CHAPTER VI.
BEWITCHED.

"Oh, nonsense!" said Lady Betty. "I'm sure he won't mind waiting a week or two longer for you; I should not if I were your uncle. You must help us with the fair, Bertie! You will be of no end of use; won't he, Floris?"

Floris didn't answer, but she smiled assentingly.

"There! You hear what Miss Carlisle says."

"I didn't hear Miss Carlisle speak," says poor Bertie, all his heroic resolutions of flying from temptation slipping away from him.

"I beg your pardon," said Floris. "I am sure you would be of great use, Lord Clifford, and I hope you will be able to stay."

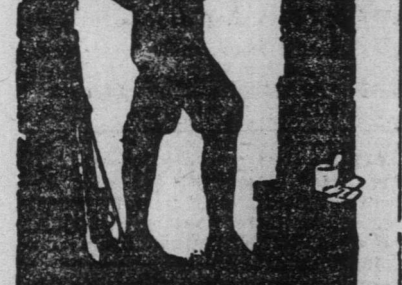

"If you say so," he said, "of course I will stay. My uncle must wait. Let me see what I can do?"

Then he sat down again, and eagerly plunged into the subject.

"I'll tell you what I can do," he said. "I'll be a fortune-teller or something of that sort in a cave; or have a show, and stand outside with a big drum. 'Walk up! Walk up, ladies and gentlemen! Just going to begin!' That sort of thing, you know, eh, Miss Carlisle?"

And he turned his handsome face to hers, with a radiant smile in his blue eyes that made Floris smile in return.

"Look here! I'll go and get some properties, dresses, and all that, and arrange something. Good-by. You

But Floris, pale and proudly cold, said: "How are you getting on?" As he are here, my lord," and with a bow glided from the room.

Bertie stood looking after her, agitated for a moment, then he turned to Lord Norman.

"What's the matter, Bruce? Why did she go like that? Have I offended her, do you think?" and the color actually deserted his handsome face.

"You!" said Lord Norman. "No, my dear Bertie. It is nothing, not much at least. Miss Carlisle happens to dislike me—not without cause—and flies from my presence. That is all," and he laughed, but there was a strange bitterness in the laugh, and he turned his face away from Bertie's gaze of surprise.

CHAPTER VII. A ROSE BEYOND PRICE.

THE great day had arrived, and Lady Pendleton and about a score more of fashionable ladies were in the seventh heaven of delight.

For months little else had been talked of "in society" but the fancy fair in aid of the funds of the Society for Improving the Condition of the South Sea Islanders.

The thing had got up on a most magnificent scale, utterly regardless of expense, and the great hall adjoining the Botanical Gardens had been transmogrified into a very fair representation of a Swiss village.

It was a pretty, beautiful sight, which if it could have been transferred bodily to the boards of a theater, would have made the fortune of a manager; and at the opening ceremony "society" thronged in and filled the place almost to suffocation.

Near the centre of the hall stood Lady Betty's chalet, and in front of the open window, with its assortment of dolls, antimacassars, smoking-caps, babies' clothing, indifferent oil pictures, and bead slippers, stood Lady Betty, supremely happy in Monsieur Worth's idea of a Swiss costume! Never had Lady Betty been so happy; there was only one thing that prevented her being perfectly so, and that was Floris' respectful but firm refusal to stand outside the stall with her.

If she could have done so without offending Lady Pendleton, Floris would have declined to take any part in the affair at all, but as Lady Betty had made a point of it, she had reluctantly consented, apitulating, however, that she should be permitted to keep in the background. As the only "background" possible was the inside of the gimcrack chalet, she had taken refuge in it, and stood well in the shadow looking on at the strange scene.

Exactly opposite her was the chalet kept by Lady Glenloona, with Mr. Parks, the famous gossip, close at her elbow. A little lower down she saw the stately figure of the Duchess of Cliefden standing in front of her stall, and next her, in charge of a shop that seemed running over with flowers and fruits, stood the tall, graceful figure of Lady Blanche.

Ivory white, as usual, calm and impassive as an iceberg, but extremely beautiful in her gray dress and white cap, Lady Blanche surveyed the scene as if it had been set up expressly for her behoof and amusement.

All the rest of the crowd in the pageant faded from Floris' sight, and she seemed to see only that lovely white face, with the dreamy velvet eyes. She was so absorbed in contemplating her that she almost started when Lady Betty thrust her head inside the chalet, nearly knocking off the monstrous cap, and exclaimed in half-irritable, half-excited tones:

"Provoking, isn't it? It is just like Bruce! One of the patrons, too! He ought to have been here at the opening."

Then Bertie Clifford's voice was heard outside.

"Here we are, Lady Betty," as the clown says! Splendid house, isn't it? "I will tell her ladyship that you spoke he looked about the chalet eagerly. "Where is Miss Carlisle?"

"Oh, inside there," said Lady Betty, radiant again. "What a tremendous success, isn't it, Bertie?"

"Splendid!" he assented, his blue eyes peering into the dusky interior of the stall anxiously. "Splendid! All the world and his family here! May I come in, Miss Carlisle?"

"I don't think there is room for two," said Floris, with a smile, as he stood at the low door with bent head. "How is your show getting on?"

"Oh, all right," he replied. "I've got a big chalet, and they have made a platform up, and presently I'm going to get 'em in at a guinea a head."

