CONFESSED KILLING OF CANADIAN WOMAN

Angeles Reports Further Admissions.

Los Angeles, May 3.—In a second alleged confession, which officers were checking today, Walter Andrew Watchecking today, Walter Andrew Watson, alias James R. Huirt, admitted killing a Canadian woman he had married, but whose name he could not remember, according to Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney who said the confession was made to him yesterday. This made five women the man was declared to have admitted slaying. The district attorney said Watson told him he had married the woman in Tacoma, Wash. and that he choked her and pushed her overboard while they were boating on Lake Washington, near Seattle. He was quoted as saying he then rowed ashore, leaving the woman's body in the water.

"Naturally, I told no one about it," the district attorney quoted him.
Woolwine said his investigation showed that Watson married Miss Beatrice Andrewatha, a Canadian, in Tacoma on February 6, 1919, and thut she was said to be missing. He said he had advised Washington authorities of Watson's statement. Mrs. Beatrice Andrewatha is the third Canadian woman among Watson's alleged victims. The other two are listed as "missing."

Rumor of Furchase Finds Neither Confirmation Nor POLISH FORCES Denial.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, May 3.—The rumored adquisition by the agrarian interests of the Toronto World finds neither denial nor confirmation among members of that party at Ottawa. The general feeling, however is that any negotiations to that end would be opened from the publication centre of the grain growers at Winnipeg. During the past year the Grain Growers' Guide has been extending its influence and efforts have been made to establish a publication of similar nature in the Maritime Provinges. In Ontario the Farmers' Sun, while a strong' advocate of the farmers' interests, is not directly affillated with the grain growers' movement. It is therefore considered quite probable that an effort may be made to obtain a daily in Toronto, whose functions would be to preach the gospel of the farmers throughout Ontario. There is a further rumor that the Liberals may endeavor to secure the paper, but in best-informed circles this is not considered at all likely.

ASSESSMENT BOOST FOR WARD FOUR OF MILLION AND HALF

Report Is Submitted To Mayor Little by the Assessment Commissioner.

More than a million and a half dol-lars' increase in the assessment of Ward 4 for 1921 taxation was made this year, according to a report which has been submitted to Mayor Little by As-sessment Commissioner Stephen Grant. The assessors had been working on this The assessors had been working on this ward since the beginning of the year, and completed their work Saturday. The increased assessment on buildings alone was $1.221.001, while the increase on land was $193.067. Business assessment increased $83.089, and income assessment $110.422. The increased assessment on buildings alone was $1,221,001, while the increase on land was $193,067. Business assessment increased $83,069, and income assessment $110,422.

"The gain in real estate has been arrived at from a careful revision of the property, equity being the standard," said Mr. Grant. "There has been very little building done in this ward.

"The gain in income has exceeded my expectation owing to the statutory examption on income for non-householders being increased from $600 to $700 and for householders from $1,500 to $1,700. I suppose the increased wages have made un for more than the increased exemption.

PAPAL DELEGATE

Will Make His First Visit To London Since Arrival in Canada.

Announcement was made in the Catholic Churches of the city yesterday that on May 24 His Excellency Rev. Peter Di Maria of Ottawa, apostolic delegate for Canada, will visit London. This will be the first visit the papal delegate has made to this district since his arrival in Canada, and a big reception is to be held in his honor in St. Peter's Parish Hall.

From London he will go to Chatham and Windsor.

At yesterday's services a letter was Morrison, J. J. MacWilliams, and J. D. Marvison, J. J. MacWilliams, and J. D.

The speaker then went on to attack the D. S. C. R., which, he said, was the biggest camouffage staged by the Government. He said that he was not attacking the officials of the D. S. C. R., but the power that was behind them. They could rarely do as they would like. It was ridiculous to expect that a man could be given a training for the business world in two months, when it ordinarily took two years; or that a man might be trained in a trade in four months that took others four years to learn. The Government forgot, too, that it took most men two months before they were able to concentrate after they returned to civil life.

The cost of training the men averaged from $1,000 to $1,500 each. Far better it would have been if this money had been given to each one in a lump sum and he had been allowed to look after his own retraining.

The land settlement was an absolute farce. The lands that the Government had given in Northern Ontario were non-productive. After the men had served their country it seemed that the officials in Ottawa, in order to show their appreciation, had asked them to take their wives and families to the wilds to get out of sight.

