CHAPTER XIX.

At Riverbrook.

It had been hard for Tim to feel contented at the farm after this, and soon after May's recovery from the fever that had felled her trials, Tim disappeared.

About the time that Major Grant returned to Laurel Glade there was quite a stir among the church members at Riverbrook. The old pastor, grown feeble and gray in the service of Christ, had at last declared himself unfit to perform the duties of his office, and asked for his discharge, at the same time recommending to their favorable notice his nephew, Ned Cameron, as one worthy to take his place.

The result was that Ned Cameron received a call to preach on trial at Riverbrook Church and within a stated time he was installed there. May Mellen wept when she heard the announcement, and resolved to absent herself as much as possible from church, rather than meet him as often as she must if she went regularly every Sabbath.

About the second week after Ned Cameron became the pastor of Riverbrook Church he visited the Home Farm in his round of parochial calls. Mr. Mellen had been a member of the church since he was twenty years of age, and the young pastor felt that he could not neglect him, even though it was a cross to meet May, whom he had never spoken with since the time when he had bidden her farewell, believing her to be guilty of great wickedness.

She was in the great west room with her father when he came, and the first intimation she had of his coming was his voice at the door, speaking to the housekeeper, who showed him as once into Mr. Mellen's room, as he asked for that gentleman.

The Rev. Mr. Cameron greeted May respectfully as he entered the room where she sat; then turning to Mr. Mellen, he said:

'You have quite given up going out have you not?' at the same time extending his hand.

Poor imbecile Mr. Mellen sprang from his chair, and, going behind May, hid his face in the folds of her dress.

The pause that ensued was embarrassing to both the minister and May who could scarcely compose herself sufficiently to say:

'There has been a great change in father since—since mother died.'

Here she covered her face with her handkerchief and burst into tears.

'We have all changed, Miss Mellen, said the young minister, and then, after a short interval of silence, he continued: 'In view of my recent change, and coming to Riverbrook as the minister of the Gospel here, there is one thing I wish to say to you; I fear that it will wound your feelings, but duty prompts me, and I must say it. I do not feel justified in administering the Holy Sacrament to one who has forfeited his rights to—' Seeing May's white face and quivering lips, he paused; then continued: 'It is unnecessary for me to allude to the past—let the secret rest between you and me; but I ask of you that you withdraw from the church over which I have been ordained. Will you do this?'

For once in her life May Mellen looked upon a fellow creature in anger. Her clear eyes flashed as she replied: 'You have no right to ask this of me, Ned Cameron! I have yielded the happiness of my heart, with all its bright dreams, to your mistaken ideas of honor. But I will never voluntarily yield my character as a Christian to any person, unless they can prove to me to be unworthy to bear the name of Christian. In my inmost heart I am at peace with God, and His presence is my sole support through this dark valley of trouble. Never will I ask to be dismissed from the sweet privilege of following Him with His church people!'

'Does your own conscience allow you to partake of the Holy Communion, knowing your sin?'

'I have committed no sin, excepting that from day to day, and God answers daily prayers and forgives, was the reply in a devout tone.

'May, how can you talk thus when you know that I am aware of your crime and disgrace?' was the question of the pastor, who continued: 'In view of my discovery at the old house in the wood, you are unworthy to meet with Christians or bear the name of Christian! Forgive me for my plain speaking, but my duty compels me to take this course. If you will quietly ask your discharge from the church, your sin shall not be exposed; but if you persist in this course, painful as the duty will be, I must inform the elders of your unworthiness and have you expelled.'

Wondering if she were awake or dreaming, May listened to those cruel words from lips that had once uttered only accents of love to her, but she answered:

'Do as you please, Mr. Cameron. If you can prove any sin against me vile enough to warrant you in setting me aside from the church, I am willing to be expelled; but I will never voluntarily withdraw from the fellowship of Christ's chosen ones!'

She spoke with emphasis and the young minister marvelled at her assurance.

Without further words he bowed and said, 'Good day, miss,' and went away.

May calmed her father whose nerves had been terribly excited by the presence of a stranger, and after the old man had fallen asleep, she retired to her chamber to weep and pray.

'I am afraid I have done wrong in refusing to comply with the request of the minister of my church,' she murmured; 'but what have I done to warrant him in desiring to expel me? My sister's folly is not my sin. God help me, and show me the right path.'

Before the next communion day May had been waited upon by the elders of the church, and they, finding her still determined to resist, accused her of being the mother of a child that had been put out of the way, while she was a member in good and regular standing of a Christian church.

Overcome with horror, the poor girl could not find words to deny the charge, but hiding her blushing face, wept bitterly.

The elders then proposed that, for the sake of the honor of the church, she should quietly withdraw her name and they would keep the matter a profound secret, to be shared by no one.

The paper was spread before her for her signature, the pen dipped in ink and put into her hand, and with trembling fingers she traced her name where they told her, although the tears in her eyes prevented her from seeing one letter of what was written, after this was done the worthy officers of the church went away, first having given May some scathing advice upon her future course, and a chilling reproof for her former sin,

'He suffered for the sins of others. Am I better than He, that I should not suffer, too?' murmured this truly Christian girl, after the pious (?) elders had left her alone.

Bitterly as she regretted the painful course to which she had been subjected, there was this gleam of comfort in the depth of her woe—she would not be obliged to meet him now.

May resolved to bear her cross, and each Sabbath—except the first Sabbath of every month—found her in her accustomed seat in the village church.

Her pale face grew paler, and her cheeks lost their bloom. She quailed before the glance of the elders whenever she met them, and her poor heart had only God to go to with its load of grief and wrong.

This did the noble girl suffer rather than expose her sister, poor little Goldie, who, in reality, had committed no crime, but was altogether "more sinned against than sinning."

CHAPTER XX.

Mrs. Major Grant was ready to make her appearance in the drawing-room, where Mrs. Grant Whitney had assembled the aristocracy of the neighborhood of Laurel Glade.