The crowd thickened. Lady Betty was driving a fine trade in bead slippers and antimacassars, and Floris and Bertie between them were fully occupied in taking money and giving change. The music, performed by the Coldstream band at the end of the hall, was deafening, the heat stifling, and Floris was wondering whether the South Sea Islanders would fully appreciate the efforts on their behalf, when a tall, stalwart figure, which she would have known amid a thousand, sauntered toward the stall.

"Bruce!" almost shrieked Lady Betty. "At last! Now, really, you ought to have been here an hour ago!"

Women Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for Health Restored.

In almost every neighborhood in America are women who have tried this standard remedy for female ills and know its worth.

Atbol, Mass.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me a world of good. I suffered from a weakness and a great deal of pain every month and nothing brought me any relief until I tried this famous medicine. I am a different woman since I took it and want others who suffer to know about it."—Mrs. ARTHUR LAWSON, 659 Cottage St., Atbol, Mass.

San Francisco, Cal.—"I was in a very weak nervous condition, having suffered terribly from a female trouble for over five years. I had taken all kinds of medicine and had many different doctors and they all said I would have to be operated on, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me entirely and now I am a strong well woman."—Mrs. H. ROSSLEY, 1447 Devisadero St., San Francisco, Cal.

LONDON

LONDON, May 6th, 1918.
SIR WILLIAM WEIR.

It is generally agreed that the capable "business" element in the Government has been increased by the selection of Sir William Weir to succeed Lord Rothermere as Air Minister. I have rarely seen such a unanimous nomination in the newspapers as has been made in this instance. This is easily accounted for, and on more than one ground. In the position of Director of the Production of Aircraft, which he now occupies at the Ministry of Munitions, Sir William has done most efficient work, to which Mr. Churchill did complete justice in his recent speech. At his own instigation and cost, he sent out whole squadrons of machines to the various fronts at a time of emergency. He is a highly esteemed personal friend of the Prime Minister, who counts him among his fortunate "finds" in Scotland, and, of course, as a millionaire with no axe to grind and an immense Scottish capacity for methodical work, Sir William Weir would be a Minister of a type which has conspicuously "made good" during the war. Perhaps we may take it for granted that in respect of one otherwise difficult decision the War Cabinet is in a very fortunate position, and that we only await the formal announcement of the appointment of the new Secretary of State at the head of the Air Force.

THE FOOD CONTROLLERSHIP.

An emphatic personal request of the Prime Minister to Lord Rhondda to continue in his office of Minister of Food is strongly hoped to have the wished-for effect. What may equally weigh will be the extraordinary demonstration of popular desire that the announcement that resignation was immediately contemplated has brought forth. It used to be told of the once-famous, but now nearly forgotten, Lord Brougham that, wanting to know what was really thought of him, he caused the announcement of his death to be circulated to the press, so that he might learn the truth from the obituary notices. The result was so mortifying that no public man has been tempted to repeat the experiment. Lord Rhondda's wish to resign because of continued indisposition has had a precisely reverse effect, for it is easy to understand his gratification at the tribute of public esteem which his desire to resign has evoked. It is possible that even he may feel it undesirable to remain, though only for a time, the almost nominal head of an important Government department, touching so nearly the daily issues of our national life. Should that be so, the Prime Minister could choose no better successor than Mr. Clynnes, the Parliamentary Secretary to the Food Ministry, in whom Lord Rhondda has the greatest confidence and who has proved the most successful of all Labor Ministers.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, May 8th, 1918.
SIR WILLIAM WEIR.

It is generally agreed that the capable "business" element in the Government has been increased by the selection of Sir William Weir to succeed Lord Rothermere as Air Minister. I have rarely seen such a unanimous nomination in the newspapers as has been made in this instance. This is easily accounted for, and on more than one ground. In the position of Director of the Production of Aircraft, which he now occupies at the Ministry of Munitions, Sir William has done most efficient work, to which Mr. Churchill did complete justice in his recent speech. At his own instigation and cost, he sent out whole squadrons of machines to the various fronts at a time of emergency. He is a highly esteemed personal friend of the Prime Minister, who counts him among his fortunate "finds" in Scotland, and, of course, as a millionaire with no axe to grind and an immense Scottish capacity for methodical work. Sir William Weir would be a Minister of a type which has conspicuously "made good" during the war. Perhaps we may take it for granted that in respect of one other, very difficult decision the War Cabinet is in a very fortunate position, and that we only await the formal announcement of the appointment of the new Secretary of State at the head of the Air Force.

THE FOOD CONTROLLERSHIP.

An emphatic personal request of the Prime Minister to Lord Rhondda to continue in his office of Minister of Food is strongly hoped to have the wished-for effect. What may equally weigh will be the extraordinary demonstration of popular desire that the announcement that resignation was immediately contemplated has brought forth. It used to be told of the once famous, but now nearly forgotten, Lord Brougham that, wanting to know what was really thought of him, he caused the announcement of his death to be circulated to the press, so that he might learn the truth from the mortifying that no public man has been tempted to repeat the experiment. Lord Rhondda's wish to resign because of continued indisposition has a precisely reverse effect, for it is the tribute of public esteem which his desire to resign has evoked. It is possible that even he may feel it undesirable to remain, though only for a time, the almost nominal head of an important Government department, touching so nearly the daily issues of our national life. Should that be so, the Prime Minister could choose no better successor than Mr. Clynes, the Parliamentary Secretary to the Food Ministry, in whom Lord Rhondda has the greatest confidence and who has proved the most successful of all Labor Ministers.

