The Late George Wilson.

Glencoe suffered a distinct loss in the death on Saturday morning of George Wilson, a citizen who was esteemed for his personal qualities and appreciated for his ability and fitness in the public walk of life. During his residence in Glencoe Mr. Wilson filled various public offices with credit. He was not only a scholarly gentleman, but was painstaking in his work and rarely erred in his judgment.

George Wilson was born at Toronto and was in his 77th year. He moved with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wilson, to London in 1841, and in 1847 to Wardsville, where he resided until 1877.

He was educated at the Wardsville Common and Grammar schools. He taught Common School for some time and was engaged as assistant teacher in the Wardsville High School for three and one-half years. In 1896 he served four months as a member of the Wardsville Company of Volunteers at Sarnia during the Fenian raids, and was granted a Fenian Raid medal and land grant.

In 1877 he moved to Glencoe, and shortly afterwards was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Younge, of Wardsville. He was appointed Division Court Clerk in 1880, a Justice of the Peace in 1886, a Commissioner in the High Court of Justice in 1887, Librarian of the Glencoe Public Library in 1890, Municipal Clerk of Glencoe in 1903, Secretary-treasurer of the Glencoe High School Board in 1905, and Treasurer of the Glencoe Presbyterian Congregation in 1907.

Mr. Wilson is survived by his wife, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Hiram Bargar, of Camrose, Alberta. He also leaves one brother, James, of Glencoe, and one sister, Mrs. Hugh Gillespie, of Hamilton.

The funeral was on Monday afternoon from his late residence to Oak land cemetery. Rev. Mr. Weir, pastor of the Presbyterian church, conducted the funeral service, and was assisted by Rev. Mr. Ford. The pallbearers were J. A. McLachlan, reeve; Allan McPherson, P. D. Keith, A. J. Wright and James Harris, councillors, and James Poole, bailiff.

Among the flowers was a wreath from the council, a wreath from the Presbyterian Church board, and a spray from the High School board, and a sheaf of roses from Mrs. Bargar. A number of relatives and friends from a distance attended the funeral, among whom were Mr. Campbell, cousin, of Hammond, Indiana; Fred Wilson, nephew, Toronto; John Bain, nephew, Woodstock; James York, nephew, London; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bayne, Newbury; J. P. McVicar and J. Y. McKeown, Euphenia; Mrs. Reader, Alvinston, and others.

"Housekeeping" in the Trenches.

Pte. M. R. McKellar, of the 43rd Battalion, son of Neil McKellar, of Saskatoon, formerly of Glencoe, writing from the trenches to his cousin, Miss Johanna Munro, Walkers, Ont., has the following to say:

In the Trenches

Dear Cousin,—I received your letter yesterday and was certainly glad to hear from you again, as you have no idea how I appreciate a letter out here in the woods.

Since writing you last I have been touring France and Belgium. Of course I travel on foot, as that is the best way to take in all the scenery, but when I get back I will be quite satisfied looking at beautiful scenery from a train window. These long marches over here are the worst part of the war, as the French roads are fierce, and they cut your feet up terribly. I don't mind France very much, but I am not crazy about Belgium (as there is a great war going on in that country).

This is my second trip into the firing line, and to say the least this is by far the busiest spot I have ever seen. We are in a different part of the line at present, but it is much livelier. "Old Fritz" is shelling us every day and he certainly makes a lot of noise but little damage. We had a terribly busy time the night before last. Fritz shelled during the evening, and at night we smoked ourselves out of our dug-out trying to get a fire going, and then in the middle of the night we were rushed out by a gas alarm, but during all this we received no injury.

This trip is pleasant, even if we are under pretty heavy fire, as the weather is perfectly great. I am sitting here in the sun with my hat and coat off, fully enjoying the first nice weather in months. We are in the midst of a large woods, and everything, from the worms to the song birds, is taking advantage of the weather, as they are out in full force. The birds are singing all the time and are accompanied by the noise from the bursting of Fritz's "whizz-bangs," "coal boxes" and "min-min" wafers, so you see we have music with our meals. This place at night is a regular fireworks display, certainly shells and bursting shrapnel make you think you are in a grandstand watching a 24th of May celebration, until the bullet comes close and then you wake up to where you are.

Our last trip to the trenches was the limit, even though it was very quiet. We ran into the worst weather so far this winter. It rained, snowed and did everything possible to make up bad weather. My dug-out had a roof only here and there, and when the snow commenced to melt I couldn't tell whether I was going into a place to sleep or a pond. It was a case of wet feet and clothes for six days and covered with mud from head to foot. The rats were as thick as the mud, but we never try to chase them away as they are both living in a hole in the ground, and they were here first. I don't mind the rats running around my face, but when they eat the only slice of bread you have for breakfast, certainly makes you mad, and it is an awful temptation to swear.

So the soldiers visited No. 17 School, eh. They would certainly look nice with their boots polished and buttons shined; but wait till they get over here in the mud.

Well, Jo, I must go on guard, so will close up. There is really nothing I need, but I would certainly like some home-made cooking.

Makes Concession to United States—President Wilson Undecided as to Acceptance.

"The German government notifies the government of the United States that German naval forces have received the following order: "In accordance with the general principles of visit and search, and the destruction of merchant vessels recognized by international law, such vessels, both within and without the area declared a naval war zone, shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives unless the ship attempts to escape, or offer resistance."

Germany's adherence to this policy, however, is made conditional upon

A despatch from Washington says: Though President Wilson is reserving decision until he receives the official text, there are many indications that the German reply to the United States note will avert the danger of an immediate diplomatic break. The German note, though unsatisfactory in more ways than one, apparently meets the President's basic demand that Germany "immediately declare and effect an abandonment of present methods of submarine warfare."

If Teutons Want Peace, It Is Only
Because They Are Being Beaten.

After reëssailing alleged inhumane practices by Germany, through employment of submarines, Zeppelins, poisoned gas and high-explosive shells, Lord Robert, on the issue of peace, says:

"Of the German peace overtures, if such they are to be called, I will say little. It was only in last December that their Chancellor declared that we believed it to be in our interests to attribute falsely to them peace proposals. Yet the German Government now says that 'twice within the last few months the Germans have announced before the world her readiness to make peace. Which is the truth? "

"It may be that the Germans want peace. If so, it is because they fear defeat. It may be only that they want to appear peaceful.

"For us it matters not. Our attitude, at any rate, is unchanged. We drew the sword unwillingly. We shall sheathe it gladly, but we should be untrue to our trust, we should be betraying civilization, if we abandoned our sword until we have re-established in Europe the supremacy of law, the sanctity of treaties and the right of all nations, great and small, to live their lives, to fulfil their destinies, free from the intolerable menace of Prussian militarism."

TURKS ABANDON GREAT CAMP AFTER DEFEAT BY RUSSIANS

A despatch from London says: The Russians continue to advance in the direction of Bagdad. After dislodging the Turks from their positions in the neighborhood of the village of Serinalkerind, the Russians bayoneted the defenders and occupied the positions. Sunday's Petrograd official says: "In the direction of Bagdad since our occupation of the organized points of the Serinalkerind position the Turks, having sustained heavy losses, retired hastily, abandoning a great camp of tents and other material. It has now been established that by the occupation of Trebizond we captured eight mounted coast guns, fourteen six-inch guns, one field gun, a thousand rifles, fifty-three caissons and other important booty.

"In the direction of Erzingan we repulsed a Turkish offensive supported by artillery."

