French and British Progress Rapidly on West Front

Situation of Russia Waxing More Acute While the World's Greatest Battle Rages; British Progress Near Havrincourt Forest

By Courier Leased Wire

While the greatest battle in history continues to rage furiously in northern France, the riddle of Russia has presented a new phase with a menaced counter-revolution of staggering possibilities.

As far as news despatches indicate the radical insurgents in Petrograd are basing their attack on the May Day note sent to the allies by Foreign Secretary Milukoff, reaffirming Russia's determination to fulfill her obligations to the Entente and vigorously prosecute the war against Germany.

On the battle front in France there is no sign as yet of a decisive issue to the tremendous battle which is raging day and night along a hundred mile front. The war office in London this morning reports the British have made further progress north of Havrincourt Wood and near Fresnoy.

The other, which remains unsubdued, is the sinister Brimont plateau from which the German guns thunder daily against the ruins of Rheims Cathedral. Thousands of lives have been spent in vain in an effort to storm this plateau, but its capture is vital to the French advance.

Outside of the lists where the warring nations are arrayed, interest centres on Brazil and China. In both countries a parliamentary battle is being waged which will decide whether or not they enter the ranks of Germany's foes.

Lauro Muller is supposed to give a preponderance to the war party.

PETROGRAD UNRULY, SENTIMENT PUBLIC DIVIDED, DEMONSTRATIONS FOR AND AGAINST GOVERNMENT CONTINUE

Huge Gathering of Citizens Cheered Government Last Evening Promising Support

By Courier Leased Wire.

Petrograd, May 4.—11.30 p.m.—via London, May 5.—Friends of the government out-demonstrated the demonstrators this evening. As though of one accord, the people, stirred into a seeming realization of the catastrophe overshadowing the country through the menaced fall of the government, turned out, man, woman and child, in support of the temporary authorities.

So completely overshadowed and outnumbered was the seething mob of demonstrators that they appeared utterly insignificant. The crowd poured into the square in front of the Marinsky Palace, the scene of last night's activities and packed the immense area.

Russia's enemies could find little comfort in the scene. Banners inscribed "In support of the temporary government. Away with anarchy. No separate peace," and similar inscriptions gave the parade an appearance of a gala procession, in striking contrast to the anti-government mob which was composed of the shabbier and most disreputable element of the population.

The newspaper editorials this afternoon dealt with the situation in the gravest words. The Edenstvo, reflecting the view of the working class, said:

"We must find a way out in order to avoid civil war. The council must come to an agreement with the temporary government in the interests of the country. We believe in the common sense and patriotism of the council and that it will reach a decision to which the intellectual working class must adhere."

The Novaya Zhizn, the Socialist revolutionary organ edited by Maxim Gorky said:

"The first period of the revolution ended on May 1 and now it is feared that the end of interior peace has arrived. The government is energetically seeking to rally around it that part of the population whose class interests are conformable to the imperialistic intentions of Milukoff. It has failed to break the accord existing between the soldiers and workmen—to set one part of the army against the other and the proletariat. The country has expressed itself and these annexationists will have to conform."

The Bourse Gazette says that Foreign Secretary Milukoff has made a mistake, but one which can be remedied. It declares that the present problem is to keep the situation from growing more acute and that Russia must be united on its foreign policies. The Reich defends the course of Milukoff and appeals to his opponents to stop and reflect.

"We must be fair. There is no contradiction between the declarations of March 27 and the present note. The reason for the attacks of the Left and its press is that the note does not seek to impose pressure upon the allies. We do not ask Germany her intentions and still demand that the allies and the United States accede to our conditions as though they had no right to consider the matter from their own democratic viewpoint."

REICHSTAG RESTRICTS POWER OF THE KAISER

Ordinances and Decrees of German Emperor Require in Future Approval of the Imperial Chancellor

By Courier Leased Wire Amsterdam, May 5.—via London.—A restriction of the power of the emperor of Germany has been decided upon by the Constitution Committee of the reichstag, according to a despatch from Berlin. The committee has decided to alter article XVII of the imperial constitution as follows:

"Ordinances and decrees of the Kaiser will be issued in the name of the empire and will require for validity, the counter-signature of the imperial chancellor or his representative, who thereby assumes responsibility to the reichstag."

The decision of the committee was in accordance with a joint proposal by the Centrists, National Liberals and the Progressives. Four Conservative members voted against the change.

The committee also adopted a resolution by the same proposers demanding a bill fixing the chancellor's responsibility for any violation of his official duty and the verification of such violation by a senate tribunal.

Dr. Karl Selfferich, secretary of the interior, told the committee that a definite statement in regard to his attitude could not be expected from him. He said that it would only be possible after the federal council had defined its position.

Congratulations to W. F. Cockshutt

At a special meeting of the executive of the Women's Franchise Club held last night, the following resolution was passed:— Whereas, there is now raging a great war in which the British Empire and her Allies are struggling for the freedom of the world, and whereas, in the opinion of this Equal Franchise Club, members of Parliament should in this crisis vote according to what they believe to be for the country's good, independent of party dictation, therefore, be it resolved that this Club congratulates W. F. Cockshutt, Esq., M.P., upon his manly and independent stand upon the question of Government control of food prices, recently before the House of Commons, and places itself on record as favoring absolute independence of action on the part of members of both parties during war-time, a copy of this resolution to be sent to Mr. Cockshutt, and also to the press.

Government Adheres to Previous Stand, and Will Resign Rather Than Revoke Note to Allies

By Courier Leased Wire.

Petrograd, via London, May 5.—The provisional government through Premier Lvoff, has declined to modify the note sent to the allies. The government declares that the Ministers are prepared to resign their posts, if necessary.

Premier Lvoff said: "It is impossible to send another note. The temporary government will comply with its duty and leave its post rather than take such a step, which would menace the country with very serious consequences. The Government understands fully the responsibility it has assumed in behalf of the country and in the view of that responsibility is ready to resign if it becomes necessary."

Foreign Secretary Milukoff, confirming the stand taken by Premier Lvoff, said: "The note expresses the views of the temporary Government. It has no other aim. The recent note repeats and develops the idea expressed in the first note, which was worked out in conjunction with the Council of Deputies. If we compare the notes it is clear that the information they contain constitute a step forward. The events of yesterday make our allies sad while pleasing our enemies."

In regard to the suggestion that a new note be sent, M. Milukoff said that step was quite impossible. "Such conduct," he continued, "toward a foreign government cannot be permitted. If we should attempt to follow a route which in my conviction is impracticable we would only be repulsed."

The minister made an allusion to a secret telegram, which has been received from the allies. It is significant that the ambassadors of England, France and Italy have called upon the Foreign Secretary, M. Milukoff, concluded his statement by saying:

"Respecting our military needs and means of continuing the war we are dependent to a great extent upon the allies. It will be an everlasting blot on our history if there should be a possibility of concluding a separate peace. But the council itself has declared against a separate peace."

M. Tohdise, president of the council, repeated previous declarations that the imperialistic attitude of the government was unacceptable. He said: "Neither the soldiers nor the workmen are for war. If the Government does not mean to hide our watchword of peace without contributions it will have to make itself clear."

M. Tohdise called attention to the fact that there was no interior discord and that the only trouble in respect to Russia's foreign policy.

INSIDE INFORMATION UPON THE ADVANCE OF THE BRITISH TANKS

Fighting as Viewed From the Interior of the Great War Machines Told in Graphic Manner by a Canadian at the French Front

London, May 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The first account of fighting as viewed from the inside of a British "tank" is contained in a letter, just released by the censor, from Sergeant F. E. Dwyer, a Canadian who has been attached to one of the "tank" companies since the big cars were first sent to the front. He says:

"The order to advance is given. Steadily the long, powerful shapes move forward in the gray mist of dawn. As the weird-looking forms travel over the front trench, the troops therein rub their eyes in wonder at the strange cube-impressionist coat of many colors which the tanks are wearing. Inside the tanks are the keen-eyed fighting men, strangely armed, as becomes their strange craft, while around them is a convoluted mass of machinery.

"Now we are passing over shell-holes, tree stumps, and many other trifles, which fill the ground of 'No Man's Land.' The deck of the 'tank' rolls and pitches like a torpedoboat in a storm. The crew hold on to anything within reach to steady ourselves while we rush down a large shell-hole. But we come safely through without seasickness.

"Suddenly the gunnery officer gives the order: 'To action.' His voice is only just heard above the noise of the whirling machinery. A few sighting shots, and we have found the range. We succeed in putting out two machine-gun emplacements, the guns of which have been worrying our infantry for some time. Hun bullets are rebounding from our tough sides like hail from a glass roof, while inside the tanks the whole crew are at various guns, which break-forth in a devastating fire, under which nothing can live.

A stowaway girl was married at sea after having been hidden away in a cask in the hold of a ship for 47 days. The girl smuggled herself aboard at Bordeaux, France, the vessel being bound for the United States. Her lover was a sailor on the boat, and the two planned to get married as soon as he could save enough money. Twice a day for 47 days, the man took food to the girl and at night he kept watch while she came on deck and took exercise. The captain's suspicions were aroused, however, and the stowaway discovered. As they were outside the three-mile limit, the captain exercised his powers and married the couple.

W.H.A. PREPARING FOR HOSPITAL DAY

Rose Campaign to be Held Again This Year; Other Business

The regular meeting of the Women's Hospital Association was held in the library on Friday morning with a good attendance, and Mrs. Schell, resident in the chair. The minutes were read and the treasurer's report presented and approved. Fees were paid in by Miss Jones, North Ward, $8.50.

Several small accounts were passed and the treasurer's report approved to any others outstanding.

A letter was read from Woodstock giving information re roses for the Hospital Day, to be held there several letters of thanks for sympathy were read, one being from Miss Forde, who is in Atlantic City. There was no report from the J. T. A. The County members were reported to be interested over hospital work and Rose Day, and Mrs. J. E. Burdett, Burford, referred to several W. H. A. meetings lately held in Brant, as showing especial enthusiasm for the work.

Mrs. H. R. Yates and Mrs. W. F. Paterson were the visitors at the hospital during April. At Easter lowers and Easter cards were presented to each patient individually like plants given for the public wards and for the nurses' tables, and a lily for Miss Forde. They also provided a box of oranges, bunches of bananas and other things with reading matter and magazines. Patients generally expressed themselves as being well cared for and pleased with their surroundings.

Mrs. Ames and Mrs. Bates are appointed to visit during the present month.

Since the last monthly meeting the names of several members of the Auxiliary have been visited by several affliction and trial. Mrs. Cummings Nelles, seconded by Mrs. Colquhoun, moved "a resolution of sympathy with Mrs. Livingston, in her great sorrow, which is also Brantford's sorrow as well as Brantford's glory, and desires to express our appreciation of the unselfish patriotism that cheerfully gave her sons in response to the call from King and Country; and of her untiring devotion to the various war works undertaken by the Women's Patriotic League."

Resolutions of sympathy and condolence were also tendered to Mr. George Kippax and family in their recent bereavement and to Mrs. Bean who has lately lost her husband.

It was reported that a little girl, daughter of a soldier on duty, who is now ill in the hospital with the prospect of a long stay, needed playthings. These will be supplied through the visiting committee.

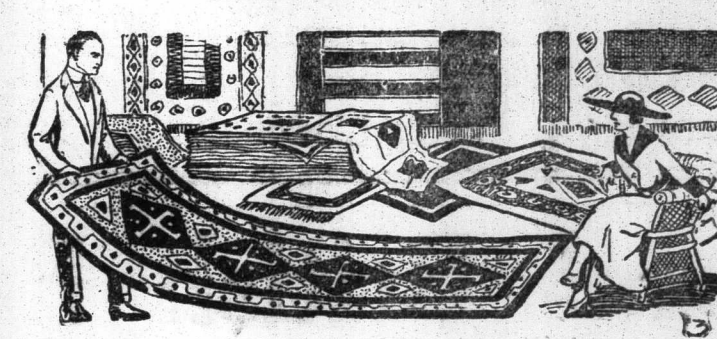

On motion it was decided to increase the pay of the seamstress at the hospital to $1.25 per day to take from January 1st of this year. Organization and preparations for Rose Day filled in the remainder of the hour. Committees were named to secure rooms for headquarters, telephone, boxes, etc. Volunteer workers will be gladly welcomed in addition to those who have assisted before.

