DOCTOR NEEDED FOR TODMORDEN

All Those Available Live Too Far Away to Respond Quickly.

ANNEXATION DISCUSSED

Some Favor It Without Conditions—Others Want Fixed Assessment.

The Todmorden district is once again without a doctor. Dr. Leary of Torrens avenue having left to go to his home at Cooksville. The need of a medical man in the district is badly felt, owing to the fact that the nearest doctors live on the Danforth avenue, with the exception of Dr. Percy Brown, who lives in the limits of the Don Mills road. On these cold nights, especially, residents claim that it is hard to get the doctors to attend cases, and by the time they get there, very often it is too late to do much good. The present cost of a call is the cause of a large number of frost bites, which need immediate attention, and this is where the residents feel the pinch.

Building Stopped. Building of the hospital, absolutely at a standstill as the result of King Frost's reign. Work at the brickyards has been suspended until the temperature rises again, and the school attendance is also slim, especially in the kindergarten classes.

The executive committee of the Todmorden Conservative Association has arranged for another church party and smoking concert, which will be held in St. Andrew's Hall, Pope avenue, next Wednesday night, when the speaker will be Thomas Humble, Mr. Humble was to have spoken at the last meeting of the Conservatives, but was unable to be present, and the committee hopes that a large crowd will turn out to hear him.

Choir Concert. The choir of the Anglican Church are holding a concert on Thursday, the 19th, the proceeds to go towards new music for the choir and the re-arranging of the choir. Besides the singing by the choir, a large program has been arranged, which includes a number of well-known Toronto songs and elocutions.

A Valentine social is also being held on Saturday night, under the auspices of the finance committee of the church. Next Sunday night the pulpit at St. Barnabas will be filled by Rev. A. A. Bryant, while Rev. F. E. Powell will be the preacher at St. Andrew's.

The annexation of the Glebe estate and the serious consideration given to the annexation of the territory north of Danforth, to St. Clair avenue, by the city council on Tuesday, has set the people in Todmorden and Cedarvale talking again.

While there are a number who still regard the scheme with disfavour, there is a marked increase in the ranks of the annexationists.

In conversation with The World last night, George W. Crosby, president of the Ratepayers' Association, said that annexation was the only thing to do, in view of the circumstances which prevail in Todmorden and the district to the east.

"If we could have the district annexed under a fixed assessment for three years, or all such time as the city would be able to give, the improvements badly needed, I don't think there would be one dissenting voice among the property-owners," he said. "The ratepayers are afraid that their taxes will increase to a great extent, and they will be getting nothing out of it. A fixed assessment would do away with that feeling altogether."

Mr. Crosby also thought that something would have to be done, or the unsanitary state of affairs which exists will cause an epidemic of some kind, and he would not go into the city, then some kind of a sewage disposal plant will have to be installed.

No Fire Protection. "We have no police or fire protection, this is the worst thing to be if a fire break out in the neighborhood," he declared. "The worst case I have seen is a whole row of houses burned right out."

NEW TORONTO. When the milder weather comes building will be brisk in New Toronto. Plans for several large residences have been completed, and owners are busy to have expressed the intention of building a number of houses this spring.

By the first of April Lenox branch will have electric light and power, and the wires will be strung along Brown's line.

ST. CLEMENT'S OLD BOYS' DINNER

Address by Rev. Canon Powell of King's College—Officers Elected.

Quite a number of the old boys of St. Clement's were present at the annual dinner of St. Clement's Old Boys' Association in the Woodbine Hotel last night. After the feast had been enjoyed, Rev. Canon Powell, president of King's College, Nova Scotia, and former principal of St. Clement's College, addressed the old boys of the institution. He was very much pleased to meet his former pupils and to see that the school was progressing so well. He outlined the principles that are necessary to the well-being and prosperity of a nation. The life of a nation, he declared, depended on the development of all-round men, morally, mentally, and physically, and he was very proud to say that St. Clement's School had always stood for these principles. St. Clement's College was doing a good work, which was bound to have a good effect on the future of Canada.

Others speakers spoke highly of the work of St. Clement's College in the past, and expressed themselves satisfied that it would accomplish greater things in the future when the school had its location in Brampton, where large grounds have been secured.

Rev. A. K. Griffin gave an account of the working of the college, and showed its financial condition to be very satisfactory. The Rev. Wallace Judd occupied the chair.

Following officers were elected: President, Harton Douglas; vice-president, Robert Boudin; sec.-treas., Ronald Carson; and the Rev. Wallace Judd, Stanley Gartsore and Rev. Wallace Judd.

BALMY BEACH. Under the auspices of the Men's Club of St. Adam's Anglican Church, a grand concert and social was held last night in the parish room. A large number were present, and the entertainment given by Mrs. B. Stevenson, Miss Ruby Sargent and Messrs. Robt. Courtney and George Oldfield, was highly appreciated.

Mr. Gourlay accompanied the singers on a Goulay-Angoulay player piano.

Mr. Gourlay was highly appreciated, and a letter would be to hand from the Charcoal Electric Organ Company of Boston, offering a final term of purchase. This was not received, however, so the wardens were instructed to go on with the work and act according to their own judgment in the matter.

FIGHTING FIRES IN ZERO WEATHER

material to keep the pipe from freezing. Once the flames were under way, they ran up the box enclosure and enveloped the whole tank.

Residence Damaged. Caused by defective wiring, fire did nearly $10,000 damage to the residence of A. T. Reid, 30 South Drive, yesterday morning. Fortunately for the nine inmates of the house, the blaze was discovered before it had reached serious proportions, and all were able to dress before they were forced into the piercing cold outside. The residence is composed of stone, and contains eight rooms. It is considered one of the finest in Rosedale.

Mrs. Booth, one of the inmates, was the first to smell the smoke, and she immediately aroused her son-in-law, Mr. Reid, who found that a wall on the ground floor was already in flames. With his son, F. A. Reid, they hurriedly formed a bucket brigade to keep down the flames, pending the arrival of the firemen. Mr. Reid used a chemical fire extinguisher to good effect, and chopped down part of the blazing wall.

The firemen were notified by telephone, and when they arrived at 6 o'clock Mrs. Reid, her mother and two children, Miss L. F. Reid, and another, "Nancy," aged six, had got out of danger by means of a back staircase.

From the dining-room the fire spread to the library and to rooms on the second floor. The firemen succeeded in holding the flames pretty well to the ground floor, but much furniture and fixtures were destroyed by smoke and water.

An examination of the furnace revealed nothing of value, and it is believed defective wiring caused the fire.

Overheated Furnace. Started by an overheated furnace, fire did $200 damage to the residence of Mrs. Malone, 179 Jarvis street, last evening. The residence was a two-story brick house, and a fire started on the ground floor the fire rapidly made headway towards the front section of the house, and by the time the fire brigade arrived, it had assumed serious proportions. The firemen, however, soon extinguished the flames.

HANNA VISITS OTTAWA. (Special to The Toronto World) OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—Hon. A. J. Hanna was in Ottawa today. "I just dropped in for a friendly visit," was his response to an inquiry.

ANNUAL CONCERT FOR GOOD MEDAL

Elocutionists Compete for Honors—Miss Vera Ban-yard the Winner.

NEWS OF WARD SEVEN

Controller McCarthy Will Address Ratepayers Tomorrow Night.

