I. O. D. E. BENEFIT GREAT SUCCESS

Presentation of Musical Comedy,
"Costs and Petticoats" Enjoyed by Large Audience

There was a good sized audience at the Orpheum Theatre last Friday evening when the musical comedy, "Costs and Petticoats", was presented in aid of the I. O. D. E. The entertainment, which was under the direction of Miss Ethel Hemmeon, convenor of the Entertainment Committee, was much enjoyed by those present, and Miss Hemmeon is to be congratulated on the success of the performance. She was presented with a bouquet of red and white roses between acts.

In the comedy, Mrs. Withrow, Miss Hilda Johnson and Miss Laurette Benjamin were particularly good, while the songs of Mrs. Withrow, Miss Nina Trethewey, Annie Pearson and Marion Eaton were much appreciated. Others in the cast were Misses Rena Cox, Elizabeth Corey, Elizabeth Eaton and Jean Shaw. The chorus, composed of Misses Helen Harris, Marion Eaton, Annie Pearson, Zelma Trethewey, Frances Sanford and Virginia McLean, took part in several numbers which were very well received by the audience. The music furnished by the orchestra, composed of Misses Grace Beardsley, Gertrude Phinney, Messrs. Gerald Eaton, Parks and Goudy, added not a little to the pleasure of the performance.

On Monday evening the entertainment was repeated in the Armouries, Canning, before a fair sized audience.

WANTS TO KNOW AMOUNT OF MONEY SPENT ON WOLFVILLE-KENTVILLE ROAD

In the Local House on Tuesday Dr. B. A. LeBlanc, Conservative, Richmond, asked the following questions regarding highways:

- 1.—What amount of money has been expended on the main highway between Kentville and Wolfville in each year since the first day of January, 1920?
- 2.—If this work was done under contract, who were the contractors, and what amount was paid to each of said contractors during each of said years?
- 3.—What amounts have been received from the Dominion Government on the said road as federal aid?

The electrical storm which prevailed last Thursday evening, was most unusual at this season of the year. A number of vivid flashes of lightning in the eastern sky were witnessed early in the evening by a number of citizens. In the eastern part of the province the storm was of much greater magnitude.

PRESENTED BUDGET ON TUESDAY

Mr. James A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance, who presented his second budget in the House of Commons on Tuesday, said the most important tariff change that affects Nova Scotia is the proposal to raise slacks, wool imported from the United States, from 30 cents per yard to 44 cents per yard.

ACADIA CO-EDS LOSE IN DEBATE

Mt. St. Bernard Girls Win Their First Contest

ANTIGONISH, March 20.—In their first appearance in an inter-collegiate debate, the Mt. St. Bernard Ladies' College debaters tonight won a victory over a team of co-eds from Acadia University in upholding the affirmative of the question: Resolved, that the Governments of the Maritime Provinces should co-operate with the Dominion Government in a big campaign to secure a large influx of agricultural immigrants for the Maritime Provinces.

The debate was held in Immaculate Hall, at St. Bernard's, and the judges were Dr. Trueman, Mt. Allison; H. S. Congdon, Dartmouth; Dr. Ellis, Sydney; Miss Mary Chisholm, M.A., was chairman.

The visiting debaters were Miss Selena True, leader; Ella MacMahon and Alice MacLeod; while Mt. St. Bernard was represented by Misses Mary Friel, leader, Mabel Nolan, and Margaret Flemming.

Miss Friel presented her case in a convincing manner. After briefly outlining the history of immigration in the Maritimes, she emphasized our need of more people to lower tax rate and increase production. An increase in population would mean better markets, lower freight rates, improved community life, roads and schools. It would result in intellectual uplift and the maintenance of our federal representation. Her arguments established beyond a doubt the desirability of increased population.

Miss MacLeod, of Acadia, in opening the case for the negative pointed out that the British North America Act relegated all immigrant policy to the joint action of Federal and Provincial governments. She contended that increase in numbers is not justified without opportunity for larger life, and this the Maritime Provinces did not warrant. The open door policy could not be commended in view of the fact that we have been unable to hold our own native born population. Miss MacLeod excelled in delivery.

Miss Nolan, second speaker for Mt. St. B., argued that the Maritime Provinces afford many attractions to would-be immigrants. This she treated under several heads: geographically, we are in a position to command many of the world's best markets; climatically we are free from the extreme of the west; physical and mental standards are high as evidenced by our abundant yield of talent. The speaker brought out in a pleasant and convincing manner our unparalleled possibilities in mixed farming, fruit-farming and sheep raising. Statistics show Nova Scotia to be highest in yield of field crops per acre.

Miss True in a very fine address pointed out that agriculture was pushed to the point of diminishing returns. The situation could not be remedied by a large increase of population, but by co-operative marketing and improved methods of production. The depopulation of agricultural districts is the result of economic forces and Maritime Provinces with no large urban centres would not find satisfactory markets for increased produce.

Miss Flemming, last speaker for the affirmative, who treated the practical side of immigration was very effective. She quoted the opinion of several authorities that financial trends were on the uplift, and emphasized the necessity of our preparing for the good times by stocking up the country with desirable immigrants. The exodus from our country was due to lack of initiative and poor methods of farming. Miss Flemming expressed the conviction that movements for Maritime Rights would result in some very tangible benefits which coupled up with a vigorous immigration policy, would open up a new era for the Maritime Provinces.

Miss MacMahon, third speaker for Acadia, in what was probably the best speech of the evening, took up the question of our geographic position and its relation to trade and commerce. Tagged as we are onto the northeast corner of North America, our position does not warrant agricultural expansion on a large scale. We are cut off from trade with the States by a high tariff, from upper Canada by high freight rates, and increased production concomitant with increased population, would mean the flooding of markets and a lower standard of living. Miss MacMahon presented her arguments in a logical and convincing manner.

In rebuttal Miss True, of Acadia, was particularly thorough and consistent. While Miss Friel, of Mt. St. Bernard's, employed advantageously the position of last speaker, the debate was not won on rebuttal.

The Acadia debaters handled the more difficult side of the subject in a masterly and convincing manner, excelled in presentation and although not capturing the decision were by no means out-classed.

Columbiana County Motor Club, Ohio; Elgin Motor Club, Illinois; South State Motor Club, Indiana; Wisconsin State Motorists Association, Milwaukee; Montreal Tourist and Convention Bureau; Ontario Motor League, Toronto; Mississippi Motor Club; Automobile Club of Kansas City, Missouri; Quebec Tourist Association, Montreal.

Strong efforts are being made by the Publicity Bureau to secure similar broadcasting from other auto clubs and radio stations, and indications point to further successes in this direction.

LONDON DAILY HALTED ITS PRESSES

Special Edition of One Copy was Issued for Lord Curzon, but He Never Read It

LONDON, March 20.—There is a story behind Marquis Curzon's death this morning that is probably without precedent in British journalism. For days the statesman has been lying on his sick bed fully conscious. Every morning he appealed for his favorite newspaper and every morning his physicians, fearful of the effect their own published bulletins recording the gravity of his illness might have on their patient, were forced to refuse his request.

Yesterday it was seen he had entered the last phase of his heroic struggle with death. The physicians, searching for every possible means to buoy up the dying Marquis, appealed to the paper in question.

It is not usual for a great London daily to be willing to halt its presses but the Editors replied that they would issue a special edition of one copy announcing Lord Curzon's recovery.

And so, while Lord Curzon's life was slowly fading, this special "beside edition" was North Grand Pre, where he died.

