On the order of the day, Col. Prior of British Columbia brought up the subject of the disallowance of the British Columbia bill against Japanese immigration. These Mongolians, he said, were as a rule not free laborers; they were generally in a position. they were generally in a position not far removed from slavery, and their standard of living was so low that Canadian laborers could not compete with them. Col. Prior also condemned

Sir Mackenzie Bowell gave notice in the senate this afternoon of the amendment agreed upon. This amendment applies to the traffic arrange-ments. It binds the Grand Trunk to all the provisions of Blair's traffic ent and makes those conditions revocable, but it leaves the Intercolial free in regard to traffic originatng on the Intercolonial and destined for western points.

It is not known whether the Grand Trunk or Mr. Blair will accept this amendment. If it is rerused the two bills will be killed. If it is accepted the bills will be accepted, but not unsly, as some fifteen senators will vote against the second reading on any zerms. Bowell, Ferguson, Kir-choffer, Drummond, Allen, Carling and other prominent men' will prob-ably refrain from voting against the bill if the terms are accepted. Miller, Primrose, McDonald of Cape Breton, Dickey, Prowse, Montplaiser, De Boucherville, Masson, Clemow, Perley, McMillan and McDonald of British Columbia are among the "irreconcilables."

At the meeting of the senate today Sir Mackenzie Bowell gave notice of the proposed amendment which binds the Grand Trunk company for ninety-nine years as to traffic routes, but leaves the Intercolonial free to rethe proposed amendment which binds ong are guests over Sunday of Mr. Ganong, M. So far as can be learned the present subsidy will not be continued unless there is an improvement in the speed of the mail boats.

Strong complaint has come from Grand Manan that no nail has been received there for a week. This is due to the removal of the Flushing. The department here says it is hoped to start a mail from St. John tomorrow, but it is not known what the plan is.

OTTAWA, July 9.—The statement of OfTAWA, July 9.—The statement of Traffic Manager Reeves of the Grand Trunk, that the proposed senate amendment to the Grand Trunk and Intercolonial contract is altogether unsceptable, attracts some attention but does not cause deep anxiety. Reeves mays that the proposed traffic greenent is altogether one sided stead of Quebec, hus making alto-gether useless the Grand Trunk line between these points. Reeves ignores the statement of Blair, made before a good class of people. After all, both ways was to be exchanged at these people were a small proportion of the total immigration.

alone, the traffic arrangement is one sided. But it is not supposed to be considered alone. The rentals are supposed to be sufficient to more than pay the Grand Trunk for the effacement of its own line from Montreal to Levis as a part of the

In spite of the statement that the Grand Trunk and government will not accept the proposed agreement, it seems certain that the senate will adopt it, and your correspondent is of opinion that both the company and the government will be only too glad to take it if they cannot do better.

A slight change will have to be made to provide for the interchange of traffic at Chaudiere with the Grand Trunk in regard to goods originating Trunk in regard to goods originating at or destined to points on the Grand Trunk between Chaudiere and Montreal, such as Sherbrooke. That is, the Grand Trunk between Montreal and Quebec will be treated as a local line. The Atlantic mail subsidies discussion is still going on between Cartwright and the representatives of steamship companies. It is understood that the minister of trade and commerce has distinctly informed Mr. Torrance and the Allans that if they do not put on faster ships than some do not put on faster ships than some now on the service, he will only send mails by the fastest boats and make mails by the fastest boats and make the best arrangements he can with New York boats for the rest.

The supplementary estimates promised for last week did not arrive. Tarte's organ, La Patrie, says they will be down on Monday and will contain a vote of one million for the Quebec bridge, together with a large sum for elevators at Montreal and Port Colborne. The latter is a point at the west end of the Welland canal. The building of government elevators at other than the Intercolonial's ocean terminal points is a new departure and opens the door to a large expenditure in Tarte's department all over Canada.

Sir Louis Davies said a strong protest would be made by the Canadian government in respect to the Newfoundland regulations, but nothing

When the gerrymander bill came up, Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved the house into committee to amend the clause relating to St. John. The amendment was only intended to make clear the intent of the clause, and not to change it. The bill still provides that St. John county, with 10,000 people, shall have one member, and St. John city, with 39,000, shall also have

Sir Wilfrid said that the present system was anomolous and ought to be remedied.

After dinner the St. John clause was resumed by Mr. Powell, who explained fully the circumstance under which Mr. Blair, when premier of New Brunswick, gerrymandered the city and county of St. John. Incidentally he showed that Mr. Blair was misleading the house when he stated that the change was made in consequence of a petition of the St. John county council. No such petition was every council. No such petition was ever pade. The only petition offered was one from the old city of Portland, which Mr. Blair disregarded for seven years, until he had a political purpose to serve by making a change,

Mr. Fielding having a change.

Mr. Fielding having said that St.

Mr. McAllister made a statement showing the rapid increase of population in Restigouche, and also referring to the large area of his constitu ring to the large area of his constituency.

Mr. Fielding afterward maintained that the principle of representation by population was never recognized to any great extent in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Sir Charles Tupper disputed this, and proved by history, both before and after confederation in Nova Scotia, that representation had been modied from time to time in accord with changes of population.

After a discussion on the Quebec clauses and a strong speech by Mr. Henderson of Halton, Ont., in objection to the whole measure, the amendments were adopted and the bill read

Then there are a great number of resolutions, including Mr. Ruther-ford's for the appointment of railway

Mr. Davin's about grain standards. Mr. Poupore's Ottawa and Georgian Bay canal resolution.

Mr. Sproule's in favor of beet sug Mr. Davin's accusing the government of want of faith in increasing the duties on agricultural implements

Mr. Moore's in favor of reduced duty Mr. (McInnes' requiring the establish

Mr. Quinn's in favor of an eight hour Mr. Gillies' resolution condemning the high duty on tobacco. Some of these measures may pos sibly be rescued from an untimely death by the intervention of the gov ernment on their behalf. But so far as is known, Mr. Flint's resolution in favor of provincial prohibition is the only one that has a promise to that effect. Mr. Flint will get his day some time after the government has put through its urgent business and most of the members have gone home. He does not seem to be very much excited about it, however, as he is not nearly so aggressive a prohibitionist as he was before the change of government. It should also be mentioned that the franchise bill of last year, which was declared to be so perfect a measure, is to be amended by a bill, of which the government has already given notice It is not known what the bill will contain, but it is a long measure and includes a great number of amendments, which are found necessary to make the measure at all workable. Mr. Fitzpatrick put his name to the bill and then went away. He is on the briny deep and will probably be in Rome about the time his colleagues are trying to make head or tail of his new franchise act.

Mr. Fielding and Mr. Foster had day of harmony yesterday. Mr. Fielding is trying to put into effect the good intentions of Mr. Fitzgerald, the superintendent of insurance, who would like to give greater security to the people who insure their lives. The bill provides against the delusions of some fraternal societies which under-take to insure people's lives for less than the cost as scientifically determined. It also makes a conservative regulation as to the interest to be computed on reserve, so that companies shall not pay dividends and ses on the assumption that the assets in their hands are earning four and a half per cent, when the actual earnings are less. Finally it un dertakes some supervision as to the character of investments made by companies. All Canadian companies are obliged to make a return every year of their assets and to give in detail the investments. The bill gives a long list of classes of securities in which insurance companies may in vest. It is so long and so general that Mr. Foster thinks the parliament might almost as well give companies a free hand, seeing that there are very few possible investments ex-

Mr. Fielding is inclined to think the same way, and is undoubtedly glad to find in Mr. Foster an influence behind Apparently the finance minister tions more strict than some of the companies liked, and has included with Mr. Foster's backing he will be able to make a better fight, and to this end the investment clause is left over in committee for further amendment. Obviously there is no positive kind of guarantee for policy holders in the regulations professing to prohibi panies to purchase indiscriminately the bonds of railway companies, roll ing stock companies and harbor trusts For example, the bonds of the Chig necto ship railway will be good under about the proposal of the minister of the interior to issue a new budget of scrip to Northwest half-breeds. participants in this case are to be all those born between 1870 and 1885; that is to say, all between 14 and 30 years old. The Manitoba half-breeds have already been dealt with, and those in the Northwest are claiming equal treatment. Mr. Sifton is afraid that there will be another rebellion if they are not satisfied. He proposes that each Metis shall have 240 acres of land or scrip which will enable him to claim that area at any time. There is no objection to the grant of land Everybody is in favor of that. But here are objections to giving the ssue of scrip, as these certificates are very low prices. The scrip is sup posed to have a face value of $240, but it is said that the half-breeds who are looking for it have already in many cases sold out their claims $40 or $50. Now the land which would be given out to these people cannot be bought in many cases for less than $3 an acre. It therefore comes to this, that a speculator or white far mer who wants to get a farm of 240 acres, and would have to pay to the government $720 for it, will be able by capturing a half-breed with scrip and supplying him with liquor, to ge the land for perhaps less than $100.

