A LESSON IN TILLAGE.

Department of Agriculture.

The texture or physical condition of the soil is nearly always more important than its mere richness in plant food. Every farmer knows, or should know, that a hard and lumpy soil will not grow good crops, no matter how much plant food it may contain. A clay soil, which has been producing crops for any number of years may be so seriously injured by one injudicious ploughing in a wet time as to ruin it for the growing of crops for two or three years. The injury lies in the modification of its physical texture, not in the lessening of its fertility. A sandy soil may also be seriously impaired for the growing of any crop if the humus, or decaying organic matter, be allowed to burn out of it. It becomes tenacious, it quickly loses its moisture, and it becomes excessively hot in bright sunny weather.

A finely divided, mellow, friable soil is more productive than a hard lumpy soil of the same chemical composition. Why? Because it holds and retains the moisture; it holds more air; it presents greater surface to the roots; it promotes fertility; it hastens the decomposition of the mineral elements; it has less variable extremes of temperature, and it allows a better root-hold to the plant. In all these and other ways the mellowness of the soil renders the plant food more available, and affords a congenial and comfortable place in which the plant may grow.

First Prepare the Soil.

If it is useless to apply commercial fertilizers to lands which are not in proper physical condition for the very best growth of crops. How, then, can the texture of lands be improved? By judicious ploughing and tillage, and mulches; by the incorporation of humus; by the use of under drains, wind breaks, application of lime, salt and adaptation of crop to soil.

AT SMITH'S FALLS.

A Wonderful Cure of Bright's Disease.

So Weak He Couldn't Stand—Terribly Broke—Finally Found a Cure—Dodd's Kidney Pills Made Him Well.

Smith's Falls, July 28.—(Special).—The cure of Mr. Theodore Young, of this place, is a wonderful example of the progress that medical science has made in the last few years. Up till a short time ago the doctors claimed that Bright's Disease was absolutely incurable, and in fact there are a few who still adhere to this theory.

But Bright's Disease is still incurable. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure this terrible malady and have done so in thousands of cases.

Those who are skeptical need not go farther than this town to find proof. Mr. Young makes this statement:

"I was afflicted for about two years with Kidney Trouble and chronic Bright's Disease. My urine was very dark and I lost considerable blood, making me so weak I could scarcely stand.

"After using the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I was much better, and when I had used four boxes I was able to resume work which I had not done for some time previous.

"I can conscientiously recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to any one afflicted as I was.

Mr. Young's case is only one of a great many where Dodd's Kidney Pills came to the rescue after everything else had failed. They have conquered Bright's Disease and restored to life and health men and women who had not expected to ever again enjoy this great blessing.

Dodd's Kidney Pills having demonstrated their ability to grapple with Kidney Disease in its worst form—Bright's Disease—can certainly be depended on to cure any of the lesser forms.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only medicine that has ever cured Bright's Disease.

JOKE ON THE CANADIANS

A good story on themselves is being told by two well-known young men who were with the coronation contingent in England.

The twins were strolling about the city in the middle of the afternoon when the desire for a bath became so strong that they went in search of some place in which they could have a dip. They came to a large building on which were inscribed the words "Bath House" and they were overjoyed that their search was so soon over.

They proceeded to the entrance and rang the bell. They were met by a servant in livery, but at that moment one of the Canucks concluded that a change of underwear would be the right thing. Instead of entering they went and made the purchase. On returning to the building they proceeded to a side entrance and were greeted by another man in livery who called:

"What are you fellows doing here?"

They replied that they desired to have a bath. The man in livery gave them a surprised look for a moment and then gave them the merry Ha! Ha! They were incensed at this and asked in angry tones to be taken where they could have a bath. Their tormentor instead of replying called some others in the same uniform as himself, and all appeared to enjoy the joke immensely.

Afterwards the twins told the Canadians that the building was not a bath house.

"Well," said one of the khaki heroes, "what does that bath-house spell if it does not spell Bath House?"

The servant explained the building was not a place for bathing but the city home of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

The Canadians were considerably taken down, but after being directed to the place they wanted to reach they soon recovered their good humor and laughed heartily over their mistake.

Helme and His Wife.

In connection with the monument that is to be placed on Helme's grave in the cemetery of Mountmarie, Paris, says the Chicago Post, it is interesting to recall the early life of the poet in the French capital. He fell in love with a poor, unlettered girl who served in a glove establishment, and after keeping house together they married. Helme frequently beat his wife, always reminding her that it was for her good. The thrashings, however, did not impair her conjugal fidelity. On the day after his wedding Helme drew up a will, in which he bequeathed everything to his wife on condition that she married again. He wished, he said, that at least one man should regret his death.

They had recently been married and the young wife's bliss was reposing on the breakfast table.

The wife watched him intently, expectation on every lineament.

No indeed, gentle reader, he made no unkind remarks about getting a growler, a nut cracker, or a stick of dynamite to help him eat them.

"I suppose those are not like what your mother used to make?" she asked.

"Well, I should say not," he exclaimed, eating with hearty good will. "I suppose you know my father died of dyspepsia."

Then love's dream meandered on.—Boston Herald.

A Poet's Epitaph.

Last week the Channing lot in famous old Sleepy Hollow Cemetery at Concord, Mass., witnessed the adieu of the poet, Elery Channing, whose remains were cremated, at his request, last January, but not committed to earth till July 15th. The only service was the reading above the grave of a Greek epitaph, written for him, of which this is the translation: In this small urn we bury all of thee, Dear Poet! that our sacred grove may hold; Thou art escaped; yet blossom fair and free Thy songs that stirred us young, and soothe us old.

The Raw Material.

A little girl had listened during the last few weeks while her parents cleaned the high prices of meats and vegetables. It had been the customary topic at the table, and the child had been heard to speak about the high price to her playmates. Yesterday the mother presented the family with a bouncing baby boy, and the other child was well pleased. In telling about her new brother to a neighbor last night she exclaimed: "The doctor brought him this morning. He's awful big. Wasn't mamma good to buy such a big baby when meat is so high?"—Boston Herald.

Matrimony Has Ten Commandments.

