FIGHTING IN PASSES OF CARPATHIANS DEVELOPES INTO A GENERAL BATTLE

Austrians Concentrate Their Forces in Dukla and Uyszkow Passes in Attempt to Push Advance Movement—Russian Fleet Chases Turkish Cruisers in Black Sea and Sink Several of Enemy's Merchantmen.

Petrograd, Jan. 31.—The Russian general staff today gave out the following statement:

"In the region of the forests north of Piskalen and Gumbinnen (East Prussia), the battles continue. Here in the sector of the village of Lebegalen, we repulsed the Germans by a counter attack with bayonets.

"On the left bank of the Vistula, at the approaches to Berlinow, the Germans during the night of Jan. 29 and the next day repeated their attacks upon our positions, but were everywhere thrown backward with great losses, except at one trench, which remained in the hands of the enemy. In the region of the village of Jidmitze, two German attempts to take the offensive during the day of the 29th failed.

"On the Carpathian front, in the passes of Dukla and Uyszkow, the fighting is gradually assuming the character of a general battle. In this region the Austrians having concentrated contingents from some of their adjoining sectors and from other fronts, have attempted to deliver an offensive through the valley of the lower San, and the roads leading across the passes to Sumbor and Stry.

"During the 28th and 29th, battles in the Carpathians were favorable to us in several sections of our front. Particularly fortunate was our offensive in the region of the village of Nijna Polianka, southwest of Dukla (Galicia), where by bayonet attacks we captured three lines of the enemy's trenches. Likewise fortunate was our offensive on the front southwest of Jasiska and Baligrod and southeast of Londovskil where in one sector our troops gained a position protected by wire fences.

"During these two days we took 25 more officers and 2,500 soldiers prisoners, captured two rapid-fire guns, one cannon, while our other troops took prisoners, the precise number of which have not been determined.

Successes in Caucasus.

"On the Black Sea, on January 27, our fleet hunted out, near Samson, the Turkish cruisers Medjidieh and Breslau, pursuing them until nightfall. On January 25, 26 and 27, our torpedo craft sank several Turkish sailing ships. On the 25th one of them effected a bold raid upon Trebizond, where after cannonading the enemy's troops which fled, she damaged barracks and flour depots. The same torpedo boat silenced at Rizak two of the enemy's batteries, sank several Peluccas and damaged barracks."

The following report from the general staff of the Russian army of the Caucasus was given out:

"On the Sari Kamysh front, on the evening of Jan. 27, one of our columns profiting by a snowstorm crossed the crest of the mountains and seized, after a violent struggle, the village of Garness, making prisoners there the chief of the Thirtieth Turkish Division with his staff, sixteen officers, seven sergeants and 350 others, and capturing three cannon, more than two hundred rifles, a convoy train and a large quantity of war munitions and provisions.

"The next day the Turks attacked this column but were repulsed by a counter attack with great losses."

New Order-in-Council Regarding Matter of Separation Allowance for Wives of Soldiers Who Married After Enlisting.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—In view of the fact that a considerable number of Canadian volunteers for overseas service have married since enlisting, and have applied for the separation allowance, and that others are applying for permission to marry and to have their wives placed on the separation allowance list, an order-in-council has been passed requiring all who are making such applications to marry within twenty days from Jan. 30th. In the case of men enlisting in the future they can only obtain permission to marry and secure the separation allowance for their wives if they make application when enlisting and marry within 20 days after receiving permission.

PATRICIA'S CAPTURE SEVERAL OF ENEMY WHILE AIDING BRITISH DEFEND TRENCHES

Bulletin—London, Jan. 31.—A Reuter despatch from Northeastern France says:

"Princess Patricia's light infantry, the first of the Canadian contingent to reach the front, took part in the defence of the British trenches near La Bassee which were attacked by the Germans on January 25 and lost four men killed, and a number wounded. The next day Lieutenant Price of the Canadians was killed while leading his company into a trench, and another officer named Pearson is reported to have been killed.

"The Canadians took a number of German prisoners, and inflicted severe losses on a Landstrum regiment, which attacked their trenches."

CZA'S ARMY INFLECTS ANOTHER BLOW ON TURKS

Russians Cross Mountain in Sari Kamysh Region in Snow Storm, Capture General and Staff of 13th Turkish Division—Germans Aiding Austro-Hungarian Army in Carpathians—Only Artillery Fighting in West.

London, Jan. 31.—For the fourth time since the commencement of the war the Carpathian Mountains, between Dukla and Wyszok Passes, is the scene of a pitched battle. The previous battles were between Russians and Austro-Hungarians. But in that which is now developing, the Austrians and Hungarians have the assistance of the German armies, and are assuming a vigorous offensive.

Despite this the Russian reports assert that the preliminary fighting has turned to the advantage of Russia and that prisoners and guns have been captured.

Simultaneously the Austro-Germans are concentrating armies in the mountains, between Bukovina and Transylvania, to prevent an attempt by the Russians to outflank them, and on the Rumanian and Serbian frontiers, to check any effort of the armies of those countries to take a hand in the fighting, upon the result of which Austria stakes much.

The Russians are also pushing their offensive on the Turk in the Sari Kamysh region, where, during a snow storm, they crossed a mountain, and after heavy fighting captured the commanding general and his staff of the Thirtieth Turkish Division, and a large quantity of war material. To add to the difficulties of the Ottoman army the Russian fleet has resumed its activity in the Black Sea, and has bombarded the Turkish barracks at Trebizond and Rizak, besides sinking several Turkish sailing vessels used as transports.

Except in the neighborhood of La Bassee and in the Argonne, where the Germans have resumed their attack, artillery has been the only arm engaged on the western front. The Germans again claim to have captured some trenches near La Bassee, while the French say that the British have re-occupied all the ground which had been temporarily lost.

Little Activity in West.

At that place, the official British eye-witness, in a description of the battle of January 25, says that after some of the most desperate hand-to-hand fighting of the war the Germans were driven out, and suffered severe losses. Notwithstanding this, it is evident that the Germans are still set on breaking the lines which guard the French coast ports, as despatches coming by way of Holland, say they are gathering another fresh army for all attack on the Yser line.

In addition to the operations when they are carrying out in many parts of the African continent, the British are facing with a rising tide of the native of Nyassal and, where three settlers have been killed. The situation is now well in hand, according to official information.

The appearance of the German submarine U21, in the Irish Sea where she sank three small steamers, has caused a momentary flutter in the shipping circles. All the faster steamers, however, have been able to elude her, and as it is thought she has returned to her base, traffic between Ireland and England has been resumed.

STEAMER AND FERRY COLLIDE IN HALIFAX HARBOR

Red Cross Liner Rams Ferry
Tearing Hole in Starboard
Side of Smaller Craft—None of Passengers Hurt.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 31.—The chartered Red Cross liner Morwenna, steaming down the harbor on Saturday evening bound for St. John's, Nfld., collided with the ferry steamer Chebucto a short distance from the ferry dock on the Halifax side and both steamers were damaged. Fortunately there was no loss of life, and no one was injured. The construction peculiar to a ferry boat saved the iron rimmed guard encircling the Morwenna from being seriously impeded. The damage to both ships was sufficiently extensive, however, to oblige them to lay up for repairs.

When the collision occurred, there was some excitement among the passengers on the Chebucto, but there was no panic. The boats were then so close to shore that any fears the passengers might have had for their safety were allayed. The Chebucto was bound for the Halifax dock and was struck on the starboard side, the Morwenna's bow smashing down the wall on the 'adies' cabin and making a large hole in it. There were some ladies in the cabin at the time, but fortunately none were close to the point at which the Morwenna struck.

The hole made by the untimely intrusion of the Morwenna's bow into the cabin is about ten feet wide and extends from the promenade deck to the gun deck.

The damage does not extend below the guard, however, and repairs to the upper works can be effected in a short time. On the other hand the Morwenna's bow is badly damaged and she will have to go into drydock for repairs. Her stem was cut away and twisted at a sharp angle to starboard and a hole was made, extending back four feet. The lowest part of the hole is three feet above the water line.