WEEKLY WAR SUMMARY

They were the last survivors of the trench."

Enemy Zeppelin made short visits to the British east coast. On Tuesday night five enemy aircraft made a flight over the north-east coast of England and the south-east coast of Scotland. The British official statement said the raid resulted in 36 casualties and 100 bombs were dropped. The Berlin statement made much of the attack, saying that the airman who dropped the bombs admitted the success in several industrial centres, the fortified port of Hartlepool, and on railroads. The statement also admitted the Zeppelin L 20 which the British reported as wrecked off the coast of Norway, Thursday-morning. Another raid on Wednesday resulted in one man being killed and several houses damaged. This attack was over Deal in Kent county on the east coast of the North Sea.

 Montreal, May 9.—Corn, American No. 2 yellow, 88 to 89c; Onts., Canadian Western, No. 2, 54½c; Canadian Western, No. 3, 52c; extra No. 3, 53½c.

"The assignment of bacteriologist and hygienists to the army and the installation of apparatus for sterilizing the water and disinfecting wagons, as well as the use of the modern field kitchen, accounts for the fact that, although we have been menaced with plagues on every side, our military and civil population has remain-

"When the war broke out there was a dangerous type of dysentery in Belgium, typhoid fever was widespread in France, cholera raged in Russia, especially in Podolia and Volhynia, and there was talk of an outbreak of the plague. Is it not, in view of these dangers, a brilliant achievement when we can truthfully affirm that so far in this war only six Germans have died from smallpox? That is the result of the vaccination of all the soldiers before they go to the front.

Losses in 1870.

"In the war in Southwest Africa vaccination against typhoid was tried for the first time and, although the results were satisfying they were not so favorable as to render the vaccination of the civil population advisable. Now we have used no less than 29,000 quarts of anti-typhoid vaccine. And the result?

"In the war of 1870 we lost no fewer than 8,000 men through typhoid fever. When the present war began many of our soldiers died from typhoid, but as soon as the general vaccination was carried out the number of those affected began to drop with remarkable rapidity, and since last January we have had hardly a case of typhoid. With this experience as a base, it is not only possible to prevent peace, but to have the civil population generally vaccinated against typhoid.

"Cholera was brought from Russia into Austria and things did not look very cheerful in the Austrian hospitals. Consequently the Government decided to vaccinate from the East to avoid which all our troops on the eastern front were vaccinated against cholera. Comparatively few cases of cholera developed among the German forces in the field. The civil population was vaccinated in peace, and only forty-one cases of cholera have been discovered in all Germany.

Spotted Fever Almost Wiped Out.

"Considerable anxiety was caused at the beginning of the war by the appearance of spotted fever in several prison camps where Russians were quartered. But as a result of the measures adopted this epidemic, formerly regarded as beyond control, has been almost completely wiped out.

"The eight great disinfecting stations, in which 98,000 men can be cleansed and clad in new clothing in four hours, constructed by our military authorities on the eastern frontier, have shown themselves of especial value.

"It should also be mentioned that because of our sanitary arrangements, the number of persons affected by inflammation of the lungs and tuberculosis is no larger than in time of peace.

"Because of the aseptic treatment of the wounded the rate of recovery among them has been remarkably high. Ninety of every hundred wounded men return to the front completely cured.

PLACE PROHIBITION ON ILLINOIS STOCK.

Foot and Mouth Disease Outbreak Necessitates Restrictions.

A despatch from Ottawa says: Following an outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in Illinois the Department of Agriculture has prohibited the importation of cattle, sheep, swine and goats from that state. Horses may be brought in under special permits, and regulations are provided governing imports of animal products and poultry. Healthy cattle from Illinois may be transported through Canada subject to specified conditions as to cars, etc.

GREAT FRENCH CANAL.

COMPLETED DURING WAR

A despatch from Paris says:—The new canal connecting the Rhone with the sea at Marseilles, which has been completed during the war was inaugurated on Sunday. The canal is 27 kilometres long. The cost of the canal is ninety million francs, 35 million francs of which was given by the State and the remainder by the local Government and the Chamber of Brazilian Pests.

In certain parts of Brazil rats are great nuisances. The common cat does not thrive for some unaccountable reason, but for a specific purpose the small box-constrictor—the sibola. The snakes are not venomous. They sleep in the house, generally taking up their position at the foot of the stairs. When nightfall approaches they begin to wake up, and during the night they glide swiftly about the premises, poking for rats. It is claimed that they are so easily domesticated that, moved from one house to another, they invariably return to the house whence they have been taken.

A Late Season.

Frequent rains and cool weather are holding back farm operations, and seeding this year will be later than usual. Prospects are encouraging, nevertheless. Pastures are making a good start despite the lack of warmth; frequent rains are giving a needed addition to the limited amount of moisture stored in the soil last fall and winter, and the holding back of blossom buds in orchards is reducing the danger of damage to the fruit crop by frost. The probabilities are, too, that when growth fairly does start it will go on with a rush, and better a fairly late spring with no setback than seeding in the first week of April and sharp frosts at the end of the month. Some of the best harvests gathered in the Province have followed a fairly late seeding.

Any Gentleman Can.

Any gentleman can swear, get drunk, tell stories that would lower him in the estimation of his mother and wife, and go where he would be ashamed to be seen by the boy he loves—but he won't. Any gentleman can drive a sharp bargain; he can take advantage of the other man's necessities; he can drive him into a corner; he can rub his hands gleefully and say to himself as he sees him writhe, "Business is business"—but he won't. Any gentleman can kick a dog, abuse a horse, ill-treat a child, laugh at another man's mistakes and devilishly gloat over another man's failures—but he won't.

Any gentleman can grow cynical, sour and pessimistic; he can feel that everybody is against him and he against the world; he can scoff at all good things; ridicule religion and damn your judgment—but he won't.

Any gentleman can say harsh, sarcastic and cruel things; he can crush flowers and fertilize weeds; he can stab you with words—but he won't.

Any gentleman can make this old world, this topsy turvy, this greatly misunderstood world, a far better place because he chanced to pass along this way—and he will!

Since Vodka Has Stopped.

After fourteen months without vodka, Russia reports rather remarkable conditions, as follows:

Crime (all kinds) has decreased 62 per cent.

Absenteeism in factories has fallen 50 per cent.

Suicide-rate has dropped enormously.

Hospitals formerly overcrowded are not filled.

Efficiency in factories increased 10 to 15 per cent.

Practically every inhabitant is at work.

Savings deposits have increased 3 per cent.

Fire damage has fallen off 38 per cent.

Wages in some districts raised 500 per cent. (This applies to peasants working as day laborers).

People are eating better and costlier food.

Better clothing is worn by the poorer classes.

Agricultural implement sales 60 per cent. larger.

Imprisonment decreased 72 per cent.

As the Ottawa Journal says, probabilities look good for the results of prohibition in Ontario.

Perhaps Mr. Ford himself makes up those funny "Ford stories."

The display of neat shoes and stockings permitted by fashion's short skirt is one thing. The sanity of it compared with the trailing one of a few years ago that swept up the dirt and filth of the streets, is more important.

It is so easy for people to criticise the things they know the least about that the Northport News has just been inspired to remark:—

"That man who gets the fewest letters complains most about the management of the post office; the man who finds the most fault with the preacher pays the least towards his salary; the man who has the most trouble with his neighbor is the meanest neighbor; the man who has the least sense is the most conceited; the man without children has the best theory for their bringing up; the bachelor knows the best way to manage a wife; and the man who borrows his neighbor's newspaper is the worst critic the paper has."

