Canada's Greatest Need.

Canada's greatest need is a manhood the loftiest and purest purposes, the firm determination to achieve more man. The final test of a man's greatness is not strong armies, nor vast wealth, nor wide empire, nor vast wealth, nor wide empire, nor vast wealth, nor wide empire...

OBITUARY

PERCY NORMAN LEE.

The sympathy of many citizens went out to Charles H. Lee, manager of the North End branch of the Bank of New Brunswick, in the death of his eldest son Percy Norman Lee, who died of typhoid fever and complications yesterday in the 17th year of his age.

The body will be taken to the church tomorrow morning, when a requiem service of the Holy Eucharist will be held, and the body watched by his brother members of the guild until 10 o'clock, when the funeral services begin. Telegraph 26th.

MRS. PRISCILLA CORNING.

The death took place at the General Hospital last night of Mrs. Priscilla Corning, aged 25 years. She had been undergoing treatment and remained in the city about a week ago.

REDEEMED 15 YEARS

MR. OZIEL ROUNDS, Agent of Welland and Relief in Pe-ru-na.

Dr. Oziel Rounds, Welland, Ont., a tired lumberman and a resident of Pe-ru-na for half a century, writes: "For fifteen years prior to 1901 I was suffering from dyspepsia and chronic urticaria. I grew weak and emaciated and was tormented with insomnia. I was treated by eminent physicians but, if anything, was worse than ever. I was in as miserable a condition as a man could be. However, I chanced to try Ferron's and noticed an improvement. Thus encouraged, I continued, and after taking several bottles of your precious medicine, I was entirely well and a woman to myself and friends. If, at my advanced age, 83 years, I have obtained such good results from your medicine, how many years of needless suffering are there no doubt of the efficacy of the treatment of your medicine."

Is Your Back Weak?

When the back drags and aches, lame over the spine—when there is a constant headache and constant ailment, make water, beware of sick kidneys. Neglected, this condition develops weakness and soon you'll be unable to work. The one remedy you can rely on is Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Every symptom of disordered kidneys they cure by removing the cause. You improve immediately, day by day you will experience benefit from Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Best for the kidneys, liver and stomach. Sold by all dealers.

The sardine season is practically at an end, after a fairly good season. There is a good demand for the manufactured article, and but few are reported in storage. With the ending of the packing season, the manufacture of boneless herrings in the next industry to receive attention. The inquiries for this stock are increasing, which indicates an early advance in the price, now rather low. It is thought that the boneless herring industry will prove the source of considerable employment this winter as the demand for the goods increases from year to year. In the clam market, only fair inducements are held out to shippers. The Eastport factory of Underwood & Co. will furnish an outlet for the bulk of clams dug in this vicinity during the winter, and there is a possibility that Burnham & Morrill or other parties will conduct a clam packing plant in town during the winter months. In short, the prospect for a prosperous winter looks good. Lube Herald.

Peculiar Weakness in Women

Many women suffer untold torture from nervous debility arising from disorders of the feminine organs. Day by day they grow worse. A false sense of modesty prevents them using a good remedy like Ferron's, and it would cure them. Lost nerve force is brought back—new vital energy is supplied—irregularities disappear. Ferron's does restore weak pale women. For those who suffer and find work hard to bear nothing supplies the health and vitality that Ferron's so surely brings. Guaranteed free from alcohol and sure to cure. 50c. at all dealers.

Enormous Cost of Future War.

If you are looking for a good concrete example of how science is making war and more costly here it is. Torpedoes themselves are each worth a fortune. But motorize will probably cost $25,000 a half hour for a torpedo boat. It is only to be expected at the supreme moment, other fuel is used under ordinary circumstances. The critical moment it will give the torpedo boat and the torpedo a value 100 times greater than an express train—at a tremendous cost. But balance the cost, large as it sounds, the life, almost certain, less deadly the are. The reason is not far to seek. The range of your guns, for instance, and you simply double the distance between the fighting lines. The more the range is from the man, the safer is the man target. In the explosive force of shells and shrapnel, and the strength and resistance of armor plate are increased to a point where the cost of a single shell is $100,000. The cost of a single shell is $100,000. The cost of a single shell is $100,000.

After all, it is really money more than that counts nowadays in war. The deadliest of man-killing devices are made of wire and more impossible than ever because they are dollar-killing. Universal peace is the product of the invention perhaps more than of the clergyman.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak stomach if one goes at it correctly. And his is true of the Heart and Kidneys, the old fashioned way of dosing the stomach or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is surely wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the only medicine that does this. Each inside organ has its own "nerve" or "inside nerve." When these nerves fail then those organs must surely die. This vital truth is leading drug stores everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. A few days test will surely tell! Sold by all dealers.

