly at $1.65 per cwt.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Bad roads, rainy weather and the holiday last Thursday, were factors in causing a much smaller amount of business to transact than in the previous week.

Prices for hay, butter and eggs were a little firmer than a week ago, but the grain—Oats are in fair demand, at $1.62 to $1.68 per cwt. Wheat is selling at $1.62 to $1.68 per bushel.

Hay and straw—The supply of hay during the week was comparatively small, and there has not been enough offered to supply the rather brisk demand, prices being as a consequence firmer; sales were made at Tuesday's market at $18 to $19 per ton. There is not much straw offering at present, and prices are firm at $8 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—The market for butter is strong and prices are firm, at 24¢ for crocks and 25¢ for choice sound rolls; the dealers do not anticipate any further advance in prices for some time. Eggs are quite plentiful and prices are firm, at 25¢ to 27¢ per dozen for crate and basket lots.

Potatoes—The market is a little slow at present; there is not much change in prices; sales are made at 30¢ to 35¢ per bag, most of the stock being sold at 30¢ per bag. Apples are very plentiful, but as their keeping qualities are none of the best, sales are made at 10¢ to 15¢ per bushel, according to quality from 50¢ to 55¢ per bag, or $1.75 to $2.50 per barrel, the latter price for the choicest lots. Pears are dull, at 20¢ to 30¢ per basket. Pears sell at 75¢ to $1.25 per bushel.

The quality of the chickens this season is far below the average; prices are high, at 40¢ to 45¢ per pair.

Hickory nuts, 5¢ to 10¢ per quart.

Poultry—The demand is fair, and dealers are paying the following prices: Ducks dressed, 5¢ to 10¢ per lb; geese, 6¢ per lb alive, and 5¢ dressed; old fowl, 5¢ per lb alive, and 4¢ dressed; chickens, 10¢ to 12¢ per lb alive, and 8¢ to 10¢ dressed, occasionally 11¢ per lb for some choice birds; turkeys, the latter price for hens; if turkeys are true, there are a large number of turkeys in the country than at any time during the last five years.

Dressed Hogs—The demand is good, and prices are considerably higher in comparison with live hogs; sales are made at $8 to $8.50 per cwt, most of the stock being sold at $8.50 per cwt, and a few at $9.00 per cwt.

Live Hogs—The market for live hogs for fat was very unsatisfactory, and if all the farmers stock raising hogs that they intend to sell, there will not be many hogs in the country next year. The farmers contend that the high prices of which the live hogs are nearly double year paid five years ago, have resulted in loss on the hogs that they are selling at present, and it is expected that about $5.00 per cwt will be the figure for next month's shipment. Small pigs are a drug, at 1¢ per lb, and are not wanted at even this low price.

Butcher's Meats—Beef is in fair demand, at $4.50 to $5.00 per cwt; veal, $7 to $9 per cwt; mutton, $6 to $8.50 per cwt; lamb, 15¢ to 12¢ per lb by the carcass; pork, 5¢ for forequarters and 10¢ for hind-quarters.

WOOL MARKET.

TORONTO. Toronto, Nov. 5.—Wool—There is little outside market for wool, as local firms are not buying unless they are offered the stock "dead cheap," as one dealer laconically remarked. Quotations are: Unwashed, 12¢ to 13¢ per lb; washed, 22¢ to 23¢; rejects, 15¢ to 16¢.

HIDES, SKINS AND TALLOW.

TORONTO. Toronto, Nov. 5.—Hides. The market is in a very depressed condition, and local dealers see little prospect of improvement.

The outlook in American markets, which control our own, is very uncertain, and further declines are the only logical result of the present depression. Offerings of hides by small dealers are not heavy, the most of them apparently differing with firms here as to the future movements of prices. Quotations are unchanged. ALD. BEATTIE FOR MAYOR is considered one of the strong men of the party, and he has been slated for advancement. So far, it is understood, he has failed to respond to the urgings of the party to stand.

