BRITISH MINE SITUATION MORE HOPEFUL

MAY REMAIN AT WORK UNTIL PARLEY ENDS

Owners and Workers Arrange for Conference

MEDIATION First Lord of Admiralty Working For Settlement of Industrial Dispute

LONDON, July 25.—Although the miners' federation has announced a strike of colliers on July 31 and possible cessation in coal production, the situation last night appeared more hopeful for a bridging of the chasm of dissension between the miners and the coal mine owners.

Mediation in the situation by W. C. Bridgman, first Lord of the Admiralty, has been so effective that today he persuaded the disputants to meet together in conference next Wednesday in an endeavor to smooth out their troubles. In addition, Premier Baldwin has agreed to meet with a special committee of the Trade Union Congress, which has been given full command of the miners' case in the impending struggle.

NO RETREAT. Neither side of the dispute has retreated in the slightest from its previous position. Therefore the same deadlock may be maintained until Wednesday's conference meets, but it is thought that the strong government influence is not unlikely to be without effect in whatever negotiations may ensue.

HOPEFUL SIGN. Another hopeful sign last night was that the mine owners had agreed that in the event that negotiations with the miners are still in progress at the end of the month, they will carry on the existing wage agreement from day to day until a new agreement is negotiated, thus in practice postponing the lockout notices.

It is stated that despatch has started preliminary negotiations to supply coal from France and Germany to tide the country over any possible shortage until possible additional cargoes arrive from Australia.

CALL FOR PRAYERS. A. J. Cook, secretary of the Miners' Federation, is declared to have indicated that the executive of the Federation agreed to meet the employers after receiving assurance that the owners' proposals, although not abandoned, would not form part of the discussions.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, by the concurrence of the House of Bishops, has issued an appeal for special prayers in all churches, and by Christians generally, for guidance and help in the face of the great dangers and perplexities in this moment of an almost unparalleled crisis.

NEW ZEALAND FINED FINANCES SOUND Large Surplus Over Expenditure—Late Premier is Given Credit

WELLINGTON, N. Z., July 25.—A statement presented by the Minister of Finance of New Zealand, disclosed a very satisfactory position in the finances of the Dominion, due largely, it is claimed, to the sound administration of the late Right Hon. W. F. Massey. The surplus of revenue over expenditure for the fiscal year, 1924-1925 is shown as £1,948,800 sterling. The exports for the year totalled £54,761,000 sterling and the imports £46,921,000 sterling. The war debt was reduced by £202,462 sterling. For the year 1924-1925 the exports were £45,967,162, and the imports £42,778,462.

ARCHBISHOP'S BODY LAID TO REST IN CRYPT

Impressive Ceremonies at Funeral of Primate of Canada

PILGRIMS THERE Quebec Shows Evidence of Deep Mourning With Many Buildings Draped

Quebec, Que., July 25.—With the transference yesterday of the body of Cardinal Begin, deceased Roman Catholic primate of Canada, whose death occurred on Sunday last, in the Archbishop's Palace here, from the Palace to the Basilica, the people of Quebec today took part in the last ceremonies, when the Cardinal's remains were laid to rest in the crypt of the church alongside those of the other 16 archbishops of Quebec who have preceded him.

Thousands thronged the church and many thousands more had assembled outside, as the solemn services for the repose of the soul of the late primate were conducted. Everywhere signs of deep mourning were in evidence, the public buildings were strung with drapery and private residences displayed their flags at half-mast.

PILGRIMS ATTEND. Quebec's population had been augmented considerably at the present season by the tremendous invasion of pilgrims, who were on the eve of the feast of St. Anne de Beaupre. These added thousands to the multitude and joined in the mourning.

Cardinal Begin's body last night returned to the city of Quebec, where it was interred in the crypt of the church in the presence of a large number of pilgrims.

TWO ARE INDICTED FOR BOOTLEGGING

Accused of Having Counterfeit Stamps—Inquiry Into Liquor Shipment

NEW YORK, July 25.—Jacob Kirschenblatt, alias Kirsch, and Sol Adamsky, alias Sam Adams, alias Dainaky, alleged principals in a bootlegging ring which ships liquor in trunks by express, and the trunk keys by mail, 20,000 customers in twenty-nine States, have been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury before Judge Lake Jones of Florida. The indictment charges the two defendants with conspiring to possess 480 counterfeit International Revenue stamps, used to seal bottles of distilled spirits.

