Remember this! Paint insurance on your buildings is just as important as fire insurance.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS
PAINTS & VARNISHES

Fire may never come, but the deteriorating effect of the weather on buildings of every kind is certain, unless protected by paint.

Unprotected wooden surfaces crack and become open and porous, then decay and rot starts. This means expensive repairs, which can all be avoided by the regular use of paint.

Examine your buildings now—A little money spent in painting at once may save you much larger expenditure a little later.

Sherwin-Williams Paint, Prepared, is the ideal paint for outside use. It is made of the purest and best materials, thoroughly mixed and ground by powerful machinery according to special formulae; the result of years of experiment and experience in paint making.

OVER THE TOP FOR Y.M.C.A. FUND

Carleton County Exceeds the Amount Asked For—Very Successful Campaign

Every resident of Carleton and native of the county wherever he may be has reason to be proud of his people's splendid response to the call for funds for Y.M.C.A. war work. Carleton went "over the top" in quite a wonderful way. The county was asked to pay $6,500 and in three days the people paid nearly $9000.

The following table shows the amount each parish was asked for and the amount that was actually paid. It will be noticed that nearly every one the amount asked for was exceeded, and Brighton did the best of all in this regard:

	Asked	Paid
New Brunswick	$200.00	$394.00
Bridton	800.00	1165.00
Beal	300.00	300.00
Berdeen	200.00	210.00
East	400.00	587.55
Wicklow	400.00	248.50
Wilmot	500.00	664.80
Simonds	200.00	200.00
Wakefield	500.00	772.22
Richmond	400.00	381.00
Woodstock	200.00	200.00
Woodstock, town	2800.00	3067.50

At time of going to press figures were still incomplete.

Elsewhere in this issue appears a detailed report of the donations in Brighton. Among these there were a few omissions. In the lists there should have been the following:

Charles Stevens $3
Kelsie Crabb 1
Emma Cogswell 1
Arnold Crabb 1
Married Crabb 1

There may be other omissions, which, if brought to the editor's notice, will be added next week.

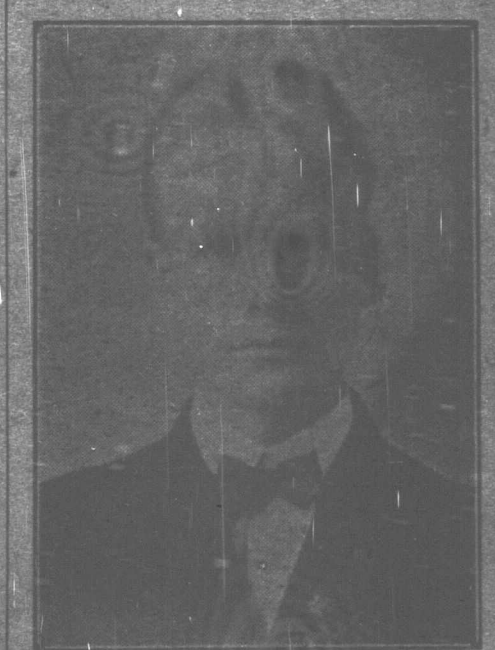

The chairman of the general committee in Brighton addresses the generous givers thus:

"The Red Triangle Campaign to raise $800 in the parish of Brighton for the Y.M.C.A. fund has reached nearly $1200, exceeding the allotment by about 50 per cent. I am very grateful for this amount and I wish to thank every member of the committee and the collectors who so energetically worked and made this campaign such a grand success. Much credit is due the clergy, especially Rev. G. S. Helps, Rev. I. E. VanWart and Rev. E. A. Trites, who so willingly and forcibly placed this worthy question before their respective congregations, thus preparing and making the work easier for the collectors. On behalf of the committee I also wish to thank everyone who so liberally responded."

W. D. KRITH,
Chairman

Throughout the Dominion there was a most generous response to the appeal. The sum of $2,250,000 was asked for and this was exceeded by nearly one million.

