(FOR THE PROVINCIAL WESLEYAN. Faith.

"All things are possible to him that believeth." Faith is the gift of God. Of worth invaluable It leads the soul to things on high Repels the darts of hell-Points to the home of peace above,

Faith brings the sinner near The footstool of His grace, Who died that we with joy might see The Saviour's smiling face-Disarms the Judge's wrath and ire, And saves from the devouring fire

Faith whispers words of peace

To the sin-stricken soul;

Tells that the ransom-price is paid

Faith leads us to behold

By Him on whom our sins were laid

It hears the joyous notes they sing,

Before the great eternal King.

Faith bears the Martyr up,

With joy to follow in the road,

The steps the lowly Saviour trode

Faith gives to prayer its wings

Where yonder listening ear,

Fully believes an answer given.

Faith looks above the scenes

Presented to the sight :

It tells him that a rest remains.

By faith's almighty power

On which to mount on high ;

E'er hears the feeblest crv-

And fills the heart with tastes of heaven

Nor want, nor woe, nor all life's ills,

Can spoil the saint's delight-

That's free from toil, and grief, and pains

We scorn the mountain's height

Nor dread o'erhanging clouds of ill,

Nor vet th' unequal fight-

See smiling skies above the head. With joy and gladness bright o'erspread.

And bids the guilty broken heart

Believe and be made whole-

The throng new-clothed in white,

Who wash'd their robes in Jesus' blood,

And dwell with Him in light-

Dreads not the scorching flame

To scorn the sufferer's shame____

And arms him with courageous power

The throne of everlasting love.

Russia's Acceptance of the Propositions.

Few persons, we presume, who have been accustomed to reflect upon the causes and course of the present war were prepared for the announcement contained in those lines which would first catch the eye of the reader addressing himself to the perusal of the latest intelligence brought by the Steamship Arabia: and not less few, we surmise. is the number of those whose minds are now pervaded by the belief that the restoration of peace is secured, and who rejoice enlightened by the Gospel, by exhibiting ized life. in the assurance that it is nigh at hand. We have lately heard so much of the redoubled activity of Russia, in her preparations for the further and vigorous prosecution of the war; her tone has been, notthe public mind of England and France upon the utter futility of any efforts which those powers could put forth to achieve their object, by portraying the amplitude of her resources and the especial adaptation of her position for successful resistance at least; that the professed alacrity of the Czar to accept unconditionally the his argument. propositions of the Allies must not only occasion surprise, but awaken solicitous apprehension for the ultimate success of the western bank of the river Thames, upwards negociations on which the nations at war of twenty miles beyond London. Poetry.

We Watched Her Breathing.

BY THOMAS HOOD. "She sleeps; Her suile has passed away, As dies the ripples on the sea." We watched her breathing through the night, Her breathing soft and low, As on her breast the wave of life Kept heaving to and fro.

So silently we seemed to speak, So slow we moved about, As we had lent her half our powers To eke her being out.

Our very hopes belied our fears, Our fears our hopes belied ; We thought her dying when she slept, And sleeping when she died.

For when the morn came, dim and sad. And chill with heavenly showers, Her quiet eyelids closed-she had Another morn than ours.

" A Man of His Word."

You may sing of the heroes of yore, You may speak of the deeds they have done, Of the foes they have slain by the score, Of the glorious battles they've won : You may seek to eternize their fame, And it may be with goodly success-But it is not the warriors name That this heart and this spirit would bless ; Though oft at their mention my soul has been stirred.

some mouldings.

Yet dearer to me is the man of his word.

You may speak of the great ones of earth, Of prelates, of princes and kings; I doubt not there's something of worth In the bosom of all human things : But dearer to me than the whole Of pageantry, splendor and pride, Is the man with a trank honest soul Who never his word hath belied ; Yes, prized above all that this earth can afford, Though lowly and poor, is the man of his word !
