WALK BEER LICENSES TO LARGE London Conference Takes $500,000 Budget Obligation

BAR ARE OPERATED AT A LOSS

Only Three Hotels Claim 4.4
Has Been Profitable—
Others May Pull Out.

RESTAURANTS THROUGH October 31 Will See Many Licenses in City Lapse, Is Belief.

Five months of 4.4 beer has brought general dissatisfaction in the sale of the much-heralded beverage, and Oct. 31, the date set by the attorney-general's department to renew licenses, will see instead cancellation of them by hotels, restaurants and grocery stores of the city.

Hotels and restaurants particularly have benefited only a little in their sales. Practically all London hotels, with the exception of three, have lost money in the operation of bars for the sale of beer, and although they have not yet definitely signified intention of closing, the feeling is among owners that they cannot sustain further loss. In anticipation of even less business during the months of colder weather, they are prompted to withdraw from the business.

A "flop" in restaurants. The same feeling exists among restaurant owners. The beer has been a "flop," the majority declare, and payment of $10 for a license would be a waste of money, as the sales of beer are expected to be even less during the winter time.

Grocerymen, however, have experienced better business and the greatest consumption of 4.4 thus far seems to have been in the home. The 34 grocers in the city report the sale of beer to be "just fair, but worthwhile," and to maintain a record of handling all goods which are in demand they are willing to renew their licenses, some even at the expense of a small loss.

Two hotel managers stated today that they were seriously considering closing their bars. "The new beer has been a dead loss," one stated. "It is a joke," said the other. "Even in hot weather the people refused to buy the stuff. The old two and a half per cent beer sold as well. We can sell water as easily as 4.4."

Three Will Quit. Restaurant owners can see no gain in handling the beer. Two on Richmond street on Dundas will refuse to pay a $10 fee for a license renewal at the end of next month. Many were indignant that they were expected to pay the fee on Oct. 31, pointing out that through delay in issuing the licenses they failed to receive their until two or three months ago, and when the expiration date arrives they will have had permission to sell beer for only four months.

Since Monday, when colder weather set in, the sale of beer in the city fell off about 100 per cent, they declare. That is an indication, they claim, that the business will not continue operation of months in order that if the new beer does arrive the sale will be among the first to offer it to the public for consumption.

Three London hotels, expectant that a stronger beer will be allowed by provincial government before many months, will continue operation of their bars in order that if the new beer does arrive the sale will be among the first to offer it to the public for consumption.

LONDON KIWANIS BACK FROM OTTAWA

Failed To Beat Toronto For 1926 Convention—Coming in 1927.

London's delegation of Kiwanis to the Ottawa convention returned this morning, following one of the most successful gatherings on record. They failed by an ace to beat Toronto to the wire in the race to secure the convention in 1926. Toronto had first bid in for the big meet, and though there was considerable support for London, hotel accommodation proved a considerable factor in the decision. London Kiwanis members were given much assurance that the next eighteenth convention will be held here in 1927. The appointment of Arthur Ford of London as district governor was a very popular one, both amongst local Kiwanis and those from other clubs.

WESTERN ONTARIO WILL NOT SEE ACCLAMATIONS

Nearest Approach to Candidate Being Returned Without Opposition Is in North Waterloo.

ALL PARTIES BUSY

Few Three-Cornered Contests
Will Be Staged in Southwestern Section.

The list of candidates in Western Ontario for the federal elections on Oct. 29 is rapidly being completed. It is very doubtful if there will be a single acclamation. The nearest to an acclamation so far would seem to be in North Waterloo, where there is great difficulty in getting anyone to stand against W. D. Euler, the independent Liberal member in the last parliament. Several Conservatives in the riding have been approached, but do not care to take up the almost hopeless task of defeating Mr. Euler.

In some of the larger centers the old parties are having internal troubles. In Toronto both Liberals and Conservatives are quarrelling. The consoling feature to the Liberals is that they haven't anything to lose, while the Conservatives have everything to lose in their wild scramble for the party honors.

There is a bad split among the Conservatives in North York, where Premier King is again the Liberal candidate. A former Conservative member for that seat, J. A. M. Armstrong, walked out of the Conservative convention in high dudgeon, and declared his intention for Col. T. H. Lennox, the official Conservative nominee.

Three-Cornered Fights Few.