The High Park avenue Methodist schoolhouse was filled to the doors last night at the annual good medal elocution contest held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. and Royal Templars of Temperance. Five contestants, all of whom are silver medalists or other years, took part, the honors falling to Miss Vera Ban-yard, whose selections took the audience by storm, and whose excellent elocution gave the judges a comparatively easy task. All of the five young ladies taking part, however, were especially good, and the standard was undoubtedly higher than in former years. The judges were Messrs. J. O. McEwen, superintendent of the Oddfellows' Home; S. Macdonald, president of the W. C. T. U.; and George P. Staddon, of the School of Expression. Miss S. M. Conroy was the superintendent of the contest, and Miss J. O. McEwen, the pastor of the High Park Church, occupied the chair. A good musical program was interspersed between the elocutionary numbers, at the close of which Miss M. Conroy presented the gold medal to the winner, Miss Vera Ban-yard, past district councilor of the W. C. T. U., gave a short address on the "Royal Templars of Temperance." The diamond medal contest which follows the good medal, will be held in the afternoon at 7 o'clock, at the "Templars' Hall" on 7th street.

Damage to the extent of $500 was done to a frame building and its contents in the C. P. yard at the corner of Danforth and Tuesday. The building was an old one standing near Keele street, and contained a large amount of lumber and waste. It is thought a spark from a passing locomotive started the blaze, which quickly spread, and the character of the contents making it almost impossible for the firemen to extinguish.

McCarthy to Speak. Controller McCarthy has consented to address the ratepayers of Ward Seven tomorrow night on the question of sewers, and the matter will be submitted to a referendum showing the present state of sewer construction in ward seven.

SUGGESTIONS GIVEN AS STEP TO PROTECT ONTARIO FISHERS

Deputation From Western Ontario Asked the Government to Prohibit Promiscuous Netting and to Change Open Season for Herring, Whitefish and Dore.

The suggestion of Hon. W. J. Hanna that the government take a hand in bringing their own fresh water fish to Ontario breakfast tables is receiving the cordial endorsement of the bulk of the fishermen on the lakes. Not only the general outlines of the scheme of placing this industry on a new and substantial basis according to the proposal, but the majority of the details also are approved. With this idea in mind a large and representative deputation from the Counties of Kent, east and west, Elgin and Essex, and claiming the voice of all the fishing communities of the west waited yesterday upon Hon. Dr. Reaume with practical suggestions as to preliminary measures in the protection of those now supplying the bulk of this product which is consumed.

Finlay Macdormid, M.L.A., of Elgin and Phil Bowyer, ex-M.L.A., of Kent, headed the group of visitors, in a plain matter-of-fact manner. I to the minister of public works, today the steps that should be taken. These included the government's establishment of cold storage equipment in which the season's catches could be stored for use the year around, the establishment of a new patrol boat service on Lake Erie to protect the pound men from the encroachments of the illegal tugs, which were recklessly squandering fish harvests and breaking the regulations; the absolute restriction of licenses to gill net tugs; and the fixation of the open season for herring, whitefish and dore from Jan. 1 to Nov. 15.

Should be Stopped.
 The minister promised that he would do his best to place a patrol boat on the lake, and that the tugs should be stopped, as it now was practised in the spawning season, was wrong and should be stopped. The possibility of new regulations being issued by the international commission of waterways was in one sense responsible for more stringent rules not existing in the statutes.

Finlay Macdormid, in speaking of the grievances of the fishermen that the tug men came poaching on private territory and departed leaving as many as forty miles of nets in the water to trap and destroy innumerable fish. He said that the trouble was of many years' standing. Better protection was demanded if the province expected to get a fish to eat. Time had shown the present government system to be defective. A salary of $150 per annum for a fishery overseer was entirely inadequate, and he could not do his business properly.

"I am tired of protesting," he declared. "I believe in the sincerity of the province and that they have made an honest effort to enforce the law, but it has failed. A patrol boat should be put on in the spring and a special overseer appointed."

No Fish Trust.
 He wanted to shatter the idea of a fish trust existing in Ontario. Every man was operating his own business and knew nothing of any trust, Canadian or American. The great difficulty was the expense of pound net fishing at present. Men now demanded $60 per month instead of $20 as formerly, and yet the big tugs came in and depleted the supply for the American market, so that Ontario could not be served.

BOYS HAVE TO WORK TO PAY OFF FINE

Juvenile Court Decides They Will Thus Win Redemption From Vandalism.

The two youths charged with breaking into a vacant house and damaging lead piping were let off with a fine of $2.50 each in the children's court yesterday. Acting Commissioner Graham intends to have them both work for the money, hoping the lesson will be thus more firmly impressed upon the culprits' minds.

Two picturesque newsies gazed anticipatively into one another's dusky countenances while the commissioner read the charge. It seems that Jimmy stole twenty-one cents from Ike during a scrap. Ike identified two cents, which he said "made him lucky." As Jimmy is not yet thoroughly convinced and additional evidence is required, the case was remanded until Thursday.

This afternoon the doctor will examine an eleven-year-old delinquent, who has already appeared on six previous occasions since expulsion from school owing to a violent and dangerous disposition. The lad has been let run the streets at will. Having a ruler at teacher is a very unwise pastime, associates when it endangers the sight and countenances of fellow-classmates.

It seems difficult to realize that a child of thirteen years is only qualified for junior first book in public school. But such is the case of an unfortunate little girl, kept home to slave for a family of eight. The acting commissioner ordered her to school till she is fifteen, and suggests that the father, who has been unable to work

DEAD CAT WAS POSTED TO A TORONTO LAWYER

Sender Had Bad Taste, Said Official—Parcel Had Bad Smell.

Approximately 15,000 parcels have been sent thru the Toronto post office under the new parcel post system since its inauguration. A large number of these have been sent by the large mail order houses of the city, who seem to have been the first to have appreciated the advantages of the new system.

Deputy Postmaster Lemon stated to The World yesterday that the public generally are using the system for sending gifts to their friends owing to its novelty, but he expects that in a few days the regular business will set in. The real test of the system will not come until the weight allowance is increased to 11 pounds on May 10th.

One person with a very crude sense of humor sent a dead cat to a prominent lawyer in the city, and of course the parcel was refused. Mr. Lemon, in commenting on this case, expressed the opinion that the person who sent such a disgusting object thru the mails was sorely lacking in good taste.

TOBACCO GROWERS ASK FAIR TREATMENT

Are Up in Arms to Secure Better Prices for Product—Call Meeting.

RUTHVEN, Feb. 11.—Difficulty in marketing their tobacco crops has at last driven the growers of this district to organize for co-operation. Hundreds of handbills are out calling a meeting of the tobacco growers. In the town hall at Leamington, tomorrow, when ways of getting better prices and fair treatment from the buyer will be discussed.

When a large number of the farmers here a few years ago were persuaded to grow tobacco, many went to the expense of building large barns for their crops, being assured that prices would be good. Now, when business should be good, prices are so low that many are considering going out of business.

Several growers have recently carried their crop many miles only to have it refused at any terms by the buyer.

Latest Hints on Beauty Culture

Habit of "Taking Cold" May Be Easily Broken

By MAGGIE TEYTE

Prima Donna of the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company.

THIS is the accepted season for "taking cold." Everywhere you go you may hear it discussed. One has just taken cold and expects to be in "simply horrid" shape tomorrow, or is "afraid" she will take cold because she sat next a man who sneezed on the car, and her feet got very cold and it was so warm when she started out that she didn't wear her furs, and she feels a chill even at the moment.

I know that we are improving in our struggle for common sense and health, but we have not quite reached the point where we can break the habit of "taking cold."

Personally I seldom have colds, because I don't want them. They make me look so wretched, for one reason. I don't want a red nose and fever blisters on my lips and watery eyes and a fog-horn voice—particularly NOT the fog-horn voice. And then I hate to be ill. It isn't just the pain and the inconvenience and the loss of time and the interference with the business of life, but it always humiliates me to be physically out of condition. It shows me that I have made some foolish mistake somewhere that I should avoid.

