London, Jan. 11.—A dispatch from Mombasa, capital of the Coast Province, in the British East Africa Protectorate, says news of renewed fighting in Uganda has been received there from Fort Lubwas, in the Usoga country, under date of Dec. 19. Lieut. Macdonald, brother of Major Macdonald, the commander of the British forces, and Mr. Pilkington, the missionary have been killed. Troops are hurrying to the front from Machakos station. It is reported that the garrisons at Buddu, numbering 300 Soudanese, under two officers, may join the revolt. Mr. Pilkington was one of the leading Englishmen in Uganda. He joined Major Macdonald after the mutiny of the Soudanese to act as interpreter. The rebellion among the Soudanese soldiers in Uganda broke out in the early part of October last, and the danger been a general rise of the Soudanese throughout the country and a massacre of the Europeans. Uganda is about as large as France. The Government stations, between 20 and 30 in number, are nanned by Soudanese, perhaps 1,800 in all. In the early part of October 300 Soudanese soldiers from the Kanpala garrison at Mongo, capital of Uganda, were sent to the Eldoma station. There they mutinied and looted the govern-ment agent's store. They then resolved to march back to Mongo, raising the standard of general revolt, to kill the Europeans and establish a Soudanese kingdom in Uganda. They looted the station at Nandi, obtaining 3,000 rounds of ball cartridges. Then they pushed on toward Mongo, looting the stations as they advanced. At Jubas station the garrison revolted and joined the mutineers, seized Major Thurston, commander of the fort, and occupied the post. It was at this stage that Mr. Pilkington, the missionary, a member of the Anglican Church Missionary Society, volunteered to accompany the Baganda (natives), who were being hurried up the Nile to prevent the Soudanese from crossing. He went as an

Dr. Castillo refused to say on what ship he reached Cuba, but said that he landed nine miles east of Manati Bay, on Nov. 1 last, after being fired upon by the Spanish fort. "In our party," said Dr.

Gen. Garcia, who had escaped from the Spanish penal colony at Ceuta, off Africa. After we had landed, we were toined by Col. Garcia, eldest son of the general, who had with him 800 insurgents. The insurgents are well fed, well armed and supplied with plenty of ammunition. The troops are disciplined and confident of success." Dr. Castillo maintained that the killing of Col. as a part of the liquor license and pharmacy acts, and the penalties of the first named act will apply when medicinal preparations are found to have been sold as a colorable evasion of that act. The bill relating to judgment summonses was discussed in committee and allowed to stand over in order to give the attorney-general time to look into a suggestion of Mr. German in reference to the extent of the power of juries in division courts. Mr. Hardy's bill adapting the registration system to towns was changed to provide that the registrars shall sit for two days in towns, night sittings being permitted. The registration is continued for four days in cities. The house passed through committee Mr. Ross' bill extending the separate representation of the graduates of Victoria University on the Toronto University senate for six years. The bills of Mr. Gibson respecting Ontario land surveyors and of the attorney-general respecting the invest-ment of court funds were read a sec-

The beam was 22 feet long, and about 21 feet 7 inches of it lay between the supports. The ends of the beam rested on the brick walls. The would tend to lessen the strength of the Mr. Magee—Was there any discussion beam. At one of these knots the breakwith the city officials about the safety age occurred. The knots had broken free of the timber; it was about 1½ inches thick. One of the joists was somewhat affected with dryrot for a depth of two or three inches, for a distance of two or three feet-witness did not test it any further. The quality of the two outside beams was good, although one was either affected with dryrot or was dead wood. It might have appeared sound when put in, but if there was sap in it, dryrot might ensue. This rot extended one or two feet- he did not try further. Witness produced his pocket knife, which he had thrust about 1½ inches into the joist. The end of the blade then broke off, showing there sound timber beneath. He calculated that the beam would carry safely 15,000 pounds at the utmost. Witness quoted authorities to support his calculations, and produced the formula for estimating the strength of timber, which he terial-flooring, plastering, etc.-rested on the beam. The weight, with 100 people added, would be 14,200 pounds. He astimated the weight of each per-

The other knot was not nearly so bad. He did not agree with Mr. Broadbent alto-gether. If there had been dryrot or sap in the timber when put in, witness thought it could easily have been discovered then. Witness did not see any dryrot. He had made up his mind that the defects in the beam would take away one-tenth of its strength.