There was a rather lively discussion

Mr. Foster and Mr. Davin contended that though the half breed might be satisfied for the time with this provis ion, it is not in their interests to give them negotiable script. They favor giving them the land, and, if necessary, some other encouragement settle on it. But if the Metis are determined to sell the land and turn their claim into money, Mr. Foster thinks it will be better to give them the value of their land in cash on the spot, or annual instalments, rather than give them scrip which they will sell for a trifle to some white man who will get all the benefit of the governbounty. It is argued that th half-breeds will not be permanently satisfied with anything less than justice, and that it is not justice to make the speculator rich out of a half-breed claim, even though the son of the soil should in a rash moment consent to the operation.

Mr. Sifton claims that he has put in some safe guards. The scrip cannot be transferred except by those halfbreeds who have come of age, and only then by a legal document signed in the presence of witnesses. It happens, nowever, that more than half of the persons concerned are already of age matters which the land speculator can arrange in a very few minutes. The bill has passed the second reading and will probably become law. It authorizes the issue of $700,000 for the scrip or an equal number of acres of land, and contains great possibilities for the benevolent speculator who can get a half-breed in his debt. Dr. Montague mentioned a case where a man bought and from the government for less than $1300, of which $1200 was pain in halfbreed scrip. To his knowledge this scrip cost him $90. The half-breed family which had it should have had 1,200 cres of land or $1,200 in cash. overnment is out $1,200 in cash, as the white man would have paid that money for the land. This half-breed s probably as dissatisfied as he would have been if he had never got anything, and just as ready to join the riot if occasion should arise, but the white man is happy.

No doubt Mr. Sifton's measure of this year will have the support of a large number of land buyers and speculators in the wild and wooly west.

OTTAWA, July 5.-The redistribu tion or gerrymander bill was again to the front, and will constitute the order of the day for some time to come. Mr. Clarke Wallace had the floor and opened up a vigorous attack on the measure. He pointed out that the minister of customs, who made a peech which was very long and very loud, had devoted very nearly his whole time to the alleged iniquities of the bill of 1882. Mr. Wallace denied that this measure was a gerry mander at all, and especially he denied that the arrangement was made by party heelers for party purposes. He had understood that Sir Macken-zle Bowell and Hon. J. C. Aikens had een the members who had charge of Ontario. They were both honorable men, but the redistribution now pro posed had been made with the as ance of such heelers as Captain Sullivan and Simon Hewitt, two citizens who had become famous in connection with recent election trials. West Elgin trial is a sore point with the government just now, since the party machine has been convicted of not only personating voters, but of personating returning officers and of court has declared to be the worst ever exposed in Canada. This "Cap. Wallace, "was cheek by jowl with ninisters for weeks while they were drafting this measure." was one of the chief operators in the West Elgin

Mr. Paterson was restless over this natter, and replied that he did not cnow Sullivan. Mr. Wallace retorted: "It is most remarkable that the minter of customs should tell precisely the same story as the Hon. John Dryden in South Ontario and the immacu late McNish in West Elgin. Neithe of them knew anything about the elers or the bribery that was going on. All the minister needs now to do is to exclaim, in the words of Preston, 'Hug the machine for me'"

Mr. Wallace objects to the statement that the conservative gerry-

T t the geniul James The fact was ast Lambton to make a place for ed to run in servative vote out of sympathy, while David Mills and Mr. Paterson had been elected after the gerrymander, so called, and were only defeated in 1896, when the people learned that they were trying to ride two horses moving in opposite directions. Mr. Wallace showed that the government had disregarded county boundaries while professing to restore them. Even this city of Ottawa afforded an in-New Edinburgh, which is a part of the city, is left in the county of Russell, to which two other town-ships are added from outside. Two Two townships in the county of Carleton, in which Ottawa is situated, are left in North Lanark. If the governmen had restored county boundaries it would have been necessary to give two members to Carleton, and both would have been conservative. Therefore the government departed in this case from the principle of restoring county boundaries.

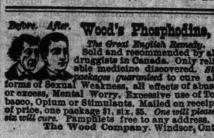

Mr. McMullen praised the proposed measures as a wise and just bill, which according to him, corrects a grave injustice. He explained the defeat of Mr. Trow by saying that Sir John Macdonald had written a letter expressing regret that he had been unseated and hoping to see him again in the house In spite of this letter other ministers had gone into the county campaigning against Mr. Trow. Mr. McMuller would not allow an explanation, and so it was not at that time mentioned that Sir John Macdonald was dead some months before Mr. Trow was

An able and moderate speech against the bill was made by Mr. Clancy of Bothwell, whose constituency is abolished by this measure. Mr. Clancy made no appeal on his own account but discussed the measure on broad lines. He corrected a number of Mr Paterson's misstatements, as for instance that the bill of 1892 was voted through by the conservatives "in dumb silence." As a matter of fact, 20 conservatives spoke in favor of the bill and 17 liberals against it, and one of the clauses which Mr. Paterson particularly denounced had been inserted at the request of Mr. Paterson himself. Mr. Clancy showed the absurdity of the calculations made by Mr. Mulock on the basis of majority. The same argument would prove that the con servatives were gerrymandered out of a great number of seats by their own bill. Five constituencies at the last election gave a conservative majority of 815 and a liberal majority of 94. According to Mr. Mulock's argument they ought to have returned five con servatives. As a matter of fact they did return three liberals and two conservatives. Mr. Clancy proved beyond question by the computation of whole vote that the present arrangement gave the liberals more representation in the house than their ength in the Still they were not satisfied and were attempting to give themselves more seats by a measure introduced at a time when the constitution did not

Mr. Clancy affirms that there is principle in the present bill. It does not respect county boundaries. It does not give an equitable representation by population. It is not called for by any unfairness in the present system. It does not make for public convenience. It is anjust, unconstitutional, and unnecessary.

Mr. Bell of Prince Edward Island spoke at considerable length in attack upon the measure of 1882, and professed to distinguish between a redisribution and a gerrymander. He nade an argument for the constitutionality of the bill, but was not very definite in his discussion of the meas ure itself. In fact, it was only within the last quarter of his speech that he

Mr. Ross Robertson made a rather striking speech against the bill. He had denounced the measure of 1882 because he thought it was loading the dice. He thought then the conservatives were strong enough to go in without such tactics. He thought the same thing about the liberals in the local legislature of Ontario. As a matter of fact, the constituencies which were carved to return conservatives for Ottawa had given a majority the other way, and the same thing had happened with regard to the constituencies which were carved to return iberals to Toronto. He did not believe in winning elections by loaded dice, nor did he see that it was any better for a party after loading the ice to give them to judges to throw, than it was to throw them th The government was curing the old gerrymander by a new one born out of due time. It amused Mr. Roberton to see the liberal party "struggling in a spasm of admiration for the judges." But with all their admiraon they were unwilling to allow the judges to choose from among them-selves the court to divide the constituencies. They would not allow the judges to choose three of themsel to do this work, but would choose whole of them and then allow the decision of two to rule. Mr. Robertson ed by the senate, but that it will be annihilated altogether. As a Toronto man, he awelt upon the injustice to that city, which was allowed about half the representation of other towns because it happened to be conservative. Mr. Robertson has very little respect for county boundaries in fed ections. He says parliament does no represent counties but people. Yet Clarke Wallace's county, which had not be carved up in order to gerry-nander Clarke Wallace out of the ouse. Sir Wilfrid could leave con-ervative parts of the city of Ottawa a Russell county for the sake of helping his liberal friends, but he was taking conservative parts of Toronto sake of killing his political oppon-ents. In closing Mr. Robertson said: "The present government may be clever, but it suffers from chronic lack of time. Whenever there is a proposal for the country's benefit, the government is too busy to attend to it. It is too busy to pass a copyright act, which would give employment to thousands of Canadians; it is too busy to deal with an insolvency law; too busy to frame a policy of justice beween farmers and elevator men in the west; too busy to create machinery to regulate the railways; and an ardent prohibitionist says it is too busy to pass a prohibition law. When anything is to be done for the country's sake the government has not a minute to spare, but when anything has to be done for the party's sake it has oceans of time. It is prepared to spend months for an unnecessary gerrymander to get votes for the party. out cannot give a minute to measure which would give profit to the country. It is a pity that the governmen es not look to the party for its pay. The government forgets that there is a country except upon pay day, when it draws its salary from the country and keeps on working for the party.