I am perfectly convinced that about three-fourths of the colds might be avoided if every one made up his or her mind that colds were foolish things to have and therefore not worth wasting time over.

Just about here I can imagine some one with a sore throat and a fever and a splitting headache saying some unkind things about me between coughs. Even so I stand by my statement.

The phrase "taking cold" is really quite suitable, for I think we do "take" the cold more often than it forces itself to us.

By that I mean we let down the bars and make it easy for a cold to take anchorage in our system. I suppose the general idea is that there is a mysterious little germ which causes colds, known less about germs than I do about the dialects of the Chinese language. But I do know that colds will not be in simply horrid shape tomorrow, or is "afraid" she will take cold because she sat next a man who sneezed on the car, and her feet got very cold and it was so warm when she started out that she didn't wear her furs, and she feels a chill even at the moment.

Disease does not as a rule lodge in a well-cleaned system. And the cleaned system is the first step toward good looks. If you get tired hearing that, stop reading what I write, for I shall repeat it.

If you eat regularly and sleep regularly and keep your excretory organs working, you will keep the poisons out of your system.

The use of hot water and lemon that I have advocated as a morning drink will lessen the tendency to colds. The deep breathing in front of the open window every day that I have tried to make important as an aid to clear complexions and ruddy cheeks and well rounded throats and deep chests and an enemy to clogging fat, is one of the best ways in the world to fight off colds.

It stands to reason that if your lungs are filled with pure, fresh air colds can't find lodgment. Also if your lungs are doing all the work they should do, your blood is purer and your circulation is better.

Keep clean outside and in. Take your baths regularly, drink lemon and water. Eat food that is simple and nutritious, and BREATHE! You will improve in looks while your neighbors are sniffing and sneezing and coughing. And when you have to be where such ones are, don't think about sharing their misfortune for colds are misfortunes. Think of something pleasant. When you get the chance fortify yourself with some pure air and a drink of pure water.

And remember that a temper fit will bring on a cold just as well as it will make wrinkles.

TALES IN A FLUTTERING FAN

Georgia Caine

Fashion's Fad an Index to Character, Says Georgia Caine

If you want to read a woman's character watch her use a fan," remarked Georgia Caine, languidly, waving an enormous fan of pale blue gauze, across which trailed pink roses, while yellow butterflies fluttered at the edges.

"It has long been a fad with me. That is why I regret that the modern woman does not have more appreciation of the possibilities of the fan. It adds so much in the way of grace and line. It can be made to accentuate good points and to modify poor ones. There is no way so legitimate for the display of jeweled fingers and wrists, and if there is any more ideal background for one's head and face than a soft black feather fan I have yet to discover it."

"But I was speaking of it as an index to character. Did you ever see the woman with the little bit of a fussy fan and watch her use it? Merely as a means of stirring up a refreshing breeze it is absurd. But the efforts the woman who deliberately chooses such a fan makes are more pathetic than funny. They would accomplish so much if used in the right direction."

"Fussy," my, how she beats the air. She bites her lower lip and grim determination takes hold of her face. Flutter, flutter. Her cheeks are red with exertion. She is plainly tired, but the fluttering goes on as if it were a matter of life or death. It takes no great power of discernment to see what a hard worker the woman is, and how she uses a lot of energy and never gets anywhere.

"Then there is the woman who fans by fits and starts. She fans for a minute or two as if her very existence depended on it. Then she sits back and forgets all about it. Suddenly she starts in again, and for a few minutes the fan moves with lightning speed. It is usually a nondescript kind of fan with no meaning."

"I always think the woman of this type has something on her mind which really troubles her, and I feel like going up and taking the fan away from her and fanning with easy rhythm and saying: 'Now, sister, let's see if we can't straighten this kink out and make it right.'"

"Then there is the simpering fanner. She opens and shuts the fan with aimless motions, and holds it in front of her face when she talks and when she smiles, and perhaps she sits with it closed, and the end of it in her mouth. Watch women fan and see for yourself."

"Talk about the language of the fan! There is a language that talks plainer and louder than the sentimentalists ever realized."

"But, seriously, I am sorry the fan has not a firmer place in the modern world of fashion. It makes a woman seem so sweetly feminine, and it gives her the opportunity for so many little winsome airs that are most attractive, especially in masculine eyes. And it has the most delightful way of saving an awkward situation and relieving one from any fear of self-consciousness. Any debutante who wants to cultivate grace in her arms or hands should seek the means in her fan."

"Try it before your mirror, and I believe you will be as devoted a fan advocate as I am."

The fan which Miss Caine shows in the illustration is of black ostrich feathers mounted on jet sticks. It is a trifle of beauty which cost something over $100, but it surely is an addition to the costume.

The gown to which it adds the completing touch is of pale yellow gold embroidery applied with other bejeweled fabrics. The girle is of grass green satin. The three-yard train is of black satin lined with green. It is a yard wide and is straight up and down.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Your Common Senses Determine Your "Nature"

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirschberg.

IN HIS Isis and Osiris Plutarch dilates upon nature and human nature as a personality in this wise: "I am whatever was, or is, or will be; and my veil no mortal ever took up."

Prof. H. B. Alexander of the University of Nebraska, a more modern philosopher, puts the matter thus: "The time honored scholastic definition of man as a rational animal has nowadays given place to a zoological classification which sets him in the order of primates along with the lemurs, monkeys and anthropoid apes."

Human nature, however, seems to differ from the other manifestations of nature by the activities known as conduct. Out of the book of nature reason appears. There is a vast abyss between human nature and the rest of nature. Prof. Henri Bergson of France says that creation is double or "dualistic." Plato said something of the sort; while Burton, in his "Anatomy of Melancholy," quotes Socrates as holding that nature is single—"monist"—"see one promontory, one mountain, one sea, one river and see all."

And this our life, exempt from public and private grief, is like a dream.

Flies creep in trees, books in running brooks. Sermons in stones and good in everything.

Science's Last Word.

Prof. Eucken, another of the living philosophers, considers creation like a religion. But

If nature be a phantasm, as thou sayest, A splendid fiction and prodigious dream, To reach the real and true I'll make no haste, More than content with words that only seem.

Life and spirit are the creator's energy of the universe. In stones it is all energy—electrons inside of the atoms—in plants life is comatose. In animals it becomes instinct seen as through a glass darkly. In human nature "a window is opened" without outside limitations.

Some learned pedants make an attempt to show the place of "mind" in nature. "But," says Prof. Knight Dunlap, the distinguished experimental psychologist of Johns Hopkins University, "there is no such thing as 'mind.' What those who speak of it mean is human nature."

In other words, the newer laboratory psychology denies that there is any such thing as "mind." In its place is "human nature."

"Thought, imagination, feeling, reason and religion are all matters of physical behavior. These have always been wrongly classified as 'mental operations.' The sum total of common sense muscular activity, and therefore of the character, habits and temperament which result, yield the conduct by which you are found to be superior to other human natures. So says this new scientific dictum."

"Vigor Is Soul."

Human nature is a roaring torrent placid in the midst of "raging outer nature."

Says Prof. Alexander: "Intelligence and sense are the proper tokens of 'humanity,' because they stand for clear-cut ideas. Apart from conduct all thought is illusory."

Answers to Health Questions

F. B.—My face and hands are always as red as a boiled lobster. Can you tell me anything to lighten them?

Red skin may be due to a sluggish circulation of the blood because the veins hold the blood too long. Often the heart needs a tonic and some other medical attention.

Fresh, pure air; sane and moderate amount of exercise with the aid of cold water sprays and shower baths will do much to eliminate the glow.