The next regular meeting will be postponed for one week, and will be called for the second Friday in June.

DILL DID THE DEED

This little one reel comedy was laid in the dressing rooms of the famous German comedians Kolb and Dill, who are now appearing in five-reel Mutual Star productions. The two funny men were making up for a scene in the forthcoming production entitled "Lonesome Town."

They were trying to look their very worst and Kolb was of the opinion that his partner looked too cleanly and too well dressed for the part of a tramp.

"Max get some old clothes and cut them up, put patches in them, and look like a regular bum." This was the advice Kolb gave to Dill, and when Dill asked him what he could use, the reply was to look around in the studio and find something.

Later Kolb left the rooms and upon his return he found Dill all dressed up in his own best suit, patched and cut into ribbons. His remonstrances were of no avail as Max said that that was the oldest and worst looking thing that he could find. We will draw a curtain over the grand finale.

Love, a thrilling mystery drama by Lois Zellner.

House Peters has for some time been one of the most popular of the male melodramatic stars. Tall and handsome and with his years of dramatic training, he is the ideal hero of the screen.

Myrtle Stedman, young and beautiful, a talented actress and star in her own right, has won her way into the hearts of the photoplay audiences, and these two young people form a co-acting duo which it would be difficult to surpass.

The story of "As Men Love" deals with modern society and the enduring friendship of one man for another. They have been chums since boyhood—have shared each other's sorrows and joys. One of them marries, but the wife, a frivolous society woman, believes that she is in love with the other man. Aroused by the chum's attention to her sister-in-law, she throws herself into his arms where she is discovered by her husband.

How the friendship and love of the two men is broken, by the chum's sister, for the wife's caresses—how they endure the separation and how they are finally reunited through the illness of a little child, goes to make a story that is most compelling and unusual.

Miss Stedman as a society woman, has the opportunity to display many beautiful qualities of the latest fashion, and the scenes at their home and at the fashionable "The Pallas" are presented with the usual Pallas lavishness in detail.

J. W. Johnston, who will be remembered for his splendid performance in "The Rose of the Rancho," and former leading man for Marguerite Clark, plays the chum of House Peters and Helen Jerome Eddy, as Marjorie, the younger sister, also included in the cast. The production was made for the Pallas Co. under the direction of E. Mason Hopper.

"INDISCRETION." The conventions of society never bothered her one whit. She was sweet simple little girl, who trusted every one, even care-free married men.

Unrestrained youth grew into discreet womanhood. Thrown into a tragic compromise with a married man with whom she plays coquette, she reaches a point in her childish ignorance where the burning light of experience pierces through her indiscretion.

Woven by the deft hand of a master writer, played in the charming way of dimpled Lillian Walker, this feature has a deliciously touching appeal of a story which touches the experience of all people. You can't help but like "Indiscretion" when you see it at the Rex, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"THE SPIRIT OF ROMANCE." Vivian Martin, the clever Pallas-Paramount star, who recently scored such a pronounced success as "The Wax Model," is to be seen at the Rex on Monday and Tuesday in "The Spirit of Romance," a whimsical story by George Hopkins, prepared for the screen by Adele Harris.

Since her first appearance in Pallas-Paramount pictures, Miss Martin has made a wonderful success. As the little girl of the streets in "The Right Direction" she endeared herself to the audience, and as the patient drudge who suddenly finds herself an heiress, she has a role which gives her full scope to display her splendid dramatic ability.

"The Spirit of Romance" has to do with a little girl who is a drudge in an antique shop, presided over by a testy old man. In her spare moments, Abby Lou, as she is known, reads books of fairy tales and dreams of kings and handsome princes. The old millionaire, not wishing to leave his fortune to his granddaughter, decides to pretend he is dead and vanishes, leaving all of his fortune to Abby Lou.

How Abby Lou handles her suddenly acquired wealth, and by her shrewdly makes the supposed dead man realize his mistakes, is brought about in a most charming and unusual manner.

Miss Martin is first seen as the drudge, but later blossoms forth in an array of beautiful and stylish frocks and gowns. As an unusual excellence supports her, including Herbert Standing, Colin herself to the public, and greatly increased her popularity by her clever Chase, Percy Challenge, Eleanor Hancock, George Fisher, Daisy Robinson and H. P. Crane.

Inside Information

all sizes, just linked together, showing how severe our previous bombardments had been. The Huns showed their heads here, and we have a warm ten minutes before they give signs of retreating. We leave them for a minute or two in order to ram all-devouring monster, which is still threatening our rapidly advancing infantry. We just crawl over the embankment, guns and all, it is not necessary to fire a single shot.

"Now it is time for us to advance to the next and last position. We have the good fortune to strike a hole in the Huns' line, and we have a large hold our 'bus stops.' Two or three Huns seeing our difficulty crawl out of a hole like rabbits, and are brave enough to creep on the back of the 'tank' from behind. But we hear them on the armor and they are doomed not to get the iron cross, but to open small tin doors and shoot them with a revolver. Of course, we had seen them before they reached the 'tank' but as our mechanism was giving us a little change of occupation just then, we did not trouble about them.

"And now the old 'bus is going strong again. Only just in time for a large Lydit bomb bursts against the armored jacket of my gun. The flare comes in through the port-hole, blinding me for a minute or so, while small splinters strike my face. But my gun is still untouched, thanks to the armor plate, and, somehow, seems to work much better. And now I catch some Huns retreating along a trench almost in line with a burst of fire. The Germans are now scattered in small parties. It is almost like playing at hide-and-seek as we now travel backward and forward along that trench. After a few short runs we find no more Huns to hunt."

THE SITUATION. The French have recorded a notable victory. In a new offensive along the Aisne, they captured the village of Craonne and also the first German line on a front of two and a half miles northwest of Rheims.

Desperate fighting on the British front still continues. Haig's men have been mainly concerned in consolidating ground taken and beating off counter attacks. They have successfully with the exception of having to fall back near Cherisy. They have also taken a few more trenches.

In the Dominion House Sir Thomas White intimated that the Government is likely to act with regard to wheat prices, and from Washington comes word that as the result of a conference Hon. George Foster announces that Canada and the States may join in fixing a price with regard to the same cereal.

Over The Courier leased wire today there comes the statement that a restriction of the power of the German Emperor has been decided upon by the Constitution Committee of the Reichstag.

THE QUESTION OF POTATOES. The homely potato has become a very scarce and high-priced article. In fact, if the thing goes on much longer, it will be necessary to buy one by instalments.

By this time most of the League ball players must have reached the conclusion that were got together to gather an ice crop.

It is argued that people collect "potato eyes" to be used as seeds. They're easy to find; wide open because of the price.

Do you want to know what this is, gentle reader? Well, it's Spring. If you don't believe it look at the calendar.

three weeks to allow them to sprout before planting. The usual time for planting potatoes for best results is from the 15th to the 25th of May.

According to present indications, the acreage of potatoes will be less than usual this year.

Prof. Zavitz, in view of present circumstances, advises people to substitute rice for potatoes. He points out that at present prices, the food value of the former at one dollar, is equal to that of tubers costing two dollars.

A number of Liberal papers, the local Grit organ included, have been seeking to make the claim that because the Ottawa Government recently put grain and flour on the free list, that by that act they have come round to the policy of Reciprocity advocated by Laurier and his associates in 1911.

What the Liberal leaders proposed under that pact was to throw down practically all essential safeguards with regard to hundreds of items. These included a number of manufactured articles. Under that plan huge U.S. industrial concerns, would have used Canada as a dumping place, thus causing the loss of employment to thousands of workers in Dominion factories and in turn robbing our farmers of the valuable home market.

This is what Reciprocity meant and in addition, it involved a step towards Washington and that much further from the Old Land. The people gave their answer with abundant emphasis then and they would do so again to-morrow.

The Expositor and other sheets of that ilk make the asinine claim that the Conservatives have swallowed the Reciprocity dope. Even if that were true, and it most emphatically isn't, the taunt would come with extremely bad grace from the greatest gulp down artists of all time.

Laurier, the Toronto Globe, and all the Globules, if their side got into power, were going to destroy protection, root and branch.

"I do not care," thundered Sir Richard Cartwright in the Dominion House, "in what particular way the reptile (protection) is destroyed. I do not care whether it is cut off by the head or tail, or in the middle."

And they all of them, the local Grit organ included, and fervently ejaculated "amen." Well Laurier cried: "Did he touch protection? Not in one essential (except free binger twine to the ruin of all Canadian factories save one) and the Grit outfit bolted down the entire Free Trade platform, every plank and cross beam and nail of it, and most of them, especially our contemporary, would have smacked their lips over even a bigger dose than that."

It is argued that people collect "potato eyes" to be used as seeds. They're easy to find; wide open because of the price.

Several of his teeth were knocked from his face, and his lips and face badly cut up. Doctor Hieck was hurriedly summoned, and the injured lad conveyed to the Hospital in the police ambulance. The boy was walking along the roof and attempted to descend one of the ladders attached to the roofs for the convenience of the firemen. The ladder gave way the consequence being that the boy fell to the sidewalk below. He spent as restful a night as could be expected, and is reported this morning as still resting easily.

CERTIFICATES FOR SOLDIERS

Mementos Prepared by City Council Ready For Distribution

ACTIVE SERVICE MEN Of Every Rank to Receive a Certificate

Within the next week the majority of five thousand certificates of active service will have been distributed in this city among the families of active service men, according to the plans of the special committee of the city council, appointed to go into the matter. The certificates have been completed, and the work of distribution to all men from Brantford now upon active service or to their families will at once be undertaken, largely through the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association of returned soldiers. The certificates are beautifully printed upon the finest parchment paper, in permanent colors, the design having been supplied by Mr. D. G. Husband of this city. It comprises a beautifully colored border made up of the flags of the allies and an intertwining of Maple Leaves, containing the following wording:

FOR KING AND EMPIRE CERTIFICATE OF HONOR

(Coat of arms of the city of Brantford.)

Presented to: _____ by the Municipal Council of the city of Brantford in grateful recognition of services rendered to Canada and the Empire by participation in the struggle for freedom and justice as a member of Canada's Expeditionary Forces. (Signed by the Mayor and the city clerk.)

Below is appended a quotation from E. Pauline Johnson, as follows: "Few of you have the blood of kings, And few are of courtly birth; But none are vagabonds or rogues, Of doubtful name and worth. And each has one credential Which entitles him to brag, You fought for right and Canada, - And upheld the British flag."

BLIND PRINCIPAL

Pays Visit to Brantford School For Blind

Hon. Dr. Pyne Was Also Among the Guests

As noted in last night's Courier, Sir Frederick Fraser, Principal for the School for the Blind, Halifax, Lady Fraser, Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, and Dr. Colquhoun, Deputy Minister of Education, were guests yesterday of Principal James at the School for the Blind.

Sir Frederick, who is himself totally blind, is a most interesting character. He seems to "sense" everything around him with almost the power of vision, and his tour of inspection was that in reality, strange as it may seem. After Mrs. James had done the duties as hostess, an adjournment took place to the School, the distinguished guests visiting all departments. At the conclusion, an impromptu musical program was most successfully carried out by the pupils.

Sir Frederick made a very happy address in which he expressed congratulations with regard to the affairs of the school. He told the pupils the story of his own life. How he had lost the sight of one eye at the age of six and of the other at the age of 15. He had taken his course at the Perkins Institute, Massachusetts and from that had risen to the post of Principal in the school over which he presided, the subjects included music, a literary course and massage. In a most impressive manner he gave the pupils some excellent advice, which they manifestly appreciated.

Hon. Dr. Pyne, in his remarks, stated that the Government desired to do the best possible for pupils and wanted their hearty co-operation.

Principal James also gave a happy address.

The little girls presented Lady Fraser, Hon. Pyne and Dr. Colquhoun with bouquets, and the other gentlemen present with boutonnières.