Mr. Flynn declared that the pensions granted to returned soldiers were more pittances. While totally blind and cripples of the stage of the churches in the diocese of London of the churches in the diocese of London of help for the starying people of Central and papeal from Bishop Fallon to contained an appeal from Bishop Fallon to chall the churches in the diocese of London of help for the starying people of Central Europe.

The figures on population show a decrease of 989 in the ward during the vear. There was a gain of 55 in statute labor. There were 39 fewer dogs than last year.

Not Really a Loss.

Commenting on the population figures, Mr. Grapt seid: "To my mind, the population of the ward has increased because a population of 1.665 at the military barracks last year as compared with 350 this year, would leave 1.215 to be accounted for. therboods to drive these places out of existence.

The welfare of children growing up was a third feature of social service to which the church ought to set itself Statistics showed that where play-grounds are established juvenile delinquency increased. In addition to these fields of service there were many others to which the church and its organizations should and most give attention. It was not enough in these days to be salvaging a little of the wreckage from the saloons, the brothels and all the other degrading agencies. The church must set itself to create the environment in which true sanctification, that is the right development of character, might take place.

world. These were of purely human origin, and had been established by purely human means. He spoke highly of these fraternities and the good they accomplished. They were all, howeves, purely human, and it was optional whether we associated ourselves with them or not. Membership in them was not obligation. Surely it was deplorable ment, so many regarded the church of God in the same light as they regarded these societies. This was contrary to the whole teaching of Christ and his apostles.

The church was not a mere humar institution. It was divine. It was like no other on earth. It was the church one targe school may be somewhat less than that of two smaller schools, but the difference in the initial cost is insignificant compared with the question of utility. If there is an advantage in centralization why not centralize the churches, the public schools, the public? Is not the polley of decentralization the order of the day, providing the greatest good to the greatest number.

Fighteousness and peace, social justice, and unselfish service; the kingdom of brotherly love and goodwill among men and nations. The church needed to be in this new day to a higher state unselfish spiritual life and service and brotherly kindness, but it could never become obsolete. Could never be destroyed. He said: "God bless every Christian organization," but we must insist on the priority of the church. There was only one eternal institution on this earth, and that was the Christian Church, which stood for the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of God and the brotherhood of God and the brotherhood of Christ. The church was the home of the soul, the house of God, the body and bride of Christ, and the everlasting, visible witness of God's saving power in Christ. "On this rock," said Jesus, "I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

Even the moon had hidden its face by means of an eclipse. The trail led to a dark lane near the corner of King and Ridout streets, near which lived a number of Italians. Expecting almost anything, the officers advanced down the alley to find two sons of Italy facing each other and filling the air with curses.

A horse and buggy were nearby. The vehicle had evidently been subject to some kind of violence. It was badly broken.

Spots of blood covered the collar and palm beach trousers of the smaller of the two men. Still more blood besmirched his vest. The other man evidently had been in combat, for his cye was out of proportion to the rest of his features.

Both were taken to the police station and searched. This resulted in the discovery of an ugly-looking dirk in the possession of the taller man. He gave his name as Secord Carlessa. The other foreigner answered to Petera Sothlan.

CLASH WITH GUARDS.

PARIS, May 1.—A clash between Republican guards, police and 2,000 May Day manifestants occurred at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the boulevards of the St. Mantin quarter. Two shots were fired during the melee and several persons are reported wounded. The disturbance was the first active disorder of the day. It was brought on by the presence of students from the schools, who acted as drivers on the auto busses, replacing the striking drivers.

Toward 3 o'clock crowds along the route of the autos began jeering the student drivers. They then began stoning the windows of the auto busses, spitting in the faces of the drivers of the buses which had been stopped by the jam of people in the streets.

The crowds grew until they numbered 2,000, bringing the auto bus service entirely to a halt. A small cavalry patrol came up, but was unable to deal with the crowd, which continued stoning the vehicles until drivers and passengers abandoned the buses in the streets.

MINERS, DOCKMEN

TO JOIN RAIL STRIKE

PARIS, May 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The strike of the railroadmen for nationalization of the railroadmen for nationalization of the railways, which is to be joined tomorrow by the miners and dockmen, has resulted thus far in hindering traffic only on four of the big systems—the Eastern, Northern, Orleans and the Paris-Lyons & Mediterranean. Temporarily, however, the state line which runs to Havre is tied up. "The strike is a complete failure," said Yves Le Trocquer, the minister of public works, today.