These commandments studied and obeyed by Theophilus Parker shortly before the day of his wedding cannot fail to be interesting to our readers, especially to those contemplating marriage. They took the form of ten beautiful resolutions, which he inscribed in his journal. They are as follows: 1. Never for the best reasons, to oppose my wife's will. 2. To discharge all duties for her sake freely. 3. Never to scold. 4. Never to look cross at her. 5. Never to worry her with commandments. 6. To promote her piety. 7. To bear her burdens. 8. To overlook her follies. 9. To save, cherish and forever defend her. 10. To remember her in my prayers. Thus, God willing, we shall be blessed.

What He Did Not Understand.

The professor of mechanics at a certain college once gave a lecture upon the locomotive, and was particularly struck by the absorption of one juvenile listener. He spoke to the student after the lecture, and enquired: "I suppose you understand all about the locomotive now?" "Yes," was the reply. "All but one thing." "And what is that?" said the professor, kindly. "The machine that makes the locomotive move without horses."

SHEEP WAR VERY BITTER.

Dozen Lives Sacrificed and 600,000 Animals Slain.

LOSS REACHES MILLIONS.

Government With the Cattle Men, but the Sheep Herders are Making a Desperate Struggle—A Woman of Pluck and Endurance.

Denver, Col., Aug. 11.—At least a dozen men killed, three times that number wounded, 600,000 sheep, with an approximate value of $2,400,000, killed, and thousands of dollars' worth of sheep wagons, outfits, ranch buildings and hay stacks burned by raiders during the last ten years is a conservative estimate of the cost of the frontier sheep war, which has now broken out again more virulent than ever. Ten thousand sheep have been killed in the last three months.

This fiercest and most unique of all frontier vendettas is growing in intensity with each succeeding day, and unless the general Government soon takes a hand and enacts laws that will control the public grazing lands and establish the rights of the sheep and cattlemen the sheep industry of Southern Wyoming and Northern Colorado will be thoroughly demoralized. Conflicts between cattle and sheep men are becoming more frequent, and the slaughter of sheep and killing of flock tenders are rousing the people to a pitch of fury that will result in a general outbreak unless some relief comes soon.

Antipathy to Sheep. This old conflict of grazing interests had its inception in the natural antipathy that cattle have for sheep. This antipathy is so strong that it extends even to the land upon which sheep have grazed, and the water, unless it is running, which they have drunk, is not herded closely, in bodies of 500 to 1,000, and are usually moved slowly in one direction. They nibble off every blade of vegetation so close to the earth that the roots are destroyed, their feet trample what is left into the earth, and as a result the land over which they have passed is left an almost barren waste, upon which no grass will reappear for several seasons. The odor left behind by the sheep is very offensive to cattle, and the latter would rather starve than feed where sheep have been. For this reason land once used for grazing sheep is useless for cattle for several years afterward.

Dared the Cattlemen. There are two figures in this conflict who arouse one's admiration. They are Edward A. Edwards, now a leading sheep man, of Eastern Oregon, the first man to dare the cattlemen; and Mrs. Nancy B. Irving, a former Chicago woman, whose great ranch was recently raided and 1,200 goats slaughtered in the years from 1890 to '95. Edwards was a flock master in Routt County. For three successive years he essayed to graze his sheep on the public range of the Colorado line. He disregarded the warnings of the cattle men and lost his flocks. County and State authorities, fearful of the cattle men's influence, refused to back him up in his fight for his rights. She gathered a band of retainers to defend his flocks. A larger band of cattle men defeated his army, bound and gagged them, tied them to trees, and slaughtered the flocks before their eyes. At last he became discouraged, and for two years has not taken part in the struggle. Most of his interests being now in Oregon.

Chicago Woman's Pluck. Mrs. Irving came out here from Chicago about a year ago and established a new industry, the raising of finely bred Angora goats for the manufacture of mohair. She purchased on rocky land that the cattle men disliked to use. But there were plenty of yucca plants, upon which the goats subsisted well. They did not encroach upon the stockman's pastures nor interfere with them, but the outlaw raiders swooped down upon this peaceful community, bound and gagged the herder, Lloyd Kellogg, and killed a large portion of the goats. Now Mrs. Irving has placed an armed guard at her camp on Iron Mesa, prepared to resist another raid, and has notified District Attorney Milton at Grand Junction to act on her intentions. She has also appealed to the Humane Society for aid, contending that the killing of the goats is cruelty to animals. It is said that she already has several deputies of the Humane Society among her guard. She pluckily declares that she will resist the raiders to the bitter end.

Flock of 6,000 sheep was driven into a narrow canyon and clubbed to death. A short time later another flock of 4,000 was driven over a precipice and all killed. In 1899 Gen. des and Bennett, of Cheyenne, lost a flock of 2,400 in Routt County. In 1900, Southwest Wyoming was the scene of several of these human lives were taken. A Sheridan, Wyo. owner lost 3,500 sheep last year. They were driven over a precipice and killed and his outfit was destroyed.

SUN DARKENED AT NOON.

New York Buildings Lighted Up in Day Time.

A VERY UNUSUAL CONDITION.

New York, Aug. 11.—Noonday was turned practically into night all over New York City yesterday, and when the sun set there was no twilight. Lights were turned on exactly as if it were night. Heavy storm clouds that came out of the west and southwest on a slow wind were too dense even for the meridian rays of the sun to penetrate. Across open squares and parks the outlines of buildings were perceptible at half a block's distance, as at latest dusk. Within doors people had to cease reading until they could start the artificial lights. Police stations and the hotels set their outside lights ablaze. The surface cars ran up and down the avenues with headlights and inner lights all going, as in the evening.

More unusual still, if indeed, such a thing has ever happened here before at midday, harbor navigation went on by light signals, as in the night. Ferryboats and tugs set their sidelights, the lights on the ends of the rafts at the ferry slips were burned, and at the Battery the red danger light which marks the position of the swimming bath was lighted.

RITCHIE TO BE CHANCELLOR.

London Daily Telegraph Believes Appointment is Settled. London, Aug. 11.—The Daily Telegraph says it believes it has been definitely settled that the Right Hon. C. T. Ritchie, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, will succeed Sir Michael Hicks-Beach as Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Right Hon. Charles Thomas Ritchie, at present Home Secretary, has been one of the chief working members of Lord Salisbury's Administration since 1885. Sound, but not brilliant, would probably be the general estimate in which he is held by British political circles. His business qualities, however, are so highly valued that he was a trusted adviser of Queen Victoria, especially since the death of Lord Sydney.

WHERE JUSTICE ERRED.

