Conditions Getting Back To Normal After the Flood

Water Still Rising At Indiantown Today Is at Least Foot and a Half Higher Than Limit Yesterday.

Foot of Main Street and Lower End of Bridge Street Under Water—Purdy Away for Fredericton, Takes Mail—The Telephone Lines.

The river at Indiantown showed more evidence of the freshet today and the water was at least a foot and a half higher than it was yesterday. At high tide the water was part way up the small square at the foot of Indiantown hill and within twenty feet of bridge street. Some of the warehouses along the river front had eight to ten feet of water in them. A small building at the head of the Lancaster-Indiantown ferry slip, used jointly as a waiting room and a store, was badly canted and it was feared that it would be washed away. A long rope was fastened to the chimney and a block and tackle attached and men were engaged this afternoon endeavoring to right it. The water was up about four feet in the building and from appearances part of the timbers supporting it had been washed away or had become loose from the force of the water.

Patrons of the ferry were able to get to and from the boat by means of a long elevated platform. A similar elevated platform was also constructed from a point below Bridge street to the steamer Hampton over which passengers were able to board the steamer and freight conveyed back and forth. The freshet has brought a lot of old logs and debris down river and large quantities of it were floating about at the foot of Main street and along the lower end of Bridge street, which is completely under water. Hundreds of people visited the scene during the day and many snap shots were taken. The freshet is higher this year than at any period since the memorable flood over thirty years ago.

Steamer Purdy Away. The steamer D. J. Purdy left Indiantown this morning on her first trip to the sea since the breaking loose of the dam at the head of the water. Considerable trouble was experienced handling the passengers as a result of the stage for the first time in many years the mail was not carried. The steamer is not restored by tomorrow the Purdy will bring mail to the city on Friday tomorrow.

Telephone Connection. The New Brunswick Telephone Company reported this afternoon that their lines were all in order with the exception of the line between Fredericton and Newcastle. Owing to bridges being out it was impossible just now to get to the capital, but it was hoped soon to have it repaired. Connection had been restored with Fredericton, Woodstock and St. Stephen. Due to some trouble the other side of St. Stephen connection had not been wholly restored with New England but the lines were all right to the border. Both the Western Union Telegraph Company and the C. P. R. Telegraph Company reported everything in good working order though at the office of the latter company it was said that no difficulty was being experienced in handling messages. Good service obtains again on the Canadian Press wire.

KEEN COMPETITION FOR EMIGRANTS

2,800 Left Scotland in Last Week; as Many More This Week—New Ships in Service.

London, May 2.—(Canadian Press).—Keen competition is arising among the steamship companies for the Scottish emigration traffic. A total of 2,800 emigrants left Scottish ports for Canada and the U. S. in the last week end and the number of emigrants departing during the coming week will be as large. One liner also called at Belfast and took 250 aboard for Canada. Several of the steamship lines are putting new ships on this service.

N. Y. Tram Car, Out of Control, Injures 40

New York, May 2.—Forty passengers were injured during the rush hour last night when a tram car on the BMT line ran away from the grade as it approached the Brooklyn end of the structure, leaped the track and crashed into a group of waiting vehicles at the bridge entrance.

The car, containing about seventy passengers, had raced six hundred feet down grade out of control before it left the track.

14 Highway Bridges Destroyed or Damaged In This Province

Estimate of Havoc Wrought by Freshets Will Take Days to Compute.

Mostly All of Wooden Construction—Marysville Structure, six or eight Feet Out of Place, May be Restored With Jacks.

Fredericton, N. B., May 2.—Residents of this city and the flood swept vicinity along the St. John river are commencing today to take stock of the loss occasioned by the record-breaking flood conditions of the last few days.

Fourteen highway bridges were included amongst the number which have been swept away or seriously damaged during the flood in central and southern New Brunswick, according to a survey made this morning.

Among the bridges carried away are the upper international bridge, above Milltown over the St. Croix river, known as the Baring bridge; the Madawaska mouth bridge at Woodstock; and the Nashwaak, Durham and Penniac bridges over the Nashwaak river. In addition to these, the reports show serious damage to the Red Bank bridge over the Miramichi river, a seven span structure which was severely damaged by ice which is now impassable. Clinch bridge at Musquash, an old wooden structure; River St. Charles, Victoria county; the Johnson school house bridge at Napan, Northumberland county; the Marysville steel truss, and two bridges over the Musquash river in Victoria county.

The Madawaska bridge was the first of the large structures to be carried away following the breaking loose of the flood on the St. John river early Monday morning. The Penniac and Durham bridges followed during the course of the day, while the Nashwaak bridge was carried out Monday evening. The Maine end of the international highway bridge at Baring was carried out yesterday, while later today reports said that the Maine end of the bridge at Union Mills over the St. Croix river was carried away. They are mostly of wooden construction.

Marysville Structure. At Marysville it is hoped to be able to replace the steel truss bridge over the Nashwaak there by the use of jacks. The bridge was shifted some six or eight feet out of position at one end. The water in the Nashwaak at noon today had dropped two feet following the crest of the flood which was reached yesterday afternoon.

Danger at Milltown. St. Stephen, May 2.—(Special).—The freshet situation along the St. Croix looks brighter this morning. The water has fallen about six inches and unless something new develops it is thought the worst is about over. Probably the most serious situation now at St. Stephen is the dam at Milltown, where it is feared that the water will undermine the roundabout and machine shops. Large crews are at work at this point. No trains will move from here today, but it is hoped that there may be a train service to McAdam tomorrow.

Repairs At Musquash To Start In About 10 Days

Chief Engineer of Hydro Commission Says Cost Will Not be Heavy—None of Main Part of Dam Gone.

C. O. Foss, chief engineer of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, said today that repairs would be started at Musquash as soon as the water went down sufficiently to permit of it. This, he thought, would take about a week or ten days. He said there seemed to be an impression about that the main concrete part of the dam at Musquash had gone out. As a matter of fact, he said, at the side of the concrete dam, which was uninjured was a mass earthwork through the middle of which ran a concrete support or core about two feet thick. The rush water carried away the earthwork and tipped the core over. The core was no part of the dam itself but was merely placed there to prevent seepage at the sides of the dam. The expense entailed in effecting repairs, he said, would not be very heavy.

CHINESE MINER LIGHTED CIGARETTE; HE AND 32 OTHERS PERISH

Victoria, B. C., May 2.—Jung Low, a Chinese miner was responsible for the explosion in No. 4 mine of the Canadian Collieries at Cumberland, February 8 last, that cost the lives of Jung and thirty-two other miners, according to the report of an investigation of the disaster made by George Wilkinson, official investigator for the Government.

According to Mr. Wilkinson, evidence secured indicated that Jung while working in the mine attempted to light a cigarette, when the charged atmosphere exploded and burst into flames.

C. P. R. Beginning to Get Ahead of Damage

Hope to Get Fredericton and Suburban Services Restored By Tonight

Trains Stalled at McAdam Since Sunday Ordered to Return to City—Will be Routed Over C. N. R.—Temporary Bridges Put Into Gaps.

J. M. Woodman, general superintendent of the C. P. R. New Brunswick district, arrived in the city this morning after being out on the line day and night supervising the construction of temporary bridges cribbing etc. over sections of the roadbed, which was washed away by the floods. He said that between Blagden and Fredericton Junction they had to erect four temporary bridges, while at mile 86.5, between Zimashid and Hoyt, they had to span a gap sixty feet long and twenty-two feet deep. At mile twenty-one the water carried away a section seventy-five feet long and fifteen feet deep. Both these large gaps were repaired early last evening and the crews of men despatched to other scenes. A watchman left on duty, however, sent a rush call for Mr. Woodman at a later night jobing him that a section of the bank above the span at mile twenty-one was being washed away and he was forced to return there and have this section reinforced. This work carried them well into the night and this morning conditions along the line were reported to be in fairly good shape. Train No. 15 and a special from Alberton, which have been stalled at McAdam since Sunday afternoon, were instructed shortly before noon to return to the city to be routed over the C. N. R. and they were expected about 3 o'clock.

Suburban Service. A train left Weldon this morning for McAdam, and it is hoped that by this evening it will have the regular suburban service in operation.

It is expected that trains will be able to get through to Fredericton tonight and if this materializes a regular service will be inaugurated tomorrow. A report from the Maine Central says that there is little hope of getting trains over their lines before Monday morning. The Peniac and Durham bridges followed during the course of the day, while the Nashwaak bridge was carried out Monday evening. The Maine end of the international highway bridge at Baring was carried out yesterday, while later today reports said that the Maine end of the bridge at Union Mills over the St. Croix river was carried away. They are mostly of wooden construction.

Back in 1912, Piccarillo was a gatherer of bottles and other junk, as well as an operator of peeing stands in the Crow's Nest Pass, which was then a wealth and power came rapidly when whiskey running across the Alberta-British Columbia border became profitable some years ago. He was town councillor at Blairmore, and for many months, constantly had the Lassandra girl with him and thus made it impossible for the officers to use the car or the car when he was ordered to stop.

Just before being hanged Piccarillo stated: "You are hanging an innocent man—help him!" His plea to the priest was that the view had not been put over his eyes but of course this was not permitted, as the prison authorities had no authority to grant the request.

Just before the trap was sprung she forgave everybody.

BIG BEER SEIZURE IN MANITOBA

100 Barrels of Beer Taken at C. N. R. Station at St. James.

Winnipeg, May 2.—More than 100 barrels of beer, valued at about $10,000 and billed from Winnipeg to a firm in Prince Albert, Sask., were seized at the Canadian National Railway station at St. James yesterday. The seizure is said to be the largest not only in Manitoba, but in the west.

Sinister Influence At Work In West

Literature of Atheistic and Communistic Nature Said to Have Been Circulated in Winnipeg's Foreign Quarter.

Ottawa, May 2.—That propaganda of a "sinister nature" being circulated in the homes of the foreign quarter in Winnipeg was the chief feature of a report which Rev. S. J. Farmer presented yesterday before a meeting of the local auxiliary of the Canadian Bible Society. With reference to the circulation of propaganda in the foreign section of the western metropolis, Mr. Farmer stated that one of the society's collectors had gathered literature from the homes he had visited. This literature, which Rev. S. J. Farmer said had been printed in Moscow, Ottawa and Toronto, and was being distributed in English, Ukrainian and Polish speaking homes. Rev. Mr. Farmer stated that its purpose seemed to be to lead to, and to eliminate the idea of God out of the minds of the people and, second, to array labor against capital.

First Woman In 24 Years To Pay Death Penalty In Canada

MRS. LASSANDRA DIES ON SCAFFOLD WITH EMILIO PICCARILLO

Convicted of Murder of Constable Lawson in Alberta Last September—Both Protest Innocence to Last.

Edmonton, May 2.—Emilio Piccarillo and Mrs. Florence Lassandra were hanged at Fort Saskatchewan this morning for the murder of Constable Steve Lawson, at Coleman, Alta., last September.