In answer to Mr. Magee's question, as to what protection the public had, witness said that supports should be six times the strength of the weight they would safely carry. He had calculated that 16,800 pounds would be

They should, above all things, keep their general health up to the normal standard by keeping the digestive system in good order, because consumption is a disorder of mal-nutrition. Such persons should beware of colds, for no cough is unimportant. They should avoid dampness; dress in pure wool, and have plenty of sleep. A cough shows either the lodgment of matter in the bronchial tubes, or else an irritated condition of the lungs and air passages. Do not neglect digestive symptoms! I have before me the portrait of a lovely young girl. When I first knew her she was but seventeen; at nineteen I saw her lying in the coffin, white and pure as the roses clasped in her attenuated fingers. Her first symptoms pointed to stomach trouble; but they were neglected. Macgregor, elder from St. Andrew's Church, London, introduced the question—"How the presbytery should deal with congregations not contributing to all the schemes of the church." He claimed that the ministers should educate the people in this matter, and teach the people regularly and frequently. Even if the givings were small, they would total up well at the end of the year. He suggested that a minister and elder should visit the delinquent congregations and seek to impress this duty upon the people. MANAGER John Cameron. London, Tuesday, January 11, 1898 Will Go to the Country With a Strong Record.

In the near future the Legislature of Ontario will be dissolved, and the contituencies will be called upon to proparties. The Government of Ontario, even by the confession of many of those who have entertained Conserva- fall. Then they asserted that there tive views with regard to national affairs, is able to present a record that the Opposition find it hard to combat. This view is strengthened by the attempt which Mr. Whitney and his associates have made to get away from their past declarations on the stump. allowing canvassers to privately say what they deem it bad policy to affirm in public. They are pursuing the Opposition policy of 1894, but not on the platform, and they hope by this hideand-seek expedient to win votes that would be against them were they at all times open and above board.

tion policy is that of the Administration. The Ontario Government pre- said: sents a record of careful management of the affairs of the people. The reply of the Opposition is that the Government ought to be defeated because it did not assume the functions of Provi- grown in this country." dence and prevent the outbreak of hog cholera at the Humber piggery! In 1894 there was much loss to the Dominion because of the prevalence of virulent disease among cattle owned by Canada at the experimental farm, Ottawa. But no one was so absolutely foolish or unfair as to suggest that the late Ottawa Government ought to be defeated because of that outbreak. That kind of argument was left to Mr. St. John, the Toronto lawver, in default of any more weighty accusation. and of the outbreak in the hands of the The evidence given by these veterinary carried out.

economically than in this Province. In his late budget speech the Provincial Treasurer proved this to a demonstration. Opposition critics, it is true, maintain that this record could be improved upon; but they are hardly sincere, since they gave their warmest support to the late Government at Ottawa, whose management of public institutions, like the penitentiary at point two women trustees to take the Kingston, made a most unfavorable place of the Collegiate Institute truscontrast with Provincial adminstration of the Central Prison. The Ontario penal institution was conducted at a eost to the taxpayer very much less than that attending the management of the Dominion penitentiary.

Let us take, as critics of the manner in which the Ontario Government has administered the resources of the Province, not avowedly Liberal journals, but newspapers conducted by avowed Conservatives, and generally found ranged with the Opposition. The Montreal Star is a newspaper of this description. It contrasted the expenditures of Ontario for the present year with those of the sister Province of Quebec in an interesting manner the other day. Said this Conservative contemporary:

"The estimated expenditure of the Province of Ontario for the coming year is $3,397,000, while the Quebec total is $4,663,000. Of the Quebec estimated expenditure $1,604,000 is for the $511,942 for railway subsidies, thus leaving scarcely more than half of the total revenue to be used for other purposes. In Ontario $721,000 is to be spent on education; in Quebec, $425,-000. Ontario is to spend $195,000 for agriculture; Quebec, $159,600. For maintenance of prisons, reformatories, asylums and hospitals, Ontario will pay $955,000; Quebec, $334,000. It will cost Quebec $190,470 for legislation, while Ontario will get along with only $127,-000 for that item. Civil government will cost $270,626 in Quebec, while Ontario will have to pay only $252,932 under the same head."

