GLENCAIRN GETS THE CUP.

UNCLE SAM'S HALF RATER BEATEN IN THREE STRAIGHTS. The Helms Contested in Her Own Weather by 5 Minutes in Second—How the Race was Won—The Corinthians Immediately Challenge Royal St. Lawrence for Another Contest in '97.

Oyster Bay, L.I., July 15.—A brisk wind from the southwest, a clear sky and a rising temperature greeted the large attendance of yachtsmen congregated to witness the third race of the series for the Seawanhaka-Corinthian International Challenge Cup. Glencairn and El Helms had been thoroughly overhauled after yesterday's race, new sails being put on the latter.

The American entry's new sails were of cotton, the change being necessitated from silk used in the previous two days' trials by reason of the brisk wind.

Messrs. Duggan and Shearwood did not think a change of canvas necessary to their little craft's securing the Challenge Cup, and their convictions were well based, their entry landing the prize by 5 min. 50 sec. margin.

The race was an ideal one; a stiff breeze was blowing, and all other necessary details to a fine race were at hand.

The large attendance of yachting craft present was an imposing sight, when El Helms and Glencairn were judged by steam launches alongside the yachts' stateroom at 12.15.

The El Helms supporters were very jubilant, claiming that the brisk wind was what she needed to win the day's race.

She disappointed her admirers, however, in the latter respect. The able handling of the Canadian tended in a measure to give her a lead in the three days' racing, and veteran yachtsmen saw in their prize the Cup the other week.

Messrs. Duggan and Shearwood. The wind was blowing stiffly from the south, the course being east by north, three miles to the leeward and return, sailed at 12.15. The American rounded the first mark at 1.08.10, the Canadian following at 1.10.00.

The American passed the American at 1.13, when both put about and again stood over at 1.15. The Glencairn forged ahead and went on the port tack. At 1.21 no advantage was discernible, both having shaken reefs out of mainsails. The Canadian at 1.28 again forged ahead on the port tack and turned the second mark, of six miles, at 2.04, the American following at 2.07.10.

The run to the leeward was then again sailed, the Canadian leaving the American a mile astern. At 2.35 the Canadian had the windward advantage, and was seen carrying all sail, and rounded the third mark at 2.58.52, the El Helms turning at 2.57.10.

In the windward haul being home the American challenged the Canadian's lead by half a mile, the latter keeping close in shore along the neck. When the Glencairn went about on the port tack at 3.05, the American followed, and the latter at 3.06 made frequent short tacks in shore, the Canadian being well to the windward and being splendidly handled.

Glencairn at 3.30 again widened the breach by half a mile, and the American followed. Finally rounded the winning home buoy at 3.55, and the American following at 3.58.52, and the American following at 3.58.52.

The Glencairn's crew were cheering lustily the Canadian cup winner. The El Helms reached the terminal point 5 miles each at 3.52.41, she also being the recipient of a cordial welcome on her arrival at the club's palatial club house, and competitors were exchanging congratulations.

The following are the times by legs: El Helms on four legs, 4.15. Net gain for Glencairn, 2.30. First mark, 1.08.10; second mark, 2.04.00; third mark, 2.58.52. Finish, 3.45.01. Elapsed time, 11.28. El Helms: Start, 12.35.44. First mark, 1.04.25; second mark, 2.04.00; third mark, 2.58.52. Finish, 3.45.01. Elapsed time, 11.28.

The Seawanhaka Club's secretary, Charles A. Sherman, wrote upon C. A. Olson, secretary of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, who was present, as to a second windward haul, which was to be sailed on Saturday, July 15, by the Seawanhaka Club, on which occasion the Roosevelt Memorial Cup race for small yachts, with a 2000 ft. race, will be sailed.

Yours respectfully, "Commodore."