But almost at the moment the huge presses had turned out their message of encouragement the end came. The one copy edition was never read by the one for whom it was published.

[MRS.] ALBERT MITCHELL

The death of Mrs. Albert Mitchell occurred at Hantsport, where she was spending the winter, on Thursday of last week. Before her marriage to Mr. Mitchell she was Miss Marietta Palmer, daughter of the late Sanford Palmer, of North Grand Pre, where her long life of eighty-two years was spent. She was the last surviving member of a family, the members of which were well known and highly esteemed. A representative of a generation that is now gone, Mrs. Mitchell is remembered by her sterling qualities and kindly manner. The remains were brought to Wolfville on Saturday last and interred in the family lot in Willow Bank Cemetery.

BANQUET FOR MISSION BAND

Mrs. Edward L. Gould entertained the Mission Band of the United Church of St. Andrew last Saturday evening. At 5:30 p.m. a dinner was served, during which part of the High School orchestra played very delightfully. Place cards, hand-painted and excellently executed, were made for each one by Lawrence Robinson. After the dinner came toasts, the Rev. Dr. B. Hemmeon being toastmaster. The guests proposed and responded to the toasts with an ease and grace scarcely looked for in children. Later came games and songs and at eight o'clock the children trooped off to their homes.

ONE STAR DIFFERETH FROM ANOTHER

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN:—While our own Mr. Seely, M. P., is reported as informing his constituents that conditions in the colliery district of Cape Breton are not nearly so bad as they are said to be, Miss Agnes MacPhail, Progressive M.P., and the only lady representative in the Canadian House of Commons, who made a trip recently to Cape Breton in order that she might correctly acquaint herself with the facts, has said that she found conditions "much worse than" she had expected to find or thought could exist.

Was the Sanscrit name for sugar. In the Prakrit tongue this became Saklara, in the Persian Shakar, in the Arabic Sukkar, in the French Sucre.

Sugar was imported in tiny lots to Europe from Asia before Christ, but for many centuries later was used mostly as a medicine. Even a hundred years ago the per capita consumption in America was only five or six pounds, where today we use nearly 100.

LOCAL BASKETERS LOSE TO U. N. B.

New Brunswick Team Thus Wins Intercollegiate Championship

The University of New Brunswick basketball team clinched the intercollegiate title when they defeated the Acadia squad by a 50 to 31 score in a hard fought game last evening in Memorial Gymnasium. The visitors out-classed the locals in all departments of the game, their guarding and shooting being much better than that of Acadia. Seely, Donahue and Fraser starred for the New Brunswickers, while Davidson and O. Noble were about the class of the Acadia team.

In the first half the teams were about evenly matched and produced some brilliant plays. Acadia started out fast by gaining an early lead, but U.N.B. made a comeback in the last few minutes of the session and brought the score to a tie at 20-20. Donahue was the pick of the visitors, and about the best player on the floor. In the second session the visitors had it all over the locals, scoring thirty points, while the best the locals could do was to cage the ball for five baskets and one penalty during the second half. Seely starred for U.N.B. in this session, scoring many points by brilliant shooting. Donahue led the scorers with 17 points to his credit. Fraser scored 16 and Seely one point less. Cox, formerly of the star Truro team, last year's Nova Scotia champion, was the star of the Acadia team, netting 13 points. Roy Willett refereed. The players and points:

U.N.B.—Seely, 15; Fraser, 16; Donahue, 17; McPhail, 1; Scovill, 1.

Acadia—Cox, 13; Davidson, 9; A. Noble, 3; Elderkin, Moffatt and Boutiller.

COACH IN SPARE TIME HAS HOCKEY WINNER

Bars Pilots Michigan to the Western Title

(From the Detroit Free Press)

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 7th.—For three years J. Ernest Bars' avocation has been hockey, and in spare hours away from his medical studies he coached the University of Michigan varsity team. Preceding his taking up his studies here, Bars was a hockey star at Acadia University, Nova Scotia. He became the first varsity coach at Michigan in 1922. For two years the Michigan teams made only a fair showing in the Western Intercollegiate league, but this year, while Bars is an intern in University Hospital here and completing his medical studies, the Michigan team took the Western championship, winning all games from both Wisconsin and Minnesota. This is more creditable from the fact that the team was handicapped by partial burning of the rink and mild weather, which interfered with practice.

THE WARRENS OF VIRGINIA

Some of the most realistic war scenes ever filmed appear in "The Warrens of Virginia", a William Fox production which was made under the direction of Elmer Clifton. The film version is made from the well known Belasco play and deals with the closing days of the Civil War.

All the war scenes were made at Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas, the largest military reservation in the United States. Only regular army officers and men were used.

To insure military accuracy in every detail, Mr. Clifton was assisted by Col. H. O. Van Horn of the 9th Infantry U.S.A., who was assigned to him through the courtesy of the War Department.

Seven thousand soldiers comprising all branches of the service, four hundred supply wagons, sixteen hundred mules and five thousand horses are used in the big scenes.

"The Warrens of Virginia" shows at the Orpheum next Monday and Tuesday.

THE MINAS BASIN STEAMER

The delegation from the Parrsboro Board of Trade, which recently waited upon the authorities of the C.P.R. and representatives of the government at Montreal and Ottawa respecting the continuance of the Minas Basin steambot service, have returned home and report satisfactory progress. Mr. Grant Hall, Eastern Vice President of the C.P.R., told them that the railway was prepared to put on a steamer in place of the "Prince Albert" of a capacity great enough to carry eight automobiles and one hundred and fifty passengers if a subsidy of $5000 was granted. Mr. Geo. E. Graham has been directed to confer with the shipbuilders of Parrsboro with a view to having a boat constructed there in case the government grants the subsidy. On Saturday the delegation conferred with the Minister of Trade and Commerce, who assented to the proposal and promised to bring the matter before parliament.

MISS AGNES MCPHAIL, M.P.

Miss Agnes McPhail, M.P., arrived in Sydney Tuesday morning from Ottawa for the purpose of getting first hand knowledge of the conditions in Cape Breton so as to be in a position to discuss them intelligently in the House or on the platform. She states that she found conditions much worse than she had expected to find or thought could exist.

ACADIA GIRLS WIN MARITIME TITLE

Defeated Dalhousie in Final Game of Basketball Series Last Saturday

In a closely contested game of basketball at the Memorial Gymnasium last Saturday afternoon the Acadia girls won from the fast Dalhousie team by the score of 36 to 15.

The Dalhousie girls showed great shooting ability, but they could not break up Acadia's passing and combination. Jean McLaughlin starred for the Acadia girls, scoring 15 points while Dalhousie's best scorer was Campbell with 12 points.

This win gave the Maritime Championship to the Acadia girls who have gone through the season without losing a game, winning six games in all.

The first half started out with Dalhousie working hard, but Acadia took the ball in some very pretty combination playing and scoring 15 points while Dalhousie rolled up the total of 7. Acadia showed up better in the second half and got 21 points, Dal making 8. The final score stood 36-15 for Acadia.

Willard Cox, of Truro, refereed.

The line-up:
Acadia—J. McLaughlin 24, A. Doherly 12, P. Colbath, H. Lawson, C. Chipman, B. Smith, M. Currie, I. Vogler.

Dalhousie—M. Campbell 7, A. Clarke 4, M. Thompson 4, M. Borden, M. Kennedy, E. Barnstead, H. Roberts, B. Freeman, A. Atherton.