New York, Nov. 26.—Seven weeks were required by the schooner Methuensec, which arrived here today, to travel from Vinal Haven, Maine to this port, a journey usually made in seven days. The delay was caused by the shifting of a huge granite monolith, weighing 42 tons, two of which made up the entire cargo. The monoliths were too large to be put into the schooner's hold, so they were loaded on the deck and lashed into place. Heavy weather was encountered off Point Judith, R. I., and one of the big blocks of stone broke from its fastenings, nearly causing the schooner to capsize. By the united effort of the crew, the monolith was again fastened in position and the trip resumed. One sailor had a leg broken during the struggle to replace the stone and was taken ashore at Point Judith. The two monoliths are the second largest ever quarried and will be used in the office building being erected on the site of the old Fifth Avenue Hotel here. The columns measure 30 feet in length and are about six feet square.

International Fish Commission.

The international fish commission composed of Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of the Leland Stanford University, and Prof. E. E. Prince of Ottawa, Canada, the new representative of the Dominion, with their secretaries, have been at the Holland House, New York, the greater part of the week putting the finishing touches on their report, which are to form the basis of joint new laws to govern fishing in waters along the boundary line. It will be recalled that last April a treaty was concluded between the State Department and the British Government which provided for the appointment of commissioners to go over the various disputes between Canada and the United States in the matter of fishing rights and recommend legislation which should be corrective of present conflicting statutes. Last July Dr. Jordan was appointed the commissioner of the United States and at about the same time the Hon. S. T. Bastedo was chosen on behalf of Canada. Soon after their appointment, Dr. Jordan and Mr. Bastedo, starting at Eastport, Me., traveled clear across the continent, along the boundary line, taking notes and hearing testimony as to the rights and needs of fishermen. Almost on the eve of the completion of their labors Mr. Bastedo received the appointment of the Canadian commissioner of fisheries, and retired from all further collaboration on the fisheries. He was succeeded by Prof. Prince. Although Prof. Prince is an expert in all matters pertaining to fisheries, the sudden change, naturally enough, has not conducted to rapidity of procedure. He has had to pick up the threads of the work. To the inquirer of a Gazette representative it was said that progress was being made nevertheless. What may be called tentative statutes have been prepared, which may be more or less modified as criticisms and suggestions are received from the various state fish and game commissioners and others.

Dr. Jordan interrupted the conference on Thursday by making a flying trip to Washington for legal consultation. On his return Friday, the sessions were resumed. Practically all the testimony is in, but a vast array of facts remain to be classified. While no positive information is given out at this time, it is understood that the commissioners, among other things, contemplate a season on sturgeon.

A Long Drink.

Some of the great transcontinental engines take on 8,000 gallons, or 245 barrels, of water to be turned into steam for the next run of two hours, or about sixty miles. But such a vast amount of water is a burden, and new supplies are desired oftener. It is a loss of time to stop and let such vast quantities come aboard through a pipe; hence, some way of taking water while rushing at full speed is desirable. It has been found. How?

If you make a scoop of your hand and swing it swiftly, the hollow side forward, into water some of it will be likely to spurt up your sleeve. That is nature's hint. Follow it up. Find a level place in the road and put down an iron trough four inches deep, fourteen inches wide and one-eight of a mile long. The engine comes raking along and, having passed the end, drops a scoop into this trough. There is a general splutter of water, but a tremendous stream rushes up the sleeve of the dropped hand and falls into the water tank. When it is full the fireman raises the scoop or it glides up the slope at the far end of the trough, and the engine is watered for the next run. Epworth Herald.

Womanly Wisdom.

Lift up! Give a word of good cheer! Lend a hand and make the world better for your having had a place in it.

Rest your weary bones by having a chair in the kitchen to sit in while doing the work you can do in that way.

If blankets are rather too short sew a piece of stout muslin or Canton flannel to one end of the "tuck in."

You can spoil your nice china by washing it in water that is too hot. Have the water fairly warm. Use a bit of soap and you are alright. No cracked china then.

Don't try to do your dusting without dry cloth. That only sets the particles of dust flying everywhere. Dampen your cloth and rinse it out in clear water, once in a while.

Rice usually looks clean when it comes from the store; but wash it in clean water and you will see that it is far from being so. Keep on washing till the water is clear, then cook.

To get rid of ants in your pantry lay some rinds on the shelves, or smear a saucer with lard and set it there over night. In the morning these will be found covered with ants which may be scalded with boiling water, and the traps set again. In a few days every ant will disappear.

Our old subscribers must know our pet dried beef recipe by heart, but we want the new ones to learn it. For every twenty pounds of beef, take one pint of salt, one teaspoonful of saltpeter, quarter of a pound of brown sugar. Divide these ingredients into three equal parts and rub them well into the beef on three successive days. Lay in an earthen or porcelain vessel, and turn each day in the brine it will make. At the end of the week hang it to dry. From Farm Journal.

Condemned by Physicians

Unscrupulous dealers often prepare corn remedies with caustics and acids. Refuse such and insist on Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It's purely vegetable, safe and sure.