Pte. Lewis H. Hansen who is serving his King in France. He is a son of Carl O. Hansen of New Denmark.

Tired and Discouraged

Mrs. Warren Randles, Rothery, Kings County, N. B., writes: "I have three small children and had to stay in the house all winter. So when spring came I was all run down doing all my work and looking after the children. I felt all tired out, and looked on the gloomy side all the time. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and the results were most satisfactory. I feel fine now, and am recommending the Nerve Food to others."

WILBUR TOMPKINS LOSES A FOOT

Falls Beneath Train at East Florenceville on Saturday

Wilbur Tompkins, 14-year-old son of I. M. Tompkins of East Florenceville was on Saturday evening the unfortunate loser of a foot. The distressing accident was the result of his attempting to board a moving train, when in some inexplicable manner his foot was terribly crushed. It would not appear that the weight of the train ran over it, and the lad himself does not know how the mishap came about. The bones were badly mangled and Dr. F. M. Brown, who was called, found it necessary to amputate above the ankle.

The injured boy, and his parents, will have the sympathy of all who hear of the painful accident. His trouble is only what scores of other boys all along the line are threatened with daily. The habit of jumping on trains is a nasty one that goes on until there is a casualty, when for a time the warning serves to prevent the dangerous pastime.

Lieut. John Barnett Revisits Old Home

Lieut. John Barnett of the 180th Battalion, a western regiment, is back to Canada on a brief furlough. Lieut. Barnett is the second son of the late John Barnett, who was so far so many years postmaster at Hartland. After graduating from Dalhousie he went to Alberta about 15 years ago and practiced law at Innisfail. He was among the first to enlist and went overseas commissioned as a Captain with the 50th Regiment. That battalion was broken up and he took a lieutenantancy in the other regiment. He was through the show at Hill 70 and also at Passchendaele. He was twice wounded in the left leg and later was run over by a lorry in a dash for cover, injuring the same limb again. He still suffers the effects of this. Lieut. Barnett married a Westmorland county girl and has two children. He was here to visit his mother and sister, as well as his brother, C. E. Barnett at Somerville. A host of old associates were right glad to see him.

Mrs. Eliza Stephenson

On Wednesday, May 8, Mrs. Eliza Stephenson widow of the late Andrew Stephenson, passed away at her home in Florenceville. Deceased was in the ninety-first year of her age. Her maiden name was Eliza Kilpatrick. She was born in Ireland and came to this country early in life. She was a woman of a kind heart and Christian faith. About twelve years ago she became blind, but though her natural eye failed, with the eye of faith she beheld Him who said "I am the light of the world," and took pleasure in his word.

Mrs. Stephenson is survived by five sons, Charles E., James, Albert and Gilbert of Florenceville, and Alonzo of Presque Isle. Also one daughter Annie, at home, and a number of grand-children and great-grand-children.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon, the services being conducted by Rev. M. H. Manuel. The remains were laid to rest beside those of her husband in the Greenfield Presbyterian cemetery.

H. H. Hatfield has three new McLaughlin-Buick automobiles, also three second hand cars for sale at a bargain.

Sciatic Pains from Exhausted Nerves

SCIATICA or sciatic rheumatism is attended with pain and tenderness along the sciatic nerve in the hips and thighs, and indicates an exhausted condition of the nervous system.

Relief is sometimes obtained by external applications or the use of heat, but at the slightest provocation the distressing pains return and from time to time become more severe as the nervous system becomes more exhausted.

The only way to obtain actual cure is by a reconstruction of the wasted nerve cells, and this is best accomplished by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It need not cost you much to restore vigor to the nervous system, but it will take a little patience, particularly at first. After you have used a few boxes and got the building-up process established you will find improvements from day to day which will encourage you to keep up this treatment until the nervous system is completely restored.