Nature's Healing Herbs for Headache

A BLOOD FOOD
PRACTICALLY all headaches come from two causes - Biliousness and Nervousness. Bilious headache means upset stomach, and constipation - with severe throbbing pains all over the head. Nervous headaches mean that the nerves are exhausted and need rest and food.

Dr. Wilson's HERBINE BITTERS

It brings quick and lasting relief from these headaches. The simple old-fashioned herbs in this Bitter regulate the kidneys and bowels, purify the blood, and build up the whole system. A reliable spring tonic. Get it today and get rid of your headaches.

coming forward from the munition trades and the collieries. I am assured that they are as good physically as the men of 1914 and 1915. This is in part attributed to the effect of three years' steady employment and good feeding. Their spirit is shown by the big proportion which comes up for service before their calling up notices expire. Other recruits are volunteering so well that the authorities have had to forbid the acceptance of any miners or war-work volunteers save those whose classes are called up.

A LANCASHIRE LAD'S STORY.

A soldier lad of the 55th Division, who was not wounded till after six days and nights of fighting at Givenchy and another outpost a little to the left, is now in a London hospital. He talks very modestly about that magnificent defence, when the Germans, who had been seen from a distance massing on foot, on horseback, and on bicycles, came over in successive waves of massed formation - seven such attacks in twenty-four hours, - slaughtered as they came by our machine guns and artillery, climbing over their own dead, and massing again, until at last they learned to come in extended form. The end of his fighting came when, having crawled out with a machine gun and its crew to an exposed position, all the other men were killed, his elbow was shattered, and he escaped with the sergeant and the gun to the shelter of a crater. He lay there all day with another wounded lad, and was presently joined by a third, who said: "They are all around us. We are prisoners." They dared not move, though shelled all day by English and German guns. At night a haystack in a farm near by blazed up, and trusting that the enemy's eyes would be dazzled by the glare, they crawled out into the darkness, which the fire made blacker than ever, and crawled along a ditch till some Germans came along talking. After a long time they passed, but one man stayed behind, and he spotted them. He halted them in German several times, and in desperation they shot him, then started to run through a hall of English bullets directed towards the report, and at last they staggered into a party of engineers on an unknown part of the line.

PRESS DAY AT THE ROYAL ACADEMY.

The press view at the Royal Academy of Painting may seem too intimate a subject for public comment, but as a symbol of war-wear it has its significance. In the old days it was an institution without parallel. Critics of French, Italian, and German and other foreign papers were recognisably there. Critics generally elderly, harmless men, arrived from far parts of England and Scotland on their great technical papers, the "Tailor and Cutter," "Rod and Gun," "Framemakers' Gazette," "Myra's Review," "Licensed Victuallers' Guardian," the "Yachtsman," and the "Medical Post," which each in its separate way considered itself the guardian of its industry, and desired to see that art was doing the fair thing by it and not taking artistic liberties with its standards, sent their best over. For example, the "Tailor and Cutter" would comment upon the male dress in the pictures of the year and point out their failings from the trade sartorial standpoint. The journals of fashion and education were also well represented. The experts of the learned art journals could be seen on friendly terms with the writers on the sensational press. It was an idyllic picture. When the war came the foreigners disappeared and many critics shyly appeared in volunteer, khaki, or ambulance uniforms. Then they vanished, and presently the industry shrank and changed. This year it was a small, devoted band with many dilettantes that gathered. But the Academy itself looks the same as ever.

MEDICINE AND THE NAVY.

The oft-repeated assertion that we were totally unprepared for war does not apply to the medical branch of the Royal Navy, which in common with the Royal Army Medical Corps has been considerably expanded since the outbreak of hostilities. So carefully considered had been the organisation of the naval service in peace time that no radical changes were necessary, and the rearrangements and expansion which had to take place had been rehearsed to a degree sufficient to test all the machinery of a rapid mobilisation to war strength. The transition took place without any dislocation or interruption of the effectiveness of the service. There was, of course, a considerable augmentation of the personnel, and while, for instance, in July, 1914, the number of medical officers on the permanent acting list was 520, at present the total force of medical officers in the Navy of all grades, excluding surgeon probationers and dental surgeons, is 1378. Transport, sick berth, and other staffs were greatly increased, and the whole organisation is now working with a smoothness and efficiency which has made the service a model one. At home and on sea the system of dealing with the wounded has been continually improved to meet the varying circumstances of the times new services and methods of treatment have been introduced, and hospital accommodation has been enlarged. German methods of warfare have brought new problems to the medical profession, and perhaps none of these has been more successfully tackled than the treatment of men suffering from burns from flame-throwers or other causes. The Naval Medical Service has utilised with great advantage a novel emollient, the invention of a French naval surgeon named Parthe de Sandfort, who sent a first supply of his composition to the British Admiralty, because he "wanted to do something to help the glorious wounded of the Royal Navy." The treatment consists in the application to the affected parts of paraffin wax. The material is heated and applied by means of small sprays. Though to the lay mind this may seem like an aggravation of the trouble, the effect is to give instant relief from pain, and it has proved a blessing to many sufferers. It was after the battle of Jutland that the prevention and treatment of burns came into prominence in the Navy, and among other steps taken was the issue of face masks and gloves to crews during

ACCIDENT WHILE SWIMMING

Mr. Samuel G. Blandford, of Belton, Ont., met with a nasty accident while swimming, but the timely use of Zam-Buk saved him from necessary suffering. He writes: "While swimming, I caught my foot on a piece of wire and in trying to free myself I cut my foot very badly. I applied a remedy I had at the time, but the cut got no better. Then I commenced with Zam-Buk. The first few applications ended the pain and drew out the poison and soreness, and very soon the injury was quite healed. Be sure to keep Zam-Buk on hand for emergencies, and when you go on your holidays don't forget to put a box of Zam-Buk in your bag. It's splendid for cuts, burns, blisters, sunburn, sore feet, heat rash, bites and sores of all kinds. All dealers, 60c. box. Send 1a. stamp (for return postage) on free trial box."