The next choice is Ald. Beattie. He was placed in nomination last year for the purpose of being the candidate of the Conservative party for the mayoralty in 1908. It was then figured out that Ald. Matthews would be given his quietus in some way or other. That consummation, so devoutly wished for by many Conservatives, seems to have been almost accomplished, and it is being, or has been, impressed upon Ald. Matthews that he had not better run for mayor.

The Conservative Club will hold a meeting in a few weeks to discuss the question again, and if the scheme goes through without a hitch, Ald. Beattie will be the nominee of the Conservative party for the mayor's chair. He is said to be acceptable to both the Beck and Gray factions of the party, and is thought to be the strongest candidate in sight for the position.

Wants a Sure Thing.

The Conservative Club dearly loves a winner, and it will not support a man who seems to have no chance. It is no secret that Ald. Matthews has lost considerable ground during the past year. His management of No. 2 committee this year has not been impressive. He has spent considerable of his time in quibbling criticism of the work of No. 3 committee over whose destiny he presided for three years. That any person could manage that committee better than he, has caused him not a little uneasiness, and he has devoted a great deal of time to fault finding.

Ald. Beattie seems to have the call just now, as it is thought that Dr. Becher will prefer to wait a few years at least.

"I am out of everything, unless I change my mind," said Ald. Beattie when spoken to about the matter this morning.

Mayor Judd, it is considered, is out of the game, and will not be a candidate for any municipal office in January.

WANT LAW AMENDED

ing his house badly damaged he was out considerable money besides.

Cases of this kind, according to the real estate men, are by no means common, and if the tenant happens to be not worth anything there is no redress.

Much Annoyance.

In one or two instances widows who rent one or two houses and who can not afford to lose any money, have been put to considerable annoyance and expense by getting undesirable tenants.

The real estate men propose to ask the Government to make the law here similar to the law at present in force in the State of New York.

There all rent is paid in advance, and in case a tenant has been behind in his rent, the landlord simply notifies a state officer, who comes down to the house with his men and puts all the tenant's furniture in the street.

If it is not removed within so many hours he is liable to a fine, and in case the tenant is secured from loss, as he has his rent in advance, and gets possession of his house at once.

Sale of Goods.

It is also proposed to ask the Government to change the law relating to the sale of goods to tenants, so as to give the landlord some hold on them. At present he has no hold on goods bought on the weekly payment plan, and the merchant can simply use the house as a store house for his goods for an indefinite period.

The result is that the real estate men have to treat really good tenants as if they were undesirable, and make them sign a lease, which protects them to a certain extent.

IN A NEW POSITION

He will leave Manila on Nov. 9, on the American flag ship, the Rainbow for Yokohama, where he will take passage by steamer for San Francisco. This report has not been verified, though owing to the absence of Mr. Taft who is out of town, interviewed upon the political situation and the conditions prevailing at Vladivostok, which, it is reported, are the cause of his return to America.

FOUR DROWNED AT DALHOUSIE

Gale Blowing and High Seas Swamped the Boat—Several Coincidences.

Dalhousie, N. B., Nov. 5.—Andrew Carr, James Neilson, of Dalhousie, N. B.; Willie Warden and James Dickie, of Florence Point, Que., started for Florence Point last night in an eight-foot boat with the wind blowing a gale and seas running high.

The boat was found this morning with the four lifeless bodies in it. The boat had evidently swamped shortly after leaving here. The other bodies have not been recovered.

Edward Warden, brother of Willie Warden, was drowned in almost the same place seven years ago. Ernest Neilson's brother Jack was drowned near here five years ago. Two years ago William Carr, a brother of Andrew Carr, was drowned in the same place under similar circumstances. Neilson was to leave for Ontario tomorrow.

AWFUL EXPERIENCE AT THE FALLS

Diver Hung for Half an Hour in Vortex of Water Over Turbines.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 5.—A thrilling and miraculous escape from instant death occurred at the Electric Development Company's intake this morning. A diver named Godfrey Thibault was lowered down in the fore bay in 30 feet of water from a float to examine the gates and raise the pipe.

Thibault, who had on his heavy diving apparatus, with the awful suction of water, was suddenly drawn into the vortex of waters leading to the immense turbines below and was unable to free himself. The life line having caught in the iron work of the seven-ton iron gate and the man hung over the top of the 150-foot penstock with the rushing water battering his breath out of his body.