Nervous disorders do not right themselves, but naturally, become more acute as the system becomes further exhausted. It is only wise to be warned by sleeplessness, headaches, neuralgic and sciatic pains and to take immediate action to restore the depleted nerves before paralysis, locomotor ataxia or some form of helplessness is developed.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

50 cents a box—do not pay more—at all dealers or Edmunds, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. On every box of the genuine you will find the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

The Ford Saves the Hay and Oats the Horses Eat

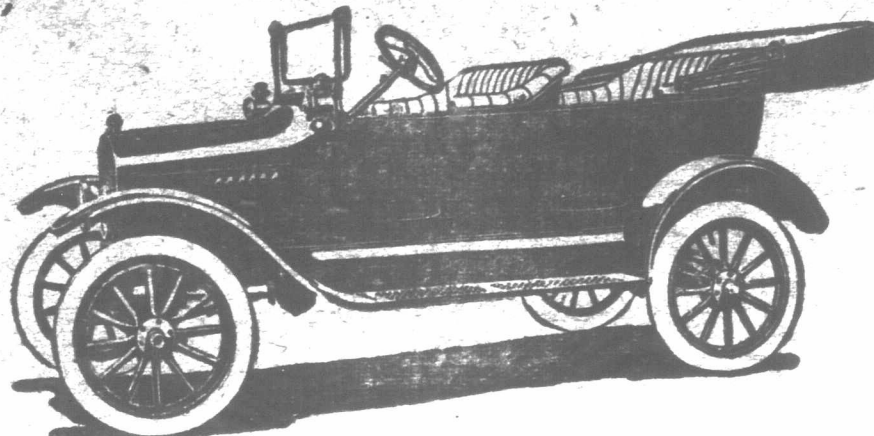

IT HAS been estimated that five acres of land are required to maintain one horse for a year, and that the same five acres would produce nearly enough food for two people. If 50,000 Canadian farmers each replaced one horse with a Ford, 250,000 acres would be added to the Nation's source of food supply and enough extra food made available to feed 100,000 people.

Just think what a great service this means to the country at the present time and the benefit to the farmers from the sale of food produced on this acreage.

A Ford car also saves the farmer a week or more of valuable time each year, which can be used for further productive work. The Ford travels three times as fast as a horse and rig—costs less to run and keep, and is far easier to take care of. With labor so scarce and high priced, time means money, so do not delay in getting your Ford.

BUILD UP THE BLOOD

You Cannot Have Health if the Blood is Weak and Watery

It is a hopeless task to try to restore your health while your blood is deficient in quality or quantity. The blood circulates through every portion of the body. It makes nourishment from the food and distributes it to the various organs and muscles. It takes also any medication that is administered through the mouth. The blood is the only means by which medicine can reach the nerves. Hence if the blood is poor the body becomes weak and the nerves shaky, and the victim may be subject to headaches and dizziness, poor appetite, indigestion, a constantly tired feeling or perhaps to rheumatism, sciatica, neuritis. Poor blood is the forerunner of nearly every ailment to which mankind is subject, and you can only enjoy robust health by keeping the blood rich, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition no medicine yet discovered can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose helps to make new, rich blood which carries new health and new strength to every part of the body. When one becomes weak and pale Dr. Williams' Pink Pills restore the blood, bring the glow of health to the cheeks, and make weak, ailing people energetic and strong. Mr. Stephen H. Williams, Kitchener, Ont., says:—"Some years ago my health started to fail. The doctor said my blood was thin and watery, but the medicine I took did not do me any good. My joints and limbs would ache and swell, until it was almost impossible for me to get up or down, and no one knows how much I suffered or how discouraged I was. Reading of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills one day I decided to try them. I got a couple of boxes, and by the time I had taken them felt an improvement. I then got six boxes more and before I had taken them all felt like a new woman in every way. I could do my house work without feeling tired, and in fact I was enjoying better health than I had done for years. I am now sure I will always strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all other sufferers."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at $5.00 a box or six boxes for $35.00 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Irish Eyes

