COLLISION WITH COLLIER LINER LIMPS BACK TO QUEBEC

In Dense Fog, Between Cape Magdalen and Fame Point, Big C. P. R. Steamer Cut Coal Boat Helvetia in Two, Badly Damaging Empress' Bows-Returning to Port With 730 Passengers-Collier's Crew Saved With Difficulty-Relief Boats Hurried to Scene.

OUEBEC, July 28 .- (Can. Press) - The latest despatches from the Empress of Britain state that after transferring mails and a number of second and third-class passengers to the Pretorian, she started back from Father Point at 7.40 o'clock. The steamer is proceeding slowly under her own steam, and the Lord Strathcona and the C.P.R. tug Cruiser are accompanying her. The Empress of Britain cannot arrive until late to-morrow afternoon.

The accident has again brought before the public the necessity for the immediate construction of a dry dock at Quebec. If there was a dry dock capable of accommodating the Empress of Britain, all would be well, but there are no means of repairing the serious damages which the vessel has received.

OUEBEC, July 28 .- During a dense fog, the Canadian Pacific Railway steamer Empress of Britain, which left Quebec at 7.15 on Friday evening, collided with the steamer Helvetia, a collier bound to Ouebec and Montreal at 4.45 Saturday afternoon. The scene of the disaster was between Cape Magdalen and Fame Point. The first news of the accident came to Quebec about 6 o'clock Saturday evening via wireless, and this was followed by another despatch stating that the Empress of Britain was returning to Quebec with her bows badly stove in and her fore compartments filled with water.

As far as can be gathered, the Empress of Britain struck the Helvetia amidships, cutting her in two, the injured vessel sinking shortly afterwards. Those on board the Helvetia were all rescued and taken on board the Empress of Britain.

ASSISTANCE HASTILY SENT.

Captain Murray immediately gave orders to have his ship brought back to Quebec, and assistance was despatched to her, the stood on the car step just before it wrecking steamer Lord Strathcona being despatched at once, while reached the corner of Queen and cation of the officers of the rescue ship the Canadian Pacific tug Cruiser, which was in Montreal, was also ing he could get off all right while the of his own nationality in Toronto. rastened to the scene, passing thru Quebec this morning on its way to help the Empress of Britain.

The latest news of the disaster shows that Captain Murray was foot slipped and he was thrown with was to receive a sum of money proceeding thru the dense fog cautiously, when suddenly, and with- great force on the back of his head to from the White Star Steamship Co., out warning, the Helvetia was seen, but too late to avert a collision, the pavement. the Empress of Britain plunging into the Helvetia, and, it is said, the captain and officers of the sinking vessel, a few moments after which she sank.

his vessel to return to Quebec.

The Empress of Britain had 73d passengers, the greater part of the disabled steamer to port is very flow, its passage being impeded curred, and the other at 774 Collegeby the wreckage which hangs over its bows. At 1.15 this afternoon the ship reached Father Point, where she was still at 5 o'clock this gue, where Coroner George W. Graafternoon. The Allan steamer Pretorian was standing by, to which at noon to-day. some of the passengers and the mails were being transferred.

The Empress of Britain expected to again get under way shortly before 7 o'clock. She is traveling under her own steam, and, as she is making but eight miles an hour, she is not expected to reach Quebec before to-morrow morning at a late hour.

The steamer Helvetia, which sank after the collision, was bringing a cargo of 8000 tons of coal from Sydney. The skipper of the Helvetia was Capt. Connell.

The steamer was built at Sunderland about a year ago. The captain's wife and niece were on board. Capt. Connell and First Officer Wilson are well known here. It is understood the ship and Big Railway Man's Fortune Had cargo were insured. All on board, except the officers and the two women, were Chinamen.

During the second day's play at Lord's, on July 16, between Australia and Seuth Africa, the match was suspended for a few minutes, so that the two elevens might be presented to the King, who is taking a great interest in the Imperial Cricket Tournament. As Prince of Wales, he was a frequent visitor to watch Surrey play at the oval, and he takes more than an academic interest in Rugby football.