The eight men on the float were pulling for all their worth on the life line in answer to emergency signal from Thibault, but their combined strength was not able to extricate him. To cut off the water, or to open the immense gates to penstock meant instant death.

At this critical moment, Mr. Sims, the mechanical superintendent, gave orders to the men to keep up the pressure of the water, and raise the building and switched off the power, and closed the valves. The rope was freed and the men pulled Thibault out of his perilous position unconscious. Dr. McGarry, who called and raised Thibault, who was badly bruised about the shoulders. He had given up all hope of being rescued, being in his perilous position over half an hour, fearing that he would be crushed by the pressure of the water, or that the rope would break and he would be torn to shreds on the turbine wheel.

GAS EXPLOSION IN KINMOUNT HOTEL

Kinmount, Ont., Nov. 6.—The gas generator in the basement of the Northern Hotel, owned by J. Simpson, blew up last night, the explosion tearing a large hole in the floor of the hall and barroom immediately over the machine, shattering several lights of glass in the windows, and breaking some of the dishes in the dining-room. No one was seriously injured, though the proprietor, Mr. J. Simpson, W. Watson and E. Allen received severe burns on face and hands, and a number of guests had narrow escapes. The accident was caused by a gas employee filling the machine with carbide while it was working, using a lantern near the machine.

ASSASSINS SUCCEED IN THIRD ATTEMPT

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Alexander Young, a socialist leader, of Ebenezer, was shot early today, and probably fatally injured while standing at a window of his dance hall conversing with two friends. This is the third attempt within fourteen months to kill him.

On March 7 two men knocked at his door at night, and when Young opened it, a rifle was shoved through the crack and fired. Young hovered between life and death for several weeks, but recovered. On September 30 last year Young was shot by a man who climbed over the rear of his wagon. Neither the police nor Young's family have any explanation for the repeated assaults.

TAMMANY TIGER

er returns indicate that the Republicans have carried the state by a majority of about 20,000.

New York, Nov. 5.—Sufficiently complete returns to make certain the ultimate results show that Republican and Independence League fusion in New York County was defeated today by the straight Democratic ticket; that the Independence League ticket for associate justices of the court of appeals was overwhelmingly beaten by the identical tickets of the Republicans and Democrats, and that there would be a slight change in the make-up of the state assembly.

In this city the Independence League ticket of appeal was defeated 4 to 1 and the league vote up state was light.

In this city interest centered in the county fight, in which the Republicans and Independence League forces opposed the Tammany ticket. James W. Gerard was elected to the supreme court with a wide margin over M. Linn Bruce. Thomas F. Foley defeated for the sheriff's office the fusion candidate, Maximilian F. Ihmsen, who is also prominent in the Independence League.

Early returns gave Foley a big lead, but this was later scaled down till 700 of the 833 of the election districts in the county showed a margin for the Democratic candidate of 25,000.

Edward T. Bartlett and Willard Bartlett, nominated by both Republicans and Democrats for court of appeals, were chosen over E. R. Lyon, of Bath, former Bryan Democrat, and John T. McDonough, of Albany, a former Republican, both of whom were nominated by the Independence League.

The election was unusually quiet and the vote light. There were a considerable number of arrests for illegal voting, but in most instances the defendants were discharged.

Mr. Hearst, who had worked for the Independence League ticket, was said to be ill at his home tonight.

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, said:

"The result indicates that the people have enthusiastically endorsed the policies and candidates of the organization, and repud

Caught a Fox.
To catch a live fox within the city limits is an experience which befalls but few, but which came Mr. Hodgkin Duncan's way yesterday. Mr. Duncan saw Reynard on Midland street, near Horton street, yesterday, and chased him into a culvert from which he was eventually smoked out. It is supposed that the fox is a pet of some one about the city.

