Death of a Songstress.

Duke of Edinburgh's Marriage

A Great Flood.

Cotton Factory Burned.

A Spanish Gunboat Boards an American Brig.

London, Jan. 23.—Parepa Rosa died last night.

The London journals this morning are filled with articles and programme of ceremonies on the occasion of the Duke of Edinburgh's marriage, which will take place at 12.30 p.m. to-day in St. Peterburg.

A large cotton factory in Glasgow was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is estimated at £150,000. Four thousand operatives are thrown out of employment.

Toledo, Jan. 23.—A Tiffin Ohio special reports the water in Sandusky river at that city higher than it has been for 25 years, and threatening serious damage to dwellings and other property. The farmers report whole fields inundated and wheat ruined.

New York, Jan. 23.—Advices by mail from Havana give the particulars of the boarding of the brig Margaret, and of her New Orleans, by a boat from the Spanish gun-boat Transcript. From log-book made on Saturday Jan. 10th, at 3 a.m., they were boarded by officers from the Spanish gun-boat, who demanded a full account of our cargo, where from, and whether bound, and name of vessel and Captain; this conversation being held in the cabin. On going on deck the officer ordered the hatch to be taken off, which was promptly refused, and the officer was notified that it could only be done under protest, at which the officer got into his boat and returned to his ship. The Captain says he behaved very politely, and that the gunboat remained near him until almost daylight, when the Captain squared sails and entered the harbor of Havana and informed Consul-General Hall of what occurred. It is said Admiral Scott wrote to the Spanish Admiral enquiring why such an act was committed, and informing him he could not allow boarding peaceable merchant vessels, it being clear that no suspicious craft would remain under shortened sails within a few miles of the principal port of the island. It is reported that the Spanish Admiral disapproved the proceedings of the commander, and sent a suitable apology to Admiral Scott.

Congregational Church Soiree.—The annual soiree of the Congregational Church was held on Thursday evening, and was very successful, notwithstanding the bad weather and the election excitement. About 150 persons partook of an excellent tea. Rev. Mr. Manchee, Pastor, opened the subsequent proceedings with an address. The church choir were present and sang several part pieces in their own admirable style. A reading was given by Mr. Chas. Maddock, and solos were sung by Messrs. Chas. Hutton and Alchin. Mrs. Budd presided at the organ. The evening passed off very pleasantly, and $35 was realized.

Y. M. C. A.—The sale of papers and magazines belonging to the above Association took place last night, as advertised. Mr. Dalgleish, wheel manufacturer, was chosen auctioneer, and performed the duties of that position very well. There were not many persons present, but the bidding was spirited and the periodicals realized higher prices than in any former sale. The papers and magazines cost the Association about $50, and brought nearly $16. They are sold on the condition that the buyer leaves them on the table until the next number comes.

POLICE COURT. (Before the Police Magistrate.) Rouben Green was charged by John W. Smith with assault and battery. Case withdrawn on payment of costs. John McKee was charged by policeman Turner with being drunk on Wyndham street on Thursday night.—Fined $1 and costs.

Arrest of a Railway Post-Office Clerk. (Special to the Mercury by Dominion Lines.) ELORA, Jan. 22. Mr. Sweetman, Post-Office Inspector, having cause to suspect that some missing unregistered letters containing money had disappeared on the line of the Wellington, Grey & Bruce Railway, prepared his plans to discover the culprit, and this afternoon handed over to Chief Constable Kelly, of Guelph, a rail clerk named Samuel McLean, who has been taken to Guelph, at which place the preliminary investigation will be held. In reference to the foregoing telegram, we understand that suspicions have for some time been entertained of McLean, and Mr. Sweetman, Post-Office Inspector, has been quietly watching him. Mr. Sweetman ultimately mailed a decoy letter to Ponsouby, containing marked money. This letter passed through McLean's hands; and when arrested on Thursday the marked money was found upon him; so that the chain of evidence appears complete. The case will come up before the police magistrate to-morrow or Monday.

THE NOMINATIONS.

South Riding.