There are fewer three-cornered contests than the politicians expected a month ago. In many ridings the Progressives and Liberals have sunk what little differences there may have been between them, and are now united in the support of one man. In every one of these cases success for the man so nominated is assured. Outside of some rural ridings all Conservatives in the last house were defeated.

parture From City.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Quebec, Sept. 23.—Premier King is expected here from his Maritime Provinces tour until early this evening. He will remain on board his private car, where he will have dinner and then proceed to St. Sauveur for the Liberal rally to be held on St. Peter's market. At the close of the meeting the prime minister will be escorted to the station by a large torchlight procession.

The meeting will be presided over by Hon. L. A. Taschereau, premier of Quebec. Mayor Samson will welcome the prime minister to the city of Quebec.

While the list of speakers has not yet been completed, it is officially stated that at least five federal ministers will address the gathering.

WILL SEEK TO RESTRICT POPPY GROWING INDUSTRY

Associated Press Despatch.
Geneva, Sept. 23.—A proposal submitted to the opium conference here last winter, providing for the dispatch of a committee of inquiry to Persia to ascertain if the poppy-growing areas could not be planted to other crops in the winter, was adopted by the humanitarian committee of the League of Nations assembly today.

Leverhulme's Art Treasures Will Go By Auction In U. S.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Sept. 23.—A special ship is to be chartered to carry the art treasures of the late Lord Leverhulme to the United States for sale. In making this statement the Westminster Gazette says the chartering of the vessel is due partly to the vastness of the collection, and partly because it will be cheaper than shipping by the ordinary steamship line.

W. T. GOODISON,
president of the Goodison Thresher Company, Sarnia, nominated yesterday by West Lambton Liberals as their candidate in the federal elections.

Mr. Goodison's chances of winning the riding are considered excellent as he is popular with all classes.

BOTH PARTIES WILL BACK GOODISON

Progressives of West Lambton Will Lend Support to Liberal Nominee.

Special to The Advertiser.
Sarnia, Sept. 23.—The forces of a Progressive-Liberalism are practically united in the riding of West Lambton against the special interest Tories. W. T. Goodison, who was the unanimous choice of the Liberals yesterday, had already been chosen by the Progressives in convention here last week. Mr. Goodison, however, could not accept the Progressive nomination, although he differed hardly at all in policy from them.

West Lambton Progressives did a splendid thing in offering their nomination to Mr. Goodison. It was the first time in history that a manufacturer was ever offered a nomination by a party which is largely made up of farmers, as well as being a manufacturer of farm implements. Mr. Goodison is a real dirt farmer, operating a farm of 200 acres in the riding.

He is one of that great number of Canadian manufacturers who believe that the success of industry depends upon the success of the farmer. He exists himself as a manufacturer, because his products sell exclusively to the farmers. He knows the viewpoint of the farmer, and believes that the Liberal policy gives the farmer as much opportunity as he could get by working out his own policy.

Most West Lambton Progressives will be against putting up another candidate, knowing perfectly well that if they do nominate a man, they will have a good chance of slipping in with a minority vote. The large portion of the Progressives know that the Conservatives would take Liberal votes. For that reason it is not likely that they will fall into the trap. With Mr. Goodison, as expressed in their offer of the nomination to him, there is an excellent prospect that after Oct. 29 he will be the member for West Lambton.

BRITISH RUM-RUNNING QUEEN APPEARS IN COURT

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Gloria de Casares, London's beautiful rum-runner, made her appearance in the Marlborough street police court today in connection with the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses brought against her last week by a large Oxford street store. She was defended by a counsel who pleaded her counsel to prepare his case.

In the Exeter speech referred to by Lloyd George, the Post intimated that the British people to unite in an effort equal to that exerted during the war to place the vast army of unemployed upon the unused land of the nation.

S. WINNIPEG CONSERVATIVES NOMINATE HON. R. ROGERS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, Sept. 22.—Hon. Robert Rogers, who held the post of minister of Borden administration, was the unanimous choice of a Conservative nominating convention, which tonight chose a candidate to contest South Winnipeg at the coming federal elections. No other name came before the meeting.

BUS PLAN COMES UP TONIGHT

Proposal For Vote of People on Authorization Bylaw Will Be Considered.

NO MOVE BY L. S. R.

Mayor and Aldermen See Different Lessons in Brantford Development.