ANOTHER DRIVE AT ALLIES' LINES IN FLANDERS

Amsterdam, via London, Jan. 31.—Large numbers of German troops destined for the Ypres front have been concentrated, according to the Telegraaf. Fresh troops with war materials are reported to be assembling on the Yser front, and activity on the Ostend railway is taken to indicate that another serious effort will be made to break through the Allies' lines in Flanders.

The Telegraaf prints a report that 2,000 munitioned German troops have been transferred from Roulers to the eastern front.

MAJ. MORRISON-BELL AMONG THE MISSING

London, Feb. 1.—Among the missing in a casualty list just made public is Major Arthur C. Morrison-Bell, Member of Parliament for the Honiton Division of Devonshire. Major Morrison-Bell was former aide-de-camp to the Earl of Minto, Governor General of Canada, and served in the Canadian contingent in South Africa, having charge of the Maxim gun section. Also mentioned as missing in the list are the Hon. John Bessford Campbell, eldest son of Baron Stratheden Campbell, and six other guards officers.

ANOTHER DRIVE ANTI-AUSTRIA DEMONSTRATION IN ROME

Row in Capital Over Neutrality
Question—A Deputy Has His Ears Boxed by One of Anti-Neutral Crowd.

Rome, Jan. 31.—Troops with fixed bayonets had to be called out today to re-establish order at a meeting which had been organized by Senators, members of the Chamber of Deputies and other prominent persons with the purpose of forwarding a movement in favor of Italy maintaining neutrality in the war.

A large number of persons, mostly Republicans, who are against the maintenance of neutrality gathered at the entrance to the hall and in spite of the efforts of the police, attacked the neutrals. Deputy Bruno Belmonte, leader of the neutrals had his ears boxed and someone spat in his face. He defended himself with his cane. During the disorder cries of "Shame, Prince Von Buelow has bought you, you supporters of Austria" rose from the anti-neutralists.

Finding that the police could not properly handle the situation troops were called out and restored order.

After this incident the anti-neutralists attempted to approach the Austrian Embassy, crying "Down with Austria." Down with Germany. "Long live France" and "Long live the war." The troops again had to be called upon to disperse the crowds.

GERMANS GET SAMPLE OF BRITISH PUGILISM

British Troops Use Bayonets and Bare Fists Effectively on the Enemy—One Man Storms House Held by Eight of Enemy, Bayoneted Four of Them and Routed Others—Fierce Encounter East of Ypres—Ground Littered with Bodies of Enemy's Dead—Few Gains Germans Made Cost Them Dearly.

London, Jan. 31.—Our men in many cases fought with bayonets in their hands and even knocked out many Germans with their fists. A story is told of one man who broke into a house held by eight Germans, bayoneted four of them and captured the rest while he continued to suck at his chary pipe, says the official eye-witness, with the British expeditionary force, in a description of the battle of Jan. 25, when the Germans attacked the British north and south of La Bassee Canal, and succeeded in capturing some of their trenches, which the French official report today says have all been retaken.

The battle, which commenced early in the morning, was preceded by the usual artillery duel. "At eight o'clock in the morning," says the eye-witness, "The Germans launched an assault against the British and French on the south of the canal and at one point penetrated our lines. About the same time they strongly attacked our troops at Givenchy, north of the canal, and passing over our front trenches, temporarily gained a foothold in the place but as their infantry surged forward through the village our men met them with cold steel, killing 100 with the bayonet.

"The fighting then proceeded for some hours at close quarters, but by noon we had re-occupied the whole of our original trenches around the village. The Germans showed the utmost determination in this quarter, driving us no less than five attacks on the northeast corner of Givenchy.

Ground Littered with Enemy's Dead.

"In these attacks their losses were very heavy, several scattered bodies which had succeeded in penetrating our line being killed practically to a man. Our casualties in this part of the fight were comparatively light.

"Meanwhile on the south of the canal, the struggle was fiercely contested throughout the day. The Germans advancing along the main road, were caught by the fire of our machine guns, and left the ground littered with dead bodies, to the estimated number of 300, and as they came along the railway embankment they were also subjected to machine gun fire and suffered greatly. But as has been said, they managed to penetrate our line at one point.

"By a counter attack, however, undertaken about 1 p. m. in cooperation with the French, the Allies drove them back. Though we did not win back our original position, we established ours selves in a fresh line close behind it.

"A great part of the area where this fighting took place consists of brick fields, where the adversaries fought hand to hand. During the day we captured 800-900 prisoners, including two officers.

"The total casualties of the Germans are reported to have amounted to considerably over 1,000 in their effort against our line. Against the French also, to the south of us, their attacks were repulsed with slaughter. They also made an attack in some strength on the French to the east of Ypres in the neighborhood of Zonnebeke. Here they were repulsed with ease in an abortive attempt at surprise, leaving 300 dead bodies hanging on their wire entanglements.

"In Givenchy village the fighting was of the most desperate nature, being in many cases at close quarters.

"On the whole it may be said that the 25th of January was a bad day for the enemy in this portion of their line. They paid dearly for the one small gain in ground they achieved.

GERMAN SUBMARINE "U21" SINKS THREE BR. STEAMERS IN IRISH SEA

The "U 21" Makes Daring Raid and Sends Three Merchantmen to Bottom—Reported Two More British Steamers Were Torpedoed by Enemy's Submarines Off Havre in the English Channel—Raiders Make Good Their Escape.

Fleetwood, via London, Jan. 31.—The German submarine "U 21" on Saturday torpedoed the Northshields steamer Ben Cruachen off this port. The entire crew, numbering twenty, were landed here.

The same German submarine is reported to have sunk two other vessels in the vicinity where the Ben Cruachen went down.

The captain of the steamer says he was overtaken by the submarine this morning and ordered to leave his ship within ten minutes. Hardly had the crew got into the boats when a torpedo was fired and the steamer went down.

The Ben Cruachen which was of 1,975 tons and belonged to the Morrison Shipping Company, was on a voyage from the Orkney Islands to Liverpool with a general cargo.

Fleetwood is one of the principal fishing and shipping ports and watering places on the west coast.

Liverpool, via London, Jan. 31.—The Ben Cruachen left Cardiff Tuesday with five thousand tons of coal, and was on its way to this city, according to the Liverpool Post, when it met the submarine.

The steamer Graphic, with passengers, Belfast to Liverpool, the paper says passed wreckage and soon afterwards saw the Ben Cruachen sunk. The Graphic was chased, but eluded pursuit and reached the Mersey safely.

Another Sent to Bottom by Raiders

London, Jan. 31.—At least one other vessel, besides the Ben Cruachen was sunk by the German submarine "U 21." This fact became known when a trawler brought in the eleven members of the crew of the steamer Linda Blanche, which was sent to the bottom by the German raider.

The Linda Blanche was on its way from Manchester to Belfast when the submarine suddenly appeared alongside. Officers came aboard, and ordered the crew to leave the steamer. As soon as the men of the Linda Blanche were in their boats the Germans attached a mine to the bridge and another to the forecastle, and the vessel was destroyed.

The Germans told the British sailors they could find a trawler by proceeding in a certain direction, and the crew was picked up when the fishing boat was reached.

The skipper of the trawler stated that at two o'clock yesterday afternoon he sighted another ship on which an explosion evidently had occurred. He was steering in the direction of this vessel when he picked up the Linda Blanche's boats. When he reached the point where he had seen the other ship he found no trace of wreckage, and believed it went down after he first sighted it.

London, Jan. 31.—The crew of the British steamer Kilcoan has been landed on the Isle of Man in the Irish Sea by the coasting steamer Gladys. The crew reports that the Kilcoan was sunk by a submarine. The Kilcoan was a small steamer of 456 tons.

Chased by Submarine but Escapes.

Dublin, Jan. 31, via London, Feb. 1.—The steamer Leinster, from Holyhead to Kingstown reports that she was chased by a German submarine for fifteen minutes off the Kish light vessel, but succeeded in escaping.

