J.P. Morgan, New York, Brought Into German Loan Matter

FRANKS AND DEETING FALLS

BANKER IS CALLED ON IN PARIS

Will be Asked About Source of Funds Under the Dawes Plan.

REPLIES COME IN

French, British and Belgian Reparations Answers are Received.

(United Press.)

Paris, April 25.—J. P. Morgan, New York banker, will be consulted here this afternoon with reference to the international loan to Germany recommended in the Dawes report.

Mr. Morgan is due here this afternoon from Venice, where he ended a Mediterranean cruise on the yacht Corsair.

His conference with French officials will be private and unofficial, but it is understood that the question of the source of the loan will be put squarely up to him.

Having received this morning the French, British and Belgian replies regarding the Dawes report, the Reparations Commission met semi-officially and decided that as soon as a response from Italy is received all the replies will be published.

To meet Tuesday.

An official session of the commission is not scheduled to take place before Tuesday.

Meanwhile the commission petitioned Louis Barthou and Sir John Bradbury about obtaining advice from prominent financiers, including J. P. Morgan, regarding some of the conclusions in the experts' plan, particularly on the subject of the international loan.

It is understood that the three replies received are tantamount to acceptance of the plan as a basis for discussion and confirmation of the report that Premier Theunis and Minister Hymans will confer with Premier Poincaré on Monday.

OLD MATCHES LADY OF BOND STREET DEAD

Many St. John Soldiers Remember Her in Days of War.

DIES OF STARVATION

Collapses in Arms of Hon. Mrs. Lowther in Fashionable London Quarter.

"The Old Lady of Bond street" is dead. A character outstanding even amid the teeming millions of London, she was well known by many a brave soldier lad from St. John who bought matches from her as they answered the appealing cry of her wares.

During the war hundreds of soldiers who served overseas, and who at some time or other passed through the shopping district of the city of London, heard the piping cry of "Matches, sir, matches, sir," and doubtless there was many a penny went from the hand of a St. John boy to the aged pockets of the "Old Lady of Bond street."

Collapses in Street.

But now the "Old Lady" is no more. Yesterday, while late-shopping through the streets of London, she collapsed in the arms of a distinguished passer-by and died.

Her meagre income was insufficient to provide sufficient food to keep body and soul together—she had starved to death.

She Had Starved to Death.

A special cable to The Times from the British United Press in London, as follows, tells the story of her passing.

"Everybody knows Bond street, the most expensive shopping centre in the world, not excepting the Rue la Paix and Fifth avenue. And many who visited Bond street knew the old, bearded woman who sold matches from a background of shop windows ablaze with diamonds and furs. And nearly everyone supposed that the contrast of the dirty drab clothing and broken shoes against the brilliant costumes and the sparkle of the diamonds was a licensed mendicant with a comfortable bankroll somewhere back in Tooting or Wapping near Hackney."

"But late yesterday, just as the shops were beginning to wish that Madame wopake the Pekinese and let the clerks get home to their dinners, the aged woman match-seller, with a tray of small wares in every direction, collapsed in the arms of the Hon. Mrs. Christine Lowther, who happened to be emerging from a nearby jeweler's."

"The woman was dead before an ambulance arrived—dead of starvation."

QUAKE VICTIMS TO BRAZILIAN FARMS

Japan Decides to Send Some of Sufferers From Great Disaster.

Osaka, Japan, April 25.—(United Press.)—Japan has finally decided to send to Brazil a considerable body of the sufferers of the 1923 quake in the Tokyo district.

The municipal authorities of Tokyo are working at the moment on a plan in co-operation with the home and foreign offices. The Central Employment Intelligence Bureau of the Tokyo municipality has started to entertain applications for emigrants who are willing to proceed to Brazil to engage in manual labor in the cotton plantations there in order to cope with the present situation regarding unemployment.

No fare will be charged these emigrants and they will be limited strictly to quake sufferers under the age of 60.

The officials taking charge of the plan are aware of the recent anti-Japanese expression of the Basilian Parliament, but they do not think it serious opposition against Japanese immigration. They are, however, very cautious in selection of the proper emigrants, considering the development of the anti-Japanese movement in the Pacific States in America.

The new plan is being managed solely by the bureau of Naigai Kogyo & Co., working under strict supervision of the foreign office.

Halifax, N. S., April 25.—There was a lengthy session of the committee on private and local bills in the local Legislature last night when the Church Union Bill was under discussion, and it is understood the measure will be reported up at this afternoon's session without amendment.

JOHN H. HAMMOND IS NOT A PESSIMIST

Says General Trend in United States is Forward—Decries Divorce Evil.

New York, April 25.—The general trend of industrial, social and civic changes in the U. S. during the last few decades has moved forward not backward as "apostles of gloom contend," John Hays Hammond announced yesterday at the annual meeting of the National Civic Federation, as chairman of the federation's department of current economy and political movements.

Among the "black spots" in the nation's development, the report cited the "divorce evil," breaking up of homes; the recent exposure of moral turpitude of a few government officials; and the lack of trained teachers, despite the existence of 6,000,000 illiterate in the country.

Improved wages and working conditions of labor were exemplified in the report by anthracite coal miners who earned an average of $1.10 a day in 1923 and now earning a minimum of $4.62 a day and working 270 days a year.

Brussels, April 25.—Prince Victor Napoleon, head of the House of Bonaparte, has sent from Brussels instructions to the Bonapartist Party in France to vote the straight Republican ticket at the coming parliamentary elections.

"You will oppose energetically the Communist and international candidates who are in league with the country's enemies. Place the interest of France an honor of serving it above our political aspirations and personal preferences."

SAYS PRESS POWERFUL COLLEAGUE

The British Prime Minister Praises Newspapers of United States.

HELP RELATIONS

Sends Messages Through British Ambassador to Publishers' Dinner.

(Canadian Press.)

New York, April 25.—The press of the United States is an important instrument in the development of mutual understanding between the people of Great Britain and the U. S. and it has fulfilled this mission with fairness, friendliness and thoroughness, Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain said last night to the American Newspaper Publishers' Association through Sir Eame Howard, British Ambassador who spoke at the annual dinner.

The head of the British state, in a message to the association, incorporated in Sir Eame's address, declared he liked to feel that, in saluting the press of the United States he was saluting a powerful colleague in the work of maintaining and strengthening a real understanding between the two peoples.

"The more I study the present plight of Europe," said the Prime Minister's message, "the more I feel that in the long run the moral and material future of humanity must depend to no small extent upon a cordial friendship and a generosity of sentiment between our two nations."

Work of Newspapers.

Asserting that official relations between the two nations never better than they were now, needed the sanction of popular understanding to be fruitful and enduring, Mr. MacDonald declared the development of this understanding was the province of the press.