TAKEN IN RAID Kirschenblatt and Adamsky were among eight prisoners taken in a raid last Friday at 1123 Broadway, near Twenty-fifth street. The law they are charged with violating carries a maximum penalty of ten years' imprisonment.

The counterfeit stamps, commonly called "strip stamps," have been widely used by bootleggers, according to United States Attorney Buckner, to make customers think that adulterated liquor was genuine imported goods. The case against the two defendants is complete, according to Mr. Buckner, who explained that the stamps were found by the raiders in a private desk of Kirschenblatt, who furnished the key. The desk was opened in the presence of several witnesses.

Evidence against Kirschenblatt, and Adamsky, described as his assistant, was presented to the Grand Jury by Assistant United States Attorney John J. Fogarty and John M. Harlan, in a John Doe investigation into operations if a run ring operating a mail order business throughout the country. It is planned to bring the case to trial as speedily as possible. The investigation into the operations of the ring will be continued.

ALIENISTS TO PROVE CLAIM OF ATTORNEYS

Bitter Fight in Prospect For Life Of Scott

FUNDS PROMISED Harrowing Experiences of Two Death Watches Are Cited To Prove Contentious

CHICAGO, July 25.—Cell madness will be the plea of Russell T. Scott, erstwhile financier and promoter of Canada, in his effort to escape the gallows from which he has been served twice within a few hours of the death march.

Alienists who testified for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, kidnap-slayers of Robert Frank, will be called on in the effort to prove Scott is suffering from "prison psychosis." The defense lawyer will call to his aid the fact that Scott was confined by his 15 months' confinement and the harrowing experiences of two death watches in the shadow of the noose.

During the ten days allowed them before the sanity hearing, Judge Joseph E. David for August 3, Wm. Scott Stewart, Scott's attorney, will assemble psychiatrists for a desperate legal battle to have Scott committed to an asylum.

A BITTER FIGHT

That the fight will be bitter has been indicated by prosecutors who believe Scott is as sane now as at the time when Joseph Maurer, drug dealer, was accused of a homicide. Scott is charged with the killing. The state will not cease efforts to have the death sentence carried out.

It was Scott himself, said his attorney, who provided a lead for the insanity plea. "When the lawyer started to confer with him, Scott insisted that he was sane. Later he said he believed he was 'stir crazy.'" Previously Scott told newspapermen that he thought "there must be something wrong with me to go and do the thing I did. Perhaps the liquor got into my brain. I was drunk all the time. And then the months in here."

FUNDS PROMISED. The effort to save Scott through the cell madness plea will be seconded by Detroit and Windsor, Ont., friends who have raised funds for him and have promised more. John H. Hoyer, chairman of a Windsor committee, working to save Scott, yesterday charged an attempt to "railroad" Scott by Chicago politicians to prevent exposure of their liquor operations.

Mrs. Billa May Scott, his mother, has left her home in Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb, to come here and assist her wife and father, who have worked for weeks to obtain a commutation or reprieve for the prisoner. Before she left, she said she had not requested previously because Russell had requested her to stay away.

TITLES BILL GIVEN SECOND READING

LONDON, July 25.—The bill to prevent trafficking in titles which already had been passed by the House of Lords was given its second reading in the House of Commons yesterday. In the course of the debate on the bill yesterday, Labor members urged that honor and titles should be abolished altogether. Captain Wedgwood Benn, Liberal, favored the abolition of hereditary honors. He said Great Britain should follow the example of the Dominions with regard to honors. He instanced the Australian rule that no honors should be given unless a resolution in favor thereof was passed by the state parliament concerned.

TRAFFICKING IN HONORS IS CONDEMNED IN MEASURE BEFORE BRITISH COMMONS

While state and defence gird themselves for the legal fight which will begin Monday with hearings of preliminary arguments on the sanity trial, August 8, the police continue to check reports from various sections of the country, regarding the whereabouts of Robert Scott, Russell brother, indicted with Russell, never was apprehended. A telegram purporting to come from Robert, sent to Governor Small, brought Russell a week's previous reprieve six hours before the time set for the hanging, July 17. The message later proved a hoax.

An offer to take Scott's place was made to Governor Small by G. P. McGraw of Washington, D. C., who said he made it in an effort to bring about abolition of capital punishment.

AUCTIONEERS DATE BACK TO BABYLON DAYS

Marriageable Girls Were Then Sold to Highest Bidder

SOME ENGLISH SALE CUSTOMS Romans Adopt This Custom For Disposing of Their Goods.

