

PAN-SLAVIST INTRIGUERS

A PLOT IN THE INTERESTS OF PRINCE KARAGEORGEVICH

King Milan's Life Threatened—Details of the Conspiracy—The Old Story of Just One Man Being Trained.

Nissa, Nov. 6.—The conspiracy among the followers of Prince Karageorgievich discovered yesterday had more supporters than was at first believed and was more influential than it was. It is learned to-day that it was the intention of the conspirators to take King Milan's life. The ringleader of the plot was M. Vlatkovic, a member of persons connected with the conspiracy have been arrested.

Queen Natalie on hearing of the arrest of the conspirators immediately went to Nissa as to be with her husband, King Milan, in the event of serious internal troubles arising through the machinations of intrigues.

There is reason to believe that the conspiracy is the outcome of the revolutionary program recently planned by the Pan-Slavist committee in Belgrade. According to this a revolution was to have taken place in Roumelia next year.

The outbreak at Sofia would have been the signal for another in Servia, and King Milan having been swept from the throne, a Pan-Slavist cry would have been raised for the union of Bulgaria, Eastern Roumelia, Old Servia and Macedonia under one sceptre, that of Peter Karageorgievich.

The Pan-Slavist intrigues, however, made a mistake and took M. Karavelov, the Bulgarian minister, into their confidence, relying upon the old sentiment of animosity which he used to cherish towards Prince Alexander, while he was in exile, but Karavelov, since he has been in office, has become very friendly with the prince, and whether out of sincere devotion or to precipitate the movement and execute it in favor of Prince Alexander, it is said that the Pan-Slavist committee had the backing of Karavelov in their original scheme.

King Milan to-day, conversing with the French minister on the Bulgarian question, said: "Serbia is anxious to see the restoration of the status quo ante unless guaranteed against a recurrence of the present difficulty."

CONFESSION OF A BUTCHER

Charles Herman Tells How He Murdered His Wife

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Charles Herman has confessed that he murdered his wife, the appleman. He is a butcher by trade and went about his work with brutal deliberation. He said that he slitting room Sunday evening. At 7 o'clock his wife arose and said she was going out, but he refused to let her go, and he followed her. She went to the little bedroom of the hall to get ready and he followed her. He again insisted on going with her, and she said she had never stayed at home. After some words Herman seized his wife and threw her to the floor. He drew from his pocket a razor, which he placed on the neck of his wife. She saw the weapon and fought desperately for life, and in her struggle she cut on the left hand and on the cheek. He succeeded in overpowering her and he had begun to cut when she renewed her struggles.

AFFILIATION OF KNOX

The Old Presbyterian College Joins With Toronto University

New Professors Proposed for Political Economy and Romance Languages—The Senate of Toronto University met last night. There were present: Vice-Chancellor Mulock, Dr. Wilson, Dr. Sheraton, Mr. Chapman, Mr. Embree, Mr. Gibson, Prof. London, Dr. Macfarlane, Mr. Dickson, Mr. Kingston, Mr. Macbeth, Prof. Galbraith, Mr. Falconbridge, Mr. Foster, Mr. King, Mr. McDonald and Mr. Woods.

Dr. Wilson gave notice that at the next meeting he would move, "That in the opinion of the senate the sub-department of Romance languages be grouped so as to form one professorship under the title of Romance languages. The salary attached to the professorship be $1300 a year; that the salary attached to the professorship of French and English literature, to the professorship of classical literature and to the professorship of physics should be placed at the same amount, and that these recommendations be laid before the lieutenant-governor-in-council as soon as possible. The debate on this resolution was taken up during the evening session.

On motion of the vice-chancellor, Dr. Wilson's report from a committee on the subject of the affiliation of Knox college was adopted. Mr. Kingford also gave notice that he would move, "That the statute providing that the four faculties of the university be constituted according to the 1880 curriculum be carried. A COMMISSION AT REGINA

The Sanity of Earl West Being Investigated

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 6.—A medical commission has been appointed to inquire into the sanity of Earl West. It is composed of Dr. Jukes, of Regina, surgeon of the mounted police, who gave evidence at the trial, and two others, one from Quebec and the other from Ontario. The commissioners are now at Regina, and it is believed will complete their examination in time to make further postponement of the execution unnecessary.