Despite the drizzling rain, and the uncomfortable slushy wetness under foot, a crowd of some hundreds assembled round the band-stand in the Market Square at one o'clock on Thursday, to hear and see the proceedings connected with the nomination of candidates for the representation of South Wellington in the House of Commons. On the stand were many of the leading politicians of the town. George J. Grange, Esq., Sheriff, acted as Returning Officer, and commenced proceedings by reading the writ of election for the South Riding; and the Governor-General's proclamation was also read. The Returning Officer then called for nominations. A pause of some minutes ensued; neither party appeared willing to take the initiative. It was ultimately agreed that the candidates should be simply nominated, without any speech making; that all should withdraw except Messrs. Stirtion and Hatch; that a poll should be demanded; that the meeting should adjourn to the Drill Shed for the speaking. Nominations were then made as follows:

Mr. DAVID STIRTION was nominated by Mr. Geo. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Wm. Whitelaw.

Mr. Wm. REYNOLDS was nominated by Mr. Thos. Hefferman, seconded by Dr. McGregor.

Mr. HENRY HATCH was nominated by Mr. John Card, seconded by Mr. Wm. Reynolds.

Mr. Jas. WILKIE was nominated by Mr. Joseph Ryan, seconded by Mr. E. H. Maddock.

Dr. McNAUGHTON, of Erin Village, was nominated by Mr. A. B. Petrie, seconded by Mr. C. Sharpe.

Mr. Geo. LAIDLAW was nominated by Mr. P. Gow, M. P., seconded by Mr. John Hogg.

Mr. WALTER COOPER was nominated by Mr. Jas. Mitchell, seconded by Mr. Hatch.

Mr. Geo. ELLIOTT was nominated by Mr. Wm. Whitelaw, seconded by Mr. John Horsman.

HON. P. G. W. was nominated by Mr. Jas. Laidlaw, seconded by Mr. William Wilkie.

Mr. CHAS. SHARPE was nominated by Mr. Thos. Hefferman.

The necessary formalities having been gone through, an adjournment was had to the Drill Shed. The Returning Officer took the chair. It having been arranged that the movers and seconders should first speak, then the candidates, in the order of nomination, the first speaker was Mr. Elliott, who in the course of his remarks said that Mr. Stirtion had only served in one Parliament and a short part of another, since Confederation, and they now proposed to send him back to finish out his time. His record was such that no member of the Reform party in the Riding could find fault with any vote he had given in the House. It had been asked, why not send another and a better man to Parliament, because Mr. Stirtion had served them long enough? He replied, because of simple gratitude, if nothing else. It would be a base thing of the Reform party not to have renominated Mr. Stirtion as their standard-bearer now that the Reform party were in power. After some reference to the questions before the people, he closed by saying that the Reform party had a short part of another, since Confederation, and they now proposed to send him back to finish out his time. It had been asked, why not send another and a better man to Parliament, because Mr. Stirtion had served them long enough? He replied, because of simple gratitude, if nothing else. It would be a base thing of the Reform party not to have renominated Mr. Stirtion as their standard-bearer now that the Reform party were in power. After some reference to the questions before the people, he closed by saying that the Reform party had a short part of another, since Confederation, and they now proposed to send him back to finish out his time. nominated Mr. John Harris of Guelph. Mr. Lambert, seconded by D. Allan, nominated Mr. Jas. McMullen, of Mount Forest. Mr. Sidney Smith, seconded by Mr. Wm. White, nominated Mr. J. M. Campbell. Mr. D. Yeomans, seconded by Mr. Hollinger, nominated Mr. J. P. McMillan, of Guelph. Mr. E. O'Callaghan, seconded by Mr. Robinson, nominated Mr. Samuel Robertson. Mr. McMullen, seconded by Mr. Hanson, nominated Mr. E. J. O'Callaghan. Mr. John Molloy was also nominated, but we did not learn the names of his mover and seconder.

After the lapse of an hour, the meeting was adjourned to the Drill Shed, and the Returning Officer was appointed chairman, who preserved good order and acted impartially throughout.

