A DAY IN COOKE'S CHURCH.

Livingstonia, Central Africa, gave an admirable address on the progress of the Gospel in the Dark Continent. The Doctor is a tall, well-built, robust, bearded Scotchman, just the type of the ideal pioneer missionary. His address, an extempore one, was as interesting as any of Staley's lectures.

THE ROMANCE OF MISSIONS—HEROES OF THE CHURCH MILITANT—SURVIVED THE WORLD FROM CHINA TO PERU—GRAND OLD MEN—THRILLING EPISODES—NOW AND ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

The Romance of Missions might fitly have been the title to yesterday's interesting proceedings of the Pan-Presbyterian Council. Not that there was any romance in the statements made, but that the speaker, both he and other speakers, were made to prove anything. But the outspoken statements of heroes of the mission field, men who could, in apostolic style, say "We speak that which we know and testify thereof as we have seen," are not to be gained. What they told, the world's detailed reports show, and such a tale well told as the aged brethren hold up devout hands in thankfulness and acclaim, "What hath God wrought!"

LIBERTY—ALMOST AN OBSCURITY.

As the former day, but much more so yesterday, not a scintilla of bigotry was discernible in the conference. Nay, after pardonable laudation of coadjutors' efforts, they spoke plainly of the drawbacks inevitable to every good work. As I heard one after another do any denunciations I thought of the lines I had often in younger days said:
Let creeds and sects and parties fall
And Jesus Christ be all in all.

THE MORNING SESSION DOES NOT CALL FOR ANY SPECIAL REMARKS, OTHER THAN THAT THE REV. DR. DENNING'S SERMON, FORMERLY A MISSIONARY IN CHINA, TOLD OF ERRORS MADE, WRONG TACTICS AND EXPERIENCE CLEARLY Brought Both He and Other Speakers Showed they rely more on missionary than the imported article.

All the way from Syria.
Rev. Dr. Denning, of Beirut, a gentlemanly man, would have done credit to Her Majesty's Imperial Army as well as to that of the Church Militant, with tall figure, and a voice, say nothing of his massive watch-chain, took up his parable and delivered his soul respecting Training in his paper was an able plea for more systematic training and the more general employment of missionaries in China. The doctor apparently cared little whether who he said was in the mission field, but he is utterly unafraid to place in the Lord's vineyard. They could be dispensed with to advantage, their work could be better done by others. Of course it is charitable to believe he was referring to native agents, but ever since the discovery of the crime perpetrated from this profession during the past few years.

From a Presbyterian I was glad to hear the kindly references to the London Missionary Society, supported chiefly by the Congregationalists, and the explanation of the "Europeanizing" of the native converts.

This was a topic on which the doctor expounded with his usual vigor, and a New South Wales professor, rising, anxiously looked over his shoulder to keep the eyes of the MSS. This occasioned a polite laugh. It is irrelevant enough to smile when in the chairman with his high chair and nutcracker whippers. I recognized the double of my dear friend Rev. J. Philip of Broadway.

Rev. C. M. Grant, brother of Principal Grant, and manifestly possessed of logical and eloquent abilities of no mean order, earnestly urged the necessity of active work. He was self-supporting. He threw out the novel idea of two sets of missionaries—the better class for the civilized heathens, more extensive and aggressive, highly educated men are not required, nor little of controversy. The speaker would rely on the older story and his views met with hearty endorsement.

"Paul's warmest love-letter" was new to the MSS. I referred to the Epistle to the Philippians.

It is an eloquentist.
I am for smashing some Presbyterian ideas of missionary training, a long course of study, not to be followed by the given to native churches. Some of them, as Dean Stanley puts it, not only fail to do good, but fail utterly to do harm.

"Let us have no monkeying of the natives. Christian work is to be done by natives when they become good Christians. They must be free all in all, not at all." A son, from Washington, said he had seen Griffith Ellis of North Wales was the most popular speaker of the day. He is tall, fat, son of St. David, and had the good sense to speak and not to read. Dry humor and a native wit prevailed the speaker was evidently original, even to the wearing of a black tie. His speech consisted of a sketch of the history of the Church in Belgium and in the East Indies. A more interesting story I never heard at any missionary meeting. He explained the "unfortunate" said he, "a large portion of the world is not educated enough to understand Welsh."

Then in genial style he sketched the religious history of the Society in Wales, and how the hard-headed colliers of the Rhonda valley thought it fit to give him a sword for the cause. The result of the jubilee was a contribution of $186,000. "God do likewise" was the moral of the worthy speech.

Rev. Dr. Hoge of Virginia, a short, thin young man with gold spectacles, ably dealt with the cultivation of the missionary spirit in some. The great point made was that the love that pities a man in the Dark Continent or within the walled cities of China will not forget the father within our gates or the fallen brother or sister.

A Century of Missions.
Rev. Dr. McKim, Vice-Chancellor of Bombay University, at night gave an admirable address on the above topic. In the year 1802, he said, was an annus mirabilis. Christian missions are now 100 years old. In England and America the simultaneous movement began. Elquent was his tribune he paid the Baptist missionary, William Carey. A missionary society with a subscription of 215 was the father of the present extended work. Nearly 30 years passed before the Presbyterians followed in the wake of their Baptist brethren.