A Wrecked Bride Disappeared After a Leap Journey—HAMILTON, Nov. 6.—Mrs. J. Williams arrived in this city from England and registered at the Royal hotel yesterday morning. She came to meet her intended husband here, but the bridegroom-to-be sent her a letter, stating that he had gone out to take a situation and would be away for a week.

At the police court this morning William H. Harris was charged by his wife with being a drunkard and disorderly. William asked the magistrate to send him for six months to the Central prison, but the magistrate refused him $3 or 20 days.

George O'Hanlon, Wm. Fox, John Higgins and Joseph Boye were tried before Judge Sinclair at Dundas this morning for the Barham burglary. The defendants were found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary for five, four and three years respectively. William Fox was also given twenty-four hours in the county jail for stealing a pair of pants and boots from James Reid at Gould's Red Lion hotel.

Owing to bad weather there was a poor turnout of the Thirtieth regiment last night. The prizes won at the rifle matches will be presented next Thursday evening. The final examinations were each read a first time.

A TURN FOR THE BETTER

Decided Decrease in Smallpox Cases at Montreal

MONTEREAL, Nov. 6.—It now appears that the reason why the woman Fortin threw her 10-year-old boy out the morning train at the Bonaventure depot was that she had the smallpox. Before the attention of the physician at the depot could be drawn to the fact the train was on its way. The boy, who was evidently frightened, was taken to the hospital. The woman Fortin was taken to the hospital and is recovering.

The daily report of Dr. Labege, the medical health officer, shows that yesterday 63 cases were reported and verified. Ninety-one new cases of smallpox in the west end have been reported since Oct. 23, and the case prior to that were 129. A petition to the local government has been drafted and is being circulated for signatures asking that the provincial board of health be declared null and void and that its resolutions be repealed as being arbitrary, unjust and contrary to natural and civil law.

A few nights ago the horse of a Mr. McDonald, who resides on the lower Macdonald road, was stolen from in front of his house. The horse was recovered and the parties who stole the horse were arrested, and his case was to have been tried before Judge Seymour yesterday afternoon. The plaintiff however refused to appear, giving as his excuse, "I would not prosecute any case in Montreal. There is too much politics for me."

A case which will help to prove by the civil courts the right of people to conceal and propagate the smallpox will shortly be entered in the superior court. Not long ago a lady lost her husband as it proved from smallpox. Feeling lonely in her home she resorted to a friend and told her that, in consequence of her loss, she would like to obtain the company of her daughter to keep with her for companionship. No mention was made of smallpox, and it turned out that not only had the father died of the disease, but so had the daughter. The friend and the borrowed or visiting child was actually put to take care of the little sufferer. As a consequence the visitor took the disease and an action for damages is about to be taken.

An information and complaint was laid this afternoon by Mr. Joseph Lessard, manager, and Mr. P. Vanasse, M.P., editor in chief of the "Quebec Chronicle," against the publisher of the "Montreal Free Press" for libel. The case is now pending in the superior court.

TRADES AND LABOR AFFAIRS

Prison Labor Objected to

Aldermen Hunted Over the Coal-Prison Labor Objected to—President Tracy presided over a large meeting of the members of the Trades and Labor Council last night. John Beer and Kenneth Hewitt were received as delegates from the Stonemasons union. A long report was read from the legislative committee. Facts and figures were quoted to show that English labor organizations expended only 64 per cent of their income in agitation, the balance went for charitable and benevolent purposes.

Several municipal questions were discussed. There was a general complaint against the city council for not enforcing the bylaw for haul conductors on all street cars. It was the feeling of the meeting that prison labor should not be employed in grading Broadview avenue. A letter was read from the mayor stating that the medical health officer had advised that the Italian boarding houses were veritable pest-houses; they were as ever. The council will take further action.

Sympathy was expressed with the street car men in their efforts to form a union. Street carmen were usually higher than on other European goods. But the colonies would sever their connection with England if the experiment were made. If new traders were protected, all others were equally entitled to protection. The suggestion of Lord Salisbury was so absurd that he (Mr. Bright) wondered at his proposing it.

The eastern situation is regarded at Vienna as very dangerous. King Theodor was said to be inclined to support British demands. General Ignatieff, by order of the Czar, is preparing a note to the Roumanian government. The Russian government has recalled M. Tolstobogoff, Russian military attaché at Philadelphia.