Dr. Moulton.
Whatever else may be in Jones's plans, the opportunity of hearing a course of lectures by Dr. Moulton should be taken advantage of by all who are seeking the best in life. As head of the literature department of the University of Chicago, he traverses the literature of all nations, and on the occasion of his forthcoming visit has one recital derived from the French, another from the Marathi and a third from the ancient Hebrew. Fortunately these are all obtainable in English, and those who hear these lectures are likely to want to read for themselves what he has illumined in his recitals. The Fairy Queen is an unknown book to most people, although it is counted a masterpiece, and ranks as a landmark in the history of English literature. Dr. Moulton reads often the things he likes much, and he has read this poem twenty-three times, although he says he has never met any one else who has read it more than three times. He counts that the chief value of an expert in literature is to arouse a deeper interest in things not generally appreciated. The opening recital, "The Wandering Jew," will be given on Friday evening.

The report showed that the number of inmates during the year was somewhat less than usual, this being due to changes in the hospital staff which it was thought failed to appreciate the position of the home as an assistant in its work.

There were 28 admissions, of which 20 were males and 8 females. The nationality of the patients was: Canadians, 7; Americans, 2; English, 8; Irish, 6; Scotch, 2.
Of these, 22 were of the different Protestant denominations and the remainder Roman Catholics.
The treasurer reported that the total receipts amounted to $753.89, and the expenditure to $704.87, leaving a balance of $49.02 for the winter's work. It was urged that a special effort be made to carry on the work of the institution.

Reports showed that during the year several improvements had been made. A verandah having been removed and replaced by a cement walk, sewer connections made, and a new kitchen stove purchased.
Miss Stringer, the matron, was heartily praised for the excellent work she has done since taking full charge of the work after the death of her sister.
Mr. James Flock, K.C., was chairman.

The Protestant Orphans' Home Board

The trustees of the Protestant Orphans' Home held their regular monthly meeting on Monday when a large number of the members of the board were present.

The president, Mrs. Cuthbert McCallum, was in the chair and called upon Mrs. A. Thompson and Mrs. E. H. Gregsten to open the meeting with a Bible reading and prayer.

The several reports submitted proved satisfactory, the minutes of the October meeting of the annual meeting were adopted, the treasurer's report also received, which showed a most encouraging balance on hand.
The visitors for the month were pleased to report the home clean and in order, and the health of the children good.
The communications received during the month were varied. One was from Ingersoll desiring information as to the terms for receiving children into the home; one an application to adopt a child aged 13, and others from foster parents.

The election of officers for the following committees was proceeded with and all were unanimously re-elected, investigating, executive, purchasing, school, and building and repairs.
The medical report presented by Dr. J. S. Niven at the recent annual meeting was referred to, he having made mention of a necessary inspection of the drainage in connection with the home, which has caused some trouble lately. It was moved to ask Dr. Niven to kindly have this attended to.
The trustees are grateful to all generous contributors to the home during the past month.

Great Treat in Dundas Center Church

Music lovers were treated to a most delightful recital last night, when Mendelssohn's beautiful "Hymn of Praise" was rendered at Dundas Street Center Methodist Church by a choir of 60 voices, including Mr. Theo Van York, the celebrated tenor from New York; Miss Annie Reid, soprano soloist, and Miss Beatrice Hunt, mezzo soloist, of the same church.

The musical programme was under the direction of Mr. J. Parnell-Morris, and was carried through in a manner that won for all the unstinted praise of the audience, which was one of the largest ever present at a recital in London.
The introductory piece was Gounod's setting of Psalm cxxviii, in which the beautiful number, "By Babylon's Wave," expressing dramatically the desolation of the Hebrew captives in Babylon, was most artistically rendered. The final movement, in which the full chorus is heard, was very well rendered, and was in striking contrast to the plaintive singing at the commencement of the number.

The rich tenor of Mr. Theo Van York was heard to considerable advantage in two numbers in this part.

WILL METER ALL SCHOOLS IN CITY
Water Commissioners So Decide at a Meeting Held Yesterday.

At the regular meeting of the water commission yesterday afternoon, it was decided to place meters on all public and separate schools in the city, and also on warehouses where water power was used for elevators and hoists.