E. A.—For some weeks I have had little shot-like swellings under my jaws and in the neck. Is this mumps?

Mumps is a contagious disease. A tumor-like swelling with fever is present well up on the cheeks alongside of the neck in mumps.

What you have appears to be swollen lymph glands due to a sore throat, tonsillitis or some skin infection.

M. B. L.—What is the quincy?

Quincy is an old discarded name for an inflamed, swollen tonsil in which a large amount of pus and many microbes have gathered. At times this disappears by itself slowly, but with great pain and serious danger to your life. It is wiser to have it pricked open by a throat specialist.

Back Into the Rut

THERE'S a red two over there, Peter," said Mary. "And there's a black five. You don't watch your cards."

Now if anything brings me to the point of despondency and depression I'm idly indulging in a game of solitaire. It is the best of times when some people feel called upon to offer when you don't see a move quite as soon as you do. If a man begins to advise me, I'd likely tell him in a friendly way to shut up. Mary would cry if I ventured an expression of my distaste and therefore, up to date, I've grinned and borne it.

"And why in the world," went on Mary carelessly, "don't you uncover your king? You're missing a move."

I patiently played the game through to the end and put the cards away. To tell the truth, my evenings are growing dead. I don't know what to do with myself if I read a book or a paper. Story talks to me, and Mary doesn't consequent sort of chatter sufficient to spoil my book without becoming definite conversation. If, in sheer self-defense, I die forth my solitaire back and concern myself with successive reds and blacks, Mary instantly lays aside her work and advises me how to play. Which may be all right from Mary's standpoint, but it's very trying from mine.

I tried my paper tonight, and had scarcely read a half a column before Mary was telling me about a party in which she was exceedingly interested. I remember something about rose-colored candles—and a chocolate cake.

I listened politely toward the end, and went back to my reading. The party was replaced by a forbidding account of Mrs. Craig's twins who yell by night and snore by day. With a sigh I eventually laid aside my newspaper, and lighting my pipe, moved over by the fire. As Mrs. Mary sighed contentedly, moved over beside me, and watched the fire glow and sparkle in the fireplace.

"Now," thought I, "Mary can talk herself out, when she gets tired I'll get a book and read."

But Mary didn't talk. The fire was warm and pleasant, and she went to sleep.

I sat there, frowning, and watched the fire die down. And I did some thinking. How can two people spend evenings after evening together when they haven't a thing in common? Courtship and honeymoons, of course are times of idyllic madness when time never palls, but after the honeymoon has waned and you're facing the gray verities of life cloved more, you can't merely stroke your wife's hair for hours at a time and say foolish things about her beauty. The aesthetic side of your relationship must be merged into an intellectual one, or satily flies in pretty swiftly.

Love is a wonderful thing, but it's all the more wonderful if along with it you have the spark of friendship and congeniality. Mary and I somehow have missed that spark of congeniality, and so, I take it, have many another unfortunate pair who love each other most self-out. This is a waste of good time, dozing by the fire.

"What shall we read?" yawned Mary. Now I like to read, and Mary doesn't. Therefore I fear her assent was not over-ardent.

"You select the book," I urged. Mary did so.

I used not mention her choice. It was a book of notorious sentimentality that closed after a page or so. I endured it to the end and finally induced her to take some interest in a volume of De Morgan. The experiment was highly unsatisfactory.

Now Mary and I have slipped back again into the rut, for all I make heroic efforts to get us out of it. I take off my hat to the man and wife who settle this problem to the satisfaction of both!

Shall We Censor the News?

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

THE Swiss press has just issued a classified list of subjects which all news editors "should be careful to exclude from all newspapers, in view of the newspapers being the sole intellectual provender of the masses."

Here's the list: All court news, unless of historical importance. All personal gossip. All sensational news, such as reports of suicide, etc. All news circulated in the interest of a political party.

All impolitic news. I would hate to be in the business of selling printers' ink in Switzerland today.

Any newspaper which followed these rules would have to suspend publication at once. All sensational news—foremost. What's the news for, if it isn't to give sensation, pray tell us, gentlemen of the Swiss censorship?

What is a sensation, anyway, but a feeling, an emotion, a something which makes the man who feels it different from a dummy in front of a clothing store?

No sensations—why, the only man who ever attains to that state of affairs is a dead man. What is there so terrible about a "sensation," I'd like to know.

If you're going to cut out all the "sensational" things in the world, you'll have to burn up every book of importance that was ever written, and you'll have to begin with the greatest book of all—the Bible.

Battle, murder, suicide, love, hate, revenge, ambition stultified, devotion crucified—the human heart beats in the great book from beginning to end.

Why, there never was such a sensational story in the world as the glorious, heart-breaking story of the crucifixion.

What about Mary Magdalene—and her offering of scented oils? If there lives one who can read that story without a "sensation," I don't want to have the pleasure of that one's acquaintance.

The story of the flight into Egypt, how often has it been told in music and in art. Would you cut it out of the printed page, pray tell?

What newspaper has ever printed anything as full of "human interest" as the old, old tale, as ancient as the drumbeat of the human pulse, as tragic as the smile of the new born babe, of Samson and Delilah?

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

I'd like to shake him, the boy who's ashamed of his mother.

I saw him on the street car the other day. He was with a couple of silly little geese, overdressed and over-painted little creatures, who hadn't as much sense in their whole bodies as that boy's mother has in the tips of one of her little fingers.

But when the mother stepped into the car she wore a neat little, old-fashioned coat and a plain, neat dress, and the boy tried to pretend he didn't see her.

But mother saw him all right, and she was so pleased just to be on the same car with him, and so proud that she couldn't keep her eyes off him—poor, devoted, loving heart.

I could fairly see her trying to admire the girls her wonderful son was escorting.

She didn't admire them really at all. Nobody with an ounce of common sense could admire them. But she tried timidly to smile to them across the car, and they saw that they alone for seeing anything that would give them a chance to giggle and they nudged each other and giggled, and the boy turned red and frowned sullenly.

Poor fool, I wonder how long it will be before he goes to mother for help to get out of the clutches of one of the lovely creatures who helped him to be ashamed of his mother yesterday in the car.

Great Novels in a Nutshell

"Adam Bede"

Condensed from the ELIOT novel by HELEN S. GRAY

ADAM BEDE is a carpenter. His joy in his work, the beauty of health that is his, and his strength of character command respect and admiration for him wherever he goes. He is ambitious and attends night school. He and his younger brother, Seth, have so much affection for each other that they never bicker and quarrel, as relatives frequently do. And they are tender and dutiful toward their old mother, notwithstanding she is fretful and addicted to endless complaining.

Adam is in love with Hetty Sorrel, the 17-year-old niece of a neighboring farmer named Poyser. Hetty is a beauty, fresh, rosy, plump and graceful. She is so pretty that it is a delight to look at her. But her mental and moral traits do not correspond with the beauty of her body. She is very vain and selfish, and not tender-hearted. Adam is so much in love with her that he is blind to her defects, but she does not appreciate or reciprocate his love.

Arthur Donnithorne, a vacillating youth of 21, who is soon to come into possession of his grandfather's big estate on which the Poyser family are tenants, admires Hetty. Her head is completely turned by his attentions, and she dreams day and night of some day marrying him and being a fine lady living in luxury. Hetty's life is wrecked by her misdeeds. Distracted by grief and shamelessness and alone, she deserts her baby. When she goes back to it, it is dead. She is arrested and tried for murder. The English law is very severe. She is condemned to death. Dinah Morris, a kind friend, stays with her in prison during the trial. On the way to the gallows, through the intercession of her sentence in a distant colony. She dies before it is completed.

