STEAMBOAT NEWS.

For nearly a week the cable by means of which steamers pull themselves up the Five Finger rapids has been foul among the rocks so it could not be used. The Bonanza King has been at the foot of the rapids since Tuesday with a broken capstan unable to proceed until the difficulty has been removed and necessary repairs were made. The Nora on her last trip down, arriving this morning did not attempt to ascend the rapids but transferred passengers and freight with the Flors at the head of the swift water. The cable was put in and is owned by the B. V. N. Co. and they have the keeping of it in repair. A charge of $15 is made each boat for using it.

The Zealandian arrived yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock with a heavy cargo and 26 passengers. She sails this evening at 8 o'clock.

Agent Mortimer, of the Aurors dock, is expecting the Monarch from St. Michael by the 10th.

The steamer Prospector left Whitehorse yesterday morning and is due to arrive tomorrow.

The Yukoner pulled into port last night at 10:15. She had all the freight she could accommodate but her passenger list was very small—only three.

Celebrated the Fourth.

That yesterday was the Fourth of July and that the day had been properly celebrated was attested to by the large crowd which greeted Magistrate Scarth in the police court this morning.

Indian Lizzie was the first prisoner called to the dock and charged with being drunk but as the evidence in her case was not ready she was dismissed until 2 o'clock this afternoon. Tom Baberson had become obstreperous in the Green Tree saloon and all the persuasion of the porter not being able to induce Thomas to curb his patriotic spirit the police had been called in to give him aid. He was taken to the barracks where he passed the balance of the day in quiet meditation and this morning was fined $10 and costs.

Wm. Nicholson was fully conscious of the responsibility which fell upon him to do his full share towards the proper celebration of the "glorious" Fourth. The trouble with William was that his capabilities were a little overtaxed by the responsibilities of the situation and he was compelled to ease his mind a little by a small draught. Draught followed draught in quick succession until his mind became overtaxed by the jug, he was carrying. He then began to "whoop 'em up" in what he considered proper style but as it was not in accordance with the law of sobriety and proper conduct his celebration was suddenly cut short by the arrival of a constable on the scene and William, sober and wise this morning, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $10 and costs.

OF CONSUMPTION ON JUNE 27.

With Six Others He Crossed Chilkoot in '88

Has Long Had Lung Trouble—Leaves Wife and Adopted Son—Was 45 Years of Age.

Plattsburg, N. Y., June 27, via Skagway, July 5.—Joseph Ladue, president of the Joseph Ladue Gold Mining and Development Co. of Yukon, died of consumption at his old home in Schuyler Falls, N. Y., today. He leaves a wife and adopted son the child of a former employe named La May.

(The deceased was 46 years of age and passed over Chilkoot with a party of six other prospectors in 1888 working up the Stewart river and along the upper Yukon bars. For the past 19 years he has been identified with this country. He built a sawmill at Sixty-mile in the early nineties which was moved in '96 to Dawson. This was the first mill in the country in the same year he platted the present townsite of Dawson naming it after Dr. Dawson the then Dominion land surveyor, the grant for which, covering 160 acres, was allowed at Ottawa last March. He was associated in business with Arthur Harper who died of consumption also, in the fall of '98. Ladue has not been in Dawson for the past three years as he has suffered continually from pulmonary trouble since that time, he catching a severe cold while coming up the river from St. Michael which developed upon his arrival outside into lingering consumption. His father died of the same disease. He leaves large property interests in this district, owning valuable mining interests on Bonanza, Eldorado and Sulphur as well as city realty and the commercial house which bears his name. He also owned at the time of his demise a beautiful summer home on Lake George, N. Y., as well as two large farms in that state. R. F. Botaford, managing director of the Ladue Co., who recently arrived in Dawson, left the deceased only five weeks ago and says he can hardly believe he had passed away as he was not seriously ill at the time of his departure. In speaking of Joseph Ladue Mr. Botaford said: "I never met in all my life a more lovable and honorable man than Joe Ladue. I have known him ever since I can remember and in all that time I never knew him to tell a lie or even exaggerate a fact. I feel his loss keenly for the world does not hold many like him. The present officers of the company are S. M. Wood, vice president; R. F. Botaford, managing director and W. H. Lyons, general manager.")

Wages of Sin.