Dr. Mahlmas reports that he has had twenty seven cases during the typhoid fever epidemic that has been prevailing this fall, with but four deaths. This shows a little better than 85 per cent. of recoveries, or a loss of 15 per cent. Two of this number died from severe hemorrhages while two died from extreme weakness of heart. Out of the 27, 21 were found in that portion of the town known as Brownville and the Dewey Alley. The spaces traversed would not exceed 500 yards in either direction. Lube Herald.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE ARTIST AND THE MAID

Judith looked solemnly at the mossy roof of timber and the dainty pink linen frock which was spread across the top of the massive pillars. Then she turned her gaze toward the window and beheld with disgust the dusty country roads, the sun glared, and a few crows.

"It's a shame," she murmured resentfully, "to think that I've got to spend the rest of my summer here, with no one to see my new frocks but the chickens."

She glanced curiously at the large out-of-fashion picture which hung on the dresser. "What Mary," she rejoined, "even if you have money, I can't see how you expect me to give up my holidays at Saratoga just to visit in this stupid old place."

Then the enormity of the thing struck her very foolishly, for she collapsed in a trembling heap on the floor and sobbed out her misery.

Now Judith was exceedingly young and when one is young and strikingly pretty and has accumulated plans, as well as pretty frocks, for a lively summer, the unexpected change to a deserted country farm is particularly inviting. Even at this moment Judith could imagine her friends playing a set of tennis at the hotel grounds or canoeing down the river. Oh, it was unbearable!

Suddenly she sprang up and wiped away her tears. She would go for a walk and wear the new linen. Very carefully she arranged the soft brown hair and then slipped gaily into the pink frock. With a smile of satisfaction she placed the dainty leghorn hat upon her head and, gathering up the pink parasol, sped down the stairs. There she encountered her aunt, who looked at her in surprise.

"Are you going calling, Judith?" she asked mildly.

"No, I'm going for a walk," the girl said, desperately.

Aunt Mary Holmes's eyebrows went up. Hitherto Judith had been satisfied with her girlish dress, and she knew the girl to have an aversion for walking in the heat of the day on the barren roads. "But Aunt Mary desisted from remarks and Judith passed out of the house."

Very deliberately she contemplated the scenery, and then turned to the right, in the direction of the sand pits. It was warm and muggy, and she began to regret her walk, but nevertheless she strolled slowly on. She had almost reached the first sand pit when suddenly, without a moment's warning, there was an omher as far as her aunt's home and then left her, but not before extracting a promise for her to come again soon to the sand pits.

Judith's heart was much lighter the next day, and she dressed with scrupulous care that afternoon. Surely enough, he was there when she arrived and she dropped gently upon the ground and watched him depicting the scenery about them. When he accompanied her home that day she led him into the house and introduced him to her aunt.

"John Farrington," her aunt had said in pleasing surprise. "Surely it is not Maria Farrington's son?"

John Farrington's face lit up brightly. "I am her son," he said. "Did you know my mother?" and then the two discussed his mother while Judith slipped away to her room to change her frock.

After that John Farrington was a frequent and welcome visitor, and the two weeks sped by all too swiftly. It was one night when he was visiting there that Judith slipped away to the hammock which hung in front of the house. She threw herself into it and lay contemplating the stars above her. Suddenly there was a light step and John Farrington stood smiling down at her.

Neither spoke for a moment and then Farrington said abruptly, "I wanted to tell you that I'm leaving tomorrow for New York."

"Leaving?" Judith echoed, sitting up quickly.

"Was," the man said. "I received word today that if I would come there immediately I would receive a contract for a large amount of illustrating which will mean something to me."

Judith sighed. "I suppose I ought to be glad you're going to have the chance," she said slowly, "but it will be lonesome."

Farrington leaned over her suddenly. "Will you miss me?" he asked earnestly.

Judith looked at him frankly. "You know I will," she said, without a trace of coquetry in her tones.

"Judith I have arranged (perhaps I have been overbold in this) for you to go to Saratoga for the remainder of the summer. You see, I explained some things to your aunt here, he struck out more boldly, "I told her of your sacrifice and—and that I loved you and meant to ask you to marry me."

"I beg pardon," Judith gasped. "I didn't know that there was any one around."

The young man's eyes winked and with much difficulty he shifted his camp stool and doffed his soft felt hat. "The woods are as much yours as they are mine," he said, pleasantly.

"Of course," began Judith, stily.

But the man interrupted her. "I beg your pardon," he said, glancing up at the fearful heavens, "but don't you think we might take shelter under that shed there?" And he indicated with a sweep of his hand a rickety open-sided shed which had been built for watering the cattle.

Judith was perplexed and the man, seeing her undecided look, said quickly: "Of course, it's rather an unusual thing to do, but there is no sense in both of us being drenched because of Madam Grundy."

"My name," he continued, "is John Farrington, artist, resident of New York, at present occupying a room at Farmer Brown's home—and at your service." He finished with a low, sweeping bow.

Judith laughed and then extended her hand with a mock gravity. "I am delighted to meet you, Mr. Farrington," she said. "My name is Judith Chambers, and like yourself, I am also from New York."

After his greeting he turned and gently removed the parasol from her arm. "And now, Miss Chambers," he said, "that we've been properly introduced, won't you go over out of the rain?"