Let it not be forgotten that Ontario had a population at last census of 2,114,-321, while Quebec had only 1,488,535 in-

Even stronger testimony to the Government's careful administration of the affairs of the Province is given by the Toronto Telegram, controlled by Mr. John Ross Robertson, Independent-Conservative M. P. for East Toronto. It takes this ground:

"The financial critics of the Opposition may go through the motions of an attack upon the financial and administrative records of the Ontario Govment, but their speeches are not likely to alter the general public feeling that the record of the Liberal party in Ontario is in this respect on the whole creditable. It would be well for Toronto if its administrators had given the other day, differed from all others, in that it dealt with a permanent surplus and not with a deficit. With such testimony to their careful administration of the affairs of Ontario from independent sources, Premier Hardy and his associates can certainly go to the Province, with assurance that the great majority of the people are ready to vote for their return to power.

The Ontario Government's receipts for the year ending Dec. 31 last were $372,172 over the expenditure. This is a nice little nest egg with which to begin the year 1898. It is also an effeetive answer to the statements made by Messrs. Whitney and Matheson, Opposition orators, on the stump last would be a deficit of $600,000! They thought a general election would take place before a session of the Legislature, and before the financial statement could be officially made.

Cheap Feed and Good Hogs.

Rye, corn, oats and peas are all bringing higher prices today than was paid for them at this time last year, This, too, in spite of the fact that corn for feeding purposes is much more freely imported now than formerly. In this connection we notice In marked contrast with the Opposia foolish charge, recently made by a trade restrictionist contemporary. It

> "The Ottawa Government took the duty off western corn, largely with the idea that they were encouraging our pork raisers by inducing them to feed this corn, instead of the coarse grains

The Ottawa Government did nothing of the kind. The farmers of Canada found that in feeding the United States cattle raisers had a distinct advantage over them because of cheap corn, and many petitions were presented to Parliament for the removal of the duty on this commodity. This being done, we have seen that the price for the home-grown coarse grains has not been decreased, while our farmers have been able to get an abundance of feed on an equality with their competitors in the United States. Our contempor-Surely when the Minister in charge ary seems to regard the farmers of placed the management of the piggery Canada as men of an extremely low type of intellect. Good and Bad

Characteristic Discourse by Rev. Dr. T. De Witt Talmage.

Dr. Talmage's discourse will be helpful to those who want to find places with healthful and improving surroundings, and to avoid places deleterious. His text is II. Samuel, ii., 14: "Let the young men now arise and play before us."

There are two armies encamped by heavily on their hands. One army proposes a game of swood fencing. Nothing could be more healthful and innocent. The other army accepts the challenge. Twelve men against twelve men, the sport opens. But something went adversely. Perhaps one of the swordsmen got an unlucky clip or in some way had his ire aroused, and that which opened in sportfulness ended in violence, each one taking his contestant by the hair and then with his sword thrusting him in the side! So that which opened in innocent fun ended in the massacre of all the twentyfour sportsmen. Was there ever a better illustration of what was true then, and is true now, that that which is innocent may be made destructive? At this season of the year the clubhouses of our towns and cities are in full play. I have found out that there is a legitimate and an illegitimate use text when they began their play; in the other case it becomes the massacre they had gone too far with their sport. All intelligent ages have had their gatherings for political, social, artistic, terized by the blunt old Anglo-Saxon designation of "club. If you have read history you know that there was a King's Head Club,

