GAS BOMBERS USED TO OVERCOME GUARDS

ROBBERS ESCAPE WITH THOUSANDS IN TRAIN HOLD-UP

Four Carloads of Bandits Loot Mail Train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul System, Securing Cash and Securities Estimated at From $100,000 to $2,000,000.

GAS BOMBS USED TO OVERCOME GUARDS

Chicago, Ill., June 13.—A. E. Gerner, chief postoffice inspector here, declared today that the loss through the robbing of a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul express mail train near here last night would not exceed $100,000. Previous estimates had placed the value of currency and securities stolen from forty mail pouches at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Chicago, June 12.—In one of the biggest and most daring robberies in railroad history, four automobile loads of bandits last night held up a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail and express train and escaped with registered mail valued at close to two million dollars.

The train, en route from Chicago to St. Paul, was stopped at Roundout, Illinois, 32 miles north of Chicago. Consisting of eight mail coaches and two express cars, it left Chicago at 9 p.m. central standard time. Fifty minutes later it was in the possession of the bandits. In 55 minutes more they gathered between 42 and 45 pouches of registered mail and sped away in the darkness. A few shots were fired, but the only casualty was a robber shot by his fellows, who mistook him for a trainman.

The loss early today was estimated at about $2,000,000, but bank officers said that a careful check might show it to exceed that figure. The train carried more than 70 mail clerks and guards, all armed, but only those in three cars were compelled to face the guns of the robbers. Those cars carried the registered and first-class mail.

GAINED ENTRY WITH GAS BOMBS.
The robbers forced their way into the cars by breaking windows and throwing bombs filled with chlorine gas. The clerks and guards, nearly overcome by the deadly fumes, were forced to open the doors and allow the robbers to enter.

Officials are certain that the hold-up was arranged by men thoroughly familiar with railroad and railway mail clerks' work. At least two of the robbers concealed themselves aboard the mail special before it left Chicago. The train had just gone through Roundout and was travelling close to 60 miles an hour. Two men, carrying flashlights and pistols, came from the high places between the tender and the first coach, crawled across the swaying coal tender and into the neck of Engineer S. R. Waite, of Milwaukee. The other bandit covered the fireman, E. J. Biddle, also of Milwaukee.

Forced to Stop Train.

"A half-mile down the track you'll see a red light flashed on the west side," the man back of the engineer said. "You'll stop the train. If you don't, you're done."

The train stopped on with shuddering speed as the bandits had ordered a slow application of the brakes. Just where the Buckley road, a familiar auto route between Chicago and Libertyville, cut the track a light flashed close to the west rail.

"Now jerk it," the bandit yelled into the engineer's ear. Before the train came to a full stop a third bandit cut the air line. Of the eight cars of the train, only one contained registered mail. The bandits directed the train to be slowly backed so that the car was stopped against the auto road. Clerks in the car saw two automobiles on the east side of the train and something on the west side, sensed something was wrong and, according to their orders, extinguished all lights.

When they refused to open the doors the bandits hurled gas bombs through the windows, and against the deadly fumes the courage of the men and their pistols were ineffective.

Outside they were lined up with Please See Page 4, Column 1.

Bandits Secure $43,000 in Gems

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, June 13.—Three armed bandits today bound a Bronx jeweler and his salesman and then ransacked the store, escaping with merchandise and cash valued at $43,000. The bandits made the proprietor open the safe, and then stripped it of set and unset stones valued at $18,000. They then bound him and his salesman, and took from their pockets a handful of unset jewels, scooped up all the loose jewelry in sight and fled.

FIRST WESTERN WOOL MILL MAY BE BUILT IN ALBERTA

Canadian Press Despatch.
Edmonton, Alta., June 13.—Wabamun, a summer-resort town about 60 miles west of Edmonton, may have what is to be the first woolen mill in Western Canada. According to reports received here negotiations are under way at present for the erection of the mill.

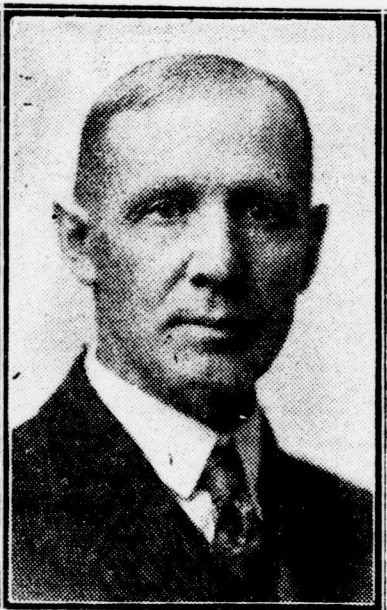

A group of Alberta businessmen and sheep-breeders have formed a company called the Producers' Woolen Mills Company, Limited. The company already has purchased about 80 acres of land, it is reported. Construction will start soon, it is said, and the promoters hope to have the mill in operation by this fall.

PREMIER'S REASON WAS COMMON KNOWLEDGE

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 13.—It is a matter of common knowledge in well-informed circles, the Daily Mail says, that the "special diplomatic reason" which the Canadian premier alleges to have weighed with the British government in its withholding Dominion representation at the Lausanne conference was the apparent intention of another allied power to claim the right, if Dominion delegates were admitted to the conference of introducing delegations from this allied power's own colonial empire.

FILM WONDER COMES TO LONDON NEXT WEEK

Talking Moving Pictures. Invention of Radio Expert. To Be Shown.

FREE OF CHARGE

Programs Will Be Given at Majestic Theatre For Five Days.

For the first time, Londoners in their own city are to have an opportunity of hearing and seeing "talking pictures."

The failure of so-called "talking pictures" for ten years past has been mainly due to the fact that their inventors have tried to combine the moving picture and the phonograph, a feat which has been proven to be impossible for commercial purposes. Judging from a report from Montreal, all these difficulties have been overcome by Dr. Lee DeForest, the famous wireless expert, and recently, for the first time in Canada, perfect synchronism of voice and movement on the screen was demonstrated in a Montreal picture house during the week of June 1.

This opportunity, which Montreal so eagerly took advantage, is to be repeated for London. Through the efforts of J. R. Minihnick, resident manager of the Trans-Canada Theatre, the picture will be shown for five days next week, commencing Monday, free of charge, at the Majestic Theatre.

The exhibition will be a remarkable opportunity for Londoners. How the marvelous effect is accomplished will require a highly technical description, but its effect upon an audience can best be described in the words of a critic.

CANADIANS ARE URGED TO RUN OWN BUSINESS

Co-operation But Not Amalgamation, Is Decision of the Printers in Convention.

IS CONGLOMERATION

Haydon Declares Central Control of Affairs Should Be Avoided.

Co-operation with the various other printing trade unions, but not amalgamation, now or in the future, was the practically unanimous decision of the printing trade unions at the Ontario and Quebec Conference of Typographical Unions, now in session at the Tecumseh House, Capt. A. P. Haydon, M.C., Ottawa, president.

This decision was reached only after considerable discussion on the subject by different delegates in attendance at the conference. Delegate James McMaster, Toronto, while not in favor of amalgamation of the printing trade unions at the present time, registered disapproval against "closing the avenue for the future." The question, he held, was too big and too important a one to be decided by the conference itself. He believed that the matter should be referred to the local unions by means of a referendum.

President Haydon asserted that there was a wide difference between "co-operation" and "amalgamation." The Typographical Union, he stated, was only too ready and willing to co-operate with the other printing trades, but to amalgamate with them, under the name of a "conglomerate" of all trades, and centralization of authority, both of which were to be avoided. The chief objection to amalgamation cited by the president was that the movement had been fostered and urged by the Workers' party of Canada, which in turn was responsible for the propaganda in this country of the Third Internationale of Moscow.

Run Own Affairs.

"We want it understood that as Canadians we can run our own affairs," asserted Capt. Haydon with emphasis, "and that when we wish to amalgamate we will do so through our own efforts and not through those of an organization located in Moscow or through the efforts of the Workers' party of America, now known, I believe, as the Communist party."

The motion that the present form of organization be maintained, and that allied printing trade councils be established in all jurisdictions, and strengthened where they already exist, was accordingly adopted, only Delegate McMaster voting nay, on the ground that the avenue of amalgamation should not be entirely closed for the future.

A resolution calling for fixed representation by the appointment of a Canadian as second vice-president of the union was also adopted.

STRIKERS GIVE IN AS THREAT COMES

London Power Workers Return After Employers Issue Ultimatum.

London, June 13.—Faced with a threat by the employers to dismiss all who remained on strike after midnight last night, the workers in the London power stations have returned to duty, ending the walkout which for some days crippled the electric transportation lines for the city. One of the main factors in the failure of the movement was the opposition of the National Union of Railwaymen, which declared its intention of maintaining the unofficial strike to the finish. Some of the railroad shompen remained out, but it is understood their return is imminent.

SALARY LIST FEUD IS DUE FOR REVIVAL

Mayor Determined To Print Utilities Wages in 1924 Year Book.

Mayor Wenige is reaching for the war drum and strapping on the scimitar of state preparatory to another round with the utilities companies, commissioners on the salary question. At the present time the city hall year book is being held from the printers who are in the hands of the public utility is not in the hands of the city clerk.

"That salary list will be in the city hall year book," says the mayor, "this year, just as it was last year. There will probably be some changes in the list from last year, as I believe that the salaries were changed shortly after the last year's list was given to the city. However, I shall be at the meeting of the public utilities commission on Thursday of next week, and shall ask that the list be given to the city." The board of works instructed the clerk to ask once more for the list at its meeting yesterday, and it was felt that the commission had not treated the matter with even respect in neglecting to even answer the request for the list.

WRECK VICTIMS ARE NOW OUT OF DANGER

Canadian Press Despatch.
Lindsay, June 13.—A. B. Hodzins and F. B. Blanchard of Toronto, as well as Taylor Parkin of Uxbridge, who are in the hospital here as a result of injuries sustained in the derailment of a C. N. R. train at Cambray yesterday, are reported to be out of danger, although very badly shaken up and suffering from shock. They will undergo X-ray examinations today. It is feared that Hodzins may have two or three fractured ribs. Six men are still in the hospital, and will remain there for a few days, all suffering from cuts and bruises.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE AGAINST CLARE HELD OVER

This charge was laid the day after Clare gave himself up to the police, and he was remanded to jail a week, pending a report on Lane's condition.

Clare was not in court, the magistrate stating that he would appear next Wednesday.

LIBERALS WILL HOLD BIG RALLY TOMORROW

Noted Orator, G. W. Kyte, K.C., Will Address Gathering at Hyman Hall.

SPLENDID RECORD

Will Outline the Government's Work Since Taking Office at Ottawa.

The Liberal machine will move forward tomorrow night with a whirling of wheels and an encouraging humming of engines. If present plans are carried out, that business-like humming will be even more; it will be the luxurious song of a 12-cylinder engine.

At a mass meeting tomorrow night in Hyman Hall, the chief Liberal whip, George W. Kyte, K.C., member of the Dominion Parliament for Cape Breton South and Richmond, will present the Liberal record since it assumed the responsibility for government under Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister.

Mr. Kyte's address will not only be a spur to Liberal enthusiasm, but it will be in addition a rare lecture on current events. He will deal with federal politics up to the minute, and the value of this as an educational feature is obvious. Mr. Kyte is one of the outstanding speakers of the Liberal party, a man with a genius for presenting facts in the most interesting manner possible, and possessing one of the most compelling personalities in the country.

Mr. Kyte is a barrister who became king's counsel in 1907, and was first elected to parliament in 1908. He was re-elected in the general election of 1921.

Mr. Kyte will be accompanied by two other outstanding Liberals, Dr. D. J. Sinclair, M.P., of North Oxford, will be present, as well as James Malcolm, M.P., of North Bruce.

Lights On All Vehicles Urged

Kent and Essex Citizens Make Strong Plea.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Chatham, June 13.—A strong plea that legislation should be passed compelling all vehicles to carry lights was made by citizens of Kent and Essex counties, an injunction restraining the board from leasing park privileges of Mohawk Park to any other parties for the duration of the five-year period for which Bulmer's, Limited, hold the lease.

CONSTABLE USES EASY WAY TO SECURE MAN

Aged London Township Citizen Induced To Come With Tobacco Bribe.

Tobacco has its uses, as George Tustin of the Humane Society is ready to testify. Mr. Tustin accompanied High Constable Wharton to Concession 15, London Township, this morning to arrest an aged man who it is alleged should be an inmate of the Ontario Hospital.

The officers did not want to use force in bringing the man of 75 years to the city, and finally Mr. Tustin picked up the old chap's pipe, carried it out to the car, filled it with tobacco, and told him to "come get it." The prisoner stepped into the car without fuss, the high constable stepped on the gas, and turned the car towards London and the jail.

"I don't have to go with you," the prisoner stated. "All I have to do to stop the car is to shout, 'I haven't had a drink for 40 years.'"

Neighbors have been complaining about the man's conduct, and it was decided to have him brought to the jail and examined by Dr. James D. Wilson, the jail physician.

MAYOR W. W. HILTZ, of Toronto, newly-elected president of the Lay Association of the Toronto Methodist Conference, who urged that prohibition forces be strengthened to make ready for the plebiscite to come.

BRANTFORD PARK BOARD APPEAL IS ALLOWED

Associated Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 13.—The appellate division has allowed the appeal of the board of park management of Brantford from the decision of Mr. Justice Kelly, allowing Bulmer's, Limited, to lease the park, thus straining the board from leasing park privileges of Mohawk Park to any other parties for the duration of the five-year period for which Bulmer's, Limited, hold the lease.

MORRIS BECOMES WARY ON FRIDAY THE 13TH

Renowned Victor of Court Battles Has "Bone" Case Postponed.

Morris Gootson, despite the fact that he has won more police court battles than the Tecumseh have bull games, would not take a chance on pleading his 101st case in police court today. He called on court officials yesterday and succeeded in having the affair adjourned until next Tuesday. Morris was not for taking any chances on a court case on Friday, the 13th.

"Bones of contention" might be a fitting way in which to describe the action. Sanitary Inspector Sanders submits that a pile of bones owned by Mr. Gootson at the foot of Maitland street, sends forth an aroma that is far removed from breezes wafted by a rose garden. Complaints were made and Morris must appear in court.

Any old day at all has been good enough for Mr. Gootson in the past. He doesn't care how many witnesses Chief Birrell or anyone else brings against him. But fight a case on Friday, 13? Not much.

A goodly crew of spectators was drawn to the court room this morning, hoping to hear and see Mr. Gootson in action. They were disappointed, but all stated they would be back again on Tuesday.

FUNERAL OF DR. ECCLES TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Prominent London Doctor Won Fame Through Medical Study.