Masonic Installation at Bell Island.

The installation of W. M. and Officers of Cliff Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Bell Island, took place Wednesday night, the installing officers being the District Grand Master, Bro. J. A. Cluff, assisted by W. Bro. W. N. Gray, as D. G. Secretary and W. Bro. Gower Rabbitts as Director of Ceremonies. The following are the officers for the ensuing year:—
W. Bro. Jacob B. Cox—W.M.
W. Bro. J. C. Stewart—I.P.M.
W. Bro. Rev. J. C. Stead—S.W.
Bro. Wm. Lindsay—J.W.
Bro. John Lee—Chaplain.
W. Bro. W. N. Butler—P.M. Treas.
W. Bro. C. B. Hillier—P. M. D. of C.
Bro. A. R. Proudfoot—S.D.
Bro. C. B. Archibald—J.D.
Bro. W. E. Fuller—Steward.
Bro. A. P. Rees—Steward.
Bro. B. King—L.G.
Bro. H. Mercer—Tyler.
Following the installation, a short informal banquet was held. The visitors returned to the city yesterday morning.

Council Meeting.

The regular session of the Municipal Council was held last evening. The Mayor presided and all the members of the Board attended. After reading minutes, the following matters were disposed of:—
E. J. Horwood's tender to supply hay to the Sanitary Department was accepted.
James Murdock sent a communication re his proposed bungalow on Cockpit Road. He offered to build on the north side, and asked if he would be allowed, provided he built a septic tank; if not, could he install a chemical toilet until water and sewerage are laid there. Permission was disallowed.
William Whittemarsh applied for a portion of Council's land on Mundy Pond Road for building purposes. No action.
A number of residents of Hamilton Avenue requested the sanitary carts to call there to remove ashes, etc. The request was not acted upon.
P. J. Shea wrote he was willing to carry out Rules and Regulations of the Council. He had ordered the iron framing from the Reid Mill Co., but they could give no idea when the material could be had. If this material did not arrive by the first of August he asked the Council's permission to attach the iron sheathing to a light wooden framing, this to be replaced by the iron framing after its arrival. The Council cannot give permission for any structure that is not in accordance with the law.
E. A. Strong was given permission to repair roof of house, Water Street.
J. B. Butler requested water and sewerage pipes in Franklin Avenue.
G. W. Payne was given permission to build an extension kitchen on Bonclody Street, provided it meets with approval of City Engineer.
The City Engineer reported that sewerage on Leslie Street was completed. The stand for a temporary fish market had been placed at the Municipal wharf at the Long Bridge, and the fish market in Cliff's Cove had been in use during the week. The extension of sewer on Guild Vill was begun, and also the Spencer Street sewer.
Several other matters of detail were also reported by him.
Decided to place War Insurance on the City Hall.
The man in charge of fish markets is to be instructed to insist that the fishermen in Stow's Cove be not permitted to gut fish in their boats and throw same into the water.
Councillor Mullaly gave notice of motion to amend the regulation respecting the use of water for washing windows.
The Plumbing Inspector's and the Health Officer's reports were read.
After passing pay rolls, etc., the meeting adjourned.

Eczema Cured Five Years Ago.

A Treatment Which Has Proven a Wonderful Healer of the Skin—Certified Evidence of Lasting Cure.

The old notion that eczema is a disease of the blood is retained time and time again by the cures that are daily being effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment.
It matters not what the cause may have been if you apply Dr. Chase's Ointment regularly you will obtain relief and cure of eczema. Here is the proof.
Mrs. Stephen G. Thwaites, Box 205, Jordan, Ont., writes: "My brother had a bad case of eczema on his legs. He was troubled nearly all one fall and winter with it, and could not work for days at a time. He tried different ointments and remedies, but none cured him. One day he tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it gave almost instant relief. He continued its use, but had not quite finished the second box when he was cured. It is now about five years since then, and it has never returned. We certainly can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment, and are very grateful for my brother's cure."
(Rev. S. F. Coffman, Vineland, Ont., states: "This is to certify that I know Mrs. Thwaites and her statements are correct.")
Mr. J. E. Jones, 228 University Avenue, writes: "I had a terrible case of eczema in my hand for about five years. I tried a great many remedies, but found that while some of them checked it, none cured it permanently. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in six weeks my hand was completely better. I would not do without a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house if it cost $2 a box. I am giving my name to this firm so that it will get to those who suffer as I did."
Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Substitutes will only disappoint you. Insist on getting what you ask for.

Well Known Stewardess Victim of U-boat.

Word was received a few days ago from New York that Miss McCurdy, well known as stewardess of the Florizel, lost her life when the American steamer Carolina was torpedoed by a German submarine off the Virginia Capes. Miss McCurdy was prevented from sailing on the last trip of the Florizel owing to being quarantined here because of smallpox on the ship. No definite information has been received as to how she lost her life.

Hr. Grace Notes.