The great tragedy which shocked Toronto a week or two ago has furnished the press of the country with a text for much moralizing. In these days when the schoolmaster is so active and the press so "permeating," when not only the voice of the preacher is raised against crime, but statistics prove conclusively that the way of the transgressor against the laws of mankind is hard, why is it that men deliberately choose a career of warfare against their kind? It is a mere platitude to say that there can be no real happiness in such a life. Periods of debauchery following a successful raid upon some financial stronghold, with the shadow of a policeman ever present throughout the orgies, cannot be the highest form of human felicity. There is said to be honor among thieves; but the rewards which are offered for the apprehension of noted lawbreakers must be a great temptation for the weaker sinners to forsake their ways and take a few dollars with them into retirement. Notwithstanding that the bed appears to be hard, there are always plenty willing to occupy it.

There was one Canadian among the trio of desperadoes who murdered the policeman in Toronto. His career has been traced by the reporters, and it has been proved conclusively that a disinclination to labor was at the root of his trouble. A smart boy at school, a leader in frolics and sports of all kinds, bright and cheerful in disposition, daring and brave, but unable to endure the toil and monotony of life on a farm. One day he threw aside the spade and entered a factory. When that closed down he was out of work, and when next heard of at home he was in the dock on a charge of robbery, for which he got four years' imprisonment. Surely it must have been the evil associates of prison life and not a natural propensity for evil which dragged this young man down or he would never in a fit of remorse after having been the cause of the death of a fellow man have dashed himself to pieces on the stone floors of a jail? Is there no argument in this melancholy case of the desperate Rutledge in favor of giving erring young men a chance to return to the straight path and win back the good name which may not be irretrievably lost? What a tremendous weight of responsibility rests upon our judges and all who have sought to do with the administration of justice. Censorious neighbors in a remote country district in Ontario are no doubt busy pointing out the shortcomings of the father of the young man Rutledge, but the picture of an aged figure with white bowed head and not a word to say in defence or condemnation of the living or the dead drawn by a skillful hand in one of the Toronto papers, surely represents more truly the feeling of the average man towards the one across whose life so terrible a shadow has been cast.

Of the career of the criminal Jones, who was shot by a policeman, little is known. Rice, the one survivor of the three, who shot the county constable and will probably soon follow his two companions with the scaffold as a starting place, professes to be a socialist. He says the world owes him a living, and as he would have been compelled to work hard for it in any event he proposed to wrest this debt from the rich and well-to-do by violence. Whether he deliberately adopted his profession as the result of his reasoning or merely justified his choice now that he is in the toils of the law, there is no means of knowing. The living and the dead furnish two distinct examples of criminal types. In one case a life into a useful and honorable channel.—Victoria Times.

REDUCTION OF RATES

Made by R. W. Calderhead of the Klondike Corporation Ltd.

The Klondike Corporation is again to the front this year and has resumed its old practice of slashing passenger rates. This news will be received with satisfaction by travelers who purchase tickets for intermediate points between Dawson and Hootalinqua. The cut was decided upon today as Manager Calderhead concluded that the agreed rate was entirely too high, the principle ticket buyers to way points up river being loggers who can ill afford to pay the arbitrary rate fixed by the big steamboat company.

The present schedule calls for $45 to Selkirk and to Stewart river $20; the new rate will now be $15 and $30 respectively. At all points the same proportionate cut has been made it being a reduction of 25 per cent on present charges. It is expected that the big company will be compelled to also reduce its charges on local travel or lose all intermediate traffic.

FRIDAY, JULY 5, 1901.

ONLY RAIN MARRED.

Aside from a gentle shower, and that was to be expected because it was the fourth of July, there was not an incident to mar the exercises of yesterday in Dawson. The managers of the various events were active in bringing them off promptly and on time and good clean sport was the result.

The day was most fittingly brought to a close by the presentations at the Standard and Orpheum theatres of performances in keeping with the spirit of the occasion. The family entertainment was such as has never been excelled in Dawson and the appreciation evident was no more than was merited.

PREFERENTIAL TRADE.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer has once more made it clear that there is no possibility of any departure from the policy of free trade in the Mother Country. This has been pointed out repeatedly in Canada, but Conservatives will not accept the fact literally. They say if they were in power they would demand preference for preference and that the British government would be compelled to yield rather than take the responsibility of being the cause of a backward movement from empire consolidation.

forming the tariff and making a beginning of the consolidation of the Empire at the same time. The trend of opinion on this continent, whatever the conditions elsewhere may be, is in favor of tariff reduction. The manufacturers' Association of the United States has passed a resolution expressing the view that nations to be prosperous and expect trade expansion must be buyers as well as sellers.

Assay Offices.