An interesting departure in our penal system is introduced this year. The minister of justice proposed yesterday the second reading of his ticket of leave bill. This is practically an adoption of the English system The prisoner is released long before the expiration of his time if his cor duct be such that he is deemed safe to let him out. He obtains a license which requires him to report from time to time to the sheriff of the county where he resides. If the convict is found idling or any way misbehaving he is sent back to prison to work out his time. Mr. Mills believes that the system is especially of advantage to youthful offenders. works well in England and elsewhere where it has been adopted. Under this bill the number of prisoners in the penitentiaries will be considerably reduced and some expense saved to the country, while an opportunity to redeem themselves will be given to first offenders who have not yet become hardened in crime, and who will be saved from long association with hardened criminals.

OTTAWA, July 6.—"The minister of the interior fell back on Mr. Ogilvie's report, which is still incomplete and held that it was the duty of the cabinet not to resign their political responsibility to a committee commission of judges. There is perhaps something to be said for this position from a purely constitutional standpoint, but the government would have been better advised had they shown a deeper sense of the serious character of the charge and to call them to account. the necessity of meeting it."

This is the conclusion reached the London Times concerning the action of the government in refusing a judicial investigation into the charge of blundering and plundering in the Yukon. Whatever may be said of the London Times in its treatment of other Canadian matters, that great journal has taken pains to be inform ed on the Yukon. It sent its own colonial editor to the spot, and this lady, who is one of the ablest journalists in the empire, made a pretty thorough enquiry into the management of affairs there. The Times letters set forth the condition fully and fearlessly and it is no secret that Miss Shaw had a long conversation with Mr. Sifton and his colleagues in Ottawa. ministers made strong protestations at that time, and have often done so since. But actions speak louder than words, and after following the course of the government down to the present, the Times has reached the conclusion above stated.

Not only is it a just conclusion, but it is a damaging one for the govern ment. It is important that the min istry should stand well with English opinion. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has realized this and has secured the advantages of such favorable advertising as could be obtained by spectacular ap pearances and proceedings. It is valuable to the premier to be able to make a picturesque appearance at the jubiout of the preferential tariff and penny postage. But what is the value of al this if it goes with a reputation for vicious administration, official oppression and corruption? If Sir Wilfrid fails to realize the serious quences of such a record and reputation in England and the necessit for re-establishing his credit in the etropolis of the world, so much the

So much the worse also for the Dominion of Canada, its prospects and its interests. So thought Mr. Davin when he brought the article in the London Times to the attention of the house and the government yesterday It was shown to the government tha while Mr. Sifton might amuse himself by investigating himself, that proces of enquiry did not satisfy imperia sentiment or remove the distrust that has become lodged in the heart of the empire. Mr. Davin in a few impres sive words brought the matter to the attention of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and left the premier to deal with it.

Sir Wilfrid was hardly above the evel of frivolity in his reply. He real y seemed to think it no cons hat in Great Britain as well as in Canada "a dark cloud" rested on the name and fame of this country. He admitted that the Times was a respectable newspaper, but it had been nistaken sometimes and was often misinformed, particularly when it made some charges against the la Mr. Parnell. The threadbare and badly shattered promise that the govern-ment would probe the Yukon scandals to the bottom was repeated to a skeptical house which is rather tired of these barren pledges.

And then Sir Charles Tupper had his say, and for some twenty minutes he pressed home the lesson taught by the were some pretty strong expres rimes. The government, as he showed, has simply been playing with the question. They had sent Mr. Ogilvie, their own servant, to try charges regainst themselves. Mr. Ogilvie had not sufficient, and that his enquiry could not be complete. Yet the government refused all other enqu They threw blatant challenges across house and backed out when a member took them up. To say that Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper was risking nothing in making charges and offering to withdraw from public life if he could not sustain them was a miserable subterfuge. The member for Pictou had held high positions in several administrations, and had taken part in some of the most important transactions, both national and imperial, that had occurred in his time. No charge had ever been made against him as a public man or the head of a department. He placed in the scale whatever position he had attained and whatever advancement he could hope for in the future.

On their side the ministers wer careful to risk nothing. They refused to allow themselves to be tried, evidently fearing that the result of a judicial enquiry would drive them from their positions. Sir Wilfrid refused an investigation on the ground that min-isters should not be tried by judges. knew that the juiges were not to pronounce sentence but to report the results of their investigation to parlia-

After all, the most the premier can say for Mr. Sifton in the face of these charges was that he loved him for the enemies he had made. According to this view, no matter what crimes a minister may commit the premier will back him up, provided the opposition does not like him. Sir Wilfrid had cited the Parnell case. It is true the Times was misled, but Parnell was not such a coward as to object to a judicial enquiry. He boldly challenged an investigation, and that by a commission of judges. "Why," asked Sir Charles. "For this one reason. Parnell was not guilty." He knew that and courted the fullest research into the matter. So would this government if it were in the same position, but now they dodge an investigation in every possible way and had thus brought on themselves not only the rebuke of the great thunderer, but what is more important, the cont of public opinion in Canada.

Dr. Landerkin, who has not yet re covered from the effect of the correscondence about his son, took occasion to say that Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper's motion was not supported by Dr Sproule and Mr. Haggart. The doctor did not intend to do the opposition a service, but his remarks led to strong declarations from both these members declaring that the motion than justified and deserved their hearty support. Dr. Sproule went so far as to say that if he government continued to choke off investigation it would be the duty of the governor general

Mr. Sifton did not let the opportunity go without repeating his vain challenge and request that somebody would make some more charges. As for the London Times, he did not intend to allow that paper to decide on a policy of the Canadian government. Mr. Sifton was childish enough to intimate that Sir Charles Hibbert had gone away from the house and was apparently afraid to meet the gov ernment in these matters, As Mr. Davin showed, Sir Charles Hibbert had given the highest proof of his willingness to meet the government in the motion he had made and his speech supporting it. The member for Pic-tou could hardly be accused of cowardice even by his most slanderous opponents. It would be much more to the point if the ministers would meet the charges he had made, and try to re-establish the good name of this country, than to be casting reflections on the courage of a man whos charges they dare not meet.

This was a preliminary skirmish The gerrymander bill was the principal theme of discussion for the day. The speaking was of a rather lively character, the opposition taking the aggressive and attacking both the motives and the character of the bill in vigorous and clear terms. Mr. McNeill began by showing 'he dishonesty of Mr. Mulock's argument, the inaccuracy of his statements of history, and the utter unfairness of his refl on Mr. McNeill himself. He had asked Mr. Mulock to be present, and demanded from him a statement as to whether he thought a certain arrange-ment of townships in the Bruce ridings was justified or not. Mulock had denounced it in his first speech. But as a matter of fact the arrangement had been made at the request of one of Mulock's colleagues in the govern-ment. Moreover, it is likely to continue in the present bill, and Mulock by a direct answer would probably condemn the arrange which he was advocating. Mr. Mulock dodged as well as he could, and finally

The constitutional discussion was carried on by Mr. Borden of Halifax and Mr. Powell on the opposition side, and by Dr. Russell, Mr. Britton and Leighton McCarthy for the government. Mr. Powell is of the opinion that the bill is not constitutional, a view which had been expressed earlier in the debate by Sir Charles Tupper himself. Mr. Borden thinks the con stitutionality of the measure is least doubtful, and that was Mr. Powell's view until Mr. Russell's argument to the contrary convinced him

On the question of expediency both Mr. Powell and Mr. Borden, togethe with Mr. Osler, Mr. Clarke and othe earnest and thoughtful men on th earnest and thoughtful men on the opposition side, held strong opinions. The explained that the natural consequence of this measure was to introfluce a new element of into politics, to disturb the ies of constituencies wh was a change of government, and to thrust a new element of distrust and suspicion into the public affairs as well as in regard to the motives behind it. Mr. Osler, who is usually a very moderate man, expressed the view that this was a part of the operation of the same political machine which is owned jointly by the Laurier and Hardy governments, and whose operations have been exposed in the election court. Mr. Osler and Mr. Clarke, two of the Toronto members who protest strongly against the injustice done to that city and against the mean attempt to deprive such men as Clarke Wallace and McNeill of their seats, state positively that the Hardy government is at the end of its rope. They affirm that the porpose of this bill, among other things, cure some compensation for this prospective loss of political influence. Dr. Roche of Manitoba told of the operations of the machine in his province of the scandalous manipulation of voters' lists and other devices, such as had been exposed in the Elgin trial. He believed that the days of the Greenway government are shorter than those of the Ontario administration, and that federal ministers are doing all they can to make good their

On the government side the speaking was unusually languid and inef-fective. Leighton McCarthy, who keeps up an air of independence and who never speaks without a reference to "my late lamented uncle," adjusted himself as well as he could on the fence, announcing his intention of voting for the second reading, and then n committee of voting against those clauses which abolish the constituency of Cardwell and Bothwell. Mr. M. Carthy knows very well that if his motion should carry, the whole bill will have to be changed, and that whatever shadow of principle there may be in it would be swept away. But he thinks that his late lamented uncle might have done something of the kind if he were alive, and so he will do it. The late lamented Dalton McCarthy, as known by other people, did not usually do things by halves Whatever his faults, he was a man who held a course of his own, and did not bother himself trimming around

The government majority on the vote was only 36, while Sir Wilfrid claimed a majority of 50. It was a straight party vote so far as it went, but the diminished majority shows that the opposition are standing to their guns better than the governm Three grit members who voted for Sir Charles H. Tupper's Yukon motion, Oliver, Richardson and McInnes, were absent without pairs.