The double hanging was carried out in Fort Saskatchewan prison at daylight. Piccarillo paid the supreme penalty at 5.10 and Mrs. Lassandra at 5.51. Both protested their innocence to the last. Mrs. Lassandra is the first woman to be hanged in Canada for twenty-four years, and the fifth since Confederation.

Barred at every turn in their long fight for freedom, Emilio Piccarillo, "King of the Run Runners," as he was known in the Crow's Nest Pass, and his accomplice, Mrs. Florence Lassandra, spent the last night of their lives in a resigned condition at the provincial jail at Fort Saskatchewan before going on the gallows this morning.

Piccarillo was hanged first at daybreak, followed shortly afterwards by Mrs. Lassandra, who, it was claimed at the Preliminary and Supreme Court trials, was the one who shot the constable Lawson, in his own doorway at Coleman, while two of his children looked on. Piccarillo was sullen and morose. Both were attended during yesterday and last night by Father Fidelis, Catholic priest, who was with them again immediately before the execution. Relatives of the condemned were given permission to have custody of the bodies.

Story of Crime. Although Florence Lassandra in her eleventh hour confession claimed it was not she who killed Lawson, her statement shortly after the shooting was to the effect that she did the shooting, not Piccarillo. It is claimed by the police that Piccarillo in his run running exploits from Fernie, B. C., to Blairmore, and Coleman, Alta., for many months, constantly had the Lassandra girl with him and thus made it impossible for the officers to use the car or the car when he was ordered to stop.

Back in 1912, Piccarillo was a gatherer of bottles and other junk, as well as an operator of peeing stands in the Crow's Nest Pass, which was then a wealth and power came rapidly when whiskey running across the Alberta-British Columbia border became profitable some years ago. As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram" said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I have been asked to deliver an address on the Y. W. C. A. While in a measure proud of the distinction, which is attributed to my good looks and engaging manners, and the partiality, I may say, of the fair sex for my distinguished company, yet I am somewhat at a loss as to what I should say."

"Well, sir," said Hiram, "you might start out by saying that the mothers of the next generation is going to come from among the Y. W. C. A. members, and that the world a little better. You could point out that a gal—if she ain't got no sense—she'll get into a bad way, and that the right kind of folks—has lots that's ready to start her on the wrong road—and how women with little kids sometimes like that there Y. W. C. A.—where she'd get nothin' but good ideas—learn how to take care of herself better in every way. I could tell what I seen around the railroad station about how that Travellers' Aid saved a sick feller she met on the train—and how women with little kids was helped there, too. An' you might wind up by tellin' everybody to be tugged tomorrow—yes, sir."

"I thank you," said the reporter.

Germany Wants Total Sum Fixed At 30 Billion Marks

PROPOSES RAISING TWO-THIRDS BY BOND ISSUE ON INTERNATIONAL MARKET BEFORE 1927

Suggests Alternate Proposition of Decision by International Commission—Maintains Stand on Passive Resistance—Wants First Issue at Once.

Berlin, May 2.—Germany's latest repudiations offer proposes that the sum total of her obligations in cash and kind under the Versailles treaty be fixed at thirty billion gold marks. The German Government in a note made public here today simultaneous with its receipt by the Entente and Washington Governments proposes that twenty billions of the total be raised before July 1, 1927, by a bond issue at normal rates of interest on the international money market. Five billions would be raised before July 1, 1929, in the same manner, and the remaining sum similarly before July 1, 1931.

The note asserts that Germany, in accordance with existing treaties, will also make payments in kind which are to be credited to her account. The note expresses the Government's conviction that the new proposal represent the utmost limit of Germany's capacity to pay, and expresses grave doubt as to whether the offer does not exceed her ability in view of the heavy dislocation and weakening of the Reich's economic organization caused by the Ruhr occupation. 4 PASSENGERS REACH HALIFAX

Were Taken from French Trawler La Provence, Fast in Ice Off Louisiana.

(By Canadian Press). Halifax, N. S., May 2.—Four passengers on the French trawler La Provence, from St. Pierre for Louisbourg, were taken off the ice-bound trawler yesterday by the White Star-Dominion liner Canada and landed here this morning.

The La Provence has been for several days off the ice fifty miles off Louisbourg, with her propeller broken and out of coal. Information received by wireless this morning states that the trawler is in no danger, and that the Uranus, which hopes to tow the disabled craft to Halifax, is on ten miles away and waiting for the ice to break up sufficiently to enable her to get alongside.

Jumping from cake to cake of the heavy gulf ice that had imprisoned them on the La Provence for fourteen days, the four passengers crossed the hundred and fifty yards that separated them from the Canada and safety, in pitch darkness, making one of the most unique escapes in the annals of the North Atlantic. They are Charles Mee, Halifax; Louis W. Parsons, Paris, Director of the Anderson Overseas Corporation; A. O. Johnson, a refrigeration expert and Mayor of the borough of Monmouth Beach, New Jersey; and Captain Emmanuel Domingos of the United Fisheries Co., Gloucester.

Kyle and Cymric Queen. North Sydney, N. S., May 2.—No change in the position or condition of either S. S. Kyle or S. S. Cymric Queen was reported today. The Kyle, with a broken propeller, is still fast in the ice eighteen miles southeast of St. Paul's Island and as firmly stationary as if she were aground. The Cymric Queen reported a light west wind and smooth sea with ice and ship conditions unchanged at Black Breakers, where she is aground on a reef.

SAYS DRY RULING WILL BE A BOON TO HALIFAX PORT

Montreal Star Takes View That Supreme Court Decision Will Make Every Atlantic Liner Make Halifax Port of Call Unless Some Other Expedient Devised.

(Canadian Press Despatch). Montreal, May 1.—The Star says editorially: "The Supreme Court has struck a resounding blow for Halifax. We look towards them and we likewise bow." If the American law-makers and law interpreters insist upon setting up shipping regulations which will practically require every Atlantic liner to call at Halifax, the economic and political situation of the province of Nova Scotia, Halifax has been calling out loudly for more ocean shipping lines to make this passing call on Halifax. It is most unlikely that this state of affairs will be very bitterly resented in the conservative temperate province of Nova Scotia. ### LIZARDS EAT OWN TAILS.

During Babyhood Reptiles Enjoy Queer Menu.

London, (By Mail)—Two baby stamp-tailed lizards were born at the London Zoological Gardens, Regent's Park, N. W., the other day, about which "L. G. M." makes some interesting observations in The London Daily Mail.

The mother, which arrived recently, very carefully made their toilet with her tongue and then left them alone. The keeper packed the black and yellow mites in a cardboard box and removed them.

So fat and "squat" are the tails of these creatures that it is difficult to judge, the relic was genuine. The pump tail, however, has its uses. It contains a ladder of food which the lizard uses as a "stork account." Just as a baby fish lives on its yolk-sac until it vanishes, so the young lizards will feed on it.

Whether it will be possible to rear them remains to be seen. The prospect is not too hopeful, which is a pity, for these queer creatures are slowly diminishing in numbers.

The yellow of an egg with perhaps a kind of banana gruel will be tried when their tails become empty.

The holoderm—the only lizard with true poison fangs—also has this queer birthday gift of a ladder in its tail.

CHURCH PROPERTY INCLUDES RELIC

London, April 19.—(By Mail)—At a vestry meeting at Charing, a village in Kent, an inventory of church property, dated 1552, was produced. Among the articles enumerated in it is one described as the block on which St. John the Baptist was beheaded. This was said to have been brought from Palestine by Richard Coeur de Lion in the 12th Century, and presented to the church.

AGED BANDSMAN DEAD.

James Russell Was Indian Mutiny Veteran—Well-Known Musician.

Toronto, May 2.—Well-known in militia ranks and in the Musicians' Union, James Russell, of 1064 St. Clarena avenue died recently. He was in his 82nd year, and had been in very poor health for three years, death being due to old age. In appearance he was very much like the late Lord Roberts, and was affectionately called by that name.

Born in Ireland, he served ten years with the 53rd Shropshires, and served for three years in the Indian Mutiny, during which time he took part in the Relief of Lucknow. He was one of the few survivors of Sir Gordon Campbell's command which earned undying fame there.

His regiment was sent to Canada when the Fenian Raid broke out, but it did not arrive in time to take part in active fighting, and was stationed first at London, Ont., and then at Quebec Citadel. He left the army in 1868, and during the years following belonged to a number of famous bands in the United States, Queen's Own, Mass. and Heintzman's.

For the last 89 years, he had lived for the most part in Toronto, and for ten years had been a resident of Earlscourt, living with his wife's sister, Mrs. J. W. Taylor. He was an Episcopalian in religion. Surviving are his widow and one grandson, Urban Geary, of 88 Springhurst ave.

CALGARY STUDIES MEANS TO PROVIDE FOR STORK

Calgary, Alta., May 2.—The health committee of the local Council of Women has asked Mayor Webster to have the city open a "stork account."

The plan is to have expectant mothers deposit a small sum each week with the city treasurer, to relieve her of anxiety during the stork's arrival, and assure her of adequate medical care.

The trouble with the usual installment plan, the women found, was that it became effective after the child had been born, and proved hard to meet with additional family expenses.

$5,000 YACHT BURNED.

Boat Factory Destroyed at Lachine.

Montreal, May 2.—A yacht, valued at $5,000, was destroyed, and three other boats were damaged, as was also an automobile, when fire broke out in a large wooden building, used as a yacht factory, by W. Jeffrey, at the corner of Seventh avenue and St. Joseph street in Lachine, recently. When the firemen, under Chief Dutocher arrived the rear part of the building was completely destroyed, and the yacht had already been destroyed. The firemen succeeded in preventing the spreading of the flames to the remainder of the factory. The blaze was under control in half an hour. Shortly after noon fire broke out in a house, owned by Fred Gibbs, 11 1/2 Thirty-fourth avenue, Lachine, and caused damage estimated at $500. The house was under construction and was unoccupied.

WORLD'S LARGEST VAT HOLDS 66,250 GALLONS OF BEER

Lahr, Baden, May 2.—The famous Heidelberg tub, whose capacity is 66,250 gallons, has been de-throned as the world's largest of casks. Its successor, capable of holding 66,250 gallons, has been built here by an enterprise which plans to produce alcoholic spirits after a new process.

The tub's new hoghead measures 21 feet 6 inches across and stands some 21 feet high. Its twelve great metal hoops, while the staves are more than four inches thick and the bottom has a thickness of more than five inches. Thirty cubic meters of wood were required to turn out the tub.

Its 220 cubic meters in capacity would suffice to provide 1,200 persons with bath water and it would hold enough beer to supply the average German family for 1,000 years.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT HERO WILL MARRY

London, April 19.—(By mail)—The engagement is announced of Commander Kenneth Mackenzie-Grieve, A. F. C., R. N., who acted as pilot for Mr. Hawker in his daring attempt to fly the Atlantic, and Janet, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Baddeley of Didsley, Hanley.

Commander Mackenzie-Grieve, who is the youngest son of Captain and Mrs. Mackenzie-Grieve of Drexford, Hanley, is now in his forty-third year, and had spent many years in the navy prior to his association with Mr. Hawker.