a Ben Johnson Club, a Brother's Club,

to which Swift and Bolingbroke belonged; a Literary Club, which Burke and Goldsmith and Johnson and Boswell made immortal; a Jacobin Club. a Benjamin Franklin Junto Club. Some of these to indicate justice, some to favor the arts, some to promote good manners, some to despoil the habits, some to destroy the soul. If one will of England, Ireland, Scotland, France and the United States for the last one hundred years, he will write the history of the world. The club was an institution born on English soil, but it has thrived well in American atmosphere. Who shall tell how many belong to that kind of club where men put purses together and open house, apportioning the expense of caterer and servants and room, and have a sort of domestic establishment-a style of club house which in my opinion is far better than the ordinary hotel or boarding house? But my object now is to speak of club houses of a different sort, such as the Cosmos, or Chevy Chase, or Lincoln Clubs, of this capital, or the "Union Leagues" of many cities; the United Service Club, of London, the Lotos of New York, where journalists. dramatists, sculptors, painters and artists, from all branches, gather together to discuss newspapers, theaters and elaborate art; like the Americus, which camps out in summer time, dimpling the pool with its hook and arousing the forest with its stag hunt; like the Century Club, which has its large group of venerable lawyers and poets; like the Army and Navy Club, where those who engaged in war-like service once on land or the sea now come together to talk over the Legislature, is the editor and proprietor | days of carnage; like the New York Yacht Club, with its floating palaces of beauty, the fleet of pleasure boats belonging to the club having cost over ern Ontario. Mr. Pettypiece was born $2,000,000; like the American Jockey 42 years ago in Essex county, and there Club, like the Travelers' Club, the Blossom Club, the Palette Club, the Commercial Club, the Liberal Club, the farm. But as has been the case on the Stable Gang Club, the Amateur hundreds of other Ontario farms the Boat Club, the gambling clubs, the number of acres was not sufficient to wine clubs, the clubs as good as can give employment to all the boys, and he | be, and clubs as bad as can be, clubs innumerable. During the day they are comparatively lazy places. Here and Auld, now of Essex, purchased the Free or a clerk writing up the accounts; Fress. cheek, the intent look, the almost angry way of tossing the dice, or of moving the "chips." They are gambling. At another table are men who are telling vile stories. They are three-fourths intoxicated, and between 12 and 1 'clock, they will go staggering, hooting, swearing, shouting, on their way home. That is an only son. On him all kindness, all care, all culture has been bestowed. He is paying his parents in this way for their kindness. That is a young married man, who only a few months ago, at the altar, made promises of kindness and fidelity, every one of which he has broken Walk through and see for yourself. Here are all of the implements of dissipation and of quick death. As the hours of the night go away, the conversation becomes imbecile and more debasing. Now it is time to shut up. Those who are able to stand will get out on the pavement and balance themselves against the lamp-post, or the pool of Gibeon. The time hangs against the railings of the fence. The young man who is not able to stand vill have a bed improvised for him in the club house, or two not quite so overcome with diquor will conduct him to his father's house, and they will ring the door bell, and the door will open, and the two imbecile escorts will introduce into the hallway the ghastliest and most hellish spectacle that ever enters a front door-a drunken son. If the dissipating club houses of this country would make a contract with the inferno to provide it ten thousand men a year, and for twenty years, on the condition that no more should be asked of them, the club houses could afford to make that contract, for they would save homesteads, save fortunes, save bodies, minds and souls. thousand men who would be sacrificed by that contract would be but a small part of the multitude sacrificed without the contract. But I make a vast difference between clubs. I have be-> ciples by which you may judge whether the club where you are a member, or the club to which you have been invited, is a legitimate or an illegitimate club house. First of all I want you to test your club by its influences on home, if you have a home. I have been told by a prominent gentleman in club life that | 9 three-fourths of the members of the great clubs of these cities are married men. That wife soon loses her influence over her husband who nervously and foolishly looks upon all evening absence as an assault on domesticity. How are the great enterprises of art and literature and beneficence and public weal to be carried on if every man is to have his world bounded on one side by his front door step, and on the other side by his back window, knowing nothing higher than his own attic, or nothing lower than his own cellar? That wife who becomes jealous of her husband's attention to art, or literature, or religion, or charity, is breaking her own scepter of power, Let any Christian wife rejoice when her husband consecrates evenings to the service of God, or to charity, or to art, or to anything elevated; but let not men sacrifice home life to club life. I can point out to you a great many names of men who are guilty of this sacrilege. They are as genial as angels as the club house, and as ugly as sin at home. They are generous on al subjects of wine suppers, yachts and fast horses, but they are stingy about the wife's dresses and the children's shoes. That man has made that which might be a healthful recreation a usurper of his affections, and he has married it, and is guilty of moral big-

The influence which some of the club houses are exerting is the more to be deplored because it takes down the very best men. The admission fee sifts out the penurious, and leaves only the best fellows. They are frank, they are generous, they are whole-souled, they are talented. Oh, I begrudge the devil such a prize. Let me say to fathers who are be coming dissipated, your sons will follow you. You think your son does not know. He knows all about it. I have heard men say, "I drink, but never in the presence of my children. children know you drink. I describe now what occurs in hundreds of households in this country. The tea-hour has arrived. The family are seated at the tea-table. Before the rest of the family arise from the table, the father shoves back his chair, says he has an engagement, lights a cigar, goes out, any man want to satisfy himself by your wife have married you with such