Col. Higinbotham on rising was well received. He began by referring to the defeat of the late Government, and related in a very clear and succinct manner the history of the Pacific Scandal from its inception down to the time when the Government, unable any longer to control the House, resigned. He also touched at some length on the causes which led to the dissolution of the late Parliament, and the present appeal to the country—a course which he felt the Government was justified in taking, seeing that that House was admitted to be corrupt, and that it would be wrong to accept any legislation at its hands. The question was whether a dissolution should take place immediately or whether a short session should have been held with the old House. He would have rather favored the latter mode, but taking all things into consideration an immediate dissolution was perhaps preferable. In announcing this dissolution, no unfair advantage had been taken by the Government, for their supporters were not made aware of it any sooner than their opponents. It had been charged against the present Government that they had no policy. He denied this, and referred to the clear statement of the Government policy in Mr. Mackenzie's address. There were some points in that policy which merited attention—such as the determination of the new Administration to elevate and purify the government of the country; the ballot bill, which would prevent corruption of any kind in the exercise of the franchise; a new and strict election law, which would prevent or punish bribery and corruption; a carefully revised and amended insolvent act, besides other no less important measures.

He referred to the stupid cry raised by Mr. Hunt about annexation, and hurled back the charge on the Tories with telling force. He spoke of the vindictive spirit manifested by Mr. Drew in prosecuting the petition against him after last election. In entering on that contest and on the present one he had no feeling against Drew. He was merely the representative of one party as Mr. Drew was of another. He denied having spent the money that was said had been spent at last election, and believed the reports of Mr. Drew spending so much were also exaggerated. In conclusion he appealed to the better judgment and sense of duty which should guide them in this contest. He stood there to uphold the Government, and in doing so the honor and integrity of the country. He would never sanction or approve the corrupt practices of the late Government, and he asked them to give effect to the same views and convictions by electing him as their representative. He made an excellent and effective speech, which was listened to with great attention.

Mr. Drew, who was greeted with frantic cheers by a few in the audience, said he had failed to hear from Mr. Higinbotham any good reason for the dissolution of Parliament. Mackenzie and his crew had branched the late Government as corrupt, but they were unable to prove that the Government had sold the Pacific Railway charter to Sir Hugh Allan, and by the terms of the charter he was prohibited from even accepting a contract on it. All they had found out was that the late Government had got $15,000 from Sir Hugh Allan. To say that the whole of Ontario could be corrupted by this man was an insult to the people. But the great question was what were the people asked to record their votes for. The present Government had announced no policy, and it was alleged they could not agree on one, or if they had one they were afraid to make it public. The only policy they seemed to have was to build the Pacific Railway so as to benefit the Yankees. Mr. Higinbotham referred to the money which John A. Macdonald had got from Sir Hugh Allan; why did he get tell them of the money Mackenzie and Higinbotham had got from J. C. & Co. to give their interest in favor of the Northern Pacific? He did not because he knew they were guilty, and that they were doing all they could to bring about annexation. He pleaded that Sir John A. Macdonald should not be punished for taking Sir Hugh's money, for what injury did it do to them or to the country? He (Mr. Drew) could tell them he had got none of it. What money was spent was raised among parties in the riding. John A.'s policy had been before them for twenty years. He had done his best to build up a great empire. He accused the present Government of trying to introduce free trade, and excused his action in connection with the protest against Mr. Higinbotham, on the ground that he was acting in accordance with the wish of his party. He denied that he advised his friends in his speech at Mount Forest to raise the black flag, but meant that the present Government had done that. If they elected him he would do all he could to turn out Mackenzie and the letter stealers, and headstand all his friends to work for him.

Mr. D. Guthrie, who was well received, followed in a vigorous and able speech of half an hour, in which he utterly demolished the arguments of Mr. Drew, and by their own evidence condemned the late Government for their share in the scandalous transactions in connection with the Pacific Scandal. He showed up the utter weakness and demoralization of the Conservatives, as proved by their disastrous defeats in Lennox and West Toronto. He justified the present Government in dissolving the House and appealing to the country, and showed that in doing so they had taken high moral ground, which the people approved, and which they would sustain at the polls. Amid some interruption he read John A.'s evidence regarding the receipt of Sir Hugh Allan's money, and completely silenced the Tories in doing so. He appealed to them as patriots to support the present Government, and to vindicate the honor of the country.