The enterprise of the people of Vancouver has met with the usual reward. A promise has been obtained from the minister of the interior that an assay office will be established there. We shall have one in Victoria all right, but we shall come in a little in the rear as we deserve to and as usual. We do not feel at all disposed to charge the Board of Trade of the Terminal City with selfishness because it refused to join with the British Columbia board in representations to the government in favor of assay offices in the two chief coast cities.

STROLLER'S COLUMN.

"Way down upon de Suwanee river" has become almost as much of an American song as has the national anthem "America," the "Star Spangled Banner," "Yankee Doodle" or "Dixie." There is not in all of Uncle Sam's broad domain a more unhabitable portion of country than that through which runs the Suwanee river, three-fourths of its entire length from where it rises in the Okefenokee swamp in Southeast Georgia to where it empties into the Gulf of Mexico, 25 miles west from Cedar Keys.

Eighteen years ago last winter the Stroller kept a school on the banks of the song famed Suwanee. Just 30 miles up from the mouth. He uses the expression "kept a school" advisedly. "Keeping" a school and "teaching" a school are different things entirely. That was a long time ago, but even now every time the Stroller sees a group of nice long, clean, lithe willow or hazel rods his palm itches to grasp one of them and thoughts of his second reader class back in the old "shake" schoolhouse on the banks of the Suwanee sit o'er his mind.

In that country when a boy passes his 18th birthday he reckons he ought to have a wife and he starts out on a tour of the neighborhood pecking into sunbonnets. The following Saturday night there's a wedding and in due time a badly written letter is received by the Stroller informing him that he has another namesake. Statistics at hand show that, barring a late epidemic there are 37 namesakes of the Stroller in that area of country lying between Loon lake and Coon bluff.

When he arrived at the hotel of Montreal it was impossible to find a bed large enough to accommodate him, and two mattresses had to be placed end to end for him to sleep on. He showed his great strength by having three men sit on his left arm and then raising them to a height of seven feet and replacing them on the ground. Beupre was injured internally by being thrown from a horse in Kentucky last summer, and is in Montreal for medical treatment. He is giving exhibitions to defray his expenses.—Chicago Times-Herald.

CURMUDGEON PHILOSOPHER

Ambrose Bierce Writes Concerning Women Lobbyists.

Thinks the Canteen Act Has Ruined American Army—Lawmakers Scored for Listening to Women

No (said the Curmudgeon Philosopher); I'm not taking any stock in "the elevating influence of women." I don't see any results. We've had women a long time now; the influence is in evidence all right, but the elevation doesn't materialize. Maybe it was different in the old days when they had no connection with practical affairs and could give their entire attention to the business of giving us "a leg up." But that was a long time ago. Today they are so busy assisting us to "run" the world that they overlook our occupancy of a low, moral plane.

I think, sir, that old Sir William Devereux was wrong when he said that the best way to keep the deer creators from playing the devil was to encourage them in playing the fool. We have been for more than a generation encouraging them to play the fool in a thousand and fifty ways, and they play the devil as never before. See what they did in the matter of the army canteen. Ruined the service, sir—ruined the service! Congress? Oh, yes, it is through congress that they have to act in such a case, and they found a congress of cowards, exactly to their liking.

Why, sir, those old biddies and tabbies of the Q. K. L. X. just swarmed in the capitol—the building reeked of them! Such shameless and barefaced lobbying I never saw. I was there at the time, trying to secure a land grant and a money subsidy for a railway from Cat creek northeasterly; and I know whereof I speak. Well, if they prefer to be defended by an army of drunkards and invalids I suppose it is no business of ours; we don't have to enlist, and when drafted have a large liberty of choice. We can serve and be drunk or desert and be shot. What? we need not drink too much unless we want to?

Why, sir, whoever heard of a good soldier who would not drink all he could get? It is one of the sacred obligations of military service. And now, having freed the soldier from the only practicable restraint upon his honorable but perilous thirst, these women are attacking him from another quarter in defence of his right to the pursuit of immorality and disease. They have met and solemnly resolved against the regulation and restraint of "vice" in Manila. Of course they don't know a thing about vice, and have never been within six thousand miles of Manila; but from their inner consciousness they have evolved a lovely theory that "government recognition" of what every government in every age and in every country has had thrust beneath its helpless nose with a blare of bad odors—abstractly—wicked. These delightful creatures—care for nothing but abstract ideas having no practical application to actual conditions in a faulty world.