INFORMATION WANTED REGARDING FINANCIAL CONDITION OF TOWN

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN

Dear Sir,—A constant reader of your newsy paper I am always interested in its weekly budget, and want to congratulate you especially for the attention given to the reporting of town matters. I believe it to be the duty of every good citizen to keep in close touch with civic affairs, and that only by so doing may citizens expect to have public affairs properly looked after. The report of Wolfville's financial condition at the end of 1924, as it appeared in a recent issue, occupied considerable space, but to the ratepayer who is not an expert accountant gave little information. After reading the figures carefully, I confess to a decidedly uncertain knowledge of the exact standing of the town. Would it not be possible to give this information in a concise form so that the "way-faring man" might be able to take it in. In your Hantsport department, which, by the way, I regard as a decided mark of enterprise, you well as an interesting feature of your publications, the financial statement of that evidently well conducted town was recently given in a manner which must have pleased the citizens of that place. Of course, no one could expect very much in the way of expert accounting in a little town where the total salaries amounted to under a thousand dollars, and yet I venture to say no one could fail from reading the financial report as presented without getting a pretty good understanding of conditions.

IGNORAMUS

30 YEARS AGO

The following items of interest are taken from the files of THE ACADIAN of March 29, 1895:

Spring has really come. During the past week the snow has disappeared rapidly and will soon be gone if the present weather continues.

"The vote on incorporation in Hantsport on Tuesday resulted in favor by a majority of 13."

"The Dominion Atlantic Railway has taken over the parcel express business on its line, and as a result the rates are more moderate than formerly. A parcel weighing not more than twenty-five pounds can now be sent the whole length of the line for twenty-five cents."

Yellow sugar was advertised at 30 pounds for $1.00; and men's felt hats from 75 cents to $3.00.

He (ardently)—"Have you never met a man whose touch seemed to thrill every fibre of your being?"
She—"Oh, yes, once—a dentist."

The average time that a bee spends away from the hive is from five to seven minutes.

Editorial

Our pulpits are our work clothes. Each of us live some kind of a sermon every day.

GET READY FOR COLLEGE CLOSING

UNUSUAL interest will centre in Acadia's closing exercises which will be in progress now in the course of a few weeks. Always an important event in Wolfville it will this year assume even greater proportions because of the opening of the new building and the consequent increased number of the friends of the university who are expected to be in attendance. The college authorities already have extensive plans under preparation. There will be reunions of all the classes hitherto sent out, and it is expected that many who have not before returned to participate in the commencement exercises of their alma mater will this year be present to take part.

Wolfville will be thronged with visitors and the town authorities and citizens generally should be making ready for the event. Our town should then be looking at its best in order to create a good impression among the visitors, many of whom will return after many years of absence. In view of these circumstances there is greater need than ever this spring for an active campaign of improvement on the part of all our people, and an organized forward movement along that line should be at once set in progress. In the natural course the regular spring clean-up will soon take place. Let it be on a bigger scale than usual and include everything that can be done in the way of private and community effort to make our town bright, clean and attractive.

LAW OBSERVANCE

EVIDENCE is not wanting that at the present time there is a disposition on the part of many to look upon the observance of law as a rather unnecessary duty, and to regard those who think differently as rather restricted in their views. Not only is this apparent in the matter of town ordinances but also in provincial and federal laws, all of which in these days appear to be mostly conspicuous in their non-enforcement. Rum-running, smuggling and even highway robbery are not infrequent incidents of our daily news, while minor offences are exceedingly common. This condition furnishes food for thought on the part of well inclined people and deserves more attention on the part of all who stand for right living. It should be realized that most of our laws are based upon common sense and are intended not to curtail our liberty but to promote the safety of life and property and the maintenance of those things which have cost much and tend to individual and community well being.

Whatever may be our attitude towards them we are encompassed on every hand by laws which we cannot afford to ignore. This is a well ordered world in which we find ourselves, and the violation of any of the laws which govern it cannot fail in the long run to work for our hurt, rather than for our good.

NO PLACE FOR CHILDREN

THAT Wolfville is becoming more and more a popular place of residence is most gratifying, but it avails little to our profit if would-be desirable residents are not able to secure houses in which to accommodate their families. During the past winter there have been a number of people whose coming to Wolfville would add materially to our citizenship who have been prevented from locating here because of their inability to procure suitable housing facilities. It is too bad that such a condition should obtain and some action should be taken towards solving the problem which it creates.

In one or two cases those who have houses to rent have objected to tenants who had children in the family, even after a guarantee to make good any damage that might result from the juvenile members of the family had been tendered. Surely the time has not come when as a community we have no place for children.

To extend a glad hand to a class that is willing to pay exorbitant rent for a habitation which is scarcely fit to live in, and which eventually furnishes the most of those who become claimants upon the town's charity, and make no provision whatever for the accommodation of those who cannot fail to become good citizens, appears to us as rather an unwise policy.

A DEFINITE LIFE WORK

THOUSANDS of lives have been saved from ruin by a definite work in life; others have been wrecked for want of it.

Boys and girls should choose for themselves a life work they will enjoy. Nothing will prepare them better for the coming years than a good wisely chosen work, whether for wages or for the love of doing it.

They should be proud of the gifts which enable them to win their own way when their efforts have straightened themselves to any task they may undertake. Their time is not wasted. There is always something with which to fill up the spare hours of a person who has an aim in life.

"Our time," said Sir Walter Scott, "is like our money. When we change a dollar, our dimes escape as a thing of small account; when we break a day by idleness in the morning, the rest of the hours lose their importance in our eyes." Idle hours are temptations, but idle years are worse.

The real wages of good work are not made at a mint.

THE INDISPENSABLE NEWSPAPER

ALL FORMS of advertising have been used successfully by utility companies but the one who has proved indispensable is the newspaper," says one who knows. "First of all it has circulation. A single newspaper will often cover from 60 to 80 per cent. of the homes in its territory. Advertising space in that paper will give much greater return per dollar invested than will any other form of advertising on which postage is spent.

"Secondly, people are accustomed to reading the newspaper. It is not difficult to get their attention, as in the case of the circular letter, the booklet and other forms of direct by mail advertising. Third, and best of all, it is timely. The advertiser is able to appeal to his audience by frequent advertisements.

"By all means use the different forms of advertising, the principal item of which should be the weekly, but use them to round out your newspaper advertising. But the newspaper is the one that is indispensable."

HORNSBY THE GREAT

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis Cardinals' second baseman, who has led the National League in batting for five years, and who last season established a record for modern baseball with an average of .424, has signed a renewal contract for three years calling for a salary somewhere between $20,000 and $25,000 per year, according to an official report. His former contract was reported to have been for about $17,500, and it is not to be wondered at that he should "request" a larger share of the gate receipts. He is one of the greatest batters, if not the greatest, in baseball.

SPLENDID ADVICE FOR OUR MERCHANTS

Following is a letter that appeared in a Western newspaper, written by one of its readers. There is information in it for merchants: "Your paper is always boosting that home town buying is the right thing, for if everybody bought away we would not have a town very long. In your editorial of a week or two ago you said there would be less buying from catalogues if every merchant would advertise, because it is advertising that keeps the catalogue men going. Well, I believe that's right, too, but one thing I would like to see all the local merchants do—and there are more who think the same—and that is for them to print the prices as much as they can in their advertising. And I also think that if the prices are going up they should say so and tell why, if they know. These times we all have to bite our nickles—or most of us—and we certainly don't like the idea of prices going up on staples particularly, and not a word about it till you reach the store. I am not an advertising expert, but I know what I would like to see in my local paper along that line, and that is a lot of genuine information about goods and prices every week. Then we would feel better and if we found we were being fairly treated there would be less sending away. I hear this talked about a lot, so I thought I would write you."