The harbor ferry has not been running for the past couple of days, much to the inconvenience of the residents of Harbor Grace South. The cause of the "hang up" is said to be that the ferryman finds it impossible to carry on the work for the same remuneration as before the war, and has given notice to that effect. This seems to our mind quite reasonable, much more so than to have our South Side friends deprived of the great benefits of the motor ferry.

Mr. W. Noel of the Surveyor General's Department is in town and has with him three returned soldiers, who are to be employed during the summer surveying in this neighborhood. It seems a little oversight not to have given our returned soldiers from this town an opportunity of earning a little.

For months past it has been quite a common occurrence every other day to see a dog in great agony on the street, mostly in the morning, after a half hour or so of apparently terrible suffering the poor brute would succumb to what appeared to be the effects of poison. Small house dogs were attacked in the same way, some recovering, others perishing. There must be a cause for this unusual occurrence, and we would ask the authorities to cause an investigation to be made at once. If it is a case of poisoning, it should be ascertained where the poor brutes were poisoned, and by whose authority. If there is a disease among these animals that cause their death, the remains should be buried at once and not left under the public gaze for hours as has been the case in the past, with the danger of spreading the disease. Children should be warned from going near them while they are thus suffering. If possible when attacked the poor brutes should be put out of misery at once.

A memorial service to the memory of our brave young friend, Sergeant Graham Duff, who was lately killed in action in France, will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening next. The Rev. G. S. Coffin will conduct the service. CORRESPONDENT. Hr. Grace, June 12, 1918.

Laid to Rest.

All that was mortal of the late George Bond Simmonds, who passed away at his home, 65 Lime Street, on Tuesday morning last, was laid to rest yesterday afternoon on his 42nd birthday, in the General Protestant Cemetery, with care and certain hope of the resurrection to eternal life. The services at the house and grave were conducted by the Rev. T. B. Darby. The late Mr. Simmonds was a son of the late Robert and Annie Simmonds, and is survived by a wife, and five children, also 4 brothers and 4 sisters in the United States. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family in their great sorrow.

With the Rod.

Eighteen salmon have been taken at Little Barachois up to Thursday. On Wednesday of last week C. Shears landed 6 salmon from Fishchell's.

Dr. C. H. Dunn, of Boston, is camped at Doyle's. He had one salmon up to Friday.

J. A. Faunce, of Philadelphia, arrived at Robinson's on Sunday, and another party of three from Sydney also got off Sunday's express at Robinson's for salmon fishing.

S. and Mrs. Henshaw and son, of Providence, R.I., and E. Mildeberger of New York, arrived at Overall's Grand River, on Friday, where they will spend some time fishing salmon.

C. Fisher tells us that the Hamble River is higher than he has seen it for thirty years. At Shefford island for instance, only the tops of the trees were out of the water on Saturday.

There is a good run of salmon at Fishchell's, Robinson's and Little Barachois Rivers. But all the rivers have become so swollen by recent rains, that we have been told there is little likelihood of good fishing for some days.—Western Star.

Diana Reaches Henley. IRE IN STRAITS. The ss. Diana, Capt. Ed. English arrived back here on the first Straits trip for the season early Thursday morning. She succeeded in reaching Henley Harbor, where heavy drift ice was met with. On the way north a line got entangled around her propeller at Port Saunders which delayed the ship several hours. Stormy weather prevailed all along the Labrador Coast. She brought report of good sign of cod from Port au Chel to Bonne Bay. Weather and ice conditions in the Straits have prevented any fishery operations there. The arrival of the ship was a welcome sign at many parts of the coast, where the supply of provisions was running short after a long isolation of six months.—Western Star.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL CLIP.

LONDON, To-day. It is announced that the Imperial Government has purchased the whole of the Australian wool clip for the period of the war, and for one year afterwards, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Melbourne. The first two clips involved the sum of £100,000,000. It is the largest wool transaction in the history of the world, and insures the commercial and financial stability of Australia.

FIVE DAYS' FIGHTING.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, June 13.—(Night) The offensive continued to stay the German offensive between Mont Didier and Noyon, whose objective was complete and despite long preparation the Germans were unable to overcome French resistance, and brilliant counter attacks by the Allied troops took back everything of importance which fell into the hands of the enemy during the first rush with large masses of troops. The Germans certainly gained some little ground but their design failed in its great lines. To-day there was an unsuccessful German attack west of the Oise, but the battle front elsewhere in this region was calm. Troops who participated in the best of the day are prisoners, are unanimous in declaring that the German losses throughout the five days were appalling. The French now occupy a much better line for resistance along this front than before the battle, having straightened out a dangerous salient. The French left wing continues to threaten the German communication and both the staff and the troops are full of confidence that they will be able to cope with any further German effort.

SHOT A SKINFULL.

PARIS, To-day. The position of the latest German effort after five days of fighting is described inelegantly, but aptly, by a General who has just arrived from the front as follows: "The Germans got a skinful." Military commentators here are unanimous in reporting more German failure. The enemy have won a strip of territory of outstanding value but they have sacrificed all their divisions, without which an attack at any point must suffer from a lack of depth. The Germans are much further from a decisive result. Such is also the opinion of Henry Bidou, and Col. De Thomassin, who would be the last person to hail a victory prematurely.

If you are going to get that new suit of clothes, get it now, as with new shipments of goods prices are going to soar. We have a splendid stock to select from, and you can rely on a good fit in any style you wish to have it made. SPURRELL the Tailor, 365 Water St.—June 14, 1918

Magistrate's Court.