The funeral of Dr. F. R. Eccles, prominent London practitioner, who died Thursday morning, will be held from his residence, Princess avenue, on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. Eccles was at one time dean of the faculty of medicine at the University of Western Ontario. He had the distinction of introducing the first advanced methods of surgery in London, and was often called into consultation by other medical men. He and fellowships from the Royal College of Surgeons of London, the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh, and the Obstetrical Society of London.

Dr. Eccles founded the Amasa Wood Hospital, St. Thomas, in honor of his father-in-law, Amasa Wood, and to a great degree was responsible for its present high standing. He is survived by his widow, Jessie; one brother, Daniel of Winnipeg, and one sister, Mrs. Thomas, formerly of Inwood, but now of Detroit.

LONDON HOLDING ITS OWN IN LABOR SITUATION

Casual employment for both domestics and men has been running about as usual during the week it was learned at the employment service bureau today.

London can be said to be holding its own with regard to the labor situation, with exception of construction work on provincial highways. Work along this line is proceeding more briskly in the vicinity of Mitchell, New Hamburg, Kitchener and Stratford.

The feature of the program will be song work. The meeting will be conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. Spooner. The program is under the direction of Adjutant Gillingham, Scout Leader Herbert Withers, and Assistant Leader Wright.

The crew worked along the productive salmon areas in the vicinity of the Virgin Rocks, with great success.

PRIZE-WINNING PUPILS HONORED

Official "Good-Bye" Held at Central Collegiate This Morning.

Eight prize-winning students were honored this morning at the Central Collegiate Institute, when the official "good-bye" of staff and students was observed. With lower school departmental examinations commencing this afternoon, this morning's opening exercises were the last of the term.

Medals won by girl debaters in the W. O. S. S. A. series and gold watches won by girl and boy essay writers were presented and congratulations offered.

Miss Elinor Higgins, Miss Louise Wyatt and Miss Margaret Forbes of the champion debating team were presented with medals by W. H. Whitton, director of the school literary society. Miss Margaret Marshall, the fourth member of the team, was unable to be present. She was confined to her home through severe illness, which has lasted several weeks, and the presentation was made at her home this afternoon.

Receives Congratulations. The congratulations of the staff and student body were conveyed to the successful debaters, whose good record showed they had eliminated four other teams. London South, St. Thomas, Woodstock and Kitchener-Waterloo colleges and institutes were the four teams beaten in the contests by central school. The championship shield, donated by the Women's Canadian Club, now rests in the library at the central college.

Miss Louise Wyatt spoke on behalf of the girl debaters and thanked the staff and students for their appreciation and support. Miss Wyatt urged that students always support their representatives as they had during the recent debate and such appreciation was bound to aid materially in attaining success.

Watches Presented. Gold wrist watches, won by Miss Elinor Higgins and Miss Marjory James, were presented on behalf of The London Advertiser. The two students showed the greatest proficiency in essay writing. Miss Higgins leading the senior girls and Miss James writing the prize essay of the lower school.

G. L. MacDonald, head of the English department of the school, made the presentations. Mr. MacDonald expressed the appreciation of the staff and students to the donors of the prizes and offered assurance that such an incentive would do much for the improvement in composition during the coming year. He expressed hope that students of the central college would perhaps some day find their sphere in newspaper work and be able to reward The Advertiser for the encouragement given now. Prizes which had been put up for annual competition in essay writing were also presented by Mr. MacDonald to two boy students. They were Albert Knox and Campbell Calder.

Principal A. E. Miller, on behalf of the staff, extended his good wishes to students in writing their annual examinations.

UNLUCKY FRIDAY AFFECTS USUAL TAX RECEIPTS

There is apparently some apprehension among taxpayers in general that payment of taxes on Friday, the thirteenth, is unlucky. At least there were fewer tax contributors to the civic office today than at any other period of the tax rush of the last week. There was an especial lack of women. The men seemed indifferent to the threat of the superstition, while their better halves were a little more timid. Once and with a tinge of Scottish caution, decided that Saturday was just as good a day for the job.

MASONS HOLD RECORD OF CITY HALL OFFICES

If a city is built by masons then London is a well-built city. It appears from the records that every city official of importance is a mason or connected in some way with the order. Among the members of the order are the mayor, the city clerk, treasurer, the city assessment commissioner, the city engineer, the city health officer, the chief of police, the fire chief, the city tax collector, and an unnumbered host of the assistants in their various offices.

MAYOR'S '23 MODEL STRAW MAKES ATTORNEY CURIOUS

"Where did you get that hat?" asked Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd as Mayor Wenige advanced into police court this morning a few minutes after Magistrate Graydon had called it a day. "It's a 1923 model," declared the mayor proudly as he tilted the straw at a rakish angle. "I bought it last summer and unless I have it broken at the Irishmen's picnic it's going to last me all this summer. There's no need to get it fixed. I never can tell what's going to happen at one of those council meetings. I guess I'll have to ask the chief for protection."

Two Pros Are Paired Against Amateurs in First Match at Municipal Course.

BIG DAY TOMORROW

Jared Vining, Utilities Manager, To Drive First Ball—Connable To Be Present.

When the new Thames Valley golf course is officially opened on Saturday afternoon, four of the most outstanding golfers of the district will provide an exhibition foursome. A match has been arranged between two professionals and two amateurs. All are well known among London devotees of the royal and ancient pursuit. The pros will be represented by Ken Marsh of the London Hunt and Country Club, and John Innes of the Highland Golf Club. The opposing amateurs will be Ross Somerville, son of ex-Mayor C. R. Somerville, and Andy Watson, formerly of the Edinburgh club, who will have charge of the new course here. A big day is looked for. With some 600 signed members, a large crowd is expected to follow the experts round the nine-hole course, and the course will be open for play immediately following the match.

The Thames chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, will speak briefly when the course is formally opened at 2:30 o'clock, and will depart from the course by driving the first ball.

Other members of the commission, as well as some of the city fathers, are expected to be present. The chairman, Vining, and give an exhibition of their skill.

Ralph Connable of Toronto, founder of the Humber Valley Golf Club, will attend. R. H. Reville, Brantford managing editor of the Canadian Gopher, will also be present.

Miss Elinor Higgins has been made possible through the initiative of the London Public Utilities Commission, which has secured several hundred public subscriptions. Some $6,000 has already been expended in putting the course in shape, and it is now practically complete. Members of the commission, including the P. U. C. are J. C. Anderson, Alex. Calder, F. W. Farncomb, Archie McPherson and Dr. U. E. Bateson.

The course is situated on the north bank of the River Thames, opposite the Springbank pumping station. Those interested may reach it either by motor or by foot. The nearest estop is at the Springbank pumping house, from which the course is about 100 yards walk.

GIRL DOES UNUSUAL AS BURGLAR APPEARS

Miss E. Boyce Wakes To See Form Climbing In Window—Intruder Escapes.

What would you do if you woke up at 3 o'clock in the morning and saw a burglar entering your bedroom? Most women would either scream or bury their head under the clothes and pray for the visitor's quick departure.

Miss Eleanor Boyce, 477 Tecumseh avenue, did neither when she saw a man half over the windowsill at that hour this morning. She slipped quietly from her bed, slipped to the door, and then down the hall to the room of her brother, Hector. The latter, hurriedly donned some clothes and made after the intruder, who, however, had made his escape.

It is believed by members of the family that the man, who was dressed in a dark suit and carried a flashlight, heard the bed squeak as Miss Boyce got up, and taking fright he hustled off without disturbing anything. The screen, which the man removed from the window to gain entrance, was found lying on the bedroom floor.

LONDON LIFE CO. DANCE IS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

The informal dance for the employees of the head office of the London Life Insurance Company last night at the Springbank pavilion, under the auspices of the London Life Women's Club was a most enjoyable affair.

Much of the success of the event can be attributed to the energy of the committee in charge of the arrangements under the direction of Miss Carrie E. Fitchett. The dance program, headed by the lucky number dance, in which Miss Helen Nick and Reginald Sumner were the winners, lemon dance, leap year dance and serpentine dance. Elmer Heighway's orchestra supplied the music in enthusiastic style. There were about 100 couples in attendance.

BLACK FRIDAY RUNS LAST IN FIELD OF 13 ON 13TH

Friday, the thirteenth, held little terror or superstition for the officials and employees at the C. N. R. station this morning when the train set out on the subject by an eager reporter.

"How does Friday, the thirteenth, strike you?" "Friday, the thirteenth, why it finds me in grand health and everything." Another official on the ground floor was not quite so cheerful; mellowed by past experience, he is presumed. Here was his experience related to the scribe: "At Latonia, N. Y., on a Friday, the thirteenth day of the month, placed $13 on a horse, 'Black Friday,' to win. The horse was carrying an impost of 113 pounds, and there were 13 nags entered in the race. 'Black Friday' ran last."

DEPARTMENT CUTS DOWN BUS LINES

Exclusive Franchise Granted to Company on the Dundas-Hamilton Route.

POWER TO ACT

Hamilton, June 12.—All jitney drivers operating along the highway between here and Dundas were ordered yesterday afternoon to cease operations, as the provincial highways department was credited by Provincial Officer Jenner with instructing him that it had granted an exclusive franchise to the Highway King Bus Company of Dundas.

Officer Jenner took the names of all jitneys, drivers, and said his orders were that they must discontinue their service.

Information that any bus company has been given an exclusive franchise has come as a genuine surprise to many citizens here and in Dundas.

It is said that the buses operating on other highways are to be similarly affected. City officials have learned indirectly that a bus company operating on the Toronto-Hamilton highway is seeking to get an exclusive franchise.

Substantial confirmation of the above despatch was given last night by Hon. George S. Henry, minister of public works and highways, in respect to the Hamilton-Dundas section of the highway. Under the public vehicles act, he explained, the department was empowered to grant permits to bus lines and to exclude all other bus services, save those for which permits are issued, then are prohibited.

This system of permits gradually will be extended over the whole highway system where buses care to operate, Mr. Henry said. The permits would continue to issue to each bus company as long as it existed. Some system was given. As regards the Hamilton-Dundas section, Mr. Henry said that applications had been received for permits, and the whole question had been considered before the permit issued.

SITE ON LAKE HURON CONSIDERED FOR CAMP

Y.M.C.A. Option on Silver Beach Property Expires July 19.

The camp site at Silver Beach, near Avonmore, has not been purchased by the Y. M. C. A. The camp committee is favorably impressed by the Lake Erie property, but there is also property on Lake Huron that is under consideration.

The latter property, according to reports, received by the committee, would prove an ideal place for a "Y" camp. Members of the camp committee will visit it in the course of a few days, and determine whether it will be more suitable than the Silver Beach property.

The Y. M. C. A. holds an option on the Silver Beach site, which expires July 19. In the meantime preparations are being made for the buying of the most suitable property.

The Oldest Will in the World

IN the museum of an English University there is deposited a document, unearthed from the ruins of ancient Babylon. Upon it is inscribed what is said to be the oldest Will in the world.

Uah, the Will-maker, died in Babylon over four thousand years ago. After making provision for the disposition of his property, including slaves and other possessions, he appointed a guardian for his son.

Prudent men of all times have left behind them carefully drawn Wills. The need for such provision was never greater than it is to-day.

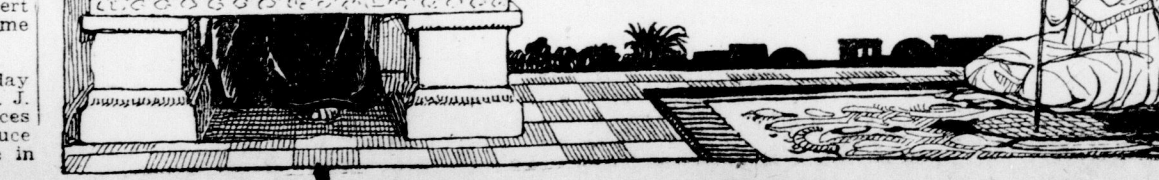

The Canada Trust Company is especially equipped to serve as Executor, Trustee or Guardian. The experience and assistance of its Officers are at your command. The Company's Paid-up Capital and Reserve Fund of $1,700,000 is a guarantee of financial responsibility.

Our booklet "How to Make Your Will" shows the first of a few simple steps necessary. Send for a copy to-day.

PAINLEVE UNABLE TO SECURE VOTES

Race For Presidency Remains Uncertain As Closing Hours Draw Near.

SEEK COMPROMISE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Paris, June 12.—The identity of the successor to Alexandre Millerand as president of France, which this morning had appeared to be almost certain in the persons of either Paul Painleve, president of the Chamber of Deputies, or Gaston Doumergue, president of the senate, had this evening become clouded by a thick pall of political uncertainty and the agitated lobbies of parliament turned to discussion of possible dark horses.
The failure of M. Painleve to receive a sufficient number of votes in the caucus of the coalition of the left parties to insure his election at the national assembly at Versailles tomorrow seemed to improve the chances of M. Doumergue, but the refusal of the Socialist group to support the latter, left the new majority of the chamber in a quandary which seemed soluble only through the selection of a third man.

Three persons are being discussed
as possible compromise candidates:
Senator Jules Pams, who was a candidate against Raymond Poincare
when the latter was elected in 1913;
George Leygues, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the chamber, and first premier under President Millerand, and Edouard Herriot, leader of the radical party, who had been slated to succeed M.
Poincare as premier.

FIRST DEGREE CONFERRED.
Lucan, June 12.—London's "Imperial" degree team conferred the first degree on about 15 candidates.
Visiting brethren were present from Exeter, St. Marys, Ilderton, Parkhill, Alisa Craig, Grant and Newnham.
About two hundred witnessed the ceremony.

E. V. Thomson Used Binder Twine and Ladder in Rash Act.

Special to The Advertiser.
Stratford, June 12.—E. V. Thomson, Mornington Township, a young Dane employed on the farm of Alfred Isley, committed suicide by hanging himself because he thought that someone in Denmark was stealing the affections of his sweetheart.
He used a piece of binder twine, attached to a ladder leading to the mows, to commit the rash act.

At the foot of the ladder on the floor two letters were lying, together with a fountain pen. One letter was addressed to his father and one to his sweetheart. They were written in the Danish tongue and a Dane from a nearby farm was pressed into service to read them when Coroner Dr. J. D. Monteith and County Constable Hutchinson arrived on the scene. While the interpreter could not speak very good English, it was gathered that the young man had received some intimation at any rate came to the opinion that his sweetheart had found someone else
she liked better.

HEWITT IS GIVEN LIGHT SENTENCE

Londoner Is Given 3 Months
To Two Years On Having Stolen Goods.

Allan Hewitt, who was convicted last week by a county court jury of having stolen goods in his possession, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Talbot Macbeth to from three months to two years in the Ontario reformatory at Guelph. Hewitt took the sentence calmly.