They Had No Banks
IN pioneer days the general merchant often kept the money of his customers for them—there were no banks. Buying and selling were largely by barter only.
The coming of the branch bank filled an important need in every community, and today the wise farmer, business man or private individual keeps his money in the bank and makes full use of the many services it has to offer.

HANTSPORT HAPPENINGS

On Sunday afternoon Mr. Ambrose, of the Episcopal denomination, representing the British and Foreign Bible Society, gave a very interesting address in the Methodist church. This society alone has distributed over 9,000,000 copies of the Bible.

Cash contributions for the new school building are still coming in. A former pupil, Mrs. J. Forsythe Smith (nee Madge Cochrane), of Liverpool, England, recently sent a contribution of $18.00.

The McLellan brothers, of U.S.A., have also made a generous donation. The Lambda Sigma Society, who are working zealously, are to be congratulated.

The Hantsport Women's Institute shipped a large packing case by Monday's freight to Mayor Morrison, Glace Bay, for the Sydney relief. The town co-operated very generously with the Institute in their generous donation of clothing, bedding, etc.

Mrs. R. W. Churchill, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Armstrong, St. John, returned home on Thursday.

A most enjoyable supper and entertainment was given in the vestry of the Baptist church on Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Baptist choir and Sewing Circle.

Miss Stella Taylor, teacher at North Grand Pre, spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Capt. and Mrs. R. Taylor. She had for her guest for the week end Miss Moody, of Wallace, Cumberland County.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Harvie are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

Mrs. Ross, of Middleton, is the guest of Mrs. J. W. Churchill, The Cedars.

Mrs. (Capt.) Barkhouse was conveyed to Halifax on Monday, where she will be patient at the Infirmary.

Mr. T. Riley is seriously ill at his home here. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Conrad and Master Lawson Conrad returned to Hantsport on Saturday, after spending the winter in Detroit, Mich., where they were visiting their son, Cecil Conrad.

Mr. George Kewley, commercial traveller, spent Sunday with his family here.

Mrs. F. W. Porter returned to Hantsport recently from Lakeville, Kings county, where she was attending the funeral of her mother, Mrs. R. S. Parish.

The S. S. Rotundus made her initial trip for the season on Monday. This is much earlier than previous years.

Miss Josephine Allen is visiting relatives in Kentville.

The Hantsport Maples and the I.V.C. team played the game of a series of basketball games on Saturday evening, which resulted in a victory for the Maples.

Master George Pearson had the misfortune of badly mutilating his hand, while cutting wood on Thursday afternoon.

The many friends of Mr. Norman Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Smith, who went to Los Angeles something over a year ago, will be interested to learn of his recent promotion. Since going to California Mr. Smith has been taking a business course. He has also been in the employ of the Southern Pacific Railway.

Several weeks ago he received the appointment of secretary to the District and passenger agent at Santa Barbara. We congratulate Norman on his recent promotion.

Among last week's hostesses were Mrs. C. C. Yeaton, who entertained the Lambda Sigma Society on St. Patrick's night; Mrs. A. Houghton, who was hostess to the "XII's" on Friday evening and Mrs. Albert Lawrence, who entertained at a "bridge" on Friday evening.

Messrs. E. L. Gertridge and J. M. Hancock, Hantsport, left early last week for Alberta on a business trip.

Capt. Geo. L. Holmes, a former resident of Hantsport, is seriously ill with pneumonia at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. W. Clark, in Kentville.

Miss N. Francis, R.N., is on professional duty at the home of Mrs. Blois, Oak Hill. Mrs. Blois' many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Work started last week in the Hantsport Fruit Basket Company's mill, and the co-operation of Mr. Haverstock on Tannery Road is doing business on a large scale, having received an order for immediate foreign shipment. Another company in town is filling an order for one thousand bows and arrows to be sent to Calgary, where they will be used as part of a celebration equipment on July 1st, next.

MRS. MARIETTA MITCHELL

The demise of Mrs. Marietta Mitchell, of North Grand Pre, took place on Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. K. Allen, following an illness of several weeks duration. The deceased had spent several years in Hantsport and made many friends while here. Her husband predeceased her a number of years. The funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Whitman, of Windsor. The remains were conveyed to Wolfville for interment.

ROSAMUND DELANEY

The sad intelligence was received by relatives here of the death of Rosamund Delaney, daughter of Mrs. Irene Delaney, of New York, formerly of Hantsport. Rosamund, who was a very lovable child, had resided in Hantsport until about two years ago, when she with her brother joined their mother in New York. Besides her mother, she is survived by one brother William, of New York, and her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Woolaver, of Hantsport, who have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

DIARY OF MARGARET D. MICHENER

Sept. 26th, 1880. I preserved my plums on Maria's stove this morning. There are great times now among the neighbors making their preserves; fruit is very plentiful this fall. We have had a lovely month, warm for the season; tonight is cool enough for a little fire. I have been spending this evening with Mary.

27th. Maria came in this evening and we have been taking turns reading aloud from a book called "The Young Emigrant"; it is about two families who moved to Ohio. It shows how many difficulties the first settlers have to encounter in a new country. It is quite late now so we must retire.

28th. It rained quite hard last night, but cleared away in time, so when my work was done I went up to father's, John and Ann drove over to Dr. Brown's to get some teeth out, and John had to have his face laced.

29th. Some of the S. School teachers were absent today. N. Elder went over to Horton with Thomas, who came home on Friday evening, having been away over two years; he is going away again on Friday. The S. S. lesson my class had today was the parables. I had Nancy Elder's class also. As I was going out into the porch after school I was told to look behind the door; upon doing so, I got a very pleasant surprise, as there stood my friend Rebecca. I soon took her in tow and we walked with Ruth up to Marcia's. In the evening we went to meeting and heard Rev. Hall preach. He had walked down from Windsor, and preached twice there before he left.

30th. This has been a beautiful day, clear and cool. I had my school in the kitchen today, as that was the only place I have a fire yet. Mr. Hall is to preach this evening so we will go to hear him.

Oct. 1st. Heard a fine sermon last night from the text, "Behold the Lamb of God", etc. It came home pretty close; it was a lesson on living and daily faith in God.

Oct. 2nd. How changed are all my prospects! What shall I write? I know not what to do or say. My beloved Simeon is no more! Can it be possible I will not see him again, or hear his sweet voice? I went to Mary's last night to wait till the mail would come in. Ezra went over and returned with three letters. I got a light and saw two letters were for Maria. It was with fear and trembling I read my letter from Simeon; he was in quite good spirits when he wrote, although he was not very well. I found Curry had received Maria's letter but Simeon did not get mine. I read my letter to Mary and Ann, and then in haste went up to Marcia's where Maria was. The road never seemed so long before; I could not go fast enough. At last I gave her the letters, wishing yet dreading to know the contents. I told her to read the latest one first. I arose ready to start at the news she looked; I saw her drop the letter and I went into the bedroom as I wished to hear no more. I knew Simeon was dead yet dared not ask.

WHAT'S WHAT'S THIS?

The cross word puzzle habit had no sooner started to sweep over England before an enterprising shoe manufacturer came along with this latest novelty in footwear. The "Cross-Word" boot. Oh yes, you can get socks or stockings to match.

MAKE THE BEST OF THINGS

With me it was not always so; For when my thoughts I backward wing, Enough, I own, I did not know. To make the best of everything.