SIDE TALKS

NO SKIN OFF OUR NOSES

Why do things that other people do which don't really harm or concern us sometimes bother us so much?

For instance, I have a friend, who almost always takes a peep at the end of a book while she is reading it.

Now of course that doesn't hurt me any—no skin off my nose, as the saying goes—and yet it irritates me beyond words to have her do it. She Looks at the End of the Story.

It is such a foolish thing to do, such a pleasure-destroying trick. Here she is reading the book for the sake of the development of the story (I know that all books are not read solely for that purpose but the ones she reads are) and she throws away all the element of surprise and mystery by looking at the end.

Again it troubles me to see people who have machines and do not use them, except when every condition is just so. I do not refer to people whose going out would mean that I might go too. It would be obvious that I should mind their staying in. I mean people whose cars I never have or never expect to be in. It maddens me to see them spend hours polishing, and fussing over their machines, when they might be out in the blessed sunshine.

A Mother Who Idealizes Her Favorite Child.

Again, I know a woman who has a very ordinary daughter. No, on second thought, I should not call her ordinary. I think she is extraordinarily lazy and selfish, far less worthwhile than her sisters. But her mother thinks she is a perfect paragon of all the virtues. And—I'm ashamed to say it but it's true—that irritates me. I even long to tell the mother some of the things I know about her daughter. Isn't that unpeppably mean? Of course, I shall never yield to the longing, but it's there just the same.

What makes us feel that way? I say "us," because I know from experience that I am not alone in this matter.

There are some people who are either self-centered enough, or philosophical enough, not to be troubled by their neighbors do, but the most of us lie between these two extremes.

WILSON GIVEN FOOD CONTROL

Seven Radical Provisions in War Measures Before Congress

Washington, May 4.—Absolute authority to regulate in its discretion the production, distribution and prices of food and other necessities during the war was asked of Congress by the Administration. In a sweeping bill, introduced with Administration approval, it is proposed to empower the President to compel holders of the national emergency shall require: To fix maximum and minimum prices for food, clothing, fuel and other necessities, and the articles required for their production. To regulate the production of these commodities, and, if necessary, to requisition the producing factories, mines or other establishments. To compel holders of necessities to release them in amounts ensuring equitable distribution. To regulate exchanges in such a way as to eliminate market manipulation. To compel railroads to give preference to the movement of necessities.

To levy such importation duties as he finds necessary to prevent excessive "dumping" of foreign products. To impose limitations or prohibitions upon the use of grain, in the manufacture of liquor.

Further Powers are Asked In addition the Secretary of Agriculture would be empowered to establish standard food grades, to license and control the manufacture, storage and distribution of foods, to prescribe percentage of flour to be milled from wheat and to regulate the mixing of wheat flour with other flour in the making of bread and other food.

It is known that officials of the executive branches of the Government believe that with such effective weapons in their possession they will encounter no difficulty in lining up on the side of the public interest without legal action all recalcitrant private agencies. The bill is supplemental to the Administration food measure introduced in the House earlier in the week providing for a survey of the country's food resources and conferring certain powers to prevent food speculation.

INCREASE FOR POLICE FORCE

Salaries of All Members Raised by Police Commission

A special meeting of the police commissioners was held in the chambers of His Honor Judge Hardy in the Court House yesterday afternoon for the main purpose of adjusting the salary differences, with the men of the force. A majority was made at the last meeting but action was deferred owing to the absence of Mayor Howley. Mayor Howley, who presided, favored acquiescing to the demands of the men. He pointed out that it was difficult to obtain policemen, and the other members said that several men had submitted their resignations. To fix maximum and minimum wages now prevailing and to make the cost of living had advanced abnormally, that the increase as recommended by the committee.

Judge Hardy was of the opinion that the men had been actuated to demand an increase, on account of the salary of the chief, who had fulfilled the duties of his office for four or five years without an increase, and that as a result the men wished to be raised accordingly although from year to year their salaries had been adjusted to cope with the growth of the high cost of living. He was satisfied that the schedule of wages in Brantford compared favorably with other municipalities of a like size. Considerable discussion was devoted to the matter, and the following list of changes was agreed upon

Magistrate Livingston thought the men had been fairly treated with the exception of the sergeants who were required, on account of the small number on the staff to work twelve hours to the eight of the other men. He favored the men accordingly. His Honor Judge Hardy was opposed to this, he advocating taking the appointment of another man to permit of eight hours shift. The Mayor thought that the adjustment as decided upon should stand, and if the sergeants were not satisfied, their complaint, should one be forth coming, could be dealt with at such time.

Samples of cloth for winter and summer uniforms for the men were offered for the inspection of the commissioners, and the contract for the summer clothing was awarded to Hughes and Howie, the tunics to cost $2.99 and the trousers $1.99. The winter uniforms will be made by Broadbent at a cost of $23.75 for the tunics, and $11 for the trousers.

The city solicitor will be requested to amend the cab, bus and carters by-laws, which as existing are not entirely satisfactory. It was decided to install a telephone in the home of the police court clerk, for the convenience of the department. Accounts to the amount of $18.53 were passed, after which the meeting adjourned.

BOOSTER PUMP WAS DISCUSSED

Numerous Matters Dealt With at Meeting of Water Commissioners

The proposed booster pump that is to be installed at the waterworks pumping station as a convenience to users on Terrace Hill, was discussed at some length at the regular meeting of the Water Commissioners in the city hall. Mr. Willis Chipman, consulting engineer of Toronto, was present and discussed the matter thoroughly with the commissioners. Mr. Catton, of the Hydro Electric System was also present, and the installation of the pump, from the power standpoint was considered with him. At the last meeting of the board it was decided to beautify the water works property by planting trees on the south side of Dufferin Avenue from Morrell street, to the Lake Erie and Northern and on Morrell street, from Dufferin Avenue to West Mill street. The Parks Board were communicated with, and superintendent J. C. Waller was instructed to look into the matter. There are no trees of the required size and kind available, so in this regard action will be deferred for an indefinite period. An order was placed some time ago with the International Engine Works, for a Hoppes Live Steam Feed Water Purifier at a price of $11,500. At a later date it was advanced to $1675, and the waterworks department were accordingly notified of the change. However through the agency of Mr. C. A. Waters, who was able to make the purchase at the original figure, the board was saved $175. The sum of $75 was ordered to be paid to David Webster, waterworks engineer, for the use of his car for the past two years.

NEW CHALMERS PLANT UNDER WAY

Manufacturers of Famous Car Underterred by Recent Fire

Windsor, Ont., May 4.—The construction of the new Chalmers plant at Walkerville, now under way, promises to afford bigger and better manufacturing facilities than the plant has ever enjoyed in the past. The major portion of the former factory was gutted by a fire a few weeks ago, the Chalmers Corporation at once prepared plans for new buildings. Harry S. Lee, General Manager of the Chalmers Motor Company, of Canada, in a statement made today, said that the work of re-building on the site had started today.

Tremontons Manufacturing Sub-division. The new Chalmers plant, states Mr. Lee, will be one of the best equipped in the Dominion. The manufacturing methods of the Chalmers organization encompass an output of 20,000 cars in 1917. This large output, the Chalmers factory at Walkerville will play an important part, eventually being the output of the Detroit factory, the opposite side of the harbor.

The Chalmers organization is firmly convinced that a definite market exists for cars in the Dominion. Because the Dominion has a large automobile manufacturing industry, it is definitely assured. In this opinion, Chalmers officials called for the attention of the automobile industry, and pointed out the fact that they have lowered the industry through increased production. We know that the output of cars in the $1600 field has increased to a great extent from the owners of cheap cars. The dominant advantage of lightweight sixes are shown in the interesting fact. One of the largest Army officials called for the output of hundred tonning cars. These are delivered by the Chalmers Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., and are now in active service. The army officials in reviewing the work motor transport say that they for the light-weight, speedy Chalmers cars to be ideal for army work.

NEW CHALMERS PLANT UNDER WAY

Manufacturers of Famous Car Undeterred by Recent Fire

Windsor, Ont., May 5.—Construction of the new Chalmers plant at Windsor is now under way, promising a larger and better manufacturing plant than the one which has ever before. When the major portion of the former fine factory was gutted by fire a few weeks ago, the Chalmers organization at once prepared plans for new buildings. Harry S. Lee, General Manager of the Chalmers Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., in a statement made today says that the work of rebuilding on the old site was started today.

HARRY S. LEE, General Manager of the Chalmers Motor Co. of Canada, Limited.

Renowned Manufacturing Schedule
The new Chalmers factory, says Mr. Lee, "will be one of the best equipped in the Dominion. Its plant has vast possibilities covering not only Canada but also the entire Chalmers export business throughout the Empire. During 1917 the Chalmers organization contemplates an output of 30,000 cars, in piling up the large output the Canadian factory at Walkerville will play an important part, eventually rivalling the output of the Detroit factory on the opposite side of the border."
The Chalmers organization is firmly convinced that a definite field exists for cars in the $1600 class, because the $1600 field offers the automobile manufacturer an opportunity to incorporate improved features of construction with quantity production, we believe the future of the car selling near that price to be definitely assured. In this connection pessimists who dust off their little talk on the "point of saturation" in the automobile industry appear ridiculous to the men who have followed the industry through since its inception. We know that the buyers of cars in the $1600 field are recruited to a great extent from former owners of cheap cars.

TINY JOHNNY GRASSHOPPER'S STRANGE MISTAKE.

One evening Johnny Grasshopper saw Daddy Grasshopper take a big piece of something brown out of his pocket and take a bite. Johnny thought it looked like chocolate candy, so he sat on Daddy Grasshopper's chair.

"Daddy, did you have candy to-day?" he asked, and Daddy Grasshopper, who was busy reading, nodded his head.

"Well, why don't you give me some?" asked Johnny, and Daddy Grasshopper tucked him in his little bed.

Johnny couldn't go to sleep for thinking of that big piece of chocolate candy. And when Mamma and Daddy Grasshopper were sound asleep Johnny crept out of his little bed and hurried to where Daddy Grasshopper's clothes hung. He drew from the pocket the big brown piece and took a great big bite. Just then Mamma Grasshopper coughed and Johnny, in his haste to get back in bed before he was discovered, swallowed the whole mouthful.

Simcoe Teachers Ask Increase in Salary of Board of Education

BUSINESS OF BOARD
Sergt. Frank Bennett, 58th, Invalid Home

(From our own Correspondent)
Simcoe, May 5.—The Board of Education last night had an avalanche of requests for increase of salaries, ranging from $50 to $75. Only two teachers of the public school staff and these requested increases. The reasons given were (1) cost of high living; (2) long time since last raise; (3) left stationary while others got increases; (4) salaries comparatively lower here than elsewhere; (5) classes abnormally large, etc. etc. One teacher with a junior and senior class claiming that the work of two teachers was being done, recalled to us the fact that for some years we ourselves must have done the work of nine teachers. But the estimates had been sent in and there was no action taken. In general there was expression of satisfaction with the state of affairs, but some criticism regarding too much work for Junior forms, which was referred to the principal for investigation; and regarding excessive strapping in some forms was considered evidence of bad disciplinary powers by some members of the board. P. S. attendance, April by grades:

High school—April, enrolled 128. Average 96. Many both boys and girls, have gone forward in forms. The finance committee reported present salaries ranging from $550 to $1150 among the teachers asking increase as being done, and requested $575. The maximum salary for all forms below fourth reader classes has been placed at $575. One request is granted would create a new maximum of $625. High school accounts totalling $36.53 and Public School accounts totalling $146.66 were passed.

The Times Alken raised the question of providing better facilities for a more extended course in business education. He said many students left school early and revenue was lost for attention to this important branch. Principal Christie recalled the fact that he had recommended such development a few months ago and that the matter. The management committee was requested to investigate and report on the proposition.

The board authorized the pursuit of the Kindergarten primary course, in accordance with Sec. 18, of the regulations.—No one suggested a change in the unwieldy name.

Trustee Sutton counselled delay when Mr. Lawson suggested early purchase of coal for next winter.

The principal's request for supplementary readers for junior grades was granted.