While the commons is dealing with the gerrymander everybody is keeping a close watch on the proceedings in the other chamber, where Mr. Blair's Drummond and Grand Trunk bills are on their trial. Before this letter is printed the fate of the measure will probably be settled for this year, but just now it 's a matter of great and grave uncertainty. There is undoubtedly a considerable feeling am senators that they have done all that can be expected of them in this emergency. They found the two bills crude and improvident bargains, and they have suspended proceedings until they have been greatly improved. They found the Grand Trunk bill a measure calling for a payment of $64,000 a year and have held it up until now it asks for only $44,000 a year. They found a payment of $6,000 a year demanded for the Chaudiere branch, and have wiped that out altogether. They found the government ready to pay five per cent. on half the cost of Grand Trunk im-provements, and have now before em a bill requiring the payment of only four per cent. on a quarter of the cost. They found the bill permitting the Grand Trunk to exchange freight with the Intercolonial at Levis, and have now a measure to make the transfer in Montreal, giving the Intercolonial 170 miles haul that the Grand Trunk would otherwise obtain for it-self. These and other improvements have been secured, and there is almost a certainty that a complete change in the traffic arrangement can be ob tained which will free the Interce of the servitude that Mr. Blair's Grand Trunk bargain imposed upon it.

The question has been whether the senate shall be content with these normous gains and allow the me to go through or shall hold it up another year. In either case the past action of the chamber is abundantly vindicated. The impression dantly prevails that the two ex-ministers, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Mr. Ferguson, are rather inclined to allow the bill to go through ons can be maintained ,and that a number senators are disposed to close up the ampaign on these terms. The minister of railways has practically taken over the Drummond line and has quipped it with rolling stock. Enormous expenditure has been made already on the basis of this extension The question is whether anything more can be accomplished by holding up the arrangement another year.

This question at least a score of senators answer strongly in the affirmative. Those who are in doubt as to the wisdom of repeating the action of two years ago, and those who think two years ago, and those who think it ought to be repeated, are agreed that the bargain is a bad one and that the Grand Trunk has decidely the

They are still doing so, and if the measure were allowed to pass on division with these concessions gained, it will be passed under a protest and with the distinct understanding that the great majority of the senators do not approve of it. But the senate has not been in the best if the senate has not been in the habit of throwing out all measures which it does not approve, and many members of that house hold that there should be a limit to the resistance which the chamber should give to government measures adopted by the commons.

Between the extreme sensiors, whose position is undoubtedly the more logical and more defensible, and those who half favor a more mederate policy, there is the best of feeling and a strong desire to reach an unanimous n. But at this moment it seems impossible that the whole sen-ate can be induced to allow the mea-sure to be carried "on division," even if the largest concession possible to obtain could be got from the Grand Trunk. If the Grand Trunk were to abandon say one-half of the excessive rental of $37,500 a year allowed for the St. Rosalie branch, the thing might be done, but this would overturn the whole agreement and is deemed to be sible. A SAD DEATH.

Dr. H. D. Fritz of this city on Friday received word from Melbourne, Australia, of the sudden death at that place of his brother's wife, Mrs. H. J. The circumstances connected with Mrs. Fritz's death are particularly sad. The deceased was in her twenty-fifth year, was a daughter of F. Peterson of Melbourne, and was a bride of hardly two months, having een married on April 26th to Capt. Fritz, who is a son of the late Capt. Jacob Fritz of this city, who was lost in the Cedar Grove some years ago. Capt. H. J. Fritz has for some years been prominently identified with a steamship line operating between Mel-bourne and Calcutta, and at the time of his marriage commanded the s. s. Argus, a vessel of about five thousand tons. Capt. Fritz had decided to make his home in Australia, and was enjoy-ing a shore leave when his wife was taken ill with pleurisy. About this time he received word of his mother's death, which occurred in this city. Mrs. Fritz's death followed close upon that of her mother-in-law, occurring on May 24th.

The first gap in the ranks of the clergy in the past year was made by the decease of our dear brother, Simeon wide ministerial life was spent in the diocese; it lasted for a space of fiftythree years, as he was ordained deacon in December, 1845. Faithful in his work for his Master, tender hearted and compassionate for young and old, he won the respect and affection of all with whom he was the respect and affection of all with whom he was brought into contact. His thoughtfulness for others is seen in the fact that for over thirty years he was the only one who gave anything to the Incapacitated Clergy fund, and this not for his own benefit, for he would not want it. In the death of Archdeacon Brigstocke the diocese at large suffered a great toss, for not only was he on nearly every working committee, but he was an active worker on all of which to his bishop he several times ques-tioned my action when I was coadjutor. under the impression (which was an erreneous impression) that I was exin all matters, that they had so left all things in his hands that at his deah they scarcely knew what to do. In the various details of church work, he was looked to for guidance, not only by the members of his own congregation, but by others also. Indeed, as he said to me in the beginning of his fatal sickness, he was called upon to do more work outside his parish than his strength allowed. The respect and esteem in which he was held by all classes of persons, young and old, was witnessed to at his funeral, by the wonderful concourse of people who not only filled the church, but lined the streets for a 'ung distance. He was kind hearted and affectionate in disposition, but stern and uncompromising where any principle was concerned. and loyal to his friendship he was equally true and unaffected in his religious life. Utterly destitute himself of all party feeling, he was tolerant of others, except when they appeared to him to be actuated by the spirit of party. He was a strong man, strong in his work, strong in his teaching. strong in his affections, and all because he was strong in his spiritual life. He rediatory powers.

—Ascension day! The day when we commemorate the historic fact of the glorifying of our Lord Jesus .- Ascension day! The day when we com-memorate the conclusion of the en-mity between man and God; when the reconciliation was seen to be complete; when a man, our eldest brother, our representative, the last Adam, was admitted to the innermost presence of Almighty God, never to be dissociated therefrom. Surely we should do well to revive the observance of that great festival which keeps in mind a most important article of our creed.

important article of our creed.

But Rogation days would seem to come home even to the less spiritually minded, as calling to prayer for the necessary crops of the earth so fully dependent upon the seasons. The observance of these days was continually insisted on not only in the Royal Injunctions, but also in the Visitation Articles of Pishops from Archhiston Articles of Bishops, from Archbishop Brethren of the Clergy and of the Laity:

In 1836 Bishop Wren of Nor-wich ordered the Psalm 176 to be said after the 103rd. The reason probably would be that the psalm is a psalm of blessing, "The Lord shall increase you gone to our rest, some poor widows more and more, and your children." were suddenly docked of half their more and more, and your children."

In reviewing the Episcopal Articles of Visitation to see how often the Ro-gation days were insisted on, I was much struck by the continual earnest-ness to enforce the Canon Law on marriage. The attempted alteration of the law which had the support of the can-onical flasco of the "Reformatio leg-um Ecclesiasticarum" may have ac-counted for this. But both before and after the Great Rebellion, the Visita-tion Articles call for the names of such further. This number is about evenly divided before and after the Great Re-

INCAPACITATED CLERGY FUND. Our dear brother, Jones Hanford, was the first, as I said, to show his appreciation of the importance of this fund by subscribing to it. When in 1882; I began to draw attention to this fund, I pointed out that the least we could aim at was to provide for eight pensions if required. At that time there was not enough to provide one pension of $400 a year. Something has been done since then. We are now providing four pensions, three of $400 and one of $200, and one pension is provided from the Tenison fund, so that five of our clergy are receiving pensions. urgent case which cannot be met at all, and one or two others have been makand one or two others have been making enquiries. Something should be this is a matter of trust, and careless done to increase the fund.