Twice had Mrs. Whitney's maid been sent to Mrs. Grant's rooms with the polite request that she would come down as soon as convenient, as the guests were all impatient to meet the young bride of their well-known friend, Major Grant.

The major had been ready to go down at least one hour before, and had he not been a very devoted husband, and lately married, I fear that he would have grown cross with delay.

As it was, he smilingly awaited the pleasure of the beautiful bride of whom he was so fond and proud.

'You have added nothing to your toilet for ten minutes past, my love,' he said; 'shall we go down now?'

'In a moment,' she replied. 'I dread this meeting. I never could meet strangers without a thrill of anxiety, lest I should fail to come up to their expectations. See how colorless my cheeks are. This will not do,' she exclaimed, glancing in the mirror.

Calling her maid, she ordered her to put a touch of color to her cheeks. This done, she placed her little hand upon her husband's arm, and declared herself ready to go down.

Mrs. Whitney had been entertaining her guests in royal style, and now that it was whispered that the bride was coming, she went to the door to meet them.

The music struck up a glad strain of welcome, and the perfume of rare flowers made the air heavy. Bright lights gleamed from every part of the grand old mansion, until it seemed to the fair bride that she was in fairyland.

Major Grant was acquainted with nearly all of the company, and as he led his beautiful wife into the elegant drawing-room, a low murmur of admiration floated upon the air. Friends crowded up to welcome the major, and gain an introduction to the bride, who smiled and bowed to all.

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Grantville, Vt.—'I was passing from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter.'—Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Grantville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, irregularities, pelvic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Attacked by Bull.

While Mr. James Weir was walking in the country near Nagle's Hill on Sunday evening last, he had an exciting experience with a bull which twice came very near goring him to death. He was not aware of the presence of the animal until he walked into a clump of brushwood, whence it was with a lot of other cattle. Immediately Taurus saw Mr. Weir it charged down on him, and only by his agility in getting out of the way did he escape its horns. The second charge it made on him the animal escaped goring him only by a slight margin. Mr. Weir then picked up a large stone and when the bull came at him the third time he nimbly stepped aside and hit him with the missile with all his strength in the forehead, dropping him to his knees. Mr. Weir then ran through the thick woods and escaped. Several people who were going towards the place were met by him and warned to return, and this they did.

I do like anyone who is always the same,—always natural. It is so silly to pretend to be nicer than you are just because there are a lot of people around.'

I wonder if the two girls who criticized Rose so glibly would also deny anyone because she put on better clothes for an evening gathering, than she would wear about the house in the morning or down town shopping. I can't really believe that they would. And yet wouldn't that be just as logical as criticizing Rose because she has a pretty company manner, as well as pretty company clothes? The reason I speak of this is because I have so often heard, not only Rose but many other girls like her, disparaged for putting themselves out in order to be especially gracious and entertaining and cordial in company.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By MUTE CAMERON

"I see Rose has her company manner on." "Yes; that's the only thing I don't like about Rose. She will put on that terribly sweet manner when she goes out anywhere. I do hate affectation." "So do I. I do like anyone who is always the same,—always natural. It is so silly to pretend to be nicer than you are just because there are a lot of people around."

I wonder if the two girls who criticized Rose so glibly would also criticize anyone because she put on better clothes for an evening gathering, than she would wear about the house in the morning or down town shopping.

I can't really believe that they would. And yet wouldn't that be just as logical as criticizing Rose because she has a pretty company manner, as well as pretty company clothes?

The reason I speak of this is because I have so often heard, not only Rose but many other girls like her, disparaged for putting themselves out in order to be especially gracious and entertaining and cordial in company.

The critics call this affected. They sneer with an evident sense of superiority at the "company manner" and pride themselves on the fact that they never put themselves out to please anyone but are always just the same.

Now I can't see any reason for pride in that, any more than one would have reason for self-gratulation in the fact that one never put oneself out to dress prettily for special occasions.

I can't see that a company manner is necessarily any more an affectation than a company gown.

Of course, if Rose were disagreeable and ungracious at home and with her intimates, and then put on an extremely gracious manner in company, there would be reason to complain. Just as it would not be desirable to go around looking like a slattern all day and then dress gorgeously for company in the evening.

But Rose's home manners are just as pleasant, if not so dressy as her company manners.

And anyway I think one's quarrel in such a case ought to be with the disagreeable manner or the slatternliness, not with the gracious manner, or pretty clothes.

Why, I wonder, by the way, do we always say "put on" of anything nice? Why don't we say that people "put on" their disagreeable ways and their lapse back into their natural amiable selves instead of always the other way round?

To return to the main road, I think anyone who calls a pretty company manner affected is herself affecting an overdone dislike of affectation. Myself I can't see anything affected or to be criticized in anyone who wears the simple and plain but attractive clothes of pleasant family manners in the family and dresses up in the special gown of company manners for special occasions.

Can you?

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of those experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an infallible remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

having a tremendous favoritism shown them by the leading houses. Large collars in round, pointed or hood effects are much in evidence in new coats. They are usually finished off with long, narrow revers, ending below the waist line.

Chantilly lace in both black and white is used to form scant ruffles on silk evening gowns. Black over white mousseline, the whole falling over white satin, is quite popular.

Hats with decidedly high crowns fit closely down over the hair and are trimmed with ribbon, velvet, feathers or quillings. The shapes of beaver and soft felt are the favorites.

Small purses of filigree silver, or gold, which are quite flat, are hung on a broad black ribbon and worn around the neck as the small watches are. This is one of the new smart fashions.

Fashionable batiste blouses for afternoon wear under thin coat suits are entirely plain, with just a group of band tucks at the shoulders and an attached frill in front of handsome lace.

Paris is sending over young girls' topcoats made of reversible cloth in two tones of blue, in black and white, which is very smart; in gray and blue, in black and red and in purple and red.

Interesting Correspondence from the Far North.

Mr. Robert Ford, barber, of King's Road, had some interesting correspondence from his father, mother and brother, Wm. R. Ford, who are down in Baffin Land at work with the Hudson Bay Company, by the S. S. Solway.