Mr. Chadwick said he believed he would have been elected in 1872 had he stood, but some one in the crowd silenced him on that score by telling him he could not even be elected here of Guelph. Mr. Fahy dwelt long and loud on the terrible crime Mr. Higinbotham was guilty of in voting for Mr. Molton in preference to Mr. Heffernan at the Guelph Municipal election, and wound up by telling them he was a true Conservative, a true Catholic, and a true Irish Canadian. Mr. McLean, of Galt, made a capital speech, and he was followed by Mr. Campbell, who went back to the rebellion of 1837, the Clergy Reserves, and such like musty subjects. Mr. Molton, of Mt. Forest, and J. F. McMullen made rousing speeches on the Reform side. As it was dark the other candidates refrained from speaking, and all retired but Messrs Higinbotham and Drew.

The proceedings were orderly throughout, and the speakers for the most part had a very fair hearing.

YESTERDAY'S WORK.

Government 29. Opposition 7. Independent 1.

REFORMERS FOUR TO ONE!

The number of elections by acclamation reported yesterday is altogether unprecedented. They are no less than THIRTYSEVEN, and of that number TWENTYNINE are those of friends of the Government, while only SEVEN belong to the Opposition. Of these elections twenty-four took place in Quebec, and of these the Ministry carry seventeen, and the Opposition six. In his palmiest days we doubt whether Sir George Cartier ever carried so many seats by acclamation as Mr. Dorion did yesterday.

The following are the members elected in Ontario:—

FRIDAY EVEN'G, JAN. 23, 1874

The Tory Candidate and his Champions.

The best speech in favor of Mr. Sturton at the nomination on Thursday was that of his opponent Mr. Hatch. It was comparatively brief but we have given a much fuller report in proportion to its length than Mr. Sturton's, in order that our readers might see all that the new-fledged candidate has to say for himself. If proof were wanted of the utter unfitness of Mr. Hatch for Parliament this speech would supply it. It needs no comment from us.

This remark will apply in a less degree to the whole of the speakers on Mr. Hatch's side. We have seldom heard a lamer set of orators. Mr. County-Treasurer Reynolds was the principal of them, and made a very long and very poor speech, which we have reported pretty fully. It shows better than anything could the utter weakness of the Liberal-Conservative-Baldwin-Reformer-Independent Party. Dr. Clark was present for a time and we hoped to hear something from him that would relieve the general sterility of the Tory talk; but he got disgusted, apparently, and went away.

What a tremendous piece of humbug this Hatch candidature is!

Mr. Hatch's Political Principles.

Henry Hatch, Esq., would-be M.P., has made a speech in which he has laid down his political principles. We hasten to present them to an admiring public. Here they are:—

1. He does not mean to say anything indiscreet.

2. He has got an office that he gets his living by.

3. Sneers are not becoming.

4. He is going to be elected, sure as fate.

5. He objects to Scotchmen. (He didn't say it this time, but he did before.)

6. He wants workmen to buy his lots.

7. He doesn't believe in Mr. Mackenzie's Pacific Railway scheme.

8. He doesn't believe in Sir John A. Macdonald's Pacific Railway scheme.

(NOTE.—This leaves the country in a fix. How will it get the railway if it has no scheme? Don't be afraid; we shall no doubt have Hatch's Pacific Railway scheme, and the country will be saved.)

9. He has energy and determination, yea, even more than Sturton the Big!

10. He has cleared a swamp of Seventeen Acres!!

11. He is going to buy a new suit of clothes!!!

This is the platform of Henry Hatch. If you think we are poking fun at him, just refer to the report of his speech, or ask anyone who was at the meeting.

The Church Union styles "hot and hotter" the fact that the First Presbyterian Church of Baltimore has had for its pastors, in the order named, the Rev. Messrs. Furniss, Bellows, Sparks, Blasup, and Burnop.