Time will pass on, and the son will be sixteen or seventeen years of age, and you will be at the tea-table, and he will shove back and have an engagement, and he will light his cigar, and he will go out to the club-house and you will hear nothing of him until you hear the night-key in the door after midnight. But his physical constitution is not quite so strong as yours, and the liquor he drinks is more terrifically drugged than that which you drink, and so he will catch up with you on the road to death though you got such a long start of him, and so you will both go to hell

Wheat opened and closed steady at $1 40 for good samples. Receipts were small and demand moderate. Oats were active at 75c to 79c, the bulk of sales being made at 78c for white and 77c for black. White oats formed the greater portion of receipts. Peas are quoted at 75c to 80c; good white stock would sell at the outside; the inquiry was good, but no transactions occurred, there being no offer-

No corn, barley, rye or buckwheat came in. There were some lots of buckwheat talked of for delivery this week, but no actual deals were made, one small lot of ordinary beans sold

The dairy produce market was very quiet, little stuff offering; no change occurred in the price of butter. Strictly new laid eggs brought 22c by the basket. The quantity of chickens, turkeys and ducks was small. Little change can be seen in prices.

Beef was freely offered and bought at 4c to 6c by the quarter. There was a good demand.

Lamb was in light supply; the demand is small, and consequently there is little being killed. Dressed hogs were scarce, and ad-Vanced to $5.25 to $6.25 for choice lots. Potatoes were scarcer, and sold at Apples brought $2.50 per bbl for or-

Hay was plentiful and unchanged.

The only relief for sorrow of any kind, which had come within the radius of Miss Owen's imagination was reciprocity; yet Honore did not avail herself of this. Whatever this soreness at heart might be, Honore bore it silently and alone, letting no shadow her grief fall upon the path she ide so bright for others. It taught the elder girl a lesson, too, of patience and unselfishness-not unneeded, though Honore's daily example had made her now a pleasant companion, sympathetic, if still excitable, and kind in her harmless pursuit of pleasure. She was, as Hervey told her one day, in a tone of approval, which was equally new and pleasant to Phoebe, osing her gushing proclivities, and was wonderfully the gainer by the

And Hervey meant what he said. He had forgiven her intrusion into the Kensington mansion, because, under Honore's skillful management, he was made to feel only the pleasant effect of her society; and it was impossible, seeing Honore's treatment of them both, for him to dream of Phoebe as an interloper. So gradually he grew to believe what Honore had meant him to believe, that it was altogether a pleasant arrangement. True, there were still times when he wished for nothing on earth so strongly as Phoene's absence; but then the feeling wore itself out, as Honore's conduct to himself still continued to keep all lover-like ambition at bay, and still more rapidly wore itself out as Phoebe's silly moods grew rarer; as common sense leavened her ecstasies. and the desire to please, rather than charm, lightened her somewhat heavy

She had arranged to go to Abbots-moor early in July, and though Phoebe could not look forward with unmixed pleasure to leaving the London world, which was so full of delight for her, she could still find solace in the prespect of reigning with Honore in the now beautiful mansion, which, in their childhood, had seemed to them an Aladdin's palace in its shroud, behind whose rust and cobwebs slept a wonderful grandeur. In this grandeur she was to be almost equal to Honore, and there would always be guests and gaiety, although Honore would be sure to work there in carrying out those curious projects of hers for the good of the poor, who had been so long neglected by the possessors of old Myddelton's money and estate, and even for the good of many who, in the great city, struggled upon the hard highway of life, or fell and fainted in "And in all these things I shall be useless," mused Phoebe, not-to her credit-in her unwillingness to help, incapacity. "But," and this was her consolatory conclusion, "June is not Honore, smiling, said she hoped so, and then dreamed over it quietly, seeing most clearly among the crowd that one figure which, in those dreams of hers, always seemed to stand apart. Surely for this night he would come, she thought.

"We are going away so soon, and he has accepted my invitation. Oh, he is Merrily all that day the girls ran about the great house, taking such a fresh and childish pleasure in the preparations that great was the astonishment of the solemn servants, as well as of the workmen and women, who found it hard to ply their hammers and needles with a beseeming gravity.