And with a smile Judith assented. It was surprising how well she got acquainted in such a very short time and long before the rain ceased and the sun once more came forth, Judith had confided in him how she had given up her summer at Saratoga to visit with her aunt, and Farrington had told her the reason for his visit—there was to be a sketch of the sand pits for a new book which he was illustrating. He walked with

Snap Shots at Celebrities

The death of Bishop Potter has removed one of the most interesting figures in American church life. Here is a good story of the Bishop. One day, as he was waiting for a train at a small country station, he was approached by a rustic passenger who had been scanning his features seriously for a while. "Excuse me, sir," said the stranger, "but your face somehow seems familiar to me. Haven't I seen your portrait in the newspapers?" The Bishop smiled benignly, and replied that it was not unlikely. "I thought so," continued the other, "and would you mind telling me what you were cured of?"

CREAM
NOW

There never was a better time to buy the best of Cream Separators than right now.

The advantages derived from the use of the good Cream Separator are greater in the fall and winter than at any other time—when the cows are old in lactation, the loss of butter-fat is otherwise greatest, and butter prices are highest.

Likewise are the advantages of the superior DE LAVAL separators greatest over imitating separators when the milk is hard to separate and the weather cold and variable.

In every case a DE LAVAL separator, of suitable size, will surely at least save its cost between now and July 1st next, and go on returning 100 per cent. per year on the investment for twenty years to come.

The agricultural and particularly the dairying outlook was never brighter and more promising.

Young Men and Marriage

A young man meets a pretty face in the ball room, falls in love with it, courts it, marries it, goes to house-keeping with it and boasts of having a home and a wife to grace it. The chances are nine to ten that he has neither. He has been "taken in and done for!" Her pretty face gets to be an old story, or becomes faded or freckled or fretted, and as the face was all he wanted, all he paid attention to, all he sat up with, all he bargained for, all he swore to love, honor and protect, he gets sick of his trade, knows of a dozen pretty faces he likes better, gives up staying at home evenings, consoles himself with cigars and politics and looks upon his home as a very indifferent boarding house.

Another young man becomes enamored of a "fortune." He waits upon it to parties, dances a polka with it, exchanges "billet doux" with it, pops the question to it, gets accepted by it, takes it to the parson, weds it, calls it "wife," carries it home, sets up an establishment with it, introduces it to his friends and says he is too married and has a home. It is false. He is not married; he has no home. And he soon finds it out. He is in the wrong box, but it is too late to get out of it; he might as well try to get out of his coffin. His friends congratulate him and he has to grin and bear it.

If a young man would escape these sad consequences, let him shun the rocks upon which so many have been shipwrecked. Let him disregard wholly all considerations of wealth, beauty, external accomplishments, fashion, connections in society, and every other mere selfish and worldly end and look into the mind and heart of the woman he thinks of marrying. If he cannot love her for herself alone—that is for all that goes to make up her character as a woman—let him disregard every external inducement and shun a marriage with her as the greatest evil to which he could be subjected. And if he has in him a spark of virtuous feeling—if he has one unselfish and generous emotion—he will shun such a marriage for the woman's sake also, for it would be sacrificing her happiness as well as his own.

Lost His Voice Entirely

Mr. J. H. Woods, of Point Rock, Ontario Co., N. Y., had a hard experience. "A bad attack of Catarrh settled in my forehead and the pain over my eyes was so intense I thought my head would burst. My voice grew very hoarse and I coughed every night, and through the winter could scarcely speak. My voice was gone. Two doctors didn't help me at all. The next doctor ordered 'Catarrhazone.' It cured me and now many others here use it also. My doctor says he doesn't know anything so good for Catarrh and Throat Trouble as 'Catarrhazone.' Use it to-day, you're better tomorrow. 25c. and $1.00 at all dealers. Try Catarrhazone."

Wedding Etiquette

When a bride is married in a traveling dress, the number of bridesmaids should be limited to one.

If the bride goes off on her wedding journey right from the church, friends do not expect to be invited to a reception.

Only the nearest relatives and a few intimate friends receive invitations to the reception, if it is to be a small one.

The bridal bouquet may be dispensed with and a prayer-book carried or not, as desired.

There is no rule against either bride or bridesmaid carrying a bouquet; whether they do or not is merely a matter of personal inclination on their part.

The custom of proposing healths at the wedding breakfast, or tea, has almost died out. In any case only those of the bride, bridegroom and bridesmaid are proposed.

The bride provides her trousseau and her presents to the bridegroom. These are her only expenses.

Her father pays for flowers to decorate the church, if any are used. He also pays the choir if the service is a musical one, and provides the carpet and awning that are used on the roadway to the church door and carriages.