A single definite transportation proposal is ready to go before No. 1 committee of the city council tonight. That proposal is that an authorization bylaw for a new bus company be submitted to the ratepayers of London in the December elections. Unless the mayor provides a definite proposal in connection with the street railway, a move which may be hastened by the introduction of the bus proposal, buses will be shoved into the limelight ahead of street railway transportation.

Aldermen point significantly to the introduction of bus systems all over the continent to supplement or supplant electric railways. Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Windsor and other cities have looked with more or less favor upon bus line extensions.

Today the firm of Wilson & Russell, town planning engineers, who made a survey of the London Street Railway company several years ago, recommended the scrapping of the street railway and the introduction of a bus line by the Brantford municipal administration. They also favor an increase in the B. M. R. fare from 8 cents to 10 cents, a corresponding increase for strips of tickets.

Commenting on this condition and its relation to the whole problem of transportation and affairs locally Mayor Wenig declares the condition in Brantford to indicate the fallacy of municipal operation. The Brantford street railway lost $30,000 last year.

However, it is stated by Ald. Douglas, Ald. Bottrell and others of the council, that the time has come for the motor bus. Useful service to outlying districts can best be provided by automotive vehicles, and more being received here in routing lines of such buses.

Following up his remarks at the city hall last night, the mayor is likely to suggest that the time has come for the motor bus to travel over Ridout bridge because of the load limit thereon.

"Every objection will be answered," said Ald. L. H. Douglas. "We are going to have the whole bus problem cleared up tonight. The council will find that the bus company new is a real proposition and can guarantee service."

LOYD GEORGE REPLIES TO RIDICULE OF POST

Plans For Back-to-Land Movement Justified, Says Former Premier.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Sept. 23.—Lloyd George has sent a sharp letter to the Morning Post in answer to that paper's comments on his speech at Exeter recently, when he outlined the new Liberal land policy. The Post intimated that Lloyd George was condemning those who had deprived the agricultural laborers of their rights over the common land while he himself was the owner of an estate in Surrey of which over half had at one time been common land.

Lloyd George replies to the Post by saying that the land in question may have been common land at one time, which was true of a very large proportion of the land in England, but when he took it over to build a house upon it it was a game and a pleasure ground, and heavily stocked with pheasants.

In the Exeter speech referred to by Lloyd George, the Post intimated that the British people to unite in an effort equal to that exerted during the war to place the vast army of unemployed upon the unused land of the nation.

Failed to Find
Bomb on Liner

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Sept. 23.—The Daily Mail says a radio warning from the New York office of the Cunard Line caused a hasty search for a bomb on the Berengaria when the ship was 1,200 miles out from New York on her way to Southampton.

All the passengers, the paper says, were ordered out for boat drill at the time the infernal machine was supposed to explode. During their absence their cabins were searched, but no trace of a bomb was found.

MILLION IN DOPE SEIZED AT TAMPA

"Higher Ups" in Gigantic Ring Placed Under Arrest by Federal Officers.

Associated Press Despatch.
Tampa, Fla., Sept. 23.—A gigantic narcotic smuggling and dispensing ring was uncovered here last night by federal agents. The ring was being run by a group of men who were being paid to smuggle narcotics into the United States from foreign ports and haul them directly into the city by motor boats. These motor boats, agents say, meet incoming vessels at a 12-mile point off shore and transfer the cargo under cover of darkness.

Federal operatives have been shadowing leaders of the ring since last spring. Working under aliases and posing as international smugglers the agents established acquaintances with the inner workings of the drugs clearing house.

BRITISH SEAMEN'S STRIKE IS NEARING SETTLEMENT

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Sept. 23.—Advice to the Exchange Telegraph from Melbourne, Australia, quote a prominent trade union official as declaring that the seamen's strike will be settled in a few hours.

The waterside workers are said to have unanimously decided to commence work on all ships, even if the seamen's strike is not settled. The dispute is being terminated by the seamen's union.

Permit Will Be Necessary

Druggists Will Be Required to Account For All Alcohol.

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, Sept. 23.—The question as to whether a druggist can keep alcohol in his store for purely medical purposes, such as mixing with doctor's prescriptions, without a permit from the board of license commissioners, was brought before Attorney-General Nickle today by H. P. Gordon, barrister, who represented a number of druggists.

The matter of interpretation arose out of a case in which the O. T. A. last session. It is understood that the attorney-general's attitude is that a permit is necessary.