Could anything be nearer the old darkey's reply to a beautiful young lady whom he offered to lift over the gutter, and who insisted that she was too heavy! "Lor, miss," said he, "Ise used to lifting barrels of sugar."

A MISTAKE.—We regret that Mr. John A. Wood's name was accidentally substituted for that of Mr. Wm. Reynolds in our hurried report of the nominations yesterday.

TO THE ELECTORS

NORTH WELLINGTON.

GENTLEMEN,—

Having received the unanimous nomination of the Liberal Convention, which met at Mount Forest on the 16th inst., I have again the honor of soliciting your suffrages at the approaching election.

When by your choice I became the representative of North Wellington in the House of Commons, 18 months ago, no one anticipated that the turmoil and bustle of a General Election would so soon have to be repeated; neither could any of our friends have supposed that the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald was being supported by means so base and degrading as that exposed by the very partial evidence given before the Royal Commission—evidence of the accused and that of their friends alone being offered.

Sir John A. Macdonald having avoided the just censure of the people's representatives by retiring from office, a new Reform Government has been formed with the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie as its leader.

Having a full confidence in the honor and ability of the present Government, and believing that they will wisely and economically administer to the affairs of the Dominion, I shall, if elected, give them an independent and hearty support, so long as I believe it to be to the public interest so to do.

As the time is necessarily short, I shall rely on my friends to use every legitimate means to organize and prepare for the approaching contest.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

N. HIGINBOTHAM.

The Rival Clansmen

A Scottish Vendetta.

CHAPTER XVI.

NEED GORDON MEETS IAN M'KENZIE—A NEW CONSPIRACY.

"Ah, Ned!" said Jeannie, continuing the conversation, "bairns little dream o' what's afore them. Little did I think them o' the misery that I would hae to suffer because I believed a villain's fair words and was enchanted by his smooth, lying tongue."

"An' it's weel for's we dinna, Jeannie. If we saw a' that's afore us it wad cost us many an eerie thought. We think we wad mak' preparation for oor misfortuns; but preparin' for them might cost us mair trouble an' sorrow an' anxiety than the things we had been preparin' for!

"But cheer ye up, Jeannie, lass; ye'll out-live a' ye've bornes yet, an' ha' mony a happy day tae spend. An' your bairns 'll grow up up a' bra' an' gallant lasses—ane, M'Kenzie though she be, that'll no be inclined to deepen the feud between THE RIVAL CLANSMEN."

"I do hope that M'Kenzie will not be enabled to carry out his purpose of slaying Hector; if he does, it will be a terrible blow for poor Flora. Alas! what fate may then be hers, poor girl!"

"M'Kenzie is a villain, Jeannie; an' he's in company wi' a'ne that's no muckle better than himsel'—that's Donald Cameron of Droghdaireh, Flora's uncle. But it is against M'Kenzie chiefly that we hae the grudge; an' I tell ye what, Jeannie, if I had him here e'neoc, I think I'd pet him in a condition that he needna be feared aifter neither by Hector M'Leod nor ony inter body."

"You shall have an opportunity of doing your utmost, ye boasting low-land dog," exclaimed a voice at this moment beside them, and to the surprise of both none other than Ian M'Kenzie sprang from the side of the road in front of them—his head proudly thrown back, and his cap set jauntily upon it, while his lips wore a scornful curl, and his flashing eyes a malignant, triumphant expression.

He grasped a pistol in his right hand. Jeannie gave a slight scream, and to say that Gordon himself was not for the moment startled would be slightly to overstate his firmness. But it was only for the moment; the next he was coolly calculating his chances against his opponent. Ian was fully armed with pistol, claymore, and dirk. Jeannie's arms were a pistol, too, and his trusty cudgel. Another friend he had—his faithful colie Bouncer, who was no mean antagonist.

Fixing his eyes keenly upon those of Ian, he replied sternly—

"An' shall tak' advantage of the opportunity ye offer. Thinkna that the wids that ye overheard me utter were spoken carelessly. I feel owre deeply for that."

