BITTER CONTEST

"Most Absurd Proposition Ever Presented" is Hinkley's Comment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—

Gould, Republican, Maine, today challenged the authority of the Senate to investigate charges growing out of an alleged payment to a New Brunswick government official in connection with a railway contract 14 years ago.

In ordering the investigation the Senate relied on the constitutional provision making it the judge of the "qualifications" of its own members. Counsel for the new Maine Senator contended, however, that in going into an incident which occurred long ago, and which had been widely discussed during the campaign, recalls to scatter."

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Jan. 4—

The issue will be hotly contested, particularly in view of its possible application to the prospective contest over the seating of Senators-elect Smith of Illinois and Vane of Pennsylvania, who are charged with excessive campaign expenditures.

English Press Speculates On Policy of King's Sons Acting As Delegates With Dominions

LONDON, Jan. 4—Probably the journey of the Duke and Duchess of York to Australia, which commences Thursday, is mainly responsible for speculations in a section of the English press regarding prospects of His Majesty's sons acting as his delegates with the Dominions.

The Manchester Guardian's London editor remarks that as a result of the Imperial Conference achievements, the King's personal position as the only remaining constitutional link between the various nations of the Empire, gives Australia, Canada and the rest a good claim for the presence of royalty in their capitals as Britain has.

ANCIENT GRANTS CITED TO PROVE CLAIMS MADE

N. B. Shales, Ltd., Named Defendants in Suit Here

HEARING TODAY

Leases Dated as Far Back as 1787 Used as Basis for Application

CROWN grants made as far back as 1787 for lands situated in Westmorland County, on which valuable shale deposits have been found for several years past, featured an interesting hearing before Mr. Justice Crockett this morning here when the Acadia Oil and Shales, Ltd., sought a declaratory judgment, confirming their rights to develop bituminous shale on these lands.

Some question arose at this morning's hearing, which was brief, as to making the Attorney General of the province a third party in view of the plaintiff's action, but the view was expressed that proceedings had not advanced to that stage as yet. Dr. Power explained that search records at Dorchester had not been completed yet and asked for adjournment. This was granted for one month, the date to be fixed by parties concerned.

ACADIA SHALES SEEK RIGHT TO RICH DEPOSITS

The Legislature had no right to do this. Acts of 1912 and 1914, similar in character, are referred to. The company seeks a declaratory judgment "declaring that the title to the bituminous shales in and on the said lands needed the said leases to the plaintiff is vested in it pursuant to the terms of the said leases and that the defendant company has no right, title or interest thereon."
DEFENCE SUBMITTED.
In its defence, the N. B. Shales, Ltd., says it does not admit the title in the lessors of George B. Willett to the land in question; that the lessors did not have the right to mine bituminous shales; that the said bituminous shales are "found" within the meaning of the "convention" in the Marger, Desbarres and Gray grants; and that the defendant company claims title to the bituminous shales under act and law of the Legislative Assembly of New Brunswick.

ALCOHOL DEATHS UP IN U. S. HOUSES

Drinking to Excess Charged in Lower Chamber and Senate
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The controversy over deaths during the holiday season from the drinking of poisoned alcohol reached both the Senate and House floors today as soon as Congress reconvened.
At both ends of the Capitol the personal conduct of members in the observance of the dry law was questioned and before sundown the discussion had reached the treasury, where both Secretary Mellon and Lincoln C. Andrews, the prohibition enforcement chief, issued statements.
While Representative Celler, Democrat, New York, was accusing his colleagues in the House of drinking to excess, Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, in a lengthy speech in the Senate, was condemning the "hypocrisy of some representatives of the people who vote dry and drink wet."
Celler declared that members of both House and Senate "drink and drink to excess," and called upon them to keep poison out of industrial alcohol to protect those "who are their betters."
During the day both houses were also called upon in bills and resolutions to take cognizance of the industrial alcohol situation.

Astrid Must Get Along With $140,000
BRUSSELS, Jan. 4.—Princess Astrid, bride of Crown Prince Leopold, will have to worry along on a million Belgian francs (about $140,000) a year for household expenses and milliners and dress-makers' bills. Parliament announced intention of extending the question of raising the king's civil list in order to provide a special indemnity for the recently married couple has been declared unconstitutional. The Belgian constitution, it is pointed out, especially states that civil lists of the reigning family are fixed only at the beginning of its reign. Astrid, therefore, will have to wait until she becomes queen before receiving more money for expenses.

2 FURTHER DEATHS BY POISON LIQUOR MAKE N. Y. TOLL 44

18 More Cases of Alcoholism Admitted to Hospital; Total 222

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Only two additional deaths from drinking were reported yesterday, while 18 alcoholic cases were admitted to Bellevue Hospital. This brought the total of these cases for the holiday season to 222.

The total number of deaths from drinking since Christmas today stood at 44, with almost four-fifths of them immediately following Christmas. Fear of poison liquor was said to have caused a decrease in consumption on New Year's eve, and to have caused a decrease in the death rate.

New York's night clubs at their best are no more than poor substitutes for the old-time saloon backrooms, and at their worst hangouts for white collar thieves, the New York World says today.

PATRONAGE DWINDLES

The ever-increasing prices, the newspaper asserts, is but camouflage for dwindling prices. The better class of citizens, it says, decline to be further made a "sucker" by an educated group of money seekers as this city has developed in its sophisticated history.

Poor food, worse liquor and cheap entertainment, says the World, are offered alone for "the boys from the Bronx or Brooklyn or from Yale, Harvard and Princeton," or "for the male or female spender, suckers, fall guy, easy mark, or whatever you want to call him."

On New Year's eve, the World says, the clubs with cover charges as high as $40 for an empty plate, synthetic liquor at $20 a quart, and not to drink, and water at $2 a pitcher, the stage was set for the greatest "clean-up" in Broadway's history. But the clean-up failed to materialize.

TWO KENT COUNTY MEN DIE IN FIRE

Are George and Kiler McPherson of Emmons, N. B.—Sad Affair

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 3.—Sorrowing relatives have so far been unable to identify the charred bodies of the three adult victims of the fire which destroyed the boarding house owned by the Clapp Rubber Company in Hanover, Mass., on Saturday. The boy's body was soon identified as that of George Grusley, 15, of Rockland. The others were supposed to have died of James Wallace, 40, of Hanover, and George McPherson, 21, and his brother, Kiler, 17, both from Kent county, N. B.

The flames roared through the 8-story wooden structure so rapidly that they were trapped and the death list was only compiled by accounting for all of the other 75 boarders. The medical examiner has delayed releasing the bodies to relatives in the hope that some identification can be established.

MOTHER LIVES IN N. B. The McPherson boys had only been living in Hanover for a few months, and were not well known. It was not until their brother, Roy, came to Hanover yesterday that it was learned their father is living somewhere in Kent county, New Brunswick.

The plans of the two youths for a 5-day celebration, went up with the flaming house. They had visited barber shops and haberdasheries to prepare for a pleasure trip on the holiday.

Officials investigating the cause of the fire, which started in the morning, said that the night workers had retired, have so far been unable to reach a finding, so completely was the structure destroyed.

B., Jan. 3.—George and Kiler McPherson, who lost their lives in a Hanover, Mass., fire, were sons of Mrs. McPherson and the late Angus McPherson of Emmons, parish of Welford, Kent Co., N. B. FORESEES NEW TYPES OF FUEL

Coal Is Veritable Wonder Lamp in Possibilities

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 31.—A common lump of coal, productive now of little more than heat, smoke and ash, is a veritable "wonder lamp" in possibilities, and American scientists are determined to be its Aladdin.

Predictions of revolutions in energy sources have increased since the closing of the recent International Conference on Bituminous Coal here, at which it developed that France and Germany had gone further than other countries in coal research.

Attention is being directed, not to the mines, as in the past, but to the laboratories, said a scientist, a layman-educator, a coal expert and a government chemist.

"Some processes which are talked about a great deal can be adopted profitably," said Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology and sponsor of the international meeting.

"There are great deposits of low grade coal in America which, when subjected to certain processes, can be transformed into higher priced products."