Keep Off the Grass.

The thoughtless fellows blithely pass and cut a corner here and there, and wear a path across the grass, and fill the owner with despair. I try to have a nifty lawn, that will do credit to the town; and thoughtless fellows trot thereon, and break the dandelions down. I set out flowers till I go broke—I buy the richest, and the best—and how-wows owned by thoughtless folk come there and knock things galley west. And thoughtless people let their cows perambulate the town by night, and on the well kept lawns they browse, and make the scenery a sight. And thoughtless people all keep hens, and roosters with destructive feet, which come a-whopping from their pens, and spoil my flowerbeds and repeat. There's no protection for the jay who'd make his home a beauty spot; the thoughtless skates will come his way, and climb all over his garden plot, and spoil the grass and pluck the flowers, and bark the trees and crush the shrubs; and it will take him nineteen hours to tell just how he views such dubs.

The United States is still considering the creation of an army of 250,000 men. Canada has already an army of 310,000 men and will soon have half a million. The Toronto Star points out that whereas Canada used to be told that the United States would protect her in case of war the roles are now reversed. In case of war Canada would now have the pleasure of protecting the United States.

Attractive Dining Car Service.

Probably nothing helps more to make a railway journey really enjoyable than a visit to the "Dining Car," especially if it be a Canadian Pacific Dining Car, where the passenger is assured of the highest form of efficiency in the culinary art, the choicest provisions the market affords, prepared on the scientific principle known as "Dietic Blending." Your favorite dish, as you like it, may be enjoyed at reasonable cost, amidst ideal surroundings, while travelling on the Canadian Pacific.

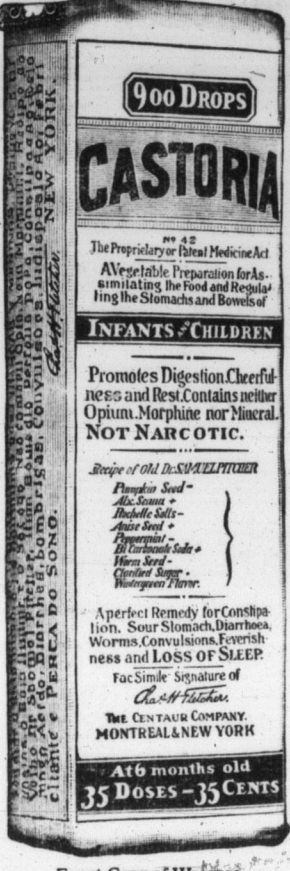

Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents.

Miller's Worm Powders work so effectively that no traces of worms can be found. The pests are macerated in the stomach and pass away in the stools without being perceptible. They make an entire and clean sweep of the intestines, and nothing in the shape of a worm can find lodgement there when these powders are in operation. Nothing could be more desirable than their action.

Two workmen were discussing the war, obviously under the influence of a great deal of unofficial news. "It'll be an awful long job, Sam," said one. "It will an all," replied the other. "You see, these Germans are taking thousands and thousands of Russian prisoners, and the Russians are taking thousands and thousands of German prisoners. If it keeps on, all the Russians will be in Germany and all the Germans in Russia. And then they'll start fresh all over again, fighting to get back their ones."

About the House

Useful Hints and General Information for the Busy Housewife

Dainty Dishes.

Cherry and Cheese Salad.—Arrange individual slices of cream cheese on lettuce leaves. Surround with canned white cherries in which the apple has been replaced by peanut. Put spoonful mayonnaise dressing on each cheese slice and garnish with maraschino cherry. A little cherry juice added to dressing adds to its flavor.

Mushrooms.—Just let them simmer gently in browned butter until thoroughly cooked. The flavor and succulence of the mushrooms depends upon the slowness of the process. If you use a chafing dish, turn the flame down to low, or if it is electrically fitted use lower power. At least a half-hour is required in cooking.

New Dessert.—Take a pint of rhubarb, cut it into inch long pieces, then cover with a cupful of sugar. Let this stand for an hour. Now have a large pudding pan at hand, into which you can put the rhubarb, a pint of bread crumbs and a cupful of raisins in layers. Add a half-cupful of hot water. A final layer of bread crumbs should be added to the top, and the whole cooked in the oven for 40 minutes. Cover the top of the dish during the first half-hour of baking. Serve with whipped cream.

Creamed Asparagus.—Tie the bunch up with a soft string, cut off the necessary part, and cook for at least 25 minutes in salted water. Have ready a few slices of crustless toasted bread. Dip these in the asparagus liquor, then butter well and arrange on a platter. Drain the asparagus and place it on the toast. Now make a good cream sauce, using a cupful of milk, a teaspoonful of flour and a tablespoonful of butter and seasoning. This is the simplest of dishes, but it is an ever welcome one.

Stuffed Mutton Chops.—Remove bones from six double-ribbed mutton chops, or have butcher remove them, replace with sausage meat (about one-fourth pound) and fasten with skewers, allowing skewers to project two or three inches. Lay chops in dripping pan, dredge lightly with pepper and salt, and roast for twenty-five minutes, basting frequently with two table-spoons butter dissolved in cup hot water. Place paper frills on skewers and gravy from drippings in pan. In serving, arrange chops in circle on round chop plate, with peas or vegetable of day heaped in center, allowing paper frills on skewers to edge dish.

Carrot Chowder.—Two cups of sliced carrots, one cup diced potatoes, one-half cup diced onion, one-fourth cup diced raw bacon, two table-spoons flour, two cups fresh or one cup evaporated milk, two table-spoons salt, a little pepper, one table-spoon fresh or dried parsley or celery top. Put carrots and potatoes on to cook in three cups boiling water and boil forty-five minutes. Fry bacon and onion light brown and add milk. Mix flour with a little cold water till smooth. Add to milk, bacon and onion in fryingpan and cook five minutes, then add to potatoes and carrots, with salt, pepper and parsley. Dust with paprika when serving.

Crumb Pudding.—One cup rolled crumbs, one-half cup water to moisten, one cup milk, one egg, one-fourth to one-half cup sugar as needed. Kind of crumbs used will determine amount of sugar. Good combination is rich cake or cookie crumbs and part rolled crackers. Stale macaroons are delicious. Roll crumbs fine, add water and let soak. Beat egg, sugar and milk together, add crumbs and bake, or steam in top receptacle of small double boiler. Baking requires one-half hour in small, moderate oven; steaming about an hour. This will make four moderate servings. Serve with fruit sauce, hard sauce or cream.

"Last Minute" Dishes.—Did you ever think to make fritters, when the unexpected guest stealed himself complacently in the best armchair and made plans to stay to dinner? No matter how little you have in the larder, you can evolve a fritter out of it. They're a Sunday evening "special" in one household, where drop-ins are a common occurrence.

Make your batter out of flour, milk, baking powder and salt. Two level table-spoonsfuls of baking powder and a quarter of a level teaspoonful of salt are to be used to each cupful of flour. This for a stiff batter—one to which you add fruit. In making all good fritter batter, you use twice as much flour as milk. More milk may be added to soft batter, such as for corn fritters, and such.

Canned pineapple fritters are easily made, as are any fruit fritters. Just cut the canned fruit up into very small pieces, then add them to the batter. Apples should be cut up into slices, coated with batter, then cooked in fat. Oranges receive the same treatment.