FIRE DESTROYS QUEBEC VILLAGE

High Wind Whips Flames Into Fury as Volunteers Fight in Vain.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Quebec, Que., Sept. 23.—The village of St. Camille, Bellechasse county, was nearly wiped out by fire last night. The parish church, the offices of La Banque Canadienne Nationale and six private residences fell prey to the flames. This morning, they are nothing but a mass of ruins. Volunteer firemen fought for hours to prevent the spread of the flames, but their efforts were unsuccessful, largely because of a high wind that whipped the conflagration into fury and spread with startling rapidity.

Cure Will Visit Europe
First.

Data on London Man's Discovery Submitted to Old Country Doctors.

Issin, the substance that Dr. W. T. Galbraith, of 525 Talbot street, believes to be a permanent cure for cancer, will be manufactured in a laboratory at Byron on the return of Dr. Galbraith from Europe.

The veterinary surgeon, who has been working at the post office for some time stated that he had nothing more for publication at this time. He expected that the announcement would be greeted with more or less skepticism by the medical world and he would prefer his co-operation.

"The impossible has been accomplished before, and I know that I have something worth while," declared Dr. Galbraith. "I am not at liberty as yet to name the medical men who are associated with me in the matter, but will make their names known in due time. I have been working on this for 14 years and feel sure that I am on the right track."

FINANCE PLANS ARE APPROVED

United Church Court Endorses
Dr. Arnup's Maintenance and Extension Plea.

A CRITICAL TIME

Decision on Matter of Delegates to General Council Is Debated Long.

Discussion of the local maintenance and extension fund campaign, and of the method of electing commissioners to the next general council, monopolized almost the entire session of the London United church conference here this morning.

Following an address by Rev. Jess H. Arnup, D.D., Toronto, outlining the special financial campaign on behalf of the United church of Canada, the conference voted its hearty support of the sole plan and its acceptance of the sum of $500,000 allotted to the London conference by the general council.

Consideration of the election of 22 ministerial and 22 lay commissioners to the council was much more prolonged and involved, however, and a final decision was reached only after several amendments were made to the report brought in by the special committee empowered to draft a workable plan, taking in the merits of the former Methodist election system and the former Presbyterian rotation system. The scheme finally adopted, which will be carried out at a later session, calls for the election of half of the conference delegates from the floor of the house, by voting upon 60 names receiving the highest number of votes, and the election of the remaining half by the several presbyteries meeting in independent session and reporting to the conference for its approval.

Practical Problems. "Suffused in sentiment," declared Dr. Arnup at the outset of his address. "We as a United church, now face practical problems. It is not as 'Christendom for years past,' and by the Roman Catholic press of the dominion as 'an enemy of the Christian movement,' the United church of Canada has become the cynosure of all eyes and we must establish our position and justify our existence in carrying to a successful conclusion the great task that lies before us."

"To do this we must first strengthen, maintain and deepen the fellowship already existing," pursued Dr. Arnup, "and we must also strengthen the organized enterprises of the church, the old denominations that find expression in the outworkings of the church, the nation and the world. As a background, the 6,000 students for the ministry this year, 750,000 boys and girls in our Sunday schools and in our young men's and women's societies, and stations in the dominion, chaplains to greet immigrants arriving from foreign lands, social service work in the great cities, and last, but by no means least, the foreign mission work, 55 per cent of which falls to the lot of the United church."

The Reason for the Taxes.

When J. E. Armstrong was nominated by the Conservatives of East Lambton, he was reported by the London Free Press as having said:

"In the coming contest the government will be judged by its record. And it will be a record of nothing done. The war taxes are still being collected and the entire program of the King government had been promised as one of economy."

War taxes are still being collected, and the reason for it is very obvious—Canada has not yet paid her war bills. During the years of war there was nothing paid on the capital cost of the war; it was carried on entirely by war loans. The King government, on assuming office, had to take charge of the cost of the war just as definitely as though it had been in office during the war.

The following figures show to what extent the government was faced with war financing in the year 1923-24:

Interest on public debt	$137,892,735
Pensions	32,986,519
Soldiers' civil re-establishment	13,365,134
Soldier land settlement	1,519,868
Management, exchange, etc.	1,003,068
War and demobilization	4,464,760

Total $191,532,441

The government found itself committed to obligations sanctioned by the Meighen administration, such as:

Hullam terminals	$337,462
Esquimalt drydock	552,120
Dominion Iron and Steel Co.	1,500,000
Grand Trunk arbitration	100,523
Toronto harbor	1,014,735
Courtenay Bay, N.B.	1,909,950

Taxes are also necessary to take care of the $170,000,000 which the previous administration added to the public debt in the two years previous to the coming into office of the King government.