Dr. Baker pointed out that the most difficult problem facing the coal men from a business standpoint is overproduction.

"Abstract research," he added, "is likely to be more profitable than solving the every day problems."

A. C. Fieldner, chief chemist of the United States Bureau of Mines, said he foresaw the approach of the day when gas will be used in nearly all homes to take the place of coal heat.

Some of the poorer class homes, he believes, will use coal extracted from coal by a process of low carbonization distillation. Either course would eliminate the problem.

Enough work has been done, he said, "to show that a gasoline substitute can be made for a low price not prohibitive for automobile use."

TALE OF LOST MINE IS TOLD ON SCREEN

Gaiety Has Romantic Picture Story From Harold Bell Wright Book

The scene of "The Mine With the Iron Door," adapted from Harold Bell Wright's latest novel, is laid in the Catalina mountains in Arizona.

"The Mine With the Iron Door" was made in a locale which was well known to motion picture producers.

Strange stories drift about the region and thither many men have come—Spaniards, explorers, Indians, cattlemen, seekers for gold, and adventurers of all types, from every land.

These men have scaled the mountain heights; over vast deserts they have traveled, up into the wilderness of mountains, and into the mighty Canyon of Gold. Even today in these men still hear of the great lost mine and its fabulous wealth in raw gold.

The picture was shown at the Gaiety Theatre last night and will have its final showing tonight.

Progs. Who Forced Low Rates Now Oppose Maritime Claims

In a special despatch to the Montreal Standard from Ottawa, the following is of interest to the Maritimes:

"When John Evans, who has apparently become the leader of the Progressive remnant from the west, dramatically advised Parliament that legislation based on the Duncan report would reduce the Maritimes to the status of passers and make them wards of the Dominion," the Maritime members were little concerned, though Mr. Evans' remarks will probably create a storm of indignation among Maritime folk who never heard of him before.

It happens that the Progressive argument against Maritime claims was that it would be very perilous to establish the precedent of government or parliamentary interference with any railway rates sanctioned by the Board of Railway Commissioners. This was an interesting argument to proceed from the Progressives who forced the Government and Parliament in 1923 to restore the pre-war rates on grain and grain products.

"Mr. Forke boasted that this proof of the Progressive political power saved the western grain growers $20,000,000 a year, a sum that would look large to the Maritimes. Moreover, Hon. Mr. Gahan on two successive years submitted statistics to the House showing that the two big railways, if they had received similar rates on grain products to those charged by American western roads, would have earned in their territory west of Port William, $20,000,000 a year more than they actually did from moving grain and grain products in their western territory west of Port William, $20,000,000, or six millions a year, a loss that had to be made up by high rates on other traffic or the taxpayer. And a fair rate must earn more than operating expenses."

"On the other side of the ledger of the 'Maritime Righters' said their fight would be based on the admission of Mr. Forke that the restoration of pre-war rates on grain and grain products was equivalent to a bonus or subsidy of $20,000,000 to the prairie farmers."

Mr. Sawyer's prophecy will be fulfilled at a much earlier date.

During the financial year 1925-26, the commission was enabled to concentrate upon the creation of an extensive network of metropolitan high-tension distribution which is now well advanced. The result has been a steady increase in revenue. Recent financial results have justified the commission stating that from now on the undertaking will earn sufficient to pay the entire cost of operation (including administration and overheads), together with the entire interest liability and interest upon the accumulated deficit. Thus the fear that the enterprise might ultimately become a burden upon the taxpayer has been extinguished once and for all.

The total amount of electrical energy actually sold to consumers in October was 19,000,000 kilowatt-hours. The additional output which the market is capable of absorbing in the immediate future is 5,000,000 kilowatt-hours a month, although such further increase of load will by no means exhaust the capacity of the system. In the next year an increase in revenue of $200,000 is expected.

The decision to invite this report was reached as the result of anxiety expressed by Parliament and the people concerning the ultimate financial results of the State's investment.

Mr. Sawyer, after going exhaustedly into all aspects of the scheme, reported that the undertaking was fundamentally sound, but he was of the opinion that it would not pay its way until 1930. Now, however, according to a declaration by Sir John Monahan, the chairman of the Electricity Commission, there is a good prospect that

GOOD CONTEST IS EXPECTED TONIGHT

Mount Allison and Y. M. C. A. Will Meet in Basketball Game

The Mount Allison basketball team will make its initial appearance on a local floor when they meet the Y. M. C. A. quintette at the "Y" at nine o'clock tonight. The game should be one of the best of the season as the locals have a fast aggregation and the Mounties are favored to come through with the intercollegiate crown.

Practically all of last year's Mount A. team will go into action tonight with the addition of several newcomers. Bill Lee, last year with the Trojans, is a member of the Mount A. team this year. Ray Smith, one of the best all-around athletes in the Maritimes and star of the team for the last three years, will also wear the Garnet and Gold uniform tonight.

The Y team has been practicing hard for the contest and when the game opens will be ready to take the measure of the collegians. The game will mark the first appearance of an outside team in Saint John this season.

Starts Suit Against Leopold and Loeb

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Attorneys for Charles Ream, Chicago, yesterday announced that they will seek writs of habeas corpus at Joliet to have Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, slayers of Robert Frank, produced in court there.

Ream has brought suit against the two youths who are serving life sentences for the Frank slaying, charging that they mutilated him here in November 1923, and asking $100,000 damages. If the writs are issued, and the two are brought into court, it will be Loeb's first trip outside the prison since he went there more than two years ago. Leopold was taken to court in November to testify at the trial of six convicts convicted of the murder of a deputy warden.

Missionaries Trust Themselves To People

TORONTO, Jan. 4.—Cabled information received at United Church offices here yesterday from Rev. E. W. Dr. E. S. Wilford of Byth, Ont., the cable further states, is escorting a party of women's missionary society workers across country from Luchow to Chengtu, capital of Szechuan Province, a journey of eight days by sedan chair along the famous "little road" of Szechuan.

Dorothy Dix

"As a Matter of Romance, as Well as Common Sense, Six Months is the Limit of an Engagement, and Three Months is Better, for Long Waiting Rubs the Bloom Off Marriage," Advises Dorothy Dix.

HOW long should a couple be engaged? Just long enough to get well acquainted with each other and not long enough to wear off the romance.

The couple who meet on a railroad train and stop off at the first station to get married are no more foolish and do not stand much less chance of happiness than the couple who are engaged several years and who drag their love affair out until it is so attenuated that it breaks when the first strain is put upon it.

A MAN has no business to ask a girl to marry him until he is in a position to name the wedding day and the girl is a fool if she accepts him and ties herself down to a bargain that is bound to be a losing one for her.

Not does the long engagement work out more happily for the man than it does for the woman.

SOME of the most pathetic tragedies in the world have been the result of a boy who is starting out in the world to seek his fortune binding himself to marry some village sweetheart.

He went his way. He developed. He grew. He met brilliant and sophisticated women who were fitting mates for the man he had become.

But he had tied a halter around his neck when he had engaged himself to the little girl back home and it drew him back to his doom. In all honor he felt that he was bound to marry the woman who had waited for him and who had thus set herself off from marrying anybody else.

HE WOULD sooner have gone to his own funeral than to his wedding, but heroically he made the sacrifice that doomed them both to a life of wretchedness. For there is no other misery in the world to that endured by a couple who have nothing else in common but the marriage tie.

IN MATRIMONY most persons have, at least, the peace that comes from possession and having things settled. They also acquire a certain philosophy which enables them to make the best of each other. On the other hand, an engagement, from its very nature, is a season of long-drawn-out suspense and anxiety that is full of tears, suspicions and jealousies.

THE man and the woman have no real rights, no tangible hold on each other. Therefore, they are on the watchtower, forever on the lookout for danger, real or fanciful. In every abstract word they perceive deep, dark and sinister meanings. Every attractive woman or man that crosses their path they behold with green eyes.

Each one is forever suspecting the other of growing weary and wanting to call the bargain off and it generally ends by both parties growing dead tired and disenchanted.