Just at this point the death of his grandfather makes Arthur Donnithorne heir to all his property; but, on account of the suffering he has caused Adam, Hetty and the Poyser, he gives up his long-cherished plan of taking charge of the estate and improving it, and rejoins his regiment, where he remains eight years, finally returning shattered in health by a fever.

Seth Bede asks Dinah Morris several times to marry him, but she feels she must devote herself wholly to her religious duties, and refuses. Eventually she marries Adam, however. Seth, realizing that his own case was hopeless, rejoices in his brother's happiness.

THURSDAY MORNING, FEB. 12.

THE GENTLE ART OF SMOKING-OUT.

Some progress was made yesterday in clearing up misunderstandings in connection with the mayor's proposals for purchasing the street railway.

The resolution of Monday, as we pointed out, might have presented an ambiguity to the legal department had it not been determined whether the stipulation that radial cars entering the city must be handed over to civic crews, implied the granting of a franchise, or merely instructed that the radials should be required to accept that additional condition among others in any future agreement or settlement under the railway board for entrance under the general law.

Another ambiguity, which had filtered into the mind of Ald. Maguire, apparently thru the columns of The Telegram, or the speeches of his disciple, Controller Church, was cleared up also. The Telegram thinks that Corporation Counsel Geary should be permitted to do what he pleases in drawing up the agreement. The Telegram thinks that because it wants a vote of the people on an agreement drawn, not according to Mayor Hocken's ideas, but according to its own ideas. Its idea was to grant a twenty-year franchise to the radials and blame it on Hocken. We do not know whether the corporation counsel conceived the same idea originally or telephatically, or in some other way, but he got it into his draft agreement. The mayor would not stand for it. The council would not stand for it. The people would not stand for it. The World and at least three other papers would not stand for it. Only The Telegram would stand for a twenty years' franchise to the radials and some of its disciples would stand for it. Ald. Maguire could hardly be convinced that no one would stand for it but himself and his friends, and had to be assured in council that Mayor Hocken was not doing business that way, that the corporation counsel would not be allowed to do business that way, and that the majority of the board of control had their heads screwed on right, and were not trying to put any game over on the people. This may disappoint Ald. Maguire, but he makes the mistake of paying too much attention to The Telegram's misrepresentations. He would be more respected if he did not allow The Telegram to make a tool of him.

The Telegram has discovered a flaw in the procedure of the corporation counsel. The discovery is a little belated, for everybody else discovered it the week before last. But it has taken all that time for The Telegram, which is not really smart, to give a different twist to the affair. The discovery is that the corporation counsel, having been instructed by the mayor to draw one kind of an agreement, went ahead and drew another kind without letting the mayor know. The Telegram says this was a mistake on the part of Mr. Geary, who should have "knocked out" Controller McCarthy in December, and taken charge of the whole situation as real acting mayor and representative of The Telegram, which proceeds as follows:

If Mr. Geary had forced the issue as the issue should have been forced, in December, 1913, Fred Morrison would have been elected mayor and Mr. H. C. Hocken would have been in no position to raise that issue in January-February, 1914.

The deductions are incorrect, but the premises are interesting. First, we have The Telegram's view of the duty of a municipal official towards the mayor and board of control. The corporation counsel is to settle policies and play politics and work things through The Telegram. Then we gather that Mr. Geary must have been aware that he was acting contrary to the mayor's wishes in December, and that The Telegram was also aware, for during the whole municipal campaign The Telegram, evidently relying on the kind of an agreement Mr. Geary was drawing up, kept shouting that it was going to be a clean-up, while the mayor persisted, and all the rest of us persisted, that it was a clean-up. How could Mr. Geary have "smoked out" Controller McCarthy, defeated Mayor Hocken and elected Fred Morrison, by asking for further instructions to make an agreement which was not a clean-up as Mayor Hocken wished? And why did The Telegram not make public the Ontario hydro-electric policy has not only provided light and power at a price approximating cost, but has compelled private supply companies to reduce their rates accordingly.

But the plan submitted by the association to Governor Glynn reveals the influence of the public service that is proposed. It asks that the water power created by the state shall be leased in the first instance for a definite period of sufficient duration to warrant the investment of capital and the payment of rates, the expiration of an adequate return. At the expiry of that period the lease may be terminated at any time by the proper authority on payment of fair compensation for the value of the plant and appurtenances necessary for the development of power. Leases are not to be granted except with the consent of the state authorities, and the whole conditions are to be those imposed by law and subject to the approval of the public utility and service commission of the state.

ALASKAN COAL REGULATIONS. Some years ago The World suggested that a proper mining policy in Ontario would be the establishment and prosecution systematically of a government survey in all unoccupied territory, and the leasing of operating rights to working companies. That idea has been sustained in the plans outlined for the development and use of the coal lands of Alaska by the United States department of the Interior, and approved by President Wilson's administration.

Coal Resources Unlimited. The coal resources of Alaska were almost unlimited, and seven years ago the construction was begun of the Alaskan Central Railway, which was financed by Canadian and British capital. The United States Government feared that the coal interests of Alaska were to fall under the control of a combine, and legislation effectually put a stop to all mining operations in Alaska.

From the report of the annual meeting of The Title and Trust Co. of Toronto, appearing in another column of this issue, it will be seen that the company enjoyed a prosperous year. The net earnings for 1913 amounted to over 13 per cent on the average paid-up capital, which increased during the year by $51,100.

U. S. NAVY USELESS IN WAR WITH JAPAN

Bishop Rowe of Alaska Says Fleet Would Be Without Coal in Northern Pacific.

MINES ARE ALL TIED UP Wilson Government Now Pledged to Rush National Owned Railway From Port to Reserves.

"In a war with Japan the navy of the United States would be useless," declared Right Rev. P. T. Rowe, bishop of the American Episcopal Church in Alaska, to The World at the King Edward Hotel. The United States navy, he said, did not possess an adequate coal station on the Pacific Coast, and as a result in the event of war the battlehips would be helpless.

This alarming state of affairs, he said, would be altered thru the opening up of the coal mines of Alaska and the establishment of a huge coal station at Seward on the Alaskan coast. The bishop has just held interviews with President Wilson and members of the United States cabinet at Washington.

Coal Resources Unlimited. The coal resources of Alaska were almost unlimited, and seven years ago the construction was begun of the Alaskan Central Railway, which was financed by Canadian and British capital.

Mr. Haverson, who is referred to in foregoing judgment as consenting to the license-holders in Meador, but from the Ontario License Holders' Association, is referred to in the present case as consenting to the license-holders in Meador, but from the Ontario License Holders' Association.

The Newman Club of the University of Toronto gave a very successful ball last night in Columbus Hall, when nearly five hundred persons were present. The ballroom was decorated with lines of pennants across the room and the platform was arranged with palms and ferns, the club colors of garnet and silver being used lavishly in decorating. Supper was served both upstairs and down, so that there was no crowding. The patronesses present were Mrs. F. C. Brown in a handsome gown of gray satin with real lace and gold and ornaments of sapphires and diamonds; Mrs. E. P. Gough, with a diamond necklace, dress of Brussels lace, with diamante trimming and ornaments of pearls and diamonds; Mrs. Armand Heintzman, with a diamond necklace, dress of Brussels lace, pearl and diamante ornaments, a white opey in her hair and a corsage bouquet of mauve orchids; Mrs. Ambrose Green, with a diamond necklace, dress of Brussels lace, pearl and diamante ornaments, a white opey in her hair and a corsage bouquet of mauve orchids; Mrs. M. Mr. Fred Laeoclo, the well-known dancer of New York, is as popular in Toronto as the Castles are in New York. He is giving demonstrations of his dances, the tango, one step hesitation and maxixe at the society teas, and the maxixe dance as danced by the hostesses at the society teas. Mr. Laeoclo states that the Brazilian maxixe, as danced by the Castles and Sebastian, is the most popular of the modern dances. He states that the society ball room tango is the only one fit to be danced on a floor and the maxixe requires but a few steps. The hesitation waltz has reached no standard as yet, everybody hesitates as he pleases, and it is amusing to watch people dancing it. The modern dances will reduce weight, and will aid health. Mr. Laeoclo dances every day at Williams' Tango Room, where a spot light during tango time.

which they opposed was to treat them as slaves. To make any offer of home rule without home rule, of which much had been heard recently, would do great harm. If the offer were made it would be for the purpose, not of securing acceptance, but rejection, with the single object of improving the government's political or strategical position.