Hewitt faced the more serious charge of breaking into and entering a C. N. R. freight car at Strath-roy on April 23, 1922, but after deliberated over an hour the jury exonerated him, but found him guilty of being in possession of stolen goods. Neither did the jury find him guilty of theft generally, as charged by the crown.

Officers visited the Packer grocery store at Horton and Clarence streets, shortly after the robbery and found there certain articles which had formed a part of the freight car contents. Mrs. Packer gave evidence to the effect that Hewitt had visited the store before the officers arrived, leaving the packages of merchandise. On the stand Hewitt denied that he left the articles.

The prisoner had had his case adjudged from time to time, and for more than a year was out on bail owing to ill-health.

W. S. Brewster, K.C., of Brantford, prosecuted at the trial, while J. M.
McEvoy, K.C., of this city, was the defence counsel.

POSTIES TO VOTE ON STRIKE ISSUE

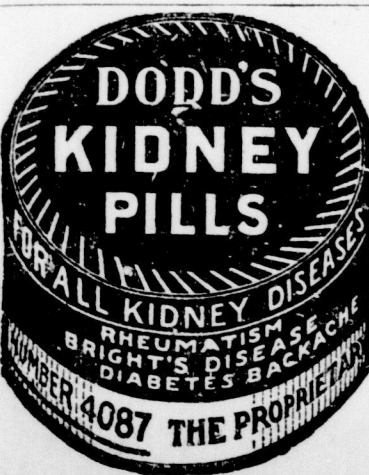

Decision Reached in Mass
Meeting of Postal Clerks
At Toronto.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 12.—A decision to take a vote today on the question of whether to accept the new wage schedule announced this week or to launch a strike was reached at a mass meeting of the postal clerks' union held early this morning in the Labor Temple.

There were 600 or more men present and they were guided in their course by the advice given by a number of the executive of the Postal Federation of Canada who were present. It was stated after the meeting, which was a secret one,
that similar votes would be taken throughout the various postal centers in Canada within the next few days, and that, if the majority declares for a strike, it will probably go into effect early next week.

FORTY-FOUR MEN ON WARSHIP KILLED

Premature Explosion Takes Awful Toll As Gun Turret Is Wrecked.

MANY WOUNDED

Associated Press Despatch.
San Pedro, Calif., June 12.—Three officers and 41 men of the battleship Mississippi, were swept to death at 11:45 a.m. today on the San Clemente fleet drill grounds off this port when a shell in one of the 14-inch guns of number two turret exploded prematurely, according to semi-official information given out from the U. S. S. New Mexico, flagship of division four, of the fleet.

Nearly a score more were injured by the flareback that carried the terrific charge through the breach of the gun instead of out through the muzzle.

The gun crew were preparing to fire as one unit the great sea fighters' powerful broadside, when a sailor called for the electricity to be turned on for the charge.

The switch was thrown on to ignite the shell before the breach was locked, and in another minute the interior of the turret was littered with dead and dying.

Turret on Fire.
Ensign H. D. Smith from the U. S. S. New Mexico, was the first man to enter turret 2 following the explosion. Upon entering the turret, Ensign Smith took with him an air hose which immediately caused flames from the burning debris to shoot forth. After flooding the turret with water, he was able to enter. All the men were dead at that time, their faces swollen and puffed almost beyond recognition by the intense heat.

Identification marks on the clothing was still discernible.

Three-quarters of an hour elapsed after the fire in turret No. 2 was observed from the quartermaster's deck before entrance into the red hot chamber containing the charred bodies of the entombed men could be made by Ensign Smith. Had the turret, which was revolving at the time the explosion on the battleship Mississippi occurred, remained in the position in which it was at the time of the explosion, the hang fire from the left gun would have gone into the center of the city of San Pedro, wounding about the same number.

When the gunner's hand guiding controls was wrenched away by the explosion, the guns kept revolving and stopped as they pointed directly aft. Thus fortune probably saved the lives of many citizens and the destruction of much property in San Pedro.

Summer Makes Strong Bow As Mercury Steals To 82

Summer made up for its tardiness by a vigorous announcement of its presence yesterday. At one point, the thermometer reached 82 degrees, the highest this year. The Home Bank depositors weren't the only people to be encouraged, the mercury spelt glowing hope for purveyors of summer garments and stung hats.

Trade in these two directions has been moving this season very slowly indeed, according to reports. Light summer frocks for women, usually making their first appearance on or about May 24 were little or none at all in evidence until yesterday.

WEDDINGS

MCDONALD-McELHONE.

St. Mary's Church, La Salette, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday, June 10, 1924, when Kathleen Emma, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McElhone was united in marriage to Francis A., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDonald. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Maloney.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely bridal dress of white crepe de chine with a flowing veil held in place by a dainty wreath, and she carried a bouquet of lily of the valley. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. She was attended by Miss Mabel Jones of Brantford, who was attired in a gown of pearl georgette with hat to match. Her bouquet was of pink roses and carnations.

Mr. Thomas McDonald was his brother's best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the guests, numbering fifty, enjoyed wedding dinner. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion with spring flowers.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl and onyx ring, and a pair of gold cuff links to the best man.

The happy couple will spend their honeymoon in London, Port Huron and Detroit. The bride travelled in a navy suit, sand hat, and blouse and squirrel choker.

Among the guests were Mrs. J. E. McCarthy of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. John and Marion of Brantford, Mrs. J. Mann, Misses Ethel and Melvina Mann, Mr. James Graham, Mr. Murray Godbold of Toronto, Mrs. D. Burke, Mrs. W. Maloney of Woodstock, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Kirwin of Mount Elgin.

EDMONDS-MADEBY.

A pretty wedding took place at Wellington Street Methodist Church, Wednesday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, when Miss Dorothy Madeby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Madeby of this city, was married to Hugh Edmonds, also of this city. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory beaded crepe with an embroidered tulle veil, arranged with Men a week ago dared the weather by bringing out their straw hats, but these could hardly be considered a necessity up to yesterday. The Palm Beach suits have not yet arrived.

The bright sun this morning encouraged a general belief that summer had come at last, and although rain has been prophesied, more were inclined to believe that the weatherman was wrong again. Straw hats were no longer a subject for jest and street curs at 9 o'clock disgorged scores of business girls with coats and furs discarded, confident of the season in cool summer dresses.

A bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses and sweet peas. Miss Mabel Venus acted as bridesmaid and was gowning in mauve canton crepe, with a picture hat to match, and she carried a bouquet of Sunset roses and sweet peas.

Little Miss Dorothy Venus acted as flower girl, wearing a frock of pale blue silk and carrying a basket of carnations and sweet peas. Mr. Earnest Woodburn, an uncle of the bride, acted as best man. Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the Hill Street Sunday School. The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of ivory, to the bridesmaid a silver mesh bag, to the best man cuff links and the little flower girl received a gold pin set with pearls. Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds left later on a short honeymoon to Cleveland.

BERNARD-HICKS.
A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. E. R. Hicks, Wharncliffe road, on Wednesday, June 11, at 6 o'clock, when Nora Gertrude, daughter of Mrs. Hicks, was united in marriage to Orville Henry Bernard, also of London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Agnew, of Ridout Street Methodist Church. The bride wore a pretty gown of sand crepe trimmed with shadow lace, with slippers and hose to match. A corsage of Sunset roses and lily of the valley completed her costume.

Miss Vera Hicks was her sister's bridesmaid and Mr. Norris Wilson acted as best man. Lilacs and roses were arranged throughout the rooms and following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard will reside at 122 St. Julien street, this city.

GAS FROM SEWER IS NOT DANGEROUS

Dr. Hill Clears Up Doubt At Meeting in Health Institute.

PURIFIED AIR

That sewer gas does not bring disease into households was the chief point brought out by Dr. Hill, dean of the Institute of Public Health, last night. Civic officials, members of real estate and plumbing organizations, together with citizens interested in plumbing bylaws, attended. The meeting was held at the Institute of Public Health.

Dr. Hill spoke of the subject of the non-relation of plumbing to public health. Three points were taken up: the first, to do away with the misconception of sewer gas bringing disease; second, the mistake of loading the board of health with the installation of plumbing; third, that some of the regulations are unnecessary, and do not prevent disease.

Plumbing relates to everything that brings the water into the house and takes it out again, stated Dr. Hill. Sewage is outside the house, and the sewer is practically all water, the solid part being only one part in two thousand.

Ordinary Air.
Sewer gas was explained as the air in the sewer, that in reality was ordinary air that was forced by draft into the sewer. It blew in from the street and was germ laden when it entered and when it left the sewer, through a manhole, it had been cleansed of most of its germs by contact with the damp walls of the sewer, and had discharged most of its impurities into the sewage moving through the pipe.

The speaker read passages from standard works on hygiene and health, to show that sewer gas, once a "bugaboo" feared by our forefathers, is not now feared by sanitarians from public health.

In the transmission of sewage there is no danger to public health. There might be a danger in the accumulation of sewage at the destination of the sewage, stated Dr. Hill, who added that the future will develop plumbing along simple lines that will do away with traps and vents.

The speaker pointed out that the supervision of plumbing was not a matter that belonged to the board of health, whose business was to study people, not plumbing.

Dr. Hill felt that if the matter of public safety regarding plumbing was given over to the board of health, then some might reasonably expect that body to be responsible for the public safety where defective electric fixtures were concerned, or escaping coal gas from heating systems; that the board of health had to do with visible things, germs and disease being carried about.

Bylaw Read.

The plumbing bylaw was read, where it called for pipe lines that would permit an easy flow of sewage without right angles or obstructions. It was pointed out that the traps defeated the very purpose of a clause "against" right angles. Dr. Hill's opinion was that one good trap and vent only in a house were necessary. As for sewer-gas men who worked in sewers were just as healthy as men employed in the same class of work.

Following Dr. Hill's address was a discussion concerning the use of glazed tile inside and outside buildings. Engineer Neave spoke of the trouble caused by poorly cemented joints in tiling.

In answer to a question of inspection, Engineer Neave spoke of proper inspection as the cheapest part of building in the fact that it was good insurance. A two dollar inspection might save $200 in bill repairs.

It was moved by Mr. Hyatt that a committee be appointed to be present at the special meeting of the board of health Tuesday night. In seconding the motion Mr. Stinchcomb submitted that a revision of the plumbing bylaw be drafted and submitted to Dr. Hill for his opinion.

Dr. M. Parsons moved a vote of thanks for his valuable advice and address, which cleared up doubtful points.

PUBLISHERS RETURNING FROM PRESS CONVENTION

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, June 13.—On the last day of the trans-Canada tour centered about their annual meetings in Vancouver, members of the Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association, passed through Winnipeg this morning on the Canadian Pacific Railway en route east. A visit to the head of the lakes tomorrow morning is all that remains of the formal program.

GIRLS GRADUATE IN DRAMATIC ART

Miss Leona Kirkwood and Miss Ruth Tanner Heard in Attractive Program.

Many flowers were showered upon Miss Ruth Tanner and Miss Leona Kirkwood, who appeared last night at the Central Collegiate Institute in their graduation recital. Both artists have been studying dramatic art for some time under the direction of Miss Topley Thomas and have always been received with interest whenever they have made public appearances.

Last night's program was a difficult one, but one which was handled skilfully by the artists of the evening, who presented a most attractive appearance in their white graduation gowns. Assisting was Miss Hilda McMillen, who was heard in several enjoyable vocal numbers, with Miss Dorothy Robson acting as accompanist. Miss Laura Kirkwood, pianist, was another clever artist of the evening. The presentation of diplomas to the graduates by Miss Topley Thomas was a happy feature.

Miss Leona Kirkwood gave as the opening number a brief little talk on "Some Aspects of Dramatic Training." Her voice, rich and resonant, lends itself to the art which she has chosen to study. Her powers of dramatic interpretation were seen in the rather heavy number which followed, "The Weaver's Wife," by Marjorie Pickthall. Miss Kirkwood read the poem with dignity and restraint, yet it lacked nothing in her interpretation of the tense passages.

John Massey's, "Trade Winds" and Noyes' "Lavender" were other effective numbers on a program which was all too short.

Miss Ruth Tanner is also a clever exponent of the dramatic art. A delicacy of feeling is noted in everything which she undertakes. There is a whimsical touch which is most attractive. "Blind Moore of London," by Noyes, was one of her finest numbers, beautifully read to the accompaniment of music played on the violin by Miss Edith James—old English folk tunes, which formed a delightful setting for the poem. "Quality Street" was a humorous number by J. M. Barrie and was received with delight by the audience. Miss Tanner was also heard in an attractive group of poems.

REPUBLICAN DELEGATES ARE HEADING FOR HOME

Cleveland, Ohio, June 13.—Most of the two thousand delegates and alternates who attended the Republican national convention were on their way home today or were ready to start after a needed and welcome full quota of sleep.

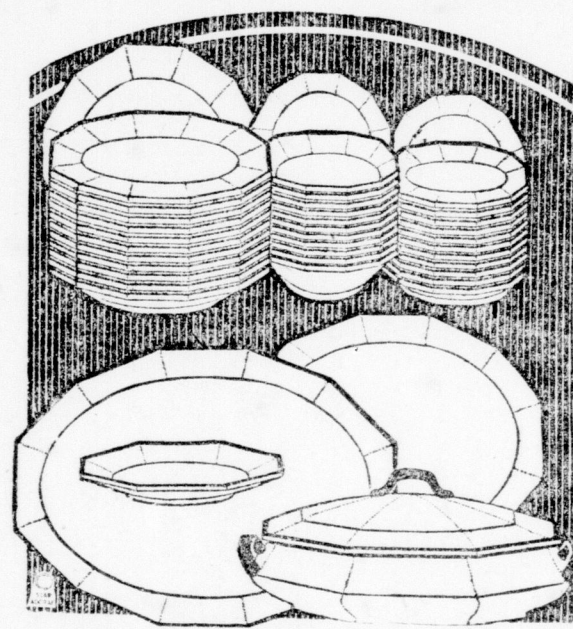

William M. Butler, President Coolidge's campaign manager, planned to leave for Chicago to open the party's headquarters there after today's national committee meeting, and other leaders were hastening home to begin their work for the Coolidge-Dawes ticket.

C. N. R. Engine and Thirteen Cars Derailed West of Cambray.

Canadian Press Despatch.
 Lindsay, June 12.—Six people were injured, one seriously, when the C. N. R. Toronto mixed train was derailed two miles east of Cambray station this afternoon. Taylor, Parkin of L'Ordrige, ex-warden of Victoria County, seriously hurt about the head and internally, and John Gregg of Seaford, who was hit on the head and had one leg twisted, suffered the most serious injuries.
 Without any warning, the train, consisting of 13 cars, left the track, bumped on the rails for some distance and finally plunged into the ditch, six cars being tossed into the ditch, the passenger coach being hurled up against a telegraph pole and into an adjacent field, turning completely over in its flight.