The first letter is written by his brother and is dated Wolstenholme, September 4th past. In this letter William says that he had arrived after a tedious passage though they had a fine time after leaving Rigolette. He says his Uncle George is there, and that on the way down they picked him up at Cape Chidley, towing his motor boat to Wolstenholme. He afterwards went through Baffin's Land coasting to the north looking for "Huskies" to go to work for the company. They did not meet with any as all were gone into the interior deer hunting and the only nice piece of ground being the locality where the whalers working in that section. Later, Mr. Ford was to go up country to establish a post for the company.

Mrs. Ford, however, writes an interesting letter, dated Lake Harbor, on board the S. S. Pelican, September 20th. In this missive she says: "We are here at our destination at last. The men are ashore putting up houses for us, and it is by no means an inviting spot, nothing but rocks and barren hills; the only nice piece of ground being the locality where the whalers are. There are two missionaries living here and a Scotchman, a miner, besides Will (her husband) and myself with her (evidently a French-Canadian) named Pallsier. Mrs. Ford takes comfort from the fact that therefore she and her husband are not quite alone and will be the society of at least some kindred folk during the long months of the Arctic winter. She says also that they have been on the move ever since they left Rigolette, except for three weeks while they were at Wolstenholme. Her father, she says, will be in charge of Wolstenholme for the year. Mr. Parsons, who was in charge, was compelled to go home during the summer, and as there was no person to run the station, he remained there. Mr. Parsons will go back next year. While they were staying at Wolstenholme the natives killed 7 polar bears near the station. She says that there are about 200 Eskimos there and lots more over on the island (name not given), with many more residing around the Cape. Many of the men and women natives came on board the Pelican to see Mrs. Ford. They had never seen a white woman before and she was an object of great curiosity to her dusky sisters and brothers of this portion of the Arctic circle. Her baby came in for special attention from the Eskimo women and they wondered if it could sleep, eat and cry as lustily as their little podgy papooses; as to the later the white baby did not long in giving them an illustration of his lung power, and when they saw the chubby little white kid eat under the influence of a healthy appetite intended for the bracing northern climate, they were delighted, though the little one balked at the strange and hardly appetizing seal meat, etc., which the kindly natives set before it. Mrs. Ford speaks the Eskimo language fairly well and this immediately endeared her to the native womenfolk. They said that the whalers had given them books with pictures of white women and babies in them, but they could not bring themselves to believe that such existed in reality and thought that their credulity was being imposed upon. When they saw Mrs. Ford and her little one they were glad to see that the books told the truth, and in their own crude fashion they paid her their attention and did many kindly acts for her. They are an innocent and harmless people, and Mrs. Ford says in her letter that the Eskimo women, dressed in deer skins and seal skins nicely fitted, their clothes being artistically decorated with beadwork. They embellish their hair with long, thin, redges with one and two cent copper pieces which they pick up from the whalers and others who visit the post. Unlike most other Eskimo women, the read of Mrs. Ford says they keep themselves very clean and live regular lives. The Harbor Grace Exhibition.

The Daily News announces that an invitation has been extended to His Excellency the Administrator to be present at the opening of the Exhibition at Harbor Grace next week, and that the Prime Minister and the Minister of Agriculture will leave for Harbor Grace on Tuesday morning. It is also stated that His Excellency the Governor is not likely to be able to be present, owing to the delay in the departure of the Mongolian from England. It is to be hoped that Sir Edward Morris will govern himself, according to the spirit of the invitation extended to His Excellency the Administrator.

This should absolutely preclude Sir Edward Morris from any attempt to use the opening of the exhibition at Harbor Grace for partisan propaganda. Sir Edward did what he could to make the Agricultural Exhibitions at Burin and St. George's political shows. In the presence of a representative of the King he must surely refrain. If Sir Edward continues to treat these exhibitions as platforms on which to boost political exhibits, then we shall treat them as he is treating them and expose the use he is making of them.

The Prospero Arrives.

The s.s. Prospero, Capt. A. Kean, arrived here at 10.30 from the northward. The ship made all the ports of call coming and going and reached Battle Harbor Monday evening last. She left there after a few hours' delay and going and coming had very fine weather, except last night, when it snowed hard and was very thick. She called at Old Perlican and Bay de Verde. She brought considerable freight and the following passengers:

Messrs. H. Maddock, J. Maddock, H. Howell, T. Smith, A. G. Andrews, Wm. Reid, T. McCormack, J. N. Clarke, Elsworth, Chipsett, Moores, Moore, Murrell, Strong, Rev. A Sad Case.

By the Prospero we learn that a young chap named M. Gould, of Flower's Cove, came up here by the ship and went to the Lunatic Asylum, he being mentally unbalanced. The boy who worked during the summer on the telegraph line became ill of a sore leg, was visited by Dr. Grenfell when he went to Flower's Cove in the Strathcona, and was taken to Battle Harbor Hospital for treatment. His mother accompanied him, and could ill afford to do so as her husband is ill and she has another son who is stone blind. The sick boy was therefore her only support. When the mother and son reached Battle Harbor, Dr. Grievé was about to close up the hospital and the boy and his mother, with 40 other patients who were taken on board on stretchers, came up to St. Anthony Hospital by the Prospero. The boy showed symptoms of insanity all through and the doctor at St. Anthony refused him admission to the hospital there. He and his mother were put on board for St. John's, and coming up it was found that the woman was destitute, had very little clothes on her and had not a cent in her pocket. Chief Steward Miller and Rev. Mr. Pitcher went around amongst the passengers and collected about $16 for her. The boy on arrival was taken to the Lunatic Asylum, accompanied by his mother, and after she can purchase some clothes will go into a boarding house and will be later sent home by the Prospero. The poor woman has no person to earn for her now and is much concerned about the condition of her husband and the blind boy left behind.

Men's Narrow Escape.