ONE GOAL VICTORY FOR THE TORONTOS

Defeat Quebec in Fast Game at the Arena—Blue Shirts Had the Speed.

Torontos unfurled one more reef in the N.H.A. pennant when they downed the fast coming Quebec outfit, 4 to 3, in a whirlwind game at the arena last night.

Quebec stilled an earnest checking game, but when the Marshall pest opened up in the last two periods they were all over them with speed. It was never really rough, but the Canadiens were overwhelmed.

Torontos lacked their usual good combination play all night, while the cup holders passed across the ice in pretty fashion.

Each club scored two goals in the first period, but Torontos' goal was Quebec's one. The blue shirts failed to pass and were shot out of the way.

The best hockey of the night was staged in the last period, and Torontos put the game on ice by netting the first two goals.

Torontos had the speeded every bit as hard as the champions, and with better scope on Quebec, Cameron was again a star with individual rushes, and the whole Torontos team played a nice game.

At this meeting the signing of the final agreement with the Baseball Players' Fraternity will be taken up.

The discussion of the Evers case by the part of the league occupied the greater part of the meeting.

There will be another meeting of the league tomorrow, Evers after he left the National League meeting tonight.

President Barrow presided at a brief session of the International League today and after routine business had gone over the meeting adjourned until tomorrow.

STATUS OF EVERS IS THE MYSTERY

Organized Baseball Wonders American League Talks on Federal Situation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The baseball status of Johnny Evers, successor to Frank Chance as manager of the Chicago National League Club, is one of the mysteries of organized baseball tonight.

A complicated situation developed as the result of Murphy's action in hiring Henry O'Leary as manager of the Cubs, before he finally resigned Evers from his position.

At a special meeting of the board of directors and the National League as a whole, it was decided that Evers had no right to be reinstated.

The Boston club immediately entered into a contract with Murphy to trade in Evers for Sweeney and Pinner.

To further complicate matters, Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago Cubs, is speeding to this city at the order of President Gilmore of the new league.

In the most of all by the American League held its schedule meeting a few blocks away and completed its work by noon.

The request of the class A.A. leagues for exemption from the draft rule was refused, but this action was taken by the National Commission.

There will be another meeting of the league tomorrow, Evers after he left the National League meeting tonight.

Various Games at West End Y. M. C. A.

Two basketball games were played in the Business Men's League yesterday.

The basketball club was never in better condition than at present.

New members are joining every day, so that there is considerable interest in this line of sport.

The men are looking forward to the other meet, for they are expecting to make a clean-up again.

Clay, the winner of the 115-lb. class on Saturday night, and Jacobs, late of the Central Y., are now members of the West End Club.

It is expected that another meet will be held in the West End gymnasium on March 7.

The West End swimmers are certainly most interested in the coming Ontario indoor championships, which will be held in the West End tank on Saturday night.

Already there is a large entry, so the lovers of this sport will, no doubt, see one of the best meets ever held in Toronto.

The Business Men are certainly going to go to Hamilton on Friday with a good bunch of men.

It is expected that over twenty will pay a visit to the Business Men's class of that city.

HEAVY SHIPMENT OF CANADIAN WOOL

TEACHER WINS ACTION

Suit for Wrongful Dismissal by School Trustees Upheld in Court.

(Special to The Toronto World) BROCKVILLE, Feb. 11.—The first cargo of Canadian raw wool, imported under the new United States tariff law, was entered at the port of Ogdensburg, and consigned to New York City. It was crossed from Prescott, Ont., and consisted of 50,000 pounds. It is the initial shipment for export made from these parts in many years.

E. H. Scammell, organizing secretary of the Canadian Peace Centenary Association, is making a visit in Eastern Ontario, paving the way for celebrations next year. Brockville is one of the chosen centres.

The Brockville Children's Aid Society investigated last year over 70 cases of neglected and dependent children reported to the agent. A large proportion of this number, official action was taken, the little tots being made wards of the society.

Conductor George Knox, coming east in charge of the Grand Trunk International Limited, boarded a Pullman coach at Gananoque as the train was moving out. The door was locked, and a ride of eleven miles to Lansdowne, the next station clinging to an icy rail in zero weather faced the veteran of the punch. After going some distance, the Pullman conductor noticed his predicament and let him in. Knox was somewhat benumbed but not seriously affected.

The annual meetings of the county Orange lodges of Leeds and Grenville were held at Gananoque and Burritt's Rapids, respectively. A feature of the Leeds lodge was the presentation of a past master's jewel to George S. Martin, as a mark of appreciation of his work in the work of the order.

The Grenville County lodge decided to celebrate the next 12th July at Prescott, where a monetary demonstration is being arranged for lodges between Kingston and Montreal and north to Ottawa. No action was taken by Leeds lodge as to where the next celebration would be held.

Miss M. Cosgrove of Perth brought action against two trustees of S.S. No. 4, South Elmley, for wrongful dismissal last October. The case has just been decided by Judge Senker after a hearing in the division court. He awarded the plaintiff $100 and costs.

Dr. Rutman, M.O.H., of Woodstock, is making inquiries concerning the garbage collection system of Brockville.

UNION LABEL STORES HAVE GOOD BACKING

Project is Booming and First in Chain Will Soon Be in Operation.

That the Union Label Stores Company is booming and will soon be in operation was the sentiment expressed to The World last night by Secretary Stevenson of the District Labor Council and D. W. Kennedy, secretary of the Union Label League, when spoken to on the subject at the Labor Temple. Secretary Stevenson stated that it was the intention of the District Labor Council to back these stores most firmly in an endeavor to make them a success and achieve the end for which they are striving, namely, the use of union label goods.

When the time is ripe and all is in readiness, the Union Label Stores, which will at first consist of themselves to manufactured articles, such as clothing, etc., will embrace the co-operative idea and branch out into the sale of produce and foodstuffs of all descriptions.

Mason T. Golder, manufacturers' agent, is suing the Crown Hat Company of Galt for $655.36, he alleges to be due on goods he has sold. The defence is that $29.56 has been offered and paid into court in satisfaction of the claim, and that Golder owes the firm $60 for samples which he sold without permission.

IMPOSED FINE ON BOYS. Judge Winchester fined two young Italians, Premo Corary and Conia Mauffredo $10 and costs each yesterday on a charge of circulating obscene literature. They were working for a printer named Robinson, who was sent to jail for three days from the police court for the same offence.

STUDENTS GAVE A GOOD CONCERT

Varsity Glee Club Has Made Strides Since Last Year.

BRIGHT PERFORMANCES

Miss Zollner, Mrs. Denison Dana, Miss Hayes and Geo. Bruce Assisted.

Varsity Glee Club while failing to fill Convocation Hall, had a fine reception at the annual concert last night under Dr. Norman Anderson. The concert was under the patronage of a government house party. Sir William Meredith, President Falconer and a large contingent of fashionable society. The program met with great favor and deservedly so, the chorus of sixty having made great strides since last year, producing a richer tone and responding with more confidence to Dr. Anderson's baton.