Some ten years ago the rural deans seem to have been in favor of taxing the clergy for the purpose; the scheme it for various reasons. The number of clergy is not sufficient to make this a success even from a pure business

Ten years ago I suggested a scheme of deferred annuities, by which a man when he reached 65 years of age might have an annuity of over $300 a year. This might be supplemented from our own fund and comparative comfort might be secured for our aged and incapacitated clergy. The suggestion was received with much favor by many, but failed to secure the adhesion of the majority at that time. in the rate of interest and other things since that time, but I would earnestly ask that a committee should be ap-pointed to investigate and report upon of the synod. WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' FUND. By order of the executive committee three reports connected with the Widcws' and Orphans' fund have been circulated, to which I would invite your early and earnest consideration. It is climate seemed for a while to offer at- a matter of extreme importance to the tractions, yet he was determined to clergy and so to the diocese; and, next no longer from your work, and may stay among us, and he ended his life, in value as it is, to the Incapacitated the Holy Spirit promised to us when and his ministerial work, in the dioful attention. Forty years ago I was working in the country districts of England, and associations, similar is kind to this, were very common at It was a great satisfiction to me that time. For twenty years or so they would flourish and then gradually they began to fail because of the claims made upon them, and then they became bankrupt. The distress caused by the failure of these association was so great that the government interfered, and an act of parliament was passed compelling them to be conducted upon strict business principles. Not only so, but every five years the whole accounts of each society had to be submitted to careful examination by one of the government actuaries, and if any alteration in the amounts paid in by the members was recommended by the actuary in consequence of some alteration in the circumstances, the mmendation had to be carried into effect. After fifteen years work in town I returned to country, and I found the beneficial sesuits of this act of parliament. I become treasurer of one such society, and it was my duty to submit the account of our financial position to the government actuary, who made a report which we were bound to follow.

This experience made me anxious about the Widows' and Orphans' fund, for the premiums seemed to me inadequate, and the subsidiary collections unreliable. If the collections had averunced thirty dollars I should have been wears. unreliable. If the collections had averaged thirty dollars I should have been content, but they have not realized one-fifth of that amount. I did not get a hearing until the regulations had to be changed into a canon.

Then in synod I explained my doubts and expressed a with the collections.

context, but they have not realized one-fifth of that amount. I did not get a hearing until the regulations had to be changed into a canon.

Then in synod I explained my doubts and expressed a wish that the whole position of the fund should be examined by an official actuary. The rules became a canon: but a committee, consisting of Governor Fraser and myself, was appointed to consult an actuary. The governor was not able to attend to the matter, and I could not act alone. But after he was taken from us I felt that the responsibility was mine; and when I went to England two years ago I consulted the actuary of one of the great insurance companies, Mr. Foot, whose report you have had sent to you.

This report is to a certain extent technical, and I thought that it should be considered by a committee before being presented to 'he synod; and it was placed at the disposal of the executive committee, who appointed a select sub-committee of four to consider and report. The reports of the majority and minority are in your hands, and I again invite for them your most careful consideration. It would be a terrible disaster, if when we had most careful consideration. It would be a terrible disaster, if when we had ed in the canon requiring that a pericompanied by a posse of boys with long sticks or wards, who "beat the bounds" at certain points, that the memory of man might testify to the canon requiring that a personal companied by a posse of boys with edical scrutiny of the position of the bounds" at certain points, that the canon requiring that a personal companied by a posse of boys with edical scrutiny of the position of the fund be made by some actuary not connected with the diocese, say every memory of man might testify to the the policies granted hereafter be liable In doing my best to accord with the to change in accordance to some extequest of the synod, it seemed well to tent at all events with his report.

THE REGISTRAR. If the canon on the registrar be confirmed this session, the present regis-trar feels unable to retain the position unless a salary be attached to the office. This is reasonable enough. The work which the canon requires is cona position to enforce the full requirements of the canon. There is no fire-proof storing room for safe custody of the records; and there are other requirements of the canon which cannot at present take effect. The lay members of the committee who drew the canon have taken great pains with it, and some day it will be of immense benefit to the diocese. If the canon be confirmed, I hope it will be under the distinct understanding that the registrar will not be held to be unfaithful to his duty, if the various provisions of the canon cannot at present be sible at the annual meeting of the carried into effect.

MANAGEMENT OF CHURCH LANDS AND FIINDS

Once more must I urge upon the members of the various church cor-porations to be careful in following the provisions of the law in leasing glebe lands, and in the investment of church and glebe moneys. If these are not attended to great loss may result. Where there are such lands and funds, care should be taken to ascertain the law and to carry itsout.

It must be remembered that a rec-tor is head of the corporation, and at least equally responsible with the other members. If therefore from easy neglect or careless inattention he allows moneys to be illegally invested, or misappropriated, he is thereby lessening not only his own income, but that of this successor, and is guilty of culpable chandling of trust money is a serious coffence in law. In such matters it senould even be clearly and definitely understood that friendship should not in the smallest degree be allowed to interfere with strict business. doubt, it is generally supposed that the clergy are not business like; and it may well be that a smaller proportion of them are of business habits, than of men of like education in other walks of This should make them more careful, lest they become the prey of designing men, or of needy speculat-

This feeling should make the clergy thankful that their responsibility in making investments is shared to a certain extent by someone outside the corporation itself. The often in the country there is some suspicion of a friendly or even a family com-pact, and it is well that investments must be sanctioned by the bisnop, who, if he be not himself a business who, if he be not himself a busing man, would prohably be wise end to consult one who might be reas an expert in the matter. This has theen spoken of before, and I am sorry to say must be spoken of again. Had it been attended to in some places great losses and distresses might have been avoided.

and now, brethren, I will detain you affect us here and hereafter.

REV. J. A. GORDON RESIGNS.

At the close of the regular weekly prayer meeting Friday in the Main street Baptist church the pastor, Rev. J. A. Gordon, tendered his resigna tion, in order to accept the pastorate of the First Baptist church in Mont-real. No action was taken on the resignation, and nothing can be done until a business meeting of the church is called. Mr. Gordon has been pastor of the church for six years, and the members that night expressed their deep regret at his decision.

TORRINGTON, Conn., July 8.—Heavy rains today, together with a small sized cloudburst this afternoon, completely flooded a suburb of this place called Lower Germantown, and the 400 residents were driven from their homes to higher ground. About 50 acres of land were covered three feet deep with water. All streams in this vicinity are swollen. It is raining tonight, but the water is receding.

The valued Telegraph is deeply concerned over the conduct of the "Tory reptile press" in connection with the election frauds in Ontario. The Telegraph alludes to those infamous proceedings as "alleged election irregu larities." The air of judicial call which pervades the sanctum of Dr. Hannay, who also describes the Yukon charges as "trivial," is in striking contrast to the fierce, partisan frenzy of the aforesaid reptile press. It is well, in these exciting times, that there is one among us who, from a serene and lofty height, surveys the seething world of political contention, and se a noble example of unbiased judgment, and of sublime contempt for the palace car of the paymaster.

AGRICULTURE IN NEWFOUND. LAND.

Resolutions authorizing the expenditure of $100,000 for the encouragement of agriculture were adopted last week by the Newfoundland house of assembly. It is to be paid in the form of a bounty to people for clearing and cultivating land. Before a license is issued the surveyor has to certify that the land is fit for cultivation. One half the bounty is paid upon certifying that the land has been cleared, and the balance when the crop is above ground. The sum of $25,000 was spent in this way last year, and the colonial secretary in his speech in the house the other day declared that good results followed the expenditure. The number of applicants for licenses is said to be increasing.

The Montreal Trade Bulletin charges that the railways are discriminating in rates against Canadian flour, in favor of American. It says: "This spring our railways have been booking American flour from Toledo to Montreal at 111-2c. per 100 lbs., while they charge Canadian flour from points west of Toronto 171-2c. to 19c. per 100 lbs. to Montreal. It is understood that the Corn Exchange will take the matter up, and present the case to parliament, as things have drifted into such an unfair and unbearable condition that Canadian flour is placed at a considerable disadvantage, as compared with the much more favorable rates accorded to American flour and other produce"

It was recently reported in the press that the Newfoundland government had notified master of American vessels that the Bait Act would be rigidly enforced against the French, and that if Americans assisted the French to obtain bait, the privileges at present accorded them would be withdrawn. Replying to a question in the house of assembly last week, Hon. Mr. Morine said there was no foundation for this Summer report.

The evening session was devoted wholly to home missions and edu tional matters.

The report of the educatio mittee was presented by Rev. N. A McNeill. In part it reported that the year's work at Wolfville was very satisfactory. The forward movement exceeded even the sanguine expectations of its promoters. In the college the echo the first sermon of the first work of the new members of the staff, Baptist, "Behold the Lamb of God." Profs. Jones and Haycock, was entirely satisfactory. In the seminary, Miss True, the principal, and Miss Crowell, Christ died for our sins, according to the vice-principal, have resigned, after the Scriptures that He was buried having given splendid work toward the and that He rose again according to order of business for the remainder of building up of that institution. Prof. F. R. Haley of Acadia spoke briefly, reviewing the work of the year in the different institutions, and presenting their claims upon the denomination. The advantages which Acadia has in the horticultural and manual training schools was touched upon and the special advantages of each of the different institutions were presented, as well as the progress which is yearly being made. Prof. I. B. Oakes of Horton Colle glate Academy, introduced by the moderator, endorsed the statements made by Prof. Haley. He made strong plea for an increased attend-ance. He believed that if 400 students could be obtained instead of the 300 naw attending, deficits would cease He strenuously defended the necessity for a denominational academy, citing in his defence the advantages which Horton had in particular. The home mission report was read by Rev. M. C. Higgins. Among other things it reported a greater interes being taken in this department, and dwelt especially upon the absolute necessisty of this work. It also recom mended that all possible means be put forth to advance the interest taken by the stronger churches in aiding the weaker; that prayer be fervently offered for the success of the work, and that as far as possible efforts be put

After prayer the meeting adjourned THE ANNUAL SERMON.