If things did not go as they should, I used to scold till I was hoarse; But I have found it does no good, So I have wholly changed my course.

And often I would loud complain When minor matters went askew; But nothing by this did I gain; Now I a different way pursue.

I used to think I could control Most things with which I had to do; But I have freer ground of soul Since I have proved this is not true.

We try to shape things, sometimes may; Yet I much time in thought have spent; Now I feel bold, and free to say We often fail in our intent.

Conflicting interests we meet, And each one at the other springs; So let us keep our tempers sweet, And try to make the best of things.

And should we fail, when we have tried To mould things by our hand or will, It might be wise to step aside And let another try his skill.

This is a queer old world, somehow, Yet each one of us to it clings; So let us to it Mrdates bow, And try to make the best of things.

WHO BENEFITS FROM COAL STRIKES?

(From the Financial Post.) The Maritime coal fields are facing the prospect of an immediate strike. A wage reduction is proposed. That a lowering of costs is necessary is evidenced by the report this week that United States coal is entering the Maritime market and selling in Prince Edward Island $2 less than the Nova Scotia mines can lay it down. At the same time the Alberta mines are losing part of their Winnipeg market to the United States coal, the latter underselling Alberta mines by $3. The main reason the Alberta coal costs are so high is that the companies must pay high wages and have not yet recovered from a disastrous strike which lasted the best part of 1924.

In the Alberta case last year, in the Maritime strike about a year ago when the troops were called in, and during the present Maritime negotiations, the spirit of give and take, consideration for the future of the industry or the country at large, has been and is conspicuous by its absence. The refusal of the U.M.W. leaders to meet the operating heads or allow others to mediate for them seemed to indicate that they were more concerned with keeping the mines closed than with producing coal.

The coal industry in Canada has been retarded by strikes more than anything else. As General Manager Wilson, of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., told his men, they lost $2,000,000 in wages in the last 10 years through strikes. This fact convinced these workers that they were being made tools of and to the disgust of the agitators and union leaders, they cast all restraint aside, overthrew the union and went back to work.

Under all the circumstances the growing suspicion that labor troubles in Canadian mines are being engineered for the purpose of keeping up production costs and insuring a market for American coal is not a surprise for surprise. Nor does it seem likely that the supply of coal coming to our markets would be interfered with in the event of our placing restrictions on exports of our raw materials to insure a better market for the manufactured products thereof.

Business men, also, should learn to keep their head up in the air, when discussing their business affairs, especially with strangers. Most of them are victims of circumstances, and many people are in a certain line of business, not because they chose it for themselves but for the reason that certain circumstances over which they had no control forced them into it. But why complain? Every business man or laborer should become imbued with the thought that his particular business or occupation is the best on earth. It may be true; but the thought will enable him to make a better success of it than if he goes around down in the mouth and continually complains of his hard luck. Youth may change from one calling to another with possibly no bad results, but the man of mature years is well advised to stick with what he has. He hasn't the years ahead of him to experiment. Business men and others cannot expect the general public to show respect for their calling if they have none for themselves. Keep your head up.

A dollar doesn't go far, says a contemporary, but at that it goes too far for some folks to get it.

FORECASTS BETTER BUSINESS

TORONTO, Ont.—That Canada is on the verge of a trade boom which may last until the end of this year, was the statement made by Richard Conway, vice-president of the Brookmire Forecasting Service of New York, when interviewed here recently. The two main factors responsible for the upswing of Canadian and American business, he said, are the foreign markets which are now open, and the grains of the past year.

ON THE USE OF DROPS IN THE EYES

Certain incorrect and misleading statements concerning the use of drops in the eyes for the purpose of examining or testing eyesight have appeared in the public press from time to time. The following statement has been prepared by the undersigned, licensed physicians, specializing in the treatment of the eye both in disease and health, solely for the purpose of putting the truth of the matter before the public. ONLY LICENSED PHYSICIANS ARE PERMITTED TO USE DROPS IN THE EXAMINATION OF THE EYES. THESE DROPS IN THE HANDS OF QUALIFIED PEOPLE ARE ENTIRELY HARMLESS. Moreover, the use of drops is considered necessary in the majority of cases for refraction of the eyes and invariably so in the case of children and young people, by all Oculists, Medical Schools and Hospitals. Among Oculists and in Eye Hospitals the world over no instruments have been devised to supplant the use of these drops, but modern instruments are used in conjunction with the drops. H. V. Sturckbury, of the Alberta Trade Commission has advised Hamilton civic officials, that negotiations have been almost completed whereby the rate for Alberta coal to this province will be $6.50 per ton. With this freight rate local dealers stated yesterday that the western coal could be sold to consumers in Ontario at from $12.00 to $12.50 a ton.

ATHLETICS A FINANCIAL ASSET

A community does not always realize the value of publicity—particularly that obtained through the achievements of its athletes. It is, therefore, of interest to note the statement of Charles E. Mitchell, President of the National City Bank, New York, that it was because of the remarkable showing of the Finnish teams captained by Nurmi, at the Olympic games, that he sponsored 3 loans to Finland. His reasoning was that "a people stalwart enough to produce a pair of legs like Nurmi's would make good use of the money, and be able to pay off the debt when it fell due". As one writer puts it: "Nurmi's legs have put Finland on its feet".

The town sprinkler was out for the first time this season yesterday morning. The S. S. "Glenholm" made its first trip of the season to Wolfville on Monday.

Master Robert Stevens brought to this office last Friday a butterfly which he had found the previous day. Surely Spring is here.

It is stated that the roads are in excellent condition for the time of year. One motorist tells us that they are no muddier than they would be after a heavy rain in summer.

The new Chevrolet cars have been received at the Valley Garage and are on exhibition. They are beauties and well worth an inspection on the part of prospective purchasers. See the adv. in our next issue.

March, which is now nearing its close, has been a most remarkable one. Spring weather has prevailed during practically the entire month, and the season at present appears to be several weeks in advance of what is often experienced at this season.

The photoplay production of "Chu-Chin-Chow" which was shown at the Orpheum Theatre last night, and will be again shown tonight, was most spectacular and was greatly admired by the large number present. The acting was splendid and the scenes most elaborate. If you did not see it last night do not fail to go tonight.

The erection of a new office building has been begun on a site facing the railway by Mr. J. H. Baltzer. In it will be office accommodation for the Valley Real Estate Agency, Mr. C. H. Wright, as well as for Mr. Baltzer himself. Work is being rapidly pushed forward and it is expected that the new structure will soon be ready for occupancy.

The death of Mrs. Theodore Davison took place at her home at Wallbrook on Thursday last, after a brief illness of pneumonia. The deceased was a daughter of the late Abraham Lyman, of Grand Pre, and was highly esteemed by many friends. She is survived by her husband, four sons and one daughter. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, interment being in the cemetery at Gasperau.

Rev. David Wright, a former highly esteemed minister of St. Andrew's church, this town, has been obliged on account of ill health to resign his charge at Blue Mountain, Pictou county. At the meeting of the Pictou Presbytery recently held at New Glasgow, representatives of the congregation spoke of the fine service rendered by Rev. Mr. Wright during his pastorate, of their warm attachment to him and their regret that ill health prevented him from continuing as their minister.