For a time, during the war, he was in charge of a fleet of trawlers operating in the Irish Sea, and subsequently commanded the Campanis, which was a sea-plane carrier, and which had the ill-luck at a later period to founder during a terrific gale in the Firth of Forth.

He had retired from the navy and was living at Drexford, which, by the way, is also Vice-Admiral Sturdee's village, at the time when his services as a navigator were requisitioned for the prospective flight in May, 1919.

The two airmen, it will be recalled, started off from Newfoundland in the direction of Iceland. After halting a

First I would head straight for a two-toned sport Oxford of Grey Ulla Calf—like watered Silk—the one with the Frenchy toe having a loop seam of Patent, which reappears on the saddle and facing. The fairly low heel, the Goodyear welting, the medium sole and lining of White Kid make one love it all over. Widths A, B, C and D—$9.85.

And if I thought of two at once, I would have to possess a Blucher Oxford of Biege Suede, aproned in dark Tan Calf. The line of the toe, the happy medium heel, the White Kid lining, the welting and all make it neck and neck winner with that Gray and Black—these two lead the procession. Widths B, C and D, $9.50.

And a regular bouncing success for streets wet and dry, for every outdoor fun, is a sport Oxford (Crepe). Drop it down and watch it fly up. Dark Tan Goodyear welted—widths B, C and D, $6.50.

THE FRESHETS.

A gravel bank, which it was believed was a perfectly safe natural barrier, was the cause of the trouble at Musquash. By the washing away of this bank a body of water was set in motion that carried away a portion of an earth dam on the West Branch and caused a flood which cost one life and forced several families to flee for their lives, leaving their homes to be destroyed or damaged by the flood, which also swept away a highway bridge and washed out a portion of the railway. The most unpleasant freshets that have done so much damage elsewhere in the province leved their toll at Musquash. But this was not the only dam to be carried away. There was one at Woodstock, another at Sussex, another at Milltown, and doubtless others in various places.
The general damage done by the floods in the southern and central portions of the province runs into millions. That at Musquash was but part of the widespread loss, and but for the sacrifice of a life would not be regarded as seriously as some others. The East Branch dams of the Musquash are unharmed, and the hydro-electric current is not interrupted. The damage on the West Branch will be repaired, and it is highly improbable that such a flood will be encountered again for very many years. Last winter was quite unprecedented in severity and in depth of snow, and the spring freshets have had a corresponding record.
There is universal sympathy for all who have been forced to vacate their homes or suffer loss as a result of the onset of raging waters, and for those in need the response will be prompt when the conditions are revealed. The snow had been melting away so gradually that up to Sunday last there was a general belief the freshets would not be as great as had been feared before the spring came; but the heavy and continuous downpour, and the high wind of Saturday to Monday wrought quick and dreadful havoc.
Much money and labor will be required to remove the traces of this calamity. While the loss to individuals and firms and corporations is heavy, the Provincial Department of Public Works will be called on to make large expenditures to repair or replace highway bridges and restore portions of the roads to good condition.
St. John is deeply concerned over the result of the floods at Musquash, but has no reason to fear that the supply of hydro-electric current will be interrupted. There is an ample supply for present needs, and the work of repairs to enlarge the quantity to meet later requirements when this city is ready to take the current will of course be pushed by the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. Considering what has happened in other parts of the province the conditions at Musquash might easily have been much worse.

ACTION IS NEEDED.

Commissioner Frink and his department are to be congratulated on the success of the system of drainage of the Allison playground at the entrance to Rockwood Park. There is very little water on any part of its surface, and a week of warm and fine weather would make a wonderful change.
But the Commissioner and his department must do more. A large area has been given the necessary raised surface, and has been graded, and the foundation for the running track laid down; but it is not yet a playground. The Playgrounds Association, the Rotary and Guro Clubs are urging that what has been so well begun be completed, as far as a running track and football field (which may also be a baseball field) are concerned. Our athletes must have a proper field on which to practise and play their games. They teams from time to time. Whether it can have a shelter in which to change their attire. The enlargement of the playground is a matter of the completion of this work. There is also the problem of how to raise funds to conduct contests with outside amateur teams from time to time. Whether it be solved by a grandstand without a general admission fee on such occasions must be considered for such contests we must have or the grounds will fall of a large part of their usefulness. This whole matter might well be made the subject of a conference between a group of men representing the organizations already named with others in desirable, and the City Council. It may be that the Commissioner may be relieved of a part of the task of putting these grounds in shape if public spirited citizens will undertake some responsibility. By whatever method the work is to be done and the playgrounds conducted the need of action is urgent. We are at the beginning of the play season, and no time should be lost. This is a matter of community interest, and deserves the most earnest and prompt consideration.

TOMORROW'S APPEAL.

The Y. W. C. A. is making its appeal to the citizens of St. John tomorrow. It is because of the faith and courage of a strong group of women that the Association exists in the city. They saw the need, and labored earnestly, not sparing themselves, to get the work established. The results have been of the most valuable character, and it would be a very severe loss to the girlhood of the city, and to girls from other places employed here if the Association were closed. It is a needed institution. In the words of the circular letter that has been sent out: "There never was a time when the Y. W. C. A. was more needed in St. John than at present. It is a tragic time for girls in the city. Therefore, such an institution as the Y. W. C. A. which makes a home for them and throws around them a measure of protection as well as teaching them how to develop along right lines should not call in vain to the citizens of St. John for help."
Apart from the work with and for girls, that of the Travellers Aid, which is found in every city, deserves heavy support. Tomorrow's appeal deserves a very general and generous response. To quote once more: "The Y. W. C. A. is an institution which seeks to show young women how to live—rather than how to make a living. It brings within reach of the under-privileged girl good cheer, friends and helpful activities, and strives by its four-fold programme to fit girls to live up to the responsibilities that the future may have in store for them."
Referring to the International Court of Justice, in which he wants the United States to be represented, President Harding said last week: "The perfected court must be a matter of development. I earnestly commend it because it is a great step in the right direction toward the peaceful settlement of justiciable questions, toward the elimination of frictions which lead to war, and a surer agency of international justice through the application of law than can be hoped for in arbitration which is influenced by the prejudices of men and the expediency of politics."
For many years the forests of hardwood in New Brunswick have been harvested without such results as the wealth of raw material would warrant. Now that they are traversed by railways there is said to be a good prospect of the development of an industry. Cheap power should be an incentive. We must look to the development of our natural resources to help our people. Our seaboard location opens up to the markets of the world. We must look to the sea and not to the prairies for relief from stagnation.

THE RIGHT CONCEPTION.

Judge Cabot, of the Juvenile Court of Boston, remarked the other day that some judges think a court is put there to punish offenders, but he himself felt that the last thing to put in their hearts is fear. He said further: "The duty of the court is to recognize the child as a growing person who is to become a member of the community. These children belong in the home and the church and are entitled to normal enjoyment. It is the duty of the court to give them greater abundance of healthy activity, but it cannot keep on doing it. The court points out what the youngster needs, and works through the co-operation of organized societies such as the Children's Friend Society."
There are still too many people who are suspicious of the Juvenile Court, and fear that it would not benefit a city. They have an entirely wrong conception of its purpose and its method of work. With the probation system associated with it, the influence upon the lives of young offenders is most valuable, and the judge and probation officers are able to do much toward the improvement of homes from which delinquents come. The purpose of the court is not to punish but to save the child.

SLAVES OF HABIT.

His Play—If men were only not such slaves of habit. Oh, don't glass, my dear, I don't mean terrible habits—just silly little habits that are almost a part of a man's character. The early morning habit of being a bit grouchy, for example. For it is only a habit. Most men could come to the breakfast table bright and smiling—if they would only get over the bad habit of wishing to feel grouchy. And the masculine habit of uneasiness! Ever stop to think of that? Mercy, you'd imagine a man was a bundle of exposed nerves, the manner of uneasiness he has. When, actually, it is only a habit!
His Counter-Play—Yes, we men are pretty bad. I suppose you are unaware that the ladies have a few little unpleasant habits. I think that the feminine habit which works the most annoyance around the domestic hearth is that of being expectant. What in the world do you women always look so expectant about? As if you expected a birthday present, or the roof to fall on your head, or a runaway horse to stop at your door? That is one thing which certainly does cause wonder in the manly bosom—what does she expect to happen now? And it's only a habit of character, I suppose!
The Reference—Seems to me it is about fifty-fifty today. They both score.

NEVER MAY THE FRUIT BE PLUCKED

(From Harper's Magazine)
Never, never may the fruit be plucked from the bough.
And gathered into barrels.
He that would eat of love must eat it where it hangs.
Though the ripened fruit splash in the grass, and whistles on the breeze.
He that would eat of love may bear away with him.
Only when his belly can hold,
Nothing in the apron,
Nothing in the pockets,
Never, never may the fruit be gathered from the bough.
And harvested in barrels.
The winter of love in a cellar of empty bins.
In an orchard soft with rot.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

His Three Reasons.
A Scottish minister was indelicate in looking up his folk one day called upon a parishioner.
"Richard," he said, "I have not seen ye at the kirk for some time, and wad like to know the reason."
"Weel, sir," Richard, "I hae three different objections to goin'." "Firstly, I dinna believe in being whaur ye does at the kirk's services, and I dinna believe in being whaur ye does at the kirk's services, and I dinna believe in being whaur ye does at the kirk's services."
The Horse's Speed Limit.
Before our agricultural population had taken so enthusiastically to the automobile, two farmers drove into town in an old spring wagon, and the driver of this vehicle had just been incorporated, and among the evidences of this was a speed limit of ten miles an hour. Observing this, the driver began whipping up his steed vigorously.
"What's yo' hurry?" demanded his companion in mild astonishment.
"But I dunno if I can make it or not!"—Everybody's Magazine.

FRUITS OF PROHIBITION.

Prohibition has not hurt the automobile industry according to figures from the United States Internal Revenue Department. For the eight months beginning July 1, 1922, and ending February 28, 1923, the tax receipts on automobiles, and motor-cycles increased from $7,472,866.05 to $89,516,202.92 over the same period in the previous year.
Inmates of county jails in Connecticut fell in number from 12,827 in 1915 to 6,111 in 1922. This was a cut of more than half. The number of persons committed to county jails for drunkenness dropped from 5,124 in 1915 to 1,468 in 1922—a decline of 72 per cent. Reports of arrests for drunkenness in 15 leading cities of Connecticut showed declines ranging from 28 per cent. to 87 per cent.

THE WHYNES OF WHAT.

(Providence Journal.)
Professor Dunlap, of the Department of Experimental Psychology at Johns Hopkins, has started something. On being asked what the psychology is of the men and women who take part in endurance dancing contests, he asks: "Why do fat men take part in races at all? Why do people hold pie-eating contests or go in for athletic sports or college athletics? Well, now, it gets to look as if psychology were going to be really interesting."