THEY have seen too much of each other to keep at the high tension of lovers and not enough to develop the comradeship of husband and wife. Each has tried to boss the other without the authority and privileges that matrimony gives and somehow, between them, they have torn the very chiton of courtship into tatters.

AS A MATTER of romance, as well as common sense, six months is the limit of an engagement and three months is better, for the long engagement makes for nothing but disappointment, heartbreak and anxiety and it rubs the gilt off the gingerbread of matrimony as nothing else does.

FAR better it is for the man to pick out the woman he wants at the time he is ready to marry her, than to enter into a long-time contract to take an article that may be showpans and concerning which his taste may change long before he gets her.

IT IS true that Jacob served and waited twice seven years for Rachel, but in those days men weren't restricted to one wife as they are today.

A SUGGESTION FOR THE NEW YEAR

See-Sawing On Broadway

SEE-SAWING up and down Broadway, I noted the urchins of that highway taking possession of the great Christmas tree that has stood in Times Square for many days and which, now that Christmas is over, will gradually wither under the glare of a million arc lights.

And I have pondered more than once as I shoved and pushed with the rest of the theatre about just what the tree would think about—if it could think—to find itself transplanted thus.

It has seemed to me that, perhaps, the thoughts would be something like this: "I am the tree they brought to Broadway. From my tip glitters a small gold star of Bethlehem. But who is to see it? The star is eclipsed by all the garish glow of these night signs about me. But more than that, it is eclipsed by the moods and moods of the mob."

"Those who see it may wonder why it is not a bigger-and-better star, thrusting its electric rays to the extinction of all other lights. It is not lighted, for no symbol ever is. But men don't care what it symbolizes. Or, if they care, they know what the toothpaste sign and the chewing gum sign symbolizes. That is certain. These are symbols of trade and the get-ahead spirit."

"I am the tree they brought to Broadway! I do not belong here. Somehow I feel more out of place than—no, there are others more out of place here than I. They're the children of the street, who climb to the stand on which they have put me and stare at me, as though I were a freak."

"They are enchanted by the baubles they have hung upon me. They do not get my message. My message is that of the quiet and peaceful hill-sides and those who see me in my native soil can see the Bethlehem star more clearly."

"Why are these children at my roots? The hour is late. The streets are traffic jammed, as was a stream once below my hillside. The stream became torrential with the damming and swaying away all things in its course. So it is with the street on which I stand."

"The children who play at my base have faces old as the world. They have clothes as shabby. They have homes of sorts, I suppose. They have not the minds of children. They have the cunning and shrewd-mindedness of men in child bodies."

"They look at me and wonder and I wonder, too. I wonder if they have ever been to my forest, or any other forest and looked in awe and felt the stillness and the peace and the kinship with the earth?"

"There is no earth here. There is no peace, no rest. What are the children doing here? Are they not, like myself, thrust here without the asking, without the desire, without knowing why, to struggle with unnatural forces and thus to grow old soon—oh, too soon—and, hence to wither without blossoming?"

"I am the tree they brought to Broadway. What am I doing here? Why are all these lights? Why are all these people pushing and shoving when somewhere there is a hillside and the breath of pine and peach and rest?"

"I am the tree they brought to Broadway."

Health Service

Girl Who Starves Body Flirts With Death

By DR. MORRIS FISHER. THE crass for a boyish figure is undermining the health of the American woman. Women are dieting to an extreme to keep their proportions within the "current mode."

Dieting in most cases is not intelligently done. Lettuce and hard-boiled eggs are not enough; such a regimen robs the body of necessary vitamins. The body cannot build up with such a diet, and the woman makes herself thereby more susceptible to colds and other illnesses.

Malnutrition has greatly increased the toll of tuberculosis among young girls in New York. Any woman who lets her body go undernourished is flirting with tubercular trouble and other serious diseases.

There is another side to diet, however. Insurance companies have found that overweight after middle life decreases life expectancy and is associated with high blood pressure, kidney ailments and disturbances of the blood vessels.

A person dieting intelligently must know the weight proper to age, racial type, height and activity.

The Rhyming Optimist

BY ALINE MICHAELS. Your enemies are not, as long ago in childhood's days, you fancied they would be, the cruel tyrant and the cunning foe who sought to hold you by their mastery. In childhood's days you tried a fairy world where witchcraft flourished and brave knights rode by, with stainless banners never to be furled, a gleam against the glory of the sky.

Your enemies walk not among men's race, though in life's prime you thought this must be true, and, as you trace, you reckoned griefs one caused, fill one might do. Your enemies, in truth, lie hidden there within your bosom, lest the world might see. Their names? Hate, envy, malice and despair, if all that train that vex man's destiny.

MENUS For the Family

MENU HINT Making appetizing dishes of the leftovers is a problem in many households. Shepherd's Pie is one good way to use up meat and mashed potatoes, too. Any kind of meat might be used up in this way.

TODAY'S RECIPES. Shepherd's Pie—Chop cold cooked lamb and mix with 1/2 left over gravy. Dot the meat with butter, and bake in a casserole covered with hot mashed potatoes, a beaten egg yolk mixed with two teaspoons of cold water, also spread over the lamb. When the potatoes are evenly browned remove from the oven and serve.

USE WHOLE WHEAT. Brownies and other cookies gain a new deliciousness of flavor when whole wheat flour is used in their composition. Remember never to sift whole wheat flour. Gingerbread is very nice when whole wheat flour is used. It may be used as dessert served with apple and hard sauce. For the sauce: One-quarter cup butter, one egg-white, two-thirds cup powdered sugar, one-half teaspoon vanilla or one tablespoon orange juice.

PAINT CURTAINS ON WINDOWS. Another fashionable fad is to take down the ordinary window curtains and have imitation curtains painted on the windows. The fad was started by Mrs. William-Phillips, St. Louis Strachey's novelist daughter, who has such painted curtains at her house in Chelsea, England. Her bright blue-walled drawing room has an amusing doll-house effect given to it by the painted windows.

FOR Stomach Acid PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA For fifty years genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, if neutralized acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

INSIST UPON "PHILLIPS" Each bottle contains full directions. Any druggist.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

By GILBERT PICKARD. THAT Russia today offers an unparalleled market for the American film producer is the belief of Leon S. Zamkovoy, general director in this country of the film business of the Russian Soviet.

While we, in this country, attack such films as "Potemkin," branding them Soviet propaganda, Russians are welcoming our pictures as an aid to education of the masses.

In an interview Zamkovoy says: "With the awakening of a new spirit in the Russian masses and the widespread attack on illiteracy, which has been startlingly successful, there seems to be an insatiable demand for knowledge and culture of all kinds. America, in the main, represents to the Russian trend of thought. I would suggest that a delegation be sent to Russia selected from the major producing companies of the United States, so that a close and comprehensive study might be made of the possibilities and necessities in the Russian cinema field."

"Not only is there an unlimited outlet for American motion pictures properly adapted to our needs in Russia, but Russia also offers a splendid background for the original production of films, particularly those with Russian atmosphere. And I have no doubt that we would co-operate with any group which would want to undertake a program of production in Russia working in close interchange of ideas and suggestions with our studios and directors."

Among Colleen Moore's productions in 1927 will be "Naughty But Nice," a comedy in an exclusive girls' finishing school, and "Oh, What a Life!" which sets forth the adventures of Colleen as a performer in a itinerant theatrical troupe and a printer's devil in a small town newspaper office.

Chester Conklin will support Ramon Novarro in "Old Heidelberg," which Ernest Lubitsch is to direct for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Flapper Fanny Says Hubby may think he has the last word—but how long does it last? If WE had been Noah when he was offering sanctuary to various unsheltered creatures that time, we'd have had a final reckoning with the ant right then and there.

SMALL BRITISH FORCE HOLDS BACK COOLIES

Check Thousands Without a Single Shot Being Fired

HANKOW, Jan. 3.—A handful of British fighting men, without firing a shot today held in check an infuriated mob of several thousand Chinese coolies who attempted to charge into the British concession district of this city of interior China.