The Kish light vessel is opposite the mouth to Dublin Bay.

REPORTED AUSTRIAN FOREIGN MINISTER URGES KAISER TO START PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

DUAL MONARCHY HAS HAD ENOUGH OF THE GAME?

Baron Burián Sees End of Austria and Hungary Unless Russian Advance on Budapest is Stopped.

London, Feb. 1.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Copenhagen asserts that Baron Burián, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, at his recent meeting with the German Emperor, Dr. Ewa Doleful gave a picture of the plight of the dual monarchy, and urged that the time had arrived for the German powers to consider most seriously the possibilities for a tolerable peace.

The Daily Mail attaches great importance to the despatch, which is dated Thursday, and is delayed in transmission. The despatch says: "From a most trustworthy and well-informed source in Berlin I received the following statement regarding the negotiations between the German statesmen and Baron Burián, who recently visited the German Chancellor in Berlin and Emperor William at the army headquarters in France."

"Baron Burián whose sole object is to save what can be saved of the dual monarchy, represented to the German statesmen that the Russian advance on Budapest is not stopped the effect may very probably be the downfall of Austria and the complete collapse of Hungary, which must later entail as a logical sequence, also the downfall of Germany."

"Therefore Baron Burián urged that the Russians must, at all costs, be repulsed and that Germany must send large reinforcements to Hungary to prevent a catastrophe. In any case, he said, it was doubtful if it would be possible for them to resist the Russians and Serbians and perhaps the Roumanians. Therefore it was necessary seriously to examine into the question of peace."

"A definite defeat would mean a debacle for Austria-Hungary, and the partition of the Empire. His advice to Germany was to consider most seriously the possibilities of a tolerable peace. He advised Germany not to reject fundamentally the thought of peace on the grounds of a probable disarmament of Europe. If Germany were disposed to treat on such terms he believed the other conditions would be tolerable. Perhaps it would be necessary to leave the French part of Alsace to France, and to give up some Polish provinces to a new Poland, but if Russia would relinquish a province in Austria and a province in Poland, no real sacrifice for Germany would be entailed."

"Austria would then leave the rest of Galicia to Russia, and Bukovina to Roumania, and, if necessary, a part of Bosnia and Herzegovina to Serbia and Montenegro."

"The leading German statesmen admitted, Baron Burián's intentions were excellent, to some extent justified by circumstances, but they declared that such a peace would have lost all chance for safeguarding her commercial, industrial and economic interests."

"The other terms advanced by Baron Burián, namely, the status quo ante bellum, that is to say, the restoring of Belgium and Northern France, but likewise the recovery by Germany of her colonies were, with the exception of the relinquishment to France of French Alsace and of the Polish province to Poland, no absolute hindrance to peace."

"For the reasons set forth the German statesmen declared the negotiations for peace are hopeless, and that therefore it would be madness to take any steps revealing a disposition for peace on the part of Germany and Austro-Hungary as this would only weaken their cause."

"Baron Burián thereon admitted that there was no other way than to reject all ideas of peace, and to take all chances and all risks, continuing the war, in the hope that something undreamt of might occur to save them."

"The Germans agreed that it was necessary to despatch reinforcements to Hungary, and promised to transfer

OFFICIAL WAR REPORTS

BRITISH

London, Jan. 30.—The following statement was made tonight by the official press bureau: "An attack was made in some force yesterday near Cunichy (Northern France), but the enemy was easily repulsed."

FRANCE

Paris, Jan. 31.—An official statement issued Saturday night by the war office read: "It is confirmed that the enemy has left a great number of dead on the field of battle, to the north of Lombardzde, at the foot of the Great Dune, and also before the English lines near La Bassee."

"There has been a bombardment of some intensity of Arras, Reuic and Roolincourt. On the plateau or Nouvron the Germans exploded a mine, without attaining any results."

AUSTRIA

The following official statement was made tonight: "There have been vigorous artillery duels on both sides the Dunajec and Nida rivers. Our artillery, which has been making good practice recently, succeeded yesterday in compelling the enemy, under the severest fire, to evacuate some trenches."

"There have also been artillery engagements on the rest of the Polish front, the Carpathians the day passed quietly."

GERMANY

WILLIAM SAYS HE'S ON THE JOB UNTIL THE END

Berlin, Jan. 30.—Emperor William returned to the Capital yesterday for a short stay, after his tour of inspection along the western battlefield. Berlin, via The Hague and London, Jan. 31.—"We will stay on hostile territory until the enemy is vanquished, or has collapsed," was the assertion made by Emperor William in person, conferring the Iron Cross on a German soldier, according to a report printed by a Cologne newspaper.

"troops up to the number of one million by spring. One and one half million soldiers would be sent to France as a last attempt to crush the allies and force peace."

"These are said to have been the main points of the negotiations between the German statesmen and Baron Burián, but, of course, a number of special questions also were discussed and settled."

CONVICTION IN THE UNION LIFE CASE

One Guilty on First Count, Both on Second—Every Evidence of Scheme to Defraud Public.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—After two weeks of legal battling the Union Life case came to a close yesterday afternoon when the jury brought in a verdict of guilty against Harry Symons, K.C., on the first count; Dr. Hughes not guilty on the first count, and both guilty on the second count.

The chief feature of the second count is the flotation of Union Life stock in England in 1910. In this matter Mr. Pollman Evans was given authority, by power of attorney, sanctioned by the directors, including Mr. Symons and Dr. Hughes, to release money by whatever means he saw fit. This means turned out to include the issuance of a "fraudulent" prospectus, in which the assets of the National Agency Company were represented as well over a million dollars whereas it had paid out everything it had to the Union Life to keep that company alive.

Sentence will be passed on Dr. Hughes on April 12. Meanwhile he will be allowed a reserved case. That is, his counsel will be granted time in which to prepare and submit in contradiction of a specific point in the case, the court's ruling on which they dispute. The reserved case will be heard by the Appellate Judges at Osgoode Hall.

"You have been convicted upon evidence that apparently left no doubt in the minds of the jury," said the judge. "I regret to say that I am compelled to agree with their findings. I entertain no doubt that the crime for which you are convicted was conceived by Evans and acquiesced in by you. The documents drawn by you contain all the elements of a scheme worked out by you to defraud the public by selling stocks and shares in the National Agency Company."

Symons was sentenced to penitentiary for five years.

Found in Old Shed

About nine o'clock last night Patrick Murphy, a deaf mute, was found badly chilled and lying in an old shack in which he made his home, off Queen street, West End. The ambulance was summoned and the man was conveyed to the General Public Hospital. He is an old man and if he had not been found at the time he would have undoubtedly perished. It is expected that he will recover.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

CURES COUGHS AND COLDS ON THEIR FIRST INCEPTION, and will thereby prevent serious lung trouble, such as bronchitis, pneumonia or even consumption.

Mrs. Thomas Bridges, Gorrie, Ont., writes: "I was so bad with a cold I gave up work, and I was in bed four weeks being unable to do anything. I thought the cold was turning to bronchitis, so I changed my medicine to Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I used three bottles, and they completely cured me, and I am as strong as ever. I highly recommend it to all sufferers."

CZAR'S MESSAGE BLOW TO TEUTONIC INFLUENCES AT RUSSIAN COURT

Expresses Hope War Will Destroy "All Enemies of Related Slavs" in Message to Son of Founder of Pan-Slavist Doctrine.

Petrograd, Jan. 30, via London.—In a telegram to Alexander Samerlin, Marshal of the Nobility of Moscow, Emperor Nicholas today gave expression of his attitude toward the war for the first time since his declaration to the assemblage of nobles and military chiefs in the winter palace at the outbreak of hostilities. At that time the Emperor declared that there could be no peace until every hostile soldier had been driven from Russian territory.