Scandinavia's Patriotism In Co-Operation

Denmark, Norway and Sweden have found the best expression of their national spirit in friendly co-operation. Instead of in conflict, writes Hannu Astrup Larsen, in an article on "A New Patriotism in Northern Lands" in Our World for May. Describing how their close relations have come about, he says: "When the Scandinavians first make their appearance in European history, it is as the scourge of Greece falling over peaceful communities and leaving desolation where they pass. Yet these ruthless warriors, from whose feet the old British monks prayed to be delivered, very early developed higher ideals of heroism and manly deeds."
"If we ask how the descendants of the Vikings have become the most determinedly peaceful nations of modern Europe, one answer is: Their numerical weakness has prevented them from playing an aggressive role and has forced them to turn their energies into the upbuilding of their own instead of the destruction of their neighbors' realms."
"The numerical smallness of the Scandinavian nations has been their weakness; but from their weakness has sprung their strength. They have developed a peculiar intensity of patriotism, a tenderness and fervor which of the larger countries feel rather for our family, our village or our college than for the great land that stretches from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Perhaps it is the sense that in a small country everybody matters; the builders cannot afford to reject even the humblest stone if it has any possibilities of usefulness. At the same time the influence of the Scandinavian states in the world concert has grown through the tendency to co-operation, which has been quite marked for several decades, and has increased steadily since 1905."
"The peaceful parting of ways between Norway and Sweden, in 1905, under a gunboat, will certainly go down to history as one of the most encouraging transactions in our time. The circle of the irritations resulting from an unequal union seemed to penetrate the latent friendliness between the Scandinavian peninsula, and the outbreak of the World War found them as good friends as they could be. They were not to be broken. Denmark was no danger that the three Northern nations should, of their own free will, bear arms against each other, but would they be allowed to follow their own will? Might they not be forced to take opposing sides? This was the great danger, and therefore the declaration of neutrality passed by Sweden and Norway, in 1905, for their own people as against possible coercion on the part of the belligerents. Yet the circle was not complete as Denmark was not included."
"The man who found the right way and took the initiative was King Gustaf of Sweden. With a magnanimity and largeness of spirit that will rarely be forgotten by his neighbors on the Scandinavian peninsula, he laid aside all personal grievances and stretched out the hand of comradeship by inviting the kings of Norway and Denmark to a conference at any place they might designate. They chose Malmo, the Swedish city which was nearest to the geographical centre of Scandinavia, and the meeting opened December 18, 1914."
"The agreement thus entered into, which was the strain and stress of the war, in spite of complications, overtures, outrages of all kinds, and infringement of neutrality. Whatever the separate sympathies or interests of the three nations might be, one fact remained paramount: The faith pledged must not be broken."

CHANGED CONDITIONS.

(London Morning Post).
England no longer enjoys the advantages she utilized after the First World War. The great industrial age began. The discoveries of coal and iron, the consequent swift development of factories, and the rapid increase of population, gave England the opportunity of supplying a devastated Europe with all the commodities it required. Even so there was an interval of great distress and confusion. Today, England no longer occupies the position she held in fact, has been taken by the United States. Nor does the future promise any such recovery as occurred during the first half of the Nineteenth Century. America has more raw material and greater productive power than England. She has other formidable rivals, instead of paying her debts, has restored her industries. France, largely self-sufficient, is producing more goods than she can consume. England, Russia as a great trading nation has ceased to exist.

BLOOD-AND-THUNDER.

(Cape Argus, South Africa).
A good deal of claptrap is often talked in regard to the pernicious influence (so-called) of blood-and-thunder tales, very boyish, boys will be boys. A healthy-minded boy will take no harm from the wildest and most improbable tale told him, but if he is ever to be a man, he must be trained to face back—in the earlier training of the child-mind. Still, it is in every respect to be desired that the tales which are taken to exercise from the pictures whatever is obviously objectionable should be calculated to do harm. Whenever vice is dressed up in false colors, there is a real danger of its leading to evil.

The discoveries of coal and iron, the consequent swift development of factories, and the rapid increase of population, gave England the opportunity of supplying a devastated Europe with all the commodities it required. Even so there was an interval of great distress and confusion. Today, England no longer occupies the position she held in fact, has been taken by the United States. Nor does the future promise any such recovery as occurred during the first half of the Nineteenth Century. America has more raw material and greater productive power than England. She has other formidable rivals, instead of paying her debts, has restored her industries. France, largely self-sufficient, is producing more goods than she can consume. England, Russia as a great trading nation has ceased to exist.

BLOOD-AND-THUNDER.

(Cape Argus, South Africa).
A good deal of claptrap is often talked in regard to the pernicious influence (so-called) of blood-and-thunder tales, very boyish, boys will be boys. A healthy-minded boy will take no harm from the wildest and most improbable tale told him, but if he is ever to be a man, he must be trained to face back—in the earlier training of the child-mind. Still, it is in every respect to be desired that the tales which are taken to exercise from the pictures whatever is obviously objectionable should be calculated to do harm. Whenever vice is dressed up in false colors, there is a real danger of its leading to evil.

FRUITS OF PROHIBITION.

Prohibition has not hurt the automobile industry according to figures from the United States Internal Revenue Department. For the eight months beginning July 1, 1922, and ending February 28, 1923, the tax receipts on automobiles, and motor-cycles increased from $7,472,866.05 to $89,516,202.92 over the same period in the previous year.
Inmates of county jails in Connecticut fell in number from 12,827 in 1915 to 6,111 in 1922. This was a cut of more than half. The number of persons committed to county jails for drunkenness dropped from 5,124 in 1915 to 1,468 in 1922—a decline of 72 per cent. Reports of arrests for drunkenness in 15 leading cities of Connecticut showed declines ranging from 28 per cent. to 87 per cent.

IMMIGRATION.

(Le Canada)
If by a high birth rate, immigration and effective remedies against the present exodus, we can get our population increased in the next decade in a manner conformable with the extent and ambitions of our vast country, we shall bring to our financial problems and the heavy taxation which follow in their train an effective solution, which will contribute to the betterment of all classes.

THE WHYNES OF WHAT.

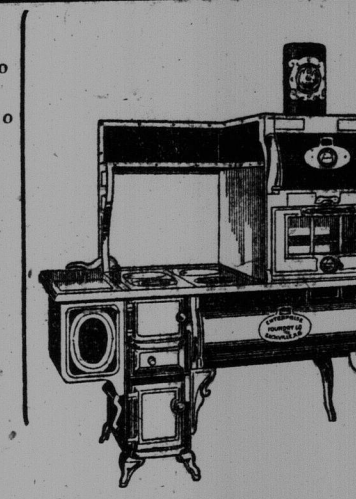

(Providence Journal.)
Professor Dunlap, of the Department of Experimental Psychology at Johns Hopkins, has started something. On being asked what the psychology is of the men and women who take part in endurance dancing contests, he asks: "Why do fat men take part in races at all? Why do people hold pie-eating contests or go in for athletic sports or college athletics? Well, now, it gets to look as if psychology were going to be really interesting."

THE NEW VERNON.

(P. P. A.) in New York World
If the advertising worshippers ever take time to sing, as they always do at the community sings of the Get-together Club, they probably chant: "My country, 'tis of thee, Land of publicty, Of thee I sing, Land of the railroad ride, Of signs of Herpicide, Sooney, and Multisided, And everything."

THE SHRINKING DOLLAR.

(Indianapolis News).
There is no absolutely fixed measure of value in the nature of things can be so such measure. But it does not seem fair to put all the blame on the standard and to acquit altogether the multitudinous commodities to which it is applied, which shift in their relations to one another quite as much as in their relations to the dollar. If trade were carried on by barter we should see the same phenomena, and would presumably be asked to believe that the bushel of wheat had shrunk, had "swelled," though the bushel of wheat might at the same time change for more shoe value than ever before.

COST OF SUIT OF CLOTHES.

That in 1922 a farmer must sell the wool of one fifty sheep in order to buy one suit of made-to-measure clothes was the statement made to the committee other day by Hon. C. M. Hamilton, Minister of Agriculture for Saskatchewan. Mr. Hamilton stated that the cost of the same suit of clothes had risen from $38 in 1914 to $65 in 1922. Wool, valued at sixty cents per pound in 1914, had decreased in value to eighteen cents in 1922. Members of the committee estimated the average wool clip per sheep at about seven pounds.

FIFTY YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE CELEBRATED

Old Times Recalled by Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Marks.

(Moncton Transcript, Monday)
Mr. and Mrs. John H. Marks are today celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, and Moncton citizens unite in congratulating this esteemed couple on the happy event and in wishing them many years to come of wedded happiness. Few residents of Moncton are held in as high respect by their fellow citizens as Mr. and Mrs. Marks. The whole half-century has been spent in this city. They have taken an active part in the life of the community and their influence has always been for the best. In social matters, in church matters and in all useful spheres Mr. and Mrs. Marks have given of their time and means and the community is better on account of their efforts. In the business life of the city, Mr. Marks has always been a prominent figure, well known for his upright and integrity which acquired for him the wide circle of friends which also came to Mrs. Marks in her domestic associations.

Mr. Marks has been an elder of St. John's Presbyterian Church for thirty-six years and has always taken an active part in the government of this institution. At 11 o'clock on the morning of April 30th, 1873, at the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Pettitodiac, was performed a ceremony by the Rev. Culbert Willis uniting in the holy bonds of matrimony Augusta A. Humphreys and John H. Marks. Fifty years have elapsed since that event took place and Mr. and Mrs. Marks are celebrating the anniversary in their quiet way today with their children and grandchildren at their home, 185 Botsford street.

Mr. Marks was born in Ireland in 1844, emigrating in 1870 to Portland, Maine. In 1870 with a Mr. Charles F. Merriman of Maine, he engaged in the manufacture of carriages and sleighs, in a factory situated at the corner of Polle River Road and Bellway street, Pettitodiac. Their goods soon acquired a reputation for excellence, but the market proximity to Pettitodiac being limited, Mr. Marks decided that the fast growing town of Moncton offered greater possibilities for his business and removed here about the year 1872. His partner Mr. Merriman returned to his former home. Mr. Marks' carriage factory was located on Mechanic street, and as in Pettitodiac his carriage soon became popular. Honest workmanship was his objective and proof of this fact is that some of his carriages are on the roads today, after thirty-five years of continuous use. Fire destroyed his plant on no less than four occasions and handicapped as he was by heavy losses, he built three times. After the last fire in 1914 which devastated

Mechanic street and included his factory, he decided owing to advancing years and the increasing use of motor vehicles, to retire from business. Owning considerable property in this district, he developed it by building warehouses which have been a means of attracting several large outside concerns to Moncton. His business was not his only occupation. He has been an elder in the Presbyterian church for several years, and a pillar of strength to that institution. He has also served as a director of the Y. M. C. A. For years he held the office of Chief of the Fire Department of this city. Although retired from business, Mr. Marks still remains active and his facilities are unimpaired.