As he spoke he drew his horse close beside Jeannie's, and handing the rein to her continued—

"Here, tak' ye this and ride forrit wi' the horses. For the present this is nae place for ye."

The young woman looked into her brother's face, and shuddered as she saw the cloud of terrible wrath gathering on his brow, and instinctively she grasped the reins, and, as Ned suddenly leaped to the ground, urged the beast forward, for she dreaded to witness the terrible conflict which was about to ensue.

"Oh, Ned, take care of yourself," she exclaimed as the horses darted forward—the sight of the fire arms causing her to look to the result of the encounter with grave misgivings.

Ian made a movement forward as if he would obstruct the way and stop the horses, but seeming to change his mind stopped aside, and as Jeannie rode past regarded her with a look of malevolent hatred. Then he turned to Gordon with a mocking bow, and said—

"I promised that day we met on the shore of Loch-Luchart that I would renew the acquaintance with ye so hastily formed. I am here to listen to what ye have to say to me."

"I mean tae exchange but few wids wi' ye, M'Kenzie," was the stern reply. "That day at Loch-Luchart I told ye that when next we met ye should suffer the brunt of a honest man's vengeance, an' ye'll be lucky if ye escape it the day. I've had it in my head for years, an' am glaid o' the chance that's noo afore me. Wids tae ye, or such as ye, base scoundrel, hae little meanin', and wids frae ye are war than that, for they are the wids of a deceitful, black hearted, lying villain."

The two men now stood confronting each other at a distance of little more than four paces apart.

DAIRYMEN'S ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO.—The next Annual Convention of the above Association will be held at Belleville, commencing on Wednesday, the 11th of February. The Committee are preparing no pains in order to make this Convention the most profitable of any before held. The services of eminent gentlemen, both from the United States and Canada, having been secured for the occasion. All parties wishing to attend and become members should apply to the Secretary, Mr. J. C. Hegler, of Ingersoll, at once for certificates, on presentation of which to the ticket agent at the different Railway Stations they will be entitled to return tickets at one fare and a third, owing to special arrangements made with the different Railway Companies. These certificates can be had from the Secretary any time between now and the Convention.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY.—We were shown to-day a well executed counterfeit of a Canadian fifty-cent piece, one well calculated to deceive the most careful. We also learn that several of them are in circulation, and we warn our readers to be on their guard against the spurious coin.—St. Kitts News.

The basis of union between the various Presbyterian Churches was voted on in Union Church, Galt, on New Year's day, and was rejected by a number of those present. The same question was taken up by the session of St. Andrew's Church, Galt, on a late Sabbath, and rejected by a majority of two to one.

An inebriate, some little while back, got into a car, and became very troublesome and annoying to the other passengers, so much that it was proposed to eject him; but a kind hearted and reverend doctor, who was also a passenger, interposed for him, and soothed him into good behavior for the remainder of the journey. Before leaving, however, he scowled upon the other occupants and muttered some words of contempt, but shook hands warmly with the doctor, and said, "Good day, my friend; I see you know what it is to be drunk."

Peter Van Dyke, an old chap, who died in New Hampshire the other day, worth $140,000 in cash, requested in his will that no one should snuffle and shed godlike tears at his funeral, but cover his eyes and then hurry home to fight over his money.

MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps & Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Euston Road, London.—See article in Cassell's Household Guide.

TRIAL AT BERLIN.—On Wednesday last Albert Spencer, committed to Berlin goal on a charge of robbing Mr. William Webster, of Galt, was brought up for trial before Judge Lacourse. The evidence given on behalf of the prosecution, however, differed so materially from that given before the Mayor that the prisoner was found "not guilty" by the Judge and discharged from custody.

Mrs. CURLESS, mother of Mr. Jas. Curless, Galt, was walking across the hill near the residence of Mr. Jas. Blain, when a sleigh upon which some boys were coasting down the hill ran against her with great violence, throwing her down and inflicting injuries to her head. "What comes after that," asked a teacher of a small pupil, who was learning the alphabet. He received the bewildering reply, "You do—to see 'Liz'!"