The challenge, of course, under the rules must be accepted. It is tendered the Canadian representative, the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club of Montreal and St. H. Duggan and P. J. Shearwood, who also sailed the winner of the cup, on Saturday, July 15, by the Seawanhaka Club, on which occasion the Roosevelt Memorial Cup race for small craft will take place.

THE MIBROW BEATEN. London, July 15.—The German Emperor's new cutter, Meteor, the Prince of Wales' Britannia, Mr. A. Walker's Alisa and Mr. O. D. Ross's Britannia started a race to-day under the auspices of the Campbell's Yacht Club. There was a steady wind, and all of the yachts carried full-bleeded topsails. The progress of the yachts over the course was mostly made by tacking and the contest was a close one throughout.

The Meteor finished at 2.55.50, the Britannia at 2.56.41, Britannia at 2.58.52, Alisa at 3.11.00. The Britannia won the race on time allowed.

The race for 200-yards was won by the Britannia, which finished at 2.48.44.

TRIP TO THE PACIFIC COAST.

Outline of the Route and Its Wonderful Scenery—The Boom in the Mining Districts of British Columbia.

Mr. R. H. Holmes has just returned to Toronto after an extensive trip across the continent to British Columbia and the Northern Pacific Coast generally.

Asked for an outline of his long tour, Mr. Holmes stated that he started west by the C.P.R. the last part of April. With the exception of a wash-out near Nelson, there was no delay in reaching Winnipeg, then in the midst of election excitement, the result of which has been a surprise to so many.

From Winnipeg west to the mountains the principal places visited were Portage la Prairie, Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat and Calgary.

A side trip was then taken to the north to Lethbridge and its extensive coal mines; from there on to the south to Great Falls, Montana, where comparisons could be made greatly in favor of our Northwest Territories and the older provinces of Canada.

Then a stage trip across the prairies to Fort MacLeod and over a part of the proposed route of the new C.P.R. line through the Rocky Mts.

This will, when completed, shorten the transcontinental route some 210 miles.

Bank and the fine Canadian National Park was the next place visited where a few days were made and all the places of interest visited, including the hot sulphur springs, canyons, and other which are well worth visiting and are spoken of in high terms.

The C.P.R., with their usual forethought for the comfort and pleasure of their patrons, place an observation car on their through passenger trains each way west of Canmore, and it is safe to say that the finest mountain scenery on the American continent can be viewed from this car.

Donald and Revelstoke are divisional points, and, with Golden, are all prettily situated mountain towns.

Revelstoke is on the Columbia River, and this is the most direct route into the famous mining districts of the Kootenay and Slovan by the lines of the C.P.R. and the fine steamers of the Col. and Kootenay Nav. Co.

There is a great mining boom now on at the following places, all of which important operations are in progress: Trail, Rossland, Nelson, Kaslo, Three Forks and Sandon.

A few days ago there was nothing to mark the location of Rossland but the track of a snowslide which over 5000 people, being a very much alive town, with not much less than 50 hotels and hundreds of houses, and other buildings, with four or five newspapers and the same number of banks.

A narrow gauge railway has been completed, connecting it with Trail and the Columbia River.

On the way through to Vancouver views were had of the great glaciers and the mountain scenery was highly praised.

After the booming towns of the mining districts New Westminster, Vancouver and Victoria appears to be very dull. The general depression in business evidently had its effect there, but, said Mr. Holmes, Canadians need not complain, for we are in a prosperous condition in comparison with many of the other countries of the south, such as Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, which are all extremely dull.

The great fortunes made in the mines were next visited, and found to be very extensive. The Esquimalt and Northern Railway runs through them and its flourishing oil mines, to which an interesting visit was also made, and noteworthy among the lands around Queen Charlotte Sound.

Circulating the Word of Life. The Board of Directors of the Upper Canada Tract Society met yesterday, Mr. J. K. Macdonald in the chair. The report showed that the Ontario and Quebec collectors last month sold 250 Bibles and 800 tracts, a record of religious matter. The sum of $550 was devoted to paying the half-yearly salaries of the four native Christian collectors in Central China. A committee was appointed to draft a memorial, which was to be presented to the Hon. Mr. James Bruce, recently deceased. The Prisoners' Aid Association were given a grant of tracts. In June 39 sailors' bags were placed on board the vessels to provide good reading for sailors.