Incited by anti-British speeches at a New Year's celebration on the banks of the Yangtze River, the horde of yelling Chinese moved against the British quarter. In their path were a few British policemen and they stood their ground when stoned.

Twenty sailors of British warships in the Yangtze joined the mob. They fired bayonets to their rifles, and they used their rifles as clubs in exchanging blows with the charging mob, but they did not fire. Marines hastily landed, reinforced the little British party.

3. DEFENDERS WOUNDED. Three of the British defending the concession were wounded and taken to hospitals. Twenty coolies bore down on one sailor, wrested his rifle from him and bayoneted him. Using long poles the Chinese badly beat two other sailors.

For more than four hours the thin British line held protecting their civilian men, women and children kinfolk. Then at nightfall, came a belated relief. From the river came British soldiers who dispersed the mob.

Agitators had addressed thousands of Chinese gathered at the border of the British concession along the Yangtze River as part of the New Year holiday celebration. They urged them to attack the concession in which the British lived.

One of the British acts employed by the Chinese anti-foreign agitators to incite mob violence was the seizure of two British merchant ships sailing by Chinese soldiers of the northern army were fired upon and a score of British killed or wounded.

The Chinese claimed that the British fire killed 2,000 Chinese, while the British asserted approximately 800 Chinese were killed or wounded.

Democrats Raise Nicaraguan Issue and Assail Policy There

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Contending that the Diaz Government in Nicaragua never should have been recognized by the United States Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, introduced a resolution today demanding the immediate withdrawal of the United States naval forces from that country.

The measure charged that the United States sailors and marines were blocking the efforts of "Dr. Juan Sanchez to restore constitutional government."

The order of Rear-Admiral Letimer in declaring Puerto Cabezas a neutral zone and the establishment of a censorship there were cited as "hindrances" to the Sanchez movement's success.

The Diaz government, it was charged in the resolution, was illegally elected, and "it must have been apparent to the state department that Diaz could not maintain a stable government without the aid of American gunboats and American marines."

BRUCE TALKS OF NAVAL PLANS

Australia's Programme Discussed by Prime Minister

OTTAWA, Jan. 3.—Australia's feeling is that she should provide for her own defense. Premier Stanley M. Bruce told a gathering of newspaper men here today.

With this end in view the Commonwealth, he said, had embarked on a 5-year program, involving the construction of two 10,000-ton cruisers, two ocean going submarines, a sea-plane carrier, and was also making a contribution of approximately seven million pounds to the building of a floating dry dock.

In addition to the 5-year construction program outlined, the Commonwealth had adopted a policy in 1923 which involved the expenditure of about one million pounds annually for five years for defense purposes.

AUSTRALIAN UNIT. Premier Bruce said that while the Australian ships would co-operate with the British navy they were nevertheless a part of what he termed "the Australian unit."

There was an exchange of officers, and also sometimes of ships with the British navy, because such an arrangement was found to be advantageous.

With regard to the establishment of the British Naval base at Singapore, he stated that Australia was much interested and strongly in favor of this aid. Originally, when the project was under consideration by the British Government, it had been the intention of the Australian Government to contribute to the cost of the Singapore base.

When the government of Ramsay MacDonald turned the proposal down, however, Australia had made commitments for defense, which made it very difficult to give any aid to the work at Singapore.

NO TREATY REVISION. Premier Bruce said that he had heard nothing about a revision of the Canada-Australia trade treaty. He was asked if he thought that he considered it a violation of the treaty to invoke the anti-dumping clause of the Canadian Customs Act with regard, for instance, to butter importation.

He said this must depend on circumstances. Contrary to some belief in Canada, there was no state aid to the butter industry in Australia, he declared. There was only co-operative aid among the butter manufacturers themselves. So far as the Australian tariff against Canadian agricultural implements was concerned, Premier Bruce observed that tariffs in the Commonwealth are not set by the government but by a tariff commission.

From the commission they go to parliament for approval.

BRITISH UNIONS AIM TO DRIVE OUT REDS LONDON, Jan. 3.—The Daily Express says the most influential of Great Britain's moderate Labor leaders have decided to declare open war against the Communists in the trade unions.

The reported decision is due to the fact of the extremist minority starting a campaign to undermine the official leaders of the union, the paper adds. The campaign against the Communists, it undertakes, will be launched immediately after a conference of trade union executives to be held Jan. 20 and 21.

MAN OF RESTORED MEMORY A FAKE Presence of Toe Discredits Story That He is Long-lost Frank Burgess

TRURO, N. S., Jan. 3.—Police and physicians were baffled tonight by the stories told them by a stocky, middle-aged man, who reported at the station yesterday, declaring that he had just recovered his memory after a 30-year lapse and that he was Frank Burgess and that he was living in Centerburg, Ontario, who had been set down from a sailing ship at Gibraltar, thirty years ago, believed dead of yellow fever.

An aged mother at Centerburg ton was advised of the story last night by long-distance telephone and said that her son, Frank, had been reported dead at Gibraltar 30 years ago and his effects had been sent to her. Today a member of the family, Arthur Burgess, a cousin, traveled to Truro, while the 80-year-old mother waited in suspense to identify the returned prodigal who, if he was sincere, was a son returned from the dead. The cousin identified the man at the Truro jail as Lewis Burgess, a cousin of Frank, whose home was Bridgeport, Conn.

and was immediately asked by Harry, brother of Lewis, not to bring the wanderer to his home, but to send him back to his own family, as he already had his hands full.

In the meantime the stranger in the Truro jail calmly accepts the latest developments. He claims that he has been a wanderer of the world for 30 years following a remarkable recovery from yellow fever at Gibraltar, where he had been landed from a sailing vessel as dead.

On being told that he had been recognized as Lewis Burgess, he retired to the basement of the jail to think.

WAS MINUS ONE TOE

The Frank Burgess who sailed away from Nova Scotia 30 years ago to bring back a bride from New South Wales was minus a toe, lost in a childhood accident. Arthur Burgess' first action when he visited the man in the Truro jail today was to ask for a sight of the bare foot of the man posing as his cousin Frank. All digits were present and correct.

RECOVERS MORE MEMORY

There he walked the corridors for some time and when he returned he seemed to have recovered much of his lost memory. He declared that he had known Lewis Burgess in New Rochelle and had seen him killed in a motor car accident. He had also attended his funeral.

As for himself, his newly recovered memory told him that he had worked in a number of New England cities. He recalled having been knocked on the head by a piece of falling timber in New Haven, of being operated upon never mentioned to Mr. Cullen that he had been a seafaring man. Strong and sturdy and proud of his strength, the man had not made good as a wood cutter. Mr. Cullen took him on as a piece worker on the "grubstake" basis, but the man was in debt when he left, not being a prolific woodcutter.

Efforts are being made to ascertain the present whereabouts of Lewis Burgess, the member of the family who lives in Bridgeport, and who this man greatly resembles.

SMALL BRITISH FORCE HOLDS BACK COOLIES

HANKOW, Jan. 3.—A handful of British fighting men, without firing a shot today held in check an infuriated mob of several thousand Chinese coolies who attempted to charge into the British concession district of this city of interior China.

Incited by anti-British speeches at a New Year's celebration on the banks of the Yangtze River, the horde of yelling Chinese moved against the British quarter. In their path were a few British policemen and they stood their ground when stoned.

Twenty sailors of British warships in the Yangtze joined the mob. They fixed bayonets to their rifles, and they used their rifles as clubs in exchanging blows with the charging mob, but they did not fire. Marines hastily landed, reinforced the little British party.

3. DEFENDERS WOUNDED. Three of the British defending the concession were wounded and taken to hospitals. Twenty coolies bore down on one sailor, wrested his rifle from him and bayoneted him. Using long poles the Chinese badly beat two other sailors.

For more than four hours the thin British line held protecting their civilian men, women and children kinfolk. Then at nightfall, came a belated relief. From the river came British soldiers who dispersed the mob.

Agitators had addressed thousands of Chinese gathered at the border of the British concession along the Yangtze River as part of the New Year holiday celebration. They urged them to attack the concession in which the British lived.