Kremers' "In Winter" was the best item on the program and was sung with the expression and careful shading, while the parts were evenly balanced, and the tenors were effective. The concert opened with the "Soldier's Chorus," from "Faust," and the full choir was satisfactory, tho a little uneven in soft passages, due perhaps to nervousness, for in "Sweet and Low" there was much delicacy of tone, and the expression and enunciation were good. An encore was asked and given in this case, and for "Kentucky Babe," Piusini's "Good Night, Be- loved" was nicely sung, but an encore went to the following number, the "Bedouin Love Song," and in the encore Dr. Anderson accompanied on the organ. Mrs. Denison Dana sang several solos with a pleasant and cultivated soprano, being encored for her rendering of Homans' "Spring." The organ, which accompanied, contributed two piano solos, including a very bright performance of Moszkowski's "Tarentelle." Miss Zollner, who accompanied, was encored for her violin solo, and an encore also rewarded the performance of a Bach trio, an allegro, by Miss Zollner, Miss Hayes and George Bruce, cellist.

STATEMENT ISSUED BY NORTHERN LIFE

OVER TEN MILLIONS

Pride is being taken by the Northern Life Assurance Company of Canada in showing a growth quite in accord with sound and lasting business methods. During 1913 alone the new business written was $2,190,264, and the insurance in force on Dec. 31, 1913, was $10,046,104. The average rate of interest earned last year was 6.44 per cent. These policy holders are 68,313. These figures, taken with other preparations by the company, demonstrate how thoroughly efficient its policy has been and are a careful administrative system. A complete statement is being furnished at the head office at London, Ont.

SCIENCE OF TRADE FULLY EXPLAINED

A. F. Sheldon of Chicago Told Retail Merchants the Value of Knowing Their Stock.

Arthur F. Sheldon, business educator, Chicago, in an address last night before the Merchants' Association, showed how important it is for merchants to know their goods, and as well the man who sells them, and how they should know the proper quality and quantity of goods to offer. "Most people do not know their own goods," he stated when telling how merchants should know their stocks. Suggestion was made that a great selling factor in the present time is the knowledge of the price of what is being sold, and that present fixtures preclude the possibility of such a visit for some time.

PRINCE WON'T COME THIS YEAR.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The Canadian Associated Press on inquiry at Buckingham Palace last night was informed that no arrangements were being made for the prince of Wales to visit to the overseas dominions this year, and that present fixtures preclude the possibility of such a visit for some time.

"The business in the postal parcel branch of the customs department is extraordinarily heavy for this time of the year," said Andrew Scott, superintendent of this branch, to The World yesterday. "After the Christmas rush is over, there is generally a lull in business, but this year there has been scarcely any falling off in the number of parcels received, and the staff is kept very busy all the time."

DRINK AND WORK WILL NEVER MIX

Joseph A. Mullaney Tells Fellow-Workmen to Leave "Booze" Alone.

ASBESTOS WORKERS Union Will Be Formed in Toronto to Improve Conditions.

A meeting of the Asbestos Workers' Union, which was formed about two months ago, was held at the Labor Temple last night for organization purposes. Invitations had been extended to the non-union men employed in this trade, and several them attended.

Joseph A. Mullaney, president of the International Association of Heat and Frost Insulators and Asbestos Workers, addressed the meeting at great length on the value of organization as a means of procuring fair conditions under which to work. He drew attention to the fact that the asbestos workers were the lowest paid tradesmen in the city, receiving at least 6 cents less per hour than the men of the next most poorly paid profession. If the men were well organized, he contended, these conditions would be remedied. During the two days that he had been in the city he had had three conferences with the employers of the asbestos workers, and had discovered that if the men were organized they would be recognized.

SAYS HERB LENNOX IS TOO WELL LIKED

George Wilkie Complains His Eloquence is Wasted on "Herb's Jurymen."

GRITS HAVE NO CHANCE Before North York Talesmen, Says Affidavit—Lennox Will Answer.

Alleging that "Herb" Lennox, M.L.A., is so popular in North York that no other lawyer has a chance against him, in jury cases brought before the county court, George Wilkie, counsel in a case which is shortly to be tried, placed an affidavit before Judge Morgan yesterday, objecting to the presence on a jury panel of sixteen good loyal Conservatives from that section of the county.

Wilkie declares it to be not only his own belief but also that of John M. Godfrey, another Liberal, who, he says, has figured in a number of cases in which verdicts against the weight of evidence, the charge of the presiding judge, and presumably Mr. Godfrey, have been rendered.

"Perfect nonsense," said Judge Morgan when asked about the affidavit yesterday. Mr. Lennox, himself, when seen, said he would take steps to bring the matter before the law society.

The case in connection with which the affidavit was made is that of Francis Dunlop, who is crying to recover $200 from George Mills of Newmarket. He says that Mills sold him a horse, guaranteed to be sound, but which developed in the next future.

Wants Case Traversed. The occasion of the affidavit was the application of Mr. Lennox to have the case traversed to the next sittings of the court, so it is possible that the condition of things described by Mr. Wilkie may not hold good at that time.

It is recalled that some seven or eight years ago a Newmarket woman, in her will, bequeathed quite a substantial sum of money to Mr. Lennox to be used in the redemption of North York for the Conservatives.

STUDENTS TO VOTE ON POLICY CHANGE

Higher Standard of Matriculation is Proposed by University College Men.

PRESENT SYSTEM IS BAD

Arts Undergraduates Will Debate Resolution to Abolish Examination System.

More Essays. That there be substituted for the present system of compulsory courses a system of term essays to be supplemented by a one-term examination in the seminars.

The society numbers among its members the entire male undergraduate body of University College, the students of the four arts colleges in the university. Its decision following upon the storm of criticism which has of late years been leveled at the present system of compulsory courses and annual examinations, will probably be reflected by some action on the part of the governors.

Trained or Cultured? The controversy lies between those who look upon the arts colleges as a cultural hot-house and those who wish to see highly trained specialists turned out. The faculties of science, medicine and dentistry are not involved in the matter.

"No matter which ideal is aimed at the system is wrong," said a university college man last night. "The compulsory courses forbid a man to specialize. They pile him with work in which he is not interested and which he naturally skips. On the other hand, if an air of dreamy culture is desired, surely the age of sixteen years is too young to wear a boy from his high school supervision."

The present compromise. "The present situation is a compromise which produces nothing but dissatisfaction," President Falconer is known to be

BARRIE TRAVELER DIED AT GUELPH

Arthur M. Jamieson, a Well Known Commercial Man, Found Dead in Hotel.

(Special to The Toronto World) GUELPH, Feb. 11.—Arthur M. Jamieson, a well known traveler for Hamilton & Sons, soap manufacturers of Hamilton, was found dead in bed this afternoon at the Wellington Hotel, by an employee of the house.

Mr. Jamieson came to Guelph on Monday and registered at the hotel as usual. He then transacted business with several of the local merchants and was to leave the city today. He retired to his room about 10.30 on Tuesday night, apparently in the best of health, but when he did not get up this morning nothing was thought of it. The chambermaid tried the door several times during the morning, but did not report the matter to the office until the afternoon. A step ladder was secured and the door of the hotel, looking over the transom, saw Mr. Jamieson apparently sleeping. The police were at once notified and an entrance effected. It took but a moment to see that the man had been dead several hours, as the body was quite cold. Coroner Dr. Savage was sent for, and after making an examination decided that death was due to natural causes.

NEWS FROM THE CITY HALL

SPENCE DREW UP WICKETT MOTION

McCarthy Plan Would Have Excluded Radials, He Asserts.