Mr. J. Elliot Smith, representative of the London fruit dealers, Gerald Da Costa & Co., has received a cable which gives the following prices received for late shipment of apples: Nonpareils: No. 1, 27s. to 30s.; No. 2, 24s.; No. 3, 18s. to 20s.; Domestic, 21s. to 24s. American barreled Hudson River Newtown Pippins sold as high as 50s., and Gano from the same section sold for 30s. Boxes of American Winesap sold for from 15s. to 16s. for fancy, and 16s. to 17s. for extra fancy.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, the one woman member of the Canadian House of Commons, is justifying her presence by introducing legislation which is really of a progressive and business-like character. Miss MacPhail's resolution is in connection with prisoners confined to the penitentiaries of this country, for whom she asks that sufficient productive work should be provided to keep them steadily employed. A share of the proceeds derived from their labor she proposes shall go towards the maintenance of dependents and in case of no dependents such shall be held in trust until the prisoner is released. Leading members of the house in all the political parties have promised support to this measure which, it is to be hoped, will eventually be put into practical operation.

NEWSPAPERSPACE

(From the Pictou Advocate) For lack of thought, chiefly, many people are of the opinion that a newspaper should give freely of its space to any and every cause or scheme, public or private. They do not realize that a newspaper has but two sources of income—subscriptions and advertising—and that the largest of these must be advertising.

If a newspaper gives its space for nothing it is doing exactly the same thing as a merchant giving the goods off his counters for nothing—exactly the same—and the result is inevitable in both cases—failure of the merchant, failure of the newspaper.

A good newspaper is one of the greatest assets a community can have. From the very nature of its business it renders more public service than any other private business, and the better newspaper it is, the better service it renders. Without any desire to boost or boast it may be stated that The Pictou Advocate is, and long has been recognized as, one of the best town weekly newspapers in all Canada. To maintain that position, to continue to be of the great help it has been to its community it must be paid for its space where that space is used for the benefit of the business of others.

The foregoing remarks may seem trite to the average business man, but they are apropos at the moment in view of the apparent belief of some people—founded on lack of knowledge—that we are under obligation to give of our space to anyone who has the nerve to ask for it. Some of these people who are so generous in stating that the Advocate should do this or that for nothing would close up like a clam and be vastly indignant if they or theirs were asked to give for nothing the goods they deal in or the money equivalent thereof.

PRIZE WINNER WAS OF NOVA SCOTIAN DESCENT

Recently a prize of a gold medal for the best essay on Lincoln was announced by the principal of Anna Head School, Berkeley, Cal. A total of 125 essays were submitted and the judges unanimously awarded the prize to Eleanor Burgess, 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Burgess, and granddaughter of Rev. Joshua Burgess, formerly of Sheffield Mills, this county. The poem, which is entitled "On Looking at Lincoln's Portrait", is as follows:

What are you thinking, lonely, sad-faced man? Why are your eyes so full of unshed tears? You seem to bear upon your stooping back The untold sorrow of a thousand years.

Your face is rugged as a sea-lashed cliff, That, beaten ceaselessly by stormy waves, Stands firm and proud against their wearing might, And all their rabid, white-fanged anger braves.

You look as though your thoughts were far away; Perhaps they have returned—so sad your eyes— To Indiana's backwoods, lingering Above the grave where Nancy Lincoln lies.

Or do you still behold the sweet white face Of fair Anne Rutledge, as she smiles at you From out the silver mist of memory Eternally patient and eternally true?

Rejoice, Great Heart! The down-crushed slave you freed, Lives free today and has come into his own; And all the bitterness 'twixt North and South Lies long-forgotten, like a cloak out-grown.

The men who fought for, and by fighting won The mighty principles for which you stood, Have mostly left us, and passed on to you, In the bright' country of the great and good.

They say that Fame is frail as any flower But gratitude for good can never die; We are but born into this little world To struggle, suffer, do our best and die.

You came, the sturdy son of pioneers As rough-hewn as the trees you lived among; You learned and labored nobly and well And always for the right, though you were young.

Do you remember lying on the hearth Before the embers, far into the night, And studying religiously some book, Until the fire died, and left no light?

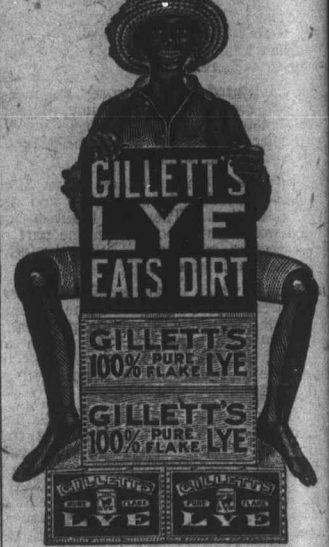

Years afterward you watched the long night through Beside your White House bed, kneeling in prayer, Pleading with God to guide the straying South, And keep America alive and fair.

Those were dark days, when torn by civil strife, Our country tottered on the brink of Hell The people trembled for the roaring guns Resounded fearfully like Freedom's knell.

But you were there to pilot through the storm The sinking ship, and bring her safely home, You guided her into the quiet bay From out the wilderness of raging foam.

There was another bark tossed in the gale, So once again you struggled out to sea, Do you remember still that stormy night— The night when first you saw Eternity?

You, who had saved America from death, Were tired, Oh, so tired, from the strife,

And could not reach again the happy shore To rescue that frail, shattered craft, Your Life.

And so, like Christ, the Carpenter and King, To whose life, yours was strangely parallel, You died at last, and for Humanity, Mailed and blinded, whom you love so well.

Did I say died? Nay, you are no more dead Than Christ eternal; and the world will cry Your praise and glory centuries to come; "Lincoln eternal, who can never die!"

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

(London Daily Express) The idea that any concern can afford not to advertise is essentially wrong, and has been disproved by experience. There is not a business in this country, except that of the governor of a prison, that could not be doubled in volume by skilful advertisement. Even cemeteries have been known to advertise and prosper by it. The trend of the modern age in commercial affairs might be summed up in dictum: "If your business is not worth advertising, advertise it for sale."

Movie Bill just looked at him with a gentle smile.
"You don't really believe, as you said, that he dropped it to have some of us on a string?" Bantling's quizzical smile grew.
"No, I don't really," said Movie Bill, with the frankness of expressions on his lined face. "I was just considering it from all possible standpoints when I said that."
"You're not going to do anything about it yourself, are you?" asked Bantling.
"No. Do anything? I was never much struck on ore prospecting. Horses are where I usually live. A little placer excitement might tempt me away but the once or twice I've gone looking for floats I've spent more of the time fishing." He smiled pleasantly, to Greer's surprise.
"I seemed dangerously," "Thank you for inviting me to come in with you. Nothing doing."
"What are you going to do?" persisted Bantling.
"My great game—I've just been thinking it over all this day, oddly enough—my great game," said Movie Bill, "is solitaire."
His lips closed together rigidly. He looked, then more like Geronimo than anyone Greer could think of. There was a glint in his eyes too, almost as if the pupils were of obsidian.
Greer rose, eager to end the matter that he thought about never having been pushed so far. Bantling followed doubtfully. Then he decidedly spoiled all. He turned back.
"Well," he said, "we've invited you to come in with us, seeing you saw, and seeing that maybe you know more than we do! And now we just advise you to keep out."
Movie Bill said nothing—noting at all. His silence was so pronounced that Bantling waited to see if he had anything to say. No, nothing! He just sat looking at the two men, grim, and otherwise expressionless. All Bantling could do was to turn away with his head still toward Movie Bill, his jaw shot out, his eyes under lids a trifle drooped, meeting Bill's steady gaze in a side-wise fashion of unspoken threat that made Bill's eyes harder still.