During all these years Mrs. Marks has been a faithful wife and helpful partner. She has retained much of the youthful charm and vigour she displayed as a bride on that beautiful April morning fifty years ago. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. Hiram Humphreys and his wife Mary Crawford, who early settled at the head of the Pettitodiac, the official name of the Post Office which was the largest trading centre between Sussex and Moncton. There was no Pettitodiac Village until after the year 1857. Her parents were of direct Loyalist descent. Mr. Humphreys conducted a general store business which he established during the year 1848. It is interesting to hear that Mrs. Marks recalls the condition of this part of the province before the railway was built and when Moncton was only a village.

Mr. and Mrs. Marks had eight children who with the exception of Mrs. S. O. Humphreys are still living. The children are Ex-Ald. William E. Marks of this city; Miss Ada and Miss Georgia at home; Mrs. Horatio McKenna of this city; Mrs. D. W. H. Magee of St. John; Mrs. A. J. Crilly and Mr. Harry Marks of this city. They also have eleven grandchildren.

It might be mentioned that while Mr. Marks is quite an aged man he has not had many birthdays, because he was born on the 29th of February.

WHAT IS EXPECTED OF SCHOOL NURSE

(United States Public Health Service.)
The school nurse, says the United States Public Health Service in a recent release, should have good health, sound ancestry, tactful and equable temperament, and love for and understanding of children. In addition to her regular training and health work she should have some experience in public health nursing, in the essentials of nutrition, and in school sanitation. If she also possesses some knowledge of matters that seem more properly to belong to the work of the school physician, so much the better.

In general, one nurse should be assigned to from 1,000 to 2,000 pupils, the exact number depending on the physical conditions prevailing in the school district. In rural communities, the exact number of children assigned to one nurse. If the school nurses are under the jurisdiction of the health authorities, public health and school work can be combined, thus greatly reducing duplication in home visiting; in this case the quota assigned to one nurse might be reduced to 500.

The "routine" duties of each school nurse, whether working with a full time or a half time health office, comprise: (1) a daily meeting, preferably in the morning, in a room set aside for the purpose, for all inspection, instruction, and disposition of all children referred to her who are suspected to be suffering from communicable diseases, from parasitic skin infections, or from any complaint calling for emergency help; (2) frequent inspections of classrooms for discovering unreported cases of communicable diseases, and for ascertaining the health of the children, ventilation, and illumination of rooms and the seating of the pupils; (3) giving health instruction to pupils and to teachers; (4) doing follow-up work; and (5) observing the sanitary condition of the school buildings and grounds.

Special duties depend a good deal on whether the school physician is working on whole or half time. Where whole-time physicians are employed the work of the nurse is commonly confined to assist them; where volunteer or half-time physicians are employed her work may include much wider duties, which are of course done under the physician's direction. Much of the more obvious defects of children among such duties is that of making physical inspections for the detection of the more obvious defects of children and the referring of children found to be handicapped to the physician for confirmation of diagnosis and for advice as to proper treatment.

Other special duties, such as holding special classes, open-air schools, and school clinics, are rarely undertaken in cities except by physicians. In rural districts, however, where the demand for health work is much greater than the supply, the nurse will often be called upon to act as representative of the State health officer in the control of communicable diseases and in giving instruction on posture, nutrition and general health.

The Breaking Point

By Mary Roberts Rinehart

(Copyright 1922, by Mary Roberts Rinehart, Published by Arrangement With McClure's Magazine.)

"Will you have some coffee? I can get a class from the bathroom. It takes a week to get a waiter here."

"Thanks. Yes."

The feeling of uneasiness grew in the reporter's mind. It increased still further when they sat opposite each other at the small table with its Bible on the lower shelf between them, while he made a pretence at breakfasting.

"First of all," Dick said, at last, "was not sure I had found the right man. You are the only Basset in the place, however, and you're registered from my town. So I took a chance. I suppose that headache was not genuine."

Bassett hesitated.

"No," he said at last.

"What you really wanted to do was to see me, then?"

"In a way, yes."

"I'll ask you one more question. It may clear the air. Does this mean anything to you? I'll tell you now that it doesn't, to me."

From his pocketbook he took the note addressed to David, and passed it over the table. Bassett looked at it quickly and took it.

"Before you read it, I'll explain something. It was not sent to me. It was sent to my—Doctor David Livingstone. It happened to fall into my hands. I've come a long way to find out what it means."

He paused, and looked the reporter straight in the eyes. "I'm laying my cards on the table, Bassett. This 'G' man, I've even got the parts of your uncle against you. I want to know what he is warning him about."

Bassett read the note carefully, and looked up.

"I suppose you know who 'G' is?"

"I do not. Do you?"

"I'll give you another name, and maybe you'll get it. A name that I think will mean something to you, Beverly Carlyle."

"The actress?"

Bassett had an extraordinary feeling of uneasiness, followed by one of doubt. Either the fellow was a darned good actor, or—

"Sorry," Dick said slowly. "I don't seem to get it. I don't know that 'G' is as important as his warning. That note's a warning."

"Yes. It's a warning. And I don't think you need to tell me to tell you what about."

"Concerning my uncle, or myself?"

"Are you trying to put it over on me that you don't know?"

"That's what I'm trying to do," Dick said, with a sort of grave patience.

The reporter liked courage, when he saw it, and he was feeling a reluctant admiration by that time.

"You've got your courage with you," he observed. "How long do you suppose it will be after you set foot on the streets of this town, before you're arrested? How do you know I won't send for the police myself?"

"I know damned well you won't," Dick said grimly. "Not before I'm through with you. You've chosen to interest yourself in me. I suppose you don't deny the imputation in that letter. You'll grant that I have a right to know who and what you are, and just what you are interested in."

"Right-o," the reporter said cheerfully, glad to get to grips, and to stop fencing that was getting nowhere. "I'm connected with the Times Republican, in your own fair city. I was in the theatre the night Gregory recognised you. Verbum sap."

"This Gregory is 'G'?"

"Oh, quit it, Clark," Bassett said, suddenly impatient. "That letter's the last proof I needed. Gregory wrote it after he'd seen David Livingstone. He wouldn't have written it if he and the old man hadn't come to an understanding. I've been to the cabin. My God, man, I've even got the parts of your clothing that wouldn't burn! You can

"unpleasant" startled Bassett by its very inadequacy. He knew now that David had built up for him an identity that probably did not exist, but he wanted Bassett to know that there could never be any doubt of David's high purpose and his essential fitness.

"Whatever I was before," he finished simply, "and I'll get that from you now, I am any sort of a man at all it is his work."

He stood up and braced himself. It had been clear to Bassett for ten minutes that Dick was talking against time, against the period of revelation. He would have it, but he was mentally bracing himself against it.

"I think he said, 'I'll have that whiskey now.'"

Bassett poured him a small drink, and took a turn about the room while he drank it. He was perplexed and apprehensive. Strange as the story was, he was convinced that he had heard the truth. He had, now and then, run across men who came back after a brief disappearance, with a cock and ball story of forgetting who they were, and because nearly always these men vanished at the peak of some crisis they had always been open to suspicion. Perhaps, poor devil, they had been telling the truth after all. So he closed like a grave over the unbearable!

His own part in the threatening catastrophe began to obsess him. Without the warning from Gregory there would have been no return to Norada, and he himself had revived it. And a girl, too! The girl in the blue dress at the theatre, of course. Dick put down the glass.

"I'm ready, if you are."

"Does the name of Clark recall anything to you?"

"Nothing."

"Judson Clark? Jud Clark?"

Dick passed his hand over his forehead, wearily.

"I'm not sure," he said. "It sounds familiar, and then it doesn't. It doesn't mean anything to me, if you get that. It's a key, it doesn't unlock. That's all. Am I Judson Clark?"

"Oddly enough, Bassett found himself more seeking for hope of escape in the very situation that had previously irritated him, in the story he had heard from Gregory."

He considered, and said, almost violently:

"Look here, I may have made a mistake. I came out here pretty well convinced I'd found the solution to an old mystery, and for that matter I think I know there's a twist in it, that isn't clear, and until it is clear I'm not going to saddle you with an identity that may not belong to you. You are one of two men. One of them is Judson Clark, but I'll be honest with you. I'm pretty sure you're Clark. The other I don't know, but I have reason to believe that he spent part of his was it. I couldn't remember Maggie Donaldson. The woman in the cabin. And Jack. Jack Donaldson."

He got up, and was apparently disconcerted for he caught at the table.

"Look here, Bassett said, 'let me give you a drink. You look all in.'"

"No, thanks just the same. I'll ask you to be plain with me, Bassett. I'm not proud of it, but it's the fact. What I want to know is to fill in the gap. I owe it to you—see, I owe it to the girl."

And, when Bassett only continued to stare at him:

"I suppose I've begun wrong end first. I forgot about how it must seem to you. I dropped a block out of my life about ten years ago. I'm not proud of it, but it's the fact. What I'm trying to do now is to fill in the gap. I owe it to you—see, I owe it to the girl."

When Bassett could find apparently nothing to say, he went on:

"You say I may be arrested, if I go out on the street. And you rather more than intimate that a woman named Beverly Carlyle is mixed up in it somehow. I take it that I know her."

"Yes, you know her," Bassett said slowly. At his tone Dick flinched.

"I wasn't married to her?"

"No. You didn't marry her?"

"See here, Clark, this is straight goods, is it? You're not trying to put something over on me? Because if you are, you needn't. I'd about made up my mind to follow the story through my own satisfaction, and then you cold on it. When a man's pulled himself out of the mud as you have it's not my business to pull him out. But I don't want you to pull any bunk."

Dick winced.

"Out of the mud?" he said. "No, I'm telling you the truth, Bassett. I have some fragmentary memories, pieces and people, but no names, and all of them, I imagine from my childhood. I picked up at a cabin in the country, with snow around, and David Livingstone feeding me soup with a tin spoon. He tried to smile and failed. His face twitched. 'I can't stand it for myself,' he said, 'but I've tied another life to mine, like a cursed fool, and now you speak of a woman, and arrest. Arrest! For what?'"

"Suppose," Bassett said after a moment, "suppose you let me go just now, and tell me more about this—this gap. You're a medical man. You've probably gone into your own case pretty thoroughly. I'm accepting your statement, you see. As a matter of fact it must be true or you wouldn't be here. But I've got to know what I'm doing before I lay my cards on the table. Make it simple, if you can. I did not know your medical jargon."

Dick did his best. The mind closed down now and then, mainly on the unpleasant. No, there was no injury to him. He didn't think he had had an injury. A mental shock could do it, if it were strong enough. And fear. It was generally fear. He had never considered himself braver than the other fellow, but no man liked to think that he had a cowardly mind. Even if things hadn't broken as they had, he'd have come back before he went to the length of marriage, to find out what it was he had been afraid of. He paused then, to give Bassett a chance to tell him, but the reporter only said: "Go on. You lay your cards on the table, and then I'll lay mine out."

He went on. He didn't blame Bassett. If there was something that was in his line of work, he understood. At the same time, he wanted to save David anything unpleasant. (The word

BRITISH CLERGY SUPPORT LABOR

Episcopal Clergymen Offer Support to Labor Party—Many Canons Among Them.