The telegram to M. Samerlin, as a member of the Moscow Zemstvo, in reply to a message from that body expressing loyalty to the Emperor and the Fatherland. It is signed, Nicholas, and is in part as follows: "I sincerely thank the Moscow government for its attitude toward me, which to me is a source of deep gratification. Let all sincere ones of the Fatherland be united as were our glorious ancestors, wholly believing that the Almighty will bless the efforts of our heroic warriors and the sufferers of all true sons of Russia, and give to the powerful Fatherland and to the peoples protected by us a brilliant future, destroying at one blow all the enemies of our related Slavs."

A similar telegram was sent by Grand Duke Nicholas, Commander-in-Chief of the Russian army. M. Samerlin's message to the Emperor said: "We hail Your Majesty's determination to carry on the war to a full victory, until Your Majesty's mighty will shall dictate the definite conditions which for Russia in her position as a great world power, shall secure peace which will guarantee her economic independence. The outcome of the war should revive Slavdom and keep for Russia her place in history as the liberator of down-trodden peoples."

Emperor Nicholas has never expressed definitely leaning toward Pan-Slavism, and his telegram to M. Samerlin, who is a son of the founder of the Pan-Slavist doctrine, is regarded here as of special significance. "Teutonic influences at the court are quite naturally opposed to Pan-Slavism, and contest the idea that this doctrine should be made to any extent on the basis of future peace negotiations."

Many Russian Liberals heretofore have believed that Pan-Slavism diminished the influence of Russia in western European affairs, and that it should not be permitted to influence the foreign policy of the country. Of late these Liberals appear to have abandoned this view to some extent, making common cause with the Pan-Slavists in holding that the war should be continued to the end.

THE KAISER'S PLANS MISCARRIED AGAIN

Ordered Capture of La Boisselle to Mark Anniversary of Founding of German Empire—Eye-Witness Gives Details of Fighting in Western War Area from Jan. 1 to Jan. 26.

Paris, Jan. 30.—An official "Eye-Witness" statement has been issued by the French war office covering the period of the campaign in France from January 1 to January 26. It says: "Our advance has been slight but regular. Under the cover of night troops, protected by portable bucklers slip along the dunes and roads, rapidly improvising new defences with sacks, baskets and cases filled with earth, for deep trenches are impossible in the sandy ground. The artillery supporting these operations have made many of the German trenches in the dunes untenable."

"The only infantry action around Ypres occurred at dawn January 25, when a German infantry company departed from our lines and was charged at double quick. Three companies followed each other at short distances, supported by an entire brigade. This attack was instantly checked by the violent fire of our infantry, supported by artillery."

"The officer commanding the leading company was the first to fall, and in a few minutes the ground was covered with more than 300 German dead, while many became entangled in the barbed wire and were made prisoners. Some of them, notwithstanding painful injuries from the barbed wire, tore themselves out of the tangle. The prisoners said that the attack was to be supported by other forces, which were dispersed by our artillery fire. "British infantry and French artillery repulsed a violent attack at La Bassee. Hundreds of dead still lie on the field. The attack was renewed and was again repulsed, the German losses being at least two battalions, 2,000 men."

A Blow to Kaiser's Plans.

"The action was particularly violent at La Boisselle, being nearly continuous from January 26. A prisoner taken January 15, said that Emperor William had ordered the occupation of this place in honor of the anniversary of the founding of the Empire, and promised 700 marks to whosoever might break a French machine. No machine gun was captured, but nine successive attacks were repulsed. "The explosion of a depot of munitions permitted the enemy to capture of the Emperor said: "We hail Your Majesty's determination to carry on the war to a full victory, until Your Majesty's mighty will shall dictate the definite conditions which for Russia in her position as a great world power, shall secure peace which will guarantee her economic independence. The outcome of the war should revive Slavdom and keep for Russia her place in history as the liberator of down-trodden peoples."

Samerlin, who is a son of the founder of the Pan-Slavist doctrine, is regarded here as of special significance. "Teutonic influences at the court are quite naturally opposed to Pan-Slavism, and contest the idea that this doctrine should be made to any extent on the basis of future peace negotiations."

Many Russian Liberals heretofore have believed that Pan-Slavism diminished the influence of Russia in western European affairs, and that it should not be permitted to influence the foreign policy of the country. Of late these Liberals appear to have abandoned this view to some extent, making common cause with the Pan-Slavists in holding that the war should be continued to the end.

Here our chasseurs made a heroic stand, but this force was obliged to succor the small guard at the summit, which was furiously attacked by important forces of the enemy. ALLAN LINER FROM ST. JOHN PUT INTO QUEENSTOWN TO ESCAPE GERMAN SUBMARINE

London, Feb. 1.—The Allan Line steamer Scandinavian from St. John, N. B., Jan. 22 for Liverpool, with 500 passengers on board, learned of the raid by the German submarine "U 21" on the Irish Sea and put into Queenstown. After remaining in Queenstown for a short time the steamer proceeded for Liverpool.

By the toll taken by the German submarine "U 21" in its raid Saturday afternoon in the Irish Sea, the vicinity of Liverpool, still stands at three ships—the steamers Ben Cruachen, Linda Blanche and the Kilcoan, the latter a small vessel. The crew of the Kilcoan was landed today on the Isle of Man by a coastwise steamer. In addition a German submarine has torpedoed two British steamers in the English Channel near Havre—the Tokomaru and the Icarus. The Irish Sea raider easily made her escape and shipping interests are confident that she has returned to her base, ordered a resumption of normal traffic today.

TWO BRITISH STEAMERS SUNK BY ENEMY IN ENGLISH CHANNEL, OFF HAVRE

Paris, Jan. 31.—The French Ministry of Marine announced today that two British ships had been torpedoed in the English channel, off Havre, by a German submarine. They are the steamers "Tokomaru and Icarus." The Tokomaru was bound from New Zealand to England. Her crew was rescued by the trawler Somper. Her cargo consisted in part of clothing and a contribution of $7,500. New Zealand "gift to Belgian refugees." No details are available concerning the torpedoing of the Icarus. The following statement was given out by the Ministry of Marine: "The Tokomaru was sunk by a torpedo from a German submarine. The English vessel Icarus was also torpedoed in the same locality. LITTLE FRENCH HUTS WHICH AFFORD PROTECTION FROM COLD, WINTRY WEATHER.

WITS NEAR THE TRENCHES IN THE SOISSONS DISTRICT.—Above are shown little huts built by the French soldiers near their trenches and within five hundred yards from the German lines. They are built of wood and brush—wood for the walls, brush thatch for the roof. The cottages afford wholesome protection from the wintry weather and are most comfortable despite the fact that they are not far from the German lines.

DUTY ON WHEAT IS SUSPENDED IN ITALY

Rome, Jan. 31.—A Royal Decree issued today suspends entirely the duty on wheat and other cereals and flour. Previously the duty on wheat had been reduced from $1.50 to 60 cents per quintal (220.4 pounds); on corn from 23 cents to 10 cents; on rye from 30 cents to 40 cents; on oats from 30 cents to 40 cents; on flour from $2.25 to $1.05, and on cornmeal from 65 cents to 20 cents.

Notwithstanding the decree and the measures adopted by the government a large meeting was held at the Labor Exchange today at which inflammatory speeches were made in protest against the high price of bread. It was charged that the high price was due to the government being unable to prevent contraband wheat from going to the belligerents.

A resolution was passed at the meeting which declared that the agitation would continue until the people are able to "impose on the speculators what the government are unable to impose under the law."

The resolution was considered to mean the forcible confiscation of wheat and its distribution among the people.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Six cent bread was endorsed here Saturday night by the National Association of Master Bakers through its secretary, J. M. Bell, while the bakers were considering raising the price of the five cent loaf. The Clean Food Club was outlining a campaign to teach housewives the economy of home-made bread.