Man Dying Confesses Crime Another Suffers for. Denver, Col., Aug. 11.—Wm. Thompson, of Vista, Baca county, on his deathbed confessed that in February, 1901, he killed his 15-year-old son by accident while riding the range. Zeb Nichols, a neighboring cowboy, is serving a sentence of 20 years for the crime. Thompson says he accused Nichols to settle an old grudge and for fear of the penalty if he told the truth at the time of the trial.

A VOYAGE WITHOUT SHIRTS.

A Story of the Return of the Canadian Troops. "Owing to some misunderstanding" it is announced from Halifax, Nova Scotia, that the Canadian troops just landed there on their return from South Africa, travelled all the way from Durban without their shirts. Under the circumstances it was wise of Col. Evans to "decline a public reception." But how can the matter have arisen? We have heard of the "absent-minded beggar," but it is strange if his memory is really so profound that he does not notice whether he has his shirt on or not. Such "absent-mindedness" at any rate, can hardly be described as "cool-headedness." Even the Scottish press-gang who knocked at his own front door and asked whether he was yet back from Palestine, might have noticed the omission of a shirt in his own costume.

END OF A WRECKED LIFE. ROBERTS AND KITCHENER

Outcast Member of Wealthy Family Dead Presented With Official Recognition of Services.

IN HER LONELY COTTAGE. PRAISE FOR THE COLONIALS.

Oyster Bay, L.I., Aug. 11.—In a little white cottage in the forest that skirts the village of Bayville Ada Sweetser died of starvation and excessive drinking shortly after midnight last night. Ada Sweetser, it is said, was an outcast member of a wealthy family of New York and Brooklyn. In the house with her when she lay dying were three dogs and two that had died of starvation. The dead chickens were found near the cot on which the woman had died, and half a dozen others were crawling about the room in an emaciated condition. Because of her uncontrollable appetite for drink, Ada Sweetser had been an outcast for many years. Scores of letters from relatives were found near her cot. They showed she still had the sympathy of her sisters and nieces, and was in constant receipt of assistance from them, but there was no mention of her wretchedness, weakness and the cause of her life of banishment. It was by mere accident that the woman was discovered when dying. On Saturday night a boy passed the house and reported to a group of villagers that everything about the cottage was so dark that he believed something was wrong. He said he could hear dogs moaning as if they were near. An investigation party was organized, but when it reached the place none had the courage to go in except Charles Bell. No one had ever entered the house and none of the villagers now cared to go in. Bell forced the door and entered. Living things rustled and scurried away snarling in the darkness. What these objects were he did not know, but whatever they were he could hear them beating against the wire-screened windows and snapping at his feet. He made a light, and on a miserable cot mattress in one corner of the room saw the woman. She was breathing, but was delirious. Her form was little more than a skeleton and the few words she uttered were the ravings of madness.

BUFFALO'S "SWEAT-BOX."

What a Quebec Lawyer Says About the Intamy. S. T. Jameson, K. C., of Three Rivers, is a Palmer House, Toronto, guest. Mr. Jameson is returning from a lengthy tour of the States with his wife and two children. He is discussing relative police methods of Canada and the States. Mr. Jameson observed: "I have just come from Buffalo, and I see the papers are full of stories about a woman in jail there suspected of murdering her husband."

HE KNEW. Katharine—who wrote the poem entitled "The Gladstone Summer is the Only Time For Me?" Kidder—The Ice man.

Dr. Richard Seaman, of Locust Valley, was summoned to a woman who was dying from starvation and the effects of alcohol. Efforts were made to give her nourishment, but she was gone. At half-past one o'clock in the morning she died. A large box was found filled with letters and papers of various kinds. Among them was a note scribbled on a fragment of paper. Evidently it had been written by the dead woman. "I am very hungry. I went out Sunday and yesterday for something to eat, as there was not a morsel in the house. I never saw such work in all my life. I am just dying by inches leading such a life. I cannot subsist."

Ottawa, Ont., despatch.—At a meeting of the Ottawa District Methodist Church to-day, a memorial, presented to Rev. E. The motion stipulated that the offending member should be given a month's notice.

CARGO OF YELLOW FEVER.

Vessel From Rio de Janeiro on Maine Coast.

HAS HAD SEVERAL CASES.

New York, Aug. 11.—After three days of aimless drifting in the fog the British barque Birnam Wood, Capt. S. Watridge, from Rio de Janeiro, has arrived in Little Neck Bay, on the eastern Maine coast, and anchored close to Old Man Ledge, off the cutter shore, says a Bangor, Me., despatch to the Times. Signals of distress were flying, stating that the vessel had yellow fever on board, and that three of the crew, including the second mate, had died. Capt. Watridge and the cabin boy are both sick with the fever, but are expected to recover. No other cases have developed. The barque will be held in quarantine and will be fumigated, after which she will be towed to St. John.

A NOTABLE MEETING.

Six Children to Celebrate 80th Birthday of Youngest.

On the farm of Samuel Pound, four miles from the little village of Ridgeville, there assembled to-day the six children of the late Jacob Pound to celebrate the 80th birthday of the youngest member of that interesting family. The late Mr. Pound had six children, four girls and two boys, and they are all actively hale and hearty, to this day, and vigorous enough to make extended journeys to join their baby brother in the celebration of his 80th birthday. It is probable that there has never been such a gathering in America before. For every member of a family, the youngest of whom was born 80 years ago, to be still living and in possession of good health is a remarkable and unusual circumstance. The members of this interesting family are: Samuel Pound, of Ridgeville; James Pound, of Sparta; Mrs. Anna Pound, of Livingston county; Mrs. Rachel Zavitz, of Ridgeville; Mrs. Elizabeth Hampton, of Buffalo; and Mrs. Prudence Fretz, of Buffalo. With their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren the company will be swelled to large proportions and the celebration has attracted the attention and interest of the entire neighborhood.

TIME TO WITHDRAW.

Admiral Seymour Strongly Urges That Shanghai be Evacuated.

London, Aug. 11.—Admiral E. H. Seymour writes a letter to the Times strongly urging the immediate evacuation of Shanghai by the foreign troops there. He says: "I thoroughly agree with my esteemed friend, Viceroy Liu-Kun-Yi, that the time has come for withdrawal. It is due especially to the Yangtze River, that these troops should now be removed, and in my opinion no reason can be diplomatically expressed demands their continued presence there. It is only fair that all nations should at the same time withdraw their troops. Indeed, the keen international competition in China both demands and justifies the procedure." The French Consul here yesterday told the Chinese representative that France was willing to withdraw her troops from Shanghai as soon as the other powers agreed to take similar action. International jealousy makes the withdrawal of the troops highly improbable.