SUSSEX, July 9.-The associational sermon was preached before the Southern New Brunswick Baptists his afternoon in the Baptist church by Rev. J. A. Gordon of St. John. The rev. gentleman took as his text Matthew xix., 20: "What lack I yet," and Luke xviii., 22: "Tet lackest thou one thing." The subject was the question, Is morality, apart from the vicarious acrifice of Jesus Christ, a good round of hope, and if not, why is it

He said that the fact of lack is uniersally felt. The efforts made to upply this lack are varied and often satisfactory. The problems that infront us today are not novel. The solutions suggested for these problems are not original either. The question of our text was put by a model young man. The answer given to this ques-tion was delivered by the wisest teacher that ever lived. He empha-

of our text. In it are met the terr of morality and vicarious sacrific as freedom from the grosser forms of sin, and is what is called fair and honorable dealing with our fellow man. It is well to note that two acts may externally resemble each other, yet be the very antipodes of each other so far as their moral worth is concerned. In morality we include not merely the external act, but the that gives character to that act. Both law and equity recognize this dual character, and their penalles and rewards are awarded ac ingly. Morality as ordinarily define value, but only as the body is valuable through being permeated by life. Vicarious sacrifice, on the other hand, implies a standing in the place of another, "Who loved and gave Himself for me." This is not a new idea confined to the salvation of men, but is taught and illustrated in God's first ok, Nature. Every blade of grass that grows does so at the expense of the life of another. It is taught in God's second book, Man, the mother's life for her child. It is taught in God's third book, the revelation or the word, in its types, terms and teachings. From the blood of the sacrifice by Abel to the vision of John in the apocalypse of the lamb as it had been in in the midst of the throne.

The morality that igneres the vicari-is sacrifice by Jesus Christ is not only a poor ground for hope, but comtains the essence of sin against God. of sin, as such, is the real question oday. Life is a sacred trust, but Jesus Christ regarded His suffering and death as e goal of His being, which, if the element of vicariousness was absent would make Him a suicide. Moralit from the vicarious sacrifice would make Heaven impossible; its followers could not walk in the triumphal procession of those whos robes were made white in the blood of the Lamb, nor could they join in the doxology, "To Him who washed our sins in His own blood." In view of this, what are we, as ministers the gospel, to emphasize in our preaching? If we take the Word as our example, we emphasize the vicarious sacrifice of Christ. OIL AND WIND.

The following Moncton despatch to the Halifax Chronicle is chiefly re-markable for the skill with which it garnishes the fact that Premier Emmerson has interested Promoter Pearson in his oil boring development poly-

MONCTON, July 8.—Mr. B. F. Pearson of Halifax, and a representative of the Boston capitalists, were met in town today by the Hon. H. R. Emmerson, premier of New Brunswick, and Mr. M. Lodge.

Preliminary arrangements were at that meeting completed whereby active work connected with the mineral oil development in this district will be commenced.

The problem of interesting sufficient foreign capital to adequately exploit the territory has been solved, and it is new only a question of the determination by scientific oil experts as to the best location wherein to initiate the borings.

It is not generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact that these capitalists have already expended a considerable sum in maintaining field explorations, covering this and that too entirely at their own expense.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that it is an assured fact that the shale deposits in Albert county will be worked at once; but this has nothing whatever to do directly with the oil explorations.

The fact that Mr. B. F. Pearson, who successfully floated the Dominion Coal Co. project and recently the Sydney Steel Manufacturing andn Shipbuilding Co., is at the head of the promoting capitalists in the oil exploring, is almost of itself a guarantee that success is imminent.

The Boston representative returned this afternoon and Mr. Pearson also went to Halifax.

weather exodus from Boston and vicinity is on in earnest. The tide of travel eastward is heavy and in excess of last year. Those interested in the tourist business are watching with some concern the progress of the Do-minion Atlantic company's entrance on the Boston-St. John-Boston route. It is admitted that the D. A. R. will be the means of increasing travel to St. John, but at the same time there is a fear in Portland, the headquaters of the I.S. S. Co., that the latter line, extent. The new and fast steamer of the D; A, B, are, of course, an attraction to tourists, but in the freight traffic it is said the older company has nothing to fear, as in this it has a firm foothold. Some of the provincial amship men here claim that for three months in the year the tourist business ought to be large enough to insure a good liberal patronage to both The Boston and Maine railroad ficials cannot see that the new departure in the steamship business is making any difference with travel to the provinces by land. Several of the east-bound trains, it is asserted, have been so heavily laden this month that it was impossible on several occasions to maintain schedule time all the way to the New Brunswick line. On the whole, the general competition will certainly result in a heavier travel to that province.

The Clan-na-Gael organization in Boston, which has not been active for everal years, held a big rally here this week, at which resolutions this week, at which resolutions were adopted warning the citizens of Canada who have offered aid to Great Britain "to enforce on another people (the Boers) a measure which they would not tolerate in their own country, that their action may make a pre-cedent dangerous to themselves in the not 'emote possibility of trouble with-in their own borders." Just what these resolutions meant does not appear very clearly to the public. However, the Clan-na-Gael voted to send a copy of them containing "the warning," to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and that celebrated statesman is no doubt duly

The boom in the spruce market has evidently reached its high water mark for the present season. Trade is not quite as brisk as it was two weeks ago, and prices in some cases a shade easier, although no gen cral decline has taken place. Sev-eral large dealers insist that the prices fixed by mill men in the spring are not being lined up. It is difficult to quote prices at first hands, but agree ment quotations are the guiding fac-tor in the market. In the local trade spruce is held at $15.50 for frames nine inches and under, $17 for 12 inch frames, $13.50 for 2x3 and 2x4, $12 to 18 for merchantable boards, $14 to 15 for mill random and $22 to 22,50 for clear floorings. These prices are, of ccurse, above those paid the mills. Laths are in fair demand, with prices well sustained at $2.25 to 2.40 for 15-8 in., and $2 to 2.10 for 11-2 in. Clapboards are in light request and liberal supply. REPORT OF LITTLE GIRLS'

HOME. In submitting a report of the Little Girls' Home, your superintendent has little to relate to any changes in the

There are now eight inmates besides the matron and her two little daughters, two more children having been admitted to the shelter of the Home very recently. By an act of incorporation passed by the legislature last April, the Home has now a legally recognized standing which enables the union to obtain a stronger hold upon the children. Our citizens probably do not realize the way of escape this modest venture of the W. C. T. U. provides for many a neglected little one from the snare and temptations awaiting young girls. "Standing with reluctant feet.

Where the brook and river meet,

Womanhood and childhood fleet," We count upon the interest and prayers of every young mother as she gazes upon the unsullied light of innocence and truth in her darling's eyes, that the feet of these poor children may be led into the way of peace, and that we may see our feeble efforts their regeneration crowned with the divine blessing. Every member of the union should be informed of the ters were discussed at both morning faithful and indefatigable labors of our and afternoon sessions. A picnic dinsec'y-treas., Miss Hutchings.

We rejoice to tell of her quiet, uno tentatious, self-denying service for the Master, constantly visiting the Home. giving her personal attention to every difficulty that arises, often accompany ing a child to her destination who has been sent out for adoption, and offering the little ones the privileges of he own summer cottage on the St. John a vacation. What this summer outin means to these little girls can be imagined when we remember how closely they are confined to the precincts of the Home on Brussels street, seldom being permitted outside the door without the matron, except to attend the public school in the neighborhood. Having enjoyed a similar visit to Miss Hutchings last summer, they are look ing forward in happy anticipation to the fulfilment of her promise this year.

Last autumn the institution received considerable substantial help in the way of unsolicited help being sent in, as well as a sum of about sixty dol-lars from the sale of Mrs. Turnbull's booklet, Ripples on the St. John River, but of late our funds have fallen off, and we trust that all the members of the four unions will bear the Home God can "supply our needs according to His riches in glory," but He will be for he looks for a dependant and obedient attitude in His people.

