THE JEWELRY HIDDEN IN TIRE

Thief Ingeniously Conceals His Booty in His Bicycle,

Toronto, Nov. 10.-A bleycle was brought into the Cleveland bicycle factory, at Toronto Junction, for repairs, on Wednesday. While it was standing there yesterday, awaiting the machinist who was to overhaul it, an employe of Mr. Morphy, the Yonge street jeweler, came in, and after deflating the tires removed them from the bicycle, and disclosed a quantity of jewelry which had been concealed therein.

The goods, which were worth about $200 had been retained. $20, had been stolen from the jewelry store a few days before, and the thief alike afraid to leave his booty at home or to carry it with him, had finally de posited it in the tires. He became conscience-stricken yesterday, and confessed the larceny to hir. Morphy, telling him also where the jewelry was hidden.

London, Nov. 10 .- The British war office has received from Gen. Buller the following dispatch: Cape Town, Thursday evening, Nov. 9 .- Have received by pigeon post from Gen. White today the following: "The bombardment at long range by heavy guns continues daily. A few casualties are occurring, but no serious harm is being

The colonial office has received a telegram from the governor of Natal, giving a copy of a pigeon post message received by the premier from the commandant of the volunteers. It is as follows.

"Ladysmith, Tuesday, Nov. 7 .- I sent you, Nov. 3, by native messenger, a report of the engagement that day, but I am not sure if it reached you, as the messenger has not returned. "Major Taunton and Sergt. Map-

ALL THREE SAFE.

The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Pietermaritzburg, telegraphing Monday, says: Estcourt, Pietermaritzburg and Ladysmith are all safe for some time to come. Owing to the fact that Ladysmith lies low, and the Boers, unluckily, have been permitted to occupy Mount Bulwan and other surrounging big hills, attempts to open up heliographic communicaton has proved a failure.

COLENSO IN BOER HANDS.

An armored train, which has returned from reconnoitering in the direction of Colenso, reports having seen noth-ing of the enemy. The train guard met a native runner returning from Ladysmith, who said that a party of Ladysmith, who said that a party of Boers had turned up the line within a mile of Colenso staton. The Boers, he asserted, were in great numbers in that vicinity. They brought big guns down from Grobler's Kloof Hill, pointed them on the main roadway and fired five shots into Colenso, only to ascertain that it had been complete. ascertain that it had been completely evacuated. Then they entered with five empty wagons, which they filled with goods from Edward's store. train party went scouting, and obtained reliable news that Colenso was in possesson of the Boers, and therefore returned here, bringing the runner with them. KIMBERLEY.

Orange River, Cape Colony, Monday, Nov. 6.—The Boers investing Kimberley have been reinforced by 2,000 men, and have succeeded in corralling about $25,000 worth of stock belonging to Kimberley merchants, which was intended for the sustenance of the town. Cape Town, Nov. 6.—Reports from Kimberley seem to indicate that the investing force has been greatly weak-ened for the purpose of sending detach-ments to the eastern and southern bor-has been gut

Doubtless the swollen river and the possibility of their retreat being cut off has had some effect. The work of laying a new cable to St. Helena will be commenced on Tuesday. RAILWAY WRECKED. "There is a general belief that Free Staters intend to act on the defensive unless Cape Dutch show active sympathy. The railway within the Free State is completely wrecked. It is estimated that it will take six months to repair the damage already done in South Africa, and the army will hardly be able to use the railway any more than in 1881."

FREE STATE FLAGS SEIZED From Port Elizabeth comes the intelligence that the customs officials there have selzed a bale of new flags consigned to the Free State, consisting of Orange Free State colors, with the Netherlands flag in the corner. At Constantinople it is rumored that Lord Cromer, British agent in Egypt, has received instructions to arrange with the Egyptian Cabinet for the de-spatch of 5,000 Egyptian troops to the Transvaal, but the report is discredit-

BOER AGENTS BUSY. The Times has the following dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez, dated Nov. 6: Delagoa Bay is full of secret service police, getting information regarding the movements of the im-perial service troops. The wire between Delagoa Bay and Pretoria was not cut, as was thought, at first. There is a Boer contingent of 750 men near Komatipoort. I find women have been leaving Durban for Pretoria with news. Passes are too easily granted at Durban. I understand that a contingent from Colenso is marching to-ward Greytown, and I hear on the best English authority that Johannes-burg has been stripped of guns and men, the police force being formed of Russian Jews.

MARTIAL ENTHUSIASM

London, Nov. 10.—The lord mayor's show, which marked the inducton of A. J. Newton into office, failed to satisfy people, who poured out in enorm-ous numbers to vent their martial enthusiasm. A car representing Great Britain surrounded by her sons, the Canadian and Australian volunteers, evoked hearty applause. The crowds, however, wanted khaki uniforms, and refused to be reconciled with the lord mayor's coach and other emblems of purely civic power. OVATION FOR THE GORDONS. Liverpool, Nov. 9 .- Enormous crowds in the streets and about the docks here bid farewell today to the First Battalion of the Gordon Highlanders, Dargai h eroes, in which a son of Gen. White is lieutenant. The presence of Lady White and her daughter increased the enthusasm. MORE TRANSPORTS.

Three large steamers have just been chartered at Liverpool to convey the 10,000 troops of the division, which Lord Wolseley announced would be mobilized. The transport Arawa has been delayed by a disarrangement of her electric plant. The disabled Persian will transfer her troops to the Goth, which will leave Southampton next Tuesday.

A SEIGE TRAIN. Orders have been received at Woolwich and Devonport for the mobiliza-tion of a siege train, which, it is supposed, is intended for the purpose of shelling Pretoria. The force manning it will approximate to the strength of eight batteries, and will consist of 32 officers and 1.104 non-commissioned officers and men. Its armament will be 30 Howitzers, fourteen six-inch guns, eight five-inch guns and eight fourinch guns, the whole train weighing over three tons. This will be the first employment of a modernized siege train by an European army, and the pro-gress of the reduction of the forts by lyddite shell fire, a preliminary to storming by the infantry, will be watched with interest and curiosity by all professional soldiers.