Wednesday last two men, one named Baker, and another belonging to Bay Roberts while working on the Heart's Content Branch, narrowly escaped being killed. We learn by the schooner Primrose that Baker and his friend stood too near when a blast went off and Baker was hit by flying rocks and terribly cut about the head and face. He was treated by Dr. Paterson and sent to his home at Heart's Content. The other man was only slightly injured but both escaped death only by a narrow margin.

Dr. Chaplin Better.

Mr. Lloyd Chaplin had a message from his father this morning saying that he had just left the Hospital in Montreal and that the Doctor's condition was brighter. This warrants both leaving there Wednesday by the Bonavista for this city. Mr. Chaplin will wire further particulars Monday.

Here and There.

FLOUR ADVANCED.—The wholesale price of flour advanced two cents at a few of the city stores to-day.

FROM WESTERN BAY.—The schr. Seabird arrived last night from Western Bay with a load of fish to G. M. Barr.

Has CAMEO KIRBY arrived?

WEATHER UP THE LINE.—Along the line to-day the weather report is dull, light wind; temperature 30 to 40 above.

LEFT ST. JULIENS.—The Checkers left St. Juliens, French Shore, last Saturday with 2,700 qts. of fish for Bishop & Sons.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL.—Owing to the condition of the weather the inter-collegiate football match did not take place to-day.

OPHELIA CHARTERED.—The Ophelia has been chartered by Monroë & Co. to load fish at Little Bay Islands from Strong & Murrell for Oporto.

DOG KILLED BY AUTO.—A fine Nfld. dog belonging to Mr. T. Carrwell was run over by an auto on Waterford Bridge Road last night and killed instantly.

TRAINED NURSE.—Miss F. Scott of Twillingate, passed her examination for a trained nurse at the General Hospital recently. She has been there about 18 months.

LOCAL MADE MATS.—Messrs. Levitz Bros. received another large shipment of local made mats from the north by last Prospero and they are again nearly all sold—adv't.

LOST DRUM STICK.—C. Moore, of the M. G. B. band, lost his drum stick last night off Springdale Street and would be glad if the finder would return it to the armoury to-morrow morning.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.—Mr. John Rose, Foreman at Phipps's shop, was taken to the General Hospital last evening. He had an operation performed for appendicitis and is doing well to-day.

MORE CRAFTS LOST.—The Prospero reports that she recently in stormy weather on the Labrador Coast. The crews escaped, but the officers of the ship do not know the names of the vessels.

FISHERMEN RETURN.—The schr. Highflyer arrived here to-day from Grand Island, where she fished all the summer. The vessel did well. Forty fishermen belonging to St. John's, who prosecuted the voyage down there and did well, returned in her.

BIG LOAD OF FREIGHT.—The s.s. Solway, Capt. Delaney, is now on the way from Sydney to Bay of Islands with a full load of freight for different points of the country that had accumulated at North Sydney this month. Most of it is for St. John's.

GLENCOE'S PASSENGERS.—The Glencoe left Placentia at 9.30 a.m. yesterday taking J. H. Dee, W. Hartigan, E. Smith, J. Curlew, Master Curlew, A. E. Kearney, Rev. Dr. Whelan, Miss Hollett, Mrs. Hollett, Miss Morris, Mrs. Roberts, Miss Cluett and 6 second class.

MAN BADLY INJURED.—One of the crew of a Green Bay schooner loading lumber for Mr. Hudson at Adam's Cove, B. de V., last Wednesday, fell in the hold and received serious injury. Dr. Furgerson attended to him. He is now lying in the cabin on board unable to move.

CODFISH PLentiful.—The schr. Primrose reports fish very plentiful all through Bacallieu Tickle. Herring is also very plentiful and of good quality. Boats secure 2 and 3 qts. Fish is being caught also in Green Harbor and several schooners are out in the middle of Trinity Bay and doing good work with the trawls. Squid is very plentiful up in the bottom of the bay.

AN ATTEMPT AT STEALING.—Mr. Perce Dunne, who has a store on Duckworth Street, near which he has a lot of beef stored, was surprised this morning to find two barrels of beef missing. On investigating he found the two barrels rolled down over the hill at the rear of Mr. Clarke's place. Mr. Dunn thinks that this was an attempt to steal the goods last night and he will watch the place closely in future.

F. S. A.—The programme which has been arranged for the Hall of E'en Entertainment in aid of the Field-Spencer Association is a most attractive one. Songs will be given by Mrs. Job, Miss Dorothy Johnson, and F. M. Baggles, Esq.; a violin solo by Miss Sybil Johnson and a due by Miss Withers and Mr. C. B. CHI. The next item will be a one-act play the scene of which is laid in France in the time of the Revolution and tell of the escape of three aristocrats from the Republicans. The cast is character: Miss Withers, Miss Rendell, Miss Flora CHI, Mr. C. B. Carter, Mr. Cecil CHI. After the concert a Partridge Supper will be served and Candy and Refreshments will be sold. Torbay Annual Festival.
On Wednesday next, the 1st of November, Feast of All Saints, the Annual Festival at Torbay will be celebrated. A departure from the usual programme will be made this year. Solemn High Mass will begin at eleven o'clock at which His Grace the Archbishop will assist and preach. After Mass the Total Abstinence Society of Torbay will make its usual parade and at 2 o'clock the Society with their guests clerical and lay, will assemble at dinner in their hall, aug.26,31,th.s.m.

An Explanation.

In connection with the case of the larceny yesterday for which the boys Humby and Tobin were convicted, the charge against Humby was for stealing flour barrels valued at 40 cts. and also a clock valued at $5. The charge against Tobin was also for stealing a clock valued at $5. The boys, though implicated in it, were not charged with stealing $100 worth of goods from Mr. McGregor's. They were convicted and sentenced on the two charges enumerated above.

