frozen water courses to Nome. A day's journey overland from Katmai they will strike a long chain of lakes and rivers. It is expected to make the trip in 30 days.« The party has three teams of 10 native dogs each. Fred Gosch, of Seattle, heads the quartette of "mushers." With him is Henry Lam. bert, one of those who discovered the Fortymile district; Henry Seidler, a Day and Time Was on the 27th Circle City pioneer, and James Frost, of Eagle City."

Eagles, Attention.

All members of the Order of Eagles in and around Dawson are notified that a charter for the instituting of an aerie in this place has arrived and that a meeting is called for tomorrow, Sunday, in McDonald's hall at 3 o'clock.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Some of the swift bikers are talking of getting up a match run between Dawson and the Forks.

Chas. E. Severance has disposed of his interest in a lay on claims 10 and 11 above on Sulphur to Alex McDonald, owner of the claims. They are still being worked by Saml, and Jack Matheson. Claim 10 is a remakably rich one and will yield heavily at the cleanup. Severance still has extensive interests on the various creeks, one of which is a hydraulic grant. He is also operating a wood saw mill a short distance this side of the Forks.

Big Nome Company.

Many Nome companies have been successfully floated recently, but one of the most important from the name of its incorporators and the amount of its capital stock, is one that was incorporated under the laws of Delaware last week. It is, says the Alaskan, called the Cape Nome Mining & Transportation Company, and is sorganized with a capital of five million dollars to establish a steamship line and work with machinery claims covering 920 acres of beach, which would be 46 claims. The incorporators are Francis B. Thurber, F. I. Loring and George Crawford, all prominent men of New

The French and German soldiers of fortune who have entered the ranks of the Boers are apparently reaping a rich harvest for the services they render, says the London Daily Mail.

There is an interesting letter in tcday, written by a German officer who was lately a major of the 22d Infantry of the Kaiser's army, and is now a colonel on the general staff of the Boers outside Ladysmith.

Of our generals he has but a poor opinion.

"I have," he writes, "now been for ten weeks employed in the operations against" the English Generals Symons, White and Buller, and so unsystematic are the proceedings, so unpractical, so illegical, and, in consequence, so unprolific the proceedings of these generals, as equally are these of the Baron Methuen that I cannot refrain from regarding them with ceaseless wonder. In this extraordinary war the enemy's generals have behaved in a manner which must seem incredible to those who have not been here to see for themselves "

WORTHY OF THEIR STEEL. Fron the tone of yesterday's dis patches it is evident that the announce ment of Cronje's surrender of his torce of 8000 men is not as yet confirmed. It appears that the Boers at the last r ports were entirely surrounded by the British forces and subject to a continuous fire, from all sides. The possibility of Cronje receiving further reinforce ments had apparently been cut off and his surrender or utter annihilation seemed to be inevitable. It was this condition of affairs, in all probability. which inspired the dispatch received here on Feb. 27, in which it was stated that Cronje was reported as having surrendered although no confirmation of the news had been received up to that time. No matter how one's sympathies may lie with respect to the merits of this contest, he cannot escape a feeling of admiration for the stern old Boer commander who sees inevitable destruction staring him in the face and yet sufficient claims in the Nome country with Spartan like courage prefers to mest death rather than surrender. The warmest tributes we have seen paid by anyone to the Boers have been those of British soldiers, who, having met the Boer on the field of battle, are glad to admit that they have met a foeman worthy of their steel.

inertia during the winter. These hiber nators are now awakening for another season, and in a very short time the water front will be all life, activity and bustle. Then the approach of the great cleanup season is another great stimu lant to business activity in Dawson. It is the annual harvest time when all nature rejoices and when Dawson ap pears at her best. The general awaken ing has commenced and from now on until the close of navigation next fall activity and business rush will be ob served in all the marts of local trade.

Since the information of the gentle manly and cordial reception extended to the citizens committee by the Yukon council has become generally circulated there appears to be a much better feeling prevailing among our Canadian friends than formerly. The fact that the present members of the council are not averse to the proposition of having local representatives chosen by the Canadian citizens of the district added to the board is an evidence of good fellowship and unity of feeling. This is at it should be, and the good that will accompany concerted action will be felt all over the district and in the very near future.