ASTOR'S CONTRIBUTION. London, Nov. 10. - William Waldorf Astor has contributed $500 to the Maidenhead branch of the national fund for the widows and orphans of the soldiers and sailors killed in the war, and for the destitute wives and families of those now serving in South Africa.

Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Transvaal, has received a friendly intimation that his visits to Holland during the war must cease. TO RAISE THE SIEGE. London, Nov. 10, -Gen. Buller's frends assert that he will not take any risks, but will send into Lower Natal a column strong enough to fight its through and raise the siege. This will mean a detachment of 20,000 men from the army corps, and the necessity of replacing them by reinforcements of equal strength from England. There are no sign/s of excitement or anxiety among the authorities of the war office. I was impressed yesterday with the tone of decision and calm confidence with which one of the highest officials forecasted the triumph of British arms. Something was said about the facility with which the Boers were receiving supples of Mauser, ammuntion from trading ships at Delagoa Bay, and he would be about the said of the said o replied that orders had been sent to close this back door, and then added grimly: "Poor dears, they will need all the ammunition they can get."

Ald. Garratt Will Stay Home From Europe to Knock Out, Ex-Ald. Cooper.

The Danger of Letting an Alderman Return to Private Life-W. H. Gould Gets the Contract for Oxford Street

Ex-Ald. Neil Cooper was at the meeting of the board of works last night. He came ostensibly to impress the board with a sense of the injustice | report. done the former representative of 4, when they filed his storage ac-But his purpose was insignificant compared with what he accomplished. He completed arrangements for a "fight to the finish" with Ald. Garratt on the hustings at the coming elections. Ald. Garratt announced that he would not go to Europe as he intended but would stay and "knock Cooper right out of the ward." The announcement was received by Mr. Cooper with sanguinary joy. He would not for a good deal of money be deprived of the pleasure of burying Garratt under the snow drift. The combatants talked like heavyweight champions. Let Ald Cooper's available. champions. Ex-Ald. Cooper's explana-tion of his storage account showed what bad policy it was to turn an alderman out of office. There is no tell-ing what accounts he may present. This case might be worse. It gives the city a chance to save the $30 if a settlements can be delayed until after the elections. Ex-Ald. Cooper will be a candidate for re-election; as an alderman it will be illegal for him to accept the money from the city. The

In addressing the board, Mr. Cooper said he was not asking rent for his lot. He merely wanted enough to cover the taxes. When he was elected alderman four years ago he saw that a storage yard would be a great saving to the city. He suggested that his lot be used, and for these years it was used to the city's satisfaction. While on the council he could not put in the account and next years he might not be count, and next year he might not be able to. Some had insinuated that he (Cooper) had burned some of the planks. Let them prove it. He wanted it understood that he was not a thief, as he had been represented. "The engineer told Foreman Hamilton to tell me to put in a bill," he said. If the council didn't want to do the right thing, they needn't. He confirmed Ald. Parnell's statement that he (Ald. Parnell), as chairman of the board of works in 1896, knew nothing of the use of the yard.

Ald. Wilkey said that if ex-Ald. Cooper could take no rent while an alder-man, he should not ask it now. As for this year, he should have ordered the stuff out at the beginning. Anyway, the council had filed the account. Ald. Douglass thought ex-Ald. Cooper should be paid.

Ald. Garratt-What I said at the council I say at this committee. It was a small, miserable piece of business for ex-Ald. Cooper to present a bill of that kind. I was going to Europe next year, but now I'm going to stay and knock Cooper out of the ward. (Laughter.) Ex-Ald. Cooper-I'd give $25 to have two men in the ward run against me.

Ald. Garratt—I did not say Cooper might have. I think if I had the lot ould have used some, and I think Cooper did the same. It was wrong and rotten of Cooper to present a bill of that kind to the city. If the lumber had been stored in my five-acre lot it would have been safer than in Cooper's. I know it, and you will hear of it. I have proof. The foreman of the ward said some things that I have in writ-

"The man that goes on there will be arrested for trespass," he said. Ald. Wilkey (smiling)-You might be mistaken there. Take care. The Chairman-Possession is nine-tenths of the law, isn't it, Neil? It was decided to get a report from the city engineer. "We should have a report of what was put there, what is there now, and where the rest has gone," said Ald. Garratt. Ex-Ald. Cooper turned sadly away

The committee had spent $500 on the breakwater, Chairman Douglass said.

If that was so, said Ald. Parnell, the money had been wasted. He thought the committee should visit the place and see it for themselves, but he would vote for no expenditure, even in No. 6 ward, unless he knew where the money was coming from.

A visit to Front street will be made by the committee, and the cost of the proposed extension ascertained.

Over 200 Delegates From London District of the Methodist Church.

Hospitably Entertained by Local Methodists-Inspiring Meetings -Officers Elected.

The fifth annual convention of the Methodist Young People of the London district was held yesterday in the Wellington Street Methodist Church. The services commenced as early as 6 o'clock in the morning, when a sunrise prayer meeting was held, at which nearly every Methodist Church in the city was represented. The morning session, which was opened at 10 o'clock, ber removed from Cooper's lot before it was devoted to the election of nominating committees, and two instructive addresses were given, one on "Conduct-Consercration Services," by Rev. J. W. Morrison, and one by Dr. E. B. White, on "The Epworth League in Its Relation to the Church." An afternoon meeting was held, at which the same plan of service was followed, the addresses by Miss Spence and Rev. J. J. Sinclair, relating to the necessity of a junior Epworth League, and the principle of the "forward movement." local young people entertained the delegates, to the numbers of about 225, to supper in the basement of the church. The evening meeting proved to be the most successful of the services. The church was filled both upstairs and down, and the closest attention was paid to the speakers. Mr. Thomas Spettigue presided. The special music ren-dered by the choir, and the stirring addresses delivered by the speakers of the evening, contributed to make a most suitable closing to a very successful rally. Rev. G. H. Cobbledick, of Bothwell, in speaking of the "Object of the Epworth League," emphasized the fact that they were in this work for the salvation of souls and for the development of the young peo-ple along the lines of their four divisions, namely Christian endeavor and missionary work, literary and social advancement. In speaking of "The In-heritance of a Century," Rev. C. T. Scott, of Aylmer, who is a most forcible speaker, drew some sharp contrasts between the condition of affairs 100 years ago, and of today. He spoke of the constitutional, civil and church liberties inherited from their forefathers, and he urged upon his hearers the need of a stimulated effort upon their part, so that future genera-tions might look back upon the advantages derived from the work of today. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Honorary President-Rev. Joseph Edge. President-Rev. J. W. Morrison.