Few realize that the auctioneering profession can be traced back to the ancient Babylonian custom of selling marriageable girls to the highest bidder at an annual assembly held for the purpose, says "The Dearborn Independent."

There are various forms of auctioneering. In a "Dutch auction" the property is offered at a high price, which is accepted by the bidder.

An auction sale "by inch of candle" was a method employed in olden times when it was the custom to set up an inch of lighted candle, the last bidder to name his price before the burning out of the wick being the declared purchaser.

In Great Britain a law of Henry VIII, afterward confirmed by Charles I, prohibited the conducting of sales by all persons except certain licensed officials known as outcriers.

In America, as a rule, an auctioneer must have a license, either from the state or the municipal authorities.

While engaged in bringing the purchaser to a sale he is the agent of the seller only. As soon as the sale is made he becomes an agent of the purchaser as well as of the seller.

For the purpose of making a memorandum of the sale which will satisfy the state, the auctioneer has a lien on his principal's goods in his possession and on the proceeds from the sale to the extent of his commission and expenses.

PLATFORM OF OPPOSITION PARTY:

Opposition Candidates in the City of Saint John

GRAND FALLS "Whereas the proposition for the development of hydro power at Grand Falls is of primary importance to the province, if such development can be obtained so as to provide power at rates which will be attractive to industry and domestic consumption and will not impose any financial loss upon the province:

"Therefore resolved, that this convention is in favor of such development upon business principles, but regards the proposition to let contracts for the work upon the eve of the election and before all necessary investigations have been made as a violation of the Premier's pledge to submit the whole question to the people at a general election:

"And further resolved, that the work, when proceeded with, should be placed in the hands of an independent commission, chosen solely for the business ability of its members and free from the political dictation which the presence of a member of the Government upon such commission implies.

PROHIBITION "This convention desires to place itself on record as condemning the evident looseness and corruption which has marked the Government's administration of the prohibitory law; the favoritism which it has displayed in the granting of vendorships and the notorious existence in almost every important locality in the province, of men who traffic in the granting of vendorships, and who, for political and other objects, put in motion or restrain the officers of the law in relation to its enforcement, and

"Further, that this convention goes on record as in favor of the enforcement of the Act so long as it remains on the Statute Books of the Province.

AGRICULTURE "Resolved, that this convention places itself on record as in favor of a greater encouragement and stimulation of the basic agricultural industry in the province by more direct practical assistance to the farmer, and particularly with reference to dairying and the promotion of canning industries; and also the investigation and promotion of wider markets for agricultural products, with especial attention to the trade and markets in the West Indies."

SAFEGUARDING MUNICIPAL RIGHTS "Realizing that since the advent to power of the present Government it has been gradually interfering with the autonomous rights of municipalities, the opposition party pledges itself, when returned to power, to safeguard the rights of municipalities, allowing each to determine the expenditure of its own moneys."

MOTOR TAXATION "Resolved, that the present system of taxation on motor vehicles should be discontinued, and a new system introduced providing for a material reduction in the general tax on motor vehicles, and the imposition of a tax upon gasoline, except such as may be used for agricultural, fishery and industrial purposes."

CONDEMNATION OF GOVERNMENT'S EXTRAVAGANCE "Resolved, that this convention of the Opposition Party of the Province of New Brunswick, places on record its disapproval and consideration of the reckless, extravagant and unbusiness-like administration of the present government, which, during the past eight years has increased the public debt of the province from $15,000,000 to over $31,000,000, and while increasing the burdens of taxation upon the people from year to year, has completely failed to keep the ordinary expenditures within the revenue; and

PLEDGE OF ECONOMY "Further resolved, that the Opposition Party pledges itself, if returned to power, to adopt a determined and vigorous policy of prudence and economy and to apply sound business principles in the administration of the business of the province with a view to keeping the ordinary expenditures within the income; and in respect of capital expenditures to have regard to the actual resources and conditions of the Province."

Emerson Said It Back in the first half of the last century the great Thinker, Ralph Waldo Emerson, made his famous statement that—"If a man offers a better service the world will beat a pathway to his door." It's common knowledge that the public here have gone out of their way to beat a pathway to the doors of J. Marcus, Ltd. To this extent, that no store in this city can show anything like their increase in patronage. The moral is all the plainer when one considers that mighty few firms show any increase at all during these years. J. Marcus Furniture, Rugs 30-36 Dock St.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., JULY 25, 1925.