One of the British acts employed by the Chinese anti-foreign agitators to incite mob violence was the seizure of two British merchant ships sailing by Chinese soldiers of the northern army were fired upon and a score of British killed or wounded.

The Chinese claimed that the British fire killed 2,000 Chinese, while the British asserted approximately 800 Chinese were killed or wounded.

Democrats Raise Nicaraguan Issue and Assail Policy There

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Contending that the Diaz Government in Nicaragua never should have been recognized by the United States Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, introduced a resolution today demanding the immediate withdrawal of the United States naval forces from that country.

The measure charged that the United States sailors and marines were blocking the efforts of "Dr. Juan Sanchez to restore constitutional government."

The order of Rear-Admiral Letimer in declaring Puerto Cabezas a neutral zone and the establishment of a censorship there were cited as "hindrances" to the Sanchez movement's success.

The Diaz government, it was charged in the resolution, was illegally elected, and "it must have been apparent to the state department that Diaz could not maintain a stable government without the aid of American gunboats and American marines."

SPAR COVE LAD

Douglas Williams Collapses
After All Night in Woods

Police Carry Stretcher to Scene as Patrol Progress
Bloked

ONCE again has the dog proven his right to the title of man's friend. As the result of the actions of dogs owned by John Hannah of Boar's Head road near the city, sixteen-year-old Douglas Williams, of Spar Cove road, is now in the General Public Hospital, being cared for, whereas otherwise his lifeless body might have been found in a snow-covered field.

The lad's condition was such today that his story could not be secured from him but it is believed that he had been overcome while out at his trap line and that he had spent a night of severe suffering.

Young Williams was found unconscious lying in a field off the Boar's Head road about 9:30 o'clock this morning by Mrs. Hannah, wife of John Hannah, who resides there. Attention was first drawn to him by the action of dogs owned by the Hannah household.

Mrs. Hannah telephoned to the North End police station and Sergeant Rankine and Policeman McFarlane responded in the police patrol. Owing to the conditions they were able to go only about 100 yards off the Boar's Head road, but leaving the patrol, they walked the rest of the way, carrying a stretcher.

All right in woods. The officers were there, a brother of Williams and two other boys came to the house and identified the unconscious youth. The brother said that Williams had been out looking after traps and had been away from home since yesterday, and from his condition this morning it was thought that he had spent the night in the woods.

A horse was hitched to a sleigh by Mr. Hannah and Williams was taken to the patrol and removed to the General Public Hospital. This afternoon the lad was still unconscious.

Prospects Darkened by Inability to Reach Terms of Agreement

The prospects of the eminent English actor, Matheson Lang, and his excellent company being seen in Saint John prior to its departure after a tour in Canada, have been considerably darkened by the last 24 hours through telegraphic communication. Mr. Lang insists on large guarantees for each performance which local parties interested say would make the enterprise too risky in the light of present-day conditions. Terms were offered Mr. Lang better than any previous attraction of his calibre with equal chances as to the response of the public, but the British star insisted upon a guarantee.

Mr. Lang and company are booked to leave by this port Jan. 26 by C. P. R. liner Melita, with two days to spend before embarking. The plays Mr. Lang suggests touring here if booked are "A Chinese Bungalow" and "The Wandering Jew." While the expense of the travelling troupe are said to be high, it is claimed by local parties proportionately high costs would be entailed in staging it. It was stated that the engagement of Sir John Martin-Harvey several years ago was financially unsuccessful because of opposition on the part of the public and high cost of presentation.

Auctioneer Heckled by Gathering at Proceedings This Morning

SMALL BIDS MARK SOME OF THE SALES

Receipts This Year $6,425, Compared With $4,580 in 1926

The city today received $1,684.60 more for the Saint John fishery privileges than it did one year ago, there being received this year $6,425.15, as compared with $4,580.55 in 1926. The bidding this morning was at times lively and at the protection of the city, several of 10 cents being offered when the sums involved were quite large. At other times the bids would be $1 and then jump to $25 or 50.

There was considerable heckling of the auctioneer, but all of a good-natured kind, and quite a lot of objection to the auctioneer starting certain lots without an audible bid from the gathering and his refusing to say whether it was an upset price or not.

COMPETITOR WARNS.
The buyer of No. 7 lot, West Shore, was warned by his competitor that he could not fish it, and Mr. Lord, who bought the privilege, called the attention of the auctioneer and city commissioners to what he called "threats" and said he was buying the lot under the protection of the city. Several of those present called out that the city did not give any protection to those buying lots.

FIRST IS QUESTIONED.
The first lot put up was 1, 2, 7 on West Shore, and the auctioneer announced that he had a bid of $1,000, the amount paid for his lot last year. F. Belyea asked whether this was a bid or an upset price. The auctioneer did not answer the question, but said the auctioneer in charge of the sale could conduct it as he thought best. Finally he said it was a tender, and Mr. Belyea returned that this was an auction.

TWO WITHDRAWN.
Two lots were withdrawn in the process of the sale, lot K, West Side Flats, and lot C, Courtenay Bay. These were put and the buyer given the choice of one or both. McCormack & Zatzman won in the duel with Belyea and took lot K at $100. Courtenay Bay lot was then put up and sold to J. Fred Belyea for $26. Commissioner Bullock was in charge of the proceedings and W. A. Steiner was auctioneer. Mayor White and Commissioners Wigmore, Frink and Harding, the common clerk, city chamberlain and assistant cashier were also present.

Before beginning the sale the auctioneer read the notice of sale published in the press and a copy of the city by-law calling attention to the fact that the city did not undertake to pay any purchaser in possession of the lots purchased and was only selling what ever right the city might have in the lots.

REGRETS DEATH OF INSPECTOR CAPLES

Alex Chisholm, Former Policeman Here, Also Has Praise
For New Official

Alex Chisholm, for some years a popular and efficient member of the Saint John police force, is now conducting business for himself as a barber at 522 Queen street, Toronto. It is disclosed in a letter to a Saint John friend. The reason for the writing of his letter was to express his regret at the news of the death of Police Inspector Thomas Caples, about which he had read in the Times-Star. He paid a tribute to Mr. Caples as "one of the best officers I ever worked under. He was always ready to give advice to help the police in their duties, and I think I have lost a great friend, and I sympathize with his family in their great loss."

Dr. Stanley Kirkland, radiographer in the General Public Hospital who took X-ray of the shoulder of Mrs. Fred Cashwell, of Union street, suffering from a pistol shot in the shoulder for which her husband is detained by the police, found today that the 22-calibre bullet had entered the body at the back of the left shoulder, passed through the right shoulder, and traversed the fleshy portion of the top of the shoulder lodging at the base of the neck. Evidently, it was said, the pistol had been held in an upward position to cause the leaden pellet to take this course.

With the radiographic report before them, hospital surgeons at noon today contemplated probing for the bullet during the afternoon. The injured woman was not suffering greatly, though weakened somewhat from loss of blood.

Funerals

The funeral of Mrs. John A. Owens took place this morning from her late residence, 98 Coburg street, to the Cathedral for requiem high mass by Rev. R. M. McDonald, D. D. Rev. F. Walker, and Rev. R. McGillivray were in the sanctuary. Interment was made in the old Catholic cemetery.

Benjamin H. Dean.
The funeral of Benjamin H. Dean was held this afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, William H. Turner, 438 Main street. Rev. E. Styles conducted service and interment was made in Fernhill.

Cashwell Is Before Magistrate
This Morning and
Is Remanded

CHARGED with shooting and wounding and doing grievous bodily harm to his wife, in their home at 193 1/2 Union street, Frederick Cashwell, aged 30 years, appeared in the Police Court this morning and, at the request of his counsel, William M. Ryan, was remanded until his wife may be able to give evidence.

The accused was not asked to plead. The detective department this morning reported that empty shells had been found on the floor of the house but there were no signs of previous shooting and it was presumed that the gun had been used before and the shells not ejected.

When asked regarding a report of their being interfered with by a dog in the house, the detectives said they had read in the Times-Star that the dog had been used before and the shells not ejected.