The tribes around Kasala have been ordered to proceed to Khartoum, where Arabs are massing. The outbreak of cholera and one death were reported yesterday from the naval hospital at Beirut. Sir Richard D. Morier, the recently appointed British ambassador has arrived at the scene of his new duties.

EXTENDING THE GROUNDS

New Site for Live Stock at the Industrial Exhibition

A Good Sign North of the Great Western Track—The Question Discussed by Directors and Cattlemen.—In answer to a circular from the secretary of the Industrial Exhibition association, a number of prominent cattle-raisers and dealers met the directors of the association yesterday to discuss the proposed enlargement of the exhibition grounds. There were present the following directors of the association: President Withrow and Messrs. Rennie, Fleming, Ridout, McGregor, Crocker, Elliot, McGee, Closs, Mitchell and Dr. Salmon. The following dealers were present: T. C. Patterson, A. McL. Howard and S. Beatty of Toronto; V. E. Fuller, of the Oaklands dairy; D. W. Fuller, of Guelph; F. A. Fleming, of Weston; Mr. Gray, of Chatham, and Messrs. Dorsey and son, of Somerville.

The president laid the scheme of extension before the meeting. It was proposed to obtain a lease of a piece of land fronting on Dufferin street, immediately north of the railway track and the present exhibition grounds. In this new portion of the park it was proposed to locate cattle sheds of the most approved design, and a cattle ring in which cattle could be shown before the public. A bridge was to be built across the railway track, so as to make the new grounds easy of access. All classes of live stock except carriage, and all and all, were to be placed in the new stable.

The president thought the interests of cattle men would be materially affected for the better by such an extension. The argument that if the cattle were moved across the tracks they would not be visited would not hold water. Those who were specially interested in cattle would go to see them wherever they were put. D. M. McRae thought that an effort should be made to obtain the land to the south of the grounds occupied by the rail yards. The space between the firing points and the butts could be kept clear of buildings, and on review days the officers would be directed to the new grounds by the rail yards.

Mr. Elliot reminded Mr. McRae that for ten months in the year the exhibition grounds were a public park, and that the cattle could not be kept there. There would be great danger if people were allowed to roam through the grounds during the winter months. The discussion, on motion of Mr. McRae, concluded by Mr. Fuller, the following resolution was passed: "That while it is the opinion of the representatives of live stock exhibitors present at this meeting that the extension of the present exhibition grounds would be more beneficial to the exhibitors than the extension of the present grounds, it is resolved that it is their opinion that all live stock except carriage, and all and all, should be located on the new ground to the north of the railway track."

The meeting then adjourned. Judge Eben Newton, the oldest member of the bar in Ohio, aged 91, died yesterday. The Marquess of Lantow has sailed from Liverpool for Constantinople. Mr. J. D. Henderson, the popular agent for the Canada Life, intends to contest St. Andrew's ward. The Chester leaders are making preparations for a grand ovation on Mr. Gladstone on October 10th at Edinburgh to succeed Prince Alexander.

HARINGTON AND CURRIE

The Latter Resides in Vigorous Terms to the LONDON, Nov. 7.—Lord Currieff at Manchester last night criticized the speech made by Lord Harington at Belfast on Thursday. Lord Randolph said that while as a body of men the currieffs of Ireland, and that all of them were ready to sell the country for the first mess of political pudding offered them. The conservative alliance between the Haringtons and the Currieffs is a matter of public knowledge. The Currieffs were expected to appear at a meeting in Dublin last night in reply to Lord Harington, but failed to appear.

THEY DIED TOGETHER

Salido, Col., Nov. 6.—Dr. J. H. Nonaka and his wife were found in bed yesterday with bullet holes in their temples. From a letter left by them it appears they had been discouraged over their inability to bring to a successful issue a robbery of $400, and had agreed to die together. Midnight was agreed upon as the time. They retired with loaded pistols, and when the clock struck 12 they fired, dying instantly.

A Jealous Editor

ALBANY, Ore., Nov. 6.—Last night James Campbell was walking up the street with a young lady, his fiancée, when Capt. R. N. Saunders of Corvallis, editor of the Benton Leader, stepped behind him and fired two shots. Campbell died from his wounds this morning. Saunders was jealous.

