A MEDICAL REVOLUTION!
THE WORLD UNANIMOUS!
HOLLWAY'S OINTMENT.
THE GREAT COUNTER IRRITANT!
The virus of disease often makes its way to the interior of the system through the pores of the skin. This penetrating Ointment, which under its hand is rubbed in, is absorbed through the same channels, and reaching the seat of inflammation, promptly and invariably subdues it, whether located in the lungs, the liver, the lungs, or any other important organ. It penetrates the surface to the interior, through the countless tubes that communicate with the skin as numerous fine passages into the favored earth diffusing its cool and regenerating influence.
SKIN DISEASES & GLANDULAR AFFECTIONS.
Every species of cutaneous irritation is quickly reduced by the anti-inflammatory action of the Ointment. Angry Eruptions, such as SALT RHEUM, ECZEMA, TETTER, RINGWORM, SCALD HEAD, NETTLE RASH, SCURF, &c., &c., do not, to return to normal, need any application. Hospital experience in all parts of the world proves its infallibility in diseases of the skin, the muscles, the joints and the glands.
ULCERS, SORES, AND TUMORS.
The effect of this univalued external remedy upon Scrofula, and other virus of ulcers and sores, is almost miraculous. It first discharges the poison, and then, by its soothing and purifying action, and thus the cure which its healing properties guarantee complete as well as permanent.
WOUNDS, BRUISES, BURNS, AND SCALDS.
In cases of the fracture of the bones, injuries caused by steam explosions, bathtubs, brasses, scalds, burns, scalds, &c., or the like, the application and contraction of the ointment, it is employed and warmly recommended by the faculty. This marvellous remedy has been introduced by its inventor to the notice of the leading Hospitals of Europe, and no private hospital would be without it.
UNDENIABLE TESTIMONY.
The Medical Staff of the French and English Armies in the Crimea have officially signed their approval of Hollway's Ointment, as the most reliable dressing for such cuts, stabs, and gun-shot wounds. It is also used by the surgeons of the Allied Armies.
Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:
Diphtheria, Membranous Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Laryngitis, Sore of all kinds, Capped hands, Salt Rheum, Spains, Chilblains, Scalds, Stiff Joints, Piles, Swellings, Tetters, Gunshot Wounds, Burns, General Soreness, Mercutrial Sore Legs, Wounds of all kinds, Burrows, Skin Diseases, &c.
Sold at the Manufactories of Professor Hollway, 40, Maiden Lane, New York, and 21, Strand, London, by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in the Kingdom, throughout the United States, and the civilized world, in pots, at 25 cents, 50 cents, and 15 each.
There is a considerable saving by taking the Ointment and Pills together.
N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each pot.

THE CASKET OF AHMET BEY.
In the winter of 18— while according the Nile with a Frenchman, named Grudet, in pursuit of adventure, we had occasion to stop at the town of Assiut. Grudet was a Frenchman by birth, and had been my companion for three years, through all my Asiatic wanderings; and a mutual attachment having arisen, he now considered himself as an inseparable constituent of mine. He was a man shrewd by nature, of undaunted courage, but so generous that I never brooded of him my plans until they were ready for fulfillment. Of myself all the reader need know, is that I had been travelling in Egypt and Asia; that I spoke the languages fluently, and felt that I understood Oriental manners and character pretty thoroughly. By birth I am an American. As we always made it a point to pay our respects to head quarters, we at once went to see the Governor, Achmet Bey, a fine looking Oriental, a Turk by nation, although, as he told us, a resident for twenty years of Egypt. We found him at his palace, about half a mile from the river, seated on a divan of beautiful needle-work, before which was one of the finest and most gorgeous of Persian mats. On his right was a long sofa. He rose as we entered, received us with cordiality, and bestowed on us every attention that inherent politeness could bestow.
