

The speech of Mr. Laurier in the debate at the opening of Parliament, was characteristic of the man and of the party. He did not say much, but he managed to give utterance to the usual Grit wall about the alleged lack of prosperity in the country. Hon. Mr. Laurier was particularly emphatic in saying that the Dominion was far from being prosperous. "The agricultural industry was depressed, and Canadians generally were suffering, and all on account of the bad policy of the Conservative Government. Mr. Laurier looks upon Canadian affairs through a pair of very blue spectacles. Things are not as he sees them, however. We have of late presented much testimony proving that our farmers are improving their property, extending their holdings and increasing their deposits in the savings banks. We believe that the statement of Dr. Montague, the eloquent member for Haldimand, that "No agriculturist under the sun are more prosperous than those of Canada" is strictly correct. As to the condition of the country generally we quote a paragraph from the last issue of the Monetary Times, an able, impartial commercial journal, as follows: "We perceive plenty of evidence that the country is in a fairly satisfactory state excepting of course—and the exception is one that has existed for the past twenty years—that there are too many persons engaged in store keeping, and that the terms of credit are in some lines absurdly long. Bankers inform us that payments of maturing indebtedness are as well met this month as in any similar period of recent years. Manufacturers in various lines assure us that, as a rule, their business keeps up and their agents make no serious complaints. One maker of field implements on a large scale, has just informed us that 'considering the short grain crop, we are exceedingly well paid, and our orders are nominal.' The experience of wholesale dealers as to payments varies, of course, with the description of their wares, the character of their customers, &c., but on an average they are well satisfied with their clients and with the outlook. The lumber trade is in a fairly healthy and active state. The companies, whose transactions furnish a good test of the condition of the farming class, report that payments are fully up to an average; and assuredly the state of deposits in their offices and those of government and other savings banks offer plain denial of the pretence that there is 'no money in the country.' Here then is good evidence that Canadians generally are doing well, the assertion of disgruntled Grit politicians to the contrary notwithstanding. Canada has prospered and is prosperous under the National Policy, and the people knowing this, wisely continue to support that policy at the polls.

NOTES
The Dominion gives everything and gets nothing. The right to touch the trade, purchase supplies, transport cargoes and engage men in Canadian ports, is surrendered unconditionally and without compensation of any kind.—Ottawa Free Press.
The N. Y. Tribune says of this: This is a fair sample of Canadian hysteria. The treaty does not confer any of these rights without stipulating that there shall be a free market for fish; and Lord Salisbury offered a year ago, in exchange for that free market, not only all these commercial privileges, but also the right to fish anywhere on the Dominion coast. Canadian editors ought to take the trouble to read the treaty before proclaiming that the Dominion gives everything and gets nothing. It is charitable to suppose that they have been misled by the sound of symbols and shawms which rose from the American State Department when the treaty of surrender was negotiated.

Bradstreet's commercial journal says of the new fisheries treaty: The Commissioners on both sides seem to have done their best to reach an agreement that would be at once fair and practicable. They have succeeded at least to the extent of having the result of their work impartially criticised; the treaty being as vigorously opposed in some quarters in Canada on the ground that it sacrifices Canadian interests as it is in at least one section of the United States for the opposite reason. The treaty has the approval of both the United States and the Canadian executive, but there seems to be a disposition in both countries to deal with the treaty on party grounds. Should this spirit prevail to any considerable extent here the treaty of course will stand small chance of being ratified. A two-thirds vote of the Senate is necessary to ratification, and a majority of the members of that body are political opponents of the administration. There is, then, a chance that the negotiations just brought to a close may be resultless, though it is to be hoped that the event will turn out otherwise.

A Pleasure Shared by Women Only.
Mulleter, the gifted French author, declared that of all things that man possesses, women alone take pleasure in being possessed. This seems generally true of the sweeter sex. Like the ivy plant, she clings for an object to cling to and love—to look to for protection. This being her prerogative, ought she not to be told that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the physical salvation of her sex? It banishes those distressing maladies that make her like a burden, curing all painful irregularities, uterine disorders, inflammation and ulceration, prostrating and kindred weaknesses. As a nervous, it cures nervous exhaustion, prostration, debility, relieves mental anxiety and hypochondria, and promotes refreshing sleep.

of the army at 800,000 men, exclusive of the Landwehr. The law was adopted in 1868, which time there have been only slight modifications in it. Austria-Hungary is thus behind other powers in military strength, but intends to institute thorough and extensive reforms by which she will be placed on an equal military footing with Germany and France.

Then it seemed but an hour, so fresh was the wound in his heart. It was her place, that empty seat by his side, in this supreme moment of his desolation.

He thought of Bertha. At first it seemed a year since he had lost her, and he wondered with a dull ache in his heart where she could be after so long a time.

Then it seemed but an hour, so fresh was the wound in his heart. It was her place, that empty seat by his side, in this supreme moment of his desolation.

Hamilton Times: There are other bad habits of which our horses are guilty, but which are not always, perhaps, peculiar to them.