WICKETT IS SILENT

Attempts to Get an Interpretation Result in Failure at Council.

Ald. Maguire tried to get a ruling when the council went into session yesterday afternoon that Ald. Wickett give an interpretation of his resolution which amended the instructions to the corporation council for the drawing up of the agreement of purchase. However, Controller McCarthy had the floor and the council went into committee of the whole.

A few minutes before the work in committee of the whole ended Ald. Wickett left the council chamber. Ald. Maguire asked Chairman McBride to have Ald. Wickett brought back, but the chairman declared he was without the necessary authority. Ald. Maguire followed after Ald. Wickett, but returned without finding him. He wanted him to interpret his resolution of amended instructions to the corporation council for the drawing up of the agreement of purchase. Ald. Wickett had been called to his office on business.

A few minutes before council adjourned Ald. Maguire stated that he had followed Ald. Wickett out of the council chamber and had asked him if he had written the resolution that amended the instructions. Ald. Wickett refused to answer. Ald. Maguire then read from The World's report of the council proceedings his interpretation of the Ald. Wickett resolution.

The agreement of purchase must conform to the viewpoint of the board of control. As the majority of the board of control favor exclusion of radials and the bringing in of radial cars only with civic crews, it is now up to the corporation council to keep out of the agreement of purchase any other running rights in the city for the radials.

Controller McCarthy broke in to remark that he had heard for the first time an enquiry as to who drew up the Ald. Wickett resolution. He stated: "You don't know what I said?" The resolution Controller McCarthy drew up excluded the radials and made no provision for any form of entrance to the city of radial cars. I thought it was tying the radials up one way just as much as the other. I said so to Controller McCarthy and Ald. Wickett while we were together in the mayor's office. I drew up a resolution. Controller McCarthy said he would move his waywardly. Ald. Wickett took my resolution and said he would move it. He amended it a bit.

POSTOFFICE SQUARE SOUGHT BY CITIZENS

WOULD COST TWO MILLIONS

Mayor Says Plan Would Result in Higher Taxation—Referred to Parks Committee.

Representatives of the board of trade, Manufacturers' Association, and many ratepayers' associations united with the Civic Guild yesterday morning in an appeal to the board of control to establish a postoffice square.

After all the speakers had made their appeal, Mayor Hocken said: "We shall assume that the property you ask the city to buy would cost a million dollars, and if forty-year debentures were to be issued the total expense would be two millions. A simple and economical way of financing the proposition would be to put an extra mill on the tax rate for two years. How many here are in favor of the extra mill?"

Report on Plan. Controller McCarthy told the deputations that their proposition would have to be considered by the parks committee and a recommendation be sent on from there to the board of control. He suggested that the deputations wait upon the board of control next Tuesday. He said that the board would at once ask Commissioner Chambers to report on the proposition, and he advised that the board of control would have to act on the preparation of his report.

In the city council yesterday Ald. It was evident they were trying to indirectly censure Controller McCarthy.

Without discussion the council adopted the recommendation that legislation be introduced to authorize penalties for delinquent taxpayers at one-half of one per cent after legal date for payment.

Architect Blames Inspector for Delays—Loew's Long Hall Not Censured.

Scathing criticism of the city architect's department was again forthcoming at yesterday's session of the investigation as resumed before Judge Denton. A. R. Denison made accusations as follows: The department held him up for weeks in connection with a permit for W. R. Brock's warehouse erected in 1904. Finally he went on and built the warehouse without a permit.

At the morning session of the committee on the long hall in Loew's Theatre was taken up. This particular ticket had 153 feet in length, whereas the bylaw only allows a length of 130 feet. City Architect Price submitted letters from the fire chief, the superintendent of buildings and the chief of police, stating that in view of the fact that the legal number of exits and entrances had been provided independent of the hall, the long fireproof corridor was an advantage and it was approved.

30% Dividend Guaranteed Black Fox Business?

WHY DON'T YOU GET INTO THE Black Fox Business?

Since the time of Charlemagne, Black Fox has been the fur of Royalty. So great is the demand for it today that if all the finest pelts produced on Prince Edward Island were offered for sale, they would all be sold within two hours at prices ranging from $1000 to $2500 each, and Prince Edward Island controls 95 per cent. of the production of the world.

For the past twenty years the production of Silver or Black Fox furs has fallen off 50 per cent., and advanced in value from 200 per cent. to 300 per cent.

Valuable furs like sea otter, Russian sable and chinchilla have been withdrawn from the market, and only Black Fox remains.

So great is the demand, for breeding purposes alone, for Black Foxes that in 1912 only one Prince Edward Island Black Fox was offered for sale on the London market, and foxes for breeding purposes today command as high as $25,000 a pair.

Profits from 25 per cent. to 500 per cent. are being made in fox breeding on Prince Edward Island.

Do you know of any investment where you could place your money, and without any effort on your part, have it earn 25 per cent. to 500 per cent. for you?

Send your name and address on a post card today for further information about this wonderfully profitable industry.

UNLOADED WHEAT BEFORE HOLIDAY

Longs Afraid to Carry Commitments Over—All Grains Declined.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Selling by holders who wished to avoid an open start during the holiday tomorrow counterbalanced in the wheat market today the effect of a good export call and of a threatened cold wave. The market closed easy at the same as last night to a net decline; corn 1-4 to 3-8c; oats 1-16c and provisions 2-1 to 10c.

Export buying included both winter and spring wheat and took place here and in Kansas and at Duluth, as well as along the seaboard. Less talk was heard in regard to cash wheat being purchased to arrive in Chicago from Nebraska. Instead, there were dispatches from that state and from Kansas expressing fear that another severe drop in temperature would cause considerable damage to the growing crop.

Corn weakened under an increase of contrary offerings and because of continued slowness of shipping demand. Oats were depressed by incredulity about supposed export sales of Canadian oats at Buffalo.

Provision crowd fear selling of stock yards interests more than offset whatever bullishness might have resulted from an early advance in hog.

DUKE MAY EXTEND HIS TERM AT RIDEAU HALL. OTTAWA, Feb. 11.—The term of H.H.H. the Duke of Connaught, as Governor-General of Canada, is generally understood to expire next October, there is a strong probability of the term being extended another year, particularly if the health of the duchess continues to show as satisfactory progress as during the recent months. Strong influences are being brought to bear to gain the consent of the Duke of Connaught to remain in Canada for a longer period, and it is believed that these have had weight.

FOR BETTER DRIVING. Motor League Joins With Chauffeurs to Stop Certain Practices. The Ontario Motor League has been asked to help to abolish certain practices embodied in a resolution passed recently by the Toronto Chauffeurs' Protective Association, with a view to protecting the pedestrian public.

It is the desire of the association that royal mail auto drivers be given more time to cover their routes, in order that they will not be obliged to drive their cars at a great rate of speed as is necessary at the present time. It is further requested that the mail boxes be placed in such a position that they can be visited by the collectors without driving on the wrong side of the street. The association also considers that it is impossible for the drivers of newspaper automobiles to drive their cars with care and pick out the bundles for delivery at the same time.

WIRELESS TELEPHONY MAKING BIG STRIDES

Commercial Installations May Be Made on Board Ships Immediately.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—A London cable to The New York Times says: The results of William Marconi's wireless telephony experiments are sufficiently encouraging, says The Times, to warrant the belief that commercial installations will be available immediately.

The first commercial installations will be on board ships, and Mr. Marconi hopes that some of these may be working within the next month or two. It is possible that the new Cunard liner Aquitania, which will make her maiden voyage in June, and which will be equipped with a wireless installation that will render possible constant communication with Great Britain and America, will also be fitted for wireless telephonic communication with other ships.
