REJECTION OF MR. PARNELL'S BILL TO AMEND IT.

Mr. Glads come on Rack Bents-No Further

London, March 14-In the house of commions Mr. Parnell moved the second reading of his bill amending the land act. He said the agitation in Ireland must continue to increase till the act is amended. Mr. Chaplin, conservative, moved the rejection of Mr. Parnell's bill. Mr. Diekson, liberal, supported the measure because it embodied the program adopted by the conference of Ulster ten-adopted by the conference of Ulster ten-ants.

Mr. Gladstone said the land act was more efficient than Mr. Paruell described. Mr. Parnell's bill amounted virtually to a remodelling of the land act. He strongly denounced Parnell's statement that the courts imposed rack rents. He insisted that the tenants were willing to pay the the courts imposed rack rents. He insisted that the tenants were willing to pay the rest fixed by the courts. He hoped Parsell would give an assurance that the new crusade would be conducted in a strictly stead manner. It would be a violation of the duty of the government to demand any further sacrifice from the landlords. Mr. Gladstone's remarks were repeatedly cheered by the tory members.

The second reading of Parnell's bill was rejected by 104 to 250.

The successor of Earl Spencer as lord president of the council will probably become minister of agriculture. This will be a new creation.

In Mid-Cheshire to-day, Egerton (liberal conservative) was elected to parliament over in the strength of parties.

The Parnellites regards the unyielding tone of Mr. Gladstone's speech respecting the land act as satisfactory, so far as it is calculated to assist in promoting the appeal to Araerica for fresh funds.

The statement they the cabinet met a refusal at Berlin and vienna was untrue, as was manifest in the conformity of action between Italy, Germany and Austria. Time had shown the possibility of co-ordinating this line of conduct with an improvement of Italy's relations with France and England. The government would repress with vigor all irredentist manifestations. The recent demonstrations of irredentiate had not considered.

THE TORONTO WORLD aims at the good of the people as a whole the good of the state—of the commonwealth—as against any private interests thereto opposed. This latter is true "reform," and true "liberalism"; but what our " liberals" in the house are advocating in the matter in question is of the bogus variety, and is not for the good of the coun try. It seems as if some of our so-called liberals were possessed by the very demon of perversity, and bound to take always the unpopular and unpatriotic side of such quest tions, as the present.

NOT PARALLEL CASES.

Our friend "Miles" objects to the exclusion of Chinese laborers from Canada on the ground that it would violate treaty stipulations between China and the mother country. By the treaty now in force, British subjects are allowed to travel for pleasure or business in all parts of the interior of China. Why then exclude the Chinese from British territory anywhere? If we shut the Chiese out from British Columbia, the government of Pekin will have the right to call Great Britain to account. To which we reply that the two cases are not parallel. British subjects may travel through China on business or for plea-sure, and nobody objects to giving Chinamen the same privilege in Canada. But that is not what the Chinamen want. What they want is the privilege of coming into Canada by thousand and tens of thousands, and taking bread and work from our own working people. Suppose some ten thousand English or Canadian workingmen, of various occupations, tolland at Shaghai, and to take the work will not be inclined to put their money in from as many Chinese in that city and disstocks which are tossed about on margin, strict, as has been done by Chinese immiand manipulated to fleece the green. For grants in and around San Francisco and this state of affairs the speculating fever is Victoria. Would the Chinese government partly to blame; papers like the Mail which stand it? It is evident that terferes with the so-called "natural" course of trade, which is after all as frequently due to artificial as to natural causes. On the same principle Mr. John Bright opposed the English factory laws, because they interfered unduly with freedom of contract, which, it so happened, operated altogether in favor of the master, and practically meant for the workman the slavery of from twelve to sixteen hours labor per day. Mr. Bright, again, opposed the missionary work of a certain prominent

The trial of the whisky informers Gordon and Tilley at the police court yesterday re vealed a most unhealthy state of things In the first place it appears outrage ous that men should be given money to en courage the breaking of the law, and it is worse that they should be offered a reward, as Mr. Dexter puts it, "if they put things through straight." It seems to us that Mr. Dexter and the license commissioners, as well as their wretched tools, should be held liable for aiding and abetting a transgres sion of the law. What do our christian friends think of this method of doing evil that very doubtful good may accrue? Surely they do not approve of a system that encourages men to become worse than they naturally are and offers a premium on perjury. If the Crooks act cannot be enforced by any other means, then it was time Sir John Macdonald took the matter in hand.