ENTIRE STREETS DESTROYED.

Fire Plays Havoc With Warehouses in Belfast.

Belfast, Aug. 11.—Fire broke out among hardware and drapery establishments at Larne, near here, this morning. Four recently erected buildings also took fire, and houses on both sides of the street were enveloped in flames. The fire raged fiercely, and clouds of sparks were blown all over the town. Three entire blocks were soon a blazing mass of fire, and no one ventured within two hundred yards of the scene. Eventually the fire burned itself out. Altogether eighteen warehouses, covering two entire streets, were destroyed. There were no casualties.

BRITAIN'S TRADE.

Returns Show Decrease in Exports to France and United States.

London, Aug. 11.—A memorandum issued by the Board of Trade to-day shows that Great Britain's imports from France have increased considerably, while the exports show a sensible decline. There has been a decrease in the imports of agricultural products from Germany, but this has been balanced by an increase in the imports of sugar and some slight increase in the imports of manufactured goods. The exports to Germany increased over 30 per cent. The imports from the United States show a very large decrease, while the exports to that country exhibit a considerable decline. Toronto has issued permits for buildings to the value of $2,304,614 in the first six months of this year.

Attacks on the Militia at Shenandoah

MAY LEAD TO TROUBLE.

Troops Get Ball Cartridge and Orders to Fire on Stone-throwers—Priest Denounces the Mine Workers' Organization in Severe Terms.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 11.—The entire Eighth Regiment was called to arms during last night as a result of three attacks made by a band of men in ambush, who threw stones at the troops now in camp on the plateau outside the town.

These attacks are becoming so frequent that Brig. Gen. Gobin has decided to adopt stern measures to end them. To-night a double guard, supplied with ball cartridges, surrounded the camp and the sentries have been instructed that if last night's stone throwing is repeated, they must shoot to kill and investigate afterwards. One of the attacking party is under arrest. The first attack, according to Col. Theodore F. Hoffman, was made at 10:45 o'clock last night. Private Payne, of Company I, on sentry duty, saw a party of men on the Mahanoy City road, which separates the camp of the Eighth Regiment from the Twelfth. He commanded the men to halt and called the corporal of the guard, but before the latter could respond, a shower of stones and rocks were thrown at the sentry. One rock struck him on the chest, knocking him down. He jumped up and fired several shots into the air. As he did so, the men ran down the road and all except one, a Lithuanian, escaped. The shooting aroused the whole camp and the 8th Regiment was put under arms and companies B, E and K were immediately thrown out in skirmish lines, but could find no one. The regiment was then called to quarters and fifteen minutes later another shower of stones was thrown at the stable guard. The guard turned out and three men were seen running along the road in the opposite direction from where the outpost was stationed. They were not pursued.

Offenders Hid in Brush. Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning the third and last attack was made and it was of such a nature that the whole regiment was called to arms. Stones were thrown at the stable guard and at the sentries nearby. On account of the darkness and the darkness the sentries could not see the offenders. However, the sentries fired about a dozen shots into the bushes, but no one was hit. Some of the bullets went whistling over the tents of the sleeping soldiers of the 12th Regiment across the road.

Denounced by Their Priest.

On Sunday morning Rev. H. F. O'Reilly denounced in scathing terms the mine workers' organization. The Church of the Annunciation was crowded to the doors. "It is a law of God and of man," said Father O'Reilly, "that every human being has a right to earn enough to feed himself and his family, and no man living has a right to tell him he shall not. You should have the manhood to go back to work and defy this organization known as the United Mine Workers. It is a blood stained organization, and it will be blood stained until it ceases to exist. It was formed to promote crime and protect criminals. Every one was happy and contented here until Mitchell and Falley came and organized unions. These men are not working men. They are not respectable and I would give two cents for the opinion of either of them. They draw big salaries and live on the best in the country by preying on the paltry earnings of the poor, and I would give you two cents for the opinion of either of them. You should consider them."

LARGEST IN THE WORLD.

Another Fine Vessel to be Launched at Stettin.

Berlin, Aug. 11.—Emperor William will attend the launching of the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. at the Vulcan yard, Stettin, on August 12th. The daughter of Dr. H. Wiegand, the Director-General of the line, will christen the ship, which will be the largest, and is designed to be the fastest in the world. Her length is to be 707 feet, her beam 71 1/2 feet, her depth 39 feet, and her draught 29 feet. She is to be of 39,000 horse-power, 19,500 tons displacement, and will accommodate 1,000 cabin passengers. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in acknowledging the receipt of resolutions of the Montreal Board of Trade and Com. Exchange, called that the "matter will receive due consideration."

FACTS ABOUT THE WEST

To those who intend taking advantage of the harvest excursion to Manitoba and the Territories on the 23rd inst., and following days, a little information about the country will no doubt be very welcome.

Canada is becoming big enough and bold enough to have trusts of its own, remarks the Toronto Mail.

Are the Athens people loyal? That sounds like a silly question, but we ask it for the reason that on Coronation Day, so far as we could see, only one flag was visible in town, and that was at a private residence.

Canada holds its own in the world of commerce even though it is not making great gains in population. Compared with ten years ago our exports have doubled, having increased from 98,000,000 to $196,000,000.

A new enemy of the potato crop is reported from near Ogdensburg—a green soft shell bug somewhat larger than the lightning bug, and more slender, a bug which seems very lively, making short hops, and which strips the foliage of potato tops clean.

of such long standing. They have too much at stake. In this case they admit that they were at fault in assuming so much risk, but from the official statements made we are led to believe that others must also shoulder a part of the blame.

Why does a tennis court? That 1,000,000 barrel order for apples given a Belleville man has shrunk to 100,000.

AN OLD PEOPLE'S DAY.

Well Attended and Profitable Service for the Aged Held at Glen Buell.

The "Old People's Day" at Glen Buell Methodist church on Sunday was well attended by those advanced in years. There was an enthusiasm and earnestness at all the services that served to make one think that it was good to be there. The good derived was not so much what the ministers said as the experience of so many whose life work is nearly ended, and who are looking forward to the time when they shall hear the welcome words: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." Many were present from neighboring towns and villages irrespective of denominational lines. The interior of the church was very prettily and artistically decorated with evergreens, flags and flowers, while across the front the word "welcome" greeted all.