A DOG'S DEVOTION.

How Fritz mourned over the temporary absence of his Master.

Margaret J. Preston, in the Youth's Companion. The morning of which I speak, the whole cavalcade, hunters, horse, hounds, were gathered together in our stable yard awaiting the signal for starting. Horns were sounding, dogs were baying, guns were clattering, eager hunters were laughing and talking, and a general excitement was over all the establishment.

Fritz's spirits were extremely high. He sprang up down times—and kissing his master's riding horse, brought his master his whip and books, and seemed fairly to himself with joy. But Fritz was not to be of the hunting party. On the mountains he was out of his element, and only mated the sport, so he was to be left at home.

When some one said, "Dogs are gone," a low moan burst from the dog's throat. This finally became a sobbing cry which did not cease until after midday. It was one of the most pitiful sounds I ever heard.

Naples Letter to the London Daily News. The other day there died at Turin Padre Giacomo, the confessor of Count Cavour. It was to Padre Giacomo that Cavour addressed his dying words: "Father, a free church in a free state. The father confessor acquainted the count with all cases of distress that came within his knowledge and was sure of prompt assistance, for the count was always full of solicitude for the suffering classes. In 1855, after the promulgation of the law for abolishing the convents, Padre Giacomo sent for his confessor and said to him: 'Father do not forget that you must be near me when I die.' When the count fell in June, 1861, Padre Giacomo was sent for for the last time, and remained with the count till the end. The Vatican was greatly indignant that the priest should have dared to assist the excommunicated count, and Padre Giacomo was summoned to Rome, and had it not been for the good offices of Baron Ricasoli, president of the council, would probably have been imprisoned in a cell of the sacred inquisition. Padre Giacomo repudiated Cavour, but Padre Giacomo replied: 'Oh, Holy Father, I pray God that all persons who call me to their death-bed may be animated with such good and religious sentiments as those felt by Count Cavour.' Padre Giacomo was imprisoned, was deprived of his parish of the Madonna del Angelo, and died poor.

A PERSONAL CARD.

A Matter in Which the Public Should Have a Deal of Interest.

Why does the government spend so much money and risk so many lives in trying to capture the counterfeiters? "Suppose he does counterfeit government bonds and notes, aren't the government men rich enough to stand any loss he may make?"

But the individual citizen could ill afford to be put to continual financial loss if such desperadoes were let go unwhipped of justice.

It is only the valuable thing that is counterfeited. It is only in the light of purity and virtue that impurity and vice can be known. No one in these days would counterfeit a Confederate bond or note.

People who commit fraud always do it by violating the highest virtue; by paying on the clearest reputation, by employing the fair name of virtue with which to give respectability to vice.

Let us explain: Seven or eight years ago, so we have been informed many times by a man who was pronounced before, incurably sick of an extreme disorder. By suggestions which he believed were providential in public prints, a New York state gentleman was led to the use of a preparation which had been for several years employed by a select few physicians in New York city and one other prominent place.

The result was that he was cured, he whom doctors without number and of conceded ability had pronounced incurable. Having secured possession of the formula, absolutely and irrevocably, he determined to devote a portion of his accumulated wealth to the manufacture and sale of this remedy for the benefit of the many who suffered as he suffered, in apparent hopelessness.

In less than three years, so tremendous was the demand for this remedy, and so exalted the reputation that he was obliged for his purpose to erect a laboratory and warehouse containing four and a quarter acres of flooring and filled with the most approved chemical and manufacturing devices. Probably there never was a remedy that has secured such a meritorious name, such extraordinary sales and has accomplished so much good for the poor.

Unprincipled parties who flourish only upon the ruins of others, saw in this reputation and sale an opportunity to reap a golden harvest, and legitimately, not honorably for which purpose they have made imitations and substitutions of it in every section of the country, and many of these imitations goods, often compromise their honor by forcing a sale upon the unsuspecting customer.

Yes, undoubtedly the manufacturers could well afford to ignore such instances of fraud so far as the effect upon the sale of their own goods is concerned. But they do not. They feel it to be their duty to warn the public against such imitations and substitutions, non-secret and otherwise. The individual who buys them and the public who countenances their sale alone suffer in mind, body and estate.