The question was brought to the attention of the commission by the council asking the water commission for a statement of the amount of water used by the Mann Brass Works.
Chairman Darch was of the opinion that meters should be placed on all large consumers. The waste of water in schools was considerable. The closets in nearly all instances are automatic, and if they are not turned off after hours a great deal of water is wasted.

Mr. John Bowman wrote protesting against the overcharge on the hoist in the warehouse occupied by C. H. Reason & Co. The register is out of order, and has been for some time. Both Engineer Moore and Inspector Plowton have known for some time that it was out of order, but it has been fixed. It was decided to wait for another month in order to find out how much water is used, and thus fix the amount of an overcharge.

Buy More Land.
Engineer Moore advised the commission to buy a portion of the Summers' property at Byron in order to prevent the Springbank supply from this quarter being contaminated. He would get the water from this spring nearer its source, as, where the collection spring was at present located, it was almost impossible to prevent it being contaminated by the overflow. The property contains about two-thirds of an acre.
Mr. Moore was instructed to write the owners of the land, who live in Vancouver, and arrange for the purchase of the property, if possible.

The introductory piece was Gounod's setting of Psalm cxxviii, in which the beautiful number, "By Babylon's Wave," expressing dramatically the desolation of the Hebrew captives in Babylon, was most artistically rendered. The final movement, in which the full chorus is heard, was very well rendered, and was in striking contrast to the plaintive singing at the commencement of the number.

The rich tenor of Mr. Theo Van York was heard to considerable advantage in two numbers in this part.

WILL METER ALL SCHOOLS IN CITY
Water Commissioners So Decide at a Meeting Held Yesterday.

At the regular meeting of the water commission yesterday afternoon, it was decided to place meters on all public and separate schools in the city, and also on warehouses where water power was used for elevators and hoists.

The question was brought to the attention of the commission by the council asking the water commission for a statement of the amount of water used by the Mann Brass Works.
Chairman Darch was of the opinion that meters should be placed on all large consumers. The waste of water in schools was considerable. The closets in nearly all instances are automatic, and if they are not turned off after hours a great deal of water is wasted.

Mr. John Bowman wrote protesting against the overcharge on the hoist in the warehouse occupied by C. H. Reason & Co. The register is out of order, and has been for some time. Both Engineer Moore and Inspector Plowton have known for some time that it was out of order, but it has been fixed. It was decided to wait for another month in order to find out how much water is used, and thus fix the amount of an overcharge.

Buy More Land.
Engineer Moore advised the commission to buy a portion of the Summers' property at Byron in order to prevent the Springbank supply from this quarter being contaminated. He would get the water from this spring nearer its source, as, where the collection spring was at present located, it was almost impossible to prevent it being contaminated by the overflow. The property contains about two-thirds of an acre.
Mr. Moore was instructed to write the owners of the land, who live in Vancouver, and arrange for the purchase of the property, if possible.

Bright Musical Comedy.
There was a time, and not so very long ago either, when musical comedy was plotless, but happily that time is past, and for the present such pieces are constructed with some little attempt at a story and considerable continuity of purpose. The latest show to be constructed on these new lines is the great New York, Chicago, and Boston success, "The Time, the Place, and the Girl," which is to be seen here Monday evening, November 11.

ALLEGED HUGGER ARRESTED
Sarnia Lady Charged Indian With an Attempt to Assault.

Sarnia, Nov. 5.—The following marriage license has been issued in Port Huron: Renzy O. Joyce, 23; Mary Hart, 24; both of this town.
Robert Isaac, an Indian, was arrested last night charged with assaulting Margaret Ash, who was on her way home about 8:30 in the evening. The Indian stepped out from the shadow of a tree in front of Mrs. Charles Mackenzie's residence, and took hold of Miss Ash by the arm. She broke away from him and ran to Mr. McArthur's residence, near the jail. The police found the Indian near where Miss Ash said he had assaulted her. Isaac was identified by Miss Ash as being dressed like the man who had attacked her, and being about the same size and general appearance. Isaac's elected summary trial and pleaded not guilty. At the request of Indian Agent Wm. Nisbet, the trial was adjourned till Wednesday. Mr. Nisbet says Isaac has always been regarded as an inoffensive fellow.