The day's services commenced at 9.30 with a love feast or class meeting, conducted by Mr. O. F. Bullis. At 10.30 the pastor, Rev. Mr. Burke, preached a very earnest and instructive sermon which was listened to with much profit by a large congregation. Rev. Mr. Woodcock, a pastor there some fifty years ago, had been billed to speak but was unable to be present. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered at the close of this service.

Then followed a good old fashioned fellowship meeting led by Mr. Robins and many had rich experiences to relate.

No Sabbath school was held in the afternoon. At 2.30 the church was again filled. After singing and prayer by several aged brethren the pastor again preached a very impressive sermon, taking his text from Genesis 12: 1, 2, 3. The speaker dealt with the text very forcibly under the heads that (1) God speaks to man; (2) The claims of God upon a man should have first place; (3) God never asks any one to make any sacrifices that he does not more than compensate; (4) No man lives unto himself, dealing largely with the influence of man wherever he goes. He said: "Man is under an obligation to set up an altar unto God." In closing he spoke a word of welcome to the many aged people unaccustomed to being present every Sunday.

The church choir rendered several very nice selections at the different services during the day which were highly appreciated.

Among those present from a distance were Mr. Justus Robeson and Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, Hard Island; Mr. Sam Nash and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Cummings, Brockville; Mr. and Mrs. Cadwell, New Dublin; Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Stevens, Mrs. Duggan, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Wilts, Messrs. Spicer, J. Rappell, and Geo. Mott, Athens.

OWE MUCH TO THE SAILOR.

To His Courage and Devotion England Owes Much of Her Special Glory.

In an address to the sailors of Halifax on Saturday Mr. A. E. Donavan, of Athens, said:

"To the sailor the world owes the commerce and civilization it begets. To his courage and devotion England owes her special glory, America, its discovery and home life its thousand and one comforts. Without him, the continents had never clasped hands or the voice of science rolled through the chambers of the deep. Yet, in the home land of today, the sailor receives no recognition. In the business world, he is the poorest; in the intellectual and moral world, the most ill-regarded. On the sea he is subject to an iron law that knows only necessity. On shore he is reckoned save as his needs and necessities make him the victim of the unfortunate. We who are of the land know that however lonely our present calling may be, that there is always the hope of a broader opportunity, of a larger recompense. For the sailor no wayside flower invites the plucking. No umbrageous tree takes root, no grasses grow, for him no wife is comrade, no child is presence, alone he must do life's battle, unaided, unconsolled and enslaved by his calling. He must go on to the end for once a sailor always a sailor. For the sailor there is but the engulfing wastes of water, there is but its sombre tomb, its solemn requiem. But they also have their days of sunshine as they behold the outstretched arms to welcome Home sweet Home. A stray boy with no other capital than the opportunity of the land walked into London and became its mayor. Such a story is never written of the cabin boy."

LATE NOTES OF FASHION—AN ALLEGORICAL WEDDING GOWN—DAINTY LINGERIE—GENERAL NOTES FOR THE FAIR SEX

From green to red Dame Fashion has turned with startling suddenness. No sooner have all women inverted their spare cash and, incidentally, their last penny of pin money in getting green for hats and gowns and hose than the fickle dame who arbitrates the modes declares that green shall be laid aside and red put on instead.

The new red is not a geranium red, nor is it a tomato red, nor can it be called cardinal, vermilion, crimson, or any of those familiar shades. It is very far from being the dark automobile which held the centre of the stage early in the spring, and it is nothing like the crushed strawberry which has long been known as the red of the summer.

It is clear fruit red. Fruit red is a shade borrowed from the ripe fruit. It matches the ripe strawberry, the luscious raspberry, the centre of the watermelon, the outside of the pomegranate and the red of the ripe side of the peach. It is a color which looks as though it were awake, a color which, while not brilliant, is good enough to eat. That is fruit red as it actually looks.

Upon hats you see it, not in the tone alone, but in the actuality, the stem, plums, very small peaches, little apples of the variety known as "love apples," all are grouped and worn or worn separately to trim the backs of hats or the sides.

Fruits are also arranged in the middle of bunches of ribbon, ribbon bows as they are called, and put on as bust and belt bows.

The semiskirt is rather shortening in its effect and it is worn in a Langry manner. The Langry semiskirt is a fad of the London season, and Queen Alexandra has said that she likes it.

First there is an underskirt which is very long and very much trimmed and very fluffly around the feet; then there comes the semiskirt, or overskirt, which is just as long as the underskirt. After it is put on it is looped or draped and the lower half of it is laid in folds around the knees and caught at the back at a handsome pin. This is an absolutely new fashion and one which may "catch on," to use a popular phrase, or not. Cherries, strawberries, raspberries or just as feminine you see it.

If you want to make such a semiskirt put on your best petticoat—one that is beautifully frilled and which looks exactly like a skirt. Over this put on your dress. Now loop your skirt by lifting it up and pinning it in the back. Arranged in such a manner that the front lies in place across the knees and the back hangs in loops. If you experiment with it in front of a cheval glass you will get the idea.

The semiskirt and, indeed, all summer skirts, call for a sash. Three things which are necessary this season with every gown are a bow for the back of the hair, a stock and sash.

The bow for the back of the hair may be called the connecting link between the coiffure and the hat. Very few women when they buy a hat consider the way in which they are certain hats which are built especially for the high coiffure and there are other hats that are built for the low.

The hat which goes with the low coiffure has ends hanging in the back, and these may be little snail ends or ribbon or silk ends of lace or they may be millinery flowers. The effect of the flowers is as if they had been pushed off the hat so as to hang a little on the hair.

Study Your Hat. If you are in doubt as to the way to wear your hat, with the low coiffure or with the high, then make for yourself a bow, which you must wear at the back of your head. Let it be of black satin lined with velvet, or vice versa.

Make up the bow so that it has four loops, and the loops point in four directions; run a hairpin through the back, and stick the pin into your low coiffure.

The Holland bow is excellent and, as the name suggests, it bears a Hollandese type. It is made of Deft blue satin. There are four loops, two pointing to the left and two to the right. Two of the loops are longer than the other two, and from the front the two long loops are visible. They set out at each side of the head and rather frame the face.