By HILDA MORRIS

When Bob Ellison was very young he had an Irish nurse. She was a pretty colleen, that nursemaid, her big blue Irish eyes fringed with lashes as black as the glossy braids of hair. Little Bob idolized his Maggie, and years afterwards, when she was but a memory, the sight of blue eyes rimmed with black would recall her dancing feet, her merry voice, her tales of goblins and the "wee folk." He never hoped to see Maggie again, of course, but he did hope, in some vague, subconscious way, to meet eyes like hers, in a face like hers, sometime, somewhere. All of us cherish ideals whether we know it or not, and most of them have curious foundations. No one could have been more surprised than Bob Ellison at the suggestion that the ideal of the girl he wished to marry was petted after the bewitching Maggie of his nursery days. Nevertheless, it was so.

Bob went through school and college with none of the love entanglements from which his fellows suffered. There were girls, of course, some of them very nice girls with whom he liked to dance and swim and occasionally flirt, but none of them looked like Maggie. The Irish ones were red-haired, or their eyes were brown, or they had too many freckles. It was not until Bob was twenty-six years old and a decided "catch" that he saw a girl with Irish eyes and blue-black hair, a girl whom even Maggie might have envied.

It was at a dance that he met her, a debutante affair to which his mother had bade him go with particular injunctions to meet Miss Wayne, "the Miss Wayne of Boston." Bob's mother was not unaware of the fact that her son was clever enough and handsome enough to marry whom he would, and she liked to fancy an alliance with some old aristocratic family. After Bob had gone to the dance, his mother had a daughter-in-law, tall, distinguished, a little aloof and awe-inspiring.

As for Bob, however, he shook off his mother's injunctions as soon as he had left the house. Miss Wayne of Boston, indeed! He knew all about those Boston girls; he had had them for teachers. They were mostly tall, and some spectacles and liked to talk about the English constitution. He had no intention of seeking an acquaintance with Miss Wayne.

And as soon as he reached the ballroom he saw the girl with the Irish eyes. She wore blue, a misty floating blue that matched the blue of her eyes, and her sleek hair was her trim little feet. Some one called her "Maggie-Rose." Maggie-Rose, of all things! Irish names! Some one introduced her to Bob and they danced off together. Maggie-Rose Flynn! He did not care who she was or where she came from, except that she seemed to have come from his land of dreams, his shrine of ideals. She danced divinely, and when she spoke her voice was like a bell. Bob, a merry musical voice such as only Irish maids may have. She was his Maggie to the life, only far more lovely. But of this Bob was entirely unaware. He had forgotten Maggie; it was only her essence that survived to weave the fabric of his heart's ideal.

Maggie-Rose seemed to like him, too. They danced together a great deal that evening, they had supper together, they sat for a dreamy half-hour in the conservatory. She talked a good deal, but Bob was not really conscious of much that she said; it was the sound of her voice that enchanted him, the curve of her red lips when she smiled, the blue of her eyes. If she told him anything about herself he was not aware of it, she remained to him a mysterious fulfillment of a long-cherished dream, a bewitching embodiment of all that was most charming in women.

Later some one else claimed her for a dance, and Bob watched her from the shelter of a doorway until some one reminded him that he ought to be dancing with another girl. Reluctantly he turned away his eyes from the graceful form of Maggie-Rose, and the girl with whom he danced found him very silent and stupid and a very bad dancer; in fact, she said that he never would look where he was going, but insisted on gazing over the heads of people as if he were looking for some one, which seemed to her very rude.

Afterwards he tried to find Maggie-Rose, but she had vanished. No graceful shape in floating blue appeared on the ballroom floor, that is, no shape that was graceful according to Bob's idea. Maggie-Rose had apparently disappeared as completely as if at the stroke of 12, her fairy godmother had changed her into another form.