HER KAUGHT, 15, BLAMES GIRL, 18, FOR ELOPEMENT

Youth Pleased While Funds Were High on Costly Lark

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—For several years, Mildred Senter, 18 years old, has been entrusted with many duties by her mother, Mrs. Rose Senter, at their home at 300 Kent street, Brooklyn. In addition to her household work, which included sweeping, cooking and making beds for her six strapping brothers, longshoremen all, Mildred was the liaison officer between the world which speaks English and her mother, who speaks only Italian. This entitled the girl of bank messenger.

The Senter family was prosperous, but to Mildred a bit frugal. Most of the earnings went to a savings bank in Greenpoint. Nothing went for trills, whereas Mildred, her ears attuned to the American standards, had heard from her schoolmates of many nice things to have.

And there was John Boros. He is only 15 years old, her knight and Mildred adored him.

FUND SHORTAGE PROVIDES CUE

Except for the fact that Mildred ran out of money, the detectives who took her to the Bridge Plaza Court and John to the Children's Society might never have found them.

Mildred went to the savings bank with her mother on November 23. There she is said to have made out a withdrawal slip for $2,200, whereas her mother, unknowing, wanted merely $200. The bobbed-haired daughter of the Senter gave $200 to her mother, deposited the other $1,800 in her own account and withdrew $1,800 of it soon afterward.

And the same day, according to John, who left his home with his $10 in savings and returned with the $10 and a bit more, Mildred left her home, eyes shining, to his house. He was alone. Mildred, he said, declared that she had lots of money and wanted him to fly with her anywhere—Asbury Park or Atlantic City—any of the places she had been pictured as resorts of ease and gayety.

"You're crazy," was John's unkindly answer.

Mildred stamped and then threw down the floor, he said. John didn't know what to do. So they departed.

MONTH OF SEARCHING FUTILE

A month of searching failed to find the pair. Last Wednesday police authorities received a letter from Mildred telling them to send the remainder of her account to 1102 Bangor avenue, Asbury Park, in care of Mr. and Mrs. John Saco.

Mildred had had her fling, the police say. Nothing was too good for her or for John until the money ran out. In their room at Asbury Park signs of all the elegance for which Mildred had longed were found. The room was furnished in wicker. A new talking machine and radio were at hand to furnish them with music from the best artists.

An ample supply of silk stockings and fine dresses was found in the room by Detectives Cosgrove and Stern, who were sent to bring the lady home.

Could Not Sleep Heart and Nerves Were So Bad

Mr. Geo. Meek, Windsor, Ont. writes: "I suffered my heart and nerves and could not sleep at night for notes in my head. I managed to keep at my work somehow until I got so bad I could not go to my work. I was afraid to go out any place, for very often I would stagger on my feet, and everything in front of me would turn black and fade away."

I got four boxes and by the time I had used them the pains and notes in my head ceased and I was able to get a good night's rest. Although this medicine is sold in every drug store, I have never been troubled with that complaint again."

and her knight back to Brooklyn. Mildred had escaped her drudgery and they had lived life to its fullest at Asbury Park and Atlantic City. One thing rankled Mildred on her return trip. John put the blame on her. That was to her an unkindness. Mildred had only 50 cents, while John had his original capital and more. Her knight admitted he had had a pleasant time.

HARRY V. YORK

Harry V. York passed away at the Saint John County Hospital on Sunday, Jan. 2, aged 27 years, and his death will be very keenly regretted by many friends throughout the province. Mr. York was a native of Ontario, having been born in Panmure in that province on March 21, 1899. He was a son of Charles and Ellen York. His first wife was Sarah Ann York, who died on Saint John about eight years ago and was at one time an agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the province.

Word has been received in Saint John of the death of W. C. Miller, aged 27 years, and his death is sorely missed by many friends. Mr. Miller died on Sunday, after a brief illness of pneumonia. He has left a wife and three children, aged 10, 8 and 6 years. He filled very ably the arduous position which he held. Saint John friends greatly regret to learn of his death.

Mrs. G. Harley White

SHEDEAC, Jan. 3.—Word of the sudden death of Mrs. G. Harley White, of Sussex, was received here by general regret. Mrs. White was formerly Miss Laura McFadden and after a dozen years or more was a resident of Shediac. She was active in the Sons of Temperance and in the Methodist church. She had been worthy associate of Shediac Division No. 28, Sons of Temperance and had held other offices.

$150,000 COUP AT MONTE CARLO

First Heavy Gambling at Resort Ends Dramatically

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The first heavy gambling of the season at Monte Carlo ended in a dramatic coup. The famous "Bank of Monte Carlo" was broken twice in one afternoon, and amid intense excitement, gamblers went away with not less than $150,000. The coup was worked against a Trente-et-Quarante table in the Salle Privee, and the winners were a group of four Austrians and half a dozen English men and women.

At news of the run, people poured in from all parts of the resort, and at one time there were nearly 200 struggling to pile their money on the table. Trente-et-Quarante is played with six packs of cards (the Talles) shuffled together and dealt out by the croupier in two rows, each of which must total up in "pip" (court cards count 10) to about 30 (treinte), but under 40 (quarante). As soon as a row counts to over 30, that row is complete. The first row is counted as "black" and the second row "red." The row nearest to 30 wins.

In the whole "table" of the cards black turned up only twice, and there was one "Eprez"—black and red equal in number. As soon as there seemed a likelihood of red "running," players began to stake heavily against the bank. At the tenth coup there were over 500,000 francs staked on the red side of the table—with not even the minimum 20-franc piece on black.

During this coup a pin could have been heard to drop, for the first row (black) counted up to 32, invariably a probable winner, and the first two cards turned up by the croupier in the second row were "court" cards. But a sudden change of small cards went to one "pip" beyond the treinte (i.e. the second row was 31, and the red had won again.) That "pip" cost the bank $25,000.

York County Council Annual Meet Today

FREDERICTON, Jan. 3.—The municipal council of York county will be in session Tuesday afternoon to open the semi-annual meeting. The chief feature will be the election of the warden. Councillor W. C. ASK FREDERICTON FOR FINANCIAL AID

U. N. B. Delegation Urge Adoption of Sir George Foster Scheme

FREDERICTON, Jan. 3.—The city council meeting in committee tonight heard a delegation on behalf of the University of New Brunswick. The delegation was composed of Dr. C. C. Jones, chairman; H. C. D. Richards, C. McN. Steeves, J. B. McNair and J. M. LeMont. All members of the delegation spoke and presented the claims of the university for financial assistance in connection with the endowment fund.

It was pointed out that the attendance of the university had increased materially within the last few years and that the amount of money expended in the city on behalf of the university amounted to a considerable sum each year.

CONSIDERATION GOES OVER.—Tonight's meeting is the last of the outgoing council and on that account it was considered advisable to postpone consideration of the request until the incoming council is organized.

Club Organized At Campobello

CAMPOBELLO, Jan. 3.—A Men's Club has recently been organized under the leadership of Rev. F. W. Bacon, assisted by Dexter P. Cooper. The club assembles twice a month, on Wednesday nights, in the new Community Hall.

On Wednesday night last there was a full attendance of the members and a very interesting program was carried out. In addition to several other musical numbers there were quartette selections by Messrs. Milton Townsend, J. Vennell, Everett Calder and Milton Watson. Opening remarks were made by Rev. F. W. Bacon.

A letter of respect and encouragement received from Howard Murchie, District Governor of Rotary, St. Stephen, was read before the club. A. M. Pike of Lunenburg, Me., gave a very interesting talk on the raising of a submarine in the harbor of New York, while a splendid lecture on the fishing in Passamaquoddy waters was given by Inspector of Fisheries J. F. Calder. Not the least interesting address of the evening was that given by Captain Arthur Mitchell dealing with the noted Sable Island.

The proceedings were enlivened by humorous sketches by John Vennell. A vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Watson who presided at the piano and before the meeting closed a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the next meeting.

Man About To Hang Stabs Two Wardens

ISTIT, Jugo Slavia, Jan. 3.—Two prison wardens were stabbed today by a Bulgarian irregular, Stojan Stojew, as they were leading him to the gallows.