WIN FOR MURDOCK, BUT PORTER STAYS

West Hasting Member Will Not Quit, Although Charges Collapse.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter.
 Ottawa, June 12.—E. Guss Porter, M.P. for West Hastings, who preferred the charges made against Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, with respect to withdrawals made by him from the Home Bank on August 15, was asked this afternoon what his attitude would be in view of the fact that a report exonerating Mr. Murdock from all blame was passed in the privilege and elections committee this morning.
 "Are you contemplating resigning your seat?" Mr. Porter was asked.
 "Not by a large majority," he replied emphatically. "I never thought of resigning. What I am thinking about is defeating that report in the House. That is my intention."
 It had been freely rumored that Mr. Porter would resign his seat and run again for re-election in West Hastings, challenging the government to put a candidate in the field on the issue of Mr. Murdock's guilt or innocence. Apparently he had not decided upon such a course.

FORMER DRESDEN RESIDENT DIES AT HOME IN DETROIT

Detroit, June 12.—John Edward French, 550 Hudson avenue, aged 51, a native of Dresden, died tonight. His widow, formerly Charlotte Wick, and one son and two daughters survive, and a sister, Mrs. Alfred Kimbely, at Dresden. A brother-in-law is Edward Wilson, president of the Old Boys' London Association at Detroit. He has been appointed governor of Western Australia in succession to Francis Newdegate. This will necessitate a by-election in Lewes which Camplin has represented since 1919.

The quickness of Dreco's action is typified in the case of Mr. A. Pringle of 56 Dufferin street, Toronto, Ontario, who was amazed at the difference one bottle of this grand remedy made in his general condition.

"My liver was sluggish and my bowels never acted regularly, and I was tired out all the time from loss of sleep. I was gradually becoming very weak and run down, when I heard of Dreco. I have only taken one bottle, but can notice a difference already. My appetite has picked up. The dizzy spells and spots before my eyes have greatly improved and my bowels are as regular as a clock. I sleep soundly and feel much stronger in every way."

SALARY LIST FROM P.U.C. NOT RECEIVED BY CLERK

Baker Reports To Finance Committee of Failure To Answer Letter.

REPEAT REQUEST

To Investigate Report of Police Receiving Witness Fees in Court.

The city clerk reported to the finance committee yesterday that he had received no reply from the public utilities commission to his letter of some weeks back asking for its salary list. The list from Victoria Hospital had been sent on. He was instructed to get in touch with the commission and repeat his request.

"The commission can write often when it wants something like a registry office," remarked Alderman Anderson, "why can't it answer our letter asking for the salary list?"

The finance committee decided to ask the police commission whether constables on the force receive witness fees. Alderman Smith told the committee that he thought there was a recent enactment by the Provincial Legislature preventing it. The police commission financial statement reported to the committee shows several constables were paid a witness fee for attendance at police court.

Granted Leave. Relief Inspector McCallum was granted another month's leave of absence until July 11, on the recommendation of Chairman Douglas.

Printing tenders were let to the Knowles Printing Company for the voters' lists, and to the Hollands Press for the mayor's and the city clerk's envelopes. These being the lowest tenders, they were accepted conditional on compliance with the bylaw which necessitates the payment of union wages to the help employed.

The tender of Terry's Garage for the motorization of the ladder truck at the east end fire hall for $3,100 was accepted by the committee. This tender includes a two year guarantee on material and one year on service.

Smith To Re-present. Alderman Smith was named to represent the city at the United Empire Loyalists gathering in Belleville on Tuesday of next week. The consideration of the Britain report on the fire department and the committee's recommendations to the council were deferred to the next meeting.

Building Inspector Piper brought in an estimate for the alterations to the central fire hall, for $7,000, which was considered high, and was filed for future reference.

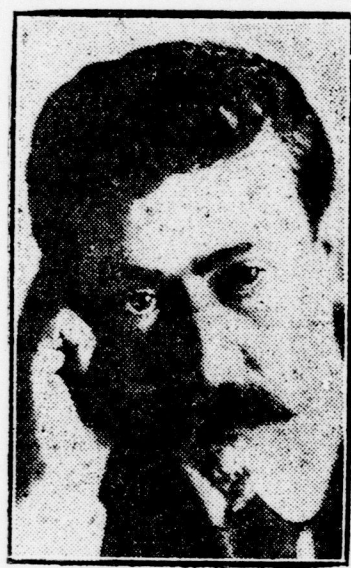

On the matter of the franchise bylaw, which the aldermen undertook to "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" some time ago, the committee reported progress, and asked for an indefinite extension of time to get further orientation with its peculiarities.

The full power and authority of the committee was assured to George Tustin, inspector of the Humane Society, in the prosecution of his duty and several citizens who are not living up to the bylaw in respect to stray dogs.

Heat Estimate. The Helena Costume Company, which supplies heat to the central fire hall, sent in an estimate of $89.74 for the coming winter. It was explained that the turning off of the heat at night last winter was the result of a misunderstanding on the part of the engineer.

A delegation from the Woodman avenue residents asking the committee to remove the local improvement tax from their property, a matter of $1.44 a foot for ten years, and which they knew nothing of at the time of purchase. The committee decided to view the lots in question before going further.

Dr. Holme appeared, asking that the lane at the back of his property on Queen's avenue might be taken over by the city, as the owners were willing to donate it, so that it might be properly taken care of. He stipulated only that the ground should be maintained as a public thoroughfare permanently by the city.

A request from the board of education for the issue of debentures to the extent of $39,000 for the erection of a west end addition to the Technical School, which was approved by the council last year, was agreed to and recommended to the council.

Declared Winners of Competition.

AWARDS MADE

Mrs. Gordon Wright and Mrs.
May R. Thornley Make Presentations.

Six brilliant young orators took part in the W.C.T.U. contest held last night in Wesley Hall under the direction of Mrs. V. K. Greer, the W.C.T.U. convener of Sunday school work. The result gave Sam Munro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Munro, 101 Waterloo street, first honors, and he was awarded the silver medal for oratory. This clever boy speaker is a member of the First Presbyterian Sunday School and chose as his subject, "Liquor and Tobacco, or Health Morality for the Future of Canada." The second medal went to Irene Deacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ormiston Deacon, 55 Craig street, and pupil of the Wesleyan Methodist Sunday School, who spoke very forcefully on the general subject of "Temperance." The other speakers also handled their subjects well and were received with interest by the audience. Presentations of Eversharp pencils, on which were engraved the letters, "W.C.T.U.—O.C.", were made to them. Mrs. Gordon Wright, Dominion W.C.T.U. president, officiating.

The speakers were Grace Buckle of Hyatt Avenue Church, who spoke on "Temperance"; Margorie Beattie of the Hale Street Sunday School, whose subject was "Intemperance or the Nation's Curse"; Florence Lewis of the Hale Street Methodist Church, who spoke on "Liquor"; and Fred Perry of the Church of the Redeemer whose subject was "Intoxicating Liquors."

The judges acting last night were Dr. K. P. R. Neville of the Western Ontario University staff, School Inspector V. K. Greer and T. E. Clarke of the Normal School. The contest was held in a rooming house, and the W.C.T.U. poster contest, held some weeks ago, was also a feature of the meeting. Mrs. May R. Thornley, advisory president of the Provincial W.C.T.U., making the presentation, to Lucy Ford, Hilda Grant, Jack Trafford and Olive Strangthorpe. A. R. Kennedy acted as chairman during the program, which included a vocal solo by Miss Margaret James of the Loyal Temperance Legion, and an address by A. W. Beall, formerly a social hygienist, who worked for W.C.T.U. and now provincial lecturer to boys and girls from the department of education, Toronto. Mr. Beall's talk concerned the four great factors in the development of character—the church, the state, the home and the school. Mrs. H. A. Padde, president of the W.C.T.U. in the city, who introduced the chairman of the evening.

Following the contest slides of the winning posters were shown, as well as several slides of posters which had received special mention. The posters were as follows: "The Vacant Place," first prize poster, by Lucy Ford; "The Curse of a Nation," second prize poster, by Hilda Grant; "The Bootlegger is Death in Disguise," third prize poster, by Jack Trafford; "The Evil of Drink," fourth prize poster, by Lucy Ford; "The Foundation of Crime," by Marjorie Dolan; "Intemperance," by S. Reynolds; "Which?" by F. Kennedy; "Stop It!" by H. Darch; "Keep Them Out," by F. Burr; "The Downward Fall," by M. Linnell; "Firewater or Food?" by E. M. Sam Munro Challenges Dominion To Be Sober

Delivers Prize-Winning Talk
On Temperance Before
W. C. T. U.

ABOUT CIGARETTES

Following are a few extracts from the clever speech on "Liquor and Tobacco or Health and Morality for the Future of Canada," given last night before the W. C. T. U. by Sam Munro, youthful son of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Munro, 101 Waterloo street. The speech carried off the silver medal in the oratory contest.

The question that is to be put to the people of Canada is a simple one in effect: Are you in favor of the present Ontario temperance act or are you in favor of a form of local option which will permit the sale of wine and beer in municipalities which vote in favor of it at the referendum.

There are two big questions that have been placed before the people of Ontario today. The impending battle over prohibition is going to be fought between forces that never have met in pitched battle before.

"For thirty years prohibition has been fought as a moral issue. The vanguard of the drys this time will consist of materialists, not moralists. Prohibition as a moral issue is not far enough to demonstrate the material value of prohibition—then came the day to prove it, and prohibition in Ontario, in all America and in the world over, has passed from a moral issue to a practical issue, effecting the individual, the home business, industry and finance.

"In the lead of the wets march the following material interests, the manufacturers of liquor, the distributors of liquor, the real estate owners of properties suitable to the sale of liquor, but the vast majority of the forces the wets are hoping to array in the coming battle are the sentimentalists. These are the men who want a drink and who imagine the fundamental principles of British liberty are being threatened.

"Now look at the dry forces. Amongst the reformers at the head of the column are the men of industry, labor men, manufacturers, financial men, the banks, the automobile industry, the builders of homes.

"What power, what wealth can the wets produce to combat the power of that array, which ranges in full and complete fellowship of interest from the $4,000 home to the biggest bank or the mightiest factory in the land.

"Toronto's foremost real estate operator speaks for the whole realty world when he says that prohibition has increased the ownership of homes by 10 to 20 per cent.

"A prominent banker is quoted as saying: 'In 1915 deposits in Canada totalled $1,198,340,000, and by 1921 they were $2,000,000,000. I am quite safe in saying a large portion of that 100 per cent increase is due to prohibition.'

"We've got something we can't afford to lose. We have comfort, efficiency, economy, we never had before, despite bad times following the war. Prohibition is the end of all the enemy of noise, it blends in and beautifully harmonizes with every Christian and philanthropic effort in which we engage.

"I shall now take a few minutes to deal with the cigarette question. One of the worst habits of boys is during the summer months. This has long been recognized by all the judges of the courts who deal with young criminals. Most boys are told to refrain from many things. Reports from colleges and other educational institutions show that young men who use cigarettes seldom, if ever, lead in their studies. Also it is said that 25 per cent of the boys between 10 and 17 who appear in criminal courts have their fingers disfigured with cigarette stains.

"No boy would commence the use of cigarettes if he knew what a useless, worthless thing they would make of him. The wreath of smoke which curls about the head of the growing lad holds his brain in a iron grip, which prevents it from growing and his mind from developing.

"In justice to the Canadian youth, who knows not what permanent injury accompanies this habit, this growing evil should be combated, and I am very glad a law has been passed prohibiting boys under 18 from smoking, but I believe, for the good of Canadian youth, this law should be extended to 21, for two reasons: First, a boy will have fully attained his growth, second, if he has not already started this bad habit he will likely have sense enough not to do so.

"Now, returning to the liquor question, the noblest of a nation is its men. Whatever improves or elevates men increases the power of the nation, while on the other hand, whatever weakens or debases men diminishes the power of the commonwealth. Now shall we have a drunken or sober Dominion? Would you see Canada thrive in material prosperity, rise in moral grandeur and advance in true piety, then discountenance the drinking customs of society.

"Intemperance brings shame, not honor; misery, not happiness; weakness, not strength; poverty, not wealth; death, not life."

Further he said:

Love Alone
Sanctifies
Marriage

There Can Be No Happiness in the Lives of Men and Women Who Marry "Easy Money"—They Find It Hardest of All.

A correspondent asks: "What do you think of a woman marrying for money? What do you think of a man marrying for money?"

I think it is both wicked and foolish. It is wicked because love is the only thing that sanctifies marriage. The woman who marries just to get a lifetime of luxury has no right to draw her skirts away from the woman of the streets. Both have sold themselves, and the only difference between them is that one made a better bargain and got a higher price for herself than the other one did.

The man who marries for money is an even more contemptible creature than a woman is and has less excuse for his sin, because he is better able and has more opportunities to achieve fortune for himself than she has. And the male parasite always sinks a little lower than the female parasite. It is bad business because it is bartering away one's birthright for a mess of pottage. It is bad business because it never pays. Those who give up love for gold never get happiness out of the trade. The poor young man and the poor girl who always hungered after the fleshpots think that if they could have a fine house to live in, smart clothes, a luxurious car, rich food, all the things that money buys, which they have been denied all their lives and which they have pined for, they would be perfectly blissful.

But if they sell their souls to get them, they soon find out that the purchasing power of money is very limited, and that the things that don't take long to get forfeited on rich dinners, or to get stuck in a tailor's dummy or a dressmaker's mannequin, or to get tired of being a tailor's dummy or a dressmaker's mannequin, or to get bored stiff with rolling around in limousines. Nor does it take long to find out that architects and interior decorators cannot make a real home.

Then it is that the man and woman who married for money realize that, with all their getting, they have not got happiness. They have not got love. They have not got companionship. They have not got contentment. They have not got peace.

They must endure all the ills of matrimony without any of its compensations. They must make the sacrifices that marriage inevitably demands without the love that sweetens them. They must endure the cares of a home from whom they shrink. They must gaze perpetually at faces whom they have nothing in common and who wear them almost to pretend fiction. They must give the kisses that are bought and paid for, and the tenderness they do not feel, spend their lives trying to give a life-like portrayal of a devoted husband or wife to the women and men who have invested their money in them.

Is there happiness in that sort of life for any human being? Think of the men and women you have known who have made of life an altar to a springboard from poverty into riches and you will see that a man or woman who registers real contentment, who is satisfied with nature has so ordained it that we cannot satisfy ourselves just with material things. We must have the spiritual things also. We must have the spiritual things even more than the material things. You will find many shabby young couples who married on nothing but love, who are happy, but no man or woman who married just for money who is happy.