"What's become of that Miss Flynn, the one in blue?" Bob asked several of his friends, but no one seemed to know. He hung about the place until almost the last guest had departed, but there was no further sign of Maggie-Rose. Stranger still, no one seemed to have even heard the name. "Why 'no,' I don't remember meeting any Miss Flynn." Bob forebore to ask his busy hostess—a close friend of his mother's, Mrs.

could do so later if he had to, but he resolved in the meantime to conduct his own search for Maggie-Rose Flynn.

After Bob reached home that night, he looked up all the Flynns in the directory and marked the ones he thought most likely to be related in some manner to Maggie-Rose. Next day he tried calling them up from a public telephone booth, in each case asking casually for Maggie-Rose, and in each case being misunderstood, maligned and disappointed. By mid-afternoon he had ascertained that she did not belong to any of the Flynns listed in the directory of his native city. Perhaps she lived with an aunt, or perhaps—horrible thought, she had left town, gone back to some faraway place which she honored by her residence. There seemed but one thing to do—go back to his hostess of the night before and ask for full particulars regarding Miss Maggie-Rose Flynn, divulging, need be, his reason for wishing to know.

Mrs. Banning herself was not at home that afternoon, but the debutante daughter was; peals of laughter from the library told that she was entertaining some young people at tea. Perhaps she could tell him about Maggie-Rose. Perhaps—

But as he entered the door the first person Bob saw was Maggie-Rose herself, sitting by the fire, her blue eyes blue as the shimmering frock she wore, her smile more bewitching than ever. "Now what?"

"Why, Mr. Ellison," exclaimed little Miss Banning, much flattered by this visit. "Do come in and have some tea with us. I suppose you met Miss Wayne last night, didn't you? Maggie-Rose has been telling me about some nice man who took her out to supper, and from her description I couldn't think who it could possibly be but you."

"It was," confessed Bob, "only I didn't know—Maggie-Rose was Miss Wayne."

"And I didn't catch your name, either," confessed Miss Wayne. "Wasn't it stupid? I thought all the time that your name was Murphy because you look like a boy I used to know, years ago, whose name was Timothy Murphy. He had brown eyes and a nose like yours."

"Good gracious, Maggie-Rose," broke in Miss Banning, "Mr. Ellison isn't Irish?"

"Well, I am," declared Miss Wayne, making a charming move, "that is one of my grandmothers was. For the rest, I'm plain American, but I'm glad of a little Irish to balance the Puritan part."

"So am I," declared Bob Ellison devoutly. "I was wondering, Miss-Maggie-Rose, whether you wouldn't like to take a walk in the park this afternoon, or some time."

At dinner that evening Mrs. Ellison, who had permitted herself to indulge in dreams of daughter-in-law for several hours during the day, asked her son what was to her, a burning question.

"Did you meet Miss Wayne last night, the one from Boston?" Her son looked slightly confused, as though roused suddenly from dreams of his own.

"Oh? Oh, Maggie-Rose? Yes, I met her last night. I meant to tell you."

"Maggie-Rose? I mean did you meet Miss Margaret Rosborough Wayne, the Miss Wayne of Boston?"

"I met her," he nodded. "Her name's Maggie-Rose, and she's the sweetest girl in all the world, and we're going to be married. I was just trying to tell you, mother."

Cinema in Strange Places.
In Mexico, the capital of the negro republic of Liberia, there is a cinema in the house of representatives. The pictures are shown on two evenings a week, and they are invariably attended by the president, whose presidential chair is set aside for him as a free seat.

The "picture" craze has reached the Arctic regions, for at Repulse, a little township in the extreme north of Sweden, and just on the Arctic circle, there is a handsome little cinema, patronized by Laplanders. It is frequently snowed up and unable to open.

The South Sea Islands, another inaccessible part of the globe, have likewise succumbed to the lure of the "movies." In the island of Tahiti there are no fewer than three cinemas. The South Sea Islander will sell his hut or his girls for the price of a ticket for the "pictures."