London, April 12.—(A. P. by mail.)—More than five hundred clergymen of the Church of England have formally pledged their support to the Labor Party. Among them are many canons. For a long time many in the church have felt keenly the reproach that the working classes were being alienated from the church, that the church showed plainly that it had no sympathy with them and their aims and aspirations, and never did anything for them. The leaders of this movement within the church are determined, it is said, that hereafter labor shall have no cause to complain that it lacks friends among the clergy.

The 500 clergymen signed a congratulatory memorial addressed to Ramsey MacDonald and other labor members of parliament in which they say: "We shall support actively in whatever ways are open to us the efforts you will assuredly make for the spiritual and economic emancipation of the people."

Canon Donaldson, in presenting the memorial, said: "It is quite clear that a great change of outlook has taken place, not to say landslide, in the clergy in regard to their opinion and attitude toward the labor movement."

Miss Beatrice Thomas and Miss Irene Toole entertained fifty of their boy and girl friends last evening at the home of Miss Thomas, 178 Union street. Dancing, music and games were enjoyed. Refreshments were served during the evening.

MONKEY DEPORTER FINDS TRADE BRISK WITH HINDUS

Simitans Must Not be Killed, Superintendent Teaches, So Outsider Ruins Them Off.

London, April 10.—(By Mail.)—In England one can rhyme a string of dull trades, "linker, tailor," but one must journey to India to happen upon such strange occupations as those of the Monkey Dealer, the Corpse Fender and the Shabbash-Wala, writes Doerze Burn to "The London Daily Mail" from Lucknow.

"Here on the plains of Northern India the small brown monkey is a pest to cultivators. In mischievous horde he swoops upon fruit trees and strips them bare.

"But Hanuman, the monkey god, will not suffer death by violence of his prey into crates. Then he goes off by train for a station or two and lets the deported monkeys free to ravage strange pastures.

"The freshly outraged cultivator now hires a Monkey Deporter, and the trade flourishes.

"The job of the corpse fender is to push off half-burned corpses that drift from the burning ghats to rot by one's garden.

"Hindus burn their dead by the river side. If they are too poor to furnish a pyre a benevolent government supplies wood. But the thrifty find it absurd to waste good fuel, so they use a little of it to singe the corpse and sell the rest.

"That holy river, the Ganges, takes the half-burned body into an embrace so reluctant that the corpse fender must arm himself with a long iron-tipped staff to keep the shallows free.

"The Shabbash-Wala is a cheerer right than the Monkey Deporter or the Corpse Fender, who are prone to pessimism, since monkeys and corpses are so frequent and so persistent.

"His name means literally, 'brave fellow.' Himself he handles neither young men, mechanics and farmers, many of whom have brought their families.

"The immigrants say that times are bad in Sweden, industrial concerns being especially hard hit by German competition. They plan to establish permanent homes here. The city has about 2000 Swedes, Norwegian, Danish and Finnish residents, who have shown themselves quick to adopt American customs and are active in community life. Most of them have acquired citizenship.

Guide For Tourists In British Centres

Union Looks After Many Details For Visitors—What to See in London and How to Get There.

London, April 19.—(By mail.)—In view of the near approach of the American and Canadian tourist season in this country the English-Speaking Union have made arrangements to provide the visitors with reliable information of a general nature and expert guidance on special subjects.

"The scope of the Union's service for visitors is now very comprehensive," said Alfred E. Johns, the executive secretary. "We can give information on where to stay, both in London and the country. Country tours are planned, either by rail or car, and in the latter case special attention is paid to the beauty of the country, and little-known places of interest of the main routes, while advice is given as to the conditions of motoring in Great Britain, and where to hire cars.

"We specialize on what to see in London and how to get there, and during the summer a number of the British members escort small parties of visitors each week to places or districts of interest, and some will give their time to sightseeing generally or shopping with a lonely traveler. Many places in London, such as Lambeth Palace, Westminster School, and the City Companies Halls, cannot be visited without a special permit, which we can obtain, and a number of private 'show' houses are opened to visitors on our introduction.

"Specialized information of all kinds is given, such as where to see period furniture, Oriental china, hatched cottages, royal and other interesting processions or functions, and a hundred other things too numerous to mention. Those visitors wishing to study special questions are also provided for."

The address of the Union is 1 Charing-cross.

New Jersey Police Investigating Attack on Congregation of "Holy Rollers"—Prisoners Rescued from Mob.

Bound Brook, N. J., May 2.—Local officials and state police today sought the leaders of a mob which last night caused one hundred "Holy Rollers" to barricade themselves in the Pillar of Fire Church, after a male in which many women and men were injured, while officials of the District Attorney's office began an investigation of the riot. It was estimated today that between 600 and 700 men in the attacking party, which attempted to rush the stairs leading to the second floor of the church, where the beleaguered 100 had barricaded themselves. The first floor was a wreck as the result of a battle which began early in the evening when an unidentified speaker was alleged to have extolled the Ku Klux Klan and its aims.

"THE CHRISTIAN" IMPERIAL THURS.

Sir Hall Caine's Famous English Clerical-Stage Romance in Unforgettable Pictures—Usual Prices.

The engagement of "The Christian" at the Imperial starting tomorrow and continuing until Saturday night will be another notable film event at the Keith house. This is the Goldwyn version of the story, done in England under the personal supervision of the Maxman author himself and under the direction of the Anglo-French director Maurice Tourneur, undoubted master of screen-craft. It is a tremendous depiction, showing not only the famous ruins of old England but Derby Day at Epsom Downs, Trafalgar Square at day and at night, the popular music halls, the ecclesiastical life of the High Church of England, the colleges, social wifery and the smart resorts. Even the English royal family has been caught by the unerring eye of the camera during the Derby photographing. Imperial Theatre staff expects a large attendance during the three-day run and special arrangements have been made to handle it. There will be two afternoon shows—2 and 5.45 o'clock—and two shows at night, the usual hours, 7 and 9. Thursday night the concert will be given between shows, making the second screening a trifle late in starting, possibly 9.15. Usual prices.

WAX MODEL OF CONCERT PIANIST IS STARTLING WINDOW DISPLAY TRICK

LIFE SIZE WAX FIGURE MODELED FROM CLARA FORBES GRAND FOLLOWING PARIS IDEA OF WINDOW MANNEQUINS.

Los Angeles, May 2.—Friends and admirers of Clara Forbes Crane, well known concert pianist, were recently much astonished to see her sitting before a piano in the display window of a large music house in Los Angeles. Apparently just about to begin one of her brilliant compositions. The pianist was gorgeously gowned in the latest of evening gowns, although it was daylight.

Large crowds gathered, but as no music was heard and it was discovered that the hands of the player did not move, the window gazer realized that they were looking upon what was merely a striking window display and a most life-like wax model. Life-size wax figures of artists, musicians, and other celebrities, faithfully reproduced in wax, playing the leading role.

AMENDMENT ON GYPSUM MATTER IS VOTED DOWN

Question of Federal Action on N. S. Procedure is Debated in the House—Temperance Act Amendments Up Today.

(By Canadian Press.)

Ottawa, May 2.—Upon a motion to go into committee of supply in the House yesterday, Sir Henry Drayton moved an amendment declaring the disallowance of a Nova Scotia statute concerning gypsum property, the title to which has been vested in a certain James MacNeil, was about Dominion Government powers. Sir Henry claimed that the Government's action created a precedent inasmuch as it was the first time a Provincial statute had been disallowed merely on the ground of its injustice. Hon. Arthur Meighen supported this view.

Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of Justice, contended that it was discovered by the Government's action, which was put through without notice to any of the interested parties, that it was clearly intended to override judgments rendered both by the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, and the Supreme Court of Canada. Furthermore, Sir Lomer asserted, it was so extremely unjust that it warranted the unusual procedure of disallowance.

The German Government sets forth that an international loan syndicate and the reparations commission shall determine the manner in which the nation's possession and sources of revenue, which have already been pledged under the treaty, can be given concrete form and what guarantees are to be provided in each particular case. The Government is therefore in accordance with terms of agreements to be made, to adopt all proper and necessary legislative measures to insure the co-operation of the Reich's industrial, commercial and financial forces in the handling of the reparations which would make offenders subject to fines.

First Issue Immediately.

The note proposes that the first twenty billion marks of the total of thirty billion be offered for subscription immediately. Interest on bonds up to July 1, 1927, would be taken out of the loans themselves and would be paid into a special fund under control of the reparations commission.

If twenty billion marks cannot be brought in by July 1, 1927, the balance would be paid on that sum from said date, in addition to one per cent for amortization.

Fulfillment of Germany's obligation, the note continues, depends on the establishment of a reparations commission, which is necessary, in connection with the reparation of the reparations problem to bring about a methodic and permanent stabilization in order to remove the apprehensions of other countries with respect to German competition. Strengthening of the currency will enable Germany to restore her internal finances, and to stabilize her external finances, and to realize this programme and also to safeguard the interests of those who have loans in the German Government says it is essential that there be no more forcible seizures of securities and that no more sanctions be imposed, that Germany be freed from the unproductive expenses with which she is now burdened and that she also be liberated forthwith from all political and economic restrictions.

BRITAIN IN NO WAY CONNECTED.

London, May 2.—It was authoritative news today that the British Government has been at some pains to make clear that Great Britain is in no way connected with the reparations note and that she had no hand whatsoever in framing its terms, as has been suggested in certain quarters.

EXPECT FRATILY.

Paris, May 2.—The new German propositions for a reparations settlement are so far from acceptance to France that a flat rejection of them is regarded by persons close to Premier Poincaré as inevitable. This rejection, it is stated, will probably be followed by an extension of the occupation on the right bank of the Rhine.

Germany Wants Total Sum Fixed At 30 Billion Marks

In case the creditor Governments do not share Germany's belief that no unproductive party could arrive at a higher estimate in view of her general condition, the Berlin Government proposes that the whole reparations question be left to the decision of an international commission, free from every political influence.

Passive Resistance.

The note asserts that Germany is making her offer without desisting from her programme of passive resistance, which will be continued until the areas occupied in excess of the stipulations of the Versailles treaty are evacuated and until conditions on the Rhine are restored, according to the terms laid down in the Rhineland agreement.

The offer of an anti-aggression pact on the Rhine is renewed and the Government suggests that all conflicts arising out of the question of national securities be submitted to an international court of arbitration.

The German Government sets forth that an international loan syndicate and the reparations commission shall determine the manner in which the nation's possession and sources of revenue, which have already been pledged under the treaty, can be given concrete form and what guarantees are to be provided in each particular case. The Government is therefore in accordance with terms of agreements to be made, to adopt all proper and necessary legislative measures to insure the co-operation of the Reich's industrial, commercial and financial forces in the handling of the reparations which would make offenders subject to fines.

Coal and Coke.

The note expresses the opinion that in this connection the reparations contracts for deliveries of coal and coke are especially important.

Third Alternative.

As the third alternative the note proposes a court of arbitration composed of a representative of the reparations commission and a representative of the German Government, together with a chairman chosen by the president of the U. S. would be requested to nominate in case the other two members failed to agree as to the nomination.