handle his horse because of a rage in him at something else. Maybe Piccolo's manner to him had exasperated him more than it might have done had he not, about that time, been somewhat puzzled, as to the course of his life. But Baldy did not suffer because Bantling had infuriated him, above all, by that last side-long passing stare.
"The biggest fun of all," said he, "would be the lone hand, Baldy—the lone hand. It's like me. Solitaire! Fatsome! That's about it for your boss. Yes, sir, Movie Bill will show them."
He swung to the saddle and rode slowly up the bank, then on, toward Colvalli, riding easily as a man conserving himself, quieting himself. But when his hand, thrust in his pocket, encountered the square little butt of his automatic he considered how near he had been to trouble.
"Baldy," said he, "nothing happened in the sense of the smell of powder, but it was surely tense at moments. Here's your master out pondering on the wisdom of never getting tangled up with anything at all. And he rides back surely determined to get tangled, all right. He's in on this. It looks to me as if a good heavy Colt or Webley would be more to the purpose than this little automatic. It's working up that way."
And then he added:
"Well, dang it, this will help me to forget fooling my life away. Baldy, Baldy! We're going prospecting. Say, ain't I the boob? Ain't I the boob like the down-turned lover in the old story books who joins the army and goes killing Pathans and Afghans in the Indian northwest? No siree," he told his horse, "that last look was a challenge. I'm going to find out about these specimens, and I'm going to go look for the mother-love, and we'll call the prospect the Lone Hand."

CHAPTER VIII

Shadowed

Thus Angus MacPherson had no opportunity, either covertly or directly, to interrogate Movie Bill. Haste was the essence of their journey now. He did not see Movie Bill when they set out on the stage to Eagle Bend from Colvalli, for no Movie Bill was among those that clustered, as the way is, to watch its departure.
By the evening Piccolo and old man MacPherson sat in the train that roared through the rock cuts and rumbled over the ties, on the run to Spokane. The Pintsch light glimmered in the roof. Piccolo, sagged in a heap, snored a faint snore like a Hawaiian guitar heard from a distance. The journey was too short for a sleeping berth and too long for comfort in the Pullman. What weary attitudes! Angus MacPherson sat bunched up, and the shadow of his hat brim and of his bushy brows made it hard to tell if he slept or not. True, his head was pressed upon his chest, but he looked, to the gaze of the perambulating conductor in the aisle, more like one patient than asleep.
He was more than patient; he was wide awake; the brain part of him was all alive. His body rested, but his mind toyed with possibilities. He was memorizing all the faces in the coach. He had mental note of all who had boarded the train at Eagle Bend, whether in that coach or another.
One face that he had seen before came glimmering down the aisle. Drought seemed to weary that restless all-night stroller in the coach. He had lurched, bored and tousled-looking, thrice in an hour to the tank at the car end for a drink. He strolled along looking down at the sleeping faces, and twisted attitudes. He paused beside Angus, and nodded. Angus merely looked up under shaggy brows without moving.
"Going to the Fair at Spokane?" the man enquired.
"How's that?" asked Angus, for time to think.
"Going to the Spring Fair at Spokane?" repeated the man whom Angus knew but by sight.
"Fine!" said Angus. "I hope ye have a good time."

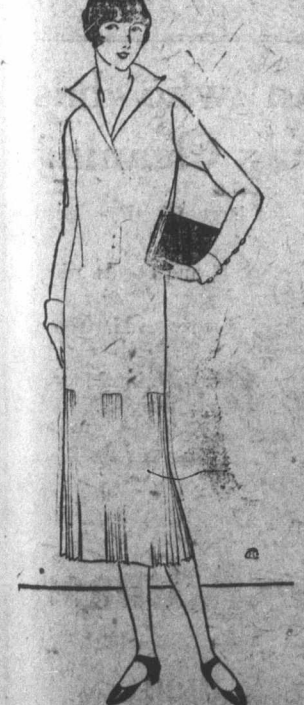

HIGHWAY NOTICE

Closing of Roads

The attention of the public is respectfully called to an Act to amend Chapter 77 of the Revised Statutes of 1923 of "The Load of Vehicles Act", passed the 9th day of April, 1924, A.D.
Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and Assembly, as follows:
1.—Section 7 of Chapter 77 of the Revised Statutes, 1923, the "Load of Vehicles Act", is repealed and the following substituted therefor:
(1) No person shall operate a motor vehicle that is subject to the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Act on any highway in any municipality after the first day of March and before the first day of June following without the permission of the Superintendent of Highways or any other officer as may be appointed by the Provincial Highways Board for that purpose first had and obtained.
(2) The Provincial Highways Board from time to time in each year may, and is hereby authorized and empowered with the approval of the Minister of Highways, to exempt from the provisions of Sub-section 1 of this section, for the whole or any part of the period between the first day of March and the first day of June following in the year and for which the exemption is granted, every person operating any motor vehicle or a motor vehicle of any particular class that is subject to the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Act, on all highways within any municipality or municipalities which highways in the opinion of the Provincial Highways Board will not be unreasonably damaged by reason of the granting of such exemption.

SPRING KASHA FROCK

LOWES YOUTHFUL LINES

Soft gray kasha is the material used for this very youthful frock designed for Spring wear.
The dress is perfectly straight in the back, while the front width introduces fullness in the modish way, that is by cleverly inserted pleats.
This dress would also be lovely in a dark kasha, or in any of the delicate shades of pastel, which will be equally effective.

The young man looked at him doubtfully, strolled on, had another drink of water and came strolling back. At Angus's elbow he again stopped.
"I meant were you going to the Fair at Spokane," he said, stopping.
"No, sir," replied Angus. And then he added: "I seem to know your face. Have I seen you before?"
"Maybe. I've been around at Placer and Eagle Bend for a spell."
Being interrogated, however, seemed less to his mind than interrogating. He stood erect again, looking along the car each way, sighed and returned to his seat.

"I believe," thought Angus, "I have merely crushed a young gentleman who is tired of his own society. I don't think he is an undesirable in any other sense than that we should have little in common, although he is a kind of loose-jawed, easy-going young rascal. It's none of his business anyhow where I'm going!"

An hour passed, and the thirsty one rose, strolled back again and, possibility to atone, thought Angus, for having asked another's business, announced his own.
"I'm going to take in the Fair and then I think I'll go up to this new Excitement at Kokanee. What's your opinion of Kokanee, sir?"

"I've heard some fine reports of it," replied Angus. "Some may strike it, and others come out poorer than they went in."
The youth mused on that.
"Things are kind of worked out round Placer and Colvalli," he said, "I thought of trying Kokanee. Would you advise one to go?"

"A man that understands mineral-yes, but there's no washing for gold there anywhere, I believe," said Angus. "These creeks up there have all been tried by placer-men long ago."
"You going yourself, sir?"
Angus looked at him thoughtfully.

"I am," he said. "I'm getting auld for such things, but I want to have a visit anyhow, to an Excitement just once more."
"You will prospect?" asked the man.

"I was going to continue to say—whether I do any prospecting or not," Angus went on. "I'm just visiting the Excitement at Kokanee much as you are presumably going to the Spokane Fair, for relaxation. It's a kind of a holiday for me. I may go up into the mountains, or my partner here may do so, or we both may do so. Anyway, we are going to Kokanee where we will stop a spell, look, and listen."
He tucked his head down again, content that if he was inhuman to have snubbed the young man earlier in the evening he had amply atoned. The enquirer went back to his own place, rubbed the glass with his sleeve and shading his eyes from the light within looked out at the night.