A dagger had been artfully concealed in the prisoner's clothing and he used it suddenly and effectively. Guards threw themselves upon him, trussed him up and hanged him. Prior to leaving the prison the Bulgarian asked for permission to give a farewell embrace to his cell companion. Thereupon he proceeded to bite the man's cheek savagely. "He betrayed me," explained Stojew.

MONTEAL WEAVER BLAMED BY JURY

Youth Refuses to Lift Head to View Axe and Other Evidence

MONTEAL, Jan. 3.—Gerald Filiatrait, 22, a weaver, was held criminally responsible for the death of Fabien Martin, grocer, by a coroner's jury here today. Martin was found dead in the store early Friday morning with his head crushed in and his throat slit from ear to ear. Filiatrait was taken into custody shortly after the killing. One thousand dollars, the same amount as was taken from the victim, was also recovered.

Young Filiatrait, scarcely five feet tall, weighing little over 100 pounds, had to be half-carried into the courtroom. He sat on a front bench with his forehead clasped in his left hand, which he supported with his right on his crossed knees.

Throughout the short hearing he refused to lift his head to view the blood-stained evidence, which included an axe. He spoke only on one occasion. "What is your name?" asked Coroner McMahon.

Aged Man Rescued In Perilous Plight

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 3.—On edge of a deep railway cut where hundreds of motor cars pass on the bridge above and trains roar along the tracks below, an aged man with his foot caught by a steel cable hung head downwards all Sunday night. His cries were unheard in the roar of the traffic.

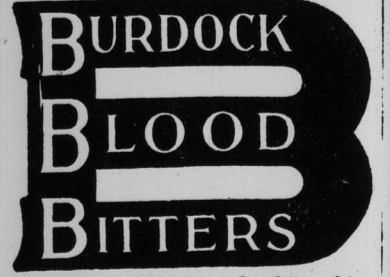

Early this morning when his voice became a mere croak, he remembered a police whistle he had in his pocket and his faint voice brought a patrolman to his rescue.

Severe Arraignment of a New Brunswick Law. Sir: I have had the opportunity of reading correspondence in your columns, dated Dec. 20, criticising the assertion in this council's annual report on child welfare legislation that the repeal of the unmarried parenthood legislation enacted in 1925 in New Brunswick was "possibly the greatest backward step recorded in the past year in the social legislation of any Canadian province."

TOO GENEROUS

Pretty Lady Robert Innes Kerr, the former Miss Collins, actress, explained in the London bankruptcy court that excessive generosity to her friends was largely responsible for her insolvency.

retribution for the contravention of the social and moral code from the one on whom human life is based, a man, a woman, and a child.

THE PRINCIPLES OF 1921.

These and many other detailed clauses were all in accordance with the principles adopted in 1921, at the annual meeting of the Social Service Council in Canada, as recommended by Canadian social workers for the guidance of Canadian law and legislation in this field.

PRESENT LEGISLATION.

It is obvious that New Brunswick's legislation of 1925 admirably incorporated these humane principles. What does the 1926 legislation offer as a substitute?

Our report admitted, as your correspondence states, that the 1925 legislation was inoperative because of the lack of provision of funds or machinery to enforce it. The implication of your correspondent's letter is that it was therefore a forward, not a backward step, to repeal it.

THE PRINCIPLES OF 1921.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

BASEBALL CONSERVATIVE

BASEBALL is not without its faults. Every now and then it appears certain changes in the rules would better the game, but the suggestions are not always acted upon.

EXPERIMENTAL STATIONS

I WOULD like to see the major leagues' training camps in the south used as experimental stations.

The spring games are under the supervision of competent major league umpires.

There were several mix-ups between the Chatham net, but Moor cleared the deck quickly for action.

After three minutes playing Gammon secured the puck in a mix-up and passed out to K. Carroll, who sank the rubber for the second and last score of the first period.

INTENTIONAL PASS

THE first experiment I would like to see the teams make in the south would be to do with the intentional pass.

The other day I received the following suggestion from a California fan, Albert Lengel.

"It shall be optional with the batter to accept a base on balls after receiving four legal balls and before receiving three strikes."

IMPERIAL HAS MASTER FILM OF SABATINI TALE

"Bardelys the Magnificent" Proves Sumptuous Picture Production

In "Bardelys the Magnificent," King Vidor's picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which opened at the Imperial Theatre to packed houses both afternoon and evening yesterday, John Gilbert has a role that will be an everlasting delight to his constantly increasing number of admirers.

Rafael Sabatini, the author of "Bardelys the Magnificent" had personally chosen the hero for the picture, and the picture is a masterpiece of the art of picture-making.

The good-looking star swims raging rivers on horseback, engages in fierce encounters with hordes of strenuous and determined enemies, pole vaults over a line of charging spearmen and scales walls of dizzying height.

The love scenes of the picture are convincing and moving and of course the picturesque setting of the story, its medieval background, with the exotic costumes and flamboyant conventions only enhance this phase of the production.

Eleanor Boardman as the heroine is thoroughly acceptable, looking every bit the kind of a girl for such a heart-winner as Bardelys.

Gilbert's acting is of the smooth, restrained sort that makes the spectators feel that they are witnessing the intimate development of a genuine romance.

SUPPORTING CAST

A brilliant supporting cast surrounds the star, including Roy D'Arcy as the cruel and treacherous Chateaufort, the villain of the story; Karl Dane, as the ludicrous Hoderard; Bardelys' attendant, and Arthur Lubin, George K. Arthur, John T. Murray, Lionel Belmore and others.

As usual the Imperial's musical department rose to the occasion handsomely. The orchestra under Mr. Jones and the organ in the capable hands of Mr. Ewing purveyed programmes of incidentals and complete classical and semi-classical numbers that fitted into the spirit of the fiction charmingly.

ROSSLEYS HELD THREE MORE DAYS

"Box of Toys" and New Picture Feature Program at Opera House

Owing to their great popularity and because of numerous requests, the Rossley Kiddies are being held over three days extra this week, presenting their popular eighth annual revue, "The Rossley Box of Toys," with a merry Christmas theme of the Fairy Queen bringing to life a box of toy soldiers, sailors, and dolls of every nationality, each doing a specialty dance.

The Rossley Box of Toys has been rated as the best song and dance revue that Mrs. Jack Rossley has presented in Saint John.

Among the popular song hits are: "Red, Red Robin," "Bye, Bye, Blackbird," "By The Light of The Stars," "Till I Get My Way Home." All are brand new and enhanced by their elaborate and gorgeous costumes. The dances strikingly new and original, that has been done for some time, and among special mention are the ballet work by Miss Margaret Woodworth and other girls in the "Frollesome Bat." The acrobatic contortion dance by three of the girls is marvellous and equals anything of a professional nature that is to be seen in any metropolitan centre. "Baby Rose" is an outstanding number that appeals to everybody, and when "Rose" sings with the Rossley baby chorus she scores a triumph in her "Ting-a-ling" dance.

The feature picture is Geo. M. Cohan's great stage success, "The Song and Dance Man," a comedy classic of the life of a "Hooper," or what is better known as a Song and Dance Man, who tries to sell Valencia to a store-keeper.

The story moves swiftly forward to the meeting of Valencia and Roger, who is being pursued by the Mounted on a charge of having robbed a trading post.

In the sequences showing Miss Borden as a favorite of the New York stage, there are some very beautiful scenes and lovely gowns.

It is a simple story simply told, and therein lies its greatness. The director has taken characters that are thoroughly plausible, that really might exist and be acquainted with you and me, and then put them to working out a drama in which colorful and entertaining bits of detail and convincing characterizations successfully sustain interest.

The play has drama and melodrama, comedy and pathos. A spiritual theme is developed for the ending in which the importance of sincerity is recognized in a way to satisfy the most discerning.

THIRTY KILLED IN SUMATRA OUTBREAKS

PENANG, Sumatra, Jan. 4.—A number of subversive outbreaks in the Sirogang district, on the west coast of Sumatra, brought death to 30 insurgents, while many others were arrested. The trouble started Saturday night, when armed native bands attacked government officers and police barracks and cut telegraph lines at several points. Those involved in the insurrection are described as Communists, and the movement is said to have been similar to the abortive revolt in Java, another island of the Dutch East Indies group in November.