Glass Blowing an Ancient Art.
The art of glass blowing is also very ancient and had an existence probably 4,000 years before Christ. The art of blowing is plainly depicted upon the tumuli of Mastaba of Tib at Memphis, and these tombs were built more than 5,000 years ago. In the picture upon them the blower with tube in mouth, just the same as the present day, is seen equated before his furnace, and from the detail and perfection of knowledge of the art evidenced in the ancient pictures it is readily seen that glass blowing was no new thing with the people of that time and region. The glass blower of that day made vases, beads, ornaments and bottles.

Didn't Need Sympathy.
"Look at the gray-haired office boy. Isn't he a pathetic sight?"
"Oh, don't waste your sympathy on that old fellow. He's well satisfied with life."

"How do you know he is?"
"I was talking to him the other day. In a burst of confidence he piped: 'By cracky, I'm sixty years old, and this is the best payin' job I ever had in my life.'—Birmingham Age Herald."

SHE GOT THEM.
She blushed very prettily as she walked into the tobacconist's big shop. "Yes, madam," said the assistant, smiling interrogatively, as they say in all the best novels. "I want some cigars, please," she said hurriedly, under her breath, hastening to add: "But not for myself—for my husband."

"Certainly, madam; what kind do you like?"

"Oh, the best—quite the best, please."

"The very strongest you've got, please," she answered in decided tones. "My husband was complaining only the other day that the last lot he bought all broke in his pocket, so they had better be strong, hadn't they?"

And the young man behind the counter hadn't the heart to contradict her.

An Expert at the Game.
Lady—Here, my poor fellow, is a quarter for you. It must be awful to be lame, but I think it's worse to be blind."

Expert—You bet it is, mum. When I was blind they were always handing me counterfeit money."

BAD BREAK

Patience—Is your friend who got married happy?
Patience—Oh, no.
"Why, she married money, didn't she?"
"Oh, yes, but she's dissatisfied."
"Good gracious! Why?"
"Oh, she wishes she'd married a coal man."

LISTEN TO THIS!
SAYS CORNS LIFT
RIGHT OUT NOW!

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called frezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers. It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of frezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus. You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

Help For the Farmers

Farmers may secure a certain class of farm help through the Soldiers of the Soil movement. The official circular issued by W. C. Keirstead, secretary of N. B. Committee of Food Resources, says:

"The Soldiers of the Soil are lads from 16 to 19 years of age who have volunteered to work upon our farms for the summer. Some have had previous experience; others have not; but they are healthy, intelligent active boys, quick to learn and eager to help, and should be of considerable service to many farmers especially where skilled farm labor is hard to obtain."

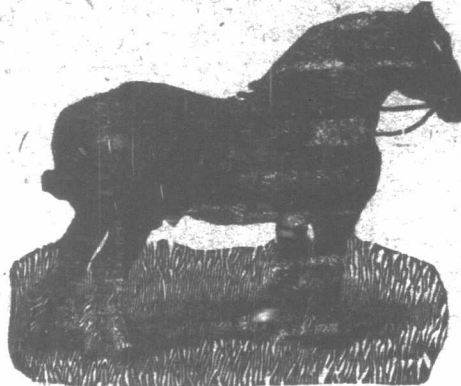

Application should be made at once to any county councillor.

UNITED FARMERS CONVENTION

Following is the address of T. W. Caldwell to the farmers who on April 23 met in convention at Woodstock for the purpose of effecting the central organization of the U. F. of N. B.

When parliament met in the fall or the latter part of the winter, they formed a union government which we can all criticize because there is not one separate party, or rather two separate parties but one big party, and this is I think the most fortunate time for us to organize. We have never had a government who considered the interest of the farmers. We have been asking after what we needed. The manufacturers got word quickly that we wanted the duty taken off farm machinery and they went and asked the government not to take the duty off. The manufacturers have been making money at our expense.

There was a time when the machinery from the United States raised a revenue, they placed a duty on farm machinery and what do find is the result of this, American Manufacturers of Farm Machinery come into Canada and establish, such as Canadian Factories and we are still paying the duty on machinery.