"The individuals who constitute the democracies of the English-speaking world must learn to understand each other, as in private life real friends understand each other—laughing at each other, sometimes holding different views, but always cordial and feeling the uniting influences of goodwillship—if they are ever to see their ideals adequately translated into practice in international affairs," the message continued.

Mr. MacDonald expressed appreciation of the pains which many prominent newspapers took to secure adequate reports of events in the United States and in Europe, and to interpret them to their readers. He was sincerely grateful, he said, for the spirit in which the papers in the United States had treated him and his work.

FORTY FIVE HAVE THRILLING ESCAPE

Race For Life on Falling Timbers of a Quebec Bridge.

Ottawa, April 25.—With an almost inarticulate "look out" from an observant workman the only warning, 45 men engaged in the erection of a massive covered wooden bridge over the Lievre River, connection Notre Dame de La Salette, Que., with Pottleme township, Que., raced over several hundred feet of crumpling timbers to the safety of the shore just as two of the almost completed spans of the bridge, swaying in a heavy gale, toppled into the turbulent waters of the river yesterday.

Three of the men, however, were unable to get to shore before the collapse of the bridge, and two leaped far out into the water and swam to shore while the third, Eusebe St. Amour, aged 40, a carpenter, who had been working on one of the piers, was caught and pinned to the pier by a falling timber, and is now in a hospital suffering from a badly injured spine as well as several internal injuries.

The bridge was being built by the Department of Colonization of the Province of Quebec. The damage is estimated at $10,000.

Boy Drowns In Old Maine Quarry

Augusta, Me., April 25.—An eight-year-old lad, Frank Boswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frank Boswell of this city, was drowned when he fell into the deep waters of an abandoned granite quarry while playing at fishing with a boy companion about the same age. Young Boswell sank to the bottom of the deep water-filled quarry before the frantic calls of his playmate for assistance could be responded to. Efforts to resuscitate the boy here were without avail.

DISAGREE OVER LINE OF DIVISION

Ulster Has Refused to Appoint a Member of Commission.

MAY BE SERIOUS

British Govt. May Act—"Disappointed," Says Sir James Craig.

Belfast, April 25.—After two years of peace between Northern and Southern Ireland, trouble looms again. The old dispute over the boundary along the Boyne threatens to break out into conflict. "Nobody knows when the Free State may launch an attack," the Northern Whig said today.

A boundary commission, including Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, and President Cosgrave of the Free State, failed completely yesterday to reach agreement at London.

Under the treaty Great Britain is now obligated to establish a commission and settle the affair. The MacDonald government may decide to withdraw imperial troops from Ulster. The commission is certain to lop off some territory at present claimed by Ulster, and the press already is exclaiming against permitting this.

Probable Action.

London, April 25.—(By Harry N. Moore, British United Press.)—It is expected that the Government will immediately call on Ulster to appoint a delegate to the Boundary Commission. I understand that the British Government has been considering a request to continue the conference, but that it has been decided to refuse, and that immediate special legislation will be introduced to make possible the carrying out of the treaty provisions.

While such legislation will undoubtedly raise a controversial storm, it will no doubt receive Liberal support, and it will be difficult for the Conservatives to oppose it in view of ex-Premier Baldwin's pledge to carry out fully the provisions of the treaty.

The Free State's greatest argument is that they are entitled to a fulfilled treaty even at a heavy cost of valuable lives and immense property loss, and such an argument is extremely difficult to answer. Unless immediate action is taken, Irish suspicion of England's good faith will grow and there would be a widespread demand to cancel the entire treaty and proclaim a republic.

Ulster's contention that she was not consulted when the treaty was evolved (Continued on page 2, 7th column)

Defying Hospital Fire 30 Feet Away, Surgeons Perform Major Operation

New York, April 25.—While firemen fought a blaze that threatened to destroy the four-story St. Mark's Avenue wing of St. Mary's Hospital, Brooklyn, surgeons performed successfully a major operation in the enclosed operating theatre on the hospital roof within thirty feet of where the fire was working its way under the roof.

A guard, with a hose line ready, stood just outside the closed door while the doctors and nurses went calmly ahead with their task, which meant life or death for a woman.

Three alarms were sent in and with the fire apparatus, came several ambulances from other hospitals. The latter were not needed, for the Sisters of Mercy, with the assistance of twenty-five nurses, many of whom were off duty, removed about eighty patients from the wing in safety and with a minimum of excitement. Two employees were slightly overcome by smoke. They soon revived.

Mrs. George Owens and John J. Flynn had completed the operation when it was necessary to rush a maternity case to the maternity room, also on the roof. The family of Michael J. O'Neill of Brooklyn was richer by a son.

The fire was first seen by a woman patient on the fourth floor, who, unable to talk, beckoned excitedly to Miss Eva Grevelle, a nurse. Smoke was seen seeping through the ceiling. Miss Grevelle smashed the glass of a window and sent in an alarm. She then telephoned to the switchboard operator, who notified Sisters Dorothea and Mary Margaret, on the first floor. There were 197 patients in the wing. It was necessary to move eighteen from the fourth floor, and sixty-two were assisted from the second and third. Fireproof doors were seen between them and the wing.

Jury Played Cards Twenty-Three Hours

Chicago, April 25.—(United Press.)—After playing cards for most of 23 hours and incurring a judicial reprimand, a jury found guilty of manslaughter a millionaire lumber family, guilty of manslaughter for running down and killing 7-year-old Dorothy Joyce last October.

When the jury reported inability to agree, a sheriff told Judge Wells they had spent most of the night playing cards.

"You were sent out to deliberate, not to gamble," the judge told them. "Go back and try your duty." The verdict was returned in little over an hour.

SIR THOMAS WHITE IS ON STAND TODAY

Enquiries From The Western Home Bank Directors Were Disturbing, He Said.

Ottawa, April 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Cross-examination of Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance, opened before the Home Bank Commission this morning. R. J. McLaughlin, one of the depositors' counsel, examined Sir Thomas. The former minister did not agree that he was the only person who could get information in regard to affairs of the Home Bank, nor did he agree that any one seeking information on the bank's affairs necessarily had to go to him. The responsibility laid on Ministers of Finance by the Bank Act was very important.

Mr. McLaughlin asked him if he had received the complaints of the three western directors on January 22, 1916. Sir Thomas replied that he had.

"They were of a serious nature?" asked counsel.

"They were disturbing," was the reply.

"A complaint of three directors against their own institution is not frequently received?"

"I think not."

"Do you know of one ever having been received at the department?"

"No, I do not remember one."