AN APPEAL TO CANADA.

The appeal made by the London Morning Post to the Dominions, to be serious in particular, to give the most serious consideration to the security pact to which Great Britain is committed, before declining to become a party to it, is a reminder that the question of Empire foreign policy, with which is closely associated that of Imperial defence, must still cause anxious thought to the whole British family.

The Dominions, which gave great help to the common cause in the great war, had strong hope that the defeat of Germany would permit of substantial world disarmament and so in a greater measure solve the problem of Imperial defence. That hope has not been realized, though it has not been abandoned. The Post presents certain considerations which cannot be ignored until the world comes to enjoy a greater sense of security against war than it now has. None of the Dominions, it points out, it strong enough to protect its own commerce or its territorial integrity, and no Dominion can avoid the consequences of war if the Mother Country is attacked. Canada is asked whether, if Great Britain were destroyed as a social power, this Dominion could stand alone, and, if not, Canada willing to pay the price of her protection by another nation. The safety of Great Britain, the Post asserts, when all is said, is the safety of the Empire.

That is a statement of the case that cannot rightly be challenged, nor should any of the Dominions be guided only by thought of its own physical safety in case of war. Each, properly speaking, must regard the safety of all the others as well as its own. This country as yet has made no official decision as to whether or not it will be bound by the security pact now under consideration. The fate of the proposed arrangement will not be known for months to come. But if it is ratified by Britain, France, Belgium and Germany, the Dominions will then have to decide where they stand in the matter, and the question of Imperial foreign policy, Imperial defence, and Imperial obligations will then necessarily demand definite decision in every part of the Empire.

Any reluctance which may be felt in the Dominions to pledge themselves to join in restraining any European country which resorts to aggressive war is quite natural, but if finally the time should come when Canada would have to face such commitments or escape them by leaving the British Empire, it cannot be thought she would cut the painter in selfish pursuit of safety from such obligations. Discussion of the issue serves to emphasize the fact that ultimately the question of Imperial defence and of mutual Imperial obligations must be squarely faced. It is difficult to ignore the view that common defence rightly involves full responsibility by the people of every self-governing unit under the flag.

CHANGING THE CONSTITUTION.

There is still talk to the effect that the Dominion Government may invite the nine provinces to a conference before the election, for the purpose of considering a change in the B. N. A. Act to limit the powers of the Senate. Renewed discussion concerning a conference of this kind reveals a marked difference of opinion as to changing the constitution. The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph serves notice that the Province of Quebec will offer the most vigorous resistance to any constitutional amendments unless they are to be made with the unanimous consent of all the partners of Confederation. This, it says, is the settled policy of that province, in defence of which it stands prepared to make considerable sacrifices.

In the consent of all the provinces necessary? Apparently not, judging from the record, but if such a conference revealed important conflict of opinion as between the provinces, the Government might well hesitate to request Westminster to make any changes.

The Manitoba Press Press, which insists that amendments are necessary, cites instances in which the view that unanimous consent by the provinces is necessary did not prevail. In 1869 the Liberals, led by Edward Blake, opposed giving Nova Scotia better terms. Mr. Blake contended that the financial arrangements between the Dominion and the provinces could not be altered unless all the latter assented. The law officers of the Crown held a contrary view, and the British North America Act was changed upon the request of the Canadian Senate and the House of Commons. The issue came up again in 1871. The Liberals contended that Manitoba upon entering Confederation could not be given a representation in Parliament in excess of the ratio established by the B. N. A. Act. The Government of the day decided otherwise, and asked for Premier Rhodes is calling together the members of his government on Monday to deal with the mining situation. The action taken after extended conferences with the president and other officers of the British Empire Steel Corporation and the leaders of the miners. Mr. Rhodes is silent as to what progress has been made thus far, but from what he says it is evident there are to be further conferences with the opposing forces, probably beginning next Wednesday or Thursday. It is a tough problem, but there is growing hope that Mr. Rhodes will succeed in bringing about industrial peace. His friends, indeed, are convinced that he will not only lead the reluctant horses to water but make them drink.

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wayfarer."

The Suspicious Trustee

(Farmers' Sun.)
A parish school board was visiting a school and the principal was putting his pupils through their paces. "Who signed Magna Charta, Robert?" he asked, turning to one boy. "Please sir, 'twasn't me," whimpered the youngster.