MUST PAY THE DIFFERENCE. Two fishermen from Blackhead took action against the Health Department in the Magistrate's Court this morning to recover an amount due them for services rendered. The complainants were engaged by the Health authorities to attend to the occupants of a house in which smallpox had broken out, and were under the impression that they would receive $3 per day for their labor. The Department, however, was only willing to pay $1.50. After hearing the evidence the Judge decided in favor of the complainants stating that the work performed was well worth the money asked for. Hon. M. P. Gibbs, for complainants; Mr. F. A. News, for the Health authorities.

AFTER THE ARREARS.

The Mayor took action against 12 householders this morning to recover arrears of the city water rates. Some of the amounts due are over $70. The court decided in favor of the City Council in eleven cases and dismissed their claim in one.

A Sad Death.

The following message was received last evening by the Deputy Minister of Justice from Magistrate Courage, Bay L'Argent:—

"The young man Miles, from Terranceville, who volunteered and was assigned to his mother's request, died yesterday from the effects of falling overboard between Bay L'Argent and Little Bay."

"Verboten" to Soldiers.

Some of Many "Mustn'ts." The average recruit is somewhat nonplussed to learn that various actions quite innocent in themselves, and done most unconsciously in civil life, constitute a "crime" when committed in the Army. You "mustn't" let your hair grow in the Army, and you "mustn't" patronize a civilian barber, since the hair must be cut in regimental style and by the regimental barber. You "mustn't" shave your neck, or your company officer will want to know the reason why.

You "mustn't" put your hands in your pockets. A soldier's trousers have pockets, certainly, but what they are for is a problem which defies any solution, since the owner's hands may not be placed in them, and the soldier never has any money to put in them. You "mustn't" put any bulky articles, such as pocket-books, cigarette cases, and the like in your tunic pockets.

However an ardent politician you may be, you "mustn't" indulge in political meetings in the Army. If your wife cannot get her separation allowance, or if you wish to apply to the commanding officer of your regiment on any business matter, or you have any complaint to make, it would seem the simplest matter to settle if you sat down and wrote to the officer concerned. But this would constitute a "crime". An N. C. O. or man is not allowed to communicate directly with his superiors. Your correct procedure is to approach your company-sergeant-major, who will take you to your company officer, who will take you to the commanding officer.

If the trousers issued to you would take a giant's legs instead of your puny ones, doesn't that imply that you should go to a tailor and have them altered to fit you? Certainly not; you "mustn't" do it. That is another "crime"—defacing H. M. uniform. You can wear your boots to the sole if you like—in civil life—but not in the Army. The moment the heel plates get worn down that pair of boots must be handed to the regimental cobbler. If the company officer makes a "book inspection" and finds yours the worse for wear, then yours "are in the peg," and the charge against No. 123 Pte. Tommy Atkins is wilfully neglecting to keep his boots in good repair. For this punishment is anything from three to seven days C. B., and may further entail stoppage of pay.

Every officer you meet must be saluted. If two or three or four of you are out together you must all salute.—Tit-Bits.

On Guard.

The arrival of the German submarines in American waters was not without warning. The first public intimation of Germany's intention to bring her U-boat warfare to this side came in an address delivered in Paris by Georges Leygues, French Minister of Marine, on May 12th. Then came in rapid succession, reports of submarines operating in West Indian waters, and last week a captain of a steamship landing at Norfolk reported having sighted a submarine somewhere off the Carolina capes. Later it was explained by Washington that this boat might have been an American submersible on its way to Europe. On May 27th reports were current that three vessels had been sunk in a mysterious manner off Chesapeake Bay. Marine circles, which had been perplexed by the unexplained disappearance of the United States Collier Cyclops, were stirred by the reports of the discovery of derelicts off the coast, and it was rumored that German submarines were at work. One of these derelicts was towed to Five Fathom Lightship, off the Delaware River, and it was found that there was a large hole in her hull below the water line. The sinking of the vessels off the New Jersey coast finds precedent in the exploit of the German submarine U-53, which, on October 7th, 1916, suddenly appeared at Newport, R. I.; after a stay of three hours at that port, the U-boat, which was commanded by Commander Rose, left Newport and the next day sank six vessels in quick succession off Nan-

Our Summer Straws are Ready

Up to date, the exploits of the U-boats on the American coast have not been of much consequence. They have sunk mainly schooners and coasting vessels, but have accomplished nothing of military importance. There is no reason to doubt that the American naval forces will deal with them effectively. At the same time, the menace of their presence is not to be ignored, and we desire to again emphasize the warning to our people everywhere along the coast to be on the alert.—Halifax Chronicle.

To the Kaiser's Victims

Over the barriers of your dead you clung. Flung wave on wave across the tortured plain; And pay every rood of rooking slime. Its myriad toll of newly-blain. And ever, where your legions on us broke, Close-packed to give them courage, drugged and driven, Our line has held as when a forest oak Rocks to the storm but stands un-riven. How long before the horror grows too grim? Before you tire of playing the dumb slave's part. Sent to his death to suit a master's whim. And something snaps within your heart? For you have lost the old illusion's spell. The faith that you were called of Heaven to fight. Against the onset of the lords of hell Leagued to destroy the sons of light. Now, when that faith is blown to barren. How long, I wonder, will you care to die. Having no King, whose word a man may trust. Nor any Cause except a lie?—Owen Seaman in "Punch."

German Offensive Now on the Wane.