The bridegroom pays the bride's flowers, and pays for the carriage in which he takes his wife away. He also pays the minister's fee, and usually gives a small gift to his best man and each usher.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST
HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situated. Entry by proxy may, however, be made at any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

DUTIES.—(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1908

The great inroad made upon the time and therefore upon the wages of workmen by the use of alcohol is suggested by some statistics secured by Dr. Rosenmann in the course of an investigation of accidents in one of the mining districts of Austria. The statistics (Statistichen Monatsheften, 1907) for the five years, 1899-1903, show that the average amount of wages lost by the workmen on account of "unnecessary and unnecessary" absences from work on the day after an ordinary working day was 2.5 per cent; on the day succeeding advance payment of wages it was 6.3 per cent, and after the regular pay day 7 per cent. A cogent argument for temperance.

MUSIC IN THE SCHOOLS

"Let us write the songs of a nation and I care not who makes its laws." While the value of music, as a public school study, is generally recognized, there are still some who classify it with the frills and fads. They will not recognize the elevating power of music, and sneer at its disciplinary value.

Music, as applied to the individual, trains the body, the voice, the ear and the will. It also tends to keep one satisfied at home by profitable recreation.

For the school, in general, it provides a means of discipline, mental, moral and spiritual. It is a vehicle for the expression of sentiment that can be found in no other study. Its force as an organizing and uplifting element, is an argument in favor of its having a place in every school curriculum. As music has the power to develop, educate and inspire the individual, its economic value is apparent, for music is the universal language of sentiment and feeling. "In union with poetry, it leads the soul to virtue, and inspires it with courage."

ON THE RIGHT TRACK

The attitude of passive waiting or indifference towards reciprocity between Canada and the United States which was shown by Mr. Clifford Sifton, former Canadian Minister of Interior, in his remarks at the Chamber of Commerce dinner, is becoming more thoroughly impressed every year. Ever since 1893, when the tide of immigration turned and Americans began to make for western Canada in great numbers, Canada has been growing less sensitive to our tariff restrictions, until now she all but declares that if anyone is to take the initiative in the improvement of trade relations it must be the United States. Nor need we expect this attitude soon to change. Canada has found certain internal compensations in our tariff restrictions. Far from being brought to her knees by them, she has raised a tariff wall of her own, and behind it has been busily creating great industries of her own which are becoming ever more fit to compete with those of the United States. Prime Minister Laurier and the Liberals have just been returned to power on the one direct issue of the continued upbuilding of Canada. It is not to be supposed that without our invitation they will turn from this work to that of mending the trade relations. Yet Mr. James J. Hill, who also spoke at the dinner, declared that it was self-evident that commerce must eventually become unstrained between the two countries—a belief which more Americans are coming to share. "I believe that the most natural, the most rational, the most highly profitable commercial relation between Canada and the United States is that of absolute freedom of trade."

"Pending the arrival of those who have the establishment of all natural products as a public opinion."

Hill's argument got down to the study of the United States. "I believe that the most natural, the most rational, the most highly profitable commercial relation between Canada and the United States is that of absolute freedom of trade."

Hill's argument got down to the study of the United States. "I believe that the most natural, the most rational, the most highly profitable commercial relation between Canada and the United States is that of absolute freedom of trade."

BY THE WAY

Close season.

It's a grave subject.

Try St. John for a loan.

The squeal of the porker is heard in the land.

A man who attends strictly to his own business has a good steady job.

"Fresh laid eggs" are one of the inducements offered by stores in town.

Why so much rejoicing in Canadian papers, over Hayes defeat by Durando?

Man is made of dust, along comes the watering cart of fate and his name is mud.

Scarletina has not reached a serious stage in town, but it is prevalent enough for everybody to be glad to see it going.

And now it is Halifax that has to be investigated. Verily there is no peace for the wicked in these troublous days. Everybody has to be good.

Keep the new lower bridge clean. Residents of South Boston are complaining of the mud and dirt that has accumulated on the flooring.

Arthur Frauley is something of a hunter himself, and his recent success is why he so spiritedly "holds up his end" in any moose argument.

There are a few of our citizens who are not particular with a $1000 bill, but it is well to be careful in accepting one, as counterfeiters are in circulation.

The one advantage which L'Etete harbor possesses, and which transportation companies look upon as of great and distinct merit, is the great depth of water.

A diner in a restaurant sighed heavily in hearing of the waiter.

"Anything wrong, sir?" queried the attendant.

"Not much," was the reply. "I was only wondering whether I should live to be as old as this chicken!"

"Have you ever tried utilizing discarded white shirt-waists for corset covers?" asks one of the current magazine. We can't honestly say we have, but we have used a nail in place of a suspender-button—if that is of any interest to the public.

Canada loses thirteen thousand people yearly from consumption. It is estimated that each of these persons is worth in the economy of the state at least $3,000, so that there is an annual loss to the Dominion of thirty-nine million dollars. And yet were told consumption is a preventable and curable disease.

A witicism was attributed the other day in Washington to the president. A young man, the story goes, during a call at the white house told the president that he had been married a year before and was already the father of a boy. "I am sure you find it pleasanter to be a loving sire than a sighing lover."

The latest addition to musical circles in the town, is a gramophone, playing Chinese selections. The concerts given in the laundry attract large audiences, drawn there, no doubt, by the novelty of the music, which is of the "ton-ton" variety. We have some singers in the vicinity that render about the same class of music on moonlight nights.