STORY WELL TOLD IS "DEVIL'S CIRCUS"

"The Devil's Circus" opened at the Palace Theatre yesterday and was accorded a signal success. Norma Shearer has the leading feminine role, and the cast includes Charles Emmett Mack, Carmel Myers, Claire MacDowell, John Miljan, Joyce Cook, the latest child find of the screen, and the popular trick dog, Buddy.

LOAN CHANEY HEADS PROGRAM AT UNIQUE

Story of Days of "Barbaric Coast"—Talking Picture Vaudeville Also

In only three American cities abides the spirit of true romance, a noted author wrote a few years ago, and mentioned San Francisco as first among them, especially in that period represented in Loan Chaney's "The Penalty," which was shown at the Unique last night, when the underworld of the coast city had no rival in the world.

"The Penalty" is remarkable as a record of the scenes in the Barbary Coast before reform and prohibition swept out the vice that lurked in every alley and underground retreat. The sights are real. Only the story is fictitious, and the natives say things a great deal worse happened in the "good old days." Chaney plays the part of a man so enticed by a circumstance of fate that makes him a permanent cripple for life that he becomes a desperate criminal wage war against the entire community.

A two-act comedy and talking picture, vaudeville, Praxley and Smith comedians, round out an excellent bill.

OLIVE BORDEN AT QUEEN SQ. THEATRE

Strong Cast in James Oliver Curwood's Story "The Country Beyond"

At her best. That must be the verdict on Olive Borden's interpretation of her role as Valencia, in "The Country Beyond," Fox Films version of James Oliver Curwood's novel, which had its first showing at the Queen Square Theatre yesterday.

Miss Borden is equally bewitching and charming as the unsophisticated girl of the Canadian wilds and as the premiere dancer who takes New York by storm. The picture contains much else to recommend it. First of all, there is a great story by a famed writer, which is directed with sympathetic understanding. Then the supporting cast

LARGE RALLY OF HOLY NAME MEN HELD AT Y. M. C. I.

John Stanton Again President—Purse Presented
Rev. Dr. McDonald

The first general assembly of the Holy Name Society of the Cathedral parish, held at the Y. M. C. I. last evening, was marked by pleasing addresses by Rev. Wm. Donald, spiritual director of the Holy Name Societies of the diocese, Rev. Dr. Roy McDonald, chaplain of the Holy Name Society of the Cathedral, and John Stanton, president of the society.

During the evening Father McDonald was presented with a purse of gold by Mr. Stanton on behalf of the officers and members of the society.

The board of officers for last year were re-elected and are as follows: John Stanton, president; Wm. L. Walsh, treasurer; J. D. Whyte, recording secretary. The additional members of the board, vice-president and financial secretary were chosen by the other officers and the chaplain. The re-elected officers received great credit for their fine work during the last year.

The financial statement was read showing that at the first of the year the society had in the bank $3834.44. During the year 15 masses were said for departed members and $100 given for a scholarship, leaving a substantial balance on hand.

250 PRESENT.

The meeting was opened by the singing of "Holy God We Praise Thy Name" by those assembled. The large gathering of over 250 men were welcomed by John Stanton, president. He spoke in glowing terms of the large turnout and predicted a bright future for the society. He also took the opportunity to compliment the men of the society on their remarkable showing in the Holy Name parade held last September.

It was a rule of the evening that there would be no more speaking. Father McDonald expressed his gratitude to the officers and men of the society for their generous support and thanked them for their generosity. He said the men of the Holy Name Society were always ready to assist in any good work with both their hearts and purses. He urged the men to spur themselves on to greater efforts and not leave too much to the officers.

FATHER DUKE SPEAKS

Father Duke, in his remarks, said that no society was more worthy of the support of all the men of the parish than the Holy Name society. It first of all urged frequent Holy Communion, thus bringing many souls into the home. Other objects of the society, he pointed out, were to honor the name of God and to abolish obscene language. Father Duke said he would like to see every man in the Cathedral parish a member of the society and increase its numbers to over a thousand. The membership is now about five hundred.

The following interesting program was carried out: Moore Quartette, composed of Charles Moore, Paul Joseph Moore, in a number of songs; J. H. Gillis, songs; James King, comic songs; Felix McCourt, concertina selection and Wm. Grannan, songs. Dr. O. Comeau and W. R. Davis were the accompanists for the evening.

PICTURE SHOWN

A moving picture was shown, donated by Walter Golding, manager of the Imperial Theatre, and through the courtesy of P. J. Hogan, manager of the Famous Players-Lasky Film Corporation of the city. George Enos, of the Imperial Theatre staff, operated the machine. The picture several piano selections were played by Dr. O. Comeau.

Delicious refreshments were served by the Cathedral members of the Catholic Women's League under the patronage of Mrs. J. M. Logan and Mrs. M. Alderson. Chairs were supplied through the kindness of the following: Richard P. Colgan, Wm. L. Walsh, John O'Regan, Louis McDonald, J. V. Holland, Harry Brennan, W. E. McIntyre, W. J. McMillin, Frank Fitzgerald, Thomas Cogger, Thos. Nagle and Dr. S. H. McDonald.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Holy God We Praise Thy Name" and "God Save the King."

MARCUS FIRM TAKES KING STREET STAND

Furniture Men Get Auxiliary Quarters While Re-building Dock Street Premises

The expansion of their business has resulted in the rebuilding of the stores occupied by J. Marcus, Ltd., at 30-36 Dock street. The contractors began work yesterday in tearing down part of the building and rebuilding this structure. In the meantime the stock of furniture has been rather crowded out, a partial outlet has been found in temporary quarters taken in the five-story building in King street, next the C. P. R., and known as the Whittaker block.

The rebuilding operations will now amalgamate into one store the group of stores hitherto utilized only through doors cut from one to another. In this way the former six stores will become one in the most modern way.

STORY OF BUSINESS

These operations register a further step in the steady progress of J. Marcus, Ltd. The business was begun 85 years ago by Joseph Marcus, in but 500 square feet of floor space on the opposite side of the street. The business was well patronized and gradually grew to the present premises until it absorbed a row of six stores. These are now being rebuilt into a single structure occupying fifty times the space of its original location.

On the death of Joseph Marcus, 15 years ago, it was conducted by his sons, into the hands of other owners later by his brother, H. Marcus. In 1922 the firm was incorporated with Mr. Max Marcus as president and Mr. H. J. Marcus, vice-president and secretary-treasurer. In recent years especially this firm has come rapidly to the front.

Instruction in Skiing To Start Tomorrow

Should weather conditions prove favorable, instruction of novices in skiing will be given by William Schulz at the Saint John Ski Club, Lily Lake, on Wednesday evening. Should instruction outdoors not be possible, a meeting will be held in the club house on Thursday evening. The instruction of skis will be given by the instructor.

Arrangements will be made to have two nights each week set aside for the training, announcement of which will be made later. Members are still being received, and those wishing to join the club will be accommodated by Dr. J. F. Edgcombe or Charles Magnuson.

As Hiram Sees It

"Well, sir," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times-Star reporter, "you orter have seen the snowstorm we had out to the Settlement New Year's Day."

"We had it in town," said the reporter.

"But you haint got the trees an' the fields in town," said Hiram.

"But you wasn't an' wind to speak of—an' them big wet snowflakes that come pourin' down in a shower clung to every little branch—an' stuck to the bark of the trees—till everyone of 'em was dressed in pure white. The first an' spruce had a regular blanket on 'em. The fields an' the hills was white as far as you could see. Hanner says to me, says she: 'The noo year is as white an' pure as all them fields an' woods. I wonder who'll be the first to sell it with some oholy actions.'"

"Well, sir—that sot me thinkin'. We wish one another a Happy New Year—an' then you do somethin' to make it onhappy for somebody. We're a passel of poor critters."

"Speak for yourself," said the reporter, with asperity. "What have you been doin'?"

"Wasn't time talkin' to you," said Hiram.