Angus considered that if anyone was interested in him in a sinister way that person would not speak to him at all. Those he should look at and memorize were the people who were most invisible, or as if trying to obliterate themselves, with hats over faces. With dawn breaking in the coach, under the influence of the wan spreading light, he thought he was doubtless over-prepared for being watched by whoever it was who had taken the map from the T. T. ranch. That Movie Bill was not on the train he was certain.

"Next stop Spokane!" the conductor chanted, meandering past them.
Piccolo wakened up, said: "Oh, my, I'm stiff!" and rising, urgently rummaged for his grip as though a dread-lest the train should not give him time to alight. He knew nothing of Angus's midnight thoughts, nor of the young man aghast. The possibility that they might be watched never occurred to him. He had given out in Colvalli that he was going to Kokanee with Angus MacPherson, and he was sure that that was enough to put Movie Bill off the scent—that villainous-faced Movie Bill, who had been on the veranda when he returned, and had asked (obviously a bluffer): "Are you looking for something?"

Piccolo had decided that Movie Bill would very likely come to the opinion that these little stones were merely specimens of Kokanee ore that he had had from some one. He was all content that, going out by this route, any damage done to the secrecy of their true quest was amended. He had no faintest notion that he should be reckoning with more than Movie Bill, that it was Mark Bantling who had culled the dropped splinters of rock before the veranda of the Benwell House.

As for Angus, he kept alert enough for two while continuing to seem, in any casual scrutiny, just a stolid and travel-bored elderly gentleman in serviceable non-showy clothes. And indeed in truth Angus had to admit that he had reached an age when train journeys made him cranky. It was with joy he boarded the big white-painted stern-wheeler that lay beside the track at Bonnington Landing, one of that breed of vessels (if one can speak of a breed of vessels) that he had seen in many parts. Spick and span relatives of this one breathe grandly up the Oregon, wake the mountain echoes with their whistles, make Columbia River landings, carry tourists spell-bound under the peaks over Flathead Lake, break the reflections of Kootenay Lake like big swans by day, flare up their two search-light eyes to dusk arrivals, illumining a jetty, a circle of houses, roofs, and a patch of firs. For Angus the romance of reality was aboard these boats. When he mounted the companionway and read the notice: "Lumbermen wearing spiked shoes not allowed on this deck!" an old thrill was revived in his heart. He felt like one going home, although going further from home.

TEN THOUSAND HOMELESS IN TOKIO

Two Thousand Houses Were Destroyed in the Great Conflagration

TOKIO, March 19.—Ten thousand persons were homeless, three hundred injured, twenty missing and 2,000 houses were destroyed in the conflagration that swept over North Eastern Tokio last night, a police check of the situation revealed. A barracks is being constructed to house the homeless and a subscription list headed by the emperor, is providing immediate relief funds.

Starting in a factory at Nappori Junction, the blaze burned its way like wildfire in a southerly direction, consuming wooden homes like so much timber. The conflagration was aided by a fierce gale that made fire fighting difficult.

Scenes incident to the major earthquake and fire at Tokio in 1924 were being repeated today when construction of a large barracks to house victims of the fire was begun.

The burned area was made up of small homes, small factories, schools and temples. Victims rendered homeless were generally poor.

MONCTON, March 20.—Staging wonderful last period rally which fell just one goal shy, St. Francis Xavier lost the Maritime Intercollegiate title to U.N.B. here tonight by a score of 5 to 4. The New Brunswickers scored one goal in the first, while the Xaverians were held scoreless. In the second session U.N.B. added four counters while St. F.X. tallied once. In the final session the Nova Scotian champions came back strong and ran in three counters and held the play around the U.N.B. boys' cage for the better part of the final twenty minutes and only sensational work by Carten saved his team from defeat.

GREENWICH

In a recent issue of a Halifax daily paper we were pleased to read an article on the success of Mrs. Chesley Forsythe, of Bridgetown, who was in charge of the Home Nursing Class there, the whole program of different lessons being successfully completed. Before her marriage Mrs. Forsythe was a successful trained nurse. She is the wife of one of our own boys, who owns a home in Bridgetown and is station agent there. Mrs. Forsythe has many friends here who will be interested.

A number of our residents have subscribed generously to the money fund for the Glace Bay relief.

Mr. Ernest Johnson, our most successful orchardist and vice-president of the N. S. Fruit Growers' Association, recently was one of the speakers at meetings on spraying and dusting orchards at Sheffield Mills, Canning and other places.

Mrs. L. Hutchinson, of Wolfville, spent the day with her friend, Miss Lillian Bishop, last Wednesday.

A number from here attended the play in Wolfville, given in benefit of the I.O.D.E. last Friday evening. Three of our girls had an active part in it. Owing to many who attend our club meetings wishing to go to Wolfville, the League meeting was cancelled for last Friday evening. The week before was "Social night", and thoroughly enjoyed by the large number present, young and old.

A number of new and enjoyable games were introduced, and the generous "casts" also much enjoyed. This week's meeting was usual, and is "Lecture night". Our Honorary President, or a substitute, will give the address. All should be present, as a worthwhile and interesting talk may be expected.

Mrs. Robert Sterling returned to her home with her infant son last Saturday, after over two weeks at Nurse Andrew's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dakin visited friends in Wolfville last Sunday.

The choir of the church here and a number of the S. S. pupils are preparing a nice program for Easter Sunday afternoon. All should enjoy it. The choir leader gave the audience a complete change last Sunday, having a nice selection sung by "just the men" of the choir. It was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Jives and little daughter, wife of the station agent at Centreville, visited her sister, Mrs. Raymond Schofield, on Saturday afternoon. The choir leader gave the audience a complete change last Sunday, having a nice selection sung by "just the men" of the choir. It was greatly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schofield, on Saturday afternoon. The choir leader gave the audience a complete change last Sunday, having a nice selection sung by "just the men" of the choir. It was greatly enjoyed.

Mr. Aleck Pearson, accompanied her sister Annie, who was one of our girls who had a part in the musical play, of Wolfville, over to Canning on Monday evening.

Miss Annie Pearson, we understand, has been accepted for the position as assistant to the Town Clerk of Wolfville.

Mr. John Fenwick went to Halifax on Tuesday morning, where she spent the day.

A SCHOOL GROUNDS COMPETITION

A competition in the ornamental planting of rural school grounds is being inaugurated by the Canadian Horticultural Council. The purpose of the competition is to encourage the planting of such ornamental and hardy shrubs as will not suffer for lack of attention during the vacation period. The abundance of native shrubbery available locally in many parts of the Dominion and the finer things, equally as hardy, obtainable from the nurseries, give encouragement to the Council and the promise of a charming transformation in the school grounds of the country.

The competition, though Dominion-wide, is divided provincially. Nine silver cups have been secured for award one in each province to the rural school accomplishing the greatest degree of beautification in its grounds during the year. The cup will become the property of the school winning it three times, not necessarily in succession. With each cup the Council will also give an award of merit certificate, which may be framed and kept by the school as a permanent record.

To enter the competition the schools are required to submit a photograph of the building and grounds and an application of entry to the chairman of the provincial committee or to Mr. L. F. Burrows, Secretary of the Canadian Horticultural Council at Ottawa. Details of the competition, which will be conducted under the immediate charge of the provincial Department of Education, are available from the Secretary of the Canadian Horticultural Council at Ottawa, or from Prof. Shaw, College of Agriculture, Truro; chairman of the Nova Scotia committee.