We are paying more not only in machinery but in Ford Cars, in Canada they cost one hundred dollars more than they do in Maine, does it cost one hundred dollars more to make a Ford car here than it does in Maine? they can make machinery better than we can, buy machinery cheaper in England than we can at the end of the factory. Why is it? Simply because there is a duty coming into Canada. As I was saying we are paying this duty, their price on it and they are putting it in their pockets.

Regarding the Mixed Fertilizer Duty. There is a ten per cent duty or two dollars per ton more here than it is in the State of Maine, because the duty is put on by the American firm who ships it in here. The balance of farmers in this country want the duty off farm machinery and fertilizer. The Government does get some revenue from the duty on fertilizer, and there has been a good deal of American Fertilizer. American firms are coming here to establish fertilizer factories next summer and when this is done we will cease to get any revenue from the duty on fertilizer. Why should we pay the duty into the Manufacturers pocket?

Last year the war bond people wanted war bonds exempt from taxes, for provincial purposes I may say our Premier demurred and was not willing. Some St. John men went to see about it so it was arranged that there would be no duty on war bonds, or rather taxes. A little later we got word there will be an income tax. This is supposed to cover the gross income from farms or businesses, and we are not allowed to charge up the cost on the debit side or take the cost of living or family.

A short time ago the Dominion Government passed an act taxing all incomes of over $5,000 for a married man or $1500 for a single man and this looked good to me at first. Now this applies to farmers as well as business men, and I wish to show you how unfairly the farmers are treated regarding the measure.

The man who has $60,000 and invests it in Government Bonds, (which is exempted from taxes) draws an income of $3,000 a year from it at 5 per cent, and he is exempted from taxes on this too if he is a married man, and he is not producing a thing.

While the farmer who has $60,000 invested in a farm and equipment to work it with, is still paying taxes on the whole $60,000 and they will tell you the farmer is the man they are looking to in the present crisis to produce the food that will enable Britain and her allies to win the war.

The Farmers are willing to pay their share of the taxes, but we are not willing to pay them all.

If this war should go on for another year or two, and the government cannot sell bonds to finance it, they will have to resort to direct taxation, so it behooves us to see that the scheme of taxation is so adjusted that the burden will bear on all alike.

You have heard that the United Farmers movement went last. It can't help but last if you get behind it and stay with it but if you flunk the first discouragement you get then its all off, but if you stay behind it you cannot kill it. Eighty per cent of the voters are farmers. Now I will show you three instances where you will kill this movement.

The very first is the lack of interest, and anything more like this we are likely to have. At first you are interested and take it at heart, then you are apt to become discouraged, and let yourself become disinterested. You have to keep politics out of this, for a second instance. If not you will split it. I might say we should be farmers first and politicians after, but it is better never to be a politician if you cannot politics out of the whole affair. We do not want things the way they were before, we want to elect 25 farmers at Ottawa, if we want the duty off farm machinery we can get it. If you can form an independent party and have our own representatives elected to represent the farmers and report to the farmers and look after our interests. We could be the balance in power. If we slip in this two party business we will be as we were before.

The third thing would be, should this organization start out like anarchy, we would be doomed. If you want anything hold until a meeting is called and discuss what it is you want, should it be the duty off farm machinery or anything else find out what it is and decide so.

If we think we want an independent party we had better decide long before election. When this organization first started we were represented at the Farmers and Dairymen's meeting at Fredericton, when we got there we found that the report had gone ahead that we were coming to agitate. We were not very much pleased with the report that had gone ahead and we amazed. We went and saw some of the head of the meeting and explained our errand and when they found out why we were there they treated us royally.

Thanking you for your kind attention.

- 2 cups fine bran (or shorts)
- 2 cups 2nd grad. flour

Bake in moderate oven, as soon as made (needs no raising). A few raisins make a pleasing change, this is excellent with baked beans.