Pedestrians Next?

(Bangor Commercial.)
It was bound to come. The Chicago city council has been giving serious consideration to a proposal that saddle horses must be equipped with tail lights when on the streets after dark. We do not know if that is to be taken literally or if it means lights that may be seen from the rear. But let that go. How long will it be before pedestrians will be compelled to show lights?

Giving Him a Chance

(Detroit News.)
At the time of a proposed duel between the celebrated actor Dugazon and his comrade, Dessertart, the latter was excessively thick. When the two men faced each other on "the field of honor," pistols in hand, Dugazon exclaimed: "Listen, I am willing to fight with you. But for the sides to be equal we must have an understanding: I am thin and scrawny, but you—you are an elephant." Thereupon taking from his pocket a piece of chalk he drew a large ring on the abdomen of his adversary. "Now," he continued, "every shot that doesn't land within that ring will not count." There was a general burst of laughter. Dessertart laughed too, and instead of going on with the duel all went together to breakfast.

Wonder Spots of The Empire

Coral Rock Houses, Bermuda

(Copyright.)
A country destitute of marketable timber, devoid of clay suitable for the manufacture of building brick, and not a piece of ordinary building stone within its borders, would appear to be in a difficult way to make provision for housing its inhabitants. That is the condition which faces those who would construct a building in the Bermudas, a group of three hundred and sixty-five islands that lie out in the Atlantic some seven hundred miles from the junction of North and South Carolina.

CORNS

Nothing so quick to stop pain; so safe, so healing as DR. SCHOLL'S ZINO-PADS

At drug and shoe stores

To cope with the deficiency of building material recourse has been made to the fossil remains of countless myriads of coral which have settled down in a cement-like condition, and becomes very firm and hard during the ages. The Bermudas are entirely underlain with coral and the soil at any place is said not to exceed seven feet in depth and the average is about two feet. Stunted cedar trees have taken root and flourished as best they could, but it is not possible to turn to them for any supply of building timber. The coral rock, however, sawn into blocks, glistening white, will take a beautiful finish. These blocks furnish the walls, floors and roof of almost every building in the colony. They are united with cement. In the semi-tropical climate there is a wealth of vegetation and a goodly run of color. The effect of gaily hued flowering vines upon this coral rock is charming.

Special efforts are made to have the roofs of buildings present as smooth and finished a surface as is possible. This serves a very important economic need. The people of the colony are dependent upon rain for their water supply. There is not a spring or a brook of fresh water upon any of the islands. Arrangements are made to lead the water falling upon the polished roof into coral rock cisterns and to store the precious fluid for future use.

HOW many millions are lost in speculation every year—in efforts to make money by taking great risks rather than in doing great service!

Only those who have much, or those who have little or nothing, can afford to take great risks. Certainly the average man with loved ones dependent upon him cannot.

All This Menu Cooked in Oven

(Ad. Written by M. I. C.—A Hydro Housewife)

Oven cooking is the main money-saver of Hydro Ranges—for Hydro ovens are fireless cookers that hold right heat for hours after the current is turned off. It's the thermos idea. Try a Menu like this once or twice a week and see your small Hydro cooking bill grow amazingly smaller.

ROAST SPINACH POTATOES BROWN GRAVY
ROLLS COFFEE TOMATO SALAD
JAM TARTLETS

Bring oven quickly to 410 degrees heat. Pop in Rolls and Tartlets until baked an even brown. Remove and let heat reach 450 degrees. Put Vegetables in triplicate pot with little water and bring to boil. Place Roast at this full temperature until seared, then shut off current and let Meat and Vegetables cook on stored heat. Play a further trick on the meter by using left over heat for coffee percolator.

Nothing cooks like Hydro Ranges or so cheap. Choose any make on ten months terms.

THIRD GENERATION CARRIES ON BARDSLEY HAT INDUSTRY HERE

PRODUCTS OF LOCAL FIRM ARE MARKETED ALL OVER DOMINION

Manufacture Increases from 100 Dozen to 25,000 Annually—Business Started in 1849 By Present Operators' Grandfather

FROM the manufacture and sale of 100 dozen hats annually to the manufacture and marketing of 25,000 pieces of headgear a year is a big leap but such a record is the one belonging to the J. B. Bardsley Hat Company, Union street makers of felt hats.