Enemy Attacks Checked by Stubborn Fighting of the French. Effective Work Among Allies. Big Advance in Macedonia.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, June 13. The French official statement says: During the course of the day the Germans launched a powerful counter attack from Courcelles to the north of Miry (Mont Didier sector) and were caught under the fire of our guns, the assaulting troops were not able to reach our positions, but were obliged to retreat to their line of departure after having suffered heavy losses.

There is a growing tone of optimism in the newspapers as it becomes clear that the Germans have been checked. They certainly compelled the French to withdraw at the northern end of the salient on the left bank of the Oise, including Carlepoint-Wood plateau, but the French retained the long belt of territory north of the Aisne, and it is to threaten this from the rear that the Germans launched the new attack south of the Aisne on a very wide front.

Germans were assembling for an attack. Consequently their positions were very strongly held and the fighting was of the bitterest description, but the French infantry, supported by tanks and the Anglo-French air squadrons, over-matched the numerically superior enemy. Battle planes flew in front of the infantry, spraying the Germans with bullets from a height of a few score yards, while bombing machines attacked the enemy formations in the rear.

DEFEATED SUPERIOR NUMBERS.

Grape-Nuts FOOD the rich, full flavored goodness of selected wheat and other grains for Breakfast have occupied their new positions on the heights of Croix Ricari and Melcoc. Hundreds of prisoners and many machine guns remain in the hands of the French. Violent combats continue between the Aisne River and Villers-Cotterets. The Germans have made progress as far as the ravine east of Laverne. After violent fighting the enemy has obtained a footing in Couvres and St. Pierre Aigle. The Germans made a violent attack on the front between Bouresche and Belleau Wood. American troops broke up the attack and inflicted serious losses upon the enemy, holding all the gains which they had made.

ADVANCE IN MACEDONIA.

LONDON, June 13. In Macedonia the French troops have captured ground to a depth of nearly nine and a half miles over an eleven mile front, occupying eleven villages, and taken 310 enemy prisoners.

HAIQ'S REPORT.

LONDON, June 13. Field Marshal Haig's report from British headquarters in France to-night says: In a successful minor operation carried out by us last night in the neighborhood of Merris we captured 48 prisoners, 6 machine guns and trench mortars. Except for normal activity on both sides in the different sectors, there is nothing further to report.

ENEMY SUFFERS.

PARIS, June 13. A concentrated fire from the French guns caught a powerful German force attempting a counter attack between Courcelles and Mery, and not only drove them back, but inflicted heavy losses, according to the war office announcement to-night. The Germans gained a footing in the village of Laverne, but other attempts in this region failed.

ALWAYS MISCALCULATES.

LONDON, June 13. Commenting on the boastful statement of General Von Stein, the German War Minister, regarding the German successes in the present offensive, the Daily Mail notes particularly that General Von Stein was certain that Germany was approaching her goal. The fact is, the newspaper continues, that at every turn since 1914 the German military party has been able to produce precise calculations proving that victory was just within their grasp, but at every turn there has been some fatal flaw in those calculations which has frustrated their predictions.

MINES LOCATED.

WELLINGTON, June 13. Two enemy mines has been destroyed off the North Cape, the northern extremity of New Zealand, according to an announcement made here. They probably were sowed by the German raider Sea Adler.

ANOTHER WAR ZONE.

LONDON, June 13. The German Admiralty intends to declare the east coast of the United States from Mexico to Canadian waters a danger zone and will warn neutral shipping, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam quoting reports received from Berlin.

THE NAVY'S VALUE.

LONDON, June 13. An example of the routine work carried out by the British Admiralty during three and a half years of war is shown in the fact that despite Germany's submarines, 17 million passengers have been conducted in military transports back and forth to the various theatres of war. The number of animals conveyed exceeds 2,000,000, the number of vehicles carried was more than 400,000, and quantity of stores transported was in excess of 37,000,000 tons. In addition, considerable assistance in transport has been given by British ships to other Allied nations. The British Admiralty has carried nearly a million tons of stores for the Italian Government.

SINKING THE SUBS.

LONDON, June 13. In an interview with the London correspondent of the Petit Parisien, Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, had the following to say with regard to submarines: The Allied navies continue to sink more German submarines than the enemy can build. It is certainly a fact that since January we have sunk more submarines than they have built. We attack their submarines seventy times a week on the average. We base our returns of subs. destroyed only on those we are sure of from having seen wrecks, or secured the crews, but most of the other submarines hit are in urgent need of repairs and it is evident that the results of many of our attacks are unknown. If you have moles in your garden you may put down a thousand traps without catching all of them, and it is the same with submarines.

THE SILVER BULLET.

LONDON, June 13. In the House of Commons on Tuesday next, Andrew Bonar Law, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, is expected to move a war appropriation of £200,000,000, making the total appropriations since the beginning of the war £7,342,000,000.

DR. QUIGLEY DEAD.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 13. Stricken with acute indigestion on Tuesday night, Dr. Richard F. Quigley, Barrister, one of the most widely known laymen of the Catholic Church in Canada, died to-day in the St. John Infirmary. He was a bachelor, and about 70 years of age. He was very scholarly, a master of languages, particularly well versed in Catholic Church Canon Law and Church History. He won from Pope Leo XIII. the letter of Doctor of Philosophy by his defence of the doctrine of the Immaculate Conception. This was in a press controversy with the late Rev. J. M. Davenport, an Anglican clergyman here, and provided the series of letters "Ipsa, Ipsa, Ipsum." Dr. Quigley was prominent in the Knights of Columbus. He was a native of Newcastle, N.B.