The carrying charges alone on which would be $8,700,000 per year. If Mr. Armstrong had cared to come fairly before his constituents with more facts he would have told them that after the Meighen government announced its intention of going to the country, it awarded contracts to its political friends for such work as this:

- William Head quarantine station.
- Wharf at Mason's Landing, B.C.
- Immigration shed at Quebec.
- Rivers du Lièvre, lock and dam.
- Drill shed roof, Ottawa.
- Deep water wharf at Gaspe.
- Alterations to Ottawa postoffice.
- Entrance to Whitby harbor.
- Red Deer, Alta., postoffice fittings.
- Wharf at Providence Bay.
- Grosse Ile, Que., quarantine station wharf.
- Fraser river, B.C., Stevenson jetty.
- Wharf at Parry Sound.
- Wharf at Cowichan Bay.

Even after the election was over the government let contracts for bridge work at St. Leonard, N.B., and another for printing bureau alterations at Ottawa. Not one dollar had been paid on any of this work, and it remained for the King government to finance it.

Has The Free Press Changed Its Mind?

The Free Press in its issue of September 16 saw in the decision of Hon. E. L. Patenaude to re-enter politics in Quebec a decided triumph for the Conservatives. It said:

"He is a man of outstanding ability, of high integrity and with organizing and leadership qualities. He has a large personal following in Quebec, and his decision to throw himself into the fight as the lieutenant of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen will arouse more than ordinary enthusiasm among the Conservatives of Quebec."

There was something inspiring about that picture. Mr. Meighen had been paying special attention to Quebec for years in an effort to win some support in that province, and it was a high spot on the rugged road of accomplishment to find Mr. Patenaude ready to "throw himself into the fight as the lieutenant of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen."

Then came Mr. Patenaude's entrance, but not as the Free Press had predicted. When he accepted nomination he chose to name his own station in the army, and made it very plain that he was not going to don the garment of a lieutenant, nor would he report at the headquarters of Mr. Meighen for direction or inspiration. His own definition is:

"I am free in every way, as free from Meighen as I am from King."

If the Free Press can find any comfort now in the situation that so pleased it a few days ago it can go ahead and extract what sunshine it can from this political cucumber.

Cause and Effect.

When churches speak of missionary effort it is generally taken to mean some foreign field where new ground is being broken, or a sparsely settled district at home where there are not enough people to keep a church in operation. If one were to speak of taking up an offering to carry on missionary work in New York city the suggestion would be regarded as a practical joke, but the Dearborn Independent gives statistics to show that New York has actually reached the stage where almost fifty per cent of the Protestant churches are being supported out of missionary funds contributed by the country at large.

This does not indicate that there has been an era of extension, the erection of new places of worship or the invading of slum districts by church forces, but that existing churches that were erected years ago are no longer self-supporting. Some of the results of the survey are shown in these figures:

Out of forty Presbyterian churches, twenty-one are being supported by missionary funds.

Out of twenty-six Methodist churches, twenty-one are being supported and maintained by missionary funds.

Out of twenty-one Baptist churches, twelve depend for their upkeep on the same method of assistance.

And these conditions are prevalent in spite of the fact that there are thirty-six fewer Protestant churches in Manhattan than there were twenty-five years ago, and more than half of the churches still surviving have a budget of about $4,000 a year.

On Manhattan Island the number of Protestant churches regularly drawing support from the missionary funds and those self-supporting divide as follows:

	Self-Supporting.	Getting Assistance.
Presbyterian	19	21
Methodist	5	12
Baptist	9	12
Total	33	54

In the last thirty years, below 30th street, forty-six churches have sold out their holdings for business properties; the population has increased 300,000 in that district, and practically no new provision has been made for church service. Even more startling is the statement that these three denominations have not created a single outstanding new church in greater New York in fifteen years.

In the real residential section, Washington Heights, where two hundred apartment houses have been erected in one year, which boasts the largest high school in the world, and where Columbia University medical school centers, there is only one completed church. There is one section there with 50,000 persons without even a Sunday school of any denomination.

Meantime Chief Magistrate McAdoo of New York city says: "The criminal youth of this city brought before me have no religious training. There is absolutely no basis for character."