Permission to use the front lawn at the Central school for tennis was declined.

It was thought that if thrown open at all the lawn should be public property, and Mr. Haddow doubted if there were room.

Mr. Marston thought the front lawn the only remaining feature about the institution, and the janitor's good work there was unstintingly praised.

Mr. Neff, of the Dept. of Agriculture, requested the use of the east-west portion of the high school campus for competitive garden plots, but the request was not granted.

The parcel of land south of this along the west of the L. E. & N. tracks and extending to the yard, was given for cropping to a club of ladies.

Expression of Sympathy
Before adjournment, the Board passed a resolution of sympathy for Trustee Edwards and family in their affliction through the death of their colleague's son, Harold Jackson, whose death from wounds was chronicled in this page a short time ago.

Trout Fry Introduced to Norfolk Streams
On Thursday, local anglers received and placed in stream heads 50,000 trout fry. The local anglers organization is at present getting prices on "finger-lengths, or one year olds, and may finance a purchase of a quantity to keep the supply up.

One Gallon of Gasoline has done it.

20 to 25 miles to a gallon of gasoline is a frequent occurrence with the Ford car. One man (name on request) reports an average of 33 miles per gallon for 20,000 miles. Surely this is a record that few, if any other makes of cars ever equaled.

It demonstrates the economy of owning and driving a Ford. You can average 1000 miles more travel on Ford-size tires. The saving on oil and repairs is proportionately large. The name "FORD" stands for lowest cost and greatest service.

YOU NEED A TONIC

Hood's Sarsaparilla, as a Spring Medicine, is the Best.

Spring sickness comes in some degree to every man, woman and child in our climate. It is that run-down condition of the system that results from impure, impoverished, devalitized blood. It is marked by loss of appetite and that tired feeling, and in many cases by some form of eruption.

The best way to treat spring sickness is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Ask your druggist for this old reliable family medicine. It purifies, enriches and revitalizes the blood. It is an all-the-year-round alternative and tonic, and is absolutely the best Spring medicine.

Get your blood in good condition at once—now. Delay may be dangerous. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, nothing else can take its place.

DOINGS AT DOVER

Port Dover, May 4.—From Our Own Correspondent—The tug E. C. Ogden, Capt. Williams, of Port Burwell, with a crew of one, the engineer, and Capt. W. F. Kolbe aboard, left here at four o'clock this morning, crossed the harbor to Gravelly Bay, picked up the lighter, rounded the point and followed by a fresh easter, with the launch also in tow reported from Port Burwell during the afternoon, that they had made port at 2:30 p. m.

There was little concern to-day for their safety as their weathering Tuesday's gale without losing the sports, left no doubt of their ability to weather to-day's sea.

The Bone Bag Club alias Hobbs Bandits had their quarters entered by a rear window and all valuables including several valuable pictures, cards and even the frying pan and coffee pot stolen. No Clue.

W. M. Abbott, reported, "died of wounds" and listed from Brantford, ward of the 12th Battalion. He was a son of Thos. Abbott, of Woodhouse. He was wounded in the eye and neck.

PROPER METHODS OF LAWN CULTIVATION

Advice to All Who Desire to Beautify Their Homes

What can I do to have one of those beautiful, velvety lawns? This is the question frequently asked by virtually every one who takes an interest in beautifying the home grounds.

The first thing toward making a lawn is to establish the proper grade. This should be done with great care, because after the lawn is made its level should never be changed.

The next step is to prepare the ground deeply and thoroughly. The lasting qualities of the sod depends largely on the richness and preparation of the soil in the beginning. If naturally rich, about 200 pounds of pulverized fertilizer to every 1,000 square feet (40x100) will be sufficient, while for poorer soil double that quantity will not be excessive. After the fertilizer is evenly spread over the surface the ground should be plowed or spaded to a depth of a foot. After the surface is made generally level it should be smoothed with a rake and all stones removed. The more finely and completely the soil is pulverized the quicker the lawn will be obtained and the more permanent will be its beauty.

The seeds selected for sowing a lawn should be of the highest quality; guard against the loss of time and money likely to be caused by doubtful seeds. Grass seed mixtures prepared by reliable seedsmen are the safest to use. If the soil is rich and thoroughly prepared about four bushels an acre will be sufficient. For small areas a quart to the hundred square feet is about right. The seeds should be sown as evenly as possible choosing a calm day (at this operation a wind will blow the seed into heaps and bare spaces will be the result). After sowing the ground should be lightly harrowed or raked; then smooth down with a roller or the flat of a spade to establish a firm surface.

The best time to sow grass seed in this locality is in March, April or May, although it can be sown with equally good results in September and October.

Care of the Lawn
To keep a lawn in good condition it should be mowed once a week. In dry weather watering is essential; but remember when you do water, water thoroughly. A light sprinkling every day accomplishes nothing and only results in drawing the roots to the surface. Give enough water to saturate the ground for a depth of several inches. It is far better to water thoroughly once a week than to give a sprinkling every day.

After the lawn is well established a top dressing of fine bone meal at the rate of 600 or 700 pounds an acre will be found very beneficial. Bone meal is a slow-acting fertilizer, but a dressing once a year will give marvelous returns. Bone meal also contains a fair proportion of slowly available nitrogen, which will stimulate the growth of the grass.

SPLENDID LECTURE ON HOME MISSION

Rev. W. H. Langton of Paris Spoke in the City

The regular Wednesday prayer meeting in Park Baptist Church, was under the direction of the Ladies Mission Circle, and in the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Wrighton, who was in Toronto, Mrs. W. R. Baird, president of the Society, presided. The meeting was opened by singing hymns of praise and afterwards there was a season of prayer on behalf of many objects and persons dear to our church and mission-ary work. The Rev. W. H. Langton, pastor of the Paris Baptist Church was present and delivered a splendid address on the topic of Home Missions.

Mr. Langton has spent several years on some of our Home Mission stations, and is fully conversant with the work in general. His address was much appreciated by all present and the ladies hope to have Mr. Langton address their open meeting again sometime in the near future.

Miss Carson sang very beautifully a solo, which sought to accentuate further the former part of the meeting and the address.

Again on Thursday at 3.30 the ladies met for their regular meeting when the delegates were appointed to attend the Brant-Oxford Association to be held in Otterville next month. Two very interesting events took place when life membership certificates in foreign and home mission societies were presented by Mrs. Nicholson on behalf of the ladies, to Mrs. H. B. Gardiner, in recognition of her long and faithful service in the circle work, and to Miss Vansomeran, in loving memory of her dear departed sister, also the Circle's sister in Christ, Miss Esma Vansomeran. Park ladies are experiencing a time of missionary activity, and therefore a time of spiritual blessing. To God be the Glory.

Conservation vs. Waste!

NEVER in previous times has the artisan reaped a richer reward for his labors than at present. For this reason there has never been a season when the necessity for saving was more urgent. If you would ensure your future comfort, conserve a share of your present income. In these days unnecessary purchases equal waste. A small deposit in the Merchants' Bank equals conservation. Begin at once, even with a small sum.

More Garden Lots Needed

The need for more gardens is an imperative one. The lack of food production will create a grave crisis this coming winter unless every possible space is used to produce. Already the demand from citizens for plots has exceeded the supply at the disposal of the Committee.

Have you a vacant lot? If you have, and do not intend to cultivate it, it is your duty to let the Gardening Committee use it. An unused lot this summer will be a reproach to its owner. Send your address to D. W. Williamson, 97 Dufferin Ave., Phone 733.

The different railroad federated systems, composed of members of the mechanical staffs on the big continental railway systems in Western Canada will present joint demands to the managements looking for an advance in wages and the securing of improved shop and work conditions.

It is only a short time since the minimum wages of civic laborers in Winnipeg were 25 cents per hour. Later it was advanced to 27 1/2 cents and now the city council has further increased it to 30 cents an hour. This is a direct result of the persistent agitation of the central labor union, which is giving it solid support.

The new Firemen's Union in Winnipeg is now going strong, and despite the opposition of certain officials, it is now looked upon as a fixture. At its last regular meeting, held in the Labor Temple, it was decided to ask for the inauguration of the two platoon system. It has elected delegates to the central labor union, which is giving it solid support.

Fred Vick, Canadian organizer of the metal polishers, has succeeded in establishing a new local of the craft in Renfrew, every eligible member of the trade has been enrolled and application for a charter forwarded to international headquarters in Cincinnati. Vick has been doing some good work in Canada since his appointment, and through his efforts a number of the local unions have been enabled to boost up their membership rolls.

Trades unionists in Alberta are expressing great satisfaction at the placing of an up to date factories act on the provincial statute books. For years organized labor has persistently agitated for such a measure, and Secretary Bellamy of the Western Canada Conference of Typographical Unions is given unstinted praise for the splendid work he performed in connection with its passage. It is said to be the best factories act now in operation anywhere in Canada.

It is said that at the present time there are large numbers of idle men in Calgary. So many have been induced to come over from the States on the plea of high wages, and by a one-cent per mile railroad fare being given to men at the coast to come to the city. This is responsible for an influx of labor that has created an acute situation. It is claimed it is the result of a scheme to get men into the district in such numbers as to make jobs scarce and bring down the rates of wages, and what is more, there is very little demand for farm labor.

Business Representative Lucas of the Iron Moulders' International Union has organized a new local union in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., to be known as No. 391. It has been decided to enforce a minimum wage scale of $4.75. The men in the Algona Steel Mills and the Northern Foundry are almost solidly organized. The men in the United States side of the river, many of whom are employed at the Heckler Bros. plant are also included in the membership of the new organization. Business is good and the craft will soon be solidly organized through the entire Soo district on both sides of the border line.

International Vice-president Barnett and Business Representative W. J. Lucas of the Iron Moulders' Union, visited Peterboro during the present week to adjust matters in some of the shops in that city in regard to wage rates and work conditions. It is proposed to enforce a minimum wage of $4.00 per day. It may be said that members of the craft in Peterboro are receiving a lower minimum than in almost any other section of the province, the average being about $2.75 a day, though some craftsmen get as high as $3.75. The international representatives expect the new minimum will be established without any serious trouble. Business is first-class with a steady demand for capable help.

The Vancouver City Council has adopted a schedule of wages for the different crafts that provides for the recognition of and payment of the union minimum, the rates for some being specified as follows: Brick-smiths, 56 1-4c; bricklayers, 75c; carpenters, 45c; electrical workers, 62 1-2c; electrical workers' helpers, 37 1-2c; iron workers (structural), 62 11-2c; iron workers (reinforcing), 56 1-2c; laborers (building), 43 3-4c; lathers (metal), $1 1-4c; machinists, 56 1-4c; sheet metal workers, 56 1-4c; plasterers, 61 1-2c; painters, 45c; plumbers, 50c; tile layers, 75c; tile layers' helpers, 40 5-8c; stone cutters, 62 1-2c. The following trades were listed on the basis of a nine-hour day at the following hourly rates: Engineers (clam-shell dredge), 62 1-2c; engineers (pile driver), 55 5-8c; engineers (general), 55 5-8c; engineers' firemen, 40c; pile driver-men (general), 45c; pile boom men, 50c.

CHEMIST THE REAL SAVIOUR OF VERDUN

Mysterious Explosive Drove Germans From the Outer Forts

A ROMANTIC CAREER

Is That of Paul Painleve, Inventor Extraordinary
Paris, Dec. 25.—Paul Painleve, a French chemist, is the real cause of the Germans being driven out of the outer forts of Verdun. He it was who invented the mysterious explosive against which their field fortifications went down and before whose onslaught the Germans had to retire in a week more than they advanced in eight months of the hardest fighting the world has ever seen. As a chemist Painleve lectures before eager classes of the Sorbonne. According to the Chronicle his prodigious intellectual powers were manifest before he reached his teens.