Services on all lines were curtailed today. The Parisian es were operated about 50 per cent, except the Lazarre State system, which cancelled all trains from the capital.

To Fight Strike

The Government's determination to fight the strike for nationalization has been voiced by M. Le Trocquer and Premier Millerand. M. Millerand said the Government was prepared to do its duty in the maintenance of order and to protect the men who remain at work. M. Le Trocquer expressed confidence in the outcome of the situation. He explained that he had foreseen the conflict, and that, as a result the railways, public services and industries had been provided with greater supplies of coal than they had had at any time since the signing of the armistice.

They Know at Halifax

TN Halifax, you may learn much about ships, but nothing more important than the value of surface protection.

Immense quantities of paint are used on ships—usually three coats all over, amounting to several dozen barrels to a ship. This expenditure for surface protection, however, is not incurred merely to make ships look well, although, naturally that is one result. The main object is to preserve all surfaces against the sea, the storms, and the sun of every climate into which ships

And what is true of ships is true of everything else. If it has a surface it needs surface protection.

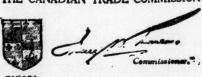

If you will keep the surface of your house, your barn, your office-building, protected with Paint and Varnish inside and outside, you will keep it safe against weather and wear, almost for all time—a wonderful result for small expenditure.

Remember that wood, metal, stucco and often concrete, must have surface protection if they are to be preserved in their original strength and beauty.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is issued by the Canadian Savethe Surface Campaign Committee, for the purpose of educating the public in the Preservative and Protective value of Paint, Varnish and Allied Products for the Conservation of Property, and has received the approval of the Canadian Trade Commission in the jollowing words: "The realization of the above objects will lead to employment during the Reconstruction Period and bears our entire

FUNERAL SERVICES.

At 1:30 p.m. a service was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McDonald, 8th concession. Sydenham, where hundreds of old Sydenham, where hundreds of old Sydenham, friends were in attendance, and Dr. Thurlow Fraser spoke briefly. Leaving his sister's home, the funeral procession proceeded to Owen Sound, where the simple service of the Presephyterian Church was in charge of Rev. Dr. Fraser. Dr. J. B. Fraser, a friend of A. G. MacKay for many years, read the 19th Psalm, and then Dr. Thurlow Fraser delivered an impressive address on the life and work of the dead minister, whose career has been so bound up with the history of Owen Sound and Sydenham.

Dr. Fraser said that he would speak of deceased not as a politician nor as a lawyer, but as a man. From his pure Highland ancestry came that fearless fighting spirit and from his early training on the farm that free and easy manner and indifference to conventionality so characteristic of the man. He had a genius for friendship and was intensely loyal to his friends, one of the finest traits a public man, or any man, can have, said Dr. Fraser. WAS A BIG MAN.

A good fighter, even his political opponents granted that he was always and the proponents granted that he was always and the procession trembled on my lips. I longed to make known to her our relationship, to confess I was still a blank, where our short-lived honeymon was concerned, naturally honeymon was concerned. A good fighter, even his political opponents granted that he was always fair, while his generosity was proverbial. Many an Owen Sound home knew his kindly aid, and no one ever appealed to him in vain. His work in Alberta has been constructive and efficient, helping to realize his desire to make Canada a better place in which to live. "He was a big man." said Dr. Fraser, "big in stature, in mind and in heart."

Never in the history of the town has a funeral service been so largely attended, and there is sincere mourning over the death of the town's distinguished son. Among those who were present at the services today were: Hon. Duncan Marshall, James McNaughton, chief Liberal whip of Alberta; W. J. Bragg, M. P. P., representing the Ontario Government; J. C. We saw little of Alice and her husband in these days. The latter was making preparations for his trip abroad. He spent much time in town.

Alice had found some cronies at a neighboring country-house. They'd neighboring country-house. They'd come down for the shooting. Her one regret was that she could not entertain them in her own home, she said. But I don't believe that that regret went deep.
For—under her husband's now vigilant eye—the little lady's flirtations could not run along as nimbly as of yore.
'Twas better, then to isolate them. Alice was clever enough to realize that fact.
So, from early morn to dewy eye, she motored, bridged and danced and dined.

motored, bridged and danced and dined.

The regime seemed to suit her. Alice bloomed out anew. She always does bloom under flattery. So I presumed—correctly—she was getting it.