First Vice-President-W. E. Miller. Vice-President-Miss Jessie Second Taylor, London.
Third Vice-President—M. D. Madden,

BRAIN FOOD.

Is of Little Benefit Unless It Is Digested.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains. For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe outdoor manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health. As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, wo men and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutritious foods are difficult of digestion, and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables, when the digestion is too weak to assimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best re-sults from our food that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs, and several years experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive, and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels or any particular organ, but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stom-achs lack, pepsin diatase, and by stimulating the gastric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloris

People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dys-pepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion, which means perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit, as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine; morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tab-lets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies. Ask your druggist for a 50c package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and, after a week's use, note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous fects a Landing at Lingayan.

Americans Get a Hot Reception in Spite of the Fleet's Preliminary Bombardment.

Manila, Nov. 10.—Wheaton's expedition arrived off San Fabian Monday night, but the surf was too high to permit the landing of the troops in small boats. On Tuesday morning the expedition approached Lingayan, a suburb of Dagpan, which has a sheltered harbor. The Bennington, Helena, Mamila, Callaoa and Hamar shelled the town and beach for an hour with the full strength of their batteries; but there was no response, nor was there visible any sign of life. The troops were landed in boats. When these ap-proached the shore and the troops began to land, a long line of insurgents rose from the sand and poured a heavy volley over the heads of the soldiers, following this with a rapid fusiblade. The insurgents were excited. and fired high, few of their bullets striking the boats. Two men, however, were wounded. The companies were formed and ordered to lie down in the sand. They gave the insurgents a few volleys and then charged, driving the enemy with a rush. The Filipinos had lain behind the duns during the bombardment, the shells plowing through the sand and doing them little, if any, damage. The gunboat Manile brought the news that when she left Gen. Wheaton with his entire force of 2,700 men was marching eastward, leaving Dagupan. Gen. Young, with his cavalry, took San Jose on Wednesday. A small force stationed there retreated. The troops were ferried across the river on a raft. During the passage a private of the 22nd Regiment was drowned.

Another attack has been made by the insurgents on Balinage, the rebels firing into the town for three hours, but doing no damage. Gen. Otis and the British and Spanish consuls have made arrangements in accordance with which the British cruiser Peacock is to take 20,000 rations and clothing to the Spanish prisoners in the Albaya and Camaraines provinces.

banquet at the Guildhall last night, the Marquis of Salisbury, Lord Wolseley, Mr. Ritchie, Lord George Hamilton, Lord Halsbury, the lord chief justice, the Duke of Marlborough, and a few diplomats were present. Mr. Chamberlain was absent. Lord Salisbury and Lord Wolseley were warmly cheered as they passed from the reception in the library into the banquet hall.

The lord mayor proposed "The Ministers" in a speech in which he vigorously denounced the "ignorant arrogance of the invader," dwelling upon the fact that Sir Alfred Milner, in spite of herculean exertions, was unable to "prevail with the overbearing, corrupt oligarchy. Therefore other of our champions have the business in their hands."

LORD WOLSELEY. Replying to the toast to "The Army," proposed in warm terms by Alderman Trelear, Lord Wolseley said: "Every day applications are received from volunteers in all parts of the empire, who wish to be sent to the front. I am proud of the sailors, soldiers and volunteers, who are all on guard. We have hard work before us, for our foe is brave, and it is no mimic warfare in which we are engaged. corps, we are quite prepared to do so. Lord Salisbury. THE PREMIER'S STATEMENT.

Lord Salisbury, rising at a quarter past nine, was greeted with intense enthusiasm, prolonged cheering and a general waving of handkerchiefs.

The premier said: "I have had to answer for many years similar kind receptions in this hall, but never before under conditions that justified me in appealing so confidently to your sympathy and support as in present grave state of public affairs. Before turning to this serious point, my duty is to inform you that our situation in South Africa is the only part of our relations with other nations to which any term of apprehension or doubt can be applied.

ANGLO-AMERICAN CORDIALITY. "For several years our relations with and cordial feelings toward our kinsmen on the other side of the Atlantic have been constantly growing, and though neither we interfere in the affairs of their continent nor they interfere in the affairs of ours, we feel now we can always look for sympathy and a fair hearing among those who share with us so vast a mission the advancement c. mankind. But perhaps you think I am sanguine in saying that on the continent of Europe we have affects the people of foreign nations. I am quite certain it does not affect their governments, and I will say that I have noted, as one of the cheering symptoms of the present time, the happy relations existing between the United States and ourselves—(cheers)— and the sympathy with which we watch their approach toward the same great problems that we ourselves have had to solve. That is not to say that I do not feel the greatest sympathy with their late antagonist, the Kingdom of Spain. We entertain the highest home that the entertain the highest hope that out of that war a blessing in disguise will grow-an abundant growth—civilization and culture in that ancient and most interesting monarchy.

THE SAMOAN SETTLEMENT. "This morning you had intelligence of an agreement between ourselves and one of the great continental states, with which for many years we have entertained relations of friendship and sympathy beyond others. Samoa is not in itself a very important matter, but it was important because It constituted a subject of difference between ourselves and a nation whose goodwill we prize very highly. I do not know entirely the reason why the German people and government attach so much importance to Upolu, but they do, and we are very glad to find the means whereby, without in the least diminishing the rights and advantages of England, we are able to gratify their wishes and sentiments.

The agreement is somewhat complicated; but roughly, it may be said that the Germans had great interests in this island, because they have invested large amounts in its cultiva-tion, and because they have con-structed a great commerce, of which they are proud. These islands, there-fore, are of great value to them.