Toronto Observance.

Toronto, May 2.—The May Day demonstration in Toronto took the form of an assembly at Queen's Park when the audience was addressed by Captain Paxton Hibben, of New York City, and several local Socialists. The only union laying off work was the Amalgamated Clothing Workers which held a mass meeting in one of the local theatres.

Clash in Paris.

Paris, May 2.—Rioting in which scores of persons were injured, and wounded, marked the close last night of the quietest May Day Paris has seen in years. The police, after having experienced a peaceful day in beautiful springlike weather, last evening were directed into action in the heart of the Communist district where disorders arose. Time and again they charged into the swirling masses of demonstrators, and it was fully half an hour before, aided by reserves who closed in from all directions, they were able to back the mob and clear the thoroughfares.

Riots in Madrid.

Madrid, May 2.—A number of persons were seriously and others slightly wounded last night when the police had to intervene and use their revolvers and swords against a band of May Day demonstrators who made attacks upon the cafes which remained open, and smashed tables, burned chairs and committed other acts of depredation.

Chicago Police Use Clubs.

Chicago, May 2.—Police were forced to use their clubs to back a crash of members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America in storming the entrance of the Auditorium Theatre today to hear Eugene V. Debs in a May Day speech. Apparently no one was seriously injured.

In Warsaw.

Warsaw, May 2.—Several minor casualties occurred here yesterday when the police, using firearms, charged a band of Communists who tried to force their way into a labor meeting in the Theatre Square.

With a view to possible trouble on May Day the police had arrested eight persons in connection with the demonstration.

FIELD SPORTS WILL BOOM

(Moncton Transcript)
A. W. Covey of St. John, president of the M. P. B. of the A. A. U. of Canada, declares that this year there will be made to have track events, held in every town and city on one day. Then two or three weeks later similar sports will be conducted in every county shiretown, with more important events to follow in provincial divisions. Then the provincial championships, and last but not least, the Dominion sports. A number of coaches will be secured after the county sports have been concluded to tour each province and select the best available material, and to give the individual athletes pointers upon form, style and training. Mr. Covey says that maritime athletes will have a wonderful chance to make Olympic teams, at both Maritime and Dominion level, and field championships were being held "by the sea" this year. The Maritime events go to Charlottetown, while the Wanderers have secured the Dominion competitions.

Scion of the Pharaohs and Claimant to Kurdistan Throne was Hotel Beat.

London, April 18.—(By Mail).—At the London Sessions, yesterday, Yendeheno Mohamed Salde Kakelo, twenty-seven, who described himself as "Prince of Kurdistan," was charged with accruing debts by means of fraud and obtaining money by false pretences. He pleaded "not guilty."

Percival Clarke, prosecuting, said the prisoner arrived at the Savoy Hotel on March 11, with no luggage, and saying that he was Prince of Kurdistan, asked for the best suite in the hotel. He produced a passport and so impressed the clerk that he was given a suite of rooms costing six guineas a day. Kakelo exacted the absence of luggage by saying his secretary was following with it. Next day, when his bill was presented, he said he had no money, and was transferred to a cheaper room. He told the manager his alleged name was "Prince of Kurdistan" and gave him the address as the Turkish Embassy. He remained at the Hyde Park Hotel until March 15 and removed £20 from the manager. ### ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Suffers from Indigestion or Stomach Trouble

CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic 'acid stomach,' says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with peppy or artificial stimulants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia to sweeten and soothe an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid such as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels like in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

CANADIANS GUARD FLAG IN ARCTIC

Faithful Four Marooned on Wrangell Island at Top of the Map Waiting for it to be Proclaimed Canadian Soil.

Ottawa, Ont., May 2.—Four lonely Canadians, marooned on the island of Wrangell, in the Arctic region, have been waiting since 1921 to have that bleak Arctic region proclaimed Canadian soil. The four are the members of a landing party led by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, on his visit to the island several years ago. While the former members of his expedition possess their souls in patience and hunt muskox and seal for a living, Stefansson is negotiating with the Canadian Government to reimburse him for the expense of his polar voyage, and accept sovereignty over Wrangell Island in payment.

When members of the Stefansson party raised the Canadian flag on Wrangell Island in 1921, there was some doubt as to the propriety of the action. The flag has remained, with three men and a boy to guard it, but no step has been taken here to assert formal sovereignty over the northern area. Stefansson, who fitted out his own expedition at a cost of $25,000, when he failed to interest the Canadian Government in his plans, now stands at the head of the Canadian domain should be worth at least that much money.

The main value of the island at present, according to Stefansson, is strategic. He says that it is directly in the path of an aerial trans-polar air route across the world.

DEEP SEA TREASURES OFF GRECIAN COAST

Bronze Guns Alone Are Worth Large Fortune.

London, April 19.—(By Mail).—"Yolo Ho for Navarino Bay," is the chant in the city, where an expedition is to be fitted out to seek the treasure of the sunken fleet in Navarino Bay, Constantine bearing this large treasure to the Sultan, but his decisive defeat by the British, French and Russian fleets left him a ruined man.

Mr. Edgar Anderson, who has taken over the concession from the Greek Government lately held by Mr. J. K. Keeffe, of Cophall avenue, has formed a company to raise an expedition to solve this wealth. The company will include among its directors Lieut.-General Sir Hubert Gough and Sir Henry Innes-Kelley, and also Sir Henry Innes-Kelley's extensive knowledge of the Balkans will be of great value to the company. The British Minister in Bulgaria from 1910-1915. The capital of the new company will be £100,000.

Assessors have valued the bronze guns, the copper and timber in the vessels at some $1,500,000, and one of the promoters of the expedition to the newspapers. "Therefore, even if no treasure was recovered, a profit equal to more than twice the capital would be made. The guns were made by famous Sicilian smelters, and owing to the imperfect knowledge of smelting in those days, they contain a large percentage of gold and silver. There are known to be at least 1,200 of these guns, and on a reasonable estimate, they should be worth $50 per ton unrefined.

"Forty-five ships had been located in the bay, and they lie in sixteen to eighteen fathoms of water. Commander Rivers-Hallett, who did so much salvage work for the Admiralty during the war, will be our adviser on this question.

The whole scheme is a participation one. The Greek Government will receive ten per cent. of the value of heavy metal and wood salvaged, and twenty per cent. of jewels and specie.

PLEASING INCIDENT AT R.K.Y.C. MEETING

Twelve Members Presented Pins in Recognition of Long Service.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Royal Kennebec Yacht Club was held last evening, at which twelve members, whose service on the club for twenty-five years, were presented pins. Those receiving the pins were: Howard Holder, Frederick S. Heans, Frank Whippley, Louis D. Munro, William Holder, Charles Elwell, W. A. McLaughlin, W. G. Stratton, Ernest Whippley, E. N. Harrington, J. Cardy Johnston and Frank R. Starr.

The report of the secretary showed that the club was in a good condition with a membership now of about 200. One new yacht, the Haven, recently purchased by James Barnes, will join the fleet this year and at least three new dinghies will be put on the starting line for the first time. Races for the various classes will be arranged and it is expected that competition will be less than ever.

Owing to the difficulty of securing accommodation the annual club dinner has been cancelled, but in its place a "dinner" will be held at the club on May 24. The meeting was well attended and several matters of importance to the local were considered. W. Lee, president of the local, occupied the chair.

Young Girls Need Care

FROM the age of twelve a girl needs all the care that thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter make life easier for her.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. It can be taken in safety by any woman, young or old.

Read How These Mothers Helped Their Daughters

Vancouver, B. C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking 'Lydia's' for her trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all." Mrs. J. McDONALD, 2947, 26th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C.

Hamilton, Ontario—"When my daughter was thirteen and until she was fifteen, she suffered every month so that she could hardly move around the house, and when she would have the pain in school she would have to be carried home. She also had headache, dizzy and faint spells, and sometimes in her back. I saw your advertisement in the 'Hamilton Spectator' and got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her. She does not have the least bit of trouble now, and we recommend your medicine. She works in a candy-shop now and seems well and strong."—Mrs. I. P. CLARKE, 88 Oxford St., Hamilton, Ontario.

Eczema Covered Arms of This Healthy Child

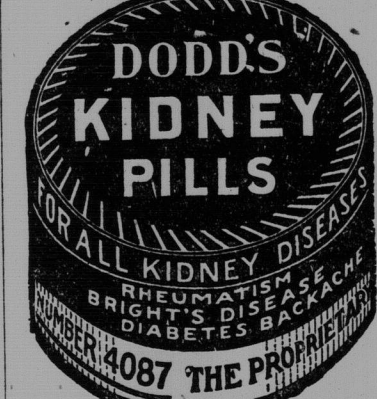

Mrs. Alex. Marshall, Sprucefield, Ont., writes—

"When my little son was three months old he broke out in sores on his chest and arms. We did all we could to heal those terrible sores, but nothing did him much good. Finally I ventured on a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and kept on using it. At last we were rewarded by the steady healing of the sores, and finally he was completely relieved of them. He is now three years old, and has had no return of the trouble since."

Dr. Marshall.

SWEDEN'S CREDIT POSITION; FLOATS NEW STATE LOAN

(Associated Press, By Mail) Stockholm, April 29.—Sweden's national debt per capita is only $67.60, while that of the United States per capita is $229.90. This is one of the interesting bits of statistical information reported by the Swedish General Export Association in connection with the new Swedish state loan which has just been made. A still more significant statement is that Sweden's credit position, which has been established during the last few years. At the end of 1931 the assets of the national account, including cash on hand, treasury funds, post and telegraph, state railways, water power works, domains, shares and loan funds, exceeded the national debt by 1,546,400,000 kronor, or $412,000,000, as against a corresponding excess of 1918 of about $241,000,000.

Sea Port Question In Cattle Imports

English Facilities For Canadian Live Stock Arrive Talk. London, April 29.—(By Mail)—Disappointment was expressed at the last meeting of the British Association of Commerce that the first consignment of Canadian store cattle had been landed at Manchester docks and not at Birkenhead. R. J. Hall, chairman of the transport section, said it was a disappointment that the consignment had not come to Birkenhead, but he understood that the difficulties under which Birkenhead suffered were the lack of a weighbridge and the fact that there was no auction market at the wharves. The nearest auction market, he said, was at the Stanley Cattle Market, Liverpool, and if the Canadian cattle had to be sent there from Birkenhead it would mean a railway journey of forty miles. J. F. Marsh said it was a mere coincidence that the position was as it was. He pointed out that the position was right itself when the Canadians found that they could get better prices at Birkenhead than at Manchester. Birkenhead would still get the bulk of the Canadian cattle. The question of which were store cattle and which were fat had not been decided, and no one knew exactly where the dividing line was. It would not be surprising if 15 per cent of the cattle in that first consignment sent to Manchester were slaughtered at the Manchester abattoir.