THE PERILS OF RHETORIC.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who was Prime Minister before Labor got into the saddle, has been philosophizing humorously upon the dangers of rhetoric, which he describes as one of the greatest dangers of our modern civilization. "Take," he says, "phrases full of darkness and desolation, such as 'bulging corn-bins' and 'the democratic control of the means of production.'" Recently in the House of Commons, Mr. Baldwin asked for an interpretation of the latter phrase, requesting that the idea be expressed clearly in language such as the ordinary man could understand, but he says, the best he got was that "you cannot produce a rabbit out of a top hat." The gift of rhetoric, in his view, has been responsible for more bloodshed on this earth than all the guns and explosives that were ever invented. Still rhetoric has its uses. It is largely a case of whose ox is gored. Hatched to the right wagon rhetoric is a great horse. And after all what is rhetoric but the science of oratory. Of true oratory the world has all too little. Mr. Baldwin, of course, was speaking of the other kind, the weapon of demagogues. His reference to "phrases full of darkness and desolation, like 'bulging corn-bins' and 'democratic control of the means of production'" shows that he is a phrase-maker of sorts himself. His ideas of public life and its responsibilities do not lend themselves easily to rhetoric, in the more dangerous forms of which many of his opponents have come back to haunt them since they entered into power. The bulging corn-bins are no more numerous than in Mr. Baldwin's time, but though the Labor Government lives only by the permission of the other parties its strength in the Commons has grown from forty seats in 1919 to 150 at present, a fact not due so much to evil rhetoric as to the failure of Liberals to be Liberal and Conservatives to be Conservative. Both the historic parties have been more successful in foreign and Imperial policy than they have been in dealing with domestic problems. The Labor Government bids fair to be wrecked by the mounting demands of Labor. Mr. Baldwin's facetious references are a reminder of the dangers of promising the impossible while in opposition, and being called upon to implement such promises in office.

THE FICTION DETECTIVE.

The fiction-reading world is still hungry for detective stories, according to the literary reviewers, but the recent crop of detective fiction falls far below the old standards. Yet the new crop sells, the public which years ago read that sort of thing being apparently ready to accept the various thin imitations of Mr. Sherlock Holmes rather than forego its interest in mysterious crimes and their solution. But while it does accept, it must do so with some sense of dissatisfaction. There is, however, some amusement to be derived from the modern sleuths as portrayed in several of the magazines which specialize in this form of fiction. One of the writers who owes his inspiration to Conan Doyle (who himself borrowed freely from Poe and the French) has created a gentleman who was a great criminal, but who reformed and became an ally of Scotland Yard when the London criminal investigation department encountered crimes of a particularly baffling character. In the course of a recent yarn this prodigy was discovered spying upon a band of desperate criminals, who pursued him through a tough section of London, eager to shed his blood regardless of consequences. He was only about half a lap ahead of the howling pack, and things looked bad, but the detective—says the author—"swinging off to the left, stopped in a doorway, withdrew off his coat and threw it over an adjacent wall, tore off his neck cloth and re-tied it, put his cap on hind side before, and did something to his face which altered it completely. It became the physiognomy of another man. Then, emerging from the doorway, just as the pounding, racing, maddened procession of humanity came swinging round in his direction, led by a wild-eyed harpy with streaming hair, he began to whistle and sauntered toward them, with his hands in his trousers pocket, and his heart humming."

It is a bit difficult to account for his accelerated heart action when we recall that "he did something to his face which altered it completely" and that "it became the physiognomy of another man." That should have given the gentleman a sense of complete security, surely. What he did to his face to accomplish this instantaneous and astonishing transformation is not revealed. The author is not giving away, and come to think of it, he is quite justified in keeping it to himself. There would be some risk in telling the world just how it was done. The trick might be adopted in criminal circles, and that would not do at all. The inspired business of discarding the coat, of switching the neck cloth, and even of putting the cap on "hind part

ANTI-CHRISTIAN CULTS.

(The Record of Christian Work.)

It is somewhat alarming to notice that anti-Christian cults are building temples of worship in many large cities of Christendom. Recently, in London, a large number of Mohammedans gathered in honor of the great annual feast of the Moslems. Men and women, with black, white, or olive complexions, from almost every part of the British Empire, were present. Press reports say that after the morning service and sermon the "Id" was celebrated, embracing each other in the manner characteristic of the eastern peoples. Then a number of praying mats were laid on the lawn, and the Imam conducted services, reading from the Koran and chanting prayers in Arabic. No wonder that the Bishop of Zanzibar said in a recent sermon that after twenty years' absence he returned to his native home to find London almost as pagan as Zanzibar. Similarly, in the United States, there are temples for the use of Buddhists and other pagan cults.

GANDHI'S RELEASE AND RECOVERY.

(Presbyterian Witness.)

Nothing in recent years has so moved the heart of India to friendship and gratitude towards Great Britain as the release of her popular idol, Mahatma Gandhi, and his recovery, which is known throughout all India to be due to the skill and devotion of Colonel Maddock, the English doctor. Gandhi himself, we are told, has come out of prison with no sort of bitterness in his heart, but only a great love and admiration for the English, and especially his doctor, to whom under God he owes his life and between whom and himself a remarkable friendship has grown up. He has tried to make it clear to the Indian public that his opposition is against the bureaucratic system in India, not against Englishmen themselves, whom he counts among his friends. In a letter to his followers he says: "Indeed, we want to regard Englishmen as our friends, and not to misunderstand them by treating them as our enemies. And if we are today engaged in a struggle against the British Government, it is against the system for which it stands in India, and not against Englishmen who are administering the system. I know that many of us have failed to understand and always bear in mind this distinction, and in so far as we have failed we have harmed our cause. The Punjab wrongs at Amritsar have at last been forgotten in the outburst of joy over Mahatma Gandhi's deliverance not only from prison but from death. The occasion is a great opportunity to win back the confidence of the masses of India and to guide them along sane and moderate paths towards the goal they are seeking."

TABLET IS UNVEILED.

The bronze tablet to the memory of Bowman Brown Law, who lost his life in the fire which destroyed the parliament buildings, Ottawa, was unveiled yesterday afternoon. Mr. Law represented Yarmouth, N. S., in the House. Eloquent tributes to his memory were paid by Mr. Speaker Levesque, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. E. M. McDonald and P. L. NURSE CHAPPELLE SAYS TANLAC BRINGS MOST GRATIFYING RESULTS

Nurse With 15 Years' Experience Urges Use of Tanlac—Tells of Her Mother's Experience With World's Famous Tonic.

"I have direct and personal knowledge of so many cases where TANLAC has restored health and strength and helped weak, run-down people to get on their feet that I know it to be an unusual medicine," is the emphatic manner in which Mrs. M. E. Chappelle, Blue Mount and Thomas Ave., Wauwatosa, Wis., a practical nurse of fifteen years' experience, pays tribute to the famous tonic.

"Time and again I have urged TANLAC'S use and it always brings the most gratifying results. My own mother, now eighty years old, took TANLAC five years ago, and it has been her standby ever since. Nothing helps her as TANLAC does and she is as strong an advocate of the medicine as I am. Only recently, mother became generally run-down. Her stomach was disordered, her appetite utterly failed her, and she came near having a nervous breakdown. TANLAC gave her a vigorous appetite, corrected all complaints and left her not only well and happy but so strong, and active that she looks after the home and visits around, as well. And mother thinks the TANLAC Vegetable Pills are the greatest ever. "In all my long years of experience as a nurse, I have never known the equal of TANLAC." TANLAC is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitutes. Over 40 million bottles sold.