The County Tournament
Nothing has been more remarkable during the present season than the all-round play of Northampton; who, previous to their match with Warwickshire, were at the head of the table. They owe their success in a great degree to the brilliant work of Thompson and East, two professionals, who have given loyal service for years. Great credit is also due to the enthusiastic amateurs, G. A. T. Vials, S. G. Smith and the brothers Denton. Lord Hawke, when captain of Yorkshire, was the first to give Northampton a lift by arranging fixtures with them before they attained first-class rank. When they were included in the first division they had the professionals. Thompson and East, had the whole team to carry on their backs, so to speak. However, enthusiasm combined with tireless perseverance has met with its reward, and Northampton, althe they do not meet Middlesex, Lancashire or Notts, deserve full credit for their brilliant work. Last season, Warwickshire, who won the championship, did not meet either Kent or Middlesex, who finished second and third. On July 10 Northampton defeated Surrey by 9 wickets, and as it was their first victory over the powerful Surrey eleven, the result was en-The County Tournament was their first victory over the power-ful Surrey eleven, the result was en-thusiastically received in Northampton. George Goulding is sure to be given a warm reception on his return home next Thursday. It is proposed to escort the world's walking champion from the Union Station to the city hall in an automobile procession and there the civic welcome and presentation will be made. The Argonauts and the remainder of the team are also expected in Toronto on Thursday.

The Toronto lacrosse team turned the tables on the Irish-Canadians Saturday in a game at the Beach that was a fine spectacle. Tho having the score doubled on them the week before the Trolleyites started to show up the Irishmen as soon as the whistle blew. Sure the home grounds is a great advantage to Fleming's boys.

One week from to-day will see the big game, Nationals at Toronto, and they meet again in Montreal Aug. 17. As these two teams have only another game each. Irish-Canadians at Nationals, Aug. 17. and Tecumsehs at Toronto Aug. 24, it looks like a tie for the championship in the Big Four, and lots of time for B.C. to determine who will defend the Minto Cup.

The turn of affairs in the N.L.U. would indicate that Capitais still have a chance to head off Cornwall. They clash next Saturday at Cornwall.

Thomas Williamson, live stock editor of The World, is just home from his holidays in the far west. He had the distinction of witnessing recent lacrosse incidents in the B.C. League, including the final game, when Westminster overpowered and resorted to rough house tactics, and having their players properly disciplined, refused to continue the schedule.

Expecting the Salmonbellies to refuse to play as ordered at Vancouver Saturday, July 29. Con. Jones did not sell tickets to the 12,000 who came to his grounds. There was no game, and the outlook is problematical: To the acting mayor of New Westminster is attributed much of the trouble in the B. C. League.

The life of the members of a losing ball team is not a happy one. Look at the trials and tribulations of Larry Schlafly and his Skeeters. They dropped three in a row at the Island and had to hike home for a Sunday game before a meagre crowd, and then back for two more trouncings to-day. All the time Tim Jordan and the rest of the Leafs are revelling in opulance and easy going on and off the field.

Tecumsehs also lost, being no match for the Nationals, probably likewise owing to the surroundings. Thus Toronto and the French team are away out in front with the others nowhere. There is only one game next Saturday and it will be only a fight to stay out of the Seventh, when they scored five runs.

JERSEY CITT, July 20.—Larry

At Guelph—After pitching a good article of ball all the way thru, Pitcher Ballinger went completely up in the air in the ninth. Dunn hit to the pitcher, who made the play to second and Schaeffer beat the throw. Needham was passed, filling the bases, and Wright was next up. Ballinger was plainly up in a balloon, and could not see the place, and he gave Wright four balls, forcing in the winning run. Schaeffer pitched grand ball for Guelph and was strong in the pinches.

E. Y. Bracken, Whose Family Met With Many Troubles in Last Year, Passes Away After Week's Illness.

Edward Young Bracken, aged about 38 years, died at his home at 213 Brunswick-avenue yesterday morning shortly after three o'clock. Heart failure, combined with a slight attack of blood poisoning, is given as the cause of death.

The death of Mr. Bracken comes at the end of a long list of misfortunes which have visited the family during the past year. In August, 1911, the eldest child, Earl, at that time seven years of age, took whooping-cough and this shortly afterwards developed into diphtheria. The boy was sent to the isolation hospital, where he had hardly recovered from the diphtheria when he contracted scarlet fever. Finally the boy was pronounced cured and returned home, but some of the diphtheria infection still remained with him. A younger sister, Muriel, and the baby of the family were infected, and they also were sent away to the isolation hospital.