After smoking with him for some time, and conversing on Egyptian topics, he showed us many curiosities, and all his accoutrements; among them was a saddle, richly mounted with silver, which was presented to him by the Pasha of Egypt. While examining its workmanship attentively, I noticed a small pocket on one side, which seemed to be filled with coin. Observing that it had attracted my attention, the Governor, who had worn an anxious countenance throughout our visit notwithstanding his cordiality, remarked that he had lost the key to it, or he would be pleased to show me the contents, which he also valued as being the Pasha's gift. He then handed the saddle to an attendant, and making a sign for my companion to follow with our dragoman, he linked my arm in his, and after glancing at my face, as though to read in it the probability of my being trustworthy, and apparently concluding that I was entitled to see it, he said:
"After promising to note the effect produced by this announcement, he continued:
"About a week ago my brother, who resides at Siam, sent me a small iron safe, curiously bound with Damascus steel, and studded with brass. It was a gift long promised me, and I prized it as my very best. I showed it to many persons, but contented it before, lest they should envy the contents as to steal from me."
"And what did the box contain so precious, that you so carefully guarded it?" I asked.
"That which I most valued was a signet-ring, set with the most beautiful of opals; some of these were also jewels of considerable value; some of them I presented to my sister, but far more remained than I gave. There was also the key to the saddle pocket, at which you were just now gazing. What was my consternation to find this morning that it was gone—lost from beneath my head while I slept! And now he continued, dropping his voice still lower, "I want you, who are famed for your shrewdness," (alluding to an occurrence in Cairo.) "to discover the thief; if you do succeed, one third of the reward you shall receive; if you do not, the rest shall be your own."
He paused as we reached his palace, and entered I determined to undertake the recovery for him; the reward would enable us to continue our wanderings for at least another year, in my dearly beloved East.
"I consent," said I, when we were again seated "to try my powers, to have returned to you the treasure you have lost."
Achmet rubbed his hands with delight, and already congratulating himself on his success, bade me do nothing of him I needed.
"I want," I replied, "a permit to go anywhere through your town I please; and to enter any house through your domain; and finally, that you say not a word to any one concerning your loss."
He readily promised secrecy; he had been too much engaged to mention it before, and gave me the paper I wanted. I told Grudet that I had remained at Assiut for a few days, and requested him to leave with the boat at night for Upper Egypt, and remarked that I would overtake him by horse-back in four or five days at the most. I further requested him to give out that I was on board, and to make my excuse as pleased for my non-appearance. This done, I resigned Achmet Bey, and desired him to show me the room from which the safe was stolen. It was in the second story, and could only be reached by passing through two smaller chambers. Having reached it, I desired to be left alone, and now began a survey. The room was sixteen feet square; on the east and west side there were no openings. The walls were walled and hung with red tapestry; but, for economy, this was stretched tightly across the wall. The ceiling was composed of beams, on the upper side of which planks were fastened. There was apparently no opening communicating with the loft above. A lounge, covered with damask, occupied one portion of the room, while ottomans of various patterns were disposed in the corners. On the north side was the door of entrance. This I examined carefully, and found upon the wooden bolt, which could be drawn only from within, no mark of violence nor even a fresh scratch. On the south side of the apartment were two windows, small, it is true, but of size sufficient to admit the ingress of an ordinary sized man. One was latticed, the other had the lattice removed. I examined both the sills; there was no rubbing of the paint, and no mark of violence which could have been brought by the foot of an intruder.
I was puzzled. The floor yet remained to be examined. It was of red and blue tile, and appeared to be laid throughout; there was no mark of disturbance upon it; and in some places the dust had accumulated undisturbed. I now descended, and was met by Achmet. I put on an expression of melancholy, but declined conversation; and his question, "Any trace yet?" I simply replied: "Wait! Allah will not let me be disappointed."
It was now nearly dark, but I began to reconnoitre the exterior of the palace. It was of an oblong form, and its greatest length was from east to west. There was but one two way door, and