The woman who marries for money does not make quite so fatal a mistake as the man does, because women care more for softness and ease than men do, and because women can come nearer to smothering their souls under chiffons than men can, and also because a woman, somehow, seems more natural as a purchased piece of household bric-a-brac than a man does.

But there is nothing on earth, or in heaven, that can make the poor husband of a rich wife seem like anything else than a lapdog who is trained to fetch and carry and jump through the hoops at her bidding. And any man who has to endure knowing that that is the way he appears to the public earns every cent he gets, even though it is millions.

People say that the woman a man gets by marrying a rich woman is easy money. On the contrary, it is the hardest money that a man ever gets, and the dearest, for he has to earn it over and over again every day that he lives, and he pays for it with every aspiration and ambition of his manhood.

All of us know brilliant young chaps, hustling young business men, talented young lawyers, gifted young doctors who had just begun to make a name for themselves and who were on the tip of the tongue to be married were they in their careers. They would have gone far if they had not married rich girls; but with their hands suddenly filled with money, their wives who demanded to be entertained and attained, and they sunk down into being nothing but rich women's husbands.

Do you believe for a moment that these men get the thrill and fun out of sittings of polo ponies and yachts that they would have out of pulling off big deals, and winning big cases, and finding new germs? Never. It is doing things, not having them, that gives zest to life, and the only money that has any flavor to it is that which is wet with our sweat.

And that's what makes marrying for money a bad business. What you get isn't worth the price you pay. DOROTHY DIX.

ALMA COLLEGE HOLDS GRADUATION RECITAL

Senior Pupils Appear in Brilliant Program Given in McLachlan Hall.

The closing recital presented last evening by the senior pupils of Alma College, in McLachlan Hall, was given with marked success, the artistic and well-balanced program, including vocal solos, piano selections, readings and violin numbers, was given with a finish exhibiting the culminating success of the pupils attained during the term.

Among the outstanding numbers was the concerto for piano and orchestra in G minor (Mendelssohn), first movement by Miss Doreen Roe, with the orchestra accompaniment, played by the musical director, Mr. Thomas Martin, of this city. Other piano numbers were given by Miss Margaret Macfie, A.T.C.M., Miss Edith Witty, Miss Kathleen Craig, Miss Madeline Stacey, Miss Celia Little, Miss Helen Barnum, and a duet for two pianos by Misses Frances Whitcombe and Dorothy Brake.

Charming solos were given by Miss Gladys Kent, Miss Viola Wright and Miss Melinda Brown and choruses "In a Gondola" and "Ode to a River" were presented by the Choral Club. Clever readings by Miss Frances Whitcombe and Miss Marian McKillop and a group of artistic violin selections, "Rayotte Moderne" and "To a Wild Rose," by Graham Gould, were also enjoyable numbers of the program.

INSTALLMENT V.

THE LEADING CHARACTERS. DESIREE DE MAILLY, a young countess, the beautiful and innocent niece of COUNT DE GILBERT, an unscrupulous adventurer who holds desiree in his power.

EUGENE GILBERT, the count's son, who, with his father, plans to marry the countess off to

MANUEL BASSINO, a voluptuous millionaire, who pays $50,000 to the Gilberts for the privilege of marrying

Desiree after she becomes 21. Bassino arrives on the continent from Paris at Nice, where the countess is staying.

MRS. GREEN, an aspiring nouveau riche who has struck up an acquaintance with Eugene. She is friendly with

JOHN WILSON, handsome, self-made English business man, who is in the Riviera. Wilson meets Desiree and falls in love with her delectable, unworshiped beauty. On the 21st birthday, Wilson tells him of her cruel uncle and cousin and shows him the "necklace of tears," a tremendously valuable diamond affair which she has inherited. Wilson also learns that the countess and Eugene are in Paris but are due to arrive at the chateau soon, so he determines to ask Desiree to deliver the necklace to his safe-keeping until her uncle can take charge of it. Wilson calls again and Desiree delivers the necklace of tears to his safekeeping. The next day they take a long drive to Monte Carlo, during which time Wilson's love for the girl increases. That night the Gilberts arrive at the chateau and demand the jewels. The next day after the count meets Wilson, he asks for the gems, but the latter replies he will give them to the elder Gilbert on the following morning. Wilson, however, tells Desiree that he has seen her alone before he gives up the jewels. He plans for her to propose.

CHAPTER IX.

The Dance.

In one of the principal hotels in Nice that night a dance was taking place and in one of the many recesses

Mrs. Green sat with Eugene de Gilbert. He leaned back with an arm half-round her bare shoulders, toying with one of her hands.

As he talked his hand rested on his companion's, and with a careful movement one of his strong, muscular cuffs was slipped through the safety chain of her bracelet. Then he got to his feet quickly. There was a sharp snap of something breaking, a little cry on the woman's part, a look of consternation on the man's.

"What a clumsy devil I am," he said apologetically. "My cuff link must have caught in the safety chain of your bracelet. You must let me take it tomorrow and have it mended for you."

"I shouldn't dream of troubling you," she answered. "It's really nothing at all."

"Well, all right," he answered, walking away, "but remember, the 15th is ours."

On the other side of the room and among the crowd of dancers Wilson could have sworn he saw Desiree. But it was such a fleeting glimpse that he told himself he must be mistaken. Had she been coming to the ball she would have told him. She knew now the hotel at which he was staying.

When the dance was over, brief as the glimpse had been, at the risk of making a nuisance of himself he prowled round the many alcoves and recesses.

In one of them he saw her with her uncle—Desiree, looking a picture of fragile, high-born loveliness. In a flounced white silk evening frock that, for all its fashionable cut, was probably the cheapest in the room.

Wilson turned to himself as he passed on from the alcove. However, he came to a halt not very far from it, and took up his stand where he could watch the party without being seen himself.

Presently the band struck up and Desiree was left alone. The thick carpet muffled Wilson's step, and his approach did not make her raise her eyes.

"Why didn't you tell me you were coming here tonight?" he said. "I didn't know you would be here."

"But you heard me say I was staying at this hotel, didn't you?" Her hands started to toy nervously with one of the flounces of her dress.

"My uncle said we were going to a ball, but he never told me it was at your hotel."

"Will you finish this dance with me?" he asked.

"You'll bring me back here, won't you?" she questioned anxiously.

He leaned over her, until his face almost touched hers.

"Are you afraid I might run off with you? Would it be such a terrible thing if I did—Desiree?" he finished softly.

A deep blush mounted to her cheeks, but she did not answer his question.

They danced around the room, then, and when the music stopped, started to leave the floor.

There was a little recess close by a drooping palm. Into that Wilson drew his partner. Then he had both arms around her, straining her to his heart in a passionate embrace that brought a faint gasp to her lips.

"Tomorrow when I come, Desiree, try to think only of what you want, he murmured. Don't bother about your uncle. Leave him to me."

But this was not the moment to propose to Desiree. In two or three minutes at most the dance would be over and he would have to take her back to her uncle.

If he left things until the morning he would have plenty of time on hand to coax her round to his way of thinking. With only Desiree to deal with, there would be no great difficulty in gaining his end. Then he would come down to Nice and interview her relatives—instead of delivering up the necklace, announcing the fact of Desiree's engagement.

Wildly as Wilson loved Desiree, he had no delusions about her feelings toward him. It was a child's affection she had for him, not a man's love. But if he were careful, so that affection he could soon build something stronger and deeper; and any man worthy of the name would be careful with a girl so high-strung and sensitive. To her, marriage would be purgatory unless it meant a union of mind and heart and soul as well as body.

Desiree's golden crown of hair just reached his lips. He kissed the soft coils—a phantom caress she could not feel.

There must be nothing but the best for her, this little girl whom he worshipped and adored. He would see to it that their marriage was no second-rate affair.

So Wilson's thoughts ran as he watched the little face that in his arms last its tragic look and took on one of fleeting, furtive happiness.

He was in the grip of one of those sudden infatuations that seize men occasionally, that, for the moment, can settle down to the deep, steady love that lasts a lifetime. But now he was blind to everything except the beauty of the girl in his arms. The ideal he had waited for so long and had been true to since baby days.

When the dance was over he took her back to her uncle.

Her uncle was there. With latent anger he scanned the couple. However, Wilson had his say first. "I am blind," he said pointedly, "so I took the liberty of looking after her."

"It was most kind of you," her uncle answered. "I shall not be leaving her alone again."

Wilson knew he was dismissed, with a hint not to venture in that direction again. He moved on toward the ballroom, and he moved in heaven. There was only one person there for him—Desiree—Desiree, there for him—Desiree—Desiree, he had dared to call her by name. Desiree, who had lain, unresistingly, against his heart, hope and wonder replacing the tragic note in her face.

Tomorrow! CHAPTER X. "I Am Blind."

As the evening wore on he noticed her again dancing with her uncle. In the thick of the crowd they came into collision with her cousin, who was dancing with Mrs. Green.

Just as they collided he saw the Count de Gilbert let go of Desiree's hand. For a moment his hand rested on Mrs. Green's plump wrist.

Wilson saw a flash of something bright, a little flash of something bright, that the couples parted.

It was all over in the space of half a minute. Wilson was too full of Desiree to put any meaning on what he had seen; in fact, he was hardly conscious of having seen it.

Almost as soon as the dance was over Wilson made a dash for the manager's office for the smoke and gossip in which the two frequently indulged on an evening. A moment later the door opened, admitting Eugene de Gilbert and Mrs. Green.

The manager got to his feet and put down his cigar.

"What is the matter?" What has happened?" he said.

"My bracelet! My diamond bracelet! Mr. Green gave it to me, and it's gone. Oh, won't he be angry!" she cried, tears running down her face.

Mrs. Green had been Eugene de Gilbert's partner. They were the couple with whom Desiree and her uncle had collided. Wilson remembered seeing the count's hand on the woman's wrist, the brief flash of light that he told himself he must be mistaken. Had she been coming to the ball she would have told him. She knew now the hotel at which he was staying.

There could be no mistake. They were the "Triple Alliance"—the Count de Gilbert, his son and Desiree!

Wilson arose suddenly and left the office.

If the manager noticed his abrupt departure, it was to think that his acquaintance deemed the situation one he, the manager, would prefer to deal with alone.

Early the next morning the sound of an approaching motor roused Desiree as she sat at breakfast on the terrace. A breakfast that consisted of a cup of black coffee and a slice of a stale loaf.

His step on the terrace made Desiree get up with a little smile of welcome.

Wilson looked at her, wondering how a girl could appear so helpless and innocent, and yet be one of a trio of expert thieves.

"Oh, my God!" he burst out hoarsely. "You needn't trouble yourself any longer to act a part for my benefit. I've found out things for myself."

"Did you imagine I could still love you, once I found out what you really were?" Desiree's hands came from her face, and on it now were surprise, bewilderment and a touch of hauteur.

"I don't know what you're talking about," she said with trembling voice.

"Don't pretend you don't know!" he exclaimed. "I've found you out, and I know now that you and your uncle and cousin are 'The Triple Alliance,' that dastardly set of jewel thieves."

I saw your cousin dancing with Mrs. Green. I saw your uncle take the bracelet from her wrist, and you, shielding him, helping them in their vile thieving."

"How can I do any of the dreadful things you say?" she gasped. "I am blind!"

As she said the last three words she turned quickly and toward the house. In her haste to escape, crashing her forehead against the portal of the door. With a little cry of pain she flew on, leaving Wilson staring after her, agast.

At that moment his world was as dark as Desiree's.

Those three final words of hers left him rooted to the spot.

"I am blind."

The crashing blow she had struck herself with the edge of her forehead, from him and his insults filled his black world with sickening echoes. Quickly he turned into the house, his only desire to find the girl, to take her into his arms and whisper words of love and comfort.

He went into the dining-room, but there was no sign of her there. He passed out again into the hall, and opened all the doors that led into it, looking into empty, crumbling chambers with broken windows, falling ceilings and damp, peeling walls, but Desiree was not in any one of them.

He went upstairs, into room after room, still looking for the girl "alone in the dark."

Finally he reached a door that was locked, and from the other side came the sound of hopeless, heart-broken weeping. Desiree weeping because of the insults and the hideous accusations he had so suddenly poured upon her.

He knocked, but there was no answer. "Desiree, you must let me in," he called, in a voice that was hoarse with agony.

Be he had no answer, except that the sobs grew more choked and stifled.

Those tears from blind eyes—tears of his making—fell like liquid fire upon his heart.

"You must let me in," he called again. "I must see you. I'd no idea you didn't know—that you couldn't see what went on around you."

Still there was no response.

Beside himself, Wilson put his shoulder to the door to try to burst it open, in his mind nothing but a desire to reach the girl and kiss away her tears.

But the door was of thick oak and iron. It resisted the force he brought against it and the only result of his efforts was a severely bruised shoulder.

Then Wilson came to his senses. He could not force his way into a girl's bedroom.

Close by was a wide window-seat. In one of the stained glass windows of the corridor. On that he seated himself, waiting until Desiree should appear.

Time passed, but the door did not open.

Somewhere in the silent chateau an old clock whirled and buzzed and then struck nine, filling the place with its echoes.

It struck 9:30, and then 10, and still the door showed no signs of opening. But the sobs had died away. Behind the thick door all was silent—the silence of intense suffering.

Again Wilson went to the door and knocked.

"Desiree, you must let me see you, I insist. Only for a moment. I must explain things to you," he called frantically.

If possible the silence was greater than before.

With a gesture of pain and despair he turned away.

He would go back to Nice and have it out with those two scoundrels. They were coming for the necklace at 11 o'clock.

When he had settled with them he would come back to Desiree.

HOW WHITE ANTS ACT IN FORMOSA

Mrs. William Gauld Recounts Stories About Missionary Work Among Chinese.

"The north of the island of Formosa, north and south, is open for the reception of Christianity today, if we only had the workers," declared Mrs. William Gauld, returned missionary from that field, in an inspirational address delivered before the W. M. S. of St. Andrew's Church yesterday afternoon. The meeting was a large one, women being present from the different societies throughout the Presbytery.

"Mr. McLeod is the only man in the field today, and he has but three or four women helpers. If something is not done soon he will break down under the strain. There are no funds to repair the hospital, which is gradually being destroyed by the white ants," continued the speaker.

Her description of how the white ants eat the heart of Formosa was exceedingly interesting. A box of wooden clothes pins left on a pantry shelf for but a few weeks was instantly as one article which entirely disappeared under the inroads of these little creatures. Not a trace of cellulose or starch was left. Only the paper covering on the outside remained unmoistened, and gave the appearance of innocence to the devastation.