BADMINTON CLUB PRESENTS COMEDY

"Anne What's Her Name" Well Received at Centenary Hall.

Thrills, amusing incidents, an appealing love story and a baffling mystery were all found in the plot of "Anne What's Her Name," the three act comedy of which the Senior Badminton Club of Centenary church gave a splendid presentation in Centenary hall last night.

The play scored a notable success and was one of the best amateur productions the city has witnessed in some time. The members of the cast were trained by John Gordon, of the Carrol Players, through the courtesy of the management, and for the excellent stage setting some specially prepared scenery was arranged.

The parts were well assigned and each member of the cast gave a good account of himself or herself. J. Neal Dow was the hero, Antony Wheat the victim of circumstances who was implicated in the disappearance of the actress "Anne" and got into many worse scrapes in trying to evade the clutches of the law. Robert Henry was the valet, faithful through evil days and fair ones.

Miss Gladys Price Marjorie, a very modern young woman. The part of Judge Bunby, into whose household Dow and his troubles are catapulted, was taken by Harris Armstrong. Grandma, aged 82, who had young ideas, was played by Miss Star McAlpine, and the part of her companion was taken by Miss Florence Henry. Miss Vivian Fowler was the judge's sister-in-law, Aunt Julia, and Miss Julia Currie played the sprightly flapper, Barbara.

Miss Laura Baxter was the temperamental maid with nerves and had plenty of nerve-racking situations to face. Willie Peabody, the boy from next door, was played by George Price and Arnold Fowler took the part of Duran, the plainclothes detective. J. Benson Mahony was Dr. Aked, the friend of the family. Miss Rita Brittain was Nancy, the girl from Rosedale, a fascinating person. Ebenezer Whittle, the judge's nephew, concerning whose doings there were many rumors, was played by Harry Boyer, and the part of Mrs. Whittle, his wife, was taken by Mrs. Harris Armstrong. The Whittle children were Miss Joan Poole and Kenneth Waterbury Salmon, and the two small people received ovations.

Between the acts pleasing orchestral selections were given under leadership of Harrison Morgan. The comedy will be repeated this evening. The proceeds are for church expenses.

Experts Find Our Export Grain De-graded In U. S.

IS BEING MIXED IN PASSAGE

Report on Investigation in Europe Tabled in Dominion Commons.

CANADA SUFFERS

Shipments Made Through Canadian Ports in All Instances Good.

(Canadian Press)

Ottawa, April 25.—That Canadian grain routed via U. S. ports for export is being mixed and that a certain number of complaints have been made regarding the quality of such shipments is asserted by Leslie Boyd, chief grain commissioner, and George Searis, chief grain inspector, in a report on their recent investigation in Europe. The Government tabled the report in the House.

While the complaints submitted to the Canadian experts are not numerous and are confined to the ports of London and Liverpool, the report points out that the shipments complained of were in every case routed via U. S. ports, chiefly Buffalo, and that they constitute a danger to the prestige of Canadian export grain. The experts recommend that the Canadian Government negotiate with the U. S. to have any necessary tightening up of U. S. customs and bonding regulations made. Messrs. Boyd and Searis point out that European boards of trade hold the Canadian Government strictly responsible for the accuracy of grading export grain, which is sold on certificates and must be accepted by the purchaser accordingly. Because there is no possible dispute at the final destination, it is pointed out that no loophole for adulteration of grain in transit must be left open after its government certification in Canada.

Direct Shipments O. K. In the nine European ports visited by the experts, complete satisfaction was expressed with the quality of grain shipped through Canadian ports. In London and Liverpool half a dozen instances of adulterated grain were complained of. In each case they were found to have traveled through United States ports.

The report as tabled does not indicate whether any negotiations based thereon have taken place between the two governments.

"Bing Bang" Circus This Year Well Up to Standard of Other Years.

A free performance for boys of the South End and East End Boys' Clubs, as well as boys from the Industrial Home and the Wiggins Orphanage, was given last evening of the annual Y. M. C. A. "Bing Bang" circus in the evening building. The young guests enjoyed the performance and were not backward in expressing their appreciation.

The performance opened with a March Past of all of the participants. This was followed by an Illuminated Gymnastic March by the "Comers Class" consisting of the youngest members of the "Y." They carried lighted Japanese lanterns, and with the light extinguished made a most attractive opening number.

Why Did 5 Chicago Women Commit Murder?

FIVE CHICAGO WOMEN WHO KILLED THEIR "MEN."

(By GEORGE BRITT.) Chicago, April 24.—"Women who shoot their men run true to type." This assertion analyzing a photograph gallery of women slayers is from Dr. James M. Fitzgerald, famous phrenologist and success adviser. He had just completed a study of Mrs. Beulah May Annan, Titan hated beauty, who is in the county jail for shooting 12-yr. Kaldsted during a wine party in her husband's absence. Rounding out his examination, Dr. Fitzgerald viewed also the photographs of other Chicago women slayers: Mrs. Belle Gaertner, now awaiting trial; Sabella Nitti, child-like peasant, and Katherine Malm, "bandit girl," both of whom have been convicted, and Mrs. Lucille Kavanagh, who shot her husband and was acquitted.

Feelings Control Will. Here are the facial characteristics common to them all, according to Dr. Fitzgerald. Broad nose and cheekbones, full chin and lips, contracted upper frontal skull development and prominent, bulging development of the forehead over the eyes and nose.

RENEWALS CHALLENGE TO MAYOR FISHER

His challenge to Mayor Fisher to meet and debate the issues of the present campaign for the mayoralty was repeated last night by F. L. Potts and Mr. Potts offered to pay the expenses of the hall if His Worship would meet him in joint debate tonight or tomorrow night.

MANY AT SECOND PERFORMANCE

St. Rose's Dramatic Club's second performance of "Alaska" was even more successful than the first. It was given in the St. Rose's Hall, Fairville, last evening, and was largely attended. The whole cast acted their parts in a creditable manner. Miss Dorothy Berry took the part of mother with dignity and acceptability, and Miss Alma O'Poole and Miss Kathleen Leger sustained their parts as usual. The male performers came in for a large share of the applause. The specialties were different from the first night. Master Ronald Sherwood sang and Master George Burns, who had sung on Wednesday night, danced. Charles Stackhouse and Miss Willa Dunham were soloists. The songs and choruses were repeated from the previous evening.

GLASGOW SEEMS TO BE DANGER SPOT ENGLAND'S POLITICAL SITUATION

Some See Revolutionary Policy Behind Clydeside Labor Group.