Words of pity rather than of envy is in order of those who have already started, and of those who are preparing to start for Nome. If reports are true as brought by the recent arrivals from that place, and there is no occasion for doubting their statements, there are not for the few hundreds of people who are wintering there, to say nothing of a claim each for the thousands who will soon begin to arrive at the new camp. Verily, the person who is not blessed with a corpulent purse will do well to think twice before rushing off to Nome.

The Sunday night concert is one of When it comes to variety of winters the best moral influences in Dawson.

"I am not sure whether it is in the air or in the 'hootch,' but there is something here that causes a radical change to be worked in every person who stays here long enough to see the ice go out twice." The speaker was a man who came up from Circle the fall of '96, and who has been here ever since. When asked by the Stroller what he referred to, he said : "There is somthing here that changes the disposition and habits of the most staid man on earth. For example, after I located here I sent word out to my old partner in Nevada, California, the Frazier river country-in fact we had been together 30 years and been in nearly every mining camp in the west-and told him to come and bring a stock of grub He came and we started in to work on some claims I had located. For several months we got along all right, then the climate or whatever it is began to get in its work and he became so quarrelsome that a cologne scented angel could not have lived with him. I always had a good appetite, being a big man, and actually my partner, who is a little man, got so picayunishly mean that he tried to eat as much as I would; I have seen him eat three times more than he wanted, and until he looked like a gartersnake that had swallowed a toad, and then when he could eat no more he would sit and count out loud the number of bites I took after he quit and set the number down in a daybook, the little cuss. And yet before he came in here he was the best hearted, most generous man I ever knew.

"Well, we busted up partnership at last, as he got so mean I could stand it, no longer. Then he went to writing letters outside in which he told all manner of lies Among other things he wrote that I am keeping a regular harem here, and the result is that I got notice by the last mail that my old woman is suing for divore. The idea of me being a man of that kind, when Ihaven't said 'boo' to a woman in seven vears. I hear old Jim is going out this summer, and b'gosh I'm going too, and going right along with him. I wont say a word until we get off the train at our country station and then d--n me if I don't tramp him through a crack which many people are susceptible, in the depot platform. You see, besides givin me the satisfaction of half killing him, it will also give me a chance to flash my roll-when I am hauled up hefore some country justice of the peace and made to pay a fine. My advice to everybody who has friends on the outside is to let them stay there. True friendship is an unknown quantity here unless it exists among dogs." "It is 14 years this winter since all the sentimental feelings I ever possessed died within me and I nave not had one since." The speaker, a well preserved, well fed bachelor of 40, was in a confideatial mood and the Stroller took the opportunity to further draw him out. & Power Co. Etd. "It was this way," said he, continuing his story, "I was raised in a small town in central New York and the next day after I was 21 years old I started. west; but I left behind me the prettiest brown eyed sweetheart a young man ever had. Mamie was her name, and she was to wait for me five years, as I told her I would have a fortune by that time and would come back to make her my wife For the first tew months I didn't do much good, but finally I drifted down into New Mexico and struck a job at cow punching. An old chap that owned thousands of cattle took a fancy to me and made me his toreman. He favored me in every way he could and I soon had quite a hurd which bore my own brand. During all this time I heard regularly from Mamie, and her letters were the solace of my life in the long, lonely days when I was range riding. At the end of five years, I was then 26, I sold my brand for $7500 a pretty good stake for a young man. and started for the little village in central New York, the home of my mother and my sweetheart. I had not heralded my coming either by letter or telegram, thinking to surprise them. It was a dark, drizzly day in December that I alighted from an early morning train in the old town and made my way straight to the home of my mother. Her surprise was very great, and the welcome I received with her loving arms around me warms my heart to this day. Two hours later I went to Mamie's home to surprise her by announcing my arrival in person. I rang the door hell and during the few ensuing seconds my heart pumped like an exhausted freight engine. A heavy, dragging foootstep approached the door from within: the knob turned, it opened. Hell! There stood Mamie. She had on one of her brothers' old coats, her father's gum boots, and her hair looked as though it hadn't been touched with a comb for six weeks. Two of her front teeth were gone and to me the mouth she presented for a kiss-looked like a hole in an old boot. I stayed only a few minutes and have never seen her since. Two weeks later I again came west, my mother accompanying me. She died five years ago in California. As for me I expect to marry some time, but my wife will not be a leather face, neither, will she wear gum boots around her house work. Everytime I see a pair of gum boots I say to myself, 'Old man, there is what killed the sentiment in your heart.' " of the oldest settler will compare in matters of similarity, each one having features distinct and apart from all its predecessors. For example, during all of November and a portion of December o' the present winter the weather was so mild as to cause grave apprehension on the part of many mine owners that they would not be able to work their claims. At that time the ord settler unhesitatingly remarked that never before had he seen such mild weather in the Yukon at that season of the year. Then came a change in which mercury went down into the fifties and remained there much of the time for two months, and even yet its recovery has been slight, and now the old settler again remarks that he has never yet seen a spring in which the mercury continued to pay a visit to 40 below every night at this period. As a maker of records, Yukon weather is not slow.