One day I was walking to the local postoffice, after a long spell of the sick-room, when—to my astonishment—I encountered Alice strolling leisurely along.

I saw her husband's glance follow that gleam of diamonds.

"So—the bracelet's back again?" was what he said. His voice sounded just a little odd.

Alice smiled her sweetest smile.

"I ran upstairs and got the stupid ing." She twisted her wrist round. that sparks of fire flashed.

And it was there that Alice's own pet crony, too.

I returned to Anstruther Lodge, considerably worried.

But there a delightful little surgrise awaited me. I was summoned to Jim's room. His mother led the way.

She opened the door very gently. Inside the room, a little tableau rose to greet my eyes. Beside the fire, wrapped in a heavy dressing-gown, sat Jim'.

To do the couple justice, they were utterly confused. Tony looked ready for immediate flight. I really thought for a moment he was going to turn and run.

I made some reply, and hurried on. I made some reply, and hurried on. "Now you'll believe me, won't you, stupid old ogre that you are!"

Mr. Anstruther turned to me.

"A handsome gift from Alice's aunt."

I made some reply, and hurried on. I did not fling a glance in Tony's direction. But the news that he was once more in the neighborhood particularly annoyed me.

It also worried men. For Alice was presently steeping the foul best and the state of apparently steering the frail bark of her matrimonial affairs upon the rocks. Mr. Anstruther had delivered a defin-

Last week in addressing a deputation from municipalities asking for the immediate construction of hydro-radials he carried out this promise by refusing to have the Government guarantee bonds until satisfied there would be no wasteful duplication of transportation lines and assured that the financial situa tion was favorable. He pointed out that it would be the province, not the municipalities, that would have to pay the shot in the event

And, of course, the taking over by the Dominion Government of the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Northern has changed the entire transportation situation of the province. It would be sheer folly to proceed with the development of hydro radials until it is known definitely just what arrangements can be made with the National Railways in regard to competition. The Hamilton Times voices another objection to hasty action as follows:

The Ontario division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association would like the whole commission and they ask that before any radial road is gone on with, the hydro be compelled to fulfill its obligations to supply the power contracted for by the manufacturers Many complaints were heard of loss of time in factories by them being held up on account want of power. They want Sir Adam to build steam auxiliaries so that when the power fails at the Falls it can be supplied

Mr. Drury is to be praised for refusing to be hurried into approving vast hydro expenditures until the matter is investigated from

THE DOMINION AT WASHINGTON. bassadorial representation at Washingtaon has been approved at both London and Ottawa, and that there is every reason to believe that it will be heartily approved by the United States. It is planned, according to the Washington news, that hereafter the British ambassador will be selected only after consultation with the Canadian Government and that Ottawa will send its own diplomatic staff to be attached to the British embassy. At the head of this staff will be an official who will have plenipotentiary powers. If the information is correct, the Canadian appointee will be a viceambassador with powers second only to those of the man appointed by the Imperial Government, and during the absences of the latter from Washington he will be in full control. This plan means that while there will be no change in the present system—that is that Canadian affairs will continue to be transacted through the British embassy—the business of this country will in the future be in the hands of Canadians, who will be acting on instructions direct from the Canadian Government. This plan, on the face of it, is to be commended. Had it been adopted earlier there would have been avoided differences that have been exasperating and at times even dangerous. Matters can be explained quickly and clearly by direct representation from this country that under the present roundabout method are delayed and

The London Morning Post, organ of the "old gang," "old nobility," etc., over there, keeps doing its best to belittle and antagonize americans. The other day it showed the same old spirit of Tory arrogance by the following pioneer west. If his qualities, characters and

"America has never been rich in poets. Today she produces an intolerable deal more or less eccentric procedy, but very little poetry indeed. Soon her only so-called poet will be the author of the "Spoon River Anthology," en in chopped prose, which combines the statement by Mr. Daniels, a Wilsonian note, and a funeral wreath of paper flowers."

It is very true that the United States has not compared evenly with England in poetry, but very few countries can. For all his stodgiless and strong business turn, John Bull is plenty of verse-writers, but not many peets. The same may be said of countries like freland. cotland and Wales. Why should the Post be o oager to sneer at the United States?