The authors of some of these fraudulent practices have been prosecuted and sent to prison for their crimes, but there is another class who claim to know the formula of this remedy, and one Sunday school journal, we are told, has prostituted his name and holy calling so far as to advertise for twenty-five cents it will send all new subscribers a transcript of the Warner formula. This formula, by the way, is not a secret, but a matter of public affair, for there is hardly a man passes a newspaper that is not issued which pretends to give the only correct formula.

The manufacturers inform us that they would be perfectly willing that the public should know what the true formula of Warner's safe is, but there is another class who claim to know the formula of this remedy, and one Sunday school journal, we are told, has prostituted his name and holy calling so far as to advertise for twenty-five cents it will send all new subscribers a transcript of the Warner formula. This formula, by the way, is not a secret, but a matter of public affair, for there is hardly a man passes a newspaper that is not issued which pretends to give the only correct formula.

The learned Dr. Foster, the honored head of Clifton Springs sanitarium, once said that having roughly analyzed this remedy he recognized that the elements that compose it were simple but that the method of its compounding, and this method no one knows except the manufacturers and no one can acquire it.

Our advice to our readers, therefore, cannot be too strongly emphasized. As you would prefer virtue to vice, gold to dross, physical happiness to physical misery, shun the imitator and refuse thereby to lead your life financially to those who seek to get by transgressing upon the honor and honesty, a sale for wares and goods which on their merits are fit only to be rejected as the veriest refuse. You can neither afford to patronize such people nor can you afford to take their injurious compounds into your system.

When you call for Warner's Safe (the name of the wrapper is blue) with white letters and that the wrapper is labeled with an imprint of an iron safe, the trade mark, and that a safe is blown in the face of the bottle, and that a paper of promissory note stamp is over the cork. You can't be imposed on if you observe these cautions.

We have the highest respect for the remedy we have mentioned and the highest regard for the manufacturers, and we cannot too highly commend the dignified and considerate tone in relation to those who would traduce their fair name and ruin the best interest of the public in such matters.

A Queer Russian sect. Odesa Letter to the London Times. "The Nest for Godly People" is the title of a Russian religious sect which has come into existence during the last 15 years. Its headquarters appear to be at the historic fortress town of Bender, in the neighboring government of Bessarabia, and its strange name is due to the fact that its members—all of the peasant class—dig a grave in the floor (which is of brick or cobble) in their habitations, or else in their gardens, and lie therein until overcome by hunger, in order, as they say, to commune with God, confess to him their sins and examine their past life. To enable them the better to do this the grave is covered with a wooden box-like lid or canopy, having a door in it for ingress and egress; so that they lie in the grave as in a coffin, and were it not for the small apertures in the top part of it they would run the risk of being suffocated. When the grave or "nest" is in the garden it is thickly surrounded with bushes for the sake of greater privacy and guarded by a savage watchdog to prevent curious or impatient people going near it. These sects are present in their native moments and when suffering extreme hunger they see saints and devils, and some of them are subject to hallucinations. Another peculiarity of the members of this sect is that they hold as little conversation as possible with other people, or, in fact, with each other; so that the kind of life which they endeavor to lead is akin to that of unclerical monks.

THE NATIONAL CASH REGISTER

Required seven years of the best talent to complete and cost over $35,000.

They can be used with or without a cashier. The register is worked by a set of keys that ring a bell, at the same time showing in plain figures, on a tablet, to the purchaser, the amount of the purchase, which amount is registered on the wheels inside of the register, and only accessible to the proprietor, who has the key. Clerks are compelled to be careful. A careless clerk is as good as a dishonest one. Overcharge can not be given with the register. If a clerk makes a sale of 50c., and $1 is handed to him, he first has 50c. in his hand, and then he presses the 50c. key, and third the 50c. appears on the indicator. Thus he is kept from being overpaid. In one case in our register, it cannot be extracted without the proprietor's knowledge. Read the following testimonials of good reliable business men and judge for yourself:

THE FIRST COST IS THE ONLY COST.

TESTIMONIALS.

M. McConnell's Headquarters, 46 and 48 King St. East, Toronto, May 8, 1885. I have one of your Cash Registers under my supervision for the past five months and cannot say too much in its favor. It is a wonderful piece of machinery, and it is so accurate in its work that it becomes universally true. I can not say too much in its favor. Yours truly, EDWARD BULLIVANT.