With the approach of spring begins the usual activity which has ever characterized Dawson in the summer months. THE KLONDIKE NUGGET, DAWSON, Y.T., SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1900.

Men Who Have Made Nothing in the Klondike.

Too Proud to Return to Old Home Without Riches - Will Remain Another Year

From time immemorial eastern people have "gone west" to better their condi tion, and on the Pacific coast is the only portion of North America in which people do not talk of "going west." Within the past half century many people who followed Horace Greeley's advice, "Go west, young man, and grow up with the country," have amassed fortunes by so doing, with the result that when a man, after remaining a few years in the west returned to his old eastern home without a fortune he was looked upon as a "poor stick."

The same idea prevails on the outside relative to the country called "the Klondike," and it prevails to even a greater extent than it ever did concerning "the west." All that is necessary to start a report back home that John Smith owns property here worth a million dollars is for John to write to some friend that he has located a claim, No matter if it is located on some rock ribbed knob it is a claim, and every man who owns a claim in "the Klondike" is a millionaire in the estimation of people on the outside, and especially of the eastern and southern states, where it is currently believed that gold by the shovelful is exposed by digging down a few feet in any portion of this country.

It is the knowledge that this delusive belief prevails at their old homes that is keeping many men here at present. They know that it they were to go home with less than several thousand dollars they would be talked of as having made a failure of the trip, or of having made fools of themselves by wast ing their money after making it. But City has been very marked of late." the true facts are that not one man in every ten who is now here could land at his old home with as much money at his command as when he started for here two or three years ago. Any person who was in the Puget sound coun try in the summer and fall of '97 can to protect from spoilation and ameliorate go out on the streets of Dawson and drop into the first joint they come to that has a big stove and find from one to a half dozen men who came here with the first rush and came well stocked with provisions, which, in many cases, were supplied by others who had confidence in the rustling abilities of 'the man they were outfiting. than has Victoria, according to her sister. The latest wail is as follows:

on the arrival of the steamer Cottage City on her last trip from the North, her owners have decided hereafter that that vessel is not to call here on her down trip from the North. She will call as heretofore on her way up and get what freight or passengers she can from this port in competition with the home steamers, but southbound passen. gers will not be landed here. They will instead be carried on to Port Townsend or Seattle and be transhipped there to the Sound steamer. This is in line with the treatment this port has received for some considerable time past at the hands of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. When the steamer Cottage City was carrying excursionists. to and from the North last summer her calls at this port were usually made in the early hours of the morning, so that her passengers might see the beauteous scenery their folders spoke of under thecloud of night. They might have done some business here had a call been made in the day time. The Cottage City was then carrying the Canadian mail and many a time the Victoria merchant has had to wait for at least 24 hours for his letters, the steamer having carried them on to the Sound and sent them back on the Sound steamer. Now the steamer in question is carrying the United States government mail. She calls at all the minor points of the North, landings being made at places where there is little more than a totem pole and a cabin, yet Victoria is not to be included in the ports of call on the way down from the North This treatment of Victoria by the owners of the Cottage

A Feast of Music.