While desiring to encourage in every possible way the development of the mining resources of the country, it is as well that we should warn intending speculators to be sure of the bona fides of any concern before investing their money. the criticisms on the composition of the board itself will be greatly lessened. A wise choice of a librarian is, in fact, an absolute necessity if the library is really to be what the people wish to see it, and what is more, the librarian must not be hampered by unreasonable restrictions from the board. As to Dr. Canniff's appointment as health officer, we doubt if a better choice could have been made. He will prove, unless we are much mistaken, both energetic and practical. As a beginning he announces his intention to make inquiry into the sanitary arrangements of the public schools. It is a good inaugural move, but paying every possible attention to our public institutions, will not neglect private with deficient sewerage, are of such a nature as to make them little better than death traps. slavery of from twelve to sixteen hours labor per day. Mr. Bright, again, opposed laws against the adulterations of food and other commodities, contending that adulteration was merely a form of commercial competition, with which the government should not interfere. Last sees sion of parliament, when Sir Charles Tupper hinted that possibly the government might yet find it necessary to check the rapacity of telegraph monopolies by putting up and operating lines of its own, Mr. Mackenzie sneeringly asked whether the government really thought of going into the telegraph business. And the same mistaken view of what is for the public interest is still held by the leaders of the same party. Seeing the mischief that has been done by so called private banks, and the losses which they have caused to many people, the finance minister proposes to protect the community with a salatary reference in the girls in particular.

MR. PHIPPS ON THE NEW LIBRARY QUESTION A SYNTHE

To the Editor of the World. SIR: Few citizens of Toronto have mor eason to feel interest in the librarian ques tion than myself, as literary work of one kind or another is my constant employment and a main part of my income. Literary men in this city have the advantage, if applied for, of the use of the excellent par iamentary library, and in the case of uni ersity graduates of that of Toronto university; where the courtesy of the respect Vandersmissen, certainly, in my experia eace, leaves nothing to be desired. But both these are special libraries of reference on special subjects. It is therefor of the greatest importance to us that the new public library should not be allowed to degenerate into a mere circulating library of novels, but should be constantly under the supervision of one familiar with the literary ive librarians, Mr. Inglis and Mr. aspect of the book trade in all its pranches. Without questioning what Mr

R. W. Phipps nas said, with his usual felicity, of Mr. Dent's claims as one of our few first class prose writers, I yet cousider that Mr. G. Mercer Adams has claims of a following from a Rat Portage correspondent: "Intending purchasers of mining claims should be careful about investing in claims surveyed during the winter. A number of parties have surveyed claims without having any object in view further than speculation. Land has been surveyed indiscriminately around the leading properties at present being developed, with the hopes that a 'good claim will sell a bad one.'"

If the library board only make as good a selection of a librarian as the city council the selection of a librarian as the city council the selection of a librarian as the city council the selection of a librarian as the city council the selection of a librarian as the city council that Mr. G. Mercer Adams has claims of a more special kind for the position in question, from his long experience of all varieties of literature. He has had a life-long knowledge of books, not merely as a publisher, but as a most painstaking and appreciative critic. Surely what Mr. Goldwin Smith, backed by Principal Grant and Dr. Nelles of Victoria unit versity, and every leading literary man in the country, has said on this point, as printed in Mr. Adam's testimonials, makes this indisputable. And if anybody thinks, which I for one do not think, that Lord Dufferin's opinion on this point would add the slightest weight to the opinions of Messrs, Goldwin Smith, Grant and Nelles, it is well known that Lord Dufferin would, it is well known that Lord Dunerin wents, if he could be asked, write in the same strain. If Mr. Adam be not appointed, those who remember his long and practical service to Canadian literature will feel that an opportunity has been lost, as well as an injustice done.