A Prodigy Arrives
His teacher in the lay school at Paris decided that a prodigy had arrived. Paul was soon idling while the rest of his class had to work, yet knew his lessons perfectly. The teacher went to the director, who declared that the boy could be examined for promotion into the next higher class. In due time the same kind of a report of Paul was again handed in. He was examined for promotion again, and again he went up to a higher class. The process was continued until Paul was in per cent of promotion out of the school altogether. At last the director was convinced that he had a marvel of a mind to deal with. Paul was discovered. No pains were spared with him. A special purse was even procured from some source. It is affirmed that in his eleventh year he could have taken a bachelor's degree at the university.

Leader of Men
M. Briand, Premier of France, is quoted as having declared that Painleve is a born leader of men with an unparalleled capacity for administration. Clemenceau pronounced him an inspired debater. The effectiveness of Painleve in the laboratory is based upon qualities totally different from those which win him success in politics. He has a passion for order, symmetry, harmony method in his researches. "You are an old maid," the late Henri Poincare is alleged to have told him. "Minerva was an old maid," he replied with his characteristic smile. "She came full grown from the head of Jove and was never young." Poincare, himself, the supreme mathematician of his time, despaired of the universal Painleve, who took all science for his province.

His Political Triumph
Side to side with the glory that has come to him as a member of the academy of sciences, he has won the glory of his political triumph. He would hold a class spell-bound at the Sorbonne with the delicacy of his researches into the theory of light, heat and sound, and repair at night to a packed hall for the sake of haranguing disinterested proletarians. "Do you think," asked Poincare after a riot in which his friend got a blow on the nose, "that you might abandon your absurd politics?" "That is all very fine for you," retorted Painleve, "for you can go shooting in the forest of Rambouillet whenever you please, but I am poor and my only recreation is politics."

Knows Sorrows of Poor
Painleve knows what the sorrows of the poor must mean to them. His own mother has often told him of her hard lot as a girl. He has seen his father go all winter with a threadbare coat and with shoes that did not keep his feet from touching the ground. His parents were of the working class and the little Paul had to go about in his father's patched trousers until the school age was reached. He was brought up until his tenth year in one of the meanest neighborhoods of Paris. His parents were so poor that they could not afford wine. Paul was given water, sweetened with sugar and bread with no butter. Once a week there was meat. He slept in a large packing-case. Such were the original worldly circumstances of the most extraordinary figure in French public life today.

MEALS THAT ARE IMMORAL

One Sided Eating—That of Eating of One Class of Food Only—is Injurious

"Bring me some ham and eggs, a glass of milk, a piece of custard pie with cheese." This order goes forth not only once, but hundreds of times daily, in our restaurants by the business man. In the tea rooms another order goes forth frequently "I'll have some waffles and honey, a cup of chocolate, and a French pastry." These meals are absolutely immoral, and a further glance at them will show why. Here we have the business man ordering eggs, meat, milk, chocolate, and a French pastry. The most important foods of the same class—protein. In other words he is taking the same kind of food in five different forms, and his meal, therefore, is really only one kind of food taken ad libitum. His wife in the uptown tearoom eats waffles, syrup, chocolate and pastry. Again four different qualities. The "balanced" meal must have some of each of the four qualities represented in the foods which compose it. In this was all the needs of the body are supplied in one meal, and no one need be over-supplied.

If we had taken the eggs from the first lunch and added them to the waffles of the second and put in a vegetable or a fruit salad, we would have had a nearly perfect meal. From the eggs there are protein, the waffles give starch and fat, and the vegetables or fruit would give the necessary watery and flocculent qualities to make the meal satisfying, energy-producing and refreshing.

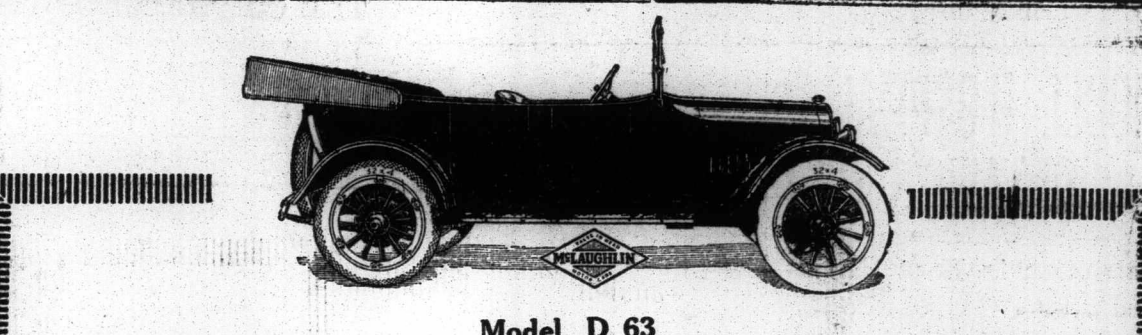

It is exceedingly simple to plan home meals, or to choose meals from a bill of fare after the balanced plan. Select one food from each of that will give the four different food qualities. Here are some wrong combinations:
Egg, meat, cheese, milk (too much protein); rice, spaghetti, bread (too much starch); fried potatoes, doughnuts, croquettes (too much starch and fat); waffles, chocolate, cake, pastry (too much sugar and fat); vegetable salad baked apple, vegetable soup (too much water and mineral).

Here are the same foods in correct combination: Vegetable soup, eggs, pastry; meat, vegetable, doughnuts, cheese, rice, cake, milk; spaghetti, baked apple.
The housewife who is planning meals for a family should go back to the actual cooking to the first principles of diet. What kind of food should a man doing muscular work eat? What should a man doing mental work eat? What should a person past 50? We eat to live, but not all of us need the same kind of foods at different ages and none of us will live healthily on an immoral diet.

SCIENCE TO SOLVE PROBLEM OF FOOD

By Proper Methods Britain Can Grow All Her Own Supplies
SIR OLIVER LODGE
Appeals for Greater State Aid of Scientific Research
London, May 5.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Sir Oliver Lodge, in an appeal for greater state aid of scientific research, declares his belief that England can grow all the food necessary for feeding her people, if proper scientific methods are employed. He says: "People state that the area of the British Isles is too small to feed the inhabitants. The effort has never been made. The area is certainly inadequate if in the 20th century we use the methods of the twelfth. But it must be known that of late years discoveries of the utmost importance have cropped up in sporadic manner through individual enterprise and at private cost, though application of these discoveries on a large scale has still to be made. And no one can doubt that a multitude of other vital truths are awaiting discovery at the hands of biologists and chemists. "Either we must grow our own food, or we must labor at other things to provide the wherewithal to purchase it from abroad. How dependent we are on them is a continuous folly. "Let scientific men be encouraged, not stingily but lavishly, to attack the problems connected with the fertility of the soil, and the best means of utilizing solar energy in the production of the right kind of vegetation, and good results are bound to follow. What the nation chiefly lacks in this matter is faith. "The satisfactory promotion of scientific discovery is an affair of millions of pounds sterling. The nation can afford to be lavish. The young energy and the brains are ready; the means and equipment are lacking. Even now, in war time, the ancient struggle-hold of official parsimony is tight in many instances, and not even now is official expenditure authorized which would enable schemes to move in the right direction. Private purses have to be appealed to, or we have to take refuge in other work of a less expensive character. "So it has always been in the history of science. Poverty and self-sacrifice are writ large on the portals of every scientific and educational establishment. "Has the nation learned that it can afford a great deal more in these directions than it thought it could? If it has, the result will be brilliant beyond all expectation."

MODEL HOSPITAL ONTARIO'S GIFT

Institution in Kent Founded by Contributions
From This Province

(From a London, Eng., newspaper)

The modern military hospital is no longer a substantial structure of brick and mortar. It is a collection of temporary buildings put up in the minimum of time and at the minimum of expense. Such a hospital is the Ontario Military Hospital in Kent. It took seven months to build, from the time the architect first arrived on the ground until it was opened, and the cost was less than £70 per bed. It is to the Canadian province of Ontario that we owe this vast concern, which is still growing, and which has tended over 6,000 patients in less than 12 months.

The subscribers to the fund and all the people of Ontario may well be pleased, for their money has been spent to good purpose, and they have the satisfaction of knowing that their hospital is put to its full use. There are rarely less than 600 patients in the wards, and often there are nearly half as many again.

The Ontario Hospital is absolutely self-contained, for there are facilities for all the most delicate surgical work ready to hand. There is a dental surgery where dentists and surgeons, all Canadians, most of them from Ontario, and all specialists, work together. Men with jaw and face wounds are made whole again. Plastic surgery has been made a feature of the establishment, and there is an excellent X-ray plant in a special building. Many American and Canadian business methods have been introduced, and there is an excellent system of card index filing in connection with the X-ray treatment. The records of the patients are kept with meticulous care, and by the card index system and man's medical history is revealed in 30 seconds.

There are at present 20 wards in the hospital, each of 52 beds. In addition there is an isolation ward of 40 beds, bringing the total up to 1,080. In six weeks 1,040 more beds will be ready, bringing the accommodation up to 2,120. This is a wonderful total for a temporary hospital which did not exist a year ago.

Nurses From Ontario.
In regard to the staff, the Ontario people have again come to the fore. They have sent 50 trained nurses. All were certificated before the war, for a three years' course is necessary in the province before the final examinations are passed. These nurses rank as lieutenants and wear two stars on their shoulder-straps. They are paid as lieutenants, and their accounts, field allowances and mess allowances are all dealt with in the same way as those of the officers. They wear a distinctive uniform, with a blue cloak lined with scarlet, a blue soft hat, and the Army Medical Service badge of Canada, which has the serpent and staff surrounded with the maple leaves instead of the bay leaves. The matron, Miss M. Smith, of Ottawa, ranks as a captain and wears captain's badges. In addition to the nursing staff there are 310 N. C. O.'s and men doing duty as orderlies, dentists, dispensers, engineers, firemen in the power house, dressers, motor drivers and police.

The arrangement of the buildings is specially noteworthy, for they are laid out with the idea of economizing labor in the distribution of food and saving time in attendance on patients. The kitchens are specially convenient, and the food is taken through covered ways to rooms where it is carved on hot stoves. There are bread cutting machines, steam boilers capable of taking a sack of potatoes, steam ovens for cooking green vegetables, baking ovens, and all the apparatus of a modern hotel kitchen. Diets are carefully checked, and there is no waste. Every day the diets required for each ward are sent down to the quartermaster's stores, where baskets are filled with any special food required. The check goes also to the kitchen, where the dishes are prepared. Every effort has been made to economize without stinting the men and several good schemes for saving have been initiated. Whereas every man used to be given two slices of bread on his plate the bread is now put on a large dish in the centre of the table, where a man may help himself. Thus, if there is any left over, it may be used for puddings or other dishes. Potatoes are served in the same way.

A Permanent Cinema.
The entertainment of the patients in itself a matter of great import, has been well provided for, and there is a permanent cinema machine built in off the big reception hall where pictures are shown every week. The men are very appreciative, and thanks to the generosity of certain firms, they are given good films. Indeed, they have had their own hospital screened in a series of scenes, and a complete picture play, "From Hen to Hospital," was acted there.

There are nine V. A. D. hospitals near the main hospital and in these another 500 beds are available for the less serious cases. There is a squadron of 12 ambulances to take the men from the station to the hospital or to the auxiliary establishments. Lieutenant-Colonel D. W. Macpherson, the officer commanding, has had a great deal of experience; he was for a long time in France with the Canadian forces. He was for many years in the Canadian militia, and long before the war broke out had a thorough grounding in all the multifarious duties of his position. The quartermasters, men of great moment in such a large establishment, are Captains W. H. Fox and H. Goodman, and one look at their stores gives the visitor an idea of their responsibilities. It is a great tribute, not only to the generosity of the men and women of Ontario, but also to the skill and executive ability of the staff, that such an undertaking can be so well worked from a distance. The Ontario Hospital receives men of any unit in the Imperial or colonial forces. Men from Canada, Newfoundland, South Africa, New Zealand, Australia, and indeed every outpost of Empire, are to be found in the wards. The men mix with each other and thus gain much information of the life of all the colonies.

Artificial Coloring of Sugar Prohibited by the Government

FOR many years the Canadian Public has been eating Artificially Colored Sugars. Government reports show that some refineries have used Ultramarine Blue to make their granulated sugar look better than it actually is. Others made use of Aniline and Vegetable Dyes to give a brilliant appearance to their soft or yellow sugars.