We are indebted to several of the leading dry goods firms for generou donations of dress material, ette, etc., and to other kind friends for ready-made clothing, but what we need most is ready money to meet the current expenses—fuel, groceries and

This has, from the beginning, been "a work of faith and labor of love," and we feel sure that it will be maintained and carried on for the uplifting of yet many more waifs and strays of humanity. A. DAVIDSON,

JOHN WESLEY ON THE DRINK

CURSE. John Wesley, in preparing the general rules for his societies as early as 1743, inserted one prohibition, "buying or selling spirituous liquors or drinking them, unless in cases of extreme necesssity." He not only prepared this rule, but enforced it, for in one year he excluded from one of his societies seventeen members for drinking and two for retailing spirituous liquors. Frances Willard, though dead, yet speaketh. These are some of her stiring words: "Only those who have not studied history lose heart in great reforms; only those unread in the biography of genius imagine themselves to original. There is not a reform which some great soul had not dreamed of centuries ago.

God's world constantly acts before us images of vigour, of action, of power. Women need to study this; they need translating out of the passive into the active voice: out of aimless reverie and into resolute aim. The W. C. T. U. has no higher, no holier mission than to help bring this about."

ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

LONDON, July 6.—The liberal party gained two parliamentary seats today in the by-elections held in the "double-barrelled" constituency of Oldham, to fill the dual vacancy caused by the death last month of Robert Ascroft, conservative, and the subsequent resignation of his conservative colleague, J. F. Oswald, who has just been appointed by the chancellor of the exchequer to be steward and bailiff of the Manor of Northstead. The following are the results of the polls: Alfred Emmett, liberal and radical, 12,978; Malter Runciman, liberal and radical, 12,770; Winston Spencer Churchill, conservative, 11,477; J. W. Mawdsley, conservative, 11,449.

S. S. PRINCE ARTHUR

On Her Trial Trip Met La Grande Duchesse.

They Raced for Eight Miles-The Prince Crossed the Duchesse's Bow Beyond Boston Light-Made Twenty Knots an Hour.

The new Dominion steamer Prince Arthur, owned by the Dominion Atlantic Railway company, made a trial trip down the harbor yesterday afternoon making a record for herself and winning a signal victory for her owners. She raced for eight miles with La Grande Duchesse of the Plant S. S. line, and won without effort by five lengths. It was one of the prettiest contests between ocean greyhounds, and was as thrilling to those who witnessed it as any 'varsity boat race could be.

The race began at the narrows, as the Duchesse was pulling out of the harbor for Halifax. The Prince Arthur gave her a length's start. It was a fair and square race, but the Dominion boat, with speed of twenty knots. to the hour, rapidly slipped by her adversary, and two miles beyond the Boston lightship crossed the bow of the Duchesse and circled completely

The race lasted just fifteen minutes. but it was enought to demonstrate the capabilities of the new boat. The Dominion Atlantic company now has the fastest boat coming into Boston.

GIVEN ROYAL RECEPTION. A large number of guests accompan ied the Prince Arthur on the trip, including some of Boston's most prominent men. She steamed out from he dock precisely at 2.30 o'clock, and every boat and tug in the harbor blew their whistles in salute as she came down the bay. She was decked from her bow to her stern in her signal flags, and they fluttered triumphantly in the breeze. A more ideal day for the trip could not have been chosen.

The ship steamed out through the narrows, and made straight for the Boston Light, going out five miles beyond. She then turned back, making for the narrows again, where she waited for La Grande Duchesse. On the return the Mallory liner, the Comal, was sighted. She was taken for the Duchesse by those on board, and all crowded to the starboard side to watch her. Much disappointment was expres-sed when her identity was learned.

At 5.10 the Duchesse was seen coming out. The Arthur circled and came along side on the port side. The Arthur was a length ahead, but slowed down her engines and dropped a length behind. Then the race began.

THE IMPROMPTU CHALLENGE. The Duchesse was on her regular trip north and had 700 passengers aboard. Cheers went up from both ships and the two vessels bounded forward, cutting the water like torpedoes, and leaving a foaming wake behind. At first the Arthur gained perceptibly, then the Duchesse spurted, and for a few seconds the two boats were bow to bow. When the Boston light ship was reached the Arthur was almost three lengths in the lead. She passed to the starboard of the light and the Duchesse to the port. Two miles beyond the Arthur, five lengths in the lead, slowly crossed her adversary's bow and circled around her. A wild cheer went up from her deck and her whistle sounded three times. The Duchesse responded to the salute and the Arthur replied with her "siren." At 7.30 o'clock she warped up to her

DESCRIPTION OF THE VESSEL The Prince Arthur is a magnificent steamer, and identical with the Prince George in every respect. She has been built expressly to the order of the Dominion Atlantic Railway company by Earle's Shipbuilding company (limited) of Hull, Eng., under the superintendence of Messrs. Flannery, Baggallay and Johnson of London and Liverpool, and is of the following dimensions: Length, 290 feet; breadth, 38 feet; and depth (moulded to main deck), 17 feet 6 inches, with a complete awning deck There are also on it large deckhouses of steel extending nearly the A silence that could be felt was follow whole length of the vessel, the roofs of these being carried to the ship's side so as to form a shelter for passengers as well as a platform for the boats.

The forward part is protected from the wash of the sea by a turtle back of steel. The ship is built of steel to Lloyd's requirements, and under special survey, with considerable addi tions to the scantlings required by the

As the ship is intended primarily for express traffic, almost the whole available space has been appropriated to passenger accommodation. Amidships, under the awning deck, is the dining saloon, a spacious apartment designed for 100 passengers.

The sides are panelled in polished light and dark oak of a very handsome design and are very sumptuously upholstered to match. Forward of the saloon is a ladies' boudoir and toilet room, both very handsome and commodious apartments.

The remainder of the main deck is occupied by state rooms, both rooms, lavatories, pantries and all necessary conveniences, store room and officers and crew's quarters, all of which are arranged very elaborately, and in a handsome and luxurious style. Similar dation is also provided under the main deck, forward and aft. ing berths is 340. Comfortable accommodations are also provided in the forward 'tween decks for forty-four

THE SAGAMORE And the Reporter Talk About a Bad Breeze and Other Evils.

"Mr. Paul," said the reporter, "they lave a very bad Sunday law in Prince "We'll fix it," quoth the sagamore. 'Whose been workin' over there on

"You remember," said the reporter, 'that a barge went ashore at Miscouche last fall. A party contracted to get the vessel off. Tugs and derricks and that sort of thing were set at work and a great host of barrels fixed around the hull to float her off at high tide. Last Sunday a powerful wind went over to Miscouche and fin-ished the job. Now, I submit that a wind which works on Sunday, to put money in a contractor's pocket, ought to have a string around its neck and be tied up in the moose yard at Rockwood park.

"It's very bad wind," said Mr. Paul. "And a very lax state of affairs on the island to permit such a wind to go at large," said the reporter.

"That's so," said the sagamore.

"Only things ought to be done on Sunday is load steamships in the harbor, run street cars all day, and have steamers go up and down St. John river on Sunday so preachers kin git to places where they want to preach.
If I catch some man giving cup of tea to ladies in park tomorrow, I hit him with this axe handle. Perhaps he stole that tea from police station?" And the sagamore winked his other eye as he called up telephone No. 157.

IRISH CHANNEL TUNNEL

"Me detective now.

Mr. Balfour Will Lay the Matter Before Hi Colleagues in the Government.

LONDON, July 7.-Arthur B. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, received this afternoon a large delegation at the foreign office regarding the pro-posed tunnel under the Irish channel. The delegation included the Marquis of Londonderry, Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford and Lord Edmond Fitzmaurice.

Lord Londonderry said that the delegation simply asked the approval of the government, and when the tunnel was constructed a government guarantee of three per cent. on the outlay, or a promise to make up a deficiency to that amount. He said it was estimated that the work would cost £10,-

Mr. Balfour said that he and promised with pleasure to lay the matter before his colleagues, which the delegation suggested he should do.

A DRAMATIC SCENE.

(Chatham World) Bishop Kingdon, in addition to his great business capacity, talent for organization, and pulpit eloquence, possesses histrionic ability of so high an order that he would have won fame on the stage if he had chosen to be an actor instead of a clergyman. His response to the vote of thanks passed by the synod, at the close of its session here, was a masterpiece in its way. His Lordship simply related that once, in speaking to him of a similar vote, the beloved and revered Archdeacon Brigstocke had said: "That was not a formal vote; your clergy love you." Then letting his head drop, while his color grew deeper and he seemed to be struggling to repress tears, he stood in silence for a minute, and then abruptly exclaimed: "I hope it is so." It had a magical effect on the synod. It was a dramatic scene. ed by an outburst of applause, and many eyes were moist.