Uniting East and West.

A farmer in Cheviot, Sask., wrote the city offices in Toronto, saying he wanted to get married and would like a list of girls with whom he could correspond. He described himself as 26 years of age and single, which is a very desirable specification. He is "five foot, eight," which may be a trifle short, but not a drawback, as there are many excellent men of this stature. Likewise he has fair hair and blue eyes, which is much better than being bald-headed and having a glass eye. Finally he owns a half-section of land and has it under crop.

Yet it is recorded that his letter was tossed in the waste basket of Toronto's official offices, and the whole matter dismissed with the comment that "We're not running a marriage bureau here."

That's a poor way to build up Canada. Here we have all our politicians scurrying around now telling us how to unite the east and west, and when a golden opportunity like this came right in the midst of all this campaigning, official Toronto cast it in the waste basket. Toronto's a big place, but it does some mighty odd things at times.

Note and Comment.

"Judge" exclaims: "Oh fashion, what shins are permitted in thy name!"

Never a senator has wilted yet on hearing that he had been sent down for life.

The Elgin county people with rifles and shotguns have discovered the best way to keep the wolf from the door.

Peterborough Examiner says the fall fair there was greater than ever. Even the dog show was a howling success.

President Coolidge is very human and much like other people. He had to jump for the curb to escape being bumped by a motor car.

The Conservatives have nominated a candidate named Romeo. Shakespeare's Romeo won his nomination too, but failed in the finals.

One church paper, when asked if it were true that a shortage in ministers existed, replied: "Yes, decidedly, but not in preachers."

Although the output of the gold and silver mines of the world reaches an imposing figure, the lowly hen on the North American continent manages to outstrip this total.

Harriston man was fined $100 for prescribing herbs and selling them for the ailments that pursued some of his neighbors. Of course there's nothing in that to prevent a man from going out and coming back with the makings of an iron-wood tonic for his own tribe.

Who starts the foolish election stories? Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, speaker of the house of commons, has had to deny a report that he is dropping out of public life. If justice were done, Mr. Lemieux would be given an acclamation for Gaspe, because it would not be possible to secure a representative who has been so impartial a presiding officer, or one who is so thoroughly versed in parliamentary procedure.

Arthur de Witt Foster is a Conservative candidate in Nova Scotia. He is the same person who was read out of the party by Sir Robert Borden for his share in the fraudulent horse-buying episode in the war years. At that time Sir Robert said of Foster and Garland: "I feel that I owe it as a duty to the government of which I am the head, to the party of which, in federal affairs, I am the leader, and to this house and to this country, to express, as I do here express, my very grave disapproval of their conduct in respect of the matters which have been under investigation by the public accounts committee." Mr. Meighen might very well insist that Mr. Foster stay out of the limelight.

Stove Pipes

Around this season comes a time most tryin' to domestic men, when folks at home they vote to put the kitchen stove pipes up again.

The weather gettin' rather cool, the household voted it was time for me to get the stove pipes up and hitch their neck unto the epine. I havin' took them down before and only bust one china cup, I reckoned 't would be easy work to take an hour and stick them up.

I got a ladder and some wire, a hammer and a kitchen stool, likewise a bucksaw and a wrench, a handy sort of household tool.

The folks they stood around to help, I climbin' with pipe number one, and tellin' them to keep an eye at how a job like this was done—for some time they might have to start and do a thing like this alone, for it might turn cold of a spell when I was twenty miles from home.

So then I took the next pipe up and swung it out in empty place, and some one got the broomstick then to hold it in its proper place.

Next came an elbow in the trail, I jammed it like it was before, when them two other lengths of pipe went crashin' on the kitchen floor. I got them hoisted up again and pasted three inside of two, but somehow they bulged at the joint like what they shouldn't ought to do.

We started from the other end and stuck one endways in the wall, and wedged it with a piece of brick so how it couldn't budge or fall, and on that end I parked a pipe and pounded it and drove and drove, when some one hollered that's the end that should be hitchin' on the stove.

I skinned my fingers, bumped my nose and swore in Yiddish and in French, I well nigh killed my loved ones there when I let fall the monkey-wrench. It was four hours between the time when I got through and I begun, I used a scrubbin' brush and lye to scrape the language from my tongue.—ARK.

To the Editor

Wants Better Arrangements.