BRUSSELS STREET BLAZE BURNED THREE BUILDINGS; SIX FAMILIES HOMELESS

The city firemen had their work cut out for them yesterday afternoon when, for over four hours, they battled with a blaze in three buildings owned by Joshua P. Clayton, Supt. of Fernhill Cemetery, and his brother, James W. Clayton, proprietor of the fruit and confectionery store at 327-331 Brussels street, and in which establishments the fire started. Two buildings were destroyed and another was badly damaged. The total loss to buildings and contents will amount to about $8,000, while Messrs. Clayton have $2,500 insurance on the buildings. The different tenants burned out have little or no insurance on their furniture and their loss is considerable, although quite a large amount of furniture was removed from the burning houses. James W. Clayton who resided over his store had entered the store after dinner and found that some water pipes were frozen. While he was engaged trying to thaw out the pipes the fire caught. In a few minutes a gas generator used for running the machinery in making ice cream, exploded and so heavy was the explosion that it blew the side out of the building facing on Waterloo street and in an instant the fire swept through the store and Mr. Clayton was obliged to flee for his life. The explosion was heard for blocks and immediately flames and smoke poured from the premises. An alarm was sent in from box 16 on the corner of Brussels and Hanover streets and a few minutes afterwards when Chief

BUSINESS SECTION OF AMHERST GUTTED BY FIRE; LOSS NEARLY $30,000

Amherst, N. S., Jan. 31.—Fire starting at eleven o'clock tonight wiped out several business firms and caused a property loss estimated at $30,000. The fire was in wooden buildings, extending from Eddy street North, up Victoria street to the residential part of that section.

The blaze started in the third story of the Andrews block which was in the centre of the buildings burned and worked west through what is known as the Pugsley block, and in a short time these with their contents were destroyed. The fire then burned through the basement and upper flat of the W. D. Main block, and the Chambers block.

The temperature was below zero and with a high wind the firemen had a hard battle getting the flames under control.

The burned buildings were owned and occupied as follows:

Pugsley block, corner Eddy and Victoria streets, owned by Timothy O'Hearon.

The four lower stories being occupied by Bousaine Bros., general merchants. The upper flat as sample rooms of the Amherst Hotel.

The Andrews block, owned by the estate of the late Mrs. S. B. Andrews, occupied by Fred James, plumber, and John Conn, electrician.

Main block, owned by the estate of the late W. D. Main, occupied by Mrs. Allen, milliner, and J. J. Houston, shoe-maker.

The Robert Chambers block, occupied by Chapman and Flynn, stoves and furnaces. The Douglas block, occupied by the Amherst Trading Co., of which Councillor Charles D. Shipley is manager.

The loss of the buildings will amount to $15,000 while the stocks will probably be about the same although it is impossible to get estimate of individual losses. So far as can be gathered the insurance carried is as follows:

Amherst Trading Co., shop, $4,000; stock, $6,000.

Chambers building, $750.

Main building, $1,000.

Andrews building, $1,000.

O'Hearon building, $3,500.

Chapman and Flynn stock, $2,000.

Mrs. Allen stock, $500.

John Conn, stock, $800.

S. J. Houston, tools, $200.

It is not known if James or Bousaine carried any insurance or not.

The report of this fire should direct the minds of property owners to the necessity of placing adequate insurance on their properties. The Advertisements on this page are a guide to be considered.

"We are fighting for a worthy purpose, and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved."—H. M. The King.
TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

SIX MONTHS OF WAR.

Entering today upon the seventh month of the great war, Germany finds herself as far as ever from her dream of world domination. Before the military authorities at Berlin, six months ago, sent armed men into Belgium, in direct defiance of the German signed agreement guaranteeing that the Belgians should be continued as a neutral people in the event of a European conflict, the boast was carelessly and lightly made that if Britain, France and Russia joined in alliance against Germany and Austria-Hungary, and carried their resistance to the point of warfare, the issue would never be in doubt. Russia could be whipped in six weeks, France in six months, while one year would be ample time in which to bring about the downfall of the British Empire and remove from the path the last obstacle to the complete triumph of the Teutonic nations.

It was in this spirit and in this belief, proud and boastful, that Germany, a scarce half year ago, sent her armies forth to conquer. In the mind of Berlin there could be no result save certain victory. The power and resource of the British Empire was set at naught; the certainty that a blow at Mother England would be instantly resented by every man living under the British flag was ignored; the tradition that Britain and the British would fight, not one year, nor ten, but so long as a British subject remained, was forgotten; the German official mind retained only the egotistical belief that Germany was unbeatable and that while the struggle might be prolonged even to the twelve months limit there could be but one end to it and that the desired one.

In six months the German people have had a mighty awakening. They found that the people of Belgium would not sit supinely by and allow armed enemies to pass through their country at will and pleasure, taking what they chose, rejecting what did not please them, and comporting themselves with the contemptuous arrogance characteristic of the German soldier. They learned that the years elapsing since the Franco-Prussian war had wrought a wonderful change in the French republic, that, instead of a war department graft-ridden, inert and incapable, the military authorities of France had become alert and purposeful, and had learned the value of complete equipment and thorough organization. The Russia which Germany had held so lightly as to regard it as the least of the enemies to be disposed of, manifested such wonderful energy, resource and capacity, that scarcely were the Germans across the French border on the way to Paris before an immense Russian army was working up to the point where it eventually became a real menace at the German Lark door. And lastly, but of most importance, the Prussian militarists who had fondly hugged the delusion that Germany could whip the world, awakened to grimly realize that the British Empire, though pacific and slow to anger, was a mighty force when aroused.

The German advance on Paris was commenced in supreme confidence but ended in complete disillusionment and when the history of the war is written from the German standpoint, if a truthful history is ever so written, we believe it will be found that the first awakening synchronized with the masterly retreat of the "contemptible little" British army from Mons to the Marne, when 140,000 British soldiers, fighting rear guard actions through days of blood and nights of fire, held back the serried weight of the finest fighting men in the German Empire and permitted sorely needed reinforcements to give to the Allied lines the strength required before the retreat could give place to the advance, and the work of driving the Germans back across the border could commence in earnest.

Half a year of war finds the German armies sorely depleted and torn, the men mutinous and dismayed, the Austrian forces, on which Germany depended to hold the Russians in check until France had been beaten to her knees, already approaching the condition where peace would be welcome, the hordes of the Sultan defeated at every point, and the "Holy War" a failure.

Meanwhile, if we are to accept the views of financiers and other authorities, the economic situation in Germany is daily becoming more serious. Had Germany been successful in the early stages of the struggle there is little doubt that she would have been able to secure all the financial assistance necessary, but money lenders have been observers and already they have formed the opinion that the German cause is a hopeless one and consequently Berlin securities are not in demand.

It was said at the outset of the present war that money would play as large a part as men in the final turning of the scales. If that should prove true, and history teaches that other wars have been decided as much by the silver, as the leaden bullet, then the power of the Teuton is already on the wane. Great Britain has more gold in her strong boxes than at any time during the past ten years. France, with British backing, has been able to secure all the cash needed to prosecute the war to a successful ending. Russia has found American money markets in a receptive mood, and has succeeded in placing a good loan at interest rates regarded, under the circumstances, as remarkably low. Roumania, which is about to enter the conflict on the side of the Allies, has obtained financial backing in London, while Italy, hovering just outside the war line, is also in need of money. In fact Germany and Austria alone are reported as approaching the point where the pinch will be felt.

The facts being as they are it can be seen that the outlook for Germany and Austria is decidedly ominous. None of the German predictions have been fulfilled, the Kaiser's armies have not made the progress expected of them, the Kaiser's navy has not succeeded in bringing "The Day" to a successful conclusion, German commerce has been practically driven from the seas while that of Great Britain has suffered but little interruption. Today the Germans are fighting on the defensive and when the winter months have passed and the Allied armies prepare for their spring campaign, when as Lord Kitchener says, Britain will "really begin to fight," the situation for Germany must become decidedly worse. Already it is the belief of competent military observers that the war is more than half over, and that the next few months will see the completion of what has already commenced—the relegation of Germany and her associates to a position where they will never again disrupt the peace or progress of the world.

Apparently a German submarine has managed to escape the cordon of British warships watching the Kiel rendezvous and has inflicted some damage on British steamers plying to west coast of England ports. Although reports have been received that several vessels have been sent to the bottom there does not seem sufficient cause for alarm to shipping from Canada. Probably British war vessels, before this, have been sent in search of the marauder, and her career is likely to come to a sudden but interesting finish.