The unanimous protestations of experts—the army surgeons and other officers, who know all about the matter and can have no purpose but the good of the service—count for nothing in the councils of Them Loud. Every Mere Male who ventures to lift up his voice in behalf of the health and morality of the army is outfitted by them with a set of motives that would shame a pirate of the Spanish Main. To the she colonels of Abstract Reform the subject is fascinating no end; they roll it as a sweet morsel under—and over—their tongues, and chortle in their glee. At the next session of congress you shall hear again the clank of the female sabre in the corridors and committee rooms of the capitol, intimidating the potroon lawmaker. You shall hear the warwhoop of the Sexless Impracticables, acclaiming the Suffice Abstractation and denouncing the coarse expedients of the Erring Male. May the devil shepherd them in a barren place!

(Overcome by his emotions, the Curmudgeon Philosopher cruelly kicked the house dog—which answered not with a "cares"—and snorted at vacancy.)

What good does it all do, anyhow—this irruption of women into the domain of public affairs? Industrially, its effect has been to create the tramp. No country has ever had employment enough to meet the demand—witness the inadequate wage of the worker. Within a generation we have added a full one-third to the army of wage workers by letting in the women. Every woman employed where no woman was employed before, or would have been employed if the old regime had endured, displaces a man who would have been supporting one or more women. The man displaced displaced another in a lower kind of service; he another in a still lower. The man at the bottom of the grade becomes a tramp. Yet there are dreamers who believe that all this inadequacy of the "rewards of labor" is due to the "wage system." They hope to correct the evil by legislation; by strikes; by compulsory arbitration; by socialism; by the devil knows what! The simple thing to do, sir, is to put Lovely Woman back into the station assigned to her by nature and by nature's God.

The advantages that she promised herself in becoming Loud and New are illusory; those that she renounced were real. For one thing, we no longer love her. Why, sir, I remember the time when I myself would have taken trouble to serve and honor women. I may say that I felt for them a special esteem. How is it today? They pass me by as the idle wind, unobserved and—most significant of all—unobserving. Contrast "the way of a man with a maid," now with what it used to be. Then he treated her with high courtesy and a gallant showing of deference; now he chaffs her. Woman cannot be at the same time man's competitor and his idol. We don't like our competitors. True, we must marry them—or we think we must; I hold my own opinion, sir, as to that. But it is a sorry union, having something of the character of a commercial partnership. Let the records of the divorce courts tell the rest.

Love, sir, "romantic love," as Tolstol calls it, is a purely artificial thing. Many nations know it not. The ancient Greeks knew it not; the modern Japanese don't at all comprehend it. There have been no other really civilized nations. We love those who are helpless and dependent on us. That is why we love our children and our pets—not because they are ours, but because we are theirs. In demanding equal rights before the law woman renounces her claim to exceptional tenderness; in granting the demand man accepts the renunciation in good faith. If the rest of you are going to look out for my wife, sir, I am left free to look out for myself. Have I really a wife? God forbid—I'm supposing one.

When in the history of our civilization was romantic love at high noon? Why, sir, "when knighthood was in flower;" when woman was a chattel; when a gentleman could divorce himself with a word. It was then that woman was set upon a pedestal and adored. Men consecrated their lives to the service of the sex—fought for woman, sang of her with a sincerity that is sadly lacking in the imitation troubadours of our time. Why, sir, even I, in my youth, composed some verses (producing a manuscript from his breast pocket) which I venture to think—oh, well! I'll not force them upon you; but permit me to remark sir that the decay of courtesy toward women is not unattended with a certain growing coarseness of manners in general. Those who have caught the base infection are not gentlemen, and you may go to the devil!—Ambrose Bierce in San Francisco Examiner.

MIX UP AT THE SAVOY

Confusing Series of Events Ends in All Being Postponed.

Charley Meadows of the Savoy was in a world of trouble last night. First the tug of war, which was to have been pulled off between the Scandinavian team of six picked men and a team composed of Americans and Canadians, was postponed owing to the anchor men's pull lasting two hours and consuming the time which was allowed for the entire match. It was decided to draw and the men will pull again to-night. The White-Carr boxing contest was declared off. They will meet at the Orpheum at some future date.

GLORIOUS OCCASION

Fourth of July Celebration Most Brilliant in History of Dawson

RAIN INTERFERED WITH PROGRAM

But not Until Many Events had Taken Place.

ONLY ONE SLIGHT ACCIDENT

Streets Were Crowded all Day and Night—List of Events and Prize Winners.

Another mile post in the life of the United States of America was passed yesterday and today marks the beginning of a new year in the age of the oldest young nation of the earth's family. Young in years but centuries older in progress and enlightenment than many of the nations of the world who were hoary headed grandfathers before the new world had cast aside its swaddling clothes.