(Special Correspondence.) London, April 10.—Events at Westminster begin to suggest another general election pretty soon. The Labor Government is shaping now to force the issue on a programme intended to secure proletarian and middle-class suffrages. It is significant that the Conservative Party is at the time considering a very big scheme of insurance for workers, with contributions from employers and the state as well as from the insured persons on a really adequate scale of payments in case of sickness or unemployment, with retiring pensions well below the age of 70. Though the national cost would be considerable, poor-law and old-age pension economies would greatly reduce it. The scheme is backed by progressive members of the party, and would include safeguards against industrial warfare.

THE DANGER SPOT

It would be interesting to know exactly why Glasgow should have become the danger spot of the United Kingdom. There is no disguising the fact that it has for some time been the chief centre of political unrest and real revolutionary propaganda in this country. During the war it was the Clyde that threatened the only serious defeatist movement so far as Great Britain was concerned, and when the Irish troubles were at their worst it was the main centre of disaffection outside Ireland. The Clydeside Labor group, which is Communist in fact if not in theory, is the tail that threatens to wag the moderate Labor dog out of its parliamentary opportunity, and some students of events profess to see revolutionary policy behind this fact.

Now I hear on exceedingly good authority that two remarkable industrial syndromes in the South are entailed by Glasgow envoys of revolution. Not only the sudden strike among the shipbuilders at Southampton, but also the shipbuilders' strike at Southampton, which was quite unauthorized by the group at Westminster, not only because of its position in the cabinet, but by reason of its personality, which is a narrow, reflective, person, whose names are mentioned to me, and are probably known to Scotland Yard, recently came across the border for the purpose of stating his views on industrial trouble here. One took in hand the Wembley affair as a promising spectacular coup, while the other engineered the Southampton trouble. Their influence may or may not also have been exerted in the London traffic strikes, with its once mentioned possibility of national development. There is a growing feeling that some means of dealing with such enterprises by sworn enemies of existing society ought to be devised and enforced.

DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS

A question with which Mr. Snowden may deal in his budget statement, and which will certainly be raised in debate, is the scandal of post-war budget surpluses. These were at first regarded as accidental miscalculations in the swollen conditions of post-war national finances. But their persistence raises a suspicion that they are the result of a deliberate policy. In the last four years a sum totalling £248,000,000 has accrued in budget surpluses, and which has gone automatically into debt reduction. This may be an admirable thing from the high finance standpoint, but from the standpoint of the taxpayer, it is a scandal. It also largely nullifies what Goddard's economies have been carried out, and deprives parliament of real control over departments.

WIDELLY SYMPTOMS

The authorities seem to have quickly recovered control at Wembley, backed by proper police protection for the workers intimidated by the mob of strikers. Some of the symptoms of this affair merit attention. A few loud-mouthed freemen caused all the trouble, playing on a defiant spirit among sections of the builders, who apparently believed that with a Labor home secretary in Whitehall they were on a safe thing. The way they terrorized foreign workers and women, and studiously left alone the burly navvies working on the roads, is an object lesson. Fuller details of the episode will be savoured with general interest, including what happens in the case of a workman whose arm was broken by the strikers throwing him over a bridge on to a cement foundation of a lake. The police were rushed up to Wembley in motor lorries, and there was not the least show of fight by any of the freemen who bullied the startled Chinese and the girl artists so valiantly. There is a very definite feeling in London after recent happenings that a little more of the firm hand, and a little less of the persuasive manner, might be a public advantage.

MYSTERY OF BOY'S DEATH IS UNSOLVED

Parents of Raymond Nicholl Laird Give Evidence at Inquest.

DOCTOR TESTIFIES

Microscopic Examination, in Hope of Determining Poisoning Cause.

The inquiry into the death of Raymond Nicholl Laird, aged nine, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Laird, East St. John, which occurred suddenly on Monday morning last, at his home, was resumed in the court rooms, Germain street last night before Coroner H. A. Porter and jury. After some evidence was heard, including that of Dr. H. L. Abramson, provincial pathologist, the inquest was adjourned until next Friday evening, May 2, at 8 o'clock, to enable Dr. Abramson to determine by microscopic examination, if possible, the acid or such matter which was the cause of burning out the boy's stomach tissues. This remains still a mystery in the minds of doctors and others connected with the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Laird both gave evidence last night. The father broke down on several occasions during his testimony, his wife wept bitterly before the court opened, during the time she testified and after, and in court was heard to remark between the broken sobs, "This is all right but it will not bring him back to me."

Apparently Healthy. According to the evidence presented, the boy was always looked on as being in the very best of health, only complaining of a pain when he felt hungry, or after running about for some length of time. He went to bed Sunday night between 9 and 10 o'clock in apparently good health. He was awakened on Monday morning about 4:30 when his father was called to the stove in the room in which the boy and two other children were sleeping. He became suddenly ill, and within a few minutes died in his father's arms without saying one word.

Dr. Abramson, who made the autopsy, could not understand from the examination just what caused death. The stomach contained ulcers and the tissues were burned through. There was a perforation large enough for him to place his hand through. How a person could be in such a condition with no complaining of pains or vomiting was incomprehensible. Dr. Abramson testified that which was eminent intellectual gifts which have carried him so successfully through so many stormy times of ecclesiastical stress. Dr. Davidson's Birthday. Despite the recurrent rumors of his pending retirement, Dr. Davidson celebrated his birthday this week with no sign of resignation about him. The famous archbishop is nowadays not the stout figure he once was. His head is whiter, his color less ruddy, and his step perhaps less elastic and firm. But he still retains those eminent intellectual gifts which have carried him so successfully through so many stormy times of ecclesiastical stress. Dr. Davidson's Birthday. Despite the recurrent rumors of his pending retirement, Dr. Davidson celebrated his birthday this week with no sign of resignation about him. Postals. Through we have now become accustomed to the new postal advertisements stamped on our letters at the G. P. O. we have not yet been confronted by such developments as foreign post offices are attempting. We stick to postal publicity for the British Empire Exhibition, but in Italy and America, frankly political propaganda is being tried. The Italians were exhorted through the medium of post-imprints to support the Mussolini ministry at the recent elections, and the Americans are being urged to join up in the new military training camps with which the U. S. is sustaining its compromises on naval construction. What will happen in this country if, at the next general election, one or other of the political parties, or possibly the rapidly growing British Fascist movement, begins to use the G. P. O. for publicity ends? That is one of the possible objections urged against the innovation when it was first proposed.

Richardson, V. C. It seems incredible that a namesake in Abercrombie should for nine years be able to impersonate a V. C. living in Liverpool. But the ex-corporal of the Gay Gordons, whose death revealed the fraud, actually put up the bogus ribbon, while serving in France with his battalion, and was even later presented to the King by Earl Haig. I wonder did the Gordons even turn out the guard to give the impostor a full salute, as prescribed by King's regulations. The real Richardson, V. C. served with Strathcona's Horse in the Boer War. He is a Liverpool man, and I remember interviewing him on his return. He made a fine, modest, manly little speech when Strathcona's Horse were entertained at a civic banquet, with their colonel, Sam Steed, in St. George's Hall.