At the time when preparations were between seven and eight years ago, attention of the present edition, it was all that could be done in the way of the Encyclopaedia Britannica as had already been accomplished by the issue of the present edition. No further process was to be attempted. The changes of the old called for something different—for a fresh new foundation. How was the fresh start it been possible to limit the effects of change, of fact, the foundation of the new edition been sought in the old. What need, indeed, than examine separately each of the articles in existence and substitute new matter where was found wanting? The New Encyclopaedia Britannica,

11th EDITION,

Is an entirely new work, founded upon a fresh survey of the world in every department of Knowledge.

Prospectus, specimen pages, special prices and terms post free from The Cambridge University Press Office, Board of Trade Building, St. John's, N. F.

At the time when preparations were being made, between seven and eight years ago, for the creation of the present edition, it was realized that all that could be done in the way of "bringing up to date" the Encyclopaedia Britannica as it then stood had already been accomplished by the issue of supplementary volumes. No further process of renovation was to be attempted. The changes of the past 30 years called for something different—for a fresh start, for a new foundation. How was the fresh start made? Had it been possible to limit the effects of change to matters of fact, the foundation of the new edition might have been sought in the old. What need, indeed, to do more than examine separately each of the articles already in existence and substitute new matter where the old was found wanting? But close upon the appearance, in any field, of new facts follow new points of view, and they require, not a corrective scrutiny of what already stands written, but a fresh survey of the field itself and a treatment freely shaped according to the demands of the subject as it presents itself to-day. The thoroughness of such a survey evidently depends, not only upon the distinction of those whose services are enlisted in the task, but also upon the extent to which their labours are organized for the purpose in view. Therefore, therefore, must be first made to the circumstance which, in the present case, permitted of an organization more effective than had ever before been brought to the preparation of the Encyclopaedia Britannica—the circumstance, namely, that the present edition was not prepared for publication volume by volume, as had always hitherto been the case. The work was planned and carried out as an indivisible whole, of which no volume was to be printed for sale until the entire contents, from A to Z, were completed.

A COMPLETE and UNIFORM WHOLE.

In this phrase the most striking feature of the new 11th Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, was described by a distinguished scholar. At a dinner given in London by the Chancellor of the University of Cambridge, Lord Rayleigh, to celebrate the taking over by his University of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the late Mr. S. H. Butcher, President of the British Academy, Professor of Greek at Edinburgh University, and representative in Parliament of Cambridge University, in his last public speech before his lamented death used the following words:—

"I mean to point out what seem to me to be two interesting and original features in this new edition" of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The first is that "the book is a complete and uniform whole. The editor has through all these years kept all the parts of" "this book in relation one with the other. He has kept" "to hold on the contributors and has made each know" "what the other collaborators in the same department" "were doing. He so set to work that the book has received a structural unity of its own. There you have" "the first novel feature of the Eleventh Edition of the" "Encyclopaedia Britannica, because hitherto each volume has been a separate and distinct unit. Now for" "the first time the book, though of immense variety, is" "treated as a unit. Hitherto you have had curious inconsistencies and discordant articles introduced in different volumes. Sometimes it has happened formerly" "that the same man writing under the letter A, after" "wards under the letter B, and still later under the" "letter Z, each time contradicts everything that he has" "said before. You have had that peculiar result from" "such an intellectual creation which came into existence in the great interval of time, perhaps, of 14 or" "15 years, as did the Ninth Edition. In this Ninth" "Edition the whole of the early part of the Encyclopaedia Britannica was out of date by the time you" "got to Z. There is an end of that irregularity now," "and surely it is a very great achievement that for the" "first time you should have a real book, a book, as I" "say, with structural unity and not a set of discordant" "monographs or of puzzling discrepancies. The second" "characteristic which seems to me to belong to this" "Encyclopaedia is that it has kept pace with the forward movement of the march of progress and has the" "characteristic of the spirit of expansion in every domain of knowledge, and how necessary that is, because, gentlemen, you are aware that in the last 30" "or 40 years every form of knowledge has gone ahead" "at an extraordinary and accelerated rate. Everybody" "knows that it is true as regards physical science, but" "I should like to lay stress upon the fact that it is true" "also of humanistic sciences—history, literature, archaeology, and others of the same kind."

"In order therefore to bring this Encyclopaedia up to date it was necessary not merely to revise the old" "Encyclopaedia but almost to re-write it from the beginning. I gather that the new edition is from cover"

"to cover a new book. It is not now any longer a mere" "record of the past, but it is even to some extent an" "anticipation of future discovery. It gives not only an" "insight into the past, but it gives also a foresight of" "the future, the spread of progressiveness, and a display of the enlargement of all the boundaries of" "knowledge. Surely that is a splendid result to achieve," "and a splendid hope to have opened up."

THE VALUE OF UNIFORMITY TO THE PURCHASER.

Hitherto, editors, not only of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, but of other works of the same monumental scale and extensive range of subjects have been prepared for publication, published and sold volume by volume. Though the purchaser was enabled thereby to pay for the book gradually he was for several years the possessor of only an incomplete book, and when complete the last volume was in date far in advance of the first.

But these are slight facts compared with this ever evident one that piecemeal production is incompatible with the organized survey and with the systematic treatment upon a well considered plan of the immense field which an Encyclopaedia covers.

The new arrangement, planned from the start as the basis of a complete and systematic whole, gives the reader not only an equally authoritative present day conspectus upon any given subject whether the article happens to fall in Volume 1 or in Volume 28, but also enables him to turn with the utmost facility of reference, if he wishes to find an answer to any of those individual questions that arise so constantly in daily reading, conversation, business or study. That the new Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica can justify this enhanced utility is based on the fact that it has been produced in its 28 volumes of text, with its 40,000 articles, as a complete and uniform whole.