There are passages of Lowell's "Bigelow Sapers" that are 'unique in English poetry, They are rugged, pointed, richly human, with punch that has not at all departed after 75 years. There is the same lasting quality in the hymns and other simple pieces of Whittier. Not to speak of the strange geniuses of Poe and whitman, of whom even the Post is aware, there was the wonderful Oliver Wendell Holmes, a poet of fancy and whimsical humor, and the ever quoted Longfellow, names of mellow sweetness and fragrance, Always rosemary for them, Humorous yerse has been and still is plentiful. Saxe. Leland and Hay are foun tains of gaiety with their dialect and Hans Breitmann and Pike County Ballads. Prince of all entertainers in verse was Bret Harte at his best, one of Kipling's inspirers, the author for example of Kipling's line on woman as "deadlier than the male."

America is famous for great topical poems, the author often obscure, the song a force "Marching Through Georgia" is as well known as the Marseillaise" and "Home Sweet Home, if as Stevenson charged, "an assault and battery on the feelings," has nevertheless captured the world. Nobody forgets as yet the splendid skit a few years before the war on "Me und Gott," a hit that went home and stayed there. There are scores of pieces like "Casey at the Bat," that might be called humorous classics.

And the present? The Morning Post should just take a look into Vachell Lindsay's "Congo." or the poems of Karle Wilson Baker. Some of the finest war poems were by the brilliant American soldiers, Alan Seeger and Joyce Kilmer. Really the Post is as ill-informed about America as Lord North and George III. were. Its remarks are not so hard on the United Premier Drury is to be commended for the States as on the Post itself. The Americans ing and busting trusts.

ENTER DEADEYE DICK.

Boys of the sixtles and seventies, gather closer. Do you remember when you earned a nickel carrying in wood, and hustled to spend it on a nickel novel that had to be read down behind the barn or in bed after the folks had all gone to sleep? Remember how you traded How you had to hide the bright-covered booklet for fear dad would find you with it? Remember the homily from the pulpit about the boy who read nickel novels and came to a bad end-hanging, was it, or just transportation for life? Remember the warnings of Sunday school teacher and grandma and aunts and uncles, and all the rest, on the dangers of novel-reading? Well, listen! On Monday afternoon, May 10, at the hour of 2 o'clock, in the Anderson Gallerwreckers," gathered together through twenty its return years by Dr. Frank P. O'Brien, a well-known book-lover of New York. The catalogue that lists them costs more than a dozen of the little leaflets ever cost in their day, and it is safe to say that the proceeds of the sale will run into thousands of dollars.

Get back again in fancy, behind the barn and take your pick of these titles, for instance The White Vulture, or The Trail of the Yel lowstone," "Old Grizzly Adams the Bear-Tamer. or The Monarch of the Mountains," "Deadly Eye and the Prairie Rover," "Big-Foot Wallace, the King of the Lariat, or Wild Wolf the Waco," "Border Vengeance or The Night A dispatch from the American capital says Hawk's Daughter." How about Adventures of Wild Bill, the Pistol Prince, From Youth to His Death by Assassination," 'Deeds of Daring," "Adventures and Thrilling Incidents in the Life of J. B. Here is item No. 210 in the Anderson catalogue, "Eagle-Eve. or Ralph Warren and His Red Friend." Listen to this account of an Indian attack:

"A rattle and confused din fell upon the ear coming from the forest around. Louder it grew, and then a long line of dusky warriors with bared hatchets and shouldered muskets, filed slowly into the glade. They were chantwhich in our language is nothing, but in their's terrible Over two thousand Indians in their war paint:

Many of these "thrillers" of a day gone by were narratives of actual adventures, colored. no doubt, but reflecting more or less accurately the experiences of men who went into the far west in the early pioneer days. There are half a dozen issues listed dealing with the life and adventures of old Grizzly Adams. There may be some yet who remember when old Grizzly Adams used to travel around with P. T. Barnum's circus. Grizzled he was, and bearing all his big bear pets. His biggest grizzly pet was known as Sampson, and one of the famous exploits of Adams was to ride this huge animal bareback. Adams himself was one of the most extraordinary characters produced in the deeds were not of indisputable historical authenticity they would not be believed. In generations to come the quaint figure who went about the country riding on an enormous grizzly bear, with a second similar huge beast legend and finally a myth.

In answer to the question, what has become of the nickel novel, somebody has remarked that today it is written by the "best authors" and sells for a dollar and a half. In which statement there is a good deal of truth, for the generation that grew up on Dead Eye Dick and his friends still loves to follow the heroes of by the war, Fortunately, we have the funds which iso a notable poet. America has produced E. Phillips Oppenheim, Louis Tracy or Rex Beach. The late Sir Richard Cartwright confessed that a school boy's thriller gave him more recreation than a best seller, and there is many another staid citizen who could confess of the colony, that reciprocal tariff advantages bethe same liking in age for the reading matter of his youth.