Manchester, Robertson & Allison, Limited, is the local firm buying most heavily from this enterprising Saint John factory, while the Bardsley hat is well and favorably known in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and right through the West to Vancouver.

A short history of the Bardsley plant is highly interesting and is one telling of what progressive strides have been made by the Bardsleys since their arrival in Canada from England.

WHEN THE SYSTEM IS ALL RUN DOWN

Often All That Is Needed Is a Tonic to Build Up the Blood. There are many women who have been invalids or semi-invalids so long that they accept their condition as a life burden. They have endured broken sleep, stomach trouble, nervousness, headaches and weakness so long that they have given up hope of enjoying good health.

The hard, or "bowler" hat, had become fashion's decree at that time and the hard hats were manufactured and sold by the Bardsleys on the premises. Their business was, at that time, confined almost strictly to local trade and thus a very large production was not necessary.

John B. Bardsley, who is at the present time co-partner with his brother, Alfred, entered the business which their father Robert and his uncle Joseph were carrying on at the King street stand. Now the entire business of manufacturing and local selling is done on the Union street premises with the traveling carrying their goods afield.

Although the present-time product of the factory is chiefly the felt or soft hat, hard hats are an occasional item that are manufactured. The entire plant of the company is located on the second floor of the Union street building as the firm has found it advisable, as well as convenient, to have the different rooms in which the various processes through which the hat goes, located on one floor.

One part of the factory has been turned into a well-lighted showroom in which the showcases, containing the various styles of headgear made by the firm, are located. A part of this space is related for packing purposes and the shelves are piled high with hats ready for shipment.

Sons Continue

Joseph and Robert Bardsley, sons of John Bardsley, continued the business when their father had passed away. For many years they were engaged almost entirely in the manufacture of the silk hats. Messrs. Bardsley had a retail store in King street, on the site of the building now occupied by the Provincial Government headquarters. They had their property totally destroyed in the great Saint John fire of 1877, but rebuilt almost immediately.

Foreign Imports

The Bardsley name and trade mark are stamped on the leather binding on the inside of the hat by the firm's private press. The printing is done with gold leaf in the heated press, the latter having a capacity of stamping about 75 bands an hour. The gold leaf is obtained from Lyons, France.

Making Silk Hats

In the matter of silk hat manufacture, the hat is made from various weights of cotton especially made for the hatters' use. Silica is boiled and "cut" with ammonia and the cotton lowered into the mixture. It is then spread on drying frames. The brim of the silk hat is made of much heavier weight of cotton than the crown. The hat is built up in five-piece blocks. The cotton is scamed and wrapped around the blocks, the brim is added and by the heating action of the iron the different parts of the silk hat unite. The entire article is then treated to a coating of Hatters' varnish and covered with a covering of Hatters' plush obtained from Lyons, France.

Finishing Process

When the hat has had its hand and bindings attached and the brim bound, it is transferred again to the frames. Clean cloths are placed over the hat and tied. Hot sand bags, weighing between 50 and 60 pounds, heated by steam conductors running through the sand, are lowered on to the hat and these shape it in place where it may have become slightly stretched while being bound. After a brief drying the hat may be termed the finished product and is ready to be packed and marketed. The inside rests of the boxes are made by the Bardsley people also. Wooden boxes, when used, are obtained from the Wilson Box Company, Limited, Fairville.

When the hat has had its hand and bindings attached and the brim bound, it is transferred again to the frames. Clean cloths are placed over the hat and tied. Hot sand bags, weighing between 50 and 60 pounds, heated by steam conductors running through the sand, are lowered on to the hat and these shape it in place where it may have become slightly stretched while being bound. After a brief drying the hat may be termed the finished product and is ready to be packed and marketed. The inside rests of the boxes are made by the Bardsley people also. Wooden boxes, when used, are obtained from the Wilson Box Company, Limited, Fairville.

Making Silk Hats

In the matter of silk hat manufacture, the hat is made from various weights of cotton especially made for the hatters' use. Silica is boiled and "cut" with ammonia and the cotton lowered into the mixture. It is then spread on drying frames. The brim of the silk hat is made of much heavier weight of cotton than the crown. The hat is built up in five-piece blocks. The cotton is scamed and wrapped around the blocks, the brim is added and by the heating action of the iron the different parts of the silk hat unite. The entire article is then treated to a coating of Hatters' varnish and covered with a covering of Hatters' plush obtained from Lyons, France.