The season for pneumonia has arrived and the Chicago Board of Health has issued a code of preventive rules. Condensed, these are the principal warnings laid down: Avoid impure air. Avoid overindulgence in food and drink. Don't coddle yourself.

Mr. Bryan was asked in Reading, Pa., if he believed in advertising. His reply showed him to have a shrewd appreciation of the value of publicity. It was: "The fellow who tries to attract business without advert sing is like the fellow who throws his sweetheart a silent kiss in the dark. He knows what he is doing, but nobody else does." Did you see the point?

When Mark Twain was a young and struggling newspaper writer in San Francisco, a lady of his acquaintance saw him one day with a cigar box under his arm, looking in a shop window.

"Mr. Clemens," she said, "I always see you with a cigar box under your arm. I am afraid you are smoking too much."

"Not that," said Mark. "I'm moving."

The mills owned and operated by the Industrial Pulp Co. at Musquash, were totally destroyed by fire Friday morning. The mills had a capacity of 150,000 feet per day. The loss is placed at twenty-two thousand, and insurance amounts to thirteen thousand dollars.

It is stated that Contractor Reid, who constructed the breakwater at North Head, Grand Manan, has been awarded the contract for the erection of the Seal Cove breakwater, the Welchpool wharf and one of the Deer Island wharves. The Saint Andrews wharf contract has not yet been awarded. --St. Andrew's Paper.

The body of George A. Backman of Eastport, who disappeared Sunday, was found Wednesday under one of the wharves. He was non-sighted, and it was presumed that he stumbled and fell overboard. A coroner decided that there was no indication of violence or suicide. He was a contractor, and builder, 45 years old, and leaves a widow and three children.

A man named John Dawson, who said he belonged to St. John fell off the N.B. Southern Railway train at Musquash crossing about 6:45 o'clock Wednesday evening, and was badly hurt. The train was coming toward the city at the time and apparently no one on it knew of the accident as the train kept right along. The young man was taken to the hospital, St. John, Thursday and found to be dangerously hurt.

The English correspondent of The Halifax Gazette, writing with reference to "the strange fish" (thought to be a mako shark), which appeared off the Maine coast a few weeks ago, says: "In a rough way the mako can be distinguished from the herring, thus: Lift the longest spine of the dorsal fin. If the fish is a mako it balances; if a herring the head drops down because the dorsal fin is placed further back."

Daniels, the handsome French coachman, who was killed by a horse in St. John, has been sold to a St. Stephen syndicate composed of E. E. Jones, P. E. McKenna, H. F. Hill, Thomas, Bruce DeWolfe, W. H. Keenan, W. C. Nicholson, F. L. Hunt, J. R. McLean, W. C. Purves, A. I. Teed, James M. Alister, A. A. Luffin, Joseph Thomas, I. Wm. Smith, Martin Cronin, A. A. Taylor, James Murray, John Almond and George H. Duff. The price paid for the horse is said to have been $5,500. Daniels is certainly the handsomest horse ever seen on the harbor and his pedigree can be traced back over 250 years. The syndicate who made the purchase did not do so with the expectation of making money, but simply with the idea of improving the horseflesh in Charlotte county.

Getting Ready for Christmas

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

One on The Editor.

Booth Tarkington, according to Every-body's, says that in no state have the newspapers more "journalistic enter-prise" than in his native Indiana. While stopping at a little Hoosier hotel in the course of a hunting trip Mr. Tarkington lost one of his dogs.

"Have you a newspaper in town?" he asked of the landlord.

"Right across the way there, back of the shoemaker's," the landlord told him. "Best little paper of its size in the state."

The editor, the printer and the printer's devil were all doing justice to Mr. Tarkington with an "in-our midst" paragraph when the novelist arrived.

"I've just lost a dog," Tarkington exclaimed after he had introduced himself, "and I'd like to have you insert this 'ad' for me—Fifty dollars reward for the return of a pointer dog answering to the name of Rex. Disappeared from the yard of the Mansion House Monday night."

"Why we are just going to press, sir," the editor said, "but we'll be only too glad to hold the edition for you 'ad.'"

Mr. Tarkington returned to the hotel. After a few minutes he decided, however that it might be well to add "No questions asked" to his advertisement, and he returned to the Daily News office.

The place was deserted, save for the skinny little freckled face devil, who sat perched on a high stool, gazing out of the window.

"Where is everybody?" Tarkington asked.

"Gawn to hunt th' dawg," replied the boy without removing his gaze from the distant fields.—New York Telegram.

The following good story is told concerning Ysaye, the famous violinist. A millionaire bootmaker invited Ysaye to dine with him last year in Nica. After dinner the millionaire brought out a violin and asked Ysaye to play. The musician bit his lips, but taking the instrument he played several beautiful morceaux. Afterward, in Paris, Ysaye invited the millionaire to dinner in his turn. There was a distinguished company present. After dinner, as they were all sitting in the saloon, a servant brought the host a pair of old boots. Ysaye took the boots and handed them gravely to the millionaire guest. "But what am I to do with these?" the guest demanded, holding the boots awkwardly in his lap beside his cup. Ysaye smiled vindictively and flung his long locks behind his ear. "In Nica," he said, "you asked me after dinner to play for you. Now I ask you to mend these for me. Each to his trade, you know?"