OF LITTLE USE TO BRITAIN. "To us, on the other hand, islands are generally only valuable when they furnish good harbors. Upolu has a r. Well, in these circumstances, we were glad to accept a renunciation of the treaty claims and rights of Germany over a larger island. Tongo, where there is an admirable, an inimitable harbor. We took the harbor, and Germany took the territory, in which for many reasons the Germans are interested. believe we have arrived at a very remarkable phenomenon - an agreement which was agreeably pleasant and advantageous to both powers; but this is interesting, particularly, because it indicates that, at the pres-London, Nov. 10.—At the lord mayor's ent moment, our relations with the German people is all we could desire. "THIS WAR."

"The great subject that interests all of us, undoubtedly, is this war, adorned with so many splendid feats of heroism and skill, but saddened by so many losses. I have great difficulty in dealing with the war; and if I attempted to deal with the future, I should be undertaking a task in prophecy, from which the hardiest would shrink. If I speak at all it may rather be to deprecate criticisms and state-ments which I think unfounded than to attempt to pass judgment on what still depends upon the future for its full determination. ITS DIFFICULTIES. "Respecting the feeling expressed twice or thrice that the want of troops is due to a want of action on the part of the home government, I would point out that there have been two or three voices. Two or three months ago we were told by the most authoritative voice outside the government that there was no occasion for military preparations. Since then we have been blamed because there were no military preparations. But neither of these criticisms is at all relevant to the events which have been taking place. It has often been said, especially abroad, that we are a strong nation attacking a weak one; but so long as the principal part of our forces is separated by an interval of five or six weeks from the field of action, it would rather be true to say that we are a weak nation attacking a strong nation. Elements of distance are vital and essential in this matter. CAUSE OF THE WAR. "It would have been nothing to the purpose to issue proclamations for re-serves some weeks earlier. For what was the cause of the war and what was the cause of the ultimatum? It were no demands before the Transvaal Government. It was because we had taken measures to increase the amount of our force in South Africa. But if that had been done a few months sooner exactly the same result would have taken place. The moment you had shown signs of raising your force to an equality to the force opposed to it, that moment the ultimatum would have been issued, and war would have been begun. (Cheers.)

"It is not, therefore, right to say that there was no adequate military preparation. The evil dates further back. It dates to those unfortunate arrangements in 1881 and 1884 by which we deliberately permitted a community obviously hostile to enjoy the unbounded, unlimited right of accumulating munitions of war against Year after year an accumulation munitions was made which could only be directed against us. Hampered by these arrangements it was impossible that we should avoid the interval of trial and danger necessarily to intervene between the moment war declared and the moment when our forces could accept contest and appear upon the field. That interval has nearly passed.

FAITH IN THE BRITISH SOLDIER. "Foreign nations have complimented us upon the calmness with which we have received the intelligence of oc-casional checks. Whatever strategy there might be, we are well aware that the beginning of the conflict with the Boers must be marked by a retirement of our troops from positions they are not strong enough to occupy. It is necessary that they should wait for There is undoubtedly a certain sufficient reinforcements. I do not attempt to foreign press, but I do not say that my faith in the British solbelieve that the trend of this opinion dier is unbounded, and I am deeply gratified to feel that he is in the vigorous and sagacious hands of Gen.

THE FUTURE.

"Regarding the future, I will only deprecate some very strange apparitions that I see occasionally in the continental press. Only the other day I saw it asserted, not by a chance writer, but by a man who has been a member of a French government, that this war had for its object the gratification of the lusts of greedy lords, who desired a partition among themlords, selves on the gold and diamonds of the Transvaal. Now, I beg to assure this gentlemen that her majesty's cabinet have not had a farthing from the (Edmore) Deacon Byers; Frank Beau-Transvaad or from any other gold gler's (Monroe) Hal's Jennie, second; fields. There is the Yukon, about C. E. Sisson's (Muskegon) Tony Van which there is no contest. If there Kull, third. had been any chance of our gaining advantages, these Youkon gold fields should have yielded something; but I appeal to my friend, Lord Hamilton, to know if the cabinet ever had a farthing from them. (Laughter.)

"I go further. Britain, as a whole, would have had no advantage from the possession of gold mines except as her government conferred the blessings of good administration upon those engaged in the industry. All successful industry breeds commerce, and all commerce has produced is to the advantage of Britain, and all industries and commerce flourish better under her good government than under any other regime in the world. EQUAL RIGHTS. "But that is the limit of our interest. What we desire is equal rights for all men of all races, and security for our fellow-subjects and our empire. The hour for asking by what means these results can be obtained is not yet come; but these are the objects and the only objects we seek. We do not allow any other consideration to cross

our path. A WILD SUGGESTION.

"I have seen it suggested-and it seems to me a wild suggestion—that the other powers will interfere with this country, and in some form or other dictate to those who are interested what the upshot should be. Don't let any man think it is in that fashion the conflict will be concluded.

We shall have to carry it through our-selves, and the inerference of anybody else will have no effect upon it. (Cheers.) In the first place, because we would not accept that interference, and, in the second place, because we are convinced that there is no such idea in the minds of any government

NO INTERFERENCE. Within my recollection there have been some five or six great wars, inbeen some five or six great wars, involving in their close great territorial modifications, but, except, as provided for by treaties, in none of these wars has a third party ventured to interfere with the combatants. In none of these wars has any nation claimed a right to determine what the issue of the contests or its terms issue of the contests or its terms should be. They have not claimed that right, because they cannot. It accordance with international law that they should possess it. Therefore, such dreams should be set aside. JUSTICE TO ALL RACES OF MEN.

"Whenever we are victorious we shall consult the vast interests committed to our care. Vast duties lie upon us to perform, and taking counsel of the uniform interests of our colonial government and of moderation and equal justice to all races of men which it has been our uniform prac-tice to observe, I do not doubt we shall so arrange that the issue of this conflict will confer good government upon the area where it rages and give the security, sorely needed, against the recurrence of any such dangers and ne-cessity of such future exertion and restoration of peace and civilization to that part of the world." "Mysterious Billy" Smith was a very busy man at the Broadway A. C. nesday night. He met Charley McKeever, of Philadelphia, in a 20-round contest, both going the limit at a killing pace. Neither was able to score a knockdwn, and the tactics of both towards the end of the fight were foul. Smith was the favorite at 100 to 50, and was declared the winner. Sharkey was present and made a speech, in which he said that he had been ill-treated by Siler and wanted to fight again.