My recollection is that Richardson, now laboring on the Liverpool tramways, received a handsome sum subscribed in Canada for the first maple leaf soldier to win the ten-penn'orth of bronze. He went back to Canada, where he was N. C. O. in the Northwest Mounted Police.

The other thrill-writer, George Manville Fenn, although he had a big family, left the much larger fortune of £15,000.

In the whole history of literature there is no more magnificent spendthrift than the great Alexander Dumas. It was his lordly habit to have a bowl full of silver and gold notes standing on the mantelpiece. When his friends came to borrow, as they often did, the romancer waved his hand towards the bowl and bade them help themselves, and he was known to light his cigar with a twenty franc note!

£150 For a Short Story. The late Jack London was not in the least interested if an editor offered less than £150 for a short story running to eight pages of the magazine, with illustrations. If such men as W. W. Jacobs, & Phillips Oppenheim and F. G. Woodhouse were to write one story a month, their income-tax would still be considerable.

Buys $100,000 House By Washing Its Windows

(By ALEXANDER HERMAN.)

Newark N. J., April 25.—Opportunity for Panko Mativi Sokolowski, late of the Ukraine, knocked on a window pane.

And he grabbed it with both hands. For window cleaning, on the edge of the city skyline, had given him a broad perspective of American life.

For years while perching precariously on the ledge of a skyscraper he had been looking about him in two directions.

Below him, the city spread like a map. He could see new buildings going up. He thought of their value, of the landlords who owned them. He thought of his own days as landlอร์ด in a little European village where he was born.

Before him, through the window panes he was cleaning, he could see business men at work—with their minds. He had a mind, too, and he resolved to use it. Perhaps, he, too, would some day become wealthy.

That was four years ago. Today his ambition is realized. He is the landlord of a $100,000 apartment in an exclusive part of town. He owns his own home, and has purchased other pieces of real estate, too.

But he is still washing windows. "Through them," he says, "I get my insight into business affairs."

"But eventually my family will make me give up the job. It has served its purpose. It has given me the chance to make my money—and soon I'll make it work for me."

Like all successes, Panko has his rule of conduct. Here is his decalogue:

1. Even if you make a little, save less.
2. But though you spend little, spend lots.
3. A hard grind is always worth it.
4. Make your first investment in your home. It helps one save.
5. No one ever made a fortune in cheap stocks.
6. A family budget is the first tool of the married man who wants to make a fortune.
7. Work hard for your money, and then make it work hard for you.
8. Always keep some ready money on hand for bargains.
9. Pay cash when it means lower

You Record a Lot When You Purchase Gramophone Records

You are quite accustomed to the idea that you may have your character read by the bumps on your head, by the lines on your hand, or by the way in which you shape your letters when you write.

You probably haven't thought that the girl or man from whom you buy the records for your phonograph gets a pretty good idea not only of what sort of character you have but also as to what sort of life you live. Known by Your Records.

The catalogue of any firm of "talking machine records" for a great variety of selections. There are numbers to suit every man in every mood, and every woman in a great many more moods than men ever dreamed could exist. And, by your selection of these numbers, are you known to the ebullient clerk, who kindly plays them on the shop machine for you.

"Yes, I suppose we are in a good position to study people," agreed the young man in one of Baltimore's down quarter of the time I took to sell the newest jazz.

"Not that the tired business man doesn't like jazz, I think, however, that he buys the jazz record to listen to when he is surrounded by friends. When he is alone he wants something soft and sentimental to fit in with his mood.

Softening The Hard-Boiled
"It's funny," and the clerk grinned reminiscently, "but listening to a sentimental ballad absolutely changes a man's expression. I've watched some hard-boiled specimens come in here and sit like graven images while I played the jazz. But when I put on something like 'A Little Bit of Heaven' or 'Mother Macree' they get all soft and misty looking and one in a while I feel nervous for fear that some fat captain of industry is going to break down and cry.

"It might be a good idea for the employees of some of these fellows to install a machine and just before they

"Now the papers," says Panko, "can write glibly of my 'rising above my world' . . . mopping up a fortune with a sponge . . . blotting out poverty with my rags. . .

What She Wanted
"I want," she said "A Little Love, A Little Kiss." Imperturbably the clerk went in quest of the record. The interviewer wanted to laugh, but the elderly woman gazed about her with impersonal eyes. Evidently the name of a song was merely a song's name to her. "That often happens," he explained after the robust customer had departed, "especially when they happen to want jazz numbers. I don't know how many times I've been asked if I have the 'Alcoholic Blues,' and there are lots of titles that sound rather personal.

"That woman is one of the sort that usually buys something sentimental. One of the differences between the sentimental ballad and the sentimental old ballad is that the former knows she wants a love song and asks right out for it, while the latter citty, until he hears it and is touched by it, or else he is ashamed to express his strike the boss for a raise put on a sentimental record.

"There's a great difference between the way women make their selections and the way men buy a record. Once in a while a dame comes in here and informs us in a very superior manner that she wants something classic. She also takes the opportunity to spread her belief that men are responsible for all the jazz music in the world.

"Her idea is that if women had the making of music and records we wouldn't have anything as gay and bright and frivolous as jazz. Gayety and brightness in art are bad taste and by the way she reasons the 'Funeral March' should be the most wonderful thing in the way of music ever written.

Women Buy Jazz Music.

"Well, isn't my business to argue with customers, but I could tell her that women buy more than one-half the jazz. And not only that, but there are a number who make it a point to come to the shop once in a while to hear the latest records, and they haven't the slightest intention of buying anything. Men do not do that. Then—ah, excuse me, I'll just attend to this lady," and with a "What can I do for you?" the character-reading clerk turned to a tall austere lady who advanced toward him.

What She Wanted

"I want," she said "A Little Love, A Little Kiss." Imperturbably the clerk went in quest of the record. The interviewer wanted to laugh, but the elderly woman gazed about her with impersonal eyes. Evidently the name of a song was merely a song's name to her. "That often happens," he explained after the robust customer had departed, "especially when they happen to want jazz numbers. I don't know how many times I've been asked if I have the 'Alcoholic Blues,' and there are lots of titles that sound rather personal.