C. PELHAM MULVANEY.

"PROSECUTION FOR BLASPHEMY IN

SIR : In your Saturday's issue a corres pondent writing on the above subject pro pounds six questions, which he would like to have answered "sedately" by yourself or "any of your readers." With your permission I would be glad to briefly answer the gentleman's questions, and I promise to do so as soberly and "sedately" as will become the occasion. In consideration of Question number one : "Why are blasphemy and atheism necessary to scientific thought? In other words, are no christian men of scientific thought ?" Ans. Some scientists are nominally christians, but no really eminent or first-class scientist of to-day is even nominally a christian Prof. Dawson of Montreal is perhaps as respectable a scientist as the christian world can at present claim, yet nobody would think of placing him in the same eminence as Darwin, Huxley, Tyndall or Spencer. If "blasphemy and atleism" consist in ignoring the anthro pomorphic God of the bible in scientific teaching, in disbelieving in His existence, and in showing that the plan of creation in Genesis is not true, then blasphemy and atheism are "necessary to scientific thought," for science is bound to deal with cosmogony and the order of development.

Question number two: "Is it more scientific to deny God than to believe in God?"

Ans. This depends upon which God it is that's denied or believed in. If the God is meant whose character and doings are described in the bible, who created the described in the bible, who created the universe out of nothing; who made the world in six days; who started vegetation before there was any sun, and after wards made the sun and moon "stand still" to accommodate Joshua—if this is the God meant (and this is the christian's God) then I should say it is "more scientific to deny God than to believe in God." But the God than to believe in God." But the scientists do not "deny" God. They do not even deny the christian's God any more than they would deny the assertion that there were men on some other planet who weigh each 40 tons avoirdnpois, are 200 feet high, and snuff up the east wind for a living. They may disbelieve both assertions as being very absurd; but they do not deny them, for the reason that neither the one nor the other can be proved or disproved. All the gods, and the cosmogonies ascribed to them (not excepting the Jewish), are completely disproved and overthrown by the facts and deductions of modern science. It is, therefore, much modern science. It is, therefore, much more scientific to deny them than to believe in them. The only God the scientist be-lieves in is the mysterious power in nature, concerning which he knows nothing; but he declines to clothe this power with flesh, blood and passions, and give it sex Question number three: "Is physical science (which is the pursuit of the scientists named) in its investigations at all concerned with a spiritual world? May it not be as free as it likes in the material sphere, without denying God or his providence?"

Ans. Science cannot very well go on with its investigations are nitrothymical whole. its investigations, even into physical phenomena without coming in direct conflict with this God and this Providence you speak of, this God and this Providence you speak o', who, the christian tells us, manages and controls everything by His arbitrary power, even to the fall of a sparrow or a hair, from your head. Science says natural law reigns supreme and universally. The christian says God reigns supreme and brings everything to pass, sometimes in direct contravention of these laws and sequences. (Vide miracles in all ages.) Now here is direct in the contravention of these laws and sequences. vention of these laws and sequences. (Vide miracles in all ages.) Now, here is direct conflict which the scientist must meet; and he does meet it by simply affirming the scientific truth and completely ignoring the theological assumption, and this is called "blasphemy and atheism." And again, how can science pursue its investigations, "as free as it likes," in biology, in physiology, without at once coming in conflict with the "spiritual" hypothesis of a soul inhabiting the body during life, independent of the brain, and leaving it at death, persisting thereafter as a conscious ego? The scientist finds mind in connection with the living body—mind which is a process instead

WHAT A BOWMANVILLE EDITOR HAS TO SAY REGARDING DISOS'S CATARRII ERMEDT.

BOWEANVILLE, Canada, Jan. 2 1883.

To the Editor of the Statesman.

DRAR SIR,—Perhaps some of your readers are affected with that dreadful disease—Catarrh. If so, I sak permission to say through the Statesman that I have been a subject of Catarrh for the last twenty years and for the last eight years no one can tell the pains I have endured. At time I had a dull, heavy headache, discharge failing into the throat of a thick canacious mucus. My eyes were weak and watery, ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking and coughing to clear the throat, and at times I was almost softed day, but to no effect. I have tried eyery kind of patent medicines, washes and sunffs, that I could hear of, but did not receive the least benefit until I tried Dixos's Catarri Remedy. On the 5th August last I procured the remedy and started its use immediately, and by the use of only three treatments I consider myself permanently cured. Its beneficial action was immediate and the cure speedy. Judging from the effects of this treatment on myself, I am satisfied that Dixon's is the only known treatment for Catarrh which will effect a permanent cure. To all who are suffering from Catarrh I must conscientiously say: Give Dixon & Son's Catarrh Remedy a fair trial; it is "worth its weight in gold."