After the Germans conducted their "baby-killing" raid on Hartlepool on the English coast, the Berlin Tageblatt roared ferociously in the following vein, "What we want is to get the British fleet in the open against us. That was our object in the bombardment, and so long as the fleet continues in its cowardly way to skulk in its hiding place we will hope that many more English towns are shelled by German cruisers." The Tageblatt now has a chance to "blat" in a different tone, taking as its text the sinking of the German cruiser Bleucher. The Germans encountered the "cowardly" British fleet and the first action of their war vessels was to turn and run for home at top speed. The British vessels succeeded in sinking at least one of the German ships, but first had to catch them.

A sane and logical view of the relations which should exist between the United States and Great Britain on the question of contraband is presented by the Canadian Gazette of London, which says:—"England cannot afford to quarrel with the United States, and the United States cannot afford to quarrel with England. Hence the satisfaction with which we note the approaches of a settlement to the always difficult contraband question, for nowhere is the progress of the negotiations watched with greater interest and anxiety than in Canada. The conclusion written on the face of Sir Edward Grey's reply to the Washington note is that the United States traders are doing remarkably well out of the war—far better than they could hope to have done had Germany as well as British ships of war been abroad on the high seas to stop trade with belligerent countries. The best way out of the difficulty would be that the United States should undertake to guarantee the honesty and innocence of the manifests of United States shipping. It is for American as well as British freedom that we are fighting."

MEXICO NOT ELIGIBLE FOR MEMBERSHIP, ROOSEVELT SAYS

Conditions in the republic of Mexico continue to give force to a remark made by ex-President Roosevelt in his contribution to the Independent this week. In defining his plan of a "world league for the peace of righteousness," which comprehends the establishment of an international court. Mr. Roosevelt says that China in its present state "might perfectly well go into the second line of Powers which were entitled to the benefit of the court, although not entitled to send judges to it," but that "Mexico" would of course not be entitled to admission at present to either circle.

The council of the contracting powers, he says later on, "should have power to exclude any nation which completely fell from civilization, as Mexico . . . has fallen in the past few years." Without dwelling further upon Mr. Roosevelt's plan to establish righteous peace throughout the civilized world, we must admit that his judgment in the unworthiness of Mexico to fill a place in any council of civilized nations is that of all right-thinking men in all countries, including many Mexicans.

The Advance Under Diaz.

The judgment is not the less deplorable and disheartening, Mexico is one of the richest countries in the world in its natural advantages, and its people, in the long period of factitious peace maintained by Diaz, developed no little industrial capacity. Many of the larger cities were centres of thriving trade. Educational advantages were provided for the poor and the nation was by no means wholly deficient in either art or literature. A comparatively small but influential middle class was developing, who might always, it seems, hold the balance of political power. Yet when intelligent citizens lent their sanction to the movement of Madero to substitute for the corrupt system of Diaz, which had fostered any abuses, a nearer approach to a true constitutional Government of the people by the people, a period of disaster set in and the affairs of the nation have gone from bad to worse with no prospect of early relief.

Population Not Destructive.

There are many elements in the large population of Mexico, but not many that are habitually destructive. The Indians, generally speaking are tractable, easily led, grateful for a few comforts, and willing to work a little for their living. The people of pure Spanish blood are not mischievous, all idea of Spanish domination was banished from their minds many years ago, and while they are devoted to their Church they have adapted themselves to the restrictions placed upon it by the State with commendable sagacity. The people of mixed blood are not so mischievous as the discontented other. Many have been prosperous in the trades and professions and have lost much in the four years of disturbance. The revolutionists and mischief makers are clearly in a minority, yet they still are potent to destroy, though they have not shown in a single instance the civic intelligence and constructive sense without which a State cannot be reconstituted. Carranza, Villa, Angeles, Zapata, Gutierrez, all the names now written prominent in current Mexican history stand chiefly for destruction and defiance of law. These men are not equally lawless, of course; Carranza means well, but is hopelessly incompetent; Gutierrez, wholly unfit for his executive burden, has tried to discover his duty and perform it; Angeles is a skilled soldier who has allied himself with the wrong faction in the revolution; Villa and Zapata have a "record" of ungovernable passion and are ignorant of statesmanship.

The Saving Remnant.

That Mexico in its present condition could not be admitted to any council of nations, that it is fit only to be classed, lower than Turkey, with a few of the scarcely civilized countries in the remotest parts of the earth, is therefore a judgment in which all must agree. Yet there must be a million or more intelligent and aspiring people in the tortured republic who desire peace, who live only by the practice of the arts of peace, who have no faith in any one of the conspicuous leaders in the seemingly popular movement toward general anarchy, who believe in the efficacy of honest courts and the principles of free government, and a million who might as citizens, compel the restoration of law and order. The marvel about Mexico, therefore, is that the large number of really enlightened citizens of a nation which might be among the most prosperous and influential in the world should submit to more than four years of disorder and lawlessness.

CAPTURE OF 745 FRENCH IN ARGONNE FOREST IS REPORTED BY THE GERMANS

Berlin, Jan. 30.—By wireless to London.—German troops captured 745 French soldiers and 12 machine guns in the western part of the Argonne forest yesterday according to the official announcement made by the German war office today.

The text of the communication follows: "The French losses in the fighting to the north of Neupont, January 29, were heavy. Over 300 Moroccans and Algerians were found dead in the sand dunes. German artillery yesterday hampered the enemy in his efforts to make his way by sapping operations in the direction of the sandhill, which is to the east of Lighthouse. To the south of La Basse canal last night the Germans captured from the French at this point two more trenches which are connected with the positions occupied by us January 25. In this operation we made sixty prisoners. "In the western part of the Argonne forest a German attack delivered yesterday resulted in a considerable advance. Twelve officers and 733 soldiers were taken prisoners. We also captured 12 machine guns and ten anti-aircraft guns. The losses of the enemy were heavy, from 400 to 500 dead having been left on the field of battle. The French infantry regiment No. 155, which was engaged near Borsinow, East of Loewitz, was repulsed with very heavy losses to the enemy."

RINGLEADERS OF KOMAGATU AFFAIR TRY TO STIR UP SEDITION IN INDIA

London.—(Gazette Cable)—A despatch to the London Morning Post from its Calcutta correspondent reports that the Punjab Mail was defamed by the removal of a rail, the blame for the occurrence being thrown on the disloyal propaganda of the ringleaders of the Komagatu Maru affair who are still at large. The nature of the propaganda was revealed by the prosecution of seven men, three of whom are said to be returned emigrants from Canada. In addition to the weapons found upon them, they had forceps for removing the nuts holding rails in place. A scheme was also discovered to subvert the loyalty of an Indian regiment, and to over-

Blake arrived the flames were pouring from the Clayton store and it looked so bad that a second alarm was sent in.

The Messrs. Clayton owned the three buildings. A large three story structure, known as the "Flatiron" building, situated at the junction of Brussels and Waterloo streets towards Haymarket Square. This building is vacant on the ground floor, while the rooms were occupied by Mr. Kenney and Mrs. Susan Dowell. Adjacent to this building is a two and a half story building, occupied on the ground floor as a store by James W. Clayton, who resides on the upper floors. Next to this building, one four story high, occupied by six families, viz. Miss Bessie Myles, Samuel Hodgins, Millidge Taylor, John E. Walsh, William Harley and John Stevenson.

As soon as the apparatus arrived on the scene it was only a brief time before five streams of water were being used to fight the flames, but it was a hard battle as the fire had gained such a big start. The Clayton store throughout was a roaring mass and the fire had eaten its way into the four story tenement, the west end of the building, occupied by Messrs. Dowell and Kenney was also on fire. The fire was fought from Waterloo street and Brussels street, while the streams were run through the tenement as well as directed from the roof of a house farther down the street. There was no time to get furniture out of the apartments occupied by Mr. Clayton and it was totally destroyed. The Dowell and Kenney furniture was removed by the Salvage Corps, but when it was seen that only a small section of the house was burned and the fire was under control it was replaced in the house. This was not the case, however, with the six families in the tenement; those on the eastern side were left homeless and their furniture totally destroyed. The other families had a portion of their furniture damaged.