The customary method of issuing extensive publications hit by hit, unfavorable as it was to their efficient preparation, possessed one recommendation in the eyes of the purchaser—he paid for his book gradually. But this convenience is offered to him in the present case also, and without the drawback of many years' delay. For although the volumes of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica have been prepared, and have been issued, simultaneously, so that the subscriber becomes at once the possessor of a complete book, he may, if he desires, pay for it in monthly instalments of only $5.00. Or, if he prefers to do so, he may, at a small increase, distribute the payment of the cash price over a period of 4, 8 or 12 months. Moreover, while the 9th edition, for the completion of which the purchaser had to wait 14 years, was published at $7.50 a volume, the new edition may be obtained at the rate of only $4.00 a volume by those who apply for a copy now. The rate has already been raised by $10.00 in the United Kingdom, Canada and the United States, and the ultimate price of the new work will be the old price of $7.50 a volume. A remittance of only $5.00 is required with application in Newfoundland to secure the delivery of the whole work in 29 volumes.

This new edition, of which the contents mark so great an advance, will also recommend itself on account of an innovation in its material production, namely, the use of India paper, by which the size and weight of the volumes are reduced to a third. The 56 specimen pages which accompany the prospectus are printed on India paper so that the reader may satisfy himself that the advantages derived from this innovation are accompanied by no corresponding drawbacks. If you would be interested to see the prospectus and to learn the special prices and terms upon which orders for the new Encyclopaedia Britannica will be accepted, for a short period only in Newfoundland, please write your name and address below, tear off this corner and post to—

SHANGHAI, Oct. 27.
A report, confirmed in part, is that the Imperialists have approached the leaders of the revolution, looking for a compromise. The rebel chiefs are willing to negotiate, but demand as basic conditions the appointment of Yan Shi Kai as Premier, the immediate assembling of the promised representative Parliament, and a complete reformation of Provincial Governments throughout the Empire. There is reason to believe that if Yan Shi Kai, who now is practically in the position of a dictator, should decide to accept the Premiership, he would, to all intents and purposes, be the ruler of China. Friends of the dictator doubt whether he will accept the suggestion unless granted extraordinary guarantees.

Who is CAMEO KIRBY?

Fire Near Hospital.

At 6.35 p.m. yesterday an alarm of fire was sent in from the special box at the General Hospital. The Eastern and Central Companies responding. The fire was in a stable adjoining the Hospital and was caused by the upsetting of a lamp. Not much damage was done and the male assistants at the Hospital with some passers by extinguished the blaze in a hurry. The assistance of the firemen who were on the scene very promptly was not required.

Arrested for Burglary.

Yesterday afternoon Inspector General Sullivan had a wire from Greenspond stating that a young woman of the place was arrested by Const. J. Symonds, a couple of days ago, on a charge of stealing cash and goods from a residence there, the whole aggregating $54. She was brought before Magistrate Miffen yesterday and pleaded guilty. She was remanded for 8 days pending instructions from the authorities as to whether it would not be deemed advisable to send her here to St. John's for trial. It is a very often that a female is arraigned in court in this country for such an offence.

After Herring.

Besides the schooners Maxine Elliott and Essex now at Bonne Bay in quest of herring, a message to the Fisheries Department yesterday announced that three other vessels had arrived at Curling for cargoes. Herring are very plentiful at Bonne Bay and in fair quantity at Bay of Islands, and the fish are reported to be of excellent quality. The fishermen are asking $2.00 a barrel and will not accept less than $1.50. It remains to be seen whether Uncle Sam's business people will pay this, but if there is a brisk demand for herring there is no reason why they should not.

A Word From Bethlehem.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Just looking over the Free Press, Oct. 17th, I was taken by surprise to see that there was a petition wait in from Lance Cove praying that the name of Lance Cove be changed to "Bethlehem." This petition was accompanied by a letter from Mr. R. A. Squires, M.H.A., strongly favoring the prayer of the petitioners. There never was a petition drawn up for Bethlehem, and if there was, it is a farce; but such change is nothing more than we have been expecting, and to get from Lance Cove to Bethlehem is a wonderful change; such a name wouldn't be granted to any place by any right thinking person. It's too sacred. The streets of Bethlehem are no better than the streets at Lance Cove, a wise man would be in danger driving over them on a camel or mule and that is not unknown to our minister, Mr. R. A. Squires. He was here this summer and saw for himself the condition of things and said it should be finished direct, and there is nothing done to them as yet. Probably they are waiting for snow. In the last election we were promised the train; but that promise is not fulfilled. One thing is needed now and that is a lighthouse on our roads going through the place, and I pray that that request would be granted. If Agriculture party have been sending bulls, rams and pigs. Here we have one ram. I expect the next will be sent will be camels and mules to keep in touch with Bethlehem. Thanking you for space.
PASTIME.

Man Ran Over.

At 6.30 p.m. yesterday Edward O'Flaherty, so well known in St. John's, was the victim of a serious accident on New Gower Street at its junction with Adelaide Street. He was crossing to the north side of New Gower Street when a horse and carriage came rapidly along that thoroughfare and before he could get out of the way he was knocked down. He was pretty badly cut about the head and face and was taken to Dr. Stafford's surgery where his injuries were attended to after which he was removed to the Hospital. O'Flaherty is a man over 60 years of age. There were 3 persons in the carriage with the driver, and the heartless fellow never checked his horse to ascertain what had occurred to the man. The police will do all possible to try and locate the driver and those who were with him.

Office Hands in Danger

While the office hands in Bowring Bros. employ plodded away at their work yesterday afternoon, they did so all unconscious of the fact that beneath them in the rear of the hardware store a great danger threatened them. In some manner or other a bag took fire but was fortunately discovered quickly and extinguished by the employees. Quite near the burning bin were three kegs of powder, which contained over 80 lbs., and had the fire reached them would have caused a terrible disaster. The fire was directly under the inner office, where the chief book-keeper, Mr. Reunie, and Messrs. Collins and Caldwell work. It was fortunate that the blaze was so quickly discovered and that Messrs. White, Jones and others extinguished it so quickly.

INVICTUS SHOES

of GEO. A. SLATER fame—"the best good shoes" give the wearer all he wants and pays for in footwear.

These two naturally go together.

With a thin "out-sole" and a thick "slip-tap," the cost of soleing can be reduced, since "out-soles" are worth more than "slip-taps."

But what happens? The wearer soon finds these cheap-soled shoes are "cheap" in a sense that doesn't please.