The face frame is one of the most conspicuous things of this summer's fashions. The hair is dressed wide at the side and the hat trimmings are arranged to give breadth to the head. This calls also for a coiffure that is low, so as to form a setting for the back of the head, the neck and the ears. The wide hair bow accentuates this effect, for the loops show at the side.

Now look at yourself and see how trying the style is. If you had defects, they are brought out, and your face looks hard in outline, for there is nothing to frame your features.

The Fluffy Sides. Try the effect of arranging your hair fall at the sides. Wear it over the Pless pompadour, which is a temple "rat," arranged at each temple with the hair drawn over it. After you have puffed your hair wave it and let it set out around your face like an aureole. Nature really designed your hair in this fashion, and it is only your folly which draws it back from the temples, where it is meant to curl.

Put on your hat and let the flowers which are put under the side upon the boudoir, show from the front and flash you a work with a Deft bow at the back.

You will look like a different person, and Dame Fashion, seeing you, will nod her approval. Fruit red is worn in the newest gowns; its color pervades the laws and changes the fashions and even the durable elements. You can trace it through the very thin fabrics which are to be worn over linings; and you can see it in the parasol which miladi flings over her shoulder and which frames her face so becomingly. Its deep, partly subdued red casts a glow over the complexion and gives you the flush which you want to have. It is not the poppy red which looks so blowy on a hot day, nor is it the brilliant rose which is so suspicious a tinge, but it is the color of health, and it is the color for her summer shade, the woman of fashion has shown her discretion which ever marks her mature judgment.

A New Hue. The Sartoris girls, who are such beauties and who claim so much attention from the fact that suitors are ever after them, dress in this summer in the pastel colors. They wear very pale blues, those that are called light duck's egg, pale turquoise, faded ultramarine and light blue. And by the way, visionary blue is the latest thing. It is something like cloud blue and a very little like oyster gray. It is a clear cloudy color.

Truth to tell, it takes an expert to distinguish these shades, and you look at a blue and a gray and wonder which is which—the blue and which the gray.

AN ALLEGORICAL BRIDAL GOWN.

Little wonder is it that a man of comparatively small income does not marry, when custom compels him to present not only to his bride some elegant trifle, like a diamond tiara or pendant, but also directs that he bestow upon each of the troop of girl friends with whom she likes to surround herself some costly gift as well.

Just now the bride's gift par excellence is a ring-shaped bunch of moonstones, set around with diamonds—all for good luck. A pearl bangle is another popular bridesmaid's present, or a pin of pearls, indicative of the purity of girlhood. The bridegroom must also provide each fair one with flowers.

Apropos of weddings, a wonderful bridal dress is being made for a Russian bride elect, the daughter of a famous artist. The gown is of the conventional white satin, but it is decorated with numberless little paintings, chiefly allegorical and appropriate to the occasion, and all painted by her father's friends. That alone will be a valuable heirloom, if she does not fly to her father at her next year's balls and rip the lace off to trim the baby's christening dress, as do brides whose sentiment is spoiled by the exigencies of life.

And here is another strange wedding gown—annual, indeed, to us, but worn by every Chinese bride of rank from this immemorial.

The conventional period fixed for arranging the toilet is four hours, and at the end of the long ceremony a woman appears in a long vestment like a tunic, with a foundation of crimson satin, scarcely discernible through its stiff embroidery of gold.

A corner turned back lined with emerald satin, reveals an underskirt pannelled in brilliant red and blue silk and profusely trimmed with gold embroidery; a belt of scarlet satin, studded with tablets of white carnelian, crosses the waist behind, and a helmetlike erection of a material resembling turquoise enamel, with glittering artificial beetles and butterflies, is surmounted by a tiara of crimson silk tufts and has a veil of red silk, which falls to her feet, adding to her grotesque and pre-ter-natural aspect.

As a bit of brio-brac she would be charming, but as a wife one might prefer blushing loveliness veiled in tulle and crowned with orange blossoms.

Dainty Chemises. To be thoroughly modish the pretty little chemise must not only be elaborately trimmed at the neck, but there should be a ruffle on the lower edge, also ornamented with lace to match the upper part.

One chemise which belongs to a set had what is called the ripple trimming, a new effect, in which narrow lace edging is sewn together, one row above the other, and each one put on a little fuller than the one just above, so that while there is very little fullness at the top the flounce spreads in a very pretty ripple. Set on the rounded neck of the chemise mentioned was ruffle of this kind, made with five rows of new Valenciennes edging, and heading this there was an inch wide heading, combining lace and embroidery. A knot of pale blue ribbon was caught in front, and there wasn't even the suggestion of a sleeve, for the neck fell curved up prettily to hide the armholes. The chemise was quite long, and on the bottom was a flounce of ripple lace to match that on the neck. This, too, displayed a handsome heading as a finish. The drawers which went with this garment exhibited the same ornamentation, with an exception in case of the heading, which was wider and rounded up at the outside of the leg, following the outline of the garment. There was a bit of ribbon on each side and another fastened the front of the night robe.

Corset Covers. Quite the newest and daintiest effects in corset covers are those made to go over the petticoat top and which have set on the bottom of the cover, at the waist line, a circular piece trimmed to match the rest of the cover. There should be nothing at all in the way of sleeves, not even a tiny shoulder strap, for it is one of the newest fads to use ribbons to cross over the top and fasten on each shoulder in pretty loops. Usually, in such styles, the cover is cut straight across the back and front at the top, and by means of the shoulder ribbons the cover may be made medium or very low, as desired.

Petticoat Loveliness. Since the white lingerie designer has been at their wits' end to find something really novel. Perhaps the prettiest idea, and certainly the most elaborate, at the same time very dainty, is presented in one of the illustrations. It shows a flare French skirt fitting very smoothly over the hips and given a modish fullness by means of the knee deep flounce set on the bottom.

To begin with, the straight petticoat has three lace trimmings: frills overlapping each other on the hem, and only the delicate layers of Valenciennes are visible when the skirt falls in sweeping lines. Fashioned of lace insertion and strips of sheer lawn of the same width set together in vertical sections is this very deep flounce before mentioned.