The program prepared for the concert tomorrow evening at the Orpheum is far superior to any heretofore given in Dawson. Each and every number has been selected with the greatest care as to merit. The participating artists, Miss Lorne, Mrs Tozier, Miss Blosson, and Mr. Zimmerman, are well known to Dawson people and the good numbers they will render will make this occasion a genuine feast of music. The Sym-phonic Orchestra conducted by Mr. Gerbracht have in store such a splendid selection of good things as will furnish a most agreeable surprise for all present. The doors will open at 8 p. m., performance begins at 9 p. m. sharp. Tickets on sale at Reid & Co 's, druggists.

The most glorious liquor that ever kissed the lips of man at the Rochester Bar.

First Boat for Nome.

Steamer W. K. Merwin, now lying on the Dawson water front, will be the first boat to leave for Nome. Capt. Talbot has rearranged the stateroom accommodations so that 84 herths are available for first class passengers. The Merwin is a staunch sea boat, 130 feet in leagth, built with deep draught for the Puget sound busi ess, and those who were accustomed to travel on her on the Sound endorse the Merwin as the best sea boat on the Yukon river, safe and seaworthy for the trip from the mouth of the river to Cape Nome, Through tickets to Nome are now on sale at Yukon Dock.

Tinged With Sarcasm.

Seattle has not been able to get that city designated by the secretary of war as the military headquarters of the District of Alaska, but a sop has en given to her overweening and tion in that her port has been definitely decided upon as temporary military headquar tere of the department of Alaska, until the opening of naviagtion to St. put in her plea and show immense advantages with a view to having the capital of Alaska removed from Sitka to Seattle. There would be no particu lar kick coming if she did, for certainly Seattle would be no more inconvenient than Sitka.

is Anticipated by the Large Transportation Companies.

The Steamboats Are Being Repaired-Columbian and Canadian May go on Lower Yukon Route.

The transportation companies are preparing for the freight and passenger traffic which will commence immediately after the opening of navigation. All of them expect to take advantage of the rush that, no doubt, will be made to Cape Nome. Those few lower river boats, which are wintering at Dawson, are now selling tickets to St. Micahels; they will leave here as soon as practicable. Several of the companies which have operated steamboats on the upper least during the early portion of the season. People in the transportation business anticipate a great increase in the upper river traffic during the coming. summer. They believe that many who visit Nome will go via the way of Dawson; and many others, after view ing the Alaskan camp, will return home by the Yukon river and Skagway route.

The Canadian Development Company is probably making the most extensive preparations for the spring business. Th shipya'd of this concern on the west side of the Yukon is now the scene of great activity. About 40 men, including the ship carpenters, have been employed to repair the steamboats Canadian and Columbian. This firm also has a contract to repair the Lotta Talbot, which is owned by the Alaska Meat Company of Dawson. The Canadian will have her deck raised and will be provided with a skylight. Her hull will be repaired, new staterooms will be added, and her old ones remodeled. The hull of the Columbian will be fixed and the old staterooms altered. The Lotta Talbot will be given a general overhauling, and it is possible that she may be changed from a refrigerator boat into a passenger vessel. The steamboat Victorian will undergo re pairs at Whitehorse, where she is wintering.

No advices have been received yet by the local agents from the headquarters the rag. ent Comp dian Developr at Victoria; but it would not surprise the representatives of the company here if the Cotumbian and Canadian were ordered to take the St. Michaels run Information regarding the company's intentions is expected before the end of the month. .

arms here around Ladysmith. There is first in rank General Count Georges Villebois de Maureuil, who was fately colonel commanding the first regiment of the far famed foreign legion of French- Ifrican army. He treats us Germans with marked courtesy, as, indeed, do all of his confreres, number ing 87.

"Of retired officers of the French active army there are at present on the pay rolls 14; eight are with old Mr Joubert, three with our Triend Albrecht, who is keeping the Baron Methuen amused, and the others are in charge of the ammunition supplies-a duty which cannot be entrusted to Boer officers in consequence of their utter want of method. Von Rosenfeldt and Fried Muller came by the last steamer. The former has been sent to join' Albrecht, and the other has been made a colonel of the seige train."

As to the pay they receive he says "The colonels in the seige batteries are paid one hundred and fifty Transvaal soverlegns a month. I am remitting home one hundrel and twenty every month, and, as we expect this war to last for six months yet, I may look forward to having something con siderable awaiting me at Hanover.