When asked regarding the insurance, the majority said that they did not carry any and their loss will be serious, while Mr. Walsh said he had had a small policy on his furniture, but he was not sure whether it had lapsed or not. It is said, in fact, that the only insurance carried on the buildings or contents is that carried by the Messrs. Clayton.

It was after six o'clock when the firemen had the fire quenched and it took them over an hour putting out the blaze between the street ceiling and the floor of the building occupied by Mr. Clayton. Between the floor was banked with nearly a half foot of sawdust and this was all on fire. The firemen were obliged to cut up the HEART WOULD PALPITATE. HAD WEAK and DIZZY SPELLS.

Palpitation of the heart is one of the most common of all heart troubles. The heart will beat fast for several seconds, then slow, then start to flutter, and a feeling of utter depression will come over the system accompanied by weak and dizzy spells, making you feel that you are surely going to die. When you feel this way you require it is a real good heart and nerve tonic; one that will strengthen the weak heart and build up the nerve system. For this purpose we know of nothing that can equal Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. J. S. Nicholls, Listowel, Ont., writes: "I was weak and run down, my heart would palpitate, and I would have weak and dizzy spells. A friend advised me to try your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I started at once, and found that I felt much stronger, and my heart was ever so much better within a short time. I cannot praise your medicine too highly for it has done me a world of good. My husband has also been bothered with heart trouble ever since childhood and finds great relief in using your valuable pills."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 80 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"DAREDEVIL JOE" TRACY NAMED IN DIVORCE CASE

Joseph Tracy.

"Daredevil Joe" Tracy, the automobile racing driver who won the Vanderbilt Cup in 1906 and has innumerable other trophies in his possession, was named as correspondent in a divorce action, tried before Justice Coleman and brought by Francis Woodhead Coles, Jr., of Tarrytown, N. Y., against Fannie Collins Coles, included in the papers submitted to the Justice, who reserved decision, were several bits of ardent verse, alleged to have been sent by Tracy to Mrs. Coles.

The married life of the Coleses was of unusually brief duration, it being alleged that twenty-four hours after the wedding the bride disappeared. They were married in 1906, the year that Tracy won the Vanderbilt Cup.

The newspapers of the time, the papers in the case set forth, spoke of a "beautiful black-eyed girl" who sat in the grand stand, displaying great interest in Tracy's driving. When he flashed in the winner she was shouting "Good boy, Joe! Good boy!" The papers do not state, however, that this was Mrs. Coles.

PLAN ON INCREASING COMMON STOCK TO SIXTY MILLIONS

Chicago, Jan. 31.—The payment of a $20,000,000 stock dividend to the holders of the $40,000,000 common stock of the mail order corporation was recommended yesterday by the directors of Sears, Roebuck Company. The new shares of the fifty per cent. dividend will be issued against all accumulated surplus of approximately $23,500,000, a large part of which has been re-invested in the business.

The directors recommended that the distribution should be made April 1st to stockholders of record March 15. A special meeting of stockholders was called for Feb. 25 to approve the board's recommendation and to vote on a plan to increase the authorized amount of the corporation's common stock from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000.

Northrop of Springfield, Kings county, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thos. Crawford, on King street, Friday evening. She had been a resident of St. Stephen during the past eight years and was generally esteemed. Her age was seventy-six years and nine months and death was due to bright's disease. The deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Crawford, and four sons, Edward S. of Oakpoint, George H. of Belleisle, James R. of West Somerville, Mass., and Albert A. of Enterprise, Florida. Mrs. James Dow of Lowell, Mass., is a sister. Funeral service was held at the residence of Mrs. Crawford Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Geo. F. The remains will leave here tomorrow morning for Springfield, Kings county, where they will be interred.

A Handsome, Roomy Home

This design is of a comfortable, simple house with a very pleasing exterior, in the English style and with a well arranged floor plan.
The piazza is covered only at the ends, the long side being a balcony, not shading the rooms. The first story walls are stone and roof shingled. There are deep eaves with brackets under them and substantial square columns at the covered piazza. There is a living room, the ceiling of which can be beamed, and which is cut off from the stair hall by a columned and applaned balustrade. It has an open fireplace and a pretty seat. Another seat can be put at the diagonal ends, but I never show too many seats in a plan, almost everyone knows where a seat would be desirable. The staircase is a pretty one with columns to the ceiling and a good rail effect. On the side is a large closet. The library has a grilled entrance, and there is a similar opening from it to the dining room. This room has an open fireplace and an entrance from outside. There is an excellent butler's pantry and the kitchen is convenient and well planned. Tubs may be put in it, or in the basement as preferred.
On the second floor are four good bed rooms, a bath and five closets. One room finished in the attic is included in the estimate, but there is space for two small ones and storage. The finish of this house would vary in different parts of the country at this estimate. Where wood is cheap, hardwood finish might be used and a wainscot in the living room. Where it is not, plain N. C. floors and wood finished white or stained. Fortunately this last gives as good effect as any when tastefully arranged.
First story ceiling nine feet. Second story eight feet, six inches. Width thirty-six feet, six inches. Depth fifty-four feet, six inches.
The cost of building is shown by following items:
Excavation $100
Millwork 650
Foundation-Mason work 300
Cement floors 70
Plumbing, etc. 200
Carpenter work 700
Painting and glazing 300
Hardware 100
Lumber 800
Hot air heating 140
Range 40
Total $4,000

NEW HAVEN STOCKS ACTIVE SATURDAY

Recovered Some of Previous Losses.—Minimum of U. S. Steel Again Reduced.—Bond Market Irregular.

New York, Jan. 30.—Stocks were moderately strong for the better part of today's session, after opening with some irregularity, recoveries of one to two points from yesterday's low level were quite general, although this improvement was shaded in the final dealings, when some of the leaders, notably Reading, receded on realizing sales.

The short interest was again prominent, mainly however, in the covering of outstanding contracts. There were some counter movements in the special division, a few of the low priced issues going back, while Sears Roebuck rose substantially in the expectation of an increased dividend.

New Haven which sold at its minimum of 49 yesterday, was one of today's most active features, recovering much of its loss. United States Steel was all but neglected after a belated opening at its minimum official notice of another reduction in the minimum to 38 was issued. The preferred stocks gained a fraction, and the sinking fund bonds also reflected support.

Trade reports were more encouraging, although improvement in most lines is moving slowly. Despite the adverse showing of the United States Steel Corporation for December, advances in various finished products are said to be under consideration.

The $48,000,000 of Penna. Railroad four and a half per cent. first mortgage bonds, recently taken by a banking syndicate, were offered today at 103 3/4, with indications of a large inquiry. More financial undertakings of this character were said to be under way.

Local banks showed an actual cash gain in their own vaults of about $5,000,000, while contracting a liability of reserves in the federal bank by about $4,750,000. The loan account expanded by $21,000,000.

Bonds were irregular, some issues reflecting foreign selling. Total sales amounted to $1,063,000.

United States and Panama bonds advanced one-quarter to three-quarters per cent. on call during the week.

Mr. James W. Leonard

Mr. LEONARD, who on February 1st takes up his duties as head of the Toronto Terminal Company at Toronto, relinquishes his position as assistant to the Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific, which he occupied for four years. He was born at Epsom, in Ontario, named after the famous English racecourse village. All his life Mr. Leonard has been connected with railroads, which service he entered in 1872. Mr. Leonard became a telegraph operator and was agent of the Midland Railway of Canada. In August, 1877, he was transferred to the Victoria Railway as agent. In 1878 he became the Assistant Manager of that railway and held that position until March, 1880, when he was appointed Assistant to General Superintendent of the Credit Valley Railway, which was subsequently incorporated with the Canadian Pacific, and his services have been entirely with this company since that date. During that time Mr. Leonard witnessed rapid development in Canadian railroad history, and saw the first transcontinental train cross the Dominion.