CONSERVATIVE ENGLAND

Twenty years ago the notion of a railway journey without a tin foot-warmer and a traveling rug would have been as fantastic as that of a Polar ommission had then considered the notion of steam tation, have found the proposal impracticable and inconvenient, with no certainty of direct advantage to offset the dislocation of habit and expense of reconstruction. One cupful of mashed potatoes, one quart of milk, or one pint of milk with one pint of potato water, if the potatoes were cooked in as little water as possible, one tablespoonful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of salt, one or two stalks of chopped celery, one finely chopped onion, pepper to taste. Heat the milk in a double boiler with the celery and onion. Pour a little of the milk on the potato and beat thoroughly. Add the rest of the milk and strain again, into the double boiler. Melt the butter, stir the flour into it in a smooth paste. Beat into the butter and flour half a cupful of the soup, then stir this mixture slowly into the hot soup in the double boiler. The soup may be made thicker by adding more potato.

No more delicious soup can be made, and it requires only about fifteen minutes. Serve with cheese crackers or croutons.

Now, I am sorry, my dear little Now, I am sorry, my dear little friend, but I just can't lie to such a bright little girl as your letter shows you to be. You have probably learned by this time that another mythical personage, by the name of Santa Claus, is nothing but the love of mamma and papa and grandma and uncle and auntie and everybody. Well, the stork is like this man Santa Claus. He stands for mothers and fathers, or rather for their love of children. You remember Jack Frost, who stands for decles and wintry cold; and, of course, you've met the Man in the Moon, who smiles at little girls sleeping on warm summer nights. Then, too, there's Old Sol, who beats you up every morning, nearly. All these are mythical personages. The stork brings babies, but he doesn't really fly over the chimneytops with them in his bill. Yet he brings 'em, just the same.

Out of the great love mamma and papa have for each other and for the baby of their dreams that baby takes to itself life. God blesses the tie that joins father-to-be and mother-to-be, and says, "Let there be a new life," and this new human life, the baby-to-be, is kept close to the heart of mother-to-be until it has become strong enough to enter the world. Some fine morning everybody is happy over the birth of the baby. Mother is happiest of all. Father probably worries some because the baby hasn't any nose to speak of and looks like the dickens. But to mother, baby is beautiful, even if nobdy else can admire the red-faced, squealing little stranger.

My Dear Mary,—There are a great many little girls and little boys who wonder whether the stork has gone on a strike, but most of them just wonder and do not ask mamma or papa about it at all. So mamma and papa never tell them anything about it, and that is too bad.

She could have no respect for a man who would do so. Have you or a man who would do so. Have you ever gone with one girl long enough to discover this? By the time it is burned out the ring will have expanded enough to loosen easily.

So Ura Kidd's Pal is talking matrimony? Just tell her for me that I know of a certain "country pumpkin" I wouldn't trade for all her cash and country houses. But why talk of matrimony? I for one believe in single blessedness preferred to double cussedness. Now I hear some of the married ladies calling me names. Nevertheless, they might say the same if single.

NIGHT COUGHS PREVENT SLEEP WEAR OUT THE SYSTEM.

London boys bunched their hits well, and showed great spurts and fine headwork at times, along with plenty of the old-time come-back spirit. Calbert, an outfielder, bingled the pill over the right field fence for a complete circuit the first time up to bat, and the fielding was the big feature of the game all through. The weather was so cold that it scarcely permitted the boys to warm up to any great extent. The dry, hacking cough, cough, day and night is very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

Boston and Dodgers

BOSTON, May 2.—The major league record for the number of innings in a single game went to smash Saturday, when for 26 innings and three hours and 50 minutes the Boston and Brooklyn National League teams battled to a 1 to 1 tie on the Braves' field. Joe Oeschger for Boston and Leon Cadore for Brooklyn stayed in the box for the entire distance. The previous record was made on September 1, 1906, when the Philadelphia team defeated Boston in 24 innings. On that occasion Jack Coombs was in the box and was opposed by Joe Harris.

Oeschger allowed only nine hits, struck out six men and gave five passes.