Provincial Inspector Hodgetts Pronounces the Cases Genuine Smallpox-Steps Taken to Stamp Out the

Comber, Ont., Nov. 10.-Dr. Hodgetts, of Toronto, provincial inspector, was here on Wednesday, and in company with Dr. Anderson, the medical health officer, drove to the homes of C. Dupuis and Fred Gangnie, Tilbury West, and R. Ducharme and Joseph Thecalt, Tilbury North. Both the doctors decided that the families of the above were stricken with smallpox. The board of health of both town-ships will do everything to speedily stamp out the disease. Hodgetts also visited the cases in Rochester, and pronounced them smallpox, and not chickenpox. Several new cases have developed, and matters are becoming serious. The schools in several sections have been closed, and vaccination is becoming general.

CAUGHT IT AT A DANCE. Toronto, Nov. 10 .- Dr. Bryce, provincial health officer, states that the outbreak of smallpox in Essex county is due largely to the presence at a dance in Rochester township of a man from Walkerville who had only recovered from smallpox a short time previously Every case, except those in East Til-bruy, has been traced back to persons attending the dance.

ring about Lord Salisbury's speech last which the road was electrified, is a night, which will have a reassuring little artful, but also a little transpareffect on the public mind. Although ent. Great Britain is engaged in the greatest war that has crossed her destiny China, or two years ago, when the Armenian massacres disturbed the peace of Europe. Lord Salisbury has standing the present war, the position of Britain is today one of greater security than it has been for many a long day. Two or three years ago the whole world seemed arrayed against her, but Germany and the United States have since been drawn into her orbit-Germany by sheer self-interest, and the United States by both sym- Bay of Manila in the same sudden manpathy and interest. It was natural that Lord Salisbury should allude with satisfaction to this new development.

His lordship also gave the quietus to the apparition of foreign interference in the present crisis. On this point he was so emphatic that it may be suspected his words were aimed at Paris and St. Petersburg. "We shall have to carry this war through ourselves," he said, "and the interference of anybody else will have no effect upon it." These are the words of a resolute Englishman. He then goes on to say that he does not believe the idea of interference is in the minds of any government in the world. These are the words of the finished diplomat. The world will put two and two together, and will summarize his speech in two words: "Hands off!"

Mr. Balfour declared, in a memorable discussion in the House of Commons that Great Britain would not long be isolated; that a body of international opinion in favor of the principle of the open door would gradually be built up, sufficient to insure its triumph. The prediction has been fulfilled sooner than could at that time have been expected. Germany has kept the door open in her new Chinese "sphere of influence," and the United States, which has been in moral sympathy with the British pollev from the first, is now officially committed to it. The American Government has recently demanded that the trading powers shall conclude no treaties with China that place embargoes upon American goods. This is the open door pure and simple, and is practically all that Great Britain has been contending for. It strikes the deathblow at Russia's bold design of absorbing China, or at least Manchuria, for her exclusive exploitation. A New Home Market [Hamilton Times.]

The country is already beginning to profit by the increased home market for goods, due to the enterprise of the Liberals in developing the mining regions of the west and stimulating settlements. The Kootenays, the Yukon, and our great prairie region, now receiving a growing tide of settlement all call for Canadian produce, and Canadian muscle and skill are finding employment in meeting the demand thus created. The Liberals have expended much money, but it has been invested for the country's benefit, and the returns are already coming in.

George Kruger Married in Windsor-Came From Chicago to Avoid Newspaper Notice.

Windsor, Nov. 10.-A marriage license was issued in Windsor yesterday morning by James Oliver to George A. Kruer, of Chicago, a nephew of President ruger of the Transvaal Republic. Kruger is a dapper-looking young man, with a thoroughly American air and has apparently not inherited his distinguished uncle's notorious disre-gard for dress. He gave his age as 27. His bride-elect accompanied him when he secured the license. name was given as Berta Buck, and

The pair were directed to the residence of Rev. D. H. Hind, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Sandwich, where they were married.

That he should travel several hundred miles to be married on British dred miles to be married on British soil at a time when Britain is en-deavoring to put "Uncle Paul" out of business, young Kruger explained by saying that he was anxious to avoid the publicity that would be given to his marriage by the Chicago papers, which would get their tip from the publishing of the license.

"I know that licenses are not published in Ontario, and that I could slip over here and be married without anyone hearing of it," he said.

He chatted freely with the license issuer on the trouble in the Transvaal, venturing the opinion that Britain would find the Boers one of the hardest propositions she had ever tackled Disaster on the M. C. R.-Three Per son's Fatally and Ten Seriously Injured.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Michigan Central train No. 310, from Toledo to Detroit, was ditched by the spreading of rails between Alexis and Vienna. Mich., about 8 o'clock last night. Three persons were fatally and ten severely injured.

Those fatally hurt are: Rev. John McKay, Indianapolis; John O'Neill, Detroit, and Wm. Hamilton, engineer. Severely injured: Charles Calvert, Detroit; Maxine Fanueff, Walbridge, Ohio; Chas. Kress. Fifteen other passengers were bruised and shaken up.

The accident was undoubtedly the work of train wreckers. When the rails were spread it was found that the rails were spread it was found that the bolts that held the fish-plates had been unscrewed. A couple of big wrenches, such as section hands use, were found lying beside the track.

Mrs. Poland, Brunswick Street, says: "My husband suffered greatly with nervousness, complicated by heart troubles. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have and he now is well and strong."

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eelectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and lers than half a bottle cured me: I certainly believe it saved my life. It I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with rejuctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

Destructive Mission of the Boers in Zululand.

Another Rumor of Disaster From Dutch Sources-Gen. Buller to Have an Army of 195,000 Men.