The use of dyes or coloring matter of any kind is unnecessary in refining Cane Sugar. This is emphasized in a notification sent to all refiners by the Dominion Government prohibiting the coloring of sugar, and in cases where it is found, prosecution proceedings will be entered under the Adulteration of Foods Act.

We Wish the Public to Know that we Have Never Used Coloring Matter in Lantic Pure Cane Sugar and Never Will Lantic Pure Cane Sugar was first put on the market about two years ago. Since that time over 200,000,000 lbs. have been consumed by the Canadian public, and we are now turning out 750,000 lbs. of Pure Cane Sugar each day.

The reason for this enormous business is not hard to explain. It means that the discriminating consumer has learned by actual use that Lantic Pure Cane Sugar is superior to all others.

Having erected the most modern sugar refinery in the world, costing over $4,000,000, we steadfastly adhered to our original policy of making only absolutely Pure Cane Sugars of highest quality, in which

NO BEETS ARE USED
NO ULTRAMARINE BLUE IS USED
NO ANILINE DYES ARE USED
NO VEGETABLE DYES ARE USED

During the last two years we were told that we could increase our business in certain sections of Canada, if we would color our yellow soft sugars, as the public were accustomed to the more brilliant color. We refused and are glad we did so. The recent action of the Government has since vindicated our judgment.

Look for the Red Ball
Trade-mark

To be absolutely certain of getting Lantic Pure Cane Sugar, see that the Red Ball Trade-mark is on every bag or carton. It is our guaranty to you of Canada's Purest Sugar.

Your grocer has Lantic Sugar in stock or will get it for you if you insist.

A sad accident occurred in Burford on Thursday afternoon of this week. A little boy about 6 years old, son of Mr. Soles of Burford, tried to catch onto a wagon loaded with about 2 tons of coal. He missed his hold and fell under the hind wheel which passed over him crushing one arm and both legs. Dr. Rutherford, who witnessed the accident, gave immediate attention and on examination the little fellow was found to be so badly injured that it was thought best to take him to Brantford Hospital. Absolutely no blame can be placed to the driver of the wagon, Mr. W. Johnston, as he was flying trip to his native province, Nova Scotia.

ENGINES IMPROVE

Motors of Much Smaller
Size do Double Work of Old

Never has the automobile industry for the trade, been on a more upward plane as at the close of 1916. Contrary to conditions of several years back, the automobile industry is generally proud to mention the name of the motor used in its latest product. In fact, finds it an essential part of its important sales point to mention the name of the motor used in its latest product. Refinement years ago, the automobile which is capable of doing more work in a few years ago, and is generally more economical. Motors of this kind, which were used five years ago, are doing virtually twice the work of the old ones. They are standing up longer and better, and are far easier to handle. At the standpoint of repair, the new motors are more economical, owing to their simplicity in accessibility and ease of assembly.

Price is Growing Faster.
The results of 19 years' hard work have been applied to the development of the automobile. In the last two years, the rate of development has been especially rapid. At this very time, in the midst of another hard year in engine building, and in the progress, instead of stagnation, development proceeds at a faster rate than ever before. The engines for 1917 are doing more work in a smaller size and of keeping the work a longer time than those of 1916. In summing up all the changes noted on the 1917 cars, there is a paltry total if the designs of the last year are compared with those of the present one. But design is only a part of the task of making good automobiles, and 1917 has a banner year for the manufacturing side, which does work that is much less spectacular than that of engineering departments.

Some Sacrifice Quality.
There is no object in trying to think the fact that manufacturers have increased production at the expense of the quality of the cars, that some of the new cars and processes have exhibited troubles during the year, and that many of the improved designs produced in 1915 have not always had the reputation of manufacturers during the year of which they were the cause. Troubles as they arise have been caught in the early stages and the probability is that 1917 will be a year in which average workmanship will be improved very greatly, following the steady improvement that has been taking place throughout the year just closed.

Motors of Much Smaller Size do Double Work of Old

There has been such a high demand for cars at the close of 1916. Conditions of several years ago, the assembler of cars is generally proud to mention the name of the motor used in his cars, and in many cases it is an asset and an important sales point to do so.

From year by year has been this about, until now the production of many seasons of stock and building has led to a product capable of performance many years ago was undreamed of. Motors of half the displacement of two years ago are developing nearly twice the power. They are running up longer and, furthermore, are far easier to handle from the standpoint of repair and replacement to the great improvement in accessibility and methods of assembly.

There is growing faster. The results of 19 years' laboratory work have been applied to engines in the past two years, so that the development has been exceptionally rapid. At this very time we are in the midst of another forward spurt in engine building, and the pace of progress, instead of slackening, is developing proceeds, is growing faster year by year.

The engines for 1917 are capable of running further on a gallon of fuel, doing more work for a given size and of keeping this work up for a longer time than those of 1916.

In summing up all the changes made on the 1917 cars there is but a petty total if the design changes of last year are compared with those of the present one. But design is only a part of the task of making good automobiles, and 1916 has been a banner year for the manufacturing side, which does work that is much less spectacular than that of engineering department.

Some Sacrifice Quality. There is no object in trying to make the fact that some manufacturers have increased production at the expense of the quality of their cars, that some of the new systems and processes have exhibited troubles during the year, and that the best improved designs produced in 1917 have not always had the perfection of manufacture during 1916, which they were worthy. But troubles as they arose have been caught in the early stages and the probability is that 1917 will be a year in which average workmanship will be improved very greatly, following the steady improvement that has been taking place throughout the year just closed.

August 9th, 1915.

"I think it my duty to tell you what 'Fruit-a-tives' has done for me. Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of 'Fruit-a-tives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. During the 3 1/2 years past, I have taken them regularly and would not change for anything. I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-tives', and I know now what I haven't known for good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain".

a ship's engines and so on—it is always some little time after first starting up that everything is running smoothly. Last year the automobile manufacturers recreated their factories, making bigger machines of them, and have had the period of settling down to go through. They now have passed this period, or at least the worst of it, and can look forward confidently to better and even more economically made cars in 1917.

BIG AUTO YEAR IS FORECAST

Demand for Cars Points in the Direction of a Record Season

PRODUCTION OF YEAR IS AHEAD OF FIGURES FOR SIMILAR PERIOD OF 1916

NEW RECORDS MADE IN ATTENDANCE AT AUTOMOBILE SHOWS

Although handicapped by the shortage of freight cars, which affects both the delivery of raw material to the factories and the distribution of the finished product, the automobile industry shows a gain in production in 1917 over the corresponding period last year. Figures on distribution for the month of February were available at the national automobile chamber of commerce last week, and they revealed an advance over February, 1916 which broke all previous records for February production.

Regarding the prospects for the present year, Alred Reeves, general manager of the national chamber of commerce, who has just returned from a trip to California, said: "We have decided not to give out any figures at this time, as such action is often misconstrued and impression made that the automobile industry is pressing production to the limit, when, as a matter of fact, no industry are plans for the future more carefully considered, and this prediction is especially true of these days; but it is a fact that what statistics we have indicate that the present year will not show a break in the annual production records of the industry up to this time—that is, that each year has marked a gain in output over the preceding year.

"Another sign that 1917 is to score a new high mark in production is that the popular interest in automobiles is decidedly on the increase. This is evidenced by the attendance at the automobile shows. These have been going on in all parts of the country since the beginning of the year, and without exception the crowds have been larger than ever before. The popular interest in the shows is closely watched by automobile manufacturers. The attendance at New York and Chicago shows was especially gratifying, as in each of these hand-some gain in attendance over the preceding year was made.

"In California I found that the sale of new-driven automobile vehicles continues at a record pace. California is now the second state in the country for automobiles per capita.

"In going over the figures of the motor vehicle department of California, I was shown that there were more than 200,000 automobiles registered in California which is one for every 15 persons in this state. Of course it must be understood that many registered cars are owned by visitors, but they would not change the figures to any marked degree. The figures are only exceeded by the state of Iowa where because of the great number of farmers who must have motor cars, the figures are one car for every eleven persons.

"In Los Angeles county there are rafts of cars, and judging by the traffic conditions in Los Angeles, it has more cars per mile of street than New York or any other city. At least that's the impression one gets when riding through the business district.

"The Los Angeles Dealer's association, which is the largest dealer association in the country, reports that trade is increasing and will continue to increase in proportion to the increased road mileage of the state, coupled with the continued good service supplied by motor cars. California in this year has appropriated $15,000,000 which, added to the present mileage, will even further enhance present ideal touring conditions with not alone roads but scenery and an unrivaled hospitality among the hotels, which is a joy to motorists and sets an example for some of our eastern hotel keepers.

"Touring throughout the Mission country supplies scenery and places of interest that puts it on a par with the best that Europe was ever able to offer. In the northwest district they have the wonderful Columbia River, while Washington is putting its time in on the improvement of the Pacific Coast highway by which an ideal tour can be taken from Seattle down to San Diego.

"California is more crowded with tourists this year than ever before in its history, and automobile touring was at its zenith when I left. The trips include, not alone southern California, but all the Pacific Coast states.

"The San Francisco automobile show was a great success, not alone in attendance and the business done but from a beauty point of view, as the Dealer's association spent a substantial sum to decorate the building, which, by the way, was built by the city for convention purposes."

SIDELIGHTS ON THE STAGE AND SCREEN

FATE IN THE FILMS.

Ora Carew, the charming star of "Her Circus Knight," Mack Sennett-Keystone, is a real fatalist. Hence she never worries, and is always ready to undertake the most risky stunts.

"I think those old eastern nations had the right idea when they figured out that if anything was destined to happen to you, it would, despite anything you could do. Else why is it that the man who is always careful crossing the street, is the one to get run over?"

"I believe that what is going to happen will happen and that is why the so-called daring stunts in pictures don't bother me. Give me a fifty-fifty chance, that's all I ask."

Every day you read instances where men fell ten stories and escaped without a scratch and chances are, the next column will report how someone choked to death eating a doughnut. You simply can't figure it out, so why worry?"

"THE PRICE SHE PAID."

The evolution of a strong, self-sufficient woman out of a social butterfly is seen in "The Price She Paid," which will be the Solznick-Pictures feature at the Brant Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Clara Kimball Young, whose popularity with the moving picture public increases constantly, is the star of this offering, appearing as Mildred Gower, a young woman who has been used to luxury, but finds herself in poor circumstances at the death of her father.

David Graham Phillips, author of this popular story, has shown in real colors the problems which confront thousands of women every year. There is the temptation to marry for money, the temptation to purchase ease at the price of self respect, and other sorts of "easiest ways." But Mildred Gower is shown to be a young woman who cherishes certain high ideals, and will not, when it comes to the crisis, buy the necessary price for sheltered existence. She does marry for money, but she leaves her wealthy husband when she realizes the humiliation of her position. She does accept help from a man who, she knows, loves her, but again comes to an understanding of what it means, and again strikes out for herself. How she achieves her ambition forms one of the most fascinating of fiction and screen stories. It is the story of a woman's life, and reveals secret emotions in a manner seldom encountered in the photodrama.

In its outward aspects, "The Price She Paid" is a picture de luxe, as it deals with the lives of people of unlimited wealth. Miss Young's gown are of the latest mode, and her beauty never has been seen to such good advantage. The director, Charles Giblyn, is a new member of the Solznick forces, and "The Price She Paid" will be the first of a series of big features which will be produced under his supervision.

THE REX.

William Farnum rugged and virile, a great favorite with Brantford audiences once more heads the program at the Rex Theatre for the week-end in his latest Fox production "The Man of Sorrows," another of those powerful, red-blooded stories of real life in the portrayal of which he excels. "The Man of Sorrows" is undisputedly among the best of Mr. Farnum's many pictures, and will be appreciated by all who witness its showing. The fourteen-episode of the thrilling serial "The Purple Mask" commences to draw the story toward a close. Grace Cunard and Francis Ford are again in the leading roles. Another picture of exceptional interest to all Brantfordites is that depicting the departure of the 215th Battalion from the city, a film which forms a part of the week-end bills at both the Brant and the Rex Theatres, being shown at all performances.