"Great changes are taking place in the little island of Formosa," said Mrs. Gauld. "But it is still difficult to find a reception for Christianity in some of the homes. One little woman has been a Christian for the past six years, but she has to go to church in secret, else her husband might beat her to death. One night he came to the church for her, breaking up the meeting. Fortunately she saw him enter, crawled out on her hands and knees and fled home before she was discovered."

"The people of Formosa are becoming broader in their ideas. When I first went to Formosa the custom was for a middleman to arrange marriages by consulting the parents of those between whom he wished to make a match. Today the middleman consults the boys and girls themselves, and the parents when making marriages."

"From the better class homes the women are not supposed to show themselves in public, but gradually this prejudice is being broken down with regard to attendance at church. The women come to church in their rickshaws and slip out again immediately the service is over."

"Our work in Formosa is hampered by the fact that our teachers in the schools must know both Chinese and Japanese. The law insists on Japanese and the students are Chinese. The students of Knox College are sending out Mr. McMillan this year, but it will mean four years of language study before he will be able to teach."

"Last year the Formosan Church itself gave $10,000 for the carrying on of the work, mostly repairing churches and paying salaries. These Formosan Christian workers are not just 'rice Christians,' as some people over here say they are. They are working for more than they get out of it in salaries, and putting up with great hardships in many instances."

Bank was Insolvent Years Ago.

The interim report of Judge McKeown on the Home Bank brings out in a definite way things that had a vague and unofficial existence before.

He is to be commended on the fact that he has shown more decisive action in bringing in a report than any of the various Home Bank actions that are pending and have been pending for months.

Judge McKeown establishes the fact that the Home Bank was insolvent in 1916-18. At that time an amount more than double the total paid-up capital and reserve of the bank was locked up in four accounts, the securities for which could not be realized upon.

That condition was made known to the department of finance in 1916-18, which means that it was made known to Sir Thomas White. Other details of a similar sort were also brought to the attention of the same department in this same two-year period. They set forth that loans already made were sure to result in serious losses; that the interest on these loans was unpaid, yet it came through the books as an earning upon these loans; that false returns were made by the directors of the bank to the department of finance.

With these facts before the finance department, decisive action was to have been anticipated. These things were not vague rumors or street talk—they were real conditions, each one of them bad, and each one of them of sufficient size to call for a house-cleaning.

Although Judge McKeown does not say so, it is evident that this serious condition was met with a mild request for reformation. Sir Thomas White did make a move in 1916. It resulted in a change in the management of the bank, "Mr. Haney becoming vice-president, with the understanding that he should discharge the duties of president, and have full powers with respect to the organization of the staff."

The whole weakness of the corrective efforts in connection with Home Bank affairs is centered in that fatal triangle of words, "with the understanding."

The very next clause in Judge McKeown's report proves it. "The change seems to have met with the approval of all concerned, although no improvement seems actually to have resulted from it."

The finance minister suggested certain changes "on the understanding" that they would be made. Events that transpired later showed these changes were not made. Sir Thomas White's measure of protest was weak when compared to the measure of wrongdoing which he knew was going on behind the inside doors of the Home Bank.

Every day that the Home Bank kept its doors open following the period when its insolvency had been unmasked in 1916-18 increased the amount that would be involved in the final crash.

Apart from any bearing the McKeown report may have on the attitude of the government toward compensation for depositors, the point that stands in clear relief above all others is that a finance minister is a servant of the people, and that, being such, his plain duty was to see that the people, who had no knowledge of the true condition of the bank, were protected.

Yet for over five years people were allowed to pass in and out of the open doors of the Home Bank all over the country. Whatever may be said of the successors in office, Sir Henry Drayton and Hon. W. S. Fielding, concerning their knowledge or lack of knowledge concerning Home Bank affairs, it remains a stubborn fact that Sir Thomas White, with all the facts before him five years before his bank crashed, protested so faintly that it was the equivalent of a painful silence.

The Right of a Man to Live.

Surgeons who specialize in cancer operations are in session in Chicago. There was not much to cause excitement until Dr. Kane spoke on "A Euthanasia For Inoperable Cancer Cases." In other words it means that a surgeon would decide that a case was hopeless, and take such action as he saw fit to bring about a painless death.

Some of these specialists make the layman shiver. He does not like the idea at all of being prepared for an operation, only to have his relatives told a while later that he was found to be a hopeless old wreck, and so the surgeon had decided to turn the case over to the undertaker.

There is some bit of assurance found in the fact that Dr. Kane did not get very far with his theory before he was checked up. Dr. Held, of Chicago, could not see where or how any man "could arrogate to himself the divine right to extinguish that unfathomable something called life."

Dr. Held voices the opinion held and practiced by surgeons, and it must continue to be the standard of belief. Those who come forward with their theories of a slow death, deliberately planned, are seeking to enter a field that is barred and locked to mortal mind and hand.

It is not even for the most skilled practitioner to say when a man's span of years has been spent, nor is it for him to deliberate on the day or the hour of his departure.

His one function is to fight disease with all the ability he can muster. If in this combat he does his best, and disease is still victorious, then it has been an honorable fight. But if the surgeon were to take the mental attitude that the thing is absolutely hopeless and join hands with the disease for the passing out of his patient, he would have no right to practice or no reason to expect the confidence of the public.

Dr. Held is on very safe ground when he contends that no man has a right to arrogate to himself the divine right to extinguish that unfathomable something called life.

An Indefinite Report Passed On.

The private bills committee has sent the church union bill along to the House of Commons, with the amendment to the preamble that it shall not become operative until and unless the courts decide that the Presbyterian General Assembly had authority to agree to union.

Along with this entangling amendment is a motion by J. L. Brown, M.P., brought in at the eleventh hour and declared out of order. Mr. Brown's motion had the fine quality of getting at the root of the matter about a day too late. It contends, stripped of its whereas and therefore, that the churches came to parliament because they did not want to go to the courts; they recognized parliament as the supreme body, and by pointing the way to the courts, as the amendment does, the churches are sent in the very direction they do not wish to travel, and the purpose of their appeal to Ottawa is defeated.

This motion, although declared out of order by the private bills committee, was sent along to the Commons.

The private bills committee may have been very sincere in their action, but they have not given the Commons the leadership to which it is entitled. The bill goes from the committee with an amendment that mutilates it and points to a litigation which no one wants, and tied to this again is the Brown motion to wipe out this amendment. The private bills committee, failing to function decisively, passes the whole thing, amendment and motion to kill the amendment, over to the Commons.

It has not been a good piece of work, and is probably the result of trying to please too many people.

The Commons now has the work which the private bills committee did not do. Its first thought should be to give the people of the churches what they want.

The Passing of Dr. Eccles.

London lost an outstanding citizen, and the world of medicine one of its most capable exponents, when Dr. F. R. Eccles passed away at his home in this city.

Dr. Eccles lived in a sphere that was much larger than his own private practice. He was a man of vision, who could sense the good that could come through the collective power of a good hospital.

It has been men of the type of Dr. Eccles who have laid the foundation for a medical school in London that has made possible the excellence of the instruction now given at that department of the University of Western Ontario.

Of a kindly and sympathetic disposition, Dr. Eccles made good use of the days as they were measured out to him. He made a full and useful contribution to the needs of his day, and he has left behind him a monument in the hearts of those who knew him and loved him for the man that he was.

Largely a Matter of Bookkeeping.

Ratepayers should not get unduly excited over the surpluses that are reported in connection with the operation of schools in London. Grants from the government do not come along at the time the city's fiscal year is closed, and therefore do not appear in the year's work.

The public schools did not use the sinking fund and interest provided for the new Empress Avenue School, therefore the $15,000 appears as a surplus. The public schools use about $600,000 a year, so a surplus of about $10,000 on this is not very wide of the mark.

The way in which the announcement came out in the first place might lead to the belief that some one had stubbed his toe on a loose plank and found underneath a whole heap of perfectly good money that was never suspected to be in existence.

The idea that the tax rate could have been reduced had this "surplus" been brought to light earlier is not feasible. Provision must be made for the shortage caused by the city losing its annexed area tax case, and it must be remembered that there is a two-year payment not made on the suburban road area.

PROVIDENCE

No one can see Providence who is incapable of generalities.

Providence represents an idea; and if one is going to form his opinions by single instances, if he is incapable of recognizing exceptions, he should let ideas alone.

He had better stick to mowing the lawn or tinkering with the automobile.

In fact, the difference between the ripened mind, the mind that you would call cultured or educated, and the naive mind of the child or the dishwasher is, first, the power to generalize and, second, the will to form one's judgment and govern one's conduct by generalities.

A belief in Providence amounts to a belief that the universe is controlled by a governing mind. I say mind and not force, for mind has a purpose, it cares; force is indifferent, it does not care.

There are myriads of single instances which indicate that the governing power in the universe is careless; but every one of these proves no more than the fact that that governing power does not seem to care for the same things we care for, which is not at all a proof that it cares for nothing. It is simply proof that we do not understand.

As far as the known laws that govern the world are visible they show purpose. Lack of purpose is shown only by those exceptions that seem to have no law. The difference between the honest man and the rogue is that the honest man believes that honesty is the best policy all the time, in the dark as well as in the light, when the result is pain and shame even as when the result is pleasure and profit; while the rogue is simply the person who believes that "this time does not count."

There can be no such distinction as that which is made between General and Special Providence. If there is any Providence at all it must attend quite as carefully to the orbit and movements of an electron as to the course of Arcturus.

The human mind is finite; it thinks clearly only as it brushes aside all non-essentials and distracting things and concentrates upon one. But if there is any mind at all managing the universe, that is to say, if there is any Providence, it must be a mind that does not have to do this.

In other words, our minds think in a straight line; we can think of but one thing at a time. The mind governs the universe must be able to think of everything at once. It must be attending to the marriage of the atoms, to the flow of the electric current, and must do this with perfect ease, at the same time that it is controlling the destiny of nations and the dance of the stars.

I believe in Providence and that Providence, and not law or force, is governing everything in the universe for the simple reason that I believe that mind is superior to force and law.

I know that a thought can create a cathedral. And I know that the cathedral continues to stand only so long as it corresponds to certain thoughts in the minds of men.

I know that thought and the functioning of mind is the greatest known force. And I cannot conceive of Providence as being of any lesser sort of thing than my own mind. The whole cannot be less than one of its parts.

The other day an earthquake jiggled the roulette balls in the casino at Monte Carlo and increased the rake-off of M. Blanc a perceptible amount.

There is a kind of brain to which this sort of thing is a proof that there is no Providence or that Providence is careless or cynical.

I am glad I do not have that kind of brain.

Ye Olde Straw Hat

When weather goes to 82 and summer heat's turned on anew, what is a man in old felt hat supposed to turn about and do?

You dingy lid, you are a fright, you're out of date this time of year, but still I love the way you act and how you sit upon my ear. Away last fall I picked you out, you were a dandy in your time, but now you're sagging at the edge like pickles soaked ten days in brine.

I knew I had an old straw hat left from the heat of '23, in thrifty vein I dig it forth, the thing is good enough for me.

But when I put that wisp of straw upon my dome and sally out, why all the youngsters on the street they giggle first and then they shout; they laugh about my bonnet's style, I know it's faded at the keel, I feel much like a tramp who knocks and asks the missus for a meal.

You old straw lid of '23, you were a peach away last June, but time has whacked you on the jaw, you look much like a half-baked prune.

I mind the reckless day I went and peeled three beans from off my roll, I gave the village folks a treat a-walkin' out in easy stroll. I was a riot in them days, the dudes stopped to my cottage door, and begged to know whereat I shopped and if the dealer had some more.

But that was back in '23, it doesn't seem so long ago, but it's a lifetime none the less as fickle things like straw hats go.

Once more I'll go unto the clerk and ask him for a benny new, the hat of vintage of last June won't do for folks like me and you.

The graveyard where the straw hats go, it must be sixteen miles by ten, with monuments in blazoned words about the vanities of men.

Farewell, you lid of '23, you served me like a faithful man, we're livin' in a fickle age, your place is in the garbage can.—ARK.

Goodwill Among Men

(From the Emporia Gazette.)

The other day in Kansas City the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic organization, formally offered to the convention committee of the Shriners, Masonic organization, the use of the Knights of Columbus new clubhouse during the Shriners national convention. The new clubhouse has 85 rooms with shower baths, gymnasium, and a swimming pool, and the whole plant will be at the disposal of the visitors during the convention.

If Christ were to come to Kansas City, where would he find goodwill among men? Would he go to those who are preaching race hatred, religious prejudice and bigotry, or to those who, despite their grave differences of creed, turn in neighborly kindness and good fellowship to their friends with this offer of substantial help?

And you, kind sir, here is an acid test of your soul. Do you get a thrill when you read some oft-exploded and discredited "foxy" either of Mason or of Knights of Columbus; or does your heart swell in pride for your humanity when you read some little item that shows how Christ, preaching goodwill among men, did not die upon the Cross in vain?

The Fun Shop

A SINK SONG.

By George S. Chappell.

When I was young I used to think
That cooks were necessary;
My idea of a kitchen sink
Was vague and foggy, very.
But now that I am older grown,
With four expensive kiddies,
My wife and I oft "do our own."
Without the help of biddies.

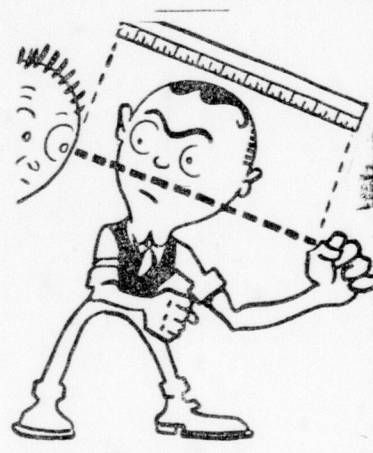

At first this menial labor irked
My soul beyond all measure,
But gradually, as I worked,
The job became a pleasure.
And when I'd done some difficult
Utensil like a fry-pan,
Vain-gloriously I'd exult
And say, "Look, dear, at my pan."

Ah, blessed sink and kindly drain,
In which we've learned to capture
The old companionship again,
While o'er our soapy hands and heads

The kids sleep calmly through it,
Unconscious, in their snowy beds,
That they are why we do it!

Teacher: "Will someone in the class give me a sentence with the word 'aqueduct' in it?"
Johnny: "We didn't see all of the show, 'cause after the first act we ducked."

At nine o'clock they were seated at opposite ends of the couch. At 9:30 they were slightly nearer to each other. At 10 o'clock they were only three feet apart. At 10:25 there was scarcely any perceptible space between them.

The young man spoke.

"Has your father gone to bed?"

"Yes, Tom," she replied.