Sincerely yours,

Note by the Publisher.—The Publisher of the Statesman has had an intimate acquaintance with Mr. Oke for about thirty years, and can, with scores of others, vouch for the correctness of the above statement. We have never known so bad a case of Catarrh as Mr. Oke's was, and the use of Dixon's Catarrh Bemedy has effected a perfect cure, so that no symptoms whatever of the disease remain. We gladly give space to Mr. Oke's letter in the hope that it may be of benefit to some victim of Catarrh. Messrs. A. H. Dixon & Son will send a treatise on Catarrh free on receipt of stamp. Citizens residing on Gerrard street and corner of River street complain of the gangs of rowdies who congregate there after dark. There is no police, and respectable residents after dark are afraid of crossing Ge rard street bridge owing the blackguardly condact of these roughs. A few evenings ago a poor girl was attacked by the rowdies and brutally ill-treated. She had to enter the church, which was open, to escape from their brutality. The inhabitants of the east end of St. David's ward would like the aldermen to endeavor to have police protection in that district.

Mr. Horton has spent a good deal of time and money in perfecting his machine, and there can be no doubt he has made some very decided improvements over the Remington or any other writer. As an amateur mechanic he has succeeded admirably in bringing into the arena of practical workmanship some very good ideas on type-writing which those interested will appreciate. The most noticeable feature of the new machine is that the writer always has before his eyes, just as in ordinary pennanship, whatever he is writing, an advantage appreciated more by those who compose their ideas white using the machine to fund provided in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing sleeves, viewing the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing is the actions of his followers from afar, but with his seeves rolled in flowing in the lanes and alleys of St. John's ward. A suit for Alimony.

A suit for alimony is now in progress at Osgoode hall. The plaintiff is the wife of Wm. A. Saunders, at one time a blacksmith in Fairbank. Seven years ago Saunder ran away from his wife, leaving her and ran away from his wife, leaving her and the family without any means of sustenance. A few weeks after his departure he wrote to his wife stating that he would never come back, and also enclosing several bills which had been presented to him and which he had the audacity to request her to pay. Her father-in-law then undertook her support until 1881, when he died, leaving one-third his property to his son. As the son did not turn up, his wife has entered a suit for alimony, to be realized from the lands willed to her husband. The case will be heard on the 21st of this month.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Dexter, came up at the police court yesterday morning. Mr. Bigelow appeared for Tilley and Mr. Murphy defended Gordon. Inspector Dexter was the first witness called. He stated that he had, in his capacity of license inspector, employed the prisoners as liquor detectives on Jan. 13. On Jan. 29 the prisoners got $5 from him on account of expenses to be incurred, which he was led to pay them as they reported they had caught two liquor dealers selling after hours. He had also advanced them several other sums.

On being cross-questioned by Mr. Murphy, he stated that he promised to give them a bonus over what they were to receive if they should succeed in putting the cases through all right.

Mr. Murphy asked if this money was not given for the purpose of getting citizens to break the law, to which the witness replied "No, but to go to places where liquor was reported to be sold illegally."

Mr. Murphy—"How much wages do you owe them?"

Witness—"I allowed them $5 per week to pay their board, and intended to settle all up with them in the end, but I will not pay them one cent more."

The prisoners were then committed for trial. Dexter, came up at the police court yester

As throat and lung diseases at the present time are very prevalent in all parts of the Dominion of Canada, we submit the following letter on ada, we submit the following letter on CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

Bronchitis is an inflammation of the microus membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary affections. Chronic bronchitis more often cours later in life. When a cold settles on the lungs, the disease either ends in bronchitis or pueumonis. If it ends in bronchitis trusually passes off as a cold in the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortness of breath, with more or less warm in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucous, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength, and night sweats continue, when the patient assumes all the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarris of the lungs or chronic bronchitis.

tion. But this is simply catarrh of the lungs or chronic bronchitis.

In the latter stages of the disease the mucous membrane of the larger bronchial tube softens while in the smaller tubes and air cell s of the lungs the mucous membrane, becomes congested and infamed. There are no cavities or tubercles in the lungs, but merely a wasting away of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffice ation, being unable to expecterate the nucous which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green. Oftentimes streaks of blood make their appearance in the mucous, and at times there is a disagreeable smell. Persons thus afflicted are very liable to take a cold, at which time the mucous there case that the patient dies in one of these attacks.