"What are you thinking of, Honore?" inquired Phoebe, when they sat resting "I was recalling," said Honore, sitting lazily opposite her cousin, who, in a state of pride and suppressed excitement, presided over the exquisite little tea equippage. "I was recalling the parties—rare as old china—which we used to have at the Larches. Weren't we always in a state of fer-

Honore, smiling. "They seem so now," returned Phoebe, looking round the beautifu rooms, thinking of the gorgeous and lavish preparations for Honore's ball; but we thought them tremendous then, and Jane always pronounced them absurd and ruinous extrava-

"I remember once, before a dinner party," said Honore, laughing, "I went into Kinbury and speculated in a box of crackers. It was Christmas time, and they looked pretty, and might provoke a laugh, I thought. And from that point the grils' talk hovered merrily about the coming ball, until their sociable afternoon rest was over, and they ran off again to inspect the hanging of the silver lamps which gleamed in purity among the flowers. "All finished now," said Honore, smiling at Phoebe's ecstatic gestures when they paid their last visit to the reception rooms, which from end to end were like a fairy palace of brilliancy and beauty, with softly-treading servants moving here and there like phantom forms which should vanish when the dazzing figures of the guests should take their place. "All finished, little Frau, and this may be in the coming year. The trail is reported to be in very fair condition.

Though Honore's rooms seemed filled with guests that night, for her there was one great vacancy. The girlish hostess, in her bright loveliness and thoughtful cordiality, seemed happy and content amid her guests, yet her heart beat painfully as every name was announced, and her eyes saddened for a moment in the silence which

The dawning of the June morning, and Henore's guests folding their cloaks about them-or allowing their partners to do so-and telling each other they never had enjoyed themselves so much before, or that they were tired to sleepy coachmen were drawing up their horses in the wide and silent street, where the fair light of morning fell already. Four! The last guest gone; the last sleepy footman closing his carriage-door upon torn lace and crumpled flowers, and the last sleepy coachman driving his horses from before the lighted mansion. A chilly silence, which must have crept in with the dawn, had fallen upon the gorgeous an instant her searching gaze was in-the little ills that they neglect are simply the danger signals that warn them of the approach of big and serious maladies. A well man or woman gets up in the morning happy and clear-headed and alert, both mentally and clear-neaded and alert, both mentally and physically. They have a hearty appetite for breakfast. They go about their work with alerity, and a sense of pleasure. The day's end finds them tired, but not fagged out. They still have the energy for an evening's enjoyment. At night they find sound, refreshing slumber. They do not have frightful december. ber. They do not have frightful dreams during their sleeping hours, nor are they drowsy during their waking hours. They are not ill-tempered or fault-finding. When men or women find their condition the opposite of this, they need a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the weak stomach corrects

"I had been troubled for several years with spells of liver complaint," writes H. N. Dransfield, Esq., of Centennial, Monroe Co., W. Va., "and about two years ago my health gave way. I tried a doctor and got worse all the time. I had a weakness in my left side and limbs, palpitation of the heart, cramping pains in the stomach after eating; nerves weak and no energy. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and began to mend from the start. I soon felt likea new person. I am now enjoying good health."

> GER OF STARVATION. Juneau, Alaska, Jan. 3, via Seattle, Wash., Jan. 10 .- Twenty men have arrived here from Dawson. Some of them have been in the interior of Alaska for ten years. They unhesitatingly state that there is no danger of starvation, and no necessity for a government relief expedition. They say that Thirty-Mile River, between Lake Lebarge and the Hootalingua is open water and they were compelled to take to the side hills. Most of those who arrived intend going back as soon as possible with sup-

The Courtship Lasted Not More Than Two Hours-Groom Calls It a Case of Mutual Affinity.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 11 .- James Carraway, formerly a printer of this city, and now a hypnotist and mind reader, was married to Miss Tilly Meyer, of New York, at the Alcazar Hotel, St. Augustine, Fla. They occupy expensive apartments at the Hotel Aragon, and Mrs. Carraway is introduced as the daughter of Charles Meyer, a millionaire of New York city. The announcement that young Carraway had won an heiress created a tremendous sensation among his former associates in this city, who knew him a month ago when he was practically penniless. The courtship which culminated in the nuptials lasted two hours only. Carraway was playing a week's en-gagement in St. Augustine three weeks ago. The last day of his engagement he was introduced at the Alcazar to Miss Meyer, was was stopping at the same hotel, and before he left for Savannah that night the two were engaged to be married. Carra-way played brief engagements in Savannah and Charleston, and then reroems. Phoebe was actually shivering turned to St. Augustine to claim his when she ran back to the deserted ball-room to look for her cloak. In mained in that city until they came to Atlanta. Mrs. Carraway was introduced to her husband's parents to-

Carraway said: "It was a case of mutual affinity. She loved me at first sight, and I loved her. I did not inquire into the financial conditions of her family, and did not know at the time we were married that she was an heiress. As it is, however, her father is worth $3,000,000." Carraway is 25 years of age. Mrs. Carraway is 24 years of age, and is an attractive young woman, with a good figure. She is reticent as to her marriage, but says that the statements made by her husband as to her family connections in New York are correct.