PREMIER VELOT'S MANIFESTO

A Concise Review of the Government's Accomplishments Since 1917, and a Frank Statement on Vital Provincial Matters

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK

Ladies and Gentlemen—

The Legislature of the province has now completed the full term for which your representatives were elected in October, 1920. On the advice of the Executive Council, His Honor the Lieutenant Governor has dissolved the House of Assembly, and writs have been issued for an election. Nominations of Candidates will take place on Monday, August 3, and election on Monday, August 10.

When the government appealed to the country in 1920 it did so under the leadership of Hon. W. E. Foster, who continued to direct the affairs of the province until 1923, when, for business reasons, he felt compelled to ask his supporters to relieve him from the burdens and responsibilities attached to the premiership.

Assuming control of the administration in the middle of a parliamentary term, it was but reasonable to expect that I would put forth every effort to carry out the very progressive policies inaugurated by my predecessor.

Good Name Restored

THE present government assumed the reins of power in 1917 under the leadership of Hon. Mr. Foster. While untried in the arena of politics, his personal character and his honesty of purpose and his determination to give to the province the best government possible, were his chief assets.

The Debt and Why

THE present government increased the bonded debt of the province by a little over $13,000,000. Of this increase there will be found $3,291,000 for development of the Musquash water power and about three millions and a quarter for improvement of secondary trunk branch and by-roads.

Good Roads

THE policy of road improvements inaugurated in 1917 has been carried on with marked success. It must be a source of pride to our people to learn from the large number of strangers annually visiting our province that New Brunswick can boast of having the best gravel highways on the continent of America.

Public Health

IT is a recognized fact all over Canada that New Brunswick occupies the premier position in its policy for the protection of the public health. The very numerous benefits accruing to our people by the adoption in 1920 of a sane health policy cannot be valued in dollars and cents.

Compensation Act

THE Workmen's Compensation Law has resulted in much good to the laboring classes, and rightly so. It has also been a source of benefit to the employers of labor, because it has done away with all litigation in claims for compensation.

The Crown Lands

THE administration of our Crown Lands, the greatest revenue producing asset which our province possesses, has received the very closest attention and study. I am proud to be able to point to the fact that our policy of forest protection has been very highly commended by experts from other provinces, and in many instances has been adopted by older provinces.

Power Development

IN 1920, in appealing to the people for a renewal of their confidence, Hon. W. E. Foster, then Premier, and the father of the scheme for the development of our water powers, asked for their approval of the scheme of developing the water powers of the Province, specifically in a special manner the Musquash and the Grand Falls.

Provincial Rights

IN summing up permit me to say that the government, when returned to power, will bend every effort, as in the past, to inaugurate such measures as will be in the best interest of the people as a whole.

Prohibition

NOTWITHSTANDING the severe criticism against the Government for the alleged non-enforcement of the law, I feel that we are not deserving of the censure hurled against us. When I assumed the premiership in 1917, I gave my word in connection with this law.

Education

ACTING on the principle that a good sane educational system is necessary to the advancement of a people and the certain progress of a country, the Government has been expending very much larger sums of money than any previous government, and I am pleased to be able to announce that the results justify the expenditure.

Free School Books

IN 1923 the Government announced that as soon as the finances of the Province would permit, free books to at least a limited extent, would be provided for the children attending our public schools.

Agriculture

THE agricultural policy of the government has been carried on in the best interest of all classes of our farming population. The establishment of central creameries under government supervision and financial assistance has added in creating a greater interest in the dairy industry, and we hope to see this branch of agriculture once more take an important place in the markets of the world.

A Legacy of Debt

THE opponents of the present government are condemning the administration for what they claim to be an undue and unwarranted increase in the provincial debt. If they would confine themselves to statement of fact as found in the audits made by an independent firm of auditors for each year from 1917 down to the present time, they could not find one little of proof for their statement.

Provincial Rights

When I consider all sides of the case, I feel that I can conscientiously say that I have made an honest effort to enforce the law. If it is a fact that there is less liquor sold through Canadian channels, the obtaining of more equitable freight rates for the Maritime Provinces will receive our hearty cooperation.

BRITISH COUPLE WIN PEACE PRIZE

A Year and Day Without Quarrel—Family of Nine Children.

The Dunsmuir Fitch trial, held at Bedford with the strictest possible observance of the rights and ceremonies evolved since the days of King John, attracted over thirty couples who claimed the fitch on the ground that for "a year and a day" they had neither quarrelled nor repented of marriage.