During the month 20,000 papers were sent to needy Sunday schools and missions.

Is it impossible? The Telegram last night said that it was impossible for Guanine Bros in Toronto to sell $50,000 worth of shoes in Toronto in six weeks. The reason given was that "Shoe dealers said it, and that these dealers had no Guanine Bros, say that they have accomplished the apparently impossible before that they can do it." The Telegram record—that their whole business career has been a series of surprises to those who expected to see the rate the sale opened yesterday to one of the biggest stores full of buyers. Extra salespeople have been engaged, and they were needed. The paper is right, but larger than the preceding day, for good shoe news travels apace—bicycle shoes at a scorching pace at Guanine's liquidation sale.

It Leads Them All. The July number of The Westminster, the new, brainy Canadian monthly for the home, is nicely put together and well to the fore with articles of interest. The cover is adorned with a large cut of the Rev. D. M. Gordon, D.D., Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, with an appreciative sketch appears within. On the turning of the pages comes across a note from the Glasgow Council, "A Chosen Cup-Bearer," or an account of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church in Canada, by Henrietta D. MacCallum; a thoughtful article, entitled "The Newspaper and Its Critics," by J. S. Brierley; "Guld Pro Quo," by Edith Murray; Macdonald's St. Andrews, by an old-time student, a sketch full of the deepest interest of the late and lamented pastor; "The Toronto Nursing-at-Home Mission," and other good matter for reading and Sunday reading. The paper is capital and the print beautifully clear. A better is cents' worth would be hard to find. Its tone is unexceptionable. The promise of the initial number has more than been realized in the July issue just out.

Belonged Will Speak. The Y.W.C. Guild will tender a public reception to the Christian Endeavor delegates returning from the convention at Washington on Monday evening next. Address will be given by Rev. William Patterson of Cooke's Church, Mr. Duncan Clarke, President of the Toronto C. E. Union, Mr. C. J. Alkinson and others. A good musical program will be rendered.

The Roof Garden. Last night was under the patronage of the Knights of Pythias an delightful audience went away from each performance. The bill this week is excellent. Heath and Silbor give one of the funniest acts on horseback yet seen here. The whole program is good and well worth seeing.

For depression of spirits, nervousness and general weakness, Miller's Compound from Pills are a sure cure. 50 doses, 25 cents.

HON. G. W. ROSS A RENEGADE

prohibitionists, and on his platform Mr. Middleton read a letter from Mr. F. S. Spence, purporting that the hon. member was supporting the man's candidature. True, the candidate took the pledge, but the speaker was sorry to be able to remark that the same man had been a public drunkard since. This was the man Hon. G. W. Ross supported. If the Alliance officers were aware of this state of affairs, could they not have, with the scrape of a pen, said that Watkins and Buchanan had come out in connection with the Alliance?

Mr. Buchanan went on further to say that his and Mr. Watkins' candidature had been to carry out the projects of the Alliance, by whom they had been abandoned. Had Hon. G. W. Ross had any other object in view, he would at least have had some other name to speak in Hamilton.

Then there must be something radically wrong with the organization if it could not induce the people to send more than 2500 in a year to carry out the work.

Brother Spence's spirited rejoinder. Mr. F. S. Spence, secretary of the Alliance, then rose with an air that betokened warmth. He pitched into Mr. Buchanan, who is editor of the "Templar," which he said, in spite of the misrepresentation and abuse he had been subjected to for the past five years, never opened his mouth. Now he thought it was time to do so. When the South West was a word of remark, he had been requested to go there in support of a Reform candidate, but he gave a most emphatic no to the request, as he would under no condition oppose Mr. Buchanan.