London, Nov. 10 .- The military expert of the London Times, in his editorial summary of the Transvaal situation, draws the following deductions:

"The reports which continue to be received in reference to the fighting near Ladysmith on Thursday and Friday are somewhat conflicting, but as regards Brocklehurst's action on the Pietermanitzburg road a dispatch received from a correspondent of the Times with Gen. White is sufficiently explicit, and is, further, extremely encouraging as indicating a brisk and vigorous disposition on the part of the Ladysmith garrison, which must be most disconcerting to the investing force, even if the tangible results are not as great as suggested in some quarters.

THE INVESTMENT IS NOT CLOSE. "The fact that such a strong body of Boers with guns mounted in their laager were driven off in something which must have been something exceedingly like confusion confirms the view that the investment is not pressing at all heavily on Gen. White's gallant and now fairly well seasoned NON-EFFECTIVE SHOOTING. "The bombardment, too, is happily ineffective, notwithstanding the fact that the enemy has evidently moved fresh guns into position, and it is clear in any case that the Boers do not longer put complete faith in their siege guns as a means for easily and cheaply reducing Ladysmith.

AN IMPORTANT ITEM. "The retrograde movement of the Boer force which occupied Colenso, and which, it is said, has retired four miles north, is a specially important piece of news, as it is quite unlikely that such a position, once gained by the enemy, would have been evacuated unless the Boers found the pressure exercised upon them in this direction by the cavalry from Ladysmith incon-venient. It does not seem at all probable that having due regard for the activity of the Ladysmith garrison, the Boers will be able to detach a force sufficiently large to effectively threaten either Estcourt or Pieterin character, as far as fire and pillage With five are concerned, but no military results of any importance have yet been secured, and the moment reinforcements commence to arrive at Durban a sympathetic withdrawal of the Boer force from this quarter may follow.

"The want of communicativeness displayed by Gen. White is explained in all probability by the fact that he is keeping Gen. Buller fully informed of his position, and the latter doubtless excellent reason for keeping the information at present to himself.

SATISFACTORY. "The news from both Kimberley and Mafeking is still satisfactory, and in the latter place the reported approach of Plumer's force from Rhodesia, with view of reinforcing Baden-Powell's

THE REAL CAMPAIGN BEGINS. London, Nov. 10.-With the arrival at Cape Town of the British transports Roslyn Castle and Moor, to be followed by a continuous succession of troopladen ships, the real campaign in South Africa may be said to have commenced. and the fact that the former was ordered to proceed to Durban, Natal, forthwith, is said to indicate either an entire change, or, at least, a modification in the plan of advance. It seems that GENERAL BULLER'S FIRST MOVE will be to free Gen. White, thus somewhat departing from the earlier plans credited to him of advancing through the level country of the Orange Free State and Southwestern Transvaal, It has been apparent for some days that the situation at Ladysmith could not be indefinitely prolonged, and it is un-derstood information has reached the government to the effect that the julescence of the Boers will shortly be changed by the arrival of the siege train from Pretoria, into a determined attempt to deliver a telling stroke This, it is added, led Gen. The Strange Metamorphosis.

"Well, we've got the other now," said Coker. "We shall have to go back and get the fellow at the book-stall to change it, I suppose. Come on, you

This was at least a move in the right direction; for the three began at once to change their steps. But, unfortunately, all these explanations had taken time, and, before they had gone many yards. Mr. Bultitude was horrified to hear the station bell ring loudly, and immediately after a cloud of white steam rose above the station roof as the London train clanked cumbrously in, and was brought to with a pro-longed screeching of brakes.

The others were walking very slowly.

At the present pace it would be almost day," put in Coggs.

Impossible to reach the train in time. He looked round at them anxiously.

"H-hadn't we better run, don't you think?" he asked.

"So will I," added Chawner.

"Well, is it agreed?" Paul asked, anxiously. "Will you try?"

"All right," said Chawner. "You The others were walking very slowly.

"Run!" said Coker, scornfully. "What for? I'm not going to run. You can, if you like."
"Why, ah, really," said Paul, briskly, very grateful for the permission,
"do you know, I think I will!"

And run he did, with all his might, rushing headlong through the gates, threading his way between the omnibusses and under the Roman noses of the old flyhorses in the inclosure, until length he found himself inside the little booking-office.

He was not too late; the train was still at the platform, the engine getting up steam with a dull roar. But he dared not risk detection by traveling without a ticket. There was time for that, too. No one was at the pigeonhole but one old lady. But, unhappily, the old lady considered taking a ticket as a solemn rite to be performed with all due caution and deliberation. She had already catechised the clerk upon the number of stoppages during her proposed journey. and exacted earnest assurances from him that she would not be called upon change anywhere in the course of it; and as Paul came up she was laying out the purchase-money for her ticket upon the ledge and counting it, which, the fare being high and the coins most- the missionary box. ly half-pence, seemed likely to take cried Mr. Bultitude, panting and des-perate. "I'm pressed for time." was he to pass the weary time till then? If he lingered on the platform "Now you've gone and put me out, little boy," said the old lady, fussily. "I shall have to begin all over again. Young man, will you take and count the other end, and see if it adds up right. There's a half-penny wrong somewhere; I know there is."

"Now, then!" shouted the guard from the platform. "Any more going on?" "I'm going on!" said Paul. "Wait for me. First single to St. Pancras, quick!"

'Drat the boy!" said the old lady, angrily. "Do you think the world's to give way for you! Such impidence! Mind your manners, little boy, can't you? You've made me drop a threepenny bit with your scrouging!"
"First single, five shillings," said the clerk, jerking out the precious ticket.

"Right!" cried the guard at the same "Stand back there, will you!" Paul dashed toward the door of the booking-office which led to the platform; but just as he reached it a gate slammed in his face with a heavy click. Through the bars of it he saw, with hot eyes, the tall, heavy carriages which had shelter and safety in them jolt heavily past, till even the red lamp in the last van was quenched in the darkness.

That miserable old woman had shattered his hopes at the very moment of their fulfillment. It was fate again. As he stood flercely gripping the bars of the gate, he heard Coggs' hateful

"Hallo! so you haven't got the Globe and the other thing after all, then; they've shut you out?" "Yes," said Mr. Bultitude, in a hol-low voice; "they've shut me out!"