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is not a symptom of, and not to be treated as, a special disease. It is the result of indigestion, and indigestion is not a disease, but a condition of the stomach, and a certain specific remedy is required to cure it.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of this new very popular Stomach Restorative. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, acting directly on the stomach nerve, alone brought the stomach and liver to Dr. Shoop's Restorative. It filters out that original and highly vital principle, so that the stomach is able to digest its food.

For stomach distress, flatulence, biliousness, head-ache, and other complaints, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tastes like Food—and you will see what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

Homes Wanted

Our nature demands home. It is the first essential element of our social being. This cannot be complete without the home relations; there would be no proper equilibrium of life and character without the home influence. The heart when bereaved and disappointed turns its longing to home life and sympathy. No spot is so attractive to the weary one; it is the heart's mortal brain. There is the mother's watchful love and a father's sustaining influence; there is the husband's protection and a wife tender sympathy; there is the circle of loving brothers and sisters' happy in each other's love. Oh, what is life without these! A desolation, a painful, gloomy pilgrimage "through desert heaths and barren sands!"

Rheumatism

A very bad case that was cured by persevering with an old time remedy

"Were it not that I had great patience and perseverance," writes Mr. Fritz Kiefer, well known in London, "I would still be racked by chronic rheumatism, which was my unhappy lot for three years."

"I didn't have acute rheumatic fever as so many have—with me the pain and stiffness came on gradually. When I kept quiet, as on Sunday, I was free from pain,—but being a working man I had to move about and the pain was simply awful, though after an hour's resting it would subside."

"I got the idea into my head that although the pain was in my joints, the rheumatic poison was in my blood. My druggist said 'Ferrozone' was a wonderful blood tonic and I began to use it. At first it did not help at all, only change was a better appetite and more strength. Not being a doctor I did not know that Ferrozone was all the while working at the root of the disease. I kept right on with Ferrozone and in three months was cured. There is no more stiffness, no pain, and I am as limber as forty years ago."

Every kind of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Nerve Pain and Blood disorder is quickly cured by Ferrozone. Satisfaction guaranteed, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers.

Miss M. Eager, the lady who for some years was in charge of the Russian imperial nurseries, tells a charming story concerning the youngest of the Czar's four daughters, the Grand Duchess Anastasia, who is now seven years of age. We were driving in the Nevski one day," says Miss Eager, "and got into a block of traffic. A great many people assembled to see them. Among the crowd was a young student, who stood with his hands in his coat pockets, neither smiling nor taking any notice beyond frowning severely at the children. Anastasia, who was sitting in my lap, turned to me and said: 'Just look at that boy. He is rude, for I bowed to him and he took no notice.' I told her he might not have seen her bow, and she bowed two or three times to him, and only met a very cold stare in response. Then she said: 'Poor boy, perhaps no one taught him any manners.' He doesn't know it's polite to bow when a lady bows.' She put her face through the carriage window and kissed her little hand to him again and again. Even our student could not resist. He smiled broadly, and took off his cap and bowed to the child, who turned to me and said: 'Oh, the dear boy. Now he knows. I taught him.'"

Condemned by Physicians

Unscrupulous dealers often prepare corn remedies with caustics and acids. Refuse such and insist on Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It's purely vegetable, safe and sure.

The Good Housewife.

You look at a housewife who has a place for her things, and these things in their places, and find a woman who is systematic in her work and when she needs anything she can put her hands on it in a moment. She plans and calculates whenever there is going to be extra work, extra cooking, extra washing, etc., and she knows beforehand just what there is to do, and what she wants to do it with. Her work moves along like clockwork, and when the clock strikes twelve she is ready to put the victuals on the table. The men are not hindered—they eat their dinner and get out of the way, and her work goes on according to programme, and nobody's time is wasted by her procrastination. She is on time, the glory of her husband, the beloved of her children, and the admirer of all who know her. And this same woman, so exact in her doings gets more time to rest and read and instruct her children in the paths of right and the social duties they owe to all. Ladies, we hope you are of this class receiving the blessings of your husband, and the praise of all who know you.

To a young lady who, apropos the question of Sabbath observance, asked if she might bathe in the Atlantic on Sunday, Bishop Potter replied: "That, my dear young lady, is a see over which I have no jurisdiction."