The day was fittingly observed in this city, Englishmen, Canadians and other nationalities joining with the Americans in making the celebration the most successful Dawson has yet witnessed and the day one long to be remembered. Until 4 o'clock more perfect weather could not have been had, but the last two hours of the afternoon were sadly marred by a steady down-pour of rain. The morning broke bright and sunny with the balmy breeze, serving to temper the heat as midday approached. At 3 o'clock clouds were seen gathering in the southeast and an hour later heaven's teardrops descended in such plentiful profusion that the sports were terminated during the pole vaulting contest and everyone sought shelter in doorways and beneath awnings.

During the day and even throughout the night before the city was thronged with people, many coming in from the creeks to enjoy the celebration and lay aside for the day their picks, pans and shovels. Young America was much in evidence and in the exuberance of his spirits did not fail to let it be known that the day of all others was his and his alone. The pleasant weather brought out hundreds of ladies, many gowned in the sheer fabrics so dear to the feminine heart in midsummer and the grandstand presented a veritable kaleidoscope of harmonious colors. The day was singularly free from accidents, none occurring save during one of the horse races when Chief Stewart's "Puzler" ridden by Bert Collyer bolted into the crowd. The vast crowd was orderly, too, and the absence of any street brawls or drunken disturbances is but another evidence of Dawson's rapid approach to and certain assimilation of the effete ways of the East.

A great deal of the success of the day was due to the untiring efforts of Chairman E. B. Condon and Secretary J. Newton Story, who for several days previous, laid aside their business affairs and gave their undivided attention to assuring such success.

A squad of police under charge of Sergeant Beys did effective work in keeping the crowd off the track and thus preventing any accidents.

In the horse races T. A. McGowan, H. G. Wilson and E. S. Orr acted as judges and E. A. Mizner officiated as starter. In the track events E. F. Botsford was referee and Joe Boyle starter. George Noble announced the result of each event when concluded. No records were broken, either national or local, as the track was very heavy and in no condition whatever for fast time.

On account of the length of the program arranged, no parade was given. The ball teams in their bright new uniforms headed by the Dawson military band formed on First avenue and Third street at 10:30 and marched to the barracks diamond where the great American game of baseball was indulged in between the Gandolfo and Zaccarelli teams. The score was 16 to 5 in favor of the former. A detailed account of the game is given elsewhere in this issue. It was the intention of the committee to have a game between the Dawson and Eagle City nines, but the failure of any boat to arrive from down river made such an undertaking impossible. The afternoon sports were begun at 1 o'clock. Herewith is given the list and also the winners:

Half mile horse race, No. 1, Stewart's "Puzler" first, $100; Brien's "Modlock" second, $25; W. O. Peterson second, $10. which was caught by Morrison. McStay got his base on balls and stole second, but the inning ended without a score being made as McAliff struck out.

The Gandolfo in the last of the third scored four runs by Doyle, Chadwick, Morrison and Traube.

In the fourth and fifth the Zaccarelli failed to score while the Gandolfo made four in the fourth and two in the sixth, making the score at the end of the fifth 13 to 1 in favor of the Gandolfo team.

The line up of the team was as follows: Gandolfo—Briggs, p.; Long, c. f.; Doyle, s. s.; Chadwick, rb.; Hill, 2b.; Morrison, 3b.; Brown, 1. f.; Traube, r. f.; McPate, c.; O'Brien, sub.; Rielesworth, 6th.

A Clever Decoration. The first prize for decoration was awarded to the Dawson Hardware Co. Their new store front was handsomely decorated in an original design with red white and blue hunting on top of which a silhouette model of a full rigged ship in white with tarled sails was erected. The decoration was without exception the most clever piece of work ever put up in Dawson. It was constructed and designed by James Townsend of the Savoy theater.

At Savoy Tonight. The tug of war will be pulled off tonight. All those who held tickets yesterday for the show were given back their tickets as the contest ended in a draw between the two anchor men. The fastest in the event has not abated, however, as the different parsons of the two teams are putting up money on the result in big bunches. The house has been rearranged to accommodate a large crowd.

Horseshoes are of uncertain date and have caused some discussion among military historians. Nailed shoes were not known by the Greeks, for Xenophon gives minute instructions for hardening the hoof. Nor did the Romans use them. Nero had mules shod with a plate of silver fastened by crossed thongs to the hoof. With Poppea, his later wife, it is said these plates were of gold. The earliest positive evidence of nailed shoes is furnished by the skeleton of a horse found in the tomb of Childeric I (458-51) at Tournay in 1653.