FINANCIAL PROTECTION FOR YOUR FAMILY

(B. C. Forbes, in Forbes Magazine.) Youngish men as well as others in moderate circumstances often think about the best way to secure financial protection for their families. In the majority of cases what I suggest is along this line: If you have a wife and children, first turn to life insurance, and if your savings capacity is not large, supplement your life insurance policies by term insurance. Term insurance costs less than any other form of insurance. It can be taken out for one year or for a number of years, and usually, can be converted, if desired, into regular insurance before it expires. Insurance provides the maximum amount of financial protection at the lowest cost. This having been properly attended to, then it is usually wise to press towards ownership of a home. There are many excellently-run building and loan associations whose rules and regulations make it relatively easy for a thrifty person to build or buy a home without long years of waiting. As your income, your domestic responsibilities and your mode of living rise, then divide your savings between increasing your insurance proportionately with the increase in your living costs, and purchasing sound, attractive investments. After that, keep on adding to your investments until you are comfortably circumstanced. Until then leave speculation to small, speculative investors. STATISTICS SHOW BIG ENROLLMENT

Methodist Episcopal Sunday School Report Shows 4,918,194—Going in for Week-day Education.

Chicago, May 1.—There were 4,918,194 Methodist Episcopal Sunday school members enrolled in 66,811 Sunday schools, according to a report of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School Board just made public here. More than 400,000 officers and teachers were engaged in the work among this army of pupils.

New York, May 2.—(Wall street, special)—Prices displayed a firmer tone at the opening of today's stock market. Short covering operations combined with some investment buying resulted in some good gains, Studebaker, Dupont and American Can selling at least a point above yesterday's closing. Independent stocks and foreign shares also made good progress.

Old French Law Punished Owner Of Topsy Slaves. New Orleans, May 2.—Even though the present-day American is so surrounded by laws that he has to watch his step at every turn, he is not to be deterred after all. In 1783 a person in New Orleans could not even commit the crime of kidnapping.

EDUCATION IN U. S. SCHOOLS TO PRESERVE LIFE

(A. P. by Mail.) Washington, April 29.—The reason 70,000 persons are killed and 2,000,000 injured in accidents each year in the United States is largely psychological, according to a report of the National Safety Council, which is the largest national organization of safety workers in the United States.

Confidence in business conditions in Ontario is indicated in the reports of the investment of capital in the Dominion for a recent week. While the total investment was smaller than for the same period of the preceding year, yet the figures as they affect Ontario are encouraging.

A CANADIAN TOUR IN FRANCE

The route indicated on the map is that to be taken by the Made-in-Canada exhibition which is to travel in a convoy of forty huge motor lorries. The lorries, which are to be provided by the French Government, are used in preference to a train because they can be located in the heart of each town or city, instead of being kept on a railway track, usually not a desirable part of the city in which to see an exhibition.

OPINIONS ON THE STOCK MARKET

New York, May 2.—Bache.—The throwing over of stocks at this level would be playing into the hands of those largely responsible for the break. Hornblower and Weeks.—The main body of stocks has not suffered more than a normal reaction. Meanwhile, these prices could prove to be the lowest prices for most stocks that will be seen for months.

THE EXHIBITION TRAIN. Montreal, May 1. Editor Times-Star: Sir—We wish to bring to your attention the Canadian Exhibition Train to be taken to Toronto, this coming summer, under the auspices of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Upon arriving at a city, the train will repair to one of the parks or central squares, drawn up fifteen or more abreast, and the openings facing each other about thirty feet apart. The space between will be covered by a canvas so as to form a covered arcade with windows on each side.

These show windows will display the natural and manufactured products of the Dominion of Canada.

In one of these cars, we plan to carry in a striking way our Canadian development in Art, Science and Literature.

Yours truly, J. D. GIBNEY, Director of Exhibits and Sales.

HILTON BELVEA BENEFIT FUND

Keen Interest in Proposed Concerts—Many Offer to Assist.

Every step possible is being taken to make the four outdoor concerts in aid of the Hilton Belyea Benefit Fund a success. There is less than a week to go and the committees are working fast. Hon. Dr. W. E. Foster has consented to act in any capacity to help. It has been impossible yet to get in touch with Premier Veniot. R. E. Armstrong will act as treasurer and will publish a complete financial statement twenty-five volunteers from the Rotary Club and an equal number from the Gyro Club have promised to do anything in their power.

The following well-known local artists already have agreed to appear at these concerts: Mrs. L. M. Curran, DeWitt Cairns, E. H. Bowman, A. C. Smith, Jr.; Dr. Percy Bonnell, W. T. Lewis, Miss Blenda Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Guy, Mrs. Louis Lela-Cheer, E. C. Givray, Dr. W. W. Baker, Messrs. Holder, Smith and Mahwinney, Bayard Currie and T. C. Cochran have volunteered their services as accompanists for the concerts. Other local artists have been invited, and so soon as their acceptances come to hand, the committee will announce them.

In addition, three of the city bands, St. Mary's, the Carleton Cornet Band and the 28th Battalion Band have volunteered their services for the concerts. This offer on the part of the generous-hearted bandmen practically seals the success of the concerts. The City Cornet Band will hold a meeting today and will notify the committee as to their decision.

OTTAWA CONFIRMS SHIP'S SEIZURE

The Buena Likely to be Sold and Liquor Cargo Handed Over to the Nova Scotia Commission.

(By Canadian Press.)

Yarmouth, N. S., May 2.—Instructions were received today from Ottawa from the Minister of Customs, confirming the action of the local customs authorities in seizing the schooner Buena for infringement of the Customs Act. The Buena in charge of Captain John Sims came here last December with cargo of liquor from Nassau for St. Pierre and was arrested. The liquor was stored in a bonded warehouse here. The schooner will likely be sold and the liquor, if it measures up to the standard of that handled by the vendor commission, will be sold to that body, it is understood.

CALL OF DUTY - UNIVERSAL WESTERN

WAR-BLINDED SOLDIERS BEGAN GREAT NATIONAL WORK

Work of National Institute for Blind a Credit to Canada and a Glory to Its Soldier Founders—Yesterday Observed in Toronto as Tag Day on Behalf of the Work of the National Institute for the Blind.

(Toronto Globe.)

Have you ever, in a time of great anxiety, sleeping or waking, had to spin yarn of snuff? Or been compelled to clamber up a steep mountainside in wildest flight from a danger that meant death, and as you scrambled headlong the loose soil and shale gave way under your feet and made upward progress impossible and destruction behind inevitable? These and other things are the paralyzing terrors of imagination. The danger you know, how to escape is hidden from you. Frantic, uncertain, desperate and despairing, you have no alternative but to submit. Without strength to go on, courage to stand still, or the faintest ray of hope to pierce the gloom that is upon and around you, your case is wretched indeed. But all this is a nightmare of imagination you say? True, but there are facts as terrible as the nightmare. Facts deep and silent, dark and real as the night and cold as a block of ice.

Three was found to be quite blind. She was playing amongst her half dozen brothers and sisters, and only the bumps and burns and scratches on her little body showed how really helpless she was through the handicap of blindness. An elder brother was half blind, and both cases were taken charge of. Today the little ones are in a fair way to normal vision.

Secret Banner of Hope.

And so this story runs, of details, if these were wanted, but imagination can't do the blanks, and imagination cannot overprint the picture of helplessness and hopefulness and thankfulness that the story makes. From east to west the work is being done by workers whose hearts as well as heads are in their blessed task. Distance, language, social distinctions matter nothing. Under that secret banner of Hope—the work goes on and will go on. The Canadian Institute for the Blind is national in the best and proudest sense.

Field workers and home teachers are ambassadors of hope. Sentiment and science, sympathy and resourcefulness are their tools, and compassion is the ground note of their labors. They are as intent upon the prevention of blindness as upon the alleviation of it. The needs of the sightless. The first few hours of an infant's life every week decide whether light or darkness shall be its lifelong state.

Great Work in Toronto.

The observation and treatment of children not yet blind, but whose vision is failing, are most important features of the work. In Toronto today there are over four hundred children whose sight is only one-third of normal in their good eye. Many are blind in one eye and only ten per cent. efficient in the other. These little ones are going to school and playing ground with their sighted companions. Some are awkward, nervous, stupid at their lessons, getting into accidents at every turn, and in a stammering way they slowly falling down upon their vision. Soon it will be dark—"until the day break."

Here, then, is great work, wonderful work, and the Institute is doing it and will not rest until there are eight-saving classes in every centre throughout the Dominion. Last year in this city every school was surveyed and the children's eyes examined. In future it is hoped that Canada's blind citizens will be those only whom no amount of Canadian National Institute for the Blind is indifferent to.

In Toronto today there are a score and a half of children under treatment. The average of improvement in their sight in one year is from one-tenth to one-fifth normal efficiency. If this improvement continues it will mean that at least twenty per cent. of normal vision will be saved to them in their adult years. And what a precious proportion that is compared with total blindness.

Here are the little ones at work in school. Every consideration that science can suggest to safeguard their slender powers of sight is in evidence. There are no harsh lights, no shiny surfaces to reflect the glare, nothing to dazzle or irritate. Their heads are bent down to the task under hands some so close to their books that the whole story of threatening darkness is revealed in a flash. Letters on the blackboard are large, and their books are set in the largest type. But the atmosphere is so restful and the faces are so bright and hopeful that you are half ashamed of the pessimism that brooded over your mind when you first looked on the scene. At a signal from the teacher that the period of rest from study has come, every little head ceases to droop and the arms folded on the desk. It is as though they were praying, and what human heart could withstand such supplication!

Kindly Care For Blind.

Until little more than five years ago there was no definite knowledge available concerning our Canadian blind. Here and there throughout the Dominion there were scattered under kindly care a few hundred of those afflicted. Halifax and Montreal and Ontario were each doing something to bring help and hope to such sightless cases as came under notice. But it is estimated that there were more than six thousand blind citizens, men, women and children, scattered throughout Canada. Where they were none could say with certainty. How they lived only those immediately associated with them could say. Prisoners of hope—too often hopeless they might have been called. To each was known the darkness of perpetual night in a world where the sun was shining, but in each heart there was a failure to realize what could be done and how to set about doing it. Nor were their friends in any better case. They could look on and ache over the wealth of their love and upon their afflicted ones, but beyond that the task seemed endless, hopeless, and despairing.

Canada's Noble Army.

Then came the war. A hundred and thirty-five of our Canadian boys lost their sight in the battleships of Europe. The indifference of generations was blotted out in a few months, and for the past five years the record of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is one continuous story of service that is enabling to read and ponder over—"To seek out the blind young and old. Those who for long years had been struggling along in darkness, and those little ones upon whom the darkness was gradually falling, slowly but inevitably. From Halifax to Vancouver the work has been going on, is still going on, will never stop, please God! The first step is registration, and over five thousand cases have already been registered. This means also classification, and of course immediate service in whatever form that is needed. Ontario's own arrangements are such that not a single case of blindness or near blindness or threatening blindness need lack attention. And the story of this registration is a tragic romance. Here away out in Saskatchewan is an elderly woman who has been blind for a score of years. She did not know that there were thousands like here. There was no sense of companionship in her affliction. In another western case a little girl of