THE APOLLO.

The management of the Apollo Theatre, in an effort to obtain for their patrons the best to be had in the line of motion pictures, and assured of the success and popularity of their Chaplin features, have secured another of the earlier productions of the eminent comedian which is now showing in addition to the regular bill of comedy, drama and western adventure pictures of the highest class.

"A DAUGHTER OF THE GODS." The charming fidelity of the child's love is graphically illustrated by an anecdote related by Annette Kellermann, star of William Fox's million dollar picture Beautiful, "A Daughter of the Gods," to be shown at the Rex theatre for three days, starting Thursday, May 10th, with matinees every day. She still has a warm place in her heart for each one of the 1500 Gnomes in far away Jamaica, by whom, as "Antia"—the most perfect woman in the fairy story—she was captured, and before whom she did some of the most beautifully spectacular diving of her career. That some of them were infants, in the first stages of perambulation, gives the story value, as a study of child psychology.

"After we had built the Gnome Village," said Miss Kellermann, "our next tax was to obtain the inhabitants. In Kingston the majority of the population are blacks, and it was very easy. We engaged children all the way from babes in arms up to seven years old. They were to receive a shilling a day, and to each an extra one. They were the dearest kiddies I have ever seen."

"The children were taught to call me 'The Pretty Lady,' and were divided into little bands. For instance, there were the Wheebarrow Boys, who had barrows; the Coconut Boys, who carried coconuts on their heads; the Flour Bag Boys, who carried bags of flour, and so on. After they had their beads pasted on, each band would be told to go to one of the girls who, although brought down to Jamaica for the purpose of playing mermaids played 'nurse' during their spare times. It was the cutest thing you ever saw."

to watch them, as their mothers would say—"Run to your nurse." They would all scatter and run around like little busy bees until they found their nurses.

"They received their instructions from their 'nurses' and right before the camera was ready to turn, they would be put in their proper places and told what to do. The day I was to be captured by them and beaten with sticks and stones will ever remain in my memory as a wonderful example of baby love. They were told to push and hit 'The Pretty Lady.' Their 'nurses' would say, 'Hit the Pretty Lady.' They would not do it. They simply stood still with the sticks and stones in their hands and replied—'No, mum. Me no hit the Pretty Lady.' No mum. It took us the longest while to make them realize that they must whip me, and push me, and when they finally decided it was all right, they did so, but with no heart in the task. Not one had a smile on his face. They were never so sad before in all their lives. And, I admit, I could hardly keep from smiling to see those babies performing a duty they had tried so hard to evade."

DAVID OUTDONE

George Beban who is impersonating an Italian "mashroom" millionaire in the Morosco-Paramount picture, "The Marcellini Millions" went shopping the other day to procure what constitutes his idea of the kind of a suit an Italian truck gardener who suddenly found himself the heir to millions, would purchase. It is a yellow creation with nine green stripes running horizontally and vertically exactly four inches apart in both directions, giving a most charming plaid effect. Even during this time of high prices, the suit cost exactly seven dollars with the vest thrown in.

Donald Crisp, who is directing this production, is praying earnestly that there will be no rain until the picture is completed as he has grave fears for the result of his star should be caught in the rain while clad in this sartorial classic.

CHILDREN IN RECAPTURED FRENCH VILLAGES MAKE FRIENDS WITH BRITISH SOLDIERS

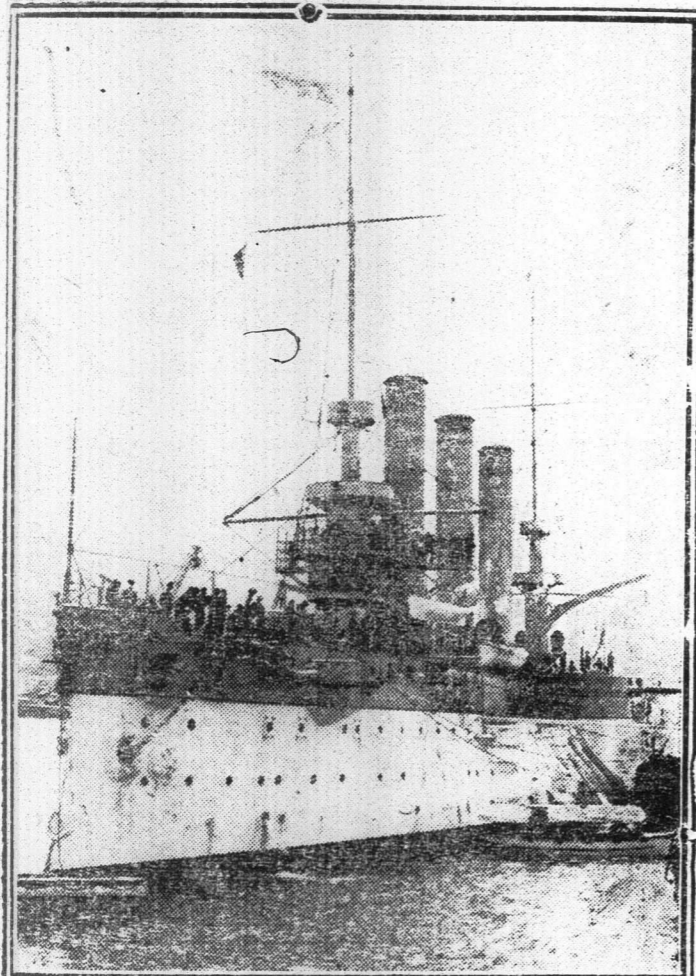

British soldiers are always welcome guests in villages evacuated by the Germans in the Great West, and Tommy soon makes himself at home, although he may find no houses whole enough to provide him with shelter. He establishes his temporary fire-place in the village street and presently the children gather round it for warmth and soon make friends with their khaki clad visitors.

CHAPTER XXII. Destiny and the Waldo. After the cablegram came, calling them to America, it took the Nelson Smiths an incredibly short space of time to wind up all their affairs...

Of course, as their friends pointed out to them, it wasn't as if they had had a home of their own. Luckily for them—unluckily for the Annesley-Setons—they had taken the Portman Square house only month by month. And in Devonshire they had been but paying—dearly paying—guests, as all the world surmised.

Everyone protested that they would be dreadfully missed, and begged to know their plans, and whether Mr. Nelson Smith's business on the other side (something to do with mines, wasn't it?), would not be finished so they might come back anyhow on time for Henley and Cowes?

But the American millionaire's answers were vague. He couldn't tell. He could only hope. And his manner, unflatteringly, was somewhat indifferent. It was Mrs. Nelson Smith who seemed depressed; "quite a changed girl," Constance said. "From the moment that cable message arrived at Valley House."

Connie thought, and mentioned her thought to others, that very likely the truth was Nelson Smith had lost a lot of money. In contradiction to this theory he was known to have given sums to various charities, just before starting; not these neglected societies he had tried to bolster up while he was in London, but hospitals and orphan asylums, and organizations of that sort which opened their mouths wide.

Still, nobody could say for a certainty how much he gave, and it was argued that Lady Annesley-Seton was sure to know more than most people about Nelson Smith's private affairs. The story of his losses ran about and grew rapidly, healing regrets for his absence. Soon they dropped out of their late friends' conversation, as a subject of living interest.

It was much the same with the Countess de Santoro. Whether her plans were affected by those of the Nelson Smiths, nobody knew; and she said that they were not. But about the time that their departure for America was decided upon, Matadone had a sharp illness. It was, she wrote Constance (who made inquiries, fearing something contagious), an unusual form of neuritis, from which she had suffered before. The only doctor who had ever been able to relieve her suffering lived in San Francisco, and in San Francisco she must seek him.

She had at first some idea of sailing on the same ship with the Nelson Smiths; but for a reason which she did not explain, she changed her mind the very day after making it up, and engaged a cabin on a boat which started a week earlier.

She was missed also, for a while. But then it was remembered that the crystal visions had been mysteriously more favorable for those who included the Countess in their nicest parties than for those who asked her only to their second best. Little malicious digs she had given here and there were recalled, and those who had thought her most wonderful when she was in their midst began in absence to doubt her infallible powers.

"Rather theatrical, don't you think?" said the Duchess de Pelebes. "It's much more satisfactory to go to a woman you can pay with money and not invitations."

"But it was cruel, thought Annesley, that fate should bring them together again now, just when she and the man she had married were at the parting of the ways."

Little had the girl dreamed when she first conceived a wild fancy for the pretty, smiling woman and her silent, humorous husband, that the pair were destined to decide her future—decide it in a way precisely opposite to that in which she had already decided it herself. But so it was to be.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo were returning to New York in his waiting season because the furnishing and decorating of a house they had bought was just completed. They begged Annesley and Knight to be their visitors, and the invitation was given so unexpectedly that Annesley, taken unawares, found herself for an instant at a loss.

"But I—I mean my husband is going straight to Texas," she stammered. "All the more reason, if he has to run off so far on business, and leave you in New York, that you should stay with us, instead of in a hotel," argued Mrs. Waldo.

Annesley blushed, and for the first time since Easter eve looked for help to Knight. But he was silent, and she blundered on, not daring to pause lest the firm-willed little lady should seal her to a promise in spite of herself.

"You're very kind, and it would be delightful," she hurried along, "but I didn't mean that I was to stop in New York. I—"

"Oh, you are going together!" Mrs. Waldo caught her up. "I didn't understand. Well, I'm very sorry for our sake. But couldn't you spare just two or three days before you start on your long journey?"

"I'm afraid I must wait for another time," said Annesley. "My husband has important business. He can't waste a day."

"Surely you won't leave New York the day you arrive, the first time you've ever seen it!" cried the New York woman. "Why, it's a sacrifice! You must stay with us one night. If you could see the darling new room which she had just had painted in old rose and pearl gray, and Cupids holding up the bed curtains!"

In desperation the girl stuck to her point, no longer daring to look at Knight. (Continued in Monday's Issue)

Lesson VI.—Second Quarter For May 6, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

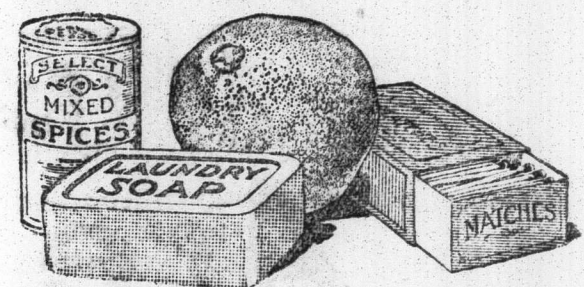

Text of the Lesson, John xiii. 1-17. Memory Verses, 14-15—Golden Text, Mark x. 44—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The last evening of the most wonderful life ever lived on this earth had come. The living and true God in human but not sinful flesh had been on earth over thirty-three years, thirty years in the humble Nazareth home and over three years in His public ministry, filled with the Holy Spirit, going about doing good and healing all that were oppressed of the devil, for God was with Him (Acts x. 38). This was the passover that He had so desired to keep with them before He suffered (Luke xxii. 15, 16). The time had come to which He had looked forward before the world was 1 Pet. i. 20, and, notwithstanding all their blindness and unbelief He was still loving this little company whom He had chosen to be His disciples. There is a lot of comfort in the first verse of our lesson, with which I have in my mind Jer. xxxi. 3, and rejoice in the fact that He still loves this bit of His property, although He knew it so thoroughly before I ever heard Him say that He loved and gave Himself for me (Gal. ii. 20). Peter and John having made ready the passover feast in the upper room to which the Lord Himself had directed them, He sat down with the twelve, saying as He took part with them that He would not eat of it any more nor drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God should come. Then He instituted the supper by which we commemorate His death till He shall come again. Some time during the evening there was a strife among them as to which of them should be accounted the greatest—I suppose in the kingdom of which He had spoken—and He had to teach them again that lowliness was true greatness and He was among them as one who served (Luke xxii. 7-30; Matt. xx. 28). Verse 2 reads in the revised version "during supper" instead of "supper being ended" and that the devil had already put it into the heart of Judas Iscariot to betray Him. In Luke xxii. 1-6, we read that before the feast Judas had been to the chief priests and had agreed with them to betray Him unto them. Yet here he is at the table with the others as if he was a true disciple and none of the others had any suspicion that he was not. See verses 18-30.