All fried foods of this kind should be properly drained on paper, after being taken from the pan of fat. If you do not care to go to the trouble of making a sauce, roll each fritter in powdered sugar.

Helpful Hints.

Alcohol will dissolve medicine stains. Paper bags make very good covering for jars with food in them.

Paint stains on the carpet can be dissolved with spirits of turpentine. Dark calicoes should be ironed on the wrong side with irons that are not too hot.

When the furniture looks sticky or smeary too much furniture polish has been used.

Soak nuts in hot water before cracking and the nuts will be much more likely to come out whole.

If roses are starved and otherwise neglected they are more apt to be attacked by insects and other pests.

Instead of grating cheese or the rind of a lemon, pare it off carefully and put it through the meat chopper. Mix the batter cakes in a wide-mouth pitcher. It is easier to pour the batter cakes than it is to dip them.

Coarse salt and water is the best cleanser for wicker furniture and summer matting. Use a strong brush, and be sure to dry the articles thoroughly.

While ironing it is a good plan to get a clean brick (a white one if possible) as a stand. The iron will retain heat much longer than if an open iron stand be used.

If vegetables are wilted they should not be pared or prepared in any way until they have been revived in water. The wilted surface makes waste in the preparation.

An old four-sifter that has lost its value as a sieve makes an excellent egg-boiler, as the eggs may all be placed in the water at once, and also removed at once when done.

When a baking dish gets burned in using it should not be scraped; simply put a little water and ashes in it and the burned surface will come off easily without injuring the dish.

Never boil dish towels with washing powders or soda in aluminum utensils. It will leave a blackened mark.

Clean aluminum with paste prepared for it, or rub blackened scorched surfaces with mineral wool.

Half a cupful of milk put in a dish-tub full of hot water will serve as a substitute for soap. It softens the water, does not roughen the hands, and brightens dishes, cleaning off all greases, and leaving no scum in the pan.

After cooking a new laid egg it very often gets cold through standing. When this occurs put the egg into a cup or small basin and pour some hot (not boiling) water over the egg. You will then find the egg as nice as when freshly boiled.

All the left over pieces of bread, should be wrapped carefully in a flour bag, or a sack. Hang this where the air can reach it. It serves to keep the bread free from mold. And you always have it at hand when you want to put it through the meat chopper for bread crumbs, bread puddings, cutlets, etc.

To renovate hat bands when stained by sweat dissolve 1½ ozs., of white castile soap in 4 ozs. of alcohol and 1 oz. each of sulphuric ether and ammonia; apply with a sponge or tooth brush, rub smartly, rinse out with clear rain water. This is equally good to renovate any cloth with fast color.

To prevent the finger from becoming pricked when hemming or embroidery put a small piece of surgeon's adhesive plaster over it. This plaster can easily be removed, and a roll may be kept in the work-basket for this purpose. This device is much more practical than the silver or gold finger-shields.

For damp places round a sink, or similar place, paint over with tar. Give two coats, letting the first dry thoroughly before applying the second. Then paint with a distemper. Strip off the paper from the damp places, take a sheet of brown paper, blacked it on one side, and place that side against the wall. Then cover with the wallpaper. The damp will not strike through.

SCIENCE NOTES.

However strong a gale may be blowing, not a breath of wind is felt by the occupants of a balloon.

According to the British consul at Bordeaux each French soldier at the front has an allowance of one pint of wine a day.

It is authoritatively estimated that more than 2,000,000 women and girls have come into the labor market since the beginning of the war.

Germany has already passed a law making it a punishable offense for an unauthorized person to wear a nursing uniform or badge.

In the far north of the Russian Empire lives a race of people who do not know who the Russians are and who do not know that there is a war.

Count Zeppelin has given orders that on his death his body shall be conveyed to its last resting place in one of the machines with which his name is associated.

A shiftless man is always boasting of what he would do if he had the money.

THE FASHIONS

Satin and Serge Combinations.

Perhaps the most noticeable thing about the summer styles is their decided youthfulness; this is both in line and coloring. The straight lined frock and suits of serge, gabardine, taffeta and faille, lend grace and youth to all types of figures. For instance, a yoked, pleated frock of dark blue serge trimmed with black taffeta may be worn by the large woman or the small one with equally good results. One particularly good model worn by a large woman, at an exhibition recently, was made with a deep shoulder yoke of black taffeta, the serge laid in deep, flat pleats, hanging straight from the yoke. A girle, consisting of two narrow stitched straps of the black silk, came well down over the hips, giving a long, slender appearance to a rather heavy figure. A pretty adaptation of the same style of dress is illustrated here in serge for the slender, younger woman.

Satin is effective with serge; and of course the combination of navy blue serge and black satin is quite as popular this season again as it has been for several seasons past. One sees many smart serge frocks with sleeveless coats of black satin, half skirts of satin, sleeves of satin, and the various other notions favored for the modish combining of two or more contrasting materials. Scarcely a frock appears these days made strictly of one material. It is a fact which makes for economy and becomingness.

Hand Painting on Sport Costumes.

The sport costume is another youthful notion. It imparts a delightful feeling of freedom, both of movement and spirit. There is something very becoming and exhilarating about the combinations of vivid colorings in the wide striped, checked, and printed novelty fabrics now being used in skirts and suits. The middy-bloose costume is popular with all; one of the new materials being used for middys is an adaptation of the old-fashioned jean. This material wears quite as well as its old-time blue predecessor, is reasonably priced, and a most satisfactory material generally for middy blouse and accompanying skirt. An effective combination for a middy costume is one of the bright awning striped linens or ducks, with blouse of plain white, collared and cuffed in the stripes.

The hand-painted or stencilled hat has been a fad for some time, its vivid parrots, chanticleers, conventionalized offering another effective way of introducing a bit of color in a dark linen or serge costume. Some of the most effective ones shown this year are of suede, in the favored soft blues, greens, and lavenders, either stencilled with flowers, or finished with beaded motifs and ornaments. One imported novelty has a bead flower applied at the center-back, and is closed in front with another rose to match.

Another pretty suggestion for the young girl is illustrated here in the effective combination of plain and plaid voile.

Foulards are being used extensively again this year; there is no silk, it seems, half as satisfactory for the summer silk frock for afternoons and for church. A most attractive dress, shown recently was fashioned of polka-dotted foulard, a dark blue dot on a white ground, trimmed with handlings collar and cuffs of plain, dark blue foulard. Foulard wears well, and is soft and cool.

These patterns may be obtained from your local McCall dealer or from The McCall Co., 70 Bond St., Toronto, Ont., Dept. W.

The Rest Hour.

"Bobby, why aren't you playing with your cousin Ethel?" "Gee whiz, mother! Don't I get an hour off at noon?"

At the age of threescore and ten nearly every man is rich—in experience.

WILL WOOL PRICES GO STILL HIGHER?

DEPENDS ON PRINCIPLE OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND.

Questions to be Considered in Determining Price for Present Season.

They say that the centipede has one hundred legs, but the centipede would run short of legs if he should attempt to place one on each angle that has to be considered in determining the prices of wool this year," said Mr. John Hallam, the large Toronto wool buyer, "for there are so many elements entering into the price of wool and so many contingencies to be considered, that growers and buyers alike will have to be very conservative and use good judgment or they will find that they have lost money on the season's business.

