Miss Alice Wren sang "Beautiful Leaves" and was encored, after which she was blindfolded and amused the audience with her "Supernatural vision," in describing various articles obtained from the audience by Madam Cora. The distribution of the presents gave unbounded satisfaction as they were really handsome and useful articles, including an electro-plate tea and coffee service, (which with a set of casters, fell to the lot of Mr. R. F. Waddleton) glass jugs, vases, etc. The closing part of the performance was the "Couch of the Angels" in which Miss Wren in a mesmeric state was suspended in the air, resting one elbow only on a slight staff, and was transformed into a number of impersonations such as Columbia. West Fairlee, Vt., Jan. 11th, 1871.

Dear Sir—For seven or eight years past I have been in poor health, and for the past year or more very feeble. My health continued to decline, and my flesh and strength wasted away, until I was unable to work or even go up stairs without great exhaustion. I suffered from frequent and distressing attacks of palpatation of the heart, my food distressed me, causing accidity and pain in the stomach; and I suffered from extreme nervousness, constipation and debility of the system generally, my blood being thin and poor and sluggish in circulation, and I was for years suffering all the tortures of a confirmed dyspeptic. About six months since I concluded I would try a bottle of Pgruvian Syrup, and received so much benevitation. good and my weight has increased in the past four months from one hundred and twenty to one hundred and thirty-eight pounds; my strength has returned, and my general health is thus wonderfully improved, and I can truly say I owe it all to the use of your PERCUIAN SYRUP.