In June, 1880, he was appointed General Passenger Agent of the Credit Valley Railway, and in November, 1883, became Manager of Transportation of the Ontario & Quebec Railway, which now forms an important link in the Canadian Pacific Railway System. In May, 1884, he was appointed Superintendent for the C. P. R., and held that position until March, 1893, when he was appointed General Superintendent of the Ontario & Quebec Divisions. In May, 1901, he was transferred to the West as General Superintendent of the Western Division. In March, 1903, he went to the Central Division, being the line between Port Arthur, Pasqua and Estevan. After holding this position until April 15th, 1903, he was appointed Assistant General Manager of all the Company's lines west of Lake Superior. In June, 1903, he returned to the East and was appointed Manager of Construction. During his tenure of this position, what is now known as the Short Line to Ottawa was constructed. A trade opening if Canadian growers and packers will go after the business.

A ship arrived there recently with 1,220 barrels of Canadian apples and 6,272 boxes, half of which, however, were American. The British Columbia apples were considered the best imported. They were of fine quality and the packing was perfect.

Government issuing 100 foot licenses for a dollar.—Continuous operation a condition.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Probably owing to the business depression of the difficulty of making money in other ways there have been many applications of late for placer gold mining rights along the North Saskatchewan River in the Edmonton district. As the sands are known to contain gold in sufficient quantity to make the operation fairly remunerative, the government is issuing 100 foot licenses for one dollar, but requires practically continuous operation to prevent cancellation of license.

WHATEVER TY COBB DOES IS DONE HARD AND WELL

"What sort of a fellow is Ty Cobb off the ball field?"
Hundreds have put the question just that way to persons who have met Cobb socially. They have formed an opinion of Cobb, based on their observation of the man at work, and appear to be seeking corroboration of it by getting an estimate of the great star from one who has met him in private life.
Cobb plays hard, and he plays to win. He is a reservoir filled to the limit with intelligence and energy, and the combination develops amazing power and makes him one of the greatest players the game has ever seen.
As to Cobb off the ball field, what follows is the estimate and opinion of one who had to do with him socially for the greater part of two weeks while Pres. Gaffney and Manager Stallings of the World's Champions were entertaining a hunting party in Georgia recently. The opinion is that it would be difficult to find a more companionable, a more gentlemanly or a more interesting character than this same Cobb.
He hunts, he shoots, he plays poker and he reads, all very much after the style that he plays baseball. His wife is a Georgia girl and they have two children, a boy and a girl, the eldest five years old. They live in Augusta during the winter.
While Cobb is a model family man, he finds time to do a lot of hunting in the off-season, and so does not have to spend more than a week at spring training to get into condition for the baseball season. As a matter of fact, he is in condition right now.
He was in the Gaffney-Stallings party at Haddock, and never lost a minute of daylight in the hunt. One of the plantation hands, whom Mr. Stallings sent with him as a guide, was walked off his feet the first day, and sidestepped the assignment thereafter.
"He is too hard a man to follow," was his comment, when they came in at dark, barely able to drag one foot after the other.
Cobb rarely missed a bird, and generally brought home from twenty to thirty quail each day. He owns three splendid bird dogs, and thinks the world of them. The master and the dogs understand each other and work in perfect harmony.
Ty must have been given quite a shock one evening in connection with these dogs; but he showed his nerve as usual and never batted an eyelash. They all had had a hard day's work, and before going to dinner Ty called a picaninny, who had the care of dogs and guns, and said:
"Mose, I want you to give my dogs a nice supper tonight."
"I have, sir. I gave them all a fine supper," said Mose.
An hour or so later, when the crowd was sitting around the fireplace talking baseball, Mose's voice was heard in the hall.
"Mister Ty, your dog done choke."
Knowing how much Cobb thought of his dogs, every eye was cast in his direction, expecting to see him hit the roof. He sat as rigid as a stone man, for what seemed like 10 seconds. Every one else present seemed speechless and paralyzed, and Mose's eyes were bulging out of their sockets as he stood in the doorway.
Ty finally broke the silence by inquiring in the most matter-of-fact way, "Is he dead?"
"Not yet," came back Mose.
In what seemed to be mighty deliberate fashion Cobb walked from the room, and almost before the others present had found their voices he walked back again and sat down as cool as ice.
"What was the matter with the dog?" some one asked.
"Had a bone in his throat. I pulled it out," said Cobb, and he then took up the conversation where it had been interrupted by the announcement of Mose.
Ty made it a point to see that his dogs were washed and dried before he changed his own clothes, on days that they came in wet and tired.
It did not appear that he ever tired. Just an incident to show the wonderful physical condition of the man at the present time: One day the hunting party, which was going to some cover in the woods, had a mishap. Going over a trail in the lowlands, which for a considerable distance was covered with water knee-deep, the golog was so rough that the whiffetrees on one of the wagons broke; the horse got clear and left the party marooned.
Sam Crane, who was one of those left in the middle of the lake, already had a pretty bad cold and did not care to add to his trouble by wetting his feet. Sam must weigh about 225 pounds, but Cobb took him on his back, at the same time carrying his own gun and ammunition, and packed the load a distance of 75 yards, with the water up around his knees the greater part of the distance, and landed Sam high and dry without turning a hair.
It was not long after this that one

FEDERAL MINOR LEAGUE

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 31.—President James A. Gilmore of the Federal Baseball League, has made the announcement here that the Federals would have a minor league in New England. He declined to indicate definitely the cities which would be selected for teams, but said it was planned to put teams in those places where organized baseball is now played. He said he had received already a dozen inquiries in regard to the proposed league, from men with money and found conditions in New England much more favorable for such an organization than he had supposed.
of the dogs loaned by one of the townspeople flushed a covey of quail on which Cobb's dogs had come to a point and were working on.
It was the second or third time he had done the same thing that day, he evidently being jealous of Ty's dogs and out to steal their politics.
After flushing the birds, the dog took to chasing them, and Ty took to chasing the dog, being peeved over the way Jimmy was spilling the chances of getting a shot by being too ambitious. Ty was yelling to him to stop, but the dog kept on, and so did Ty.
The stern chase went on for half a mile, the latter part of which the dog was doing his best to outrun Ty, knowing what was coming to him; but Ty finally caught him.
There was an interesting minute or two for Jimmy, and he spent the rest of the day in the wagon. Cobb never went around the bases much faster than he went after that dog.
He did not riding in the wagons, and that night was as fresh as a daisy, surprising everyone with his knowledge of history, ancient and modern, which showed that he had done much careful reading.
Lately he has taken to playing billiards and Stallings says Ty will never stop until he becomes expert at the game, as he is in every other one that he has ever tackled.
Down in Brunswick, Ga., the party visited the High School and Cobb made a very nice speech to the boys and girls there. To the boys he said:
"Whatever you undertake do with all your might; work hard, play hard. There is no discredit in being beaten by a stronger opponent, but you should see to it that there are none stronger than you, if that be possible."

ST. ANDREW'S BONSPPEIL SATURDAY

The second bonspiel among the members of the St. Andrew's Curling Club took place Saturday afternoon and evening and proved a most enjoyable event for the curlers. There was no less than sixteen rinks playing and as each rink is composed of four men it means that sixty-four curlers were engaged. As soon as a rink was defeated it was counted out of the bonspiel and the winning rink would have to meet another winning rink until it finally came down to two rinks to play at the finish. The rink skipped by E. P. McCavour managed to sail through the entire bonspiel without losing a game and accordingly proved the winners. This rink was made up as follows: S. G. Golding, lead; Dr. J. H. Barton, number two; C. B. Allan, mate, and S. P. McCavour skip. After the bonspiel had finished all the players adjourned to the spacious club rooms where supper was served and an enjoyable time was spent. These matches are proving most popular as it gives a chance for nearly all the members to get together and play against each other.