CHAPTER XVI. As soon as the gate was opened Paul went through mechanically with the others on to the platform, and waited at the bookstall while they changed the paper. He knew well enough that what had seemed at the time a stroke of transcendental cunning would be the stroke of transcendental cunning would be to the stroke of transcendental cunning would be to the stroke of transcendental cunning would be to the stroke of transcendental cunning would be the stroke of transcendental cunning would be the stroke of transcendental cunning with the stroke of transcendental cunning would be the stroke of transcendental cunning with the stroke of ning would now only land him in fresh difficulties, if, indeed, it did not lead to the detection of his scheme. But he dared not interfere and prevent them from making the unlucky exchange. Something seemed to tie his tongue, and in sullen, leaden apathy he resigned himself to whatever might be in store for him.

They passed out again by the book-ing-office. There was the old lady still at the pigeon-hole, trying to persuade the much-enduring clerk to restore a lucky sixpence she had given him by mistake, and was quite unable to describe. Mr. Buttitude would have given much just then to go up and chake her into hysterics, or curse her bitterly for the mischief she had done, but he refrained either from an inbitterly for the mischief she had done, but he refrained, either from an innate chivalry, or from a feeling that an outburst would be ill-judged.

So, silent and miserable, with slow step and hanging head, he set out with his jailers to render himself up once more at the house of bondage—a sort of involuntary Regulus, without the oath

"Dickie, you were very anxious to run just now," observed Chawner, after they had gone some distance on their homeward way. "We were late for tea-late for tea," explained Paul, hastily. "If you think the tea worth racing like that for, I don't," said Coggs, victously; "ht's muck." "You don't catch me racing, except for something worth having," said

One more flash of distinct inspira-tion came to Paul's aid in the very depths of his gloom. It was, in fact, a hazy recollection from English history of the ruse by which Edward I., when a prince, contrived to escape from his captors at Dover Castle. "Why-why!" he said, excitedly, "would you race if you had something worth racing for, hey?" would you,

"Try us!" said Coker, emphatically.
"What do you call 'something'?" inquired Chawner, suspiciously.
"Well," said Mr. Bultitude, "what do you say to a shilling "You haven't got a shilling," objected Coggs.

"Here's a shilling, see," said Paul, producing one. "Now, then, I'll give this to any boy I see get into tea first!" "Bultitude thinks he can run." said back myself to run him any must give us a start to the next lamp-post, though. You stay here, and when we're ready we'll say 'Off!'" They drew a line on the path with held feet to mark Paul's startingpoint, and went on to the next lamp. After a moment or two of anxious waiting he heard Coggs shout, all in one breath, "One-two-three-off!" and the sound of scampering feet followed immediately.

It was a most exciting and hotlycontested race. Paul saw them for one brief moment in the lamplight. He saw Chawner scudding down the path like some great camel, and Coker squaring his arms and working them as if they were wings. Coggs seemed to be last.

He ran a little way himself just to encourage them, but, as the sound of their feet grew fainter and fainter, their he felt that his last desperate ruse had taken effect, and, with a chuckle at his own cleverness, turned round and ran his fastest in the opposite direction. He felt little or no interest in the result of the race

Once more he entered the bookingoffice, and, kneeling on a chair, con-sulted the time-board that hung on the wall over the sheaf of texts and

He went on to the end of the platform, where the planks sloped gently to a wilderness of sheds, coaling-stages and sidings; he could just make out the bulky forms of some tarpaulined cattle-vans and open coal-trucks standing on the lines of rails which

It struck him that one of these vans or trucks would serve his purpose admirably, if he could only get into one, and very cautiously he picked his way over the clogging ballast and rails, till he came to a long, narrow strip of platform between two sidings. [To be Continued.]

Stratton's Speech

The New Minister's Address When Re-Elected by Acclamation.

At the nomination in West Peterboro, on Tuesday last, at which Hon. J. R. Stratton was re-elected by acclamation, as a member of the Ross Government, Mr. Stratton made an able address, of which we subjoin some extracts: . We in Ontario have a country to be proud of-a country with a great past -a country with a future or magnificent promise. The past is what we have made it, the future is what we shall make it, and every patriotic Canadism should unite in the effort to make it worthy of the place it toolds in the great empire with which we are connected. We have now only come to a faint conception of what our connec-tion with the center of the empire means. More and more we have made it our best market, and the more we make ourselves valued by the mother land the more shall our material interests be promoted. We have extended to Great Britain a trade preference, and we may expect a similar preference when we shall have payed the way to a development of our resources to an extent to supply in adequate measures her demands for our products. We have shown our oneness with the empire by the splendid Coker, with an amiable unbelief in act of sending a thousand of the any disinterestedness. "He means to get in first and keep the shilling himbelle in the extension of the principles thelp in the extension of the principles of true liberty and good government, which has made Canada a nationality of the highest type, and we may be sure that throughout the length and breadth of Ontario there will not be found a voice of dissent from the first act of the new government of Ontario, which almost before the ink was dry upon the oath of office to which the members subscribed, voted the sum of to the Canadian contingent Red Cross fund to purchase medical com-forts for our lads during their South African campaign. (Applause.

THE BRITISH MARKET.

It may be a sordid view to take of the matter, but the closer in any way we draw the bonds between us and the motherland, the better it pays. Our relations to Great Britain that the British market should be our proper market, and circumstances have made it our best market. She freely takes what we can send in the way of supplying her wants. But we have as yet only begun to touch the fringe of our vast resources that can be made tributary to an unbounded and profitable trade with Great Britain, and the process and result of the development of our resources with such a . object in view will set in motion a train of industrial and commercial activities that will affect every interest of the country and promote an expansion of prosperity to whose bounds one can hardly place a limit. We live in a progressive age, and Ontario must keep pace with it. We would be warranted in proceeding to must catch and use the spirit of the bring these regions into touch with growing time. We cannot afford to mark time, and it seems to me that we should seriously consider whether it not worth while, whether it would not be a good thing to aim at a liberal and aggressive policy of devel-opment; to consider whether or not it is our duty to advance boldly in a cam-paign of development of the great and still dormant natural resources of the province; to consider whether we should not strike out boldly in the direction of achievement of new condi-tions—should not create conditions— which will result in making our magnificent natural resources, almost limiriess in their extent, a factor in our industrial and commercial activities and a factor in our provincial prosperity. We have millions of acres of land untenanted and in wild condition, capable of sustaining hundreds of thousands of agricultural population. These areas are now useless because they are inaccessible. To make them available for settlement a way must be made to get at them. To this end railway and other transportation facilities are indicated.