Something New,
Something Helpful,
The B-H Color Scheme Adviser

WOULD you like to "see" your house in its new coat of paint, before you paint it? You can. The Brandram-Henderson "Color Scheme Adviser" enables you to try out different color combinations before deciding on the color scheme most pleasing to your eye. This advising device consists of a transparent outline of a house, behind which you place color cards of every known shade—one color for the walls and another color for the roof. With the transparent sheet, there comes a set of 40 cards each of a different color. First you try a white card on the walls, in combination with a green card for the roof. Then you try a brown card behind the wall section of the transparency, along with a red card for the roof. And so on, until you have exhausted the possibilities of every known color combination. We have one of these "Color Scheme Advisers" and will be pleased to let you experiment with it before you select your B-H PAINT.

B-H "ENGLISH" 70% Pure White Lead
30% Pure White Zinc
100% Pure Paint

for the Spring painting of your house or any other building. Of course you are going to paint this Spring—and equally, of course, you are going to use B-H "English" Paint—the paint with the guarantee behind it.

Our store is the B-H Store—which means that this is paint headquarters. The outstanding reputation of this brand is based on its superior covering capacity and exceptional durability—both of which features we know to be due to the combination of Brandram's Genuine B-B white lead and pure white zinc, which the makers of B-H "English" Paints maintain in spite of the repeated advances in the cost of these ingredients.

A FARMERS WIFE MAKES STRONG PLEA

But the Farmers' Difficulty is Only What Other Industries Have Been Experiencing.

The following letter well expresses the general attitude of the farmers of Carleton county and elsewhere. Their situation truly is hard. The whole war situation is hard. Hitherto the farmers have not felt the war situation except to profit by it. They have been protected while other industries have been drained of men during the last four years. They can supply insufficient numbers now. The farmers must sacrifice. There is no easy way out of it. To say it is hard is but a feeble expression of a mighty fact. And there is no one to blame but that infamous villain, Kaiser Bill. "A Farmers Loyal Wife" says:

If the government calls all farmers' sons from 19 to 35 for military service who are physically fit, what is going to happen? Starvation coming to the farmer as well as to our brave boys overseas? No substitutes can be provided by the Minister of Agriculture that can take the place of our experienced boys. Very few farmers in Carleton county today have more than a man and boy, and in some cases a man only. There is no farm but needs two able bodied men. Returned soldiers are practically unfit for hard work, and as to the city chaps, they expect to sleep in "spare beds" and be served with seven course dinners in return for the few chores they may, or may not, be able to do. Let those enforcing the M.S.A. take those boys who want to spend their vacation on the farm and fit them for service overseas. The Carleton county farmer has no use for such.

Last year the farmers worked over hours, and every hour, in order to increase production. What was the result? Not a few contracted debts. Potatoes yielded 30 barrels to the acre and fertilizer cost $54 per ton. If the government disposes of officials drawing salaries and going about the country "instructing" the farmers as to his duty about production and take his salary for Red Cross purposes, or in helping the overworked farmer buy fertilizer for increased production, there might be better results. The farmer is a fairly intelligent animal, and a subscriber to many weekly and daily papers published throughout the Dominion in which instruction is given for increased production. The need of the hour is most distinctly understood.

I would like to ask how about Quebec? How many men are there to each farm?

If we have enough boys over and above what is needed for actual work, by all means let them go. The situation is grave. But there must be left sufficient men to provide food for the world's needs today. Give the farmer a chance and he will do his bit.

A Farmer's Loyal Wife

Cook-Manual

An interesting event took place at the home of Mrs. Charles Cook, Knowlesville, May 8, when her youngest daughter, Edith Victoria, and Claude L. Manuel were united in marriage by Rev. I. E. VanWart. The wedding was a very quiet affair on account of the recent death of the bride's father. Only immediate relatives of the bride and groom witnessed the happy union. The bride was becomingly attired in a suit of navy blue. The bride received some very nice presents including $70 in cash. All join in wishing the newly married couple many years of happy wedded life.