"That woman is one of the sort that usually buys something sentimental. One of the differences between the sentimental ballad and the sentimental old ballad is that the former knows she wants a love song and asks right out for it, while the latter citty, until he hears it and is touched by it, or else he is ashamed to express his

Vote For The Vocational School Next Monday

IT WILL MEAN

1. OPPORTUNITY FOR OUR CHILDREN— Equal to that offered in other cities. We have over 1,000 boys and girls between 13 and 17 out of school with less than a Grade VIII education, and a similar group in school but retarded. The new school will give these a chance to get a thorough training in English and the other essentials, while taking one of the following Vocational courses:
 - (a) Machine Shop and Tool Making.
 - (b) Carpentry.
 - (c) Drafting.
 - (d) Bookkeeping.
 - (e) Stenography.
 - (f) Home Economics.
 - (g) Motor Mechanics.
 - (h) Electricity.
 - (i) Sheet Metal Work, etc.

The Children are Our Greatest Asset.

Education is the Best Form of Wealth to Leave Them.

2. PROGRESS FOR THE CITY OF ST. JOHN: Ours is the only city over 35,000 in Canada without Vocational Training. This type of Education has become universal throughout the civilized world. It is calculated to build up the industrial and commercial life of a community. We need it.

3. A VERY SMALL INCREASE IN THE TAX RATE: If your tax bill is now $100.00 it will only be $103.17 with the School.

4. $137,000 FOR BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT— and nearly $30,000 annually for teachers' salaries, will come into the educational life of St. John in connection with the School from Dominion and Provincial Governments. For the sake of our children and our city such aid should not be rejected. The building grant is not available after this year.

they expect to spend the next few hours.

"Good-bye" and "Hot Lips"

"But when a woman's sad she seems to want music to make her sadder. From where I sit, I'd say that women like to be sad, and if they can get a record that will add to their melancholy they think they're in luck. We have a great sale for 'I Hear You Calling Me,' 'The Rosary,' Post's 'Good-bye,' and things of that sort to the sad-eyed female class. The next day they may come back and demand 'Hot Lips.' But for the time they must have their cup of sorrow filled full measure.

"Of course, nearly all the young folk want jazz—dance stuff, particularly. I don't think that there is anything particularly striking in that, because everyone agrees that we live in a jazz age. "You'll find the fat, chubby-looking wives like jazz also, although they usually try to give the impression that they are making the selection for the sake of their husbands. I sometimes wonder if, when this type of woman buys her spring bonnet, she intimates to the salesman that she is making the purchase for the sake of her husband.

SCHOONER SINKS IN VINEYARD SOUND

Boston, April 24.—The loss of the 42-ton auxiliary schooner Lawrence Murdock, of Portland, Me., was reported by Captain William Doyle, of this city, on his arrival today from Woods Hole with the two members of his crew. The vessel sank off Nashawena Island in Vineyard Sound yesterday morning just after the men had put out in boats.

While Sunlight Works

YOU have more leisure hours on wash day if you use Sunlight Soap. Away downstairs in the wash tub this wonderful soap will do the labour. You rub the things with Sunlight—you put them to soak—and then its penetrating, cleansing ingredients search through and through the fibres, loosening even the hardest dirt or the oldest grease stains completely. No wash board rubbing, no boiling, no hard work. Then, with rinsing, the dirt runs away and your clothes are ready for the line, purified and snowy clean.

Wash day should not take your labour—only Sunlight's gentle strength.

Howard Carter Sues Empire Exhibition

London, April 23.—Further litigation has been started in connection with the discovery of Tutankhamen's tomb, according to the Daily Express, which says a writ has been served at Howard Carter's instance upon the directors of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley for alleged violation of his copyrights through the erection of a model of the tomb as a side-show on the exhibition grounds. The model was constructed by the sculptor William Ammoner and the Egyptologist Arthur Weigall, who deny that their reproductions of the tomb and its contents in wood and plaster were based on Carter's photographs. The case is to be heard after Whitsuntide. Meanwhile the model will be opened to the public as advertised.

WAS GALA DAY FOR COMMUNISTS

McLachlan Told of Miners' Troubles and Growth of Radicalism.

The communists of Canada had a gala day at the Labor Temple in Toronto on Sunday last, says the Star. Two redoubtable champions of their cause stood on the same platform, and although C. E. Ruthenburg and Jim McLachlan are different in manner, method, and appeal, they aroused a good deal of enthusiasm in an audience that packed the hall.

Snears at Contract.

The contract, he said, was a cheap thing "drafted in Montreal by stock-brokers and henchmen of John L. Lewis." The fruits of a struggle of thirty years were thrown away for the sake of a 30 cent increase.

He sneered at the president of the British Empire Steel Corporation's cry for cheap coal. "If the men were doing the work for nothing the consumer would get the coal thirteen and a half cents cheaper. It cost only thirteen and a half cents to cut the coal from the face."

It was a dreary picture of death and disaster in the mines that he painted. "Thirty-two men lost their lives in the mines last year. For every one killed there are fifty injured."

History of Communism.

In 1914, capitalism was secure, he said, then came the world war. "We were socialists then and communists today." And they were ready to step in and grasp the reins of government from the tottering capitalist. It was largely a question of how this was to be done. Marx pointed out that capitalism would destroy itself. It had to find a market for its products and so it was necessary to seek new fields. Then came the imperialistic tendency. It could be observed in Germany's desire for Persia and Britain's desire for Persia and of course there was a diplomatic struggle and then the war. Unemployment, deflation and the imperialistic tendencies were disarranging the equilibrium of capitalism and threatening to destroy everything that had been built up by the genius of the race. But out of this chaos would come the new social order—communism.

Don't Squeeze Black Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of peroxide powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off, and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

The subject of the Eclectic Club meeting last night was Thomas Hardy and Mrs. Silas Alward had charge of the programme. The meeting was held at the residence of Mrs. James P. Armstrong read from "Under the Greenwood Tree," the incident of the choir's interview with the vicar. Miss Homer read gems from Hardy's poetry. Mrs. Alfred Morrissey read the scene at the Inn, taken from "Far from the Madding Crowd," and Mrs. H. A. SPORT NEWS GLEANED FROM WORLD'S CENTRES

PRIZES PRESENTED AT THE ANNUAL BANQUET OF COMMERCIAL LEAGUE

Averages for Season Show Lemmon, of Pender's, as High Man.