Mr. Spence said he had been everlastingly talked about and abused since the Alliance was formed. He had been lampooned about in the "Templar," which hardly ever let a week pass without something of the kind. He had been brought about in the "Templar," which had persistently slandered, misrepresented and abused him.

"If we take action on one line, we are abused—if on another, we stand up for him, and not stab him in the back."

Mr. Spence thought that anything to do with the Alliance should be told him in his face.

Here followed a lengthy discussion as to whether or not the Alliance should issue Buchanan and the Alliance? Mr. Spence said: "I think it is."

Mr. Buchanan said: "I think it is."

Mr. O'Hara, who had been endeavoring to speak, thought it had been grace on Mr. Buchanan's part to come and attack the Alliance. He said that Mr. Buchanan is a sorehead, said Mr. O'Hara, but at the request of the chair, he withdrew, remarking that he would not be much grieved at the crucifixion of "our friend Spence," who was a most honorable and true worker.

Great Dissatisfaction With the Alliance. Rev. Dr. Mackay was not sorry the discussion had come up. He said that there was a great dissatisfaction among the temperance people of the Alliance in which the Alliance was run. He had been to Hamilton and spoken on a prohibitory platform. He said that a man who ought to be prayed for—and that was the candidate for prohibition.

Mr. Watkins went to the floor, and the discussion continued in a lively manner, several members taking part, and interruptions being very frequent. One of the speakers was Mr. F. W. Watkins, the defeated Hamilton candidate, who on the occasion of the first meeting of the Council he had ever attended, wanted no more fooling. He hoped God would give him grace to tell Mr. Ross what he thought of his action.

Rev. Dr. Dewart deprecated the action of The Templar, which had done much to upset the temperance cause. Mr. Buchanan then rose and demanded from the Alliance a thorough investigation into the report of poor notoriety that the matter be laid on the table, the vote was taken.

Mr. Watkins went to the floor, and after a lot of discussion as to the jurisdiction of the Alliance and an amendment to the constitution was adopted, which appointed a deputation to wait on the Dominion Government as early as possible, and to petition for an appeal to the Privy Council against the decision rendered by the Canadian Statute Book in the case of Emmanuel St. Louis.

Men's Stylish Summer Satin-Back Silk-Stitched CASHMERE VESTS.

We are going to lose money on these at 99 cents. They cost more than that—they're the elegantly-fashioned, dressy-looking vests that are usually sold for $1.75 and $2. When you see the immense quantity that we have you'll understand why we are glad to sell about half of them at a clear loss. Your choice of any pattern or size all this week for 99 cents—at Jamieson's.

And we're also losing quite a little on the Men's Straw Hats that we sell for 50, 55 and 25 cents. And the Children's Straw Sailor Hats that we sell for 10 and 5 cents. But they all have to go.

300 Boys' Blazers at 25 cents each. 500 Boys' Knickerbockers at 25 cents each. 2000 Men's Wash Ties at 5 cents each.

Boys' White Duck Wash Suits in natty new patterns—all the fashionable shades and combinations effects, braid-trimmed and finished in ideal good taste—the nicest suits ever sold for $2 and $2.50—must go at 99 cents each.

And this week for Boys' Boots—at Jamieson's. Our 99 cent boots—if they are not equal to any $1.25 boots anywhere else, then we've deceived you—and we can't afford to do that.

Philip Jamieson - Yonge and Queen Sts

PASENGER TRAFFIC. THE GREAT GORGE ROUTE. ceivity I had the curiosity to peer into, and was almost overcome with the sulphur fumes which apparently find a regular pulsating vent there... The waters from these hot sulphur springs, which, by the way, are said to possess great curative properties, are conveyed through iron pipes into the hotels... Fire has destroyed a great deal of nice timber here, but the mountains in many places are still fairly well covered with the dark green fir trees... Banff is well supplied by the two fine hotels referred to at the opening of this sketch...