UNSETTLED ONTARIO. We should at least consider the advisability of taking measures to make them attractive to the surplus population of Ontario that are now crowding the professions, and largely non-producing callings, to the sar-vation point and congesting and injuring the labor market. We have too many people in the older settled portions of the province, that is, too many to find profitable employment. Why not, then, turn the stream of our surplus population from our cities, where their presence simply adds to the unemployed, to the rich, unsettled lands of our province? We may help to do this by bringing these remote places in railway touch with settled conditions. Is it not worth while to consider whewe might pursue, and with profit in the long run, a liberal policy of encouragement to approved pioneers, and thus instead of allowing farmers sons to crowd the city labor market, farmers' sons upon our now unsettled lands will create demands that would stimulate the commercial activity of our cities? We have immense areas of valuable timber still in their original condition. We have unbounded resources in the form of minerals in many parts of the province. These resources should be developed as rapidly as possible, and in connection with this de-velopment the question of ingress to and egress from these resources - the transportation problem-is a most important one; and although at the last session of the legislature considerable sums in aiding railways were voted, it does not appear that in respect to those of most developmental character anything, or at least very little practical, has yet been undertaken. There will be found, I am sure, no one to doubt the desirability, or, in fact, the necessity, of pioneer railway lines into the remote regions of the province, if we are to secure anything like adequate enjoyment of the rich harvest of wealth as well as revenue that would be derived from a development of our at present inaccessible latent natural If once these riches were brought in touch with enterprise and capital on one hand, and a market on the other, then these results would certainly follow. I have previously urged that facility of transportation is the first step towards the realization of the vast wealth existing in our in-exhaustible store of natural resources distributed over wide areas.

OUR VAST NATURAL WEALTH. We must, in order to attempt to live we must, in order to attempt to live up to our privileges, not to say responsibilities, tap the heart of the resources of our outlying districts. Our wild lands, adapted to agriculture, should be peopled, and to this end a vigorous settlement policy is plainly indicated. Then, with railways furnishing connection, capital would be tempted to engage in the work of developing our resources in timber and in minerals, of which there is practically no end. What we have in signt, so to speak, is immense, and in addition, we have the great Hudson Bay region, which, though imperfectly explored, contains, it is said, immense belts of agricultural, timber and mineral land, which, it seems to me, from what is known, would warrant exhaustive and minute exploration. Our timber is not gone, by any means. It is a mistaken idea to regard white pine as our only forest wealth. We have the most ex-tensive spruce forests in the world, and our spruce is the best in the world for manufacturing purposes, and for it

DEMAND IS INCREASING, and, as the limited areas in other countries, especially in the United States, disappear, the increased demand will add to its value, and, speaking for myself, I am in tayor of arrangements looking to the securing to the Province of Ontario the largest share of the profits accruing from the conversion of our raw material into finished products. I am in favor of having for Ontario the fullest value, not only the fullest market value, but the last dollar of profit represented by the employment of Canadian capital in regard to the development of both our timber and mineral resources. (Applause.) Under such circumstances, and in view of provincial advancement worthy of our great heritage, would it be unwise to consider whether it would be well to enter upon a large, pro-gressive policy—a policy of reaching out, a policy of expansion and a policy of Ontario and all its natural wealth for the benefit of Ontario? I have strong personal convictions in this regard, but there are many considerations that enter into the problem, and if the time for the adoption of such a policy has not arrived the way may be paved to the adoption of a course that will make the future an approxi-mate realization of the position Ontario is calculated by natural en-dowment and the energy of her people to occupy.

ONTARIO A GREAT PROVINCE. We have a great province. Slowly and by degrees as we push outward the fringe of settlement we gain glimpses of what is beyond; but even our prominent citizens, our capitalists and the people at large have no definite knowledge upon which to base action or formulate plans. The government should know-it is their duty to know-capital should know-it is interest to know—the people should know—it is their right to know—the extent and nature of the resources of our country. To discover the extent and character of these would be use ful information. We cannot doubt that the knowledge revealed by systematic investigation would be a surprise to even the most sanguine. Then we commercial conditions. If a govern-ment wish to take the first step in this the region to be tapped would enlist the help of capital, and the same the help of capital, and the same knowledge would lead the people, who must be behind every government, to support the enterprise. The circle of benefit from such a train of conditions would be wide; the building of rail-ways would give employment to labor on the scene, and relieve the labor market at home. Such a policy as I have suggested the possibility of, adopted, would give access to new districts and create pew centers of de-mand for the products of our manu-facturing establishments and the wares of our city wholesale houses, give increased traffic to railweys to such an extent as to encourage the investment of capital, give employment to work-ingmen, open up new zeenues of trade and help to make the great capital of Ontario greater than it now is by di-verting and directing trade to its natural center. One cannot separate the interest of the capital of the province, of which the province is proud, from the interests of the country at largewhat helps the one helps the other.

TO REAP THE HARVEST. We have, as I before remarked, a great, a rich province, with a tremendous crop of natural wealth ready for the sickle of enterprise. It rests with us to determine what the harvest shall I feel it my duty to advocate a course that will make possible a policy in the interests of the future of Ontario. If we strike out boldly, if we aim high, if we attempt large things in provincial development, we shall succeed. We have a great country; let us make the most of it, and let Ontario have the lion's share of the profit. I am sure the universal sentiment of our people will be in favor of a policy of development, especially a policy that carries with it the spirit of if not the actual condition that will, in the matter of profit, in connection with the exploration of our natural resources give Ontario the sheaves and other countries the gleanings.