A fairylike ruffling of Valenciennes edging marks the joining line, and then, as if this were not ornamentation enough, the entire upper portion of the skirt is striped vertically with lace entre deux to match the rest of the lovely confection. Imagine how perfectly adorable such a petticoat would be when worn beneath a summer dress filmy enough to disclose its beauties from waist to hem. Almost sufficiently lovely for an outside skirt is the verdict of those who have been fortunate in seeing this creation before it is launched on the market.

Few petticoats are, however, so elaborate as this particular model, and though it seems rather in the nature of a come-down from this to the consideration of the other garments portrayed, these are nevertheless dainty and well worth describing.

Very lacy is the petticoat that has its widely flaring flounce formed of row after row of two-inch Mechlin. The flounce itself is circular, and since its edge is finished with a deep fringe of the same effective lace, while in addition to this flimsiness there are several foot ruffles also edged with Mechlin, it is easy to see what an extremely bouffant and foamy appearance is produced around the wearer's feet.

What Trimmings to Buy. The prevailing color in the new veerings is green, of a bright shade used either alone or in combinations sometimes as many as two or three colors being worn on one hat. Among the combinations which Canadian buyers in New York noticed to be the most prominent were green and brown, green and blue, and green and cerise. Large spots are the fashionable pattern in veils.

Ribbons, whether used as dress trimmings or not, will certainly be much worn during the coming season. A lot of neck ribbons have been bought, more, soft taffeta and satin. The popular black velvet and satin ribbons continue to sell in large quan-

INTERNATIONAL LESSON NO. VI. AUGUST 10, 1902.

Nadab and Abihu.—Temperance Lesson.—Le. 10:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT:—"Let Us Watch and be Sober."—1 Th. 5:6. DOCTRINAL THOUGHT.—Temperance.

1. And The first day the priest-hood is established, it comes short of the glory of God.—Darby. Nadab and Abihu. The two oldest sons of Aaron. Permitted to meet God upon the mountain. Ex. xxiv. 6. Just consecrated to the priestly office. Yet we certainly infer that they were drunkards. v. 9. The highest social station and the most sacred calling are no barrier to the danger of strong drink.—Harbat. The shekinah glory of Jehovah had just appeared, and fire had just come forth from before Jehovah and consumed upon the altar the burnt-offering and the fat. Ex. ix. 23, 24. These things should have solemnized their minds and made them circumspect in their approach to God. Even to the man who had had wonderful manifestations of God's presence and glory soon forget and act carelessly, lightly and disobediently.—Torrey. Censer. A small metal vessel, used conventionally to carry coals upon which incense could be sprinkled.—Templeton. It is a solemn thing to swing a censer before God. He appoints who shall bear the censers, and He expresses how it shall be swung. There are three remarkable judgments connected with the censers of the priests. 1. Here, where the right persons were doing the right thing, but not the right time nor in the right way. 2. When the right persons were doing the right thing but not with the right motive. Worship in its highest sense of intercommunion between God and man is a unique and sublime experience for which preparation of soul is required.—Noyes. Forms, simple or elaborate, are but steps of approach to God.—Hilditch. The fire put to the incense signified the Spirit of God, by which we are to offer up all our prayers and praises, even as Christ offered Himself up by the eternal Spirit.—Garrett. Strange fire. Not taken from the altar.—Gray. The incense was not mixed according to the law given in Ex. xxx. 34.—Henry. The incense was offered at an unusual and unauthorized time, and in an unauthorized manner. The young priests had lost their self-control through indulgence in strong drink. v. ix. Pr. xxv. 5. The sin is will-worship, the will of man dictating an arbitrary thing, a sin no little thought of. Despite the decorous outward appearance, "strange fire" instead of the appointed sacrifice, may burn upon the heart's altar. Commanded them that they departed from the plain word of Jehovah, who had fully and plainly instructed them as to their mode of worship.—McIntosh. The sin is not said to have been in doing what God had forbidden, but simply what He had not commanded.—Grant.

SOME DON'TS FOR GIRLS.

It isn't at all likely that any girl who thinks she is in love with a man will heed "don'ts" of any kind, and she isn't to be blamed, but she might save the following in her scrap book to read sometime in the future when she feels lonely. Don't marry a man with the hope of reforming him. If he is not eager to reform before marriage, it will be little short of a miracle if he does so afterward. The proof of a man's love should be his reformation, and the girl who marries a man who is still engaged in "swearing" will only earn the punishment that is sure to be hers. Don't marry a man out of pity, or out of mistaken sympathy. Pity may be akin to, but certainly is not, love—nor is sympathy. Neither sentiment is a sufficient foundation for matrimony. Don't marry a man only because he is affectionate. A good head is as necessary as a good heart, and protestations of devotion never yet paid a butcher's bill. Don't marry a man because of his good looks. It would be equally sensible to marry him because his clothes were well chosen and well fitting. Don't marry a man because he threatens to go to ruin if you do not. If he is so foolish and weak as to do this, he is not worth marrying. The Lord spoke. This and kindred phrases used 1,904 times in the Old Testament.—Brooks. Unto Aaron. After their disobedience and the judgment of God, Moses spake unto Aaron, to the sons of Uziel, Eleazar and Ithamar; now it is the Lord that speaks unto Aaron, the high priest, and his sons. 9. Do not drink wine. The two priests were under the influence of liquor when they committed the offense which was expiating with their lives.—J. F. B. The prohibition of wine and strong drink when going into the tent of the meeting connects itself with the sin of Aaron's sons, and for us covers all fleshly stimulus, which prevents clear discernment of what is according to the mind of God. Not a casual, but a constant rule. Thou, nor thy sons, Drunkenness is bad in any, but it is especially scandalous and perilous in ministers, who of all men ought to have the clearest heads and clearest hearts.—Henry. 10. Put differences. Strong drink destroys the power of the mind to make moral discriminations between what is holy or unholy, clean or unclean. An intoxicated man is liable to commit every crime forbidden in the catalogue.—Whittle.

SMART GOWN OF SPOTTED PIQUE, WITH TRIMMINGS OF MUSLIN AND INSERTION.

THE MARKETS

Toronto Farmers' Market. Toronto, Aug. 11.—The grain receipts at St. Lawrence market to-day were nil. Farmers are very busy, and not much grain is expected this month. Hay and straw also nominal in price in absence of receipts. Dressed hogs unchanged at $9.50 to $10.