Prices on wool in Canada are high; in fact extremely high, and the Canadian wool grower is receiving prices for his wool to-day that far exceeds his wildest dreams of a few years ago, yet optimistic human nature is so constituted, that although we have in the present more than we expected in the past, we look for more in the future than we have in the present; this is probably the reason that some growers are looking for still higher prices for their wool—whether they will receive them or not, depends on the basic principle of supply and demand modified by the unusual conditions existing to-day, a few of which we will now consider.

Wool of different grades is adapted for different uses, more wool of some grades is produced in Canada than we can use to advantage, while we require wool of other grades to meet our requirements; hence we must find a market for our surplus wool of some grades and purchase and import wool of other grades to supply our wants.

For the twelve months ending in January, 1916, there was imported for consumption in Canada wool and manufactures of wool to the value of $27,137,929, of which $6,000,770 worth was imported from the United States, the value of the importations from the United States alone being about double the value of the wool clip of Canada for that year. At the same time that we were importing this large amount of wool from the States, practically all of the surplus wool of Canada was exported to the States; therefore, in considering conditions of wool in Canada, we must also take into consideration the conditions in the United States.

Argentina is one of the great wool producing countries of the world, and up to a couple of years ago, shipped a majority of her wool to England, yet in 1915 out of a total of 322,991 bales of wool exported, 140,521 bales, or over 40 per cent. of the total amount of wool exported, was shipped to the United States, who was her best wool customer during that year.

United States' buyers also purchased great quantities of wool in Australia last year after the embargo was lifted, paying higher prices for the Australian wool than their English competitors, and as long as a permit to export wool from London could be secured, they also purchased large quantities of wool on that market, so that statistics show that on January 1, 1916, there was on hand in the United States 102,052,429 pounds of wool, which was a larger amount than was on hand on the first of January of any year since 1912.

Clipping is now in progress in the south-western part of the United States, and the clip is ready for market; but the large amount of wool on hand in the States has already had its effect on the market, as there is a lack of spirited competition among buyers for the wool that has been a feature of previous seasons, buyers showing a marked indifference as to whether they secure the wool or not, and only willing to purchase it at a lower range of prices.

Another item that is of interest to the Canadian wool grower and dealer, is the fact that there is a considerable quantity of Canadian wool in the hands of the dealers of the United States that was exported to that country last year, as they have been unable to dispose of the wool at a profit.

While these conditions exist, if the surplus Canadian wools are to be sold to the United States' dealers and manufacturers, they will have to be priced on a basis so that they will be able to compete with the foreign and domestic clip, and the large quantities of wool that are now on hand in the States has a tendency to, and undoubtedly will, place Canadian wools on lower range of prices than has prevailed in Canada during the past few months.

Very similar conditions exist in the Canadian wool situation to-day. Statistics show that on January 1, 1916, there were on hand in Canada over 3,000,000 pounds of wool. This is equal to about one quarter of the annual clip of Canada. Prices on Canadian wool have been so high that Canadian manufacturers have found that they could purchase foreign wools of similar grades, and we can naturally expect that the Canadian manufacturer will continue to use his stock on hand, and to import foreign wools as long as possible, or until the price of Canadian wools have adjusted themselves so that they may purchase our native wool as cheap as the foreign importations. It is true that the freight and the war tax of 7½ per cent. that has to be paid on wool that is imported into Canada gives the Canadian producer that much advantage over the producer in foreign countries, so that we expect him to receive a higher price for his wool that is suitable for home consumption than is paid the foreign grower for wool of a similar quality, while for Canadian wools that are to be exported we can expect them to be placed on a basis so that they will be able to compete with the foreign and domestic clip of the country to which they will be shipped.

Over the whole subject of prices there is the nightmare of the embargo. Dealers and growers alike remember only too vividly the great drop in prices of wool last year in Canada when the Canadian government placed an absolute embargo on the exportation of wool to any country except the British possessions, and they also remember the immediate rise of prices on wool as soon as the government modified the embargo, and allowed wool to be exported to certain specified countries under a permit. The same was true in Australia. While an absolute embargo was in effect, there was simply a competition for the Australian wool among English buyers, at which time wool brought fair prices, but as soon as the embargo was lifted allowing exportation to the States, prices took a decided jump and sales were at a high level of prices. England at the present time has an embargo, and wool can only be exported under a special permit, but from the latest advices, these permits are very difficult to obtain; in fact, very few, if any, have been issued since the first of the year, and should the Canadian government at any time refuse to issue permits for the export of wool to the States, it will immediately shut off competition in that direction and will undoubtedly mean a decline in prices. A restricted market for the sale of any commodity results in a restricted competition among buyers and lower prices.

These are only a few of the angles that have to be considered in determining the price of wool for the present season, and unless the unexpected happens, all things indicate that last year's prices for wool were as high or higher than we can expect for the clip of the present year, which prices were about 100% higher than prevailed for many years past, and give the wool grower good returns for his product.

LOSS OF YOUTH BRITISH PERIL.

Speakers Discuss Economic Value of the Disabled Soldier.

The loss of the youth of the nation is perhaps the bitterest blow to the countries engaged in the war. "At this moment we are threatened with a man shortage greater than any we ever before knew in our history," writes the medical correspondent of the Times.

As a people, the writer concludes, the English must set their house in order lest in the days to come they find it tenantless and so become a prey to foe, who have shown a wiser foresight and a truer appreciation of values.

On the other hand Dr. Murray Leslie, lecturing recently at the Institute of Hygiene, London, on "The Disabled Soldier; His Future and Economic Value," said the present marriage rate is the highest ever known. Present marriages for the most part have been confined to young strong and active soldiers, although there were numerous instances where girls had been only too glad to marry the men of their choice after the latter had been disabled or disabled. From that point of view war engagements as well as war marriages are greatly to be recommended, the speaker believed. Admirable for disabled war heroes should be encouraged. He continued:

The economic question is the difficulty; yet how many women there are in this country with comfortable incomes who spend large sums on pampered lapdogs! Such incomes could be better utilized in other directions.

If people were as wise as they think they are the unexpected would seldom occur. A girl thinks she has made good as soon as she hypnotizes some young man into buying her an engagement ring.

SAILORS' HYMN OF TRIUMPH.

Having Ramm'd German Destroyer, Sang "Abide With Me."

When the Admiralty lifts the veil of secrecy surrounding the latest dash by the British Fleet to the German coast one of the boldest and most exhilarating feats yet executed by the navy will be revealed, says the London Sunday Observer. Never in their history have our intrepid seamen essayed anything more audacious and perilous than the coup which has just been accomplished by them in the teeth of the German fleet. A participant in the engagement says: "We set about them in a ding-dong fashion, the Cleopatra being well ahead of the other cruisers. The most awful pounding resulted. I may remark that the German gunnery was an improvement on that of a year ago, and the enemy certainly landed us one or two disturbing shots.

"The Cleopatra made a desperate dash, during which a German destroyer was absolutely cut in two and went to the bottom. When the Cleopatra rammed the enemy destroyer we all sang 'Abide With Me.' "We made the return journey in the most abominable weather, and all our boats excepting the Medusa returned to port little the worse for the scrap. The crew of the Medusa had a very narrow escape. How they escaped, was miraculous, for when she collided with the Laverock it was odds against anybody being saved."