With true eloquence the Doctor sketched the subsequent career and wonderful success of missionary work. Only a few lines are closed to the Gospel, and there are signs that they will be open soon. Freshly instructed by the Holy Spirit, we are in the fourth of the whole mission field. In an eloquent promotion the Doctor said that the spirit of mission is the very breath of the church's life. The grandest epiphany of the church was her missionary vocation.

DID LIZZIE BORDEN STRIP

IN ORDER TO AVOID BLOOD-STAINS ON HER CLOTHING?

A New Theory Regarding the Fall River Murders—The Details of the Tragedy Gone Over Again—The Police Assent That the Young Woman Did Visit a Providence Lawyer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The Herald publishes the following theory regarding the Borden murders, a crime which is creating great interest in legal and other circles here:
The speculation among those who have looked at the credible side of the Borden mystery is not whether Lizzie Borden killed her father and mother, but how she committed the crime and how she did it so cleverly as to escape thus far absolute detection.
Up to this time there has been no attempt to show how the murder was done, but merely to demonstrate that no one other than Lizzie Borden was in a position to do it, and yet the strongest points that have thus far been made against the girl are not strong at all when dissected, and the plausible explanation has been overlooked altogether.

THE CROIXIN CASE REVEALED.

Martin Bourk, the convict, said to be ready to confess.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—New and interesting developments are expected in the Croxin case. The rumors of a confession which would exonerate Croxin from the death of his deceased have been revived by the news that Martin Bourk is very sick in the Joliet penitentiary. It is estimated that Bourk may expose the whole plot and that his attorneys are endeavoring to induce him to confess. Bourk's confession, if true, would mean the death of Croxin and the exoneration of Bourk. Bourk's attorneys are urging the dying convict to clear the mystery of the Croxin case. Croxin was formerly a missionary in China, told of errors made, wrong tactics and experience clearly brought both he and other speakers showed they rely more on missionary than the imported article.

SOLOMONS CALLED FIRE.

In the Panic which Ended Many Were Killed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—There were four Jewish synagogues in the tenement house No. 27 Ludlow-street. They were all crowded this morning with Hebrews attending the festival services of the New Year, when some person in one of the synagogues, today, kindled a fire. Immediately there was a panic and everybody fled for the doors. They piled right on top of one another in the stairway. The firemen were summoned and succeeded in extricating the people from the blocked stairway and found there were dead and about a dozen injured. One of the bodies has been identified as that of Friede Becker, 44 years old, of 38 Ludlow-street. She was trampled to death on the third floor.

It is Believed That the Greatest Danger Menacing the Gladstone Government is the Formation of a Strong Radical Government.

It is believed that the greatest danger menacing the Gladstone Government is the formation of a strong Radical Government. The Radical party, it is thought, will be able to secure the support of the Home Rule party, and thus to form a government of their own. This would be a great disaster to the Liberal Government, as it would mean the end of the Liberal era in Great Britain.

THE EXECUTIVE'S MESSAGE.

Brady's shortcomings to be investigated. The Executive Committee of the City Council met yesterday afternoon in its first regular session since vacation.

The shortcoming of Assistant Police Clerk Brady were discussed. A sub-committee will investigate the matter.

Speaking of wooden sidewalks the Mayor said he thought the payments should be spread over five years.

A special meeting of the Gaelic Society of Toronto will take place at 3 o'clock p.m. tomorrow in the Hall, at which Rev. Murdoch Mackenzie of Inverness, Scotland, will deliver a sermon in the Gaelic language.

A very pleasant evening was spent last night by the Temperance League in their meeting place over the coffee house corner of Dundas and Queen streets.

Mr. J. Enoch Thompson, who has been long known in Toronto as a property owner and real estate arbitrator, has joined as partner, the old auctioneering firm of C. M. Henderson & Co.

Next Thursday Mr. Charles Henderson will begin his sale of 600 horses about to be retired from the service of the Toronto Street Railway Company by reason of the introduction of the electric motor.

The church-going public residing in the northern part of the city will have the opportunity of enjoying a rare treat to-morrow.

The great attraction at the West End of the present time is the magnificent exhibit of furniture and carpets at the Potter & Co. Furniture House, corner Queen and Portland-streets.

OVERCROWDED SCHOOLS.

How Children Are Huddled Together in Our Public Schools. An exhaustive investigation has emphasized the already too patent fact that Toronto does not provide sufficient and proper accommodation for the education of her children.

Out of the 44 schools in the city only 13 are perfect in respect to accommodation. In these 44 schools there are 440 rooms; and 95 rooms accommodate, or rather fail to accommodate, more than 60 pupils each.

THE LEADING CHARACTERISTICS of Toronto appear to compare favorably with other cities of the same population, judging by its increasing population.

One of the largest Department Stores of this City was fined the other day for selling Patent Medicine preparations that contained some small portion of a poison, without a label to that effect being shown on outside of bottle.

HERE IS THE POINT WE SEEK TO MAKE

Radam's Microbe Killer has now been before our Toronto people and the public of Canada in general going on its 3rd year.

WHY DO THEY NOT INVOKE THE LAW?

Why do they not proscribe its sale or limit its sale to licensed poison vendors only? This Ought to be an Eye-Opener for the Public.