The Jubilee Hockey Club gave a grand fancy dress carnival in the Jubilee Rink last night, which proved a big success, the ice being in perfect condition, and good music being furnished the merry makers. The costumes were varied and numerous, ranging from royalty to the typical tramp. Everything was carried out with snap and vim. It would be had to witness a finer sight than so many young people, with the evidence of good health mantling their ruddy cheeks enjoying this exhilarating pastime. The quaintness and oddity of some of the costumes enhanced the pretty scene, while others presented a very ludicrous appearance and evoked roars of laughter. Fifty dollars in gold was offered in prizes, the awarding of which was left to Messrs. J. J. Groves, Charles G. Moorhead, Alf. Dreaney and ex-Ald. Welford. first prize of $5 for best group of four was carried off by members of Robin Hood Drill Corps. The second $5 was awarded to Mr. C. Johns and Miss Pearce, for best fancy dressed couple. Miss Nicholl won the prize for best dressed lady, and James Parks for the best dressed gent. The prize-winners were: Messrs. McCon-nel, Smith, Bell, A. Black, Limmert, Blackwell, Thomas Oded, Fysh, Evans, Ed. Wyman and Misses Short, Smith, Graves, Evans, Penwarden and Grimshaw. Mr. Groves gave an exhibition of fancy skating during the evening. At 9:30 o'clock the hockeyites began to appear on the scene, and in a very few minutes the ice was cleared and everything ready for play. At 9:15 Mr. Jack Brown, the referee, appeared, and the teams lined up in position, and at a given signal started the puck gold, presenting a very artistic apflying around the rink. and 10 Months. After an illness of eight weeks, Mr. Robert Morris, of Hyde Park, the aged father of George F. Morris, of this city, died last evening about 8 o'clock. Mr. Morris had reached the advanced aged of 83 years and 10 months, and had been a respected resident of Middlesex since the pioneer days. A native of Gloucestershire, England, he came to Canada in 1840, and settled upon a bush farm on the seventh concession of the township of Westminster, which he cleared, enduring all the hardships incident to pioneer settlement. After residing there for some time he sold the farm, and engaged in teaming goods from Hamilton to London, and from ing and butchering, continuing in that constitution, and up till a few weeks ago was in the enjoyment of good health. He leaves three sons-Albert, at home; John, of Lobo, and George F., of this city; and one daughter—Mrs. W. J. Guppy, of Windsor. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon. FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGONY Suffering Ended in a Few Weeks by the Use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Petrolia, Jan. 10.-From Ingersoll to Petrolia the way is marked at short intervals by houses which are pointed to as those in which Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured cases of Kidney disease, Bright's disease, Diabetes, or other kidney or blood disorder. John Russell, a farmer living near here, tells of his cure, after suffering fifteen years, with Bright's Disease. Three doctors treated him; many remedies were tried. All failed. Then Dodd's Kidney Pills were recommended. He tried them. The invariable result followed - a few boxes This story, with variations as to the disease, is told by hundreds in Petrolia. Dodd's Kidney Pills have not been known to fail once yet. Every case has

of the discovery of what is supposed to be the mother lode and quartz original of the placers of the Klondike. The of the placers of the Klondike. The discovery was made within four hours at four different points, one of them at the Dome, a high mountain at the source of the Eldorado Creek, by Frank Slavin; the second at No. 31 Eldorado, by A. H. Jose and partners, the third one in Nugget Gulch at No. 36, and the fourth somewhere in the twenties on Bonanza Creek.

The trend of the vein is northwest by west, westerly from the Dome. It is found about 30 feet below the surface and under the muck and alluvial deposit. The lode is about 18 inches wide and makes a uniform width. It is generously sprinkled with free gold. Mr. Jones brings down samples of the ore, and every one who has seen them says the rock is precisely the same in character as is found in Southeastern Alaska. Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good." tion, and the incident is likely to lead have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is.