YOUNG FOLKS

When Betty Kicked the Rug.
"What a horrid, rainy day it is!" pouted Betty. Then she kicked the rug in front of the fireplace.
The rug did not feel that it ought to be punished for what was not its fault, and so it tried to slip along the smooth floor out of Betty's way. It slipped so quickly and so far that Betty slipped, too; and, to save herself from falling, she thrust out her hand.
The hand hit a tall vase that was standing on the centre table, and the vase fell—crash!—to the floor. It struck just beside Tiger, who was having a peaceful nap beside the fire.
Tiger jumped up with a startled bark, and dashed from the room into the kitchen. The back door was open, and Tiger ran through it just in time to upset the grocer's boy, who was coming in with a big basket on his arm.
The boy and the basket went down together in a heap, and the boy shouted so loudly that he frightened the horse attached to his delivery wagon. The horse ran out of the yard into the road, and basket after basket tumbled from the wagon to the muddy ground.
The runaway horse frightened a pair of horses that were hauling a big dray loaded with lumber. The two horses turned sharply and upset the load just as it was on the railway crossing. While men ran from all directions to get the overturned dray and the tangled pile of lumber from the track, a train had to wait in the station near by, and a hundred passengers fretted at the delay and wondered what had caused the trouble.
They little knew that a pouting girl in a house beyond the village had caused it all, just by one kick at an innocent rug!

They blamed the man who had been driving the load of lumber. The driver blamed the grocer—and so did the persons who did not get the groceries they had ordered. The grocer blamed his boy. The boy blamed Tiger. Tiger, being only a dog, did not blame the vase that had frightened him, but went back to the corner by the fireplace, and lay down to have another nap. And the vase, being broken into pieces, could not very well blame Betty.
And what of Betty? It was a sorry and frightened little girl that rushed to the door and saw what happened—a very sober and saddened little girl that crept back to pick up the pieces of the vase and to talk it over with her mother.
"I'll never kick the rug again," she promised.
"But it was the pout that really made all the trouble," said her mother. "The next time you feel a pout coming, just make a smile come in place of it, and see what a difference it will make in everything that happens."—Youth's Companion.

WILD PARIS BOY MADE GOOD.

Bravely Carried Out a Most Hazardous Mission.

How a ne'er-do-well, a devotee of the night life of Paris, became the hero of his regiment was told to the correspondent of the Petit Journal by the young man's captain in a field hospital somewhere south of Verdun recently.

"His name is Marco, and he is only a private in a chasseur battalion," said the captain. "Before the war his father gave him plenty of money and he passed his nights in dancing the tango and otherwise dissipating himself in the all night cafes of Montmartre. His dissipation, however, had not affected his keen intelligence, and when we were ordered to retire from a certain part of Haumont Wood the colonel trusted to Marco's most perilous, but the most important mission."

"He was directed to remain behind in hiding to endeavor to spot the German battery which, we knew, would be brought forward when we fell back, and to signal its whereabouts by various colored rockets according to a pre-arranged code."

"Do not let yourself be captured or killed—above all not before you have given the signal," was the colonel's last admonition.

"Marco, who is badly wounded, told me afterwards what happened. He climbed a big tree and promptly went to sleep. At dawn he was promptly awakened by the cries of Germans passing directly under him. Two fears gripped him—one, that one of the many shells falling in the wood would strike his tree before he located the German gun; the other, that the Germans in solidifying their positions would chop down his refuge. But neither of these things happened, and at night Marco slid down to the ground and started in search of the enemy battery."

"He found it only a few yards from his tree, and promptly sent up the rocket signal. Then he fled back to his hiding place. Of course the Germans saw the rocket and began a mad search through the woods, but, failing to find the intruder, they set the wood afire. Marco, clinging to the branches, saw the flames come closer and closer to him; finally the bow above him began to burn. Just then a shell burst against the tree and Marco was hurled to the ground. He remembered nothing further until he recovered consciousness in a dressing station, badly burned and suffering from several grave wounds as well."

"What happened was that we made our counter attack soon after Marco's rocket permitted our artillery to silence the German battery, and our stretcher bearers found the youth under his tree and carried him back safely."

NEW STRENGTH IN THE SPRING

Nature Needs Aid in Making New Health-Giving Blood.

In the spring the system needs a tonic. To be healthy you must have new blood, just as the trees must have new sap to renew their vitality. Nature demands it, and without this new blood you will feel weak and languid. You may have twinges of rheumatism or the sharp stabbing pains of neuralgia. Often there are disfiguring pimples or eruptions on the skin. In other cases there is merely a feeling of tiredness and a variable appetite. Any of these are signs that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has lessened your vitality. What you need in spring is a tonic medicine to put you right, and in all the world of medicine there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills actually make new rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring. This new blood drives out the seeds of disease and makes easily tired men, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Eugene Cadarette, Amherstburg, Ont., says: "I suffered for a long time from dizziness, pain in the back and sick headache, and nothing I took did me any good until I began Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These cured me after taking six boxes and I now feel better than ever I did in my life. I had fallen off in weight to 82 pounds, and after taking the Pills I had increased to 100 pounds."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or can be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TELLS OF FRENCH COURAGE.

Bavarian Says Verdun Defenders Fight With Bravery.

A high Bavarian railroad official who is in charge of some of the German field roads before Verdun writes home:

"The defenders of Verdun fight with admirable bravery, and their artillery does good work. Whenever they are driven out of a position the French counter-attack at once with death-defying courage. The French army is brave and capable."

"There is no hope that France will lay down her arms until the nation realizes that Germany can never be crushed. The war will go on even if Verdun falls."
"The French civilians behind our front willingly work for us, and take the high wages we pay them, but their hearts remain, and they have but one thought and wish: Germany must be crushed."

ASQUITH A RECORD PREMIER.

Has Held Office for a Long Period as Prime Minister.

Mr. Asquith has been Premier of Great Britain longest of any since 1832. Not only is Mr. Asquith's single stretch of office longer than that of any other modern Prime Minister, but he is getting near the top of the list for length of years of office with or without breaks.

Mr. Gladstone was Prime Minister for about fourteen years in all, and Lord Salisbury for about thirteen, but Lord Beaconsfield had only about seven years, and Lord John Russell about six. Lord Palmerston's ascendancy was roughly from 1855 till 1865, in which period he had two terms as Prime Minister, one lasting three and the other six years. It took Sir Robert Peel about five years to get and leave a name as one of the greatest of Prime Ministers.

GLASS OF WATER

Upset Her.

People who don't know about food should never be allowed to feed persons with weak stomachs.

Sometime ago a young woman had an attack of scarlet fever, and when convalescing was permitted to eat anything she wanted. Indiscriminate feeding soon put her back in bed with severe stomach and kidney trouble.

"There I stayed," she says, "three months, with my stomach in such condition that I could take only a few teaspoonfuls of milk or beef juice at a time. Finally Grape-Nuts was brought to my attention and I asked my doctor if I might eat it. He said, 'yes,' and I commenced at once."

"The food did me good from the start and I was soon out of bed and recovered from the stomach trouble. I have gained ten pounds and am able to do all household duties, some days sitting down only long enough to eat my meals. I can eat anything that one ought to eat, but I still continue to eat Grape-Nuts at breakfast and supper and like it better every day."

"Considering that I could stand only a short time, and that a glass of water seemed 'so heavy,' I am fully satisfied that Grape-Nuts has been everything to me and that my return to health is due to it."

"I have told several friends having nervous or stomach trouble what Grape-Nuts did for me and in every case they speak highly of the food."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

CHAPLIN, NEWEST OF BRITISH PEERS

ALWAYS A FAVORITE IN THE BRITISH COMMONS.