Here and There.

The police are looking for CAMEO KIRBY!

WILL HOLD "AT HOME." — The Shamrock Amusement Club will hold an "At Home" for the members only, at Smithville on Tuesday night.

A Large Reward is offered for CAMEO KIRBY!

"A SUCCESSFUL VOYAGE." — On Sunday evening there will be a Song Service—Songs of the Sea. Rev. W. H. Webber will take as his subject "A Successful Voyage."

CAMEO KIRBY seems to be a wonder!

TO OUTPOST AND OTHER BUYERS. We are selling off all our stock of Pianos, Organs and Sewing Machines at greatly reduced prices.

"JOLLED" THE JEWELLER. — Yesterday afternoon an up-town jeweler and watchmaker received a large envelope on the back of which were written instructions to "put a new main spring in the enclosed."

DOING WELL YET. — Fishermen of the Battery who keep visiting the fishing grounds every day are doing well with the fish.

STOLE WEDDING SUIT. — Sgt. Jamieson arrived here today from Trinity with a girl named Hannah Sexton in custody.

PARITY OF HUNTERS. — The express trip brought a party of American deer hunters up to Grand Lake.

MUCH FISH CATCHING. — At St. Kyrans, Merasheen, Isle Valen and Clattie Harbor, in Placentia Bay, cod fish was never so plentiful and squid skiffs manned by 3 and 4 hands have been doing good work there.

NO FISH HANDLED. — There is no fish handled at the wharves to-day owing to the weather.

Mr. F. J. Canning, of G. M. Barr's office, returned from Bay de Verde yesterday where he had been verifying fish.

Sheng Hsuan, who was removed from office as Minister of Posts and Communications, as a concession to the National Assembly, had a narrow escape from assassination here. He fled to the American legation, from whence he was later escorted by a squad of soldiers to Tien Tsin. It was learned yesterday that a petition had been circulated among the members of the National Assembly for signature, which demanded the decapitation of Sheng. Later the French, German and British ministers, accompanied by the American Charge d'Affairs, drove to the residence of Prince Ching, the Premier, and lodged an objection to the possible decree. In line with the wishes of the Assembly, it is authoritatively announced here and at the instigation of Yuan Shi Kai, negotiations between the Imperialist forces and the revolutionaries are about to open. It is also officially stated that Yuan Shi Kai will recommend Sun Yang Chow to take up the supreme command of the Imperial army and navy at the front. He has also recommended twenty of his former proteges for important positions in the Government.

JOB PRINTING

The Ecumenical Conference of Methodism.

JOTTINGS BY THE WAY.
It was an unspeakably happy privilege that the writer enjoyed in attending the World Wide Conference of Methodism at Toronto, Canada, held October 3-17. Such a gathering of Bishops, Presidents, Editors, Scholars, Pastors, Preachers, Evangelists and Missionaries from all over the world can only occur once or twice in a generation. The object of the Congress was not legislative but purely for purposes of Conference and prayer and counsel. Great men were there and great deliverances on great Methodist problems.
To summarize the results of this great Conference we note the following:—
1. It brought together representative men of Methodism from the ends of the earth to rub up against each other.
2. It afforded an opportunity of reviewing the whole area of Methodism—its doctrines, its missions, its activities, its growth. We have now some 32 million Methodists in the world, a gain of four millions in 10 years.
3. It placed emphasis upon the cardinal teachings of Methodism, showing no disposition to dispense with any of its old-time God-honoured truths and doctrines.
4. It had a federating effect upon all Methodism. It ties thirty millions of people in all parts of the globe to united endeavour for pure government, cleaner and more godly life and activity and consecration. Hereafter there shall be known throughout the world a Methodist Federator which under God shall be a power in breaking the shackles of iniquity, enforcing law and righteousness and spreading Scriptural Holiness throughout these lands. Among the many lives touched in the great discussions at this International Conference of Methodism were the Sabbath and Temperance Reforms. Toronto itself is almost a model in these matters. It is a city of 400,000 with only some 150 saloons. Its Sabbaths are as nearly as ideal as possible. No steamers run, no newspapers are hawked and up to some twenty years ago no street cars were allowed to run. Upon the Sabbath question a strong Resolution was passed urging upon all our people so to order the course of their lives and so use all their influence that God's Holy Day may be preserved for his proper worship and service, and we appeal to the Governments of the Christian States to maintain the sanctity and authority of the Lord's Day which is so essential to the peace and prosperity of the nation." Ex-Governor Hanly in a strong speech on Temperance Reform made a call for consecration. "I want," said he, "world-wide Methodism to become a world-wide militant power for the suppression of this traffic. If I could stir the heart of Methodism on this great question so that every layman would go back a flaming torch for the piercing of the evil."
Bishop Hoss said a good thing when he said "He believed no man should engage in the liquor business unless he could make an honest living by stealing."
On missionary problems some big notes were struck, particularly by John R. Mott who said: "We need a discernment among the leaders up and down the world before the day of opportunity slips by," he said. "The needed a larger comprehension of the Imperial character of the great undertaking, which involved nothing less than a reconstruction of the non-