"Has your mother gone to bed?"

"Yes, Tom."

"Do you think your little brother is under the couch?"

"No, Tom."

The young man heaved a sigh of relief.

CURRENT JELLY.

Strip the stems from five pounds of firm, not soft, currants and place in a preserving kettle; heat and mash them. Boil twenty-five minutes, pour into a jelly bag and let drip without squeezing, over night. Place the juice in the kettle after measuring, bring to a boil and boil ten minutes; add one cup of sugar for each cup of juice and boil until a light plate of mace; add two tablespoons of about five minutes. Pour into clean jelly glasses, cover and set in the sun for five minutes. Store in a cold, dry place.

BAKED NOODLES.

Cook half a pound of white or whole wheat noodles in boiling salted water until tender, drain and place in a baking dish and mix with them a seasoning of salt and pepper, two tablespoonsful of butter, two-thirds of a cupful of chopped cooked ham, half a cupful of grated cheese and a cupful of milk. Sprinkle the top with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven twenty minutes.

APRICOT PIE.

Mix three cupsful of peeled and sliced firm ripe apricots with one cupful of sugar mixed with one tablespoonful of flour, a few grains of salt, and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of mace; add two tablespoonsful of water, place in a pastry-lined pie tin, dot the top with a tablespoonful of butter broken in small bits, cover with pastry and bake in a moderate oven.

CREAM OF CARROTS.

Place in a saucepan two tablespoonsful of butter, three cups of finely-sliced carrots and half a cupful of chopped onion; stir and cook five minutes; add two cupsful of water and cook until the vegetables are soft; rub all through a sieve into a clear saucepan, add two cupsful of milk, bring to a boil and stir in a tablespoonful of flour worked smooth with four tablespoonsful of milk; add a seasoning of salt and pepper and cook ten minutes. If too thick, add more milk. Serve with croutons.

Heat in a saucepan six tablespoonsful of butter, add half a cup of flour and work smooth, heat and add four cups of the veal broth, stir and cook ten minutes; beat the yolks of two eggs, half a cup of cream, and pour slowly, stirring constantly, into the hot sauce; season and strain over the cooked veal. Mix well, serve in a deep dish and sprinkle with finely-chopped parsley.

to which has been added two tablespoons of lemon juice. In the morning, at least three hours before the artichokes are to be cooked, make a batter by mixing the yolk of one egg with one tablespoon of olive oil, two tablespoons of sifted flour and two tablespoons of sifted flour and vanilla extract; beat milk; mix well. Drain the artichokes, add the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs to the batter with a seasoning of salt and pepper; dip in the pieces of artichoke and fry a nice brown in hot olive oil; drain, place on a folded napkin and garnish with lemon slices and branches of parsley.

SAND TORTE.
Melt one cup of butter, skim carefully, and let stand in cold place until solid; place the butter in a bowl and beat to a cream, and gradually beat in three-quarters of a cup of sifted sugar and beat hard until light; add the yolks of two eggs and beat five minutes; add two tablespoons of blanched and ground almonds, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, and five-sixths of a cup of cornstarch sifted with two tablespoons of flour; beat thoroughly, and beat in the stiffly-beaten whites of three eggs.
Butter a deep cake tin and cover the bottom and sides with cake crumbs.
Pour in the cake batter and bake in a moderate oven 35 minutes. Cool on a wire cake rack, and when cold cover with boiled icing.

JUMBLES.
Beat four level tablespoons of butter to a cream and beat into it gradually half a cup of sugar, beat thoroughly, and one unbeaten egg and beat until smooth; heat in half a cup of well-sifted flour, beat well, add another egg, and beat smooth; add half a cup of well-sifted flour and one teaspoon each of lemon and vanilla extract; beat smooth and drop from a teaspoon on a buttered baking sheet three inches apart.

APRICOT DUMPLINGS.
Sift two cups of sifted flour with one teaspoon of sugar, a pinch of salt, and two level teaspoons of baking powder; rub in three tablespoons of butter and when like coarse meal work to a smooth dough with a little cold milk. Roll out thin and cut in four-inch squares. Drain the syrup from a No. 2 1/2 can of apricots and place two pieces of the apricots in the center of each square.
Bring the corners of the dough over the apricots, pinch the edges together, turn upside down in a buttered baking dish, sprinkle the tops with granulated sugar, dot with bits of butter, heat the apricot juice with enough hot water to make one cup and pour over; bake in a quick oven and serve with an orange custard sauce.

MARTHA WASHINGTON PIE.
To make the Martha Washington pie place half a cup of water and one cup of sugar in a saucepan and boil until it will spin a thread when a little is dropped from the tip of a spoon. Beat the yolks of five eggs until light and lemon colored and beat in gradually the hot syrup, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, and when the mixture is cold add gradually one cup and two tablespoons of sifted flour; fold in the stiffly beaten whites of five eggs and bake in two layers in a moderate oven. Cool and spread between the layers a filling made by beating three eggs with half a cup of sugar mixed with two tablespoons of corn starch and, when well mixed, beat into them gradually two cups of hot milk; mix well with a wire whip, pour into a double boiler and stir and cook until thick and smooth, do not boil; remove from the fire, stir in one teaspoon of vanilla extract and, when cold, use. Cover the top of the pie with a chocolate butter frosting made by beating one cup of unsalted butter to a cream; when the butter is light and creamy, beat into it one well-beaten egg, two and half cups of sifted confectioners' XXXX sugar, one teaspoon of vanilla extract and one square of chocolate that has been melted over hot water.

London Minters Take Pop-Eyed Struggle From Muskegon, 10-9, In the 10th

Gehring's Hit to Left With Two Men on Bases Wins For Tecs in Tenth

Coogan Brings in Brace of Tallies With Triple in Eighth.

UMPS DRAW IRE

Real Crowd Turns Out For First Twilight Baseball This Year.

When Gehring dropped a single back of end in the tenth frame last night, with two on and two away, scoring the run which gave the Beattymen a 10-9 count over Red Pinner's Angiers, it brought to a close one of the wildest-eyed contests waged in this season, saved the umpires ringing the vesper bells and chasing the athletes indoors out of the gathering darkness and dew, and a lot of feelings and throat membranes that had been frayed to the hilt.

HITTING GREAT CLIP.

Frankie Frisch, star second sacker of the New York Giants, had them all looking with his fielding record so far this season. Since June 1 he has maintained an average of better than .8% accepted chances per game.

SHARE IN GIANTS TEAM BOUGHT BY ANDERSON

Former Part Owner of the St. Louis Cardinals Purchases Minority Stock.

New York, June 12.—F. Anderson, former part owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, has purchased the minority stock of Harry N. Hemstead in the National Exhibition Company, the incorporated name of the New York Giants, it became known here last night.

Hemstead became president of the Giants after the death of John T. Brush. He then sold the controlling interest of the Brush estate to Charles A. Stoneham, Francis X. McQuade and John J. McGraw in 1919 for a reported price of $1,250,000. Recently it was reported he tried to buy the Stoneham holdings but was unsuccessful.

The Hemstead stock was turned over to Anderson by McGraw, while the Giants were in St. Louis. The purchase price is said to be in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Anderson, who apparently had the killing at third, the fiery Italian led the verbal attack on Umpire Agur as the whole Muskegon crowd threw the last of a series of fits caused by decisions. Baker was called out on strikes. Then Gehring's single broke up the festive mood.

Andy Miller put in a hectic afternoon, which was brought to a close in the eighth, when four solid blows checked in four London counts, after he had victory within his grasp from the second frame on. It all happened with two zone, Nason singling, and then going to second on a sac, putting two on, Elbert pinch-hit a double, scoring one run, then Coogan's triple cashed in two more, and Baker's single drove in the fourth.

Had Lead to Work On. Miller was given a three-run lead to work on in the second, when Dunn walked, Simon Cortazzo doubled and Kandler tripled, scoring himself on a ground out. Miller presented the locals with a run in the same frame, Stimpson singling and Nason scratching an infield smash, and Coogan shot a drive to second on a sac, putting two on, Elbert pinch-hit a double, scoring one run, then Coogan's triple cashed in two more, and Baker's single drove in the fourth.

CLIPPERS' SOLID HITTING WINS 6-4

Home-Run With Two On in the Eighth Puts Score in Hams.

Special to The Advertiser. Hamilton took the first game of the series here this afternoon by defeating Kalamazoo, 6 to 4. Karl Adams, on the mound for the Clippers, in great shape until the eighth frame, when Willis lifted one over the fence with two on. The other run came in the first after Adams had walked the first man up. The locals got their runs in the first, second and sixth, hitting accounting for all of them. None they had the bases loaded with none out, but getting the runners in. Michaelson showed some good work in the pinches. Wieneke pitched the eighth frame after Mike had been taken out for a pinchhitter.

TWILIGHT AND DAYLIGHT.

Twilight ball may introduce daylight into the box office.

UMPIRES IN SLUMP.

The umpires this year have run into considerable criticism in the Mint. E. W. Dickerson, for the first time in his 30 years as a sport writer, writes a column-long attack on the cocky attitude assumed by some of President Halligan's pickers at Grand Rapids. Umpires Agur and Sheppard ran into a bad day here yesterday, but at least did not assume an autocratic attitude. Both have been doing well, but there are days like yesterday when everything is too close for comfort.

It was Babe Sheppard's first appearance here, and Babe hasn't located the water tap yet. When Babe locates it, the fans will be too lost in wonderment at where he puts all the water to be critical.

WHEN IS A PATRON A KNOCKER?

It seems that our professional athletes are becoming particularly sensitive toward criticism, if a remark credited to Mr. Robert Quinn, president of the Red Sox, is to be taken as authentic. It is announced that Mr. Quinn has "decided to begin a crusade against the knockers who can be found in every ball park in the major leagues."

Mr. Quinn is quoted as saying, "Such persons annoy and disgust the desirable patrons of baseball, and in addition to abusing the home players they destroy, in some instances, their efficiency. I do not mind fair criticism, for that is really helpful, a benefit to the players and the clubs. In future I intend to spot objectionable spectators at Fenway Park, and will eject them after returning their money." To this published statement is added the comment, "Quinn has set a good example for the other major league club owners."

If it is true, Mr. Quinn has taken a great deal upon himself. One would gather that Mr. Quinn's notion of a desirable patron is one who sits back in his seat singing the praises of the home team though they may be plastered all over the lot. Even in the most partisan city of the big leagues there are times when all of the customers in the ball park would be regarded as undesirable, according to Mr. Quinn's standards.

It is much safer to stick to the old notion of what constitutes a desirable customer at the ball parks. A desirable customer is one who pays his way, including the war tax. He buys a score card, a bag of peanuts, a bottle of pop and perhaps an ice cream cone. His views as to the game and as to the merits of the contending teams do not signify. This customer has made himself highly desirable, and it would be ill-advised on the part of Mr. Quinn to have him evicted because of his views regarding the national pastime.

As a prelude to an eviction of the "undesirable" necessitates the refunding of the price of admission. There is no probability that the custom will become general. There are days when it might involve emptying the park.

Of course there is the dyspeptic fan who gets the habit of knocking baseball as well as life in general. These cannot, however, be avoided. The Polo Grounds and the Yankee Stadium have this kind of fans, and so has Tecumseh Park. But one of the most encouraging signs locally this year has been the absence of this particular type of fan. Cold weather may have had its compensations after all.

FRISCH'S FIELDING OF STELLAR ORDER

Giant Second Sacker Has Average of 8 1-2 Accepted Chances Per Game.

By JOHN B. FOSTER. Copyright, 1924.

New York, June 12.—One of the most remarkable fielding spurts made by any infielder this year is that made by Frankie Frisch, second baseman of the Giants.

Starting June 1, he has maintained an average of better than 8 1/2 accepted chances per game. On June 1, he started off by fielding 10 chances. The next day he made it 11. June 3, the Giants played a double-header and he picked up 11 and nine chances, respectively.

Rain stepped in and prevented him from getting any more until June 5, and that day he knocked down six. There was no game on June 6, but on the 7th he grabbed eight. June 8 he got only three, his low mark for the month. But on the next day he was right back with nine. And on the 10th he got 10, and on the 11th eight.

Many "Discoverers."

When you can average better than eight accepted chances per game over a period of nearly two weeks, you are top-notching, and that is just what Frisch has been doing.

When Chicago fans feel right good at heart, they like to compare Grantham with Frisch. It is a pleasant pastime, but Grantham is hardly up to the Frisch specifications yet, and didn't begin with the natural ability that Frisch possesses. Nor did he have as many discoverers as Frisch did. A small army knew all about Frisch before the Giants got him. You might line up a procession half a block long all entitled to carry a banner, "I found Frisch." As a matter of fact, there were several clubs that had Frisch located about the same time the Giants got into the hunt, but McGraw had the best bait, and it was a mighty good day for the Giants when John caught him.

Eddie Brown Good.

Eddie Brown has rounded out an infield for the Brooklyn team, and that was one of the things Brooklyn did not have. Wheat, Brown and Griffith can hit. And Wheat and Griffith should play better ball than a pitcher like Brown between them.

The combination will give the Brooklyn pitchers high-class support, and Dutch Ruether will have no occasion to lament to outsiders that he can't get the right kind of backing.

Brown can go back on a ball as well as any long-legged fielder in the game, and will take a fly swatted at the rate of a mile a minute to beat him to the fence.

PETROLIA MAPLE LEAFS DEFEAT CRESCENT NINE

Special to The Advertiser. Petrolia, June 12.—The Maple Leafs defeated the Crescenta here last evening 9 to 5 in one of the closest games witnessed this year. Art Wilson pitched two innings for the Leafs and worked in fine form.

Bassett was hit hard by the Leafs, but was given good support. Jerry Currie knocked a home run, the longest made on the local diamond this season.

The score: R. H. E. Leafs 9 10 0. Crescenta 5 10 4. Umpire—McIntee.

May Play Sarnia Double Header

L.A.A.A. Have Postponed Game To Play At Border.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, June 12.—Sarnia baseball fans may have the opportunity of seeing the Sarnia seniors in action twice on July 1, according to officials of the local club, Dinsmore's London A. A. A. nine is scheduled to play here on the holiday, and efforts will be made to have them play off their postponed game of May 24 on the morning of the holiday, with the regular game in the afternoon.

Attempts have been made to have this postponed game played during a Wednesday afternoon, but London has been backward about making the trip through the week, and it is likely they will agree to the double bill on the holiday, and save the expense of an extra trip to the Border City.

If this is arranged, it is likely the club will put on a booster day, and bring out the largest crowd that has ever witnessed an amateur baseball game in the history of the sport in this stronghold.

BLenheim NINE LOSES TO DRESDEN IN 15TH

Wild Heave Lets in Run That Ends Fast Engagement.