The Apple Crop. Ontario has a large crop, and a private report, dated August 4th, says: "The recent hurricane in some of the western sections have done more good than harm, as they have relieved a number of orchards of surplus fruit, which was badly needed in order to allow the residue to attain their normal growth." Regarding the Nova Scotia crop, there are diverse opinions, both as regards quality and quantity, one dealer stating that he is more optimistic than some of his well-informed contemporaries, as he predicts good average crop, whilst others say 70 to 75 per cent. of an average. The apple crop of the United States will unquestionably be a good one, both as regards quality and quantity, the former being assured; but the degree of abundance appears to be somewhat in doubt.

British Live Stock Markets. London, Aug. 9.—To-day's cattle are unchanged at 13 to 14s per lb.; refrigerator beef weak at from 11 to 11 1/2c per lb.

Bradstreet's on Trade. Trade at Montreal has been fair for this time of the year. There has been a fair inquiry for fall and winter stuffs. In Toronto this week there has been a fair movement in wholesale trade for this time of the summer, when many business men are away on holidays. At Quebec during the past week a fair movement is noticed in wholesale trade circles. There has been a good movement in trade circles at Hamilton, as reported for Bradstreet's, this week. Orders from near-by points, as well as from the Northwest, are satisfactory, and travellers' reports indicate that there will be a large sorting trade done this year in fall and winter lines. Values of staple goods are firmly held. Payments are fair. At Pacific Coast points there has been a little improvement in some wholesale departments of trade lately, and the general outlook is promising. At London there is a fair movement in wholesale trade for the fall. Country retailers here are exhibiting a fair demand for reasonable goods since the first of the month. In Winnipeg the continued good outlook for the crop is having a satisfactory effect on the demand from jobbers. Retailers throughout the Province have ordered liberally for the fall, and it is expected that the buying through the sorting season will be much better than in previous years. Ottawa wholesale trade circles are fairly active for this season of the year.

"A MAIST AWFU' DREAM."

Macfarlane Has a Crack With St. Peter Hunsel!

"I thought I was dead, and when I went up and chappit at the door, Peter opened it, and says he, 'Well, Mr. Macfarlane, how are ye?' And says I, 'quite affably.' 'Bravie, hooversed?' He had a bag of golf sticks under his arm, and asked me to go out and have a game with him. I was quite willing, but I tell him that they had forgotten to put my sticks in my box. 'Oh!' says he, 'that doosna matter, I'll lend ye some o' mine.' Well, we went out and began the game. I wasna playin' my best, for I was mair taen up with the folks about than the game itself. I saw Adam and Abram and lots of their celebrities. He beat me four up and three to play. At last says I: 'Peter, ye'll no think me inquisitive, but there's three men I would like fine to see.' 'S' he replies, quite affably, 'Well, Mr. Macfarlane, if ye'll tell me their names, I'll be able to assist ye.' 'Wi' that, I said, 'Oh, the chieft ye I want to see are David S. Macfarlane and Robbie Burns, for I dinna mind tellin' ye that I have some o' their proclivities mesel.' Peter replied, 'I'm sorry to disappoint ye, but ye'll no find them here. Mr. Macfarlane, he's up to their old games, and ye'll find them on the ladies' links.'—M. A. P.

in the loft over Mr. Wm. Parish's carpenter shop last week.

to be given this evening by the Epworth League, on Mr. I. C. Algire's lawn, has been indefinitely postponed.

THE quarterly board of the Methodist church has granted their pastor, Rev.
Mr. Reynolds, three weeks holidays.
Mr. Reynolds has not decided just when he will go.

THERE will be no service in Christ church on Sunday next as the church is undergoing repairs. The Rectory will be away during the coming week taking a well earned holiday.

THE interior of the Gamble House is being renovated throughout. A new floor is also being laid in the basement, and other improvements made by Mine Ho t Pierce. Alex Compo, the local artist, is doing good work.

MR. S. Y. Bullis's horse, "Billy Patterson" who has been in training at Lyn, passed through here per B. & W.
for Elgin on Tuesday evening to take in the races to-day. He was in charge of his trainer, Mr. Frank Clow, of Lyn.

THE many friends of Messrs Tanner and Taber will be pleased to know that both gentlemen are improving nicely.
Mr. Taber was able to sit up a little while yesterday and Mr. Tanner is out on the street every day. He will have the use of his arm in two or three weeks.

Johnson & Lee, local tinsmiths, are kept very busy these days. Last week they put a roof, with eavetrough, on Mr. Milton Leverette's new house at Frankville. This week they put on a roof and eavetroughed Mr. O. Webster's new porch in town. Wm. Parish is doing the carpenter work.

THE race course in Mr. W. G.
Parish's field near the station, which was levelled up and repaired a few weeks ago, is now the scene of some lively trials of speed. The race horses Eclipse, owned and driven by Mr. Fred Bullis, and Vina, owned by Mr. John Mulvena and driven by Mr. Jas. Ross, left for Elgin yesterday.

MR. HARRY ARNOLD wound up his first year in H. H. Arnold's store by falling down stairs on Saturday night.
He was returning from the warehouse in the dark when he stepped into the opening and went bumpy de-bumpy down the several stairs to the bottom.
A careful examination revealed the fact that no bones were broken, but many bad bruises tell their own story.

THE picnic at Frankville on Saturday was a success. There was a good attendance and much interest was taken in the program of sports. Interest was centered chiefly in the baseball match in the afternoon between Frankville and Lyndhurst, which resulted in a victory for the former by 10 to 8. W.
A. Ackland pitched the Frankville team to victory. Several were present from Athens.

THE Reporter notes the card of thanks Mr. Lamb has published. It needs no comment; his work speaks for him. We believe no other man has a better record as a maker of artificial teeth in these counties than Mr.
Lamb. Not only at home but his name has gone to far distant lands, as only to day he showed the Reporter a piece of work from Port Simpson, sent to him for repair. It took eleven days to come. That shows the confidence they have in him.

A FAMOUS race-horse, lately owned by a prominent farmer near Athens, is now at a loss to know who to bow to and acknowledge as his owner. A couple of days ago, it is said, this gentleman sold him to a lover of fast horses, and, after a parting fond caress, hand-

I take this opportunity to thank my friends and patients who have patronized my Dental Office the last number of years for their liberal support, and trust they have been well satisfied with the work done.

I also wish to state that I will continue the practice of dentistry and make a specialty of the mechanical or plate work. Do it myself, as I have in the past few years, and hope the work done has given satisfaction, if not will gladly remedy any work that has not given good results.