Cadore was hit safely fifteen times, struck out seven men and allowed four bases on balls.

WIDLE SCORES KNOCKDOWN

LAWRENCE, Mass., May 1 .- Jimmy Wilde, British flyweight champion, knocked out Bobby Dyson of New Bedford in the first round of what was scheduled as a 12-round no decision bout here today.

Dyson started out aggressively and landed two blows, but immediately afterward went down for the count of nine from a jab to the jaw. He got up, and the knockout blow to the stomach followed.

A large crowd of boxing fans from all parts of New England watched the brief contest.

Cobalt, May 3—Another effort will be made to obtain for the town a continuance of $1,200 grant paid annually by the T. and N. O. Rallway for Flax opened 1/4c higher for July at $5 02.

Chicago, May 3.—Opening: Corn—May, $1 66; July, $1 581/4.
Oats—May, 908; July, 76c.
Chicago, May 3.—Uneasiness as to whether the lateness of the 1920 crop season did not mean production seriously below normal had a decidedly bullish effect today on the corn market. Comment that Chicago grain receipts were down to the burlesque point tended also to hoist quotations. Offerings were light and shorts especially were buyers. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 11/4c higher, were followed by material upturns all around.
New high records were reached by oats. Scantiness of supplies readily available for delivery on May contracts was to a large extent responsible. After opening 1/4c to 11/4c up, the market continued to ascend.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Today opened with a number of substantial advances, sentiment evidently being encouraged at the absence of labor disturbances during the May Day recess. Brokers reported many buying orders from interior points, especially the West. General Motors was the strongest feature at the outset, gaining 5 points. Such recent favorites at Republic, Studebaker, Baldwin and Mexican Petroleum gained 1 to 2% points. The demand for rails was again very light at irregular changes.

Noon.—The advance subsided as soon as the buying power had run its course. Shorts then resumed their recent attack on such issues as American Woolen, Crucible Steel and General Motors, in which reactions ranged from 5 to 12 points, other leaders losing 1 to 3. Last night's indifferent bank statement and indications of a continuance of the recent high rates for call money also contributed to the setback. Trading became dull as prices yielded, and demand loans opened at 9 per cent. J. COOPER MASON, Toronto, April 14, 1920. M RS. M. E. PROCTOR, who save she is so grateful for what Tanlac has done for her that she wants the whole world to know about it. Declares her complete recovery after so many years of suffering seems too good to be true.

"I am so grateful for what Tanlac has done for me that I want to tell the whole world about it," said Mrs. M. E. Proctor of 717 W. First street Los Angeles Cal., when speaking of the splendid results she had obtained from the medicine. "To think that I should have suffered for so many years, and spent hundreds of dollars in vain efforts to get relief and then find complete relief after taking only four bottles of Tanlac, seems too good to be true."
"Yes, indeed; for years and years I suffered terribly from stomach trouble Everything I ate seemed to form gas and so affected my heart and breathing that I would have palpitation and would turn purple in the face in my efforts to get my breath. These attacks caused me intense suffering and were so bad that I was frequently confined to my bed and would have to be at-tended by some members of the family for fear I should succumb during one of the attacks. "I got awfully thin and was so weak that I had to give up all household duties. I often went for two weeks at a time without getting a good night's le sleep and as a consequence became very nervous and low-spirited. In fact, I was a confirmed invalid and my friends did not expect me to live very long. "I sat reading the paper one evening when my eye caught a statement of a lady who had suffered with similar trouble to my own and telling how she had been wonderfully helped by ed taking it, and the results have been most surprising. "My appetite is splendid now and I can eat most anything without any distress afterward. The gas has stopped forming, and I no longer have palpitation or that smothering feeling. I sleep sound all night long and health today than I have been for forty years, and I feel years younger. "I don't believe there ever was as a medicine made as Tanlac. Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drugs, Limited, and by an established

St. Peter's Parish Hall was the gay scene on Saturday evening of a May festival, given under the auspices of the Cheerio Club, in aid of the club's fund for social service work. At 6 o'clock the throng began to arrive, and were ushered by white-frocked girls to individual tea tables, which were decorated with pink tulips. Everywhere a pink glow was shed over the large auditorium, which was a veritable bower of pink roses and festooned with pink and white paper trimmings.

After tea, flowers and home-made cooking of every sort could be purchased from booths fashioned from cooking of every sort could be purchased from booths fashioned from lattice-work, entwined with pink roses.