Dr. A. B. O'Neill of St. Joseph's college, Memramcook, is the guest of his brother, J. O'Neill, Main street. Miss Harriet S. Olive and Miss Emily Mc-Avity, who have been pursuing their studies at Harvard, are home for the summer.

Live Stock Classes- An important addition has been made in the horse classes. The new "Class 6" is for: Carriage Horses-And is open to all 'carriage and light harness horses"age, weight and height not considered. As this is a special class, horses that have been entered in other classes, and may win prizes, will not be debarred from competing for prizes in this class. We have good reasons for beliaring that the catalog in this will be numerous, and that it will form one of the principal attractions of the exhibition; as the horses will be driven daily through the grounds in fancy Draught Competitions - Prizes will also be awarded for draught competitions both for herses and oxen. This should also prove attractive. The prize winners will form a portion of the parade.

Buttermaking Competitions-Instead of the working dairy of former years, a buttermaking competition, open to all, will take place in the dairy depart-ment, on three afternoons. Valuable prizes will be awarded to the five competitors making the highest aggregat score. We look for keen con and expect to find a large attendance of visitors to witness the contests.

Special New Brunswick Competiions. In view of the success attending the exclusively New Brunswick competitions of last year, the executive committee, with the approval of the governor in council, have offered prizes for New Brunswick grain and fruit. These are in addition to prizes for similar products offered to the world, and are offered with a view to stimulating our New Brunswick fruit growers and farmers.

Natural History-We have again invited our foremost workers in the nat-ural history field to assist in presenting an exhibition of specimens, collected within the province, with a view of ilwithin the province, with a view of illustrating our agricultural, horticultural and mineral wealth, as well as showing the injurious insects and weeds which have today to be fought. It is also hoped that an interesting live fish exhibit may be urranged for. Exhibition Freight—The C. P. railway has renewed its liberal freight arrangements of the past two years, and some of the other freight carriers of the other freight carriers agreed to the same arrangements. We are negotiating with the I C. R. on the subject of freights. Terms are offered, which are an improver are offered, which are an improvement of last year, but not nearly so good as we had hopes would be granted. The matter is still open for consideration. Answers from freight carriers are still coming in. We hope to have them all in time for insertion in our prize book. Advertising—We are advertising our xhibition in the newspapers in this province and also in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. Provincial and city grants were secured at a very re-cent period, and therefore we are behind hand in issuing our posters and Machinery Hall-We have had some difficulty in securing engine power for machinery hall, but feel that we have ceeded, although not to such an extent as would warrant us in undertaking to light the building from power supplied in our buildings. A number of applications have been received for space to exhibit in the hall. Usually we have applications at a late period, and we have no doubt that it will be so this year.

Light-We have asked the St. John Railway Co. to tender for lighting our buildings and grounds. We ask for more light than in former years, particularly on our grounds, where we propose to have evening attractions. Soon after the disastrous fire, public opinion compelled some efforts to be made in the direction of securing necessary legislation, which would make part of the relief fund of '77 available for present use. Public opinion has not changed, but at present it is not expressing itself, and everything seems to conlinue as before, so far as the fund is concerned. But the urgent need of help remains. A few dollars now would be worth three or four times as many six months hence. If a few thousand dollars were carefully distributed by a wisely chosen committee, without applicants being compelled to appear personally and plead absolute poverty, this would be true Christian states manship. Is it possible to do anything without further delay?

CORNWALLIS, N. S., July 5.-Your cor CORNWALLIS, N. S., July 5.—Your correspondent has recently made a visit to Windsor, N. S., and has gleaned the following facts, which may be of interest:

The town, which was burnt up one year ago last October, has rebuilt itself in a remarkable manner. The academy building which also contains an assembly hall, is built of brick at a cost of thirty thousand dollars. The Catholic church is built of stone, and is a handsome structure. The Baptist church is a large building and a costly one. The Presbyterian church, of which the corner stone was laid on the nineteenth of June, and the Methodist church are being built. The Commercial bank and Bank of Nova Scotia, the court house, and post office are of brick.

The cotton factory, which is run by a company in Ontario, employs a hundred people.

what is known as the Windsor Forks, near Upper Falmouth. Two years ago a slulceway was built which is four and a half miles in length and runs from the Forks to Sangster's bridge. Mr. Cahoon of Black Brock. Kings county, is foreman. Fifty-two men are employed in the mill. At present they are turning out forty-five thousand feet of lumber a day. The lumber is sent to South America and Hayana. The ship Marion is now being loaded with deals for England. A police station, which it is expected will cost seven thousand dollars, is to be built in Windsor this summer.

James Woolaver captured a shark in his weir at Mill Creek last week which weighed something like two thousand pounds and which was twenty feet in length.

HALIFAX, N. S. July 7.—Never hefore in the history of Halifax was there so big a crowd in the city coupcil chamber as that which assembled cil chamber as that which assembled tonight. People expected a sensation, and they were not altogether disappointed. Mayor Hamilton had said at a previous meeting that Ald. Redden was the "head of a gang of boodlers, who had been in the council long enough." The meeting tonight was called to deal with this statement on a resolution introduced by Ald. Red-den asking the mayor to specify his charges, or otherwise that the government be asked to appoint a commission to investigate the charge.

Mayor Hamilton explained that Ald. Redden had spoken impertinently, to him, and he had used the word "boodler" hastily. As to the meaning of the word, he confessed he could not ex-actily define it. The explanation was accepted, but Ald. Redden's resolution still stands on the order paper.

Ald. Hubley was also after the mayor in a similar way on another charge, but in this case his worship came out on top. He declined to make any explanation. Hubley then started in to talk in a way that Mayor Ham ilton thought improper, and the police were ordered to remove the alderman. This the officer refrained from doing, and Hubley kept on talking, but his feelings were not assuaged by any re-traction of what Mayor Hamilton had said or any explanation of the statements he had made. RIFLE SHOOTING IN THE ACTIVE MILITIA.

Editor Canadian Miltary Gazette: Sir-In your issue of June 6, just to hand, appears an article giving the personnel of the team that will repre-sent the Canadian militia at Bisley during the coming meeting. The team, which consists of 20 members (not including the commandant and adju-tant), I find is composed of 12 officers, 5 non-commissioned officers and 3 privates. This preponderance of com sioned officers on the team revives a feeling that I have had for a number of years (and which feeling I know is shared by hundreds of militiamen throughout the Dominion), that it is about time a radical change was made in the conduct of the different rifle associations, provincial and dominion. ciations are, we are led to These associations are, we are led to believe, formed and fostered with the avowed purpose of encouraging and promoting efficient rifle shooting amongst the "rank and file" of the militia of Canada. With this object in view, large sums of money are annually voted by both provincial and dominion governments, and handsome prizes are donated by public spirited citizens. What are the results? Is by these competitions to become pro-ficient in using the weapon with which he is armed? Is our militia made more efficient? I say emphatically not A glance at the list of prizemen at A glance at the list of prizemen at any association meeting will bear out my statements; you will find "Major So-and-So," "Captain This," "Lieutenant That" and "Staff-Sergeant What's isname" on every page, but very seldom "Private Tommy Atkins." This state of things has gone on for years, with the natural result that the "rank and file" are discouraged and disgusted. The annual meetings of provincial and dominion rifle associations, instead of being filled with eager and enthusiastic young shots, men who are exiastic young shots, men who are expected to use the rifle when called upon to defend their country, are patronized year after year by the old familiar "pot hunters," and by officers who should not be entitled to the benefit of these meetings. The blame lies entirely with the councils of associations, and I would suggest for their serious consideration the following 1. That no officer be allowed to copete in matches with N. C. O. and m. 2. Encourage by every means p. sible young and promising shots.

5. Restrict Bisley team to N. C. O. and men, active militia of Canada.

The whole matter is a very serious one for the militia, and I trust that others may be induced to give their views on the subject.

COMPENING FOR BUSLEY. The question of revising the rules for making up the Bisley team should receive the earnest consideration of the council of the Dominion Rifle Association. A team of 20, made up of 12 officers, some of whom are not even combatant officers, and three sergeants, cannot be considered satisfacory to the rank and file of the militia who would have to do the shooting in action. The council of the association would do much to encourage rifle nooting by restricting the number of officers on the team to, say, five, and The arrangement at present existing for pooling the winnings also needs rethe actual winner out of prize before it is turned into the pool to be divided among the 20 composing the team. At present, the actual prize-winner reour "Tommy Atkins" encouraged to compete for these prizes? Is he helped the militia should have by these competes. What the militia should have is more rifle shooting under service corditions, and greater attention paid to young shots.
There should also be some restriction as to the number of times a man may become a member of the team. Lieut. Ogg has been over ten times, Capt. Wilson five, Capt. Cartwright four, Major Ross and Lieut. Blair three. LUMBER SHIPMENTS.