PLEADS FOR UNIFIED COMMAND.

LONDON, June 13. Writing in the Daily Telegraph, Archibald S. Hurd, the widely known naval authority, pleads urgently for a unified command for the Allied fleets in the Mediterranean, especially in view of the probable accession to the strength of the enemy of the bulk of the ships belonging to the former Russian Black Sea fleet.

AMERICANS WILL MAKE SACRIFICES.

LONDON, June 13. The American Army is prepared, if necessary, to make greater sacrifices than that involved in the brigading of American troops with the French and British, declares the correspondent of the Daily Mail with the Americans in France. After recording cordially and deeply expressed regrets among the American troops that more trained Americans have not been available to assist the French and the willingness of the Americans to sacrifice themselves if need be, the correspondent says, this is the spirit of the whole army.

SUCCESSFUL RAID.

LONDON, June 13. A successful daylight raid was carried out by us yesterday southeast of Arras, says to-day's war office report. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy. One hostile trench mortar was brought back to our lines and two others were destroyed. During the night local operations were undertaken by us successfully southeast of Merris and east of Diekebusche Lake. In the former sector our line has been advanced a short distance with little cost and a number of prisoners taken.

A NEW ACHIEVEMENT.

FRENCH HEADQUARTERS, June 13. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.) The importance of the role of our air service in the fighting is daily increasing. During yesterday's operations our light bombing squadrons performed the unprecedented feat of attacking German heavy gun batteries in action, and silencing them by killing or scattering the gunners. In the Picardy offensive our fighting planes repeatedly attacked field gun batteries with machine guns; but silencing heavy batteries by bomb attacks from the air is a new achievement in the war.

The President's Loyalty

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—Whenever Mr. Coaker desires to vent his spleen upon some private citizen who may by chance have got astride his path, he dictates a circular letter to his brethren of the Union and calls upon all and sundry, on penalty of dismissal, to carry out his wishes. This often means a boycott of the offender's person or store. The innocent victim may never in his life have seen the Great Whim, and is often left to wonder why he has been singled out for such honor or on the part of the "wordy" President.
It may be, in an unguarded moment, he had mentioned some fact connected with the President's past checkered career, when he was, by his own efforts, trying to raise gulls on Longage Island, and the remark had been noted and carried by some healer to the willing ear of the President. Result: a circular is forthwith issued calling for the immediate dismissal of the offender if he be a member of the Union, or a boycott of his business if a "graball" merchant. (Note: a "graball" these days means any person not in the Coaker combine). Cases have been known where men who first put Mr. Coaker on his financial feet were dismissed from the Union because they became too inquisitive as to Mr. Coaker's methods of transacting Union business.
But I would like to ask Mr. Coaker why he issued a circular a little while ago to all Councils except those in Twillingate District? Was it because the attack which he made in that Circular upon certain prominent members of a certain Loyal Society in this country was so bitter and so vindictive that he was afraid of its falling into the hands of the members of that Society in his own District? I would warn him that he is treading on very dangerous ground.
Judging by the letters and "votes of confidence" coming in from the outports in reply to Mr. Coaker's appeal for same, the Union ship must have again got out of her course and is now in shallow waters, and among the breakers. This shows, that since Mr. Coaker has departed from the course mapped out for him by the fishermen and taken onboard for officers Messrs. Crosbie and Cashin and the Water Street (graball) merchants for a crew, the good old union ship is in danger of being wrecked. Mr. Coaker knows very well, when he sends such letters to his northern councils. He knows that nearly all the men are now away to the fishery and that the Councils do not meet to discuss such matters at this time of the year.
I notice also Mr. Coaker calls himself the "greatest patriot" in the country. Was he a great patriot in 1915 and 1916 when he tried to prevent his clerks from volunteering in the Newfoundland Regiment? Does he want proof of this? If so, he shall have it whenever he likes.
Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor,
Yours truly,
LOYALIST.
St. John's, June 12th, 1918.

Household Notes.

Baked meat or fish do not lose as much in weight as when roasted or broiled.
Every child under six years should have a whole quart of milk every day.
When you thin out the row of beets, boil the tiny ones that you pull out for greens.
Do not plant small seeds too deep. They should be slightly covered with earth.
Hot cornbread should be spread to make a thin loaf in order to have it bake thoroughly.
Doughnuts can be very satisfactorily made of cornmeal or of potatoes and barley flour.
A cup of mashed potatoes left over from dinner may be utilized in a dessert such as potato pie.
Potatoes baked in layers with onions and tomatoes is an excellent main dish for luncheon.
The mouthpiece of a telephone should be frequently unscrewed and cleaned in soft soap suds.
Black bean soup should be well flavored with onions, parsley and celery, or even a little curry.
When making bread which is part cornmeal add a little more shortening to prevent its crumbling.
Lemon jelly may be served with sliced bananas on each portion, the whole covered with boiled custard.
A variety of designs for pretty desserts can be made by coloring gelatin in several different colors.
There is a great deal of good nourishment in oatmeal and it is especially good for growing children.
A tablespoonful of alcohol in one quart of water will clean varnish, but it must be wiped dry immediately.
If a carpet or rug is carefully scrubbed with ammonia and water, it will be astonishingly bright and clean.
Cold mashed potato mixed with cream cheese, onion juice and a little mayonnaise makes a good sandwich filling.
During the next few months the making of yeast bread should be very much cut down, for good bread requires too much white flour.