What a desperate hypocrite the devil can make of a person when he is allowed to take control! If we allow his suggestions to enter our hearts he will soon enter in himself (verses 2-7). How infinitely patient was our Lord to tolerate the presence of such a one and to wash his feet with the others, as He seems to have done, knowing all the time how devil possessed he was! The key to His great humility, His grace to do the lowliest things and to be patient with the devil himself and to bear such insult and injury as came upon Him is seen in verse 3. He knew who He was, that He came from heaven and was going back home and that the Father had given all things into His hands. He was not aiming to be somebody for He was the only real somebody that ever lived. Real greatness can stoop gracefully to lowliest service, but it is impossible to those who are aiming at greatness. Only as we believe that we really are what God says we are, because of our being redeemed by the precious blood of Christ, can we walk worthy of such a high calling. We are not aiming to be children of God and joint heirs with Christ, for such we are by our receiving Him (John i. 12; I John iii. 2; Rom. viii. 16, 17). But being such by free grace we should hold ourselves ready for any service by which we can glorify Him. His sevenfold act of verses 4, 5, as He rose from the supper and went to the garden, is suggestive of perfect humiliation in order to perfect service. This act of ministry in the matter of water for their feet was within the reach of any of them, but people who are striving for greatness, as they were, are not apt to think that any lowly service is in their line. Water for the feet was an act of common courtesy, as in Gen. xviii. 4, and implied in Luke vii. 44.

Having done for them what any of them might have done, He said, "I have given you an example that ye should do as I have done to you" (verses 12-17). When Peter objected to allowing Him to wash his feet His reply, "If I wash thee not thou hast no part with me" (verse 8), might well search us all and lead us to ask, Can I truly say "Unto Him who loved me and washed me from my sins in His own blood" (Eph. i. 5). Then to Peter's request for more thorough washing His reply, "He that is washed needeth not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit," suggests the difference between a sinner's being washed once for all and the daily cleansing of a believer. As Christians we are in constant touch with the defilements of sin and the world and need continually the washing with water and the word of Eph. v. 26. This He will let us do for one another provided it is done lovingly, with water neither too hot nor too cold. It is possible that no sentence in this lesson is more often quoted than verse 7. "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter," which may have both a near and a faroff interpretation.

Remember, come to the surface in the quietest way to do other things. They don't see themselves all off that way, however they may remain in the stream. Foots Sufferers remove them, words off danger makes good health sure.

Enemies of Tea

If tea is left open near oranges, soap, spices, matches, etc., the tea will take on the flavor of any of these articles.

In fact, tea absorbs odors as readily as does butter. This is because of the high temperature at which it is "fired" during the drying process, which makes the tea very sensitive. It thus quickly loses flavor and strength, and goes "flat" if left exposed to odors, dust or air.

To Protect the Consumer

When you buy a package of Red Rose Tea at your grocer's you get the benefit of the great care we take to protect the consumer, as the sealed package is an armor that keeps out odors, dust and air. It keeps the tea pure, clean, fresh and full strength.

The price printed on the package protects you against overcharge. It is the lowest price for which a tea of Red Rose quality can be sold—a price which allows the grocer only a fair profit.

You will enjoy the distinctive flavor, rich strength and splendid economy of Red Rose Tea. TRY A PACKAGE.

THE CRISIS

France, England and Italy in peace times did not depend upon America, but on Russia, Roumania and Bulgaria for most of their breadstuffs. With these sources closed, the crisis of the hour demands that we see that our soldiers and the Motherland are fed.

Everyone in Great Britain has been put on limited rations! Meat is prohibited one day a week, and the making of cakes and pastry has been stopped. Further restrictions are anticipated.

Bread has gone to 28c per four-pound loaf in England, for the first time since the Crimean War.

Lord Devonport, British Food Comptroller, proposes taking authority to search the houses of Great Britain to prevent food hoarding.

Forty million men, less the casualties, are now on active service.

Twenty million men and women are supporting them by service in other war activities.

In the last analysis the land is bearing this burden. One million tons of food-carrying ships have been torpedoed since February 1st, 1917.

Germany's hope for victory is in the starvation of Britain through the submarine.

Canada's sons will have died in vain if hunger compels the Motherland's surrender.

The land is waiting—the plough is ready—will we make the plough mightier than the sword?

Will we help the acres to save the flag?

World-Hunger Stares Us in the Face

David Lubin, representative of the United States to the International Institute of Agriculture—maintained by forty Governments—reports officially to Washington that the food grains of the world on March 31st, 1917, showed a shortage of 150,000,000 bushels below the amount necessary to feed the world until August, 1917. He declares it is beyond question that unless a greater acreage is put to crop in 1917 there will be WORLD-HUNGER before the 1918 crop is harvested.

The failure of the grain crop, in the Argentine Republic, which is ordinarily a great grain-exporting nation, resulted in an embargo being placed, in March, 1917, upon the export of grains from that country to avert local famine.

The United States Department of Agriculture, in its official report, announces the condition of the fall wheat crop (which is two-thirds of their total wheat crop), on April 1st, 1917, to be the poorest ever recorded, and predicts a yield of 24,000,000 bushels below the crop of 1915. The 1916 crop was poor. Even with favorable weather, the wheat crop of the United States is likely to be the smallest in thirty-five years, not more than 64% of the normal crop.

Under date of April 10th, Ogden Armour, executive head of Armour & Company, one of the world's largest dealers in food products, stated that unless the United States wishes to walk deliberately into a catastrophe, the best brains of the country, under Government supervision, must immediately devise means of increasing and conserving food supplies. Armour urged the cultivation of every available acre. The food shortage, he said, is world-wide. European production is cut in half, the Argentine Republic has suffered droughts. Canada and the United States must wake up!

Hunger Tightening His Grip

—New York Evening Mail.

People are starving to-day in Belgium, in Serbia, in Poland, in Armenia, in many quarters of the globe.

Famine conditions are becoming more widespread every day.

On these alarming food conditions becoming known, President Wilson immediately appointed a Food Comptroller for the United States. He selected Herbert C. Hoover, to whom the world is indebted, as Chairman of the International Belgium Relief Commission, for his personal direction of the distribution of food among the starving Belgians.

Mr. Hoover is already urging sacrifice and food restrictions, for, as he states, "The war will probably last another year, and we shall have all we can do to supply the necessary food to carry our Allies through with their full fighting stamina."

The Problem for Ontario

The land under cultivation in Ontario in 1916 was 365,000 acres less than in 1915.

Consider how much LESS Ontario produced in 1916 than she raised in 1915.

Other crops show as critical decline.

Reports from Ontario on the condition of fall wheat for 1917 are decidedly discouraging.

As there is an average of not more than one man on each hundred acres of farm land in Ontario, the prospects indicate even a still smaller acreage under cultivation in 1917 unless extra labor is supplied.

Food Production is the Greatest Problem the World Faces To-day

Owing to destruction by submarines, ocean ships are scarce.

It is much easier to protect shipping between Canada and England than on the longer voyages from India or Australia.

One vessel can make twice as many trips from Canada to Britain as from India, and four times as many as from Australia.

Therefore, every ton of food stuffs grown in Canada is worth to the Motherland two tons grown in India or four tons grown in Australia.

Why the Call to Canada is So Urgent

If this country does not raise a big crop this year, not only will the people of Canada suffer, but the Motherland and her Allies will suffer, and their military power will be weakened if not paralyzed. Therefore, the right solution of the present war problem comes back to the farm, as to a foundation upon which our whole national and international structure must be built and maintained.

The farmers know that they are the last reserve, and that the soil on which crops are grown is the strategic ground on which wars are decided. To their care is entrusted the base of supplies.

The Second-Line Trenches

—McCay, in The New York American.

Copyright by the International News Service, New York.

To enable the farm to do the work two factors are essential. The first is Time. Whatever we are to do must be done at once. Nature waits for no man. The second is Labor. Many farmers cannot plant the acres they would because they cannot get the necessary help. Many are afraid to increase their acreage because they fear they would not be able to cultivate and harvest an unusual crop after they had raised it. If they are to do the work that is essential for them to do, the last man in each city, town and village must be mobilized at once.

Every man not on Active Service can help. In every city, town and vilage are men who, by their training on the farm, or by their present occupation, can readily adapt themselves to farm work. These can render no greater service to the Empire at the present time than by answering the call of the farm. Capable men and boys willing to learn should not allow their lack of farm experience to stand in the way.

Can the employer render a more signal service in this crisis than by encouraging these men to help the farmer to cultivate every available acre, and by making it easy for them to go?

Ontario's farm lands are waiting—the implements are ready—the equipment is complete—the farmer is willing—all he needs is labor.

So short is the world's food supply that without increased production many in Canada must go hungry, and even with enormously increased production we cannot expect cheap food. The world is waiting for our harvest.

If peace should be declared within a year, the food conditions will be no better, for the accumulated hunger of the Central Empires must be met. This will absorb a large part of the world's supply.

We do not know when this war shall cease. It is endless—its lengthening out has paralyzed the thought and conception of all men who thought about it and its possible time of conclusion. Three months—six months, we said; nine months, a year, we said; and yet two years and eight months have passed their long, dreary and sanguinary length, and there is no man who can tell how long this gigantic struggle may yet last.

Lloyd George, in a letter addressed to farmers throughout the Empire, said:

"The line which the British Empire holds against the Germans is held by those who WORK ON THE LAND as well as by those who fight on land and sea. If it breaks at any point it breaks everywhere. In the face of the enemy the seamen of our Royal naval and mercantile marine and the soldiers gathered from every part of our Empire hold our line firstly. You workers on land must hold your part of our line as strongly. Every full day's labor you do helps to shorten the struggle and brings us nearer victory. Every idle day, all loitering, lengthens the struggle and makes defeat more possible. Therefore, in the nation's honor, heed! Acquit yourselves like men, and as workers on land do your duty with all your strength!"

So, for the honor of Canada's soldiers in France—and for the glory of our New-born Nationhood—let it be said of Ontario's citizens that, in the hour of our greatest need, their response was worthy of their sons.

We owe a great debt to those who are fighting for us.

TO WRITE HISTORY IN BLOOD

Russian Commander in Chief on Western Front Appeals to His Armies DO DUTY FOR RUSSIA Fraternizing With Troops of Enemy is to be Abolished ROUMANIA CONFIDENT That Russia Will Come to Her Aid

Petrograd, May 6.—(via London, May 7.) General Gurko, commander of the western front, has issued an order declaring that the fraternizing of Russian troops with the enemy troops is to be stopped. He declares that such fraternizing which has become a common practice, enables the enemy to learn Russian military dispositions and also by causing a lull on the Russian front, leaves the Germans free to concentrate forces against the British and French. General Gurko warns the troops that if the fighting comes to a standstill in France the Germans will throw all their forces against the Russians, who, lulled by promises of peace, will not be in readiness to repel the attack. He says that three divisions of Germans have already been transferred from the Russian front and that others are following, including artillery and aircraft.

The order concludes with an appeal to the troops, in the name of the emancipation of enslaved nations, to do their duty toward Russia and her allies.

"Write the first pages of the history of new free Russia with blood if need be."

Representatives of the Belgian and Serbian embassies have published an appeal to the Roumanians, and the sufferings of their respective countries and asking the Russians to leave them to their fate. The Council of Deputies has voted support of the Russian "loan of freedom" by a large majority.

ROUMANIA CONFIDENT
London, May 7.—Premier Briand of Roumania interviewed by Russian newspapermen said, according to a despatch from Petrograd, that peace without annexation could not refer to the reunion of Transylvania with Roumania. Premier Briand said that such a step would not be an annexation, but the annulment of the seizure by the Magyars of territory populated by Roumanians. The premier added that Roumanians were convinced that the Russian people, knowing how they suffered and that the Magyar yoke would give them brotherly aid.