G. K. Chesterton, wearing a full-bottomed wig and red robe, was judge; Sir Henry Staser, K. C., M. P., led for the claimants, his junior being Marty Jones, M. P., and Alderman Farmer was counsel for the fitch, with him being Tom Groves, M. P., and D. McAuliffe. The claimants were Reginald Clarry, M. P. for Newport, Mon., and Mrs. Clarry, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Waring (Wimbledon) and Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Nixon (St. Albans).

In an address to the court the judge said that nowadays domestic infidelity and quarrelling were rewarded very handsomely. Prominent figures in leading divorce and other cases were generally made film actors or actresses or were engaged to write a novel. He did not know what evidence these persons gave for a capacity for fiction except in the witness box.

After evidence had been given, the jury announced that in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Waring, who appeared in court with nine children, they found for the claimants. In regard to Mr. and Mrs. Clarry they found for the fitch, with a strong recommendation that the mercy of the court should be extended. Mr. and Mrs. Nixon also were unsuccessful.

Trojans Defeat Royals

On the South End, the Trojans and Royals fought it out for nine well-paced innings, the final score being 4 to 2. PROGRESS MADE ON VOCATIONAL SCHOOL WORK

Brickwork on Most of Building is Now Past First Floor

RETAINING WALL FOR TERRACE COMPLETED

Excavation Finished and the Foundation Under Way at Packing Plant.

With the completion of construction work at the Court House and the Protestant Orphanage in Manawagonish Road, building activities in the city would be practically at a standstill were it not for the work that is now proceeding in connection with the erection of the new Vocational School in Douglas avenue and the British Canadian Packing plant. The Court House work, according to Garnet W. Wilson, architect, will be finished inside a few days, and the grand opening will be held on Tuesday next. The concrete retaining wall connecting the Court House with the Municipal Jail also is completed. Some question has been asked as to why this is not covered, and in explanation the architect says that if it had been covered it would have darkened several of the rear rooms of the Court House. The walk, as it is constructed, can easily be kept clean in winter, and, in addition, will not be put to any constant use.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

At the office of the architect for the new Vocational School, F. Neil Brodie, it was reported that practically completed work is being made with this structure. Most of the rough spots for the terracing are smoothed out, and only the finishing and seeding remain. The concrete retaining wall for this is completed.

CAMPBELLTON WORK

Mr. Brodie's office also reports that they are working on plans for a new school for Campbellton, N. B. This will be a brick and concrete structure of three stories. When the plans are completed and approved, a call for tenders for the work will be issued.

OTHER WORK

Other construction work in the province in which local architects are interested are a new telephone building for Campbellton, for which H. M. Wood is architect, and the reconstruction work for St. Gertrude's church, Woodville, for which F. J. Fenech & Fenech are architects. This church was burned down several months ago.

PACKING PLANT

Excavation for the packing plant near Kates Corner, for which H. M. Wood is architect, is being made with the foundation. It is expected that a call for tenders will be issued within a few weeks for the completion of the building.

TRUCK AND AUTO DAMAGED IN CRASH

Eric Thomson's Car in Collision With Sands' Express Near One Mile House.

A Marmon sport roadster, belonging to Eric Thomson, and a truck, belonging to the Sands Baggage & Furniture Express and driven by E. Sands, son of the proprietor, collided near the turn at the One Mile House on the Robbsey road last evening about 11 o'clock, both cars being very badly damaged. The Thomson car was going out to the garage, and the Sands truck was coming towards the city. At the sharp bend in the road at this point, the accident occurred. It was a side-swipe collision and automobile men said this morning it was very fortunate for both drivers that it was not a head-on collision, otherwise a fatality might have occurred.

BOTH DAMAGED

The front wheel, the axle and bumper and running board of the roadster were badly buckled and it was not until the early hours of the morning that workmen were able to get her into a garage. The truck was towed into Patchell's garage, Elm street, where repairs now are being effected. The truck suffered almost as much damage as the roadster.

Mr. Business Man

An office, the same as all other institutions, should be kept up to date, and when ordinary kitchen chairs are provided for the stenographers, the first impression of a visitor is not the most favorable.

Yet it is a fact that some large concerns have not realized that proper equipment pays actual dividends in better work, and that a clerk is in better mental condition to fulfill his duties when his body is comfortable.

In our large stock the most modern desks and chairs are included, and we will be glad to quote you on your requirements.