Crediton Man, After Visiting the Fair, Criticizes Some of the Arrangements There.

Editor of The Advertiser:
Sir,—I see in The Advertiser where they are talking of improving the Western Fair. Well, let them improve the sanitary arrangements. It was a shame and a disgrace for London. Why, farmers around here have better and nicer stables for their pigs than the Western Fair has in the way of public conveniences.

When they get this attended to I will come again, but not before.

Editorial Opinion

(From the Dearborn Independent)
I READ in the papers that a man in New York advertised for public advice as to how to dispose of his millions. He must have been a man of very little experience else he would have known that the public loves nothing more dearly than to tell men who make money how to spend it. The act was almost though not quite so foolish as Mr. Bok's advertisement for peace plans. People who can't make a dollar think they know how to spend millions; and those who cannot regulate their own affairs team with plans for the government of the world. Why, it is a good sign, this interest in things beyond one's scope and power, but certainly those who follow the advice of the public in anything are due for some serious lessons in the comparative value of advice.

A WELCOME SIGHT.

(From the Winnipeg Free Press)
THE presence in Winnipeg on Thursday of some 40 genuine land-buying farmers from the United States brought here in the manner of the hundreds who used to come up in the few years immediately preceding the war, must have been very welcome to those who know how much of the west has been effectively settled up by such means.

The colonization department of the National Railways is deserving of credit for showing to the country that it still is possible to bring in farmers with capital who wish to come from the United States to Western Canada and undertake farming on a reasonable scale. It is understood that the men who were in Winnipeg were not merely spying out the land for themselves but for relatives and friends, and that the capital at the disposal of the group and its connections was well into six figures.

TIGERS TAKE TWO

Associated Press Despatch. Washington, Sept. 22.—Washington advanced to within three victories of its second consecutive pennant today by defeating Cleveland 3 to 2. It was Cleveland's 20th victory of the season. With the world's series only two weeks away, Manager Harris was forced out of the game with a badly lacerated finger on his throwing hand in the first inning. He was held in third base in the first inning.

DETROIT TAKES TWO. Associated Press Despatch. Boston, Sept. 22.—Detroit took both games from the Red Sox today 11 to 8 and 7 to 2. Seven runs in the sixth inning of the first game settled the contest in favor of the Tigers. Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross star, pitched the second game for Detroit. It was his first full game in the American League and his second victory of the season.

GIARD BLANKS ATHLETICS. Associated Press Despatch. Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—Joe Giard, youthful St. Louis southpaw, showed rare form today and blanked the Athletics in the opening game of the series. He pitched a complete game, allowing only nine hits, most of which were the result of errors. He struck out 10 batters.

YANKS, SOX SPLIT. Associated Press Despatch. New York, Sept. 22.—The Yankees and Chicago divided a double-header at the Yankee stadium today. The Yankees won the first game, 4 to 3, and the Sox took the final 2 to 1. The Yankees' Ben Holtz, who had been out of the lineup for several days, pitched a complete game, allowing only six hits in the second game, which allowed a Chicago runner to score.

Seniors Travel to Falls Today

The London seniors tackle Niagara Falls today in the Cataracts' backyard in a game which should put the Londoners into the finals. The local edge stood out fairly well last Saturday, and unless they crack today, should carry off this series as they have all others since they started their trek toward the provincial finals.

Quick will probably be started against the Falls on Saturday, but on the other hand, they pointed to the fact that they were not pushed at any time. However, the Falls crew was never able to provide the punch when it was needed, and lead has given the local confidence that they have the Power City crew's number. However, things are liable to happen at any time when amateur teams get to the pitch these two clubs have worked up to.

BIG MOB STONES O. T. A. OFFICERS

Five Hundred Attack Provincial Police With Guns and Rocks.

RESERVES CALLED

Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, Sept. 22.—Police reserves were called out last night when a mob of 500 threatened Ontario temperance enforcement officers, who were raiding a north-end house.
Guns were fired and rocks thrown at Inspector Tabor and Provincial Officers Hefferon and Gorman.

According to the officers' story, they had entered a house which had been under observation for weeks and arrived in time to see two young girls concealing bottles of liquor. While they were questioning the occupants, 500 people assembled outside and the three were bombarded with stones while guns were discharged. None of the officers were injured.

Hefferon, a former South African Olympic star runner, chased one gunman for several blocks, finally running him down. Criminal charges are expected to be laid today.