At Christmas time the children were all in health again, tho the baby had not regained her former strength, so the Brackens decided to celebrate a little. In the midst of the modest rejoicings little Earl managed to drop a flat-iron on his foot, severing the

Britain Withdraws Ships From Mediterranean Sea

Namely, Destruction of Enem- pendent on the loyalty and courage of ies' Fleets- "Sea All One, the Mediterranean. Far beyond the Navy All One."

(By W. B. Thompson.)

LONDON, July 27.-Lord Selborne, a former first lord of the admiralty, delivered a trenchant attack on the government's policy of abandoning the Mediterranean when he raised a dis-cussion on the subject in the house of lords. Why have the battleships been withdrawn from the Mediterranean? he asked. He did not so much criticise the government as ask for information. But he put an awkward question and placed the admiralty in a dilemma. Either it was necessary to withdraw the battlesnips from the Mediterranean then, he said, we are short of one whole squadron of modern battleships for the requirements of the empire. Lord Selborne agreed that naval policy All the same workmen were endangered, all escaped there was, he said, grave anxiety as to the situation in the Mediterranean. Locust Hill Bridge.

The bridge on the Little Rouge at Locust Hill went down last Monday morning, carrying with it Franklin Raymer of Boxgrove, who was driving a team and wagon with a load of forty bags of cement. Fortunately, Mr. Raymer escaped injury, but the horses were slightly cut about the legs, while the wagon was broken and the cement dumped into the creek. One of the supports of a needle beam gave way, and the floor of the west section of the bridge tilted until it had the appearance of a toboggan slide. The township council were notified a year ago that the bridge was in a dangerous Locust Hill Bridge.

The township council were notified a year ago that the bridge was in a dangerous condition, and early this spring inspected the creek to be over 300 feet wide at high water. They notified the county that the bridge came within their jurisdiction, and the matter was brought up at the June session. The residents of the locality are very anxious that a concrete bridge should be built in the original road allowance straight across the ravine, and have reason to expect that the township council would supplement a county grant if this was decided on.

On Saturday morning Commissioners Pugsley and Henry, Reeve Nigh, Councillor Summerfelt and E. A. James, engineer to the good roads commission, visited the damaged bridge. After inspecting it and discussing the matter, it was decided to repair the bridge and defer the question of a concrete bridge to a later date.

Agincourt Rresbyterians.

Knox Church, Agincourt, was well filled on Sunday morning when Dr. D. B. Marsh of Springville conducted the service in place of the Rev. James Anthony, M.A., moderator, who is taking his vacation, A mixed choir ably led the musical portion of the service.

Horsenides, No. 1 350 Favorable Gorn Weather.
Favorable weather gave the advantage to the bears in the corn pit. Besides, cash demand was poor and rural holders were asking for bids.

Execution of a few selling orders led to a severe break in the July delivery of oats and caused other options to ease off. Big receipts next week were in prospect and there was no demand. Provisions rose on account of good commission buying, due to early firmbess in the hog market. Packers, now ever, took the selling side.

After welcoming the ministers in the usual form, the address goes on to point out some of the very important assets of the section. It calls attention to the fact that the land is the richest in the north, and that colonization roads should be made to aid settlers in getting a foothoid. The fact that Larder, like Porcupine, and, in fact, every northern mining district, was more or less killed by the wildcatter, the address sets forth, does not mean that the district is proving to the fact that the goods to deliver.

His reassuring comments concerning the ulover, it is recognized that the insurance exchange, except that the trading was scheme may mean that £10,000,000 will even duller and of a more routine be available annually for investment in government stocks. Future of Consols.

There is much talk now about the government appointing a special committee to inquire into the causes back of the depreciation in consols and the best means of fostering recovery. Banking quarters deprecate, however, the adoption of any artificial measures, as natural causes will ultimately work themselves out, while so long as there is a huge growth in national ex-penditure, with heavy taxation of cap-ital and highly controversial legisla-tion, the artificial support of the mar-ket will only temporarily hide the ill effects of the present government pol-