Special to The Advertiser.

Dresden, June 11.—Blenheim lost to Dresden, 9-2, in a Kent League here yesterday.

In the first, an error let a Blenheim batter to first. Jefferson of Blenheim followed, awaiting one over the race track fence for a homer.

Dresden secured one in the second, and then both teams went scoreless till the sixth, when McFadden stole home.

This tied the score, and from that point to the end of the 15th the game was a series of thrills. Three times Johnston for Dresden struck out two men with the bases full.

Both pitchers showed a class of work unsurpassed, and although Dresden got a few more wallops of Beaulieu than was secured by Johnston, the excellent field work of Blenheim prevented runs from materializing.

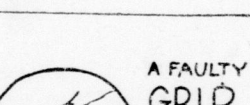

At the close of the 14th, Adkin reached third, and a few moments later an overthrown to second scored him, giving the locals the third and winning run.

Johnston's work in the box, carrying the entire game, with 20 strikeouts to his credit, was an exhibition to be proud of.

Batteries: Dresden—Johnston and McFadden; Blenheim—Beaulieu and Davis. Umpires—Brundage and Davis.

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

THESE WILL CAUSE:

TIPPING - SLICING - PULLING - SMOTHERING - BAD BALANCE - POOR DIRECTION - AND LACK OF CONTROL.

SO WATCH YOUR GRIP AND YOUR STANCE

What are the commonest faults of the average golfer?

Answered by BOB CRUICKSHANK

runner-up in national open championship, 1923, and the man who, in 1921, defeated Hutchison, Sarazen and Barnes in an invitation tournament at St. Joseph, Mo. Runner-up in Pittsburgh tournament for professional golfers, 1922, being defeated only by Sarazen.

A faulty grip and a poor stance are the commonest faults of the average golfer. The effects of these are numerous—topping, slicing, pulling, and smothering, shots. Then again, if the grip is not held properly, a faulty backswing will naturally follow. If the stance is not firm and correct in relation to the ball, a good balance cannot be maintained throughout the swing.

My advice to the average golfer is to get a grip which is suitable and at the same time comfortable. Also cultivate a good wide, firm stance, and you will be on the right road to correct a great many faults.

Majority of Students Enter Secondary School On Year's Proficiency.

CENTERS NAMED

Remaining Pupils Try Exams
From July Second To Fourth.

More than half of the pupils of Grade 8 classes of London schools will be promoted to secondary schools without having to try examinations. School Inspector V. K. Greer stated yesterday afternoon that while the exact number of successful students cannot yet be given, easily 50 per cent of the enrolment of over 600 have shown such proficiency in the year's work that they can safely be promoted.

Other Grade 8 pupils may go ahead and try the regular examinations for entrance to secondary schools. These examinations are to be held this year on July 2, 3 and 4. This will be some days later than usual, but the inspector points out that by that time other classes will be through, and there will be no interference made with entrance candidates.

Examination candidates of the schools have been grouped into eight divisions and eight schools in the city will be district headquarters for the writing of examinations.

The marginally noted schools will be the centers for examination writing, while those which follow will be the schools included in each case:

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 12. — The board of governors of the University of Toronto has sanctioned the purchase of the Canadian Academy of Music by the Toronto Conservatory of Music and has appointed Col. E. E. Goodenough to fill the vacancy of the board of governors of the Toronto Conservatory of Music caused by the death of Sir Edmund Walker.

By this action the two most important schools of music in Canada have been merged. On and after September 1, 1924, the teaching and examining now conducted by the two schools will be carried on entirely by the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and the examinations heretofore conducted by the Canadian Academy of Music will be discontinued.

For many years the Toronto Conservatory of Music has been conducting, under the faculty of music of the University of Toronto, local examinations from coast to coast in Canada and even in some centers in the United States. Dr. A. S. Vogt, dean of the faculty of music in the university, will be the head of the enlarged institution as he has been for many years of the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

Chown, general superintendent, who presided at this afternoon's session of the Toronto Methodist Conference, said it was proposed to hold a large central celebration to mark the union of the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist Churches. It was planned to hold the celebration in Toronto, and to make it an event that would arouse the attention of the world, and at the same time unite all the various elements that would come into the new church. The present intention was to hold the celebration on April 15, 1925.

NOMINATIONS MADE FOR BY-ELECTIONS

Preston, June 12. — Official nominations for the provincial by-elections in South Waterloo on June 23 were received here this afternoon, from noon until 2 o'clock by Returning Officer J. Allison of Galt, and as was expected, there are only two candidates, W. C. Shaw, Conservative, and K. K. Homuth, Labor, whose election last June was voided following a hearing before judges of the supreme court of Ontario of charges made by the Conservative candidate in the election. There were few on hand to hear the rival candidates outline their platforms.

Hourly Service To Port and Concerts On Heights Will Start Next Sunday

Full Summer Schedule On Port Stanley Railway Goes Into Effect.

CHEAP RATES ALSO

Warm Weather Has Started
Rush of Picnickers and Cottagers.

Sunday next, June 15, the full summer schedule goes into effect on the London & Port Stanley Railway. From 5:40 in the morning until 10:20 at night an hourly service, or better, will afford the people of London and St. Thomas unsurpassed facilities for reaching the finest summer resort on the shores of Lake Erie, grand old Port Stanley, a place of marvellous beauty, with every possible accommodation for the picnicker. Returning service will be just as good.

The low summer rates will also be in force—London to Port Stanley and return 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children; St. Thomas to Port Stanley and return, adults 30 cents, children 15 cents.

The London & Port Stanley Railway makes direct connections at St. Thomas with the C.N.R., C.P.R., M.C.R., Wabash and the Pere Marquette railway. Passengers are ticketed through to all points in Canada and the United States. There is a daily boat service between Port Stanley and Cleveland, and the low rates have attracted a large passenger business.

Concerts Begin.

Sunday next the first band concert of the season will be given on Invererie Heights by the band of the Western Ontario Regiment, under the direction of Mr. A. W. Slatter. The concert will begin at 3:30, and every Sunday afternoon during the summer the concerts will be repeated on the heights. A choice program has been prepared, and Mr. Slatter promises a real musical treat.

The sudden burst of summer has resulted in a great influx of picnickers and summer cottagers to the lakeside. Some people seemed to think there would be no hot weather this season and neglected to engage homes or rooms at the lake, with the usual effect of a rush at the moment for accommodation.

While the hot weather has driven the picnickers into the water, and they report the soft, sandy beach is better condition than ever before, all the suits are thoroughly sterilized after being used, and everything is sanitary and clean about the place. In the ladies' section are even electrical hair-dryers.

The L. & P. S. Cafeteria has a joyous splendid patronage the past week. The hot weather has driven the picnickers into the water, and they report the soft, sandy beach is better condition than ever before. All the suits are thoroughly sterilized after being used, and everything is sanitary and clean about the place. In the ladies' section are even electrical hair-dryers.

The L. & P. S. Cafeteria is growing more popular daily, owing to the well-cooked, tasty food and the moderate prices. People are daily congratulating the management, and agreeing that it is now cheaper to eat at the cafeteria than to go to the trouble and expense of packing a basket. A full meal or a dainty snack can be secured in a jiffy. Everything from roast turkey to hunger-provoking fish dinners can be

Swim, Then Eat.

"What so rare as a day in June?" sang the poet. Make the most of this month of roses and blossoms and enjoy a ride on the finest electric railway on the continent to Port Stanley. Then after a plunge in the blue waters of old Erie, sit down to solid comfort in the L. & P. S. Cafeteria, where everything combines to make eating a real pleasure. From marble-topped tables set on polished hardwood floors the picnicker looks out through the spacious windows over the lake, and gone are the cares of the city and business entirely.

POPULAR PLAY GAINS SUCCESS

Presentation At Grand Receives Praise by Large Houses
Each Performance.
SCENERY EXCELLENT

Charles Major's romantic play, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," is being given a successful presentation by the McGarry Players at the Grand Theatre this week. The players, all of whom are now deservedly popular with the local public, have augmented their own talent for this play by bringing Miss Maude Fealy from New York to give the role of Mary Tudor. She does it remarkably well. Audiences during the early part of the week were thoroughly delighted and the popularity of the play seems only to increase with each performance.

As Mary Tudor, Miss Fealy commands admiration. No play had ever a more fascinating heroine, and anything other than complimentary would be unfair to the interpretation given this now famous role, as it was done last night and at preceding performances.

Miss Fealy's work is exceptional, but it must not be allowed to obscure the merits of the company who were formerly known here. Roger Pryor as Charles Brandon is an ardent and dashing cavalier as one could wish. The remainder of the cast are uniformly excellent with special interest attaching itself to the presence of Mr. Bert Perry, well-known in local amateur work, as the Cardinal.

It is quite evident the great pains have been taken in the arrangement of scenery and costumes for this production. All maintain a high standard of excellence. One could ask no better enjoyment for an evening.

GRAND BEND LOVELINESS LURES AS SUMMER COMES

With summer weather more definitely at hand, the question of summer resorts looms with the utmost importance. Early visitors to Grand Bend this season are becoming more and more impressed with the peculiar fitness of this lovely spot on Lake Huron to rank with the best and most popular resorts in the province. Natural scenic beauty, excellent bathing and recreational facilities developed to a highly efficient degree, have combined in recent years to bring Grand Bend more and more to the forefront, and the present year promises well to be the most successful in the history of the resort.

Preparations for an unusually large number of visitors are in readiness at the Bend. Stores and refreshment booths are of clean and attractive appearance, the majority of them having been renovated and redecorated both inside and out. At the hotel visitors will find everything in readiness for an anticipated bumper summer crowd—rooms all spotless, inviting beds, kitchens painted and scoured to a perfect whiteness, and dining-rooms all finely equipped with sparkling glass and silverware and snowy linens.

Campers' Paradise.
Throughout the park in any and every direction, men have raked and cleaned, trimmed and planted, making the place a veritable paradise for picnickers.

Cottagers, too, are busily employed just now in opening their homes for the summer. Winter's shutters are being stored away and in their places summer screens are appearing. The ladders and paint pots are also in evidence, and rap of the hammer indicates that Grand Bend has not enough cottages to supply the increasing demand. If advance crowds are to be taken as an indication, the Casino is in for a busy time. From far and near they are driving in to enjoy the dancing and music at this favorite recreation pavilion.

Picnic Plans Started.
From some of the officials of last year's Ford picnic it was learned that plans are already under way to make this year's Ford picnic one long to be remembered. Additional prize lists, new sports and a host of innovations which cannot be divulged are being put in shape for patrons of this popular frolic. The Ford picnic idea originated with the Grand Bend promoters, and they are asking everyone to work for this gala event and not be misled by announcements from other places seeking to "steal their thunder." Fishing is good these days. Over at the nets the fishermen are having wonderful results, while the more staid fishermen, casting from the pier, are also having plenty of fun and getting lots of fine pickerel and perch.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, June 12.—Desire Berthelme, motor mechanic, identified Louis Morel this afternoon as the man whom he saw on the afternoon of April 1, after the Hochelaga Bank collection car had been riddled of $142,288 and two men had been shot dead, help to start the car which was waiting for the bandits on Everett street.

Berthelme picked Morel out of six men who are in the dock facing a murder charge in connection with the holdup.

Descriptions of the actual holdup by eye-witnesses took up most of the hearing this morning.

Quit Poisoning Yourself Today! Notice Quick Difference in the Way You Look, Eat, Sleep and Feel.

Read How Vast Numbers Here Are Gaining Quick and Sure Relief Through Use of Dr. Thacher's Great Prescription.

The great agitation over SELF-POISONING is sweeping the country. The menace is great! It is one that should cause every man, woman and child to pause and consider one's own condition.

Self-Poisoning, as it is called, is the direct result of allowing the liver, the body's filter, to become clogged and choked. This is why many wake up feeling dull and tired—tongue coated—bad taste in mouth and offensive breath.

Why You Feel Badly
This explains why so many suffer from just such symptoms as poor digestion, sour stomach and formation of gases, improper movement of the bowels, pimples, sallow complexion, sick headaches and a nervous upset and overtaxed condition of the system—why one catches cold so easily while in this run-down condition and why the system is so healthy enough to throw off various diseases as nature intended.

Due to Neglect
But there is no need for alarm! This Self-Poisoning menace is not contagious—but due entirely to one's own neglect. And, just as science has traced these symptoms directly to a clogged liver and system, so medical authorities have perfected a remedy that overcomes the cause of Self-Poisoning and quickly relieves miserable sufferings.

Gives Quick Relief
The great prescription of Dr. H. S. Thacher is considered the most efficient of all methods in aiding Nature to throw off these poisons. Great numbers here are daily reporting quick relief from its use, and practically every experienced method of overcoming Self-Poisoning has been abandoned as case after case of remarkable restoration to health and happiness through Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup has been noted.

Strengthens System
Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup helps Nature to cleanse and tone the liver, wake up your appetite, strengthen your digestive organs, soothe the tired and overtaxed nerves, brace up your system and purify your blood. The result is you quickly feel a return of your strength, vigor and energy.

Sold Under Guarantee
Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup contains ingredients that are known to physicians for their corrective and health-building qualities. Just try it and notice the quick difference in the way you eat, look, sleep and feel. CITY ROTARIANS PLAN TO WELCOME TOURISTS

Hundreds Will Pass Through London on Way to Toronto Convention.

Rotarians on their way to the international convention at Toronto will receive a warm welcome at the hands of the London Rotary Club. Thousands of Rotarians are expected to reach here by motor on their way to Toronto and fourteen Pullman cars will make up a special train passing through here at nine o'clock Monday morning bound for the convention. The latter will bear as passengers Rotarians from California, Washington and Oregon.

A special committee of the London club, with Rotarian George Wesley as convener, has been organized to extend hospitality. As an advance step automobile stickers, bearing the emblems of the club, have been sent to the Windsor and Sarnia clubs to be distributed to Rotarians as they leave there on the way east. Road signs have been placed at advantageous points, directing the travellers to the Tecumseh House, where Rotary luncheons will be conducted on Saturday and Sunday.

VETERANS TO PREPARE FOR MEMBERS' OUTING

A general meeting of the members of the G. W. V. A. has been called for Thursday night, July 3, to determine a date for the organization's picnic. Today was repair day at the Dug-out. The billiard table has several bad lumps in it, caused by the slates of the table slipping from each end. Funds for the new table have not been procured as yet, but as soon as they are available the old table will be replaced. Till then the old table has to serve and consequently has to be repaired often, as it is beginning to show its age.

SESSION POSTPONED.
While several important discussions were scheduled, trustees were unable to get together last evening for the regular meeting of No. 3 committee of the board of education. The session was postponed indefinitely.