Was King Edward's Chum in the Deceased Monarch's Madcap Days.

The Rt. Hon. Henry Chaplin, who has just been created a peer, has discharged the duties of leader of the nominal Opposition, in virtue of his seniority among ex-Cabinet Ministers, since the formation of the coalition Government. It is said that Mr. Chaplin's failing health necessitates his retirement from the strenuous life of the Lower Chamber, of which, by the way, he has been a member—and almost continuously—for nearly fifty years. The son of a parson—that kind of parson who was both country gentleman and clergyman, and was termed a "squire"—and educated at Harrow and Christ Church, Oxford. The new peer is 75 years old. While quite a young man he came into splendid inheritance in the shape of the Blankney Estate in Lincolnshire—to this day he is termed the Squire of Blankney in the House of Commons. The estate consisted of land and a splendid mansion, and the rent roll was pretty nearly a quarter of a million dollars a year. Harry Chaplin—he is one of those men who are "Harry" in all their lives—got through the lot in pretty short order.

For truth to tell, this now veteran statesman and newly-made peer was not a little of a roysterer in the days of his hot youth. Hunting, shooting, deer stalking, racing, card playing, dining, winging, and the rest of it—he was the equal of the best at any one of these. When King Edward was acting the part of madcap Prince Hal, Harry Chaplin was one of his nearest and dearest intimates. He is said to have won as much as $500,000 on a single race, and doubtless has before now many times lost pretty nearly that sum. In his old age he was glad to accept a pension such as an ex-Cabinet Minister of impoverished means is entitled to, of $6,000 a year, and to live at Stafford House as practically a pensioner on the bounty of the Duke of Sutherland, his kinsman by marriage.

Rt. Hon. Henry Chaplin.

A General Favorite.
Yet, with all his faults and foibles—and they are neither few nor small—Mr. Chaplin has always been a great favorite in the House of Commons. Squire, sportsman, and something of a scholar—in the sense that he has cultivated a taste for literature such as is not often possessed by the average country gentleman—he is very far from being a fool in "public" matters, whatever he may have proved himself to be in the management of his own affairs. In fact, so astute a judge as Disraeli welcomed him as a recruit of promise when he first returned to Parliament to swell the ranks of the Conservative minority in the year 1868. His admiration for Disraeli has affected his Parliamentary style almost beyond belief. When a young and impressionable member he was accustomed to note that great man's air of Olympian reflection and his assumed grandiloquence of manner, and he came to the conclusion that if these were essential to Parliamentary success he would succeed in Parliament. However, Disraeli possessed a good deal that Harry Chaplin conspicuously lacks. And so, though the latter has been a Cabinet Minister, he has never reached a higher position than that of a second rate man.

Had Splendid Physique.

The new peer was in his youth a man of superb physique. With his broad shoulders and his six foot two of height he was possessed of great strength. And he was, too, an extremely good-looking man, with his aquiline nose, his high forehead, his finely chiselled face, his Saxon blue eyes, at once keen and kindly, and his general expression of prevailing good humor. If ever a man was a typical specimen of the open-handed and open-hearted English squire the newest addition to the House of Lords is that one. He has all the English squire's virtues and nearly all his limitations. What the House of Lords will take more seriously than the House of Commons has done in these later days, who can tell? But it is certain that Harry Chaplin, who has always been inclined to take himself seriously in his public capacity, will not be less inclined to do so, now that a coronet adorns his Jove-like brow.

WORSHIP SNAKE IN JAPAN.

Natives Believe Reptile Has Cured Hundreds of Toothache.

In the Suma gardens of Kobe, Japan, is a huge snake brought from the tropics. It measured 25 feet in length and 28 inches round the waist. Naturally this splendid reptile excited admiration, and when it died much sympathy was expressed, and a deputation asked the management to bury the snake in the vicinity, with due ceremony. This was done, the reptile being interred in a pine grove back of the restaurant.

Then the discovery was made that the snake had died on the day of the snake in the Japanese calendar, and somebody remembered an ancient superstition according to which toothache may be cured by worshipping a snake. The grave began to be visited and much benefit was derived by toothache sufferers.

Hundreds visit the grave every week now and bring good profits to the garden and the restaurant proprietor, who naturally are ready to be convinced of the power of the snake. Some of the grateful people who have been cured have decided to erect a shrine to the memory of the snake.

Spreading Good News Broadcast

WANTS EVERYBODY TO KNOW DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIM.

Louis Champagne, After a Long Period of Sickness and Weakness, Says He Found New Health in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Millerand, Ont., May 8th (Special).—Strong and hearty again after a long period of weakness and ill-health, Louis Champagne, a well-known resident of this place, is spreading broadcast the good news that he found new health and strength in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For a long time," Mr. Champagne states in an interview, "I suffered from kidney disease and backache. My appetite was uncertain, and I got up in the morning with a bitter taste in my mouth. There were flashes of light before my eyes, and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. My limbs were heavy and I was always tired. Then I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to be able to say that two boxes made me well. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all those who suffer from feebleness or bad kidneys."

If you have the symptoms mentioned by Mr. Champagne you may be sure your kidneys need attention. Neglected kidneys are the cause of many bad things, and the cause of weak kidneys is to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

SCHOOLROOM FURNITURE.

How a Child Is Crippled by School Desks and Seats.

We take pains to have our school buildings well lighted, well heated, well ventilated and in other ways thoroughly healthful places. But there is one important point which is often overlooked. This is the supplying of proper seats and desks at which the children can work in comfort, and without doing serious damage to their growing bodies.

Many children are hopelessly crippled with round shoulders, curvature of the spine and other deformities long before they are ready to leave school because they have been forced to sit in ill-fitting chairs and work at desks which are either too high or too low for them.

The desks and seats in every schoolroom should be adjustable. It is very wrong to make children of all sizes sit at desks of the same size. For boys and girls who are below or above the average in size there should be desks which can be adjusted to meet their particular needs.

The most common faults in schoolroom furniture are the unsuitable shape of the backs of the seats, too great distance between the seat and the desk, disproportion of the height of the seat and desk, and incorrect shape and slope of the desk.

It is important that the edge of the desk should project slightly over the edge of the seat. The top of the desk should incline downward about ten degrees toward the seat and should be low enough to allow the forearm to rest on it without raising the shoulder. The seat should be broad enough to support almost the whole thigh, and should be low enough to allow the sole of the foot to rest on the floor. It should be slightly concave to prevent slipping and horizontal rather than inclined. The back should be curved forward to support the loins so that even a weakly child will find it easy and comfortable to sit upright.

When a schoolroom seat is too high the child does not touch the floor. He is most uncomfortable because he does not get the proper aid from the legs and feet in maintaining an upright position. If the desk is too high the elbow can get no rest except by striving the spine and raising the shoulder. This also causes extra strain to the eyes by bringing the work too close.

When the desk is too low the child has to bend over and will quickly become round shouldered. Bending over a low desk also strains the eyes and compresses important veins in the neck so that serious brain troubles may follow.

SACRIFICES OF PEERAGE.

Forty-Eight Heirs to British Titles Killed in Present War.

Attention has been again focused on the sacrifices of the British peerage in the war by the death at the front of Lord Desmond Fitzgerald, of the Irish Guards, the brother and heir presumptive of the Duke of Leinster. Lord Desmond is the 48th heir to a peerage to fall in the present war and his case is only specially notable from the fact that the peerage which he would have inherited had he lived is one of the most historic in the United Kingdom. He would have become the premier duke, marquis and earl in Ireland and he would have inherited one of the few existing peerages that can be traced back without a break to the Norman conquest.