While it is generally conceded that the Brunswick-Balke-Collender trophy tournament in Eastport brought on some sensational rolling it is doubtful if any of the participants turned out more than a few who were established in the Victoria Hotel last evening when the members of the Commercial Bowling League assembly and started in "cleaning up" on Emerson & Fisher's boiled salmon, Pender's turkey, Judge Stanton's special salads, Kockwell's bran with optical jelly, Ames-Holden-McCreedy's potatoes, McAvilly's squash, Electric and Vassie's unshrinkable cakes. If anyone is dubious, the results can be verified by the pin boys who were there "spotting" everything in sight. The waitresses can also vouch for the number of dishes they set up, only to have them turned into "paros and strikes" and ready for replenishment. The event was the annual banquet of the league, which was organized in 1909 and is still flourishing. There were all kinds of enthusiasts present—some would-be stars, some have-beens, some who are still boasting of the big one they turned in back in such and such a year, others who hold records for keeping the gutters cleaned out, while there were a few who actually can get the occasional high one. On the whole it was a happy gathering of sports, and the event was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Following a tuncful selection by Black's orchestra, under the leadership of Harry Black, the programme was started by H. R. McLellan, who arose and proposed a toast to the King. Chester Bourne, after which Mr. McLellan, who was officiating as chairman, presented his magnificent trophy to the Pender team, winners of the league. He briefly reviewed bowling history in St. John and a tour in sport, the important part it plays in the life of a community, and the good relationship which is bound to result if participants can be good losers as well as good winners. He heartily congratulated the members of the winning team, Captain Gaines of the Pender quartette accepted the trophy and expressed his appreciation. A toast was then proposed by A. C. Rockwell and responded to by Mayor Fisher, who stressed the importance of all young and old, taking an interest in their city and province. Prizes to the individual members of the winning team were then presented by E. M. Smith, who tendered his congratulations. A three-round boxing bout between two clever local boys, Coyte and McNulty, then followed proceedings.

and was thoroughly enjoyed. A toast to the league was proposed by Percy McAvilly and responded to by the president, C. J. Brunnan. Prizes were then presented to the high average men of the league by S. Thomson, after which a vocal solo by E. Till was enjoyed. Amid prolonged applause the chairman was asked to arise, and President Brunnan, on behalf of the members, made him a recipient of a very pretty set of gold cuff links, suitably engraved. In an eloquent response he expressed his appreciation and was given a flattering ovation as he returned to his official capacity as chairman. Prizes were then awarded to the winners of the single and high three strings by W. Knoll, after which a solo was sung by Lester Rowley. A toast was proposed to Harry Black, on whose behalf the league games were rolled and after a brief and witty response he turned to a line in which he really eloquent—the rendition of a choice musical number. After singing the National Anthem the event was brought to a close. One of the features in connection with the banquet was the arrival of Black's bowling team from Eastport, where they had made such a wonderful showing in the championship tournament. When they entered the banquet hall they were given three hearty cheers, after which Captain A. W. Covey was called on to give a few details about their trip. The following are statistics of the Commercial League—

Kennedy, of Halifax, and Cavanaugh, New Glasgow, Score Wins.

Louis Donovan, Y. M. C. I., decisively demonstrated his Olympic prowess in the final round of the Maritime 126-pound championship and the right to a trial for the Montreal finals. In the semi-final he met Holt, Halifax, unattached. Louis connected with a hard left and Holt took the count before the round had hardly started. In the final he met Cole of Halifax, who forced him to quit at the close of the first round. The local boy was in great fettle and given quite a hand by the crowd.

NEED COMMISSION FOR BOXING BOUTS

Responsible Authority would Tend to Keep Game in Popular Favor.

While not anything of a scandalous nature has happened and may never happen for that matter, many thoughtful boxing fans in the city feel that the time is ripe for the re-establishment of the City Boxing Commission to assume control of the game here. Only last year, a commission was functioning and during its brief life it did good work. While there may have been complaints as to the autocracy of the Commission, this was overshadowed by the fact that the personnel of the Commission was working for the good of the game and in the interests of not merely the public but the promoters themselves.

NEWS NOTES GATHERED FROM THE WORLD OF STAGE AND SCREEN

BOYS PRODUCE AN EXCELLENT REVUE

"Cap and Bells" Performance Heartily Received by Large Crowd.

A bumper house greeted the Cap and Bells Revue last evening in their initial performance at Pythian Castle Hall, the proceeds to be for the rebuilding of the hall at Knox church. The stage settings were excellent, making the sketches very realistic and at times beautiful with the good lighting effects. "Donald Gwyder," David Legate, was stage director and general manager, and Teddy Campbell, of Fairville, the clever boy cartoonist, was scenic artist. After seeing his drawings in his act, "Chalk Talk," the artistic stage setting was easily explained.

Purdy Coughle, of Fairville, delighted the audience with his fine tenor voice. In well-rounded tones and clear enunciation, he sang two pretty songs and responded to encores. David Legate's baritone solos were received with hearty applause and encores. To him was given much credit for the success of the revue. He was very funny in the comic song, as "Pambo," when he sang, "If I was what I ain't instead of what I is." The Old Home Town was well put on by Jim Fox and Wesley Stewart. This included Musquash in its theme and some funny hits were made on many local political situations. J. Legate gave a funny sketch to music "Sh-h-h-h."

The sketch of "The Rachel" was pretty in its scenic effect and a complete sell, when the musicians (?) were shown up in the bright light. The music was excellent, for which they took the credit. Others who took part in this were Hal Friars and Drew Mulcahy, banjolaists. "Black Magic" was a good skit on usual stage straight-of-hand, carried out by the Legate boys. The company gave two ensemble selections that were good musically and quite the thing in scenery and stage setting. Charles Wakeham assisted the company. "Blak Pilosofy" by Rev. Brudder Measles, was not so good as good as the other acts, but had many clever points in its favor. One of the other sketches, "The Dentist's Den" was laughable and well presented by Messrs. Legate, Stewart and Corbett. Thanks was extended to Mrs. William MacCallum, Mrs. Finmore, Miss Myrtle Crawford, Roscoe Bond, Master R. Thompson, Master E. Foster, Herbert Lawton, J. Herbert Crockett, E. Palmer Kinman, John Golding, A. O. Skinner, C. E. Everett and J. Whitson for assistance in the carrying out of the revue.

FREDERICTON LADY CALLED ON MARIE CORELLI

At least one resident of the city says the Frederick Gleason, had the pleasure and honor of meeting Marie Corelli, noted authoress, who died on Monday at Stratford-on-Avon, England, and Miss Jeannette Beverly is the person.

Some years ago Miss Beverly was on a visit to England and expressed a wish to meet the authoress at her home. Although she had for some time before that refused any audiences, on finding out that Miss Beverly was a Canadian, she sent word that she would be pleased to receive her, and Miss Beverly called upon her at her home at Stratford-on-Avon, which was just around the corner from where Shakespeare had lived. In recalling the meeting, Miss Beverly said it was one of the outstanding pleasures of her life, the authoress being so congenial and charming and so intensely interested in Canada.

By No Means Allow Your Bowels To Get Constipated

If you allow your bowels to become constipated you will have bilious attacks, sick headache, coated tongue, foul breath, sallow complexion, specks floating before the eyes, whites of the eyes dull and yellow, heartburn, water brash, etc.

Keep your bowels regular by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, — by doing so you will be able to keep well and have no more trouble with your liver. Mrs. I. Rubin, Halbrite, Sask., writes, "I was very badly troubled with constipation, often had bad headaches, my tongue was coated, and I felt anything but well."

"After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills I have felt much better as they certainly did me a lot of good." Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.