Distribution of Seed Grain and Potatoes from the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, 1908-9

By instruction of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a distribution is being made this season of samples of superior sorts of grain and potatoes to Canadian farmers for improvement of seed. The stock for distribution has been secured mainly from the Experimental farms at Indian Head, Sask., and Brandon, Man. The samples consist of oats; spring wheat, barley, peas, Indian corn (for ensilage only) and potatoes. The quantity of oats sent is 4 lbs., of wheat or barley 5 lbs., sufficient in each case to sow one-twentieth of an acre. The samples of Indian corn, peas and potatoes weigh 5 lbs. each. A quantity of each of the following varieties has been secured for this distribution:—
OATS—Banner, Danish Island, Wide-Awake, White Giant, Thousand Dollar, Improved Likowo, all white varieties.
WHEAT—Red varieties, (Beardless), Chelsea, Stanley and Percy (early beardless), Preston, Huron and Pringle's Champlain (early bearded), White varieties, White File (beardless) Bobs (early beardless).
BARLEY—Six-rowed—Mensury, Odessa, and Mansfield. Two rowed—Invincible and Canadian Thorpe.
FIELD PEAS—Arthur and Golden Wine.
INDIAN CORN (for ensilage)—Early sorts, Angel of Midnight, Compton's Early and Longfellow; later varieties, Selected Learning Early, Mastolon and White-Cap Yellow Dent.
POTATOES—Early varieties, Rochester Rose, and Irish Cobbler. Medium to light varieties, Carman No. 1, Money Maker, Gold Coin and Dooley. The later varieties, as a rule, more productive than the earlier kinds.
 Only one sample can be sent to each applicant, hence if an individual receives a sample of oats he cannot also receive one of wheat, barley, peas, Indian corn or potatoes. Lists of names for more than one sample for one household cannot be entertained. The samples will be sent free of charge through the mail.
 Applications should be addressed to the Director of Experimental Farms, Ottawa, and may be sent in any time from the 1st of December to the 15th of February, after which the lists will be closed, so that the samples asked for may be sent out in good time for sowing. Applicants should mention the varieties they prefer, with a second sort as an alternative. Applicants will be filled in the order in which they are received, so long as the supply of seed lasts. Farmers are advised to apply early to avoid possible disappointment. Those applying for Indian corn or potatoes should bear in mind that the corn is usually distributed until April, and that potatoes cannot be mailed until danger from frost in transit is over. No postage is required on mail matter addressed to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.
 WM. SAUNDERS,
 Director of Experimental Farms.

CORRESPONDENCE

St. George, Nov. 26th, 1908.
 TO THE EDITOR OF GREETINGS
 Sir: You know that it has been an established fact, since year of one, that you cannot take a given power, say a one H. P. and generate 1000 H. P. from it, or say 10,000 H. P.
 Now I am prepared to prove that this can be done and satisfy any one with ordinary intellect that it can be done. It requires no model, and strange to say, lately, I found I had discovered this 14 years ago, and did not know it, being overlooked because I was working to build a machine to run itself.
 Yours respectfully,
 JAMES W. MURRAY.

PENNFIELD RIDGE.

Miss Theresa Tatten has returned home after a pleasant visit with relatives at L'Etete. Mr. John McAdam is slowly recovering from his recent illness.
 Miss Mary Daley spent Friday in St. George.
 Wild cats are reported plentiful this season. Two men at Pooogan shot a fine deer on Tuesday last but while they were away for their team, two wild cats dragged it away. They were able to track them on account of the light snow and found their deer not much injured as the wild cats were not very savage.
 Henry Austin spent part of last week with Melvin Dunbar and was successful in securing a fine deer.
 Mr. A. B. Hawkins has returned from a business trip to St. John.
 The many friends of Bessie Daily are pleased to see her out, after her severe illness.
 Mrs. Jas. Dunbar spent Monday with Mrs. Albert Latten.

The Fight Against the White Plague

A simultaneous campaign against tuberculosis is in operation in nearly all the civilized countries in the world. Medical science is on its mettle. Koch did not work the sudden miracle of cure; but in the more enlightened treatment of the disease the establishment of sanatoria; the improved knowledge of sanitation; the larger welcome to the healing air and sunshine—the hope is now expressed that the dread plague, which is more deadly than war, and which claims 5,000 victims annually in our own fair and beautiful country, will be finally stamped out.
 Governments have been slow to deal with a disease which saps the energy of a nation, because, in the first place, its victims, owing to the insidiousness which marks the malady, do not claim immediate attention; and in the second place, they have not as yet come to understand that it is a primary duty to charge themselves with the public health; and, consequently, owing to the neglect of the local authorities, the indifference of the people themselves, the callousness which is engendered by the sense of inevitability, the disease has been allowed to work its ravages practically unchecked.
 With the alarm sounded, and the attention of medical science, a resolute fight is being conducted against tuberculosis in all enlightened centers. The anti-tuberculosis exhibition in Montreal has been highly instructive, and should be productive of the most beneficial results, especially in the way of fuller knowledge as to treatment in the home, in the earlier stages of the malady.
 This is not enough, however, and the touring van, as they have it in Ireland through the fine initiative of Lady Aberdeen, is to be inaugurated in this province. It is felt, however, that the urgency of the case demands governmental aid, and this, too, is to be sought. It would be a blot upon our modern civilization if a disease which is entirely preventable, and which when it does occur, is curable, should longer be allowed to decimate the people because of a lack of such governmental aid as would render the campaign against it effective.