His elder brother, the Duke of Leinster, is unmarried and in poor health and the succession now devolves on a younger brother, Lord Edward Fitzgerald, who a few years ago married Miss May Etheridge, a musical comedy actress. Lady Edward Fitzgerald will be the first musical comedy duchess, if her husband lives to inherit. He is also an officer serving at the front, but even if he should fall the succession in this case is safe, for he has an infant son, born in 1914, who in the natural course of events will one day be Duke of Leinster.

REDUCTION OF INSANITY.

War is Proving an Antidote for Madness.

Medical inquiry indicates that there has been a considerable reduction of insanity since the war began. Dr. William Graham of the Belfast Lunatic Asylum says: "It is not the great tragedies of life that sap the forces of the brain and wreck the psychic organism. On the contrary, it is the small worries, the monotony of a narrow and circumscribed existence, the dull drab of a life without joy and barren of an achievement, the self-centred, anaemic consciousness—it is these experiences that weaken and diminish personality and so leave it a prey to inherited predispositions or to the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune."

And the editor of the Lancet points out: "The traveler in Central America will face savage men and savage beasts unmoved but is driven to the verge of madness by the attacks of minute and insistent insects." Dr. Graham quotes with approval Lord Bryce's recent statement that the effect of the fighting on thousands of men has been to sober them, to stir their deepest thoughts, and to inspire them with an urgent desire for some idealistic basis of life, and he believes that one of the eventual results of the war will be a great decrease in the amount of mental instability which has been growing in recent years."

Discovery of the first gas and petroleum field in the continent of Australia was announced in a cable message.

received by P. E. Quinn, Trade Commissioner of New South Wales, Australia, New York. The message, which came from E. H. Palmer, acting assistant superintendent of the Immigration and Tourist Bureau, Sydney, contained only the information that the petroleum and gas field had been found near Grafton, on the Clarence River, in the extreme north-eastern part of New South Wales.

That the newly found supply is extensive is indicated by the fact that news of the discovery was cabled also to Niel Nielson, Australian Trade Commissioner in San Francisco and other Australian representatives who are seeking to bring about closer commercial relations between the United States and the Australian Commonwealth.

Commissioner Quinn said the oil and gas supply nearest Australia was that discovered in recent years in New Guinea. He was not able to estimate how the American market of these products might be affected, but he pointed out that Australia annually has bought from the United States more than $10,000,000 worth of gasoline, benzol, lubricating oils and other petroleum products.

MILK SHORTAGE IN AUSTRIA.

In Innsbruck Shops Open for Only Two Hours Daily.

The scarcity of live stock and milk in Austria has assumed such alarming proportions that at Innsbruck during the mid-Lent cattle market only twelve cows were available for sale and they were immediately requisitioned by the military authorities.

The amount of milk available for sale is so limited that milk shops are opened for only two hours every day and the crowd of people is so great that the police experience the greatest difficulty in regulating the sale and distribution of milk for children and sick persons.

Conditions in other regions are much worse than in the Tyrol, where in ordinary times cattle breeding flourishes and consequently the milk supply is plentiful.

Thousands of mothers have learned by experience that nothing will equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the children well. Concerning them Mrs. R. Morehouse, Blissfield, N.B., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I have ever used for my baby. He was very cross but the Tablets soon put him right again." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"When I am big mamma, I'm going to marry a doctor or a minister."

"Why, my dear?"

"Cause if I marry a doctor I can get well for nothing, and if I marry a minister I can be good for nothing."

It is believed by some that the time will come when an honest man will command respect.

A Pleasant Discovery.
An old lady on board a vessel observed two sailors pumping up water to wash the deck, and the captain being near, she accosted him as follows: "Well captain, so we've got a well aboard, eh?"
"Yes, ma'am always carry one," said the polite captain.
"Well that's clever. It's so much better than the nasty sea water, which I always dislike so."

Chinese Porcelain.

It is announced that the famous King, Teh Cheong porcelain factory which from the year 1896 furnished all the fine porcelain for the royal palaces of China, is to be reopened. This factory was partly destroyed during the revolution in which the republic was established, and the various samples and patterns kept there were divided among the leading revolutionists. However, many patterns have been recovered, together with samples.

Newbury

Dr. Owens has made a decided improvement in the appearance of his property by taking out the hedge at the front.

This is the season for general cleaning up, but it would be well to remember not to clean up your own place at the expense of your neighbors, the street or a vacant lot, by throwing weeds, old cans or rubbish on them. Dig a hole and bury what will not burn; make a decent clean-up at the time. A boggy spot can easily be made on the road by a bunch of old weeds thrown on it.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. R. Gray and baby Jessie, of Shetland, spent Sunday with Mrs. Dixon.

Joseph Haskell has moved into the late Mrs. Woods' home.

J. S. Griffin, of Bridgeburg, was in town on Monday.

Mrs. McNall and son Duncan, of London, spent a few days with her brother, Stuart McCallum.

A press dispatch says: "Capt. George H. Wilkinson, of Windsor, has been appointed temporary major of the 1st Battalion as a reward for his gallant conduct at the battle of St. Julien, where he was severely wounded. He has been mentioned in dispatches on several occasions because of the gallant manner in which he conducted himself while under fire." Friends here will be proud to learn of Capt. Wilkinson's promotion. Mrs. Wilkinson is a niece of Messrs. D. Fletcher and Jas. Brown.

Owing to continued illness in various homes the Women's Institute have deferred their monthly meeting until next Wednesday, May 17, to be held at the town hall, for election of officers and reading of the report of the year's work, at 2:30 p.m. All members desired to be present.

Mount Zion Lodge of the I. O. O. F. held anniversary services in the Methodist church Sunday afternoon. Mr. Howson, of Glencoe, conducted the services and gave an inspiring address. There was a large attendance of Oddfellows from Glencoe, Wardsville, Shetland and Cairo.

The basket factory has resumed operations after a short delay of a week or so.

Building is brisk in this vicinity. R. Winslip is erecting a house and barn, and Fred Haggith has bought R. Winslip's property and will build a house.

The Proven Asthma Remedy. "Since asthma existed there has been no lack of much heralded remedies, but they have proved short lived and worthless. The ever-growing reputation of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has given it a place in the field of medicine which no other can approach. It has never been pushed by sensational methods, but has simply gone on effecting relief and making new converts."

IDEAL FENCE CHINA-MEL

There is Safety Under This Roof

Have you ever had a fine job of decorating spoiled by a leaking roof? If you have, you certainly are in a position to appreciate the value of a roof that is positively water-proof. Some of the troubles common to wooden shingles to-day are that they are apt to split, warp or blow off as well as leak, soon after they are put on. Years ago they were good, but the quality has since gradually depreciated as the available supply of suitable timber became exhausted.

Brantford Slates have none of the faults of wooden shingles. They cannot rust. They do not allow rain to be driven under them as do metal roofs. They do not require rigid supporting as do the common tile or slate roofs. On the other hand, Brantford Slates afford the utmost protection with little weight. They are made on a long-fibred felt "base" which is thoroughly saturated under pressure with asphaltum or mineral pitch. Crushed quarried slate particles are then deeply embedded in the surface of this "base", making it water-tight and fireproof.