Christian world and the establishment of the Messiah's reign.
"For the first time," Dr. Mott continued, "the Church is ready to take the whole world literally into its plan." The Church was facing the world as a unit. "Under the leadership of this committee we are able to view the world as a whole, and the task as a whole, and the contribution of all parts of the universal Church as a whole." (Hear, hear.)
Passing on, Dr. Mott spoke of the summons to larger efficiency. He likes to think of the committee as the Board of Strategy. He deprecates the 788 divisions in the missionary work of the universal Church. There was something absurd and sinful if he waste involved.
The speaker referred to words spoken at the Conference that they might be some present who would not taste death until the plans of the Continuation Committee were carried out, until "we see the Kingdom of God come in power."
"The Duty of the Hour," was the subject of an address by a British preacher. "It was not," said he, "the glorification of Methodism but that we should be seized of our responsibility. The needs of the hour were: Unbroken fellowship with Christ, prayer and personal consecrated service and devotion to Jesus."
"Woman's Work" was most prominent in the discussion. One lady delegate from England, Miss Wallis, stirred things considerably when she said:—
"We women who have gone into politics have gone into it at the call of God, just as surely as any of you men here in this room have surely gone into your ministry at the call of God. We, too, have answered, often with faltering lip and shrinking heart: 'Here am I, send me.' I have fought these days what a tremendous power is here in this Conference; but surely there is some supreme need. Do we care about that need which we have ever lost our way's sleep because of the sins and sufferings and woes of the world?"
Sunday at the Conference was one of the most notable days Toronto ever saw—beautiful by nature and grace a great Love Feast at 9.30 at which Bishops, Editors, Missionaries, Professors, Judges, Ministers and Lay men told of experimental religion.
At 10.30 Bishop Candler of the M. E. Church, South, preached a great sermon in which he showed no sympathy with modernizing the Gospel. The important thing for Methodists was to get people truly regenerated by the power of God and filled with God's love and save souls. There was no situation and crisis or problem for and for the old people. We had no problem in our age greater than Paul faced and John Wesley, they met it with the Gospel, we may do the same. At night the preached was Sir Robert W. Perks, Bart., of London, England. He made a plea for world wide Methodist Brotherhood. This was followed by a great open air mass meeting at which the great London Methodist Editor, Scott Lidgett gave a stirring appeal, followed by Ensor Walters, of Sheffield, in another great gospel appeal.

The writer records having spent one of the most momentous Sabbaths of his life. It was grand, sublime, stirring, glorious.

Excursion From Boston in 1913.

From letters received in the city from Mr. W. B. Summerville, of Boston, we learn that a number of Newfoundlanders have got together there and have formed an organization known as the Newfoundlander's Excursion Club. The movement was started a couple of weeks ago and already 100 members are in it, with the prospect of at least another hundred joining it later. The intention is to run an excursion to St. John's (the old time) in the summer of 1913 and a big crowd will come along. The committee in charge of the movement consists of Mr. Wm. B. Summerville, Chairman; Saml. Downs, Treasurer; E. Molloy, Secretary; S. Goss, W. Duggan, D. Kiely, S. Puddister, R. Devanna, S. Hogan, Jas. Murphy, J. O'ngdon, P. O'Hearn, J. Mackey, Jas. J. Murphy, Jno. Graham, G. Humber, Jas. Scully, P. Judge, Jno. Whittle, Jos. Skiffington and B. Mulcahey. Their friends here will be delighted to welcome the boys from the "Hub."

COMES FROM NOVA SCOTIA THIS TIME.

ANOTHER SPLENDID CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.
R. Moulaison, whom two doctors treated, finds relief and permanent cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Surette Island, Yarmouth Co., N.S., Oct. 27. (Special).—Mr. Renie Moulaison, a well known resident here, is telling his neighbors of his cure from a severe attack of Kidney Disease which kept him in a state of pain and suspense for two months and defied the efforts of two doctors who were treating him.
"My trouble started with a cold," Mr. Moulaison says. "My muscles would cramp and I had backache and dizzy spells. My head ached, and I had a tired, nervous feeling while specks of light flashed in front of my eyes."
"I suffered in this way for over two months and was treated by two doctors, but they didn't seem to be able to do much for me. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and they helped me almost at once. Six boxes cured me."

A Match Arranged.

Ever since Sam Anderson left St. John's lovers of the game of wrestling have been wondering if they would ever have the pleasure of seeing another contest with Young. The Telegram has much pleasure in announcing that they have agreed to meet again and the match will take place in the C. L. B. Armoury, on Monday, November 20th. Anderson is already undergoing a special course of training and is practicing with some of the best men of America. He is endeavouring to get off a match with Willoughby before coming to Newfoundland. Olson is also arranging for training, and will do his utmost to hold the coveted title and belt. The match should be the fastest and most exciting ever seen here, as both will put up the fight of their lives to win.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Cannot be cured with ordinary soothing syrups. The disease must be attacked at the root to eradicate the irritation of the lungs, heal the wounds and strengthen the respiratory organs. The composition of MATHIEU'S SYRUP of Tar and God Liver Oil and other Medicinal Extracts marks it amongst all other remedies as the true specific for the diseases of the throat, the bronchial tubes and the lungs. Here are a few conclusive proofs:

Dear Sirs,—In reference to your inquiry as to the selling qualities of Mathieu's Syrup, we might say that it is of no use whatever for us to keep any other Cough Medicine in stock. When you first began to sell it here, the Druggists did not handle it, and now every Druggist in town has it, and we are sure they find a ready sale for it. Mathieu's Syrup is sold by at least 18 dealers in Springhill.

Christian world and the establishment of the Messiah's reign.
"For the first time," Dr. Mott continued, "the Church is ready to take the whole world literally into its plan." The Church was facing the world as a unit. "Under the leadership of this committee we are able to view the world as a whole, and the task as a whole, and the contribution of all parts of the universal Church as a whole." (Hear, hear.)
Passing on, Dr. Mott spoke of the summons to larger efficiency. He likes to think of the committee as the Board of Strategy. He deprecates the 788 divisions in the missionary work of the universal Church. There was something absurd and sinful if he waste involved.
The speaker referred to words spoken at the Conference that they might be some present who would not taste death until the plans of the Continuation Committee were carried out, until "we see the Kingdom of God come in power."
"The Duty of the Hour," was the subject of an address by a British preacher. "It was not," said he, "the glorification of Methodism but that we should be seized of our responsibility. The needs of the hour were: Unbroken fellowship with Christ, prayer and personal consecrated service and devotion to Jesus."
"Woman's Work" was most prominent in the discussion. One lady delegate from England, Miss Wallis, stirred things considerably when she said:—
"We women who have gone into politics have gone into it at the call of God, just as surely as any of you men here in this room have surely gone into your ministry at the call of God. We, too, have answered, often with faltering lip and shrinking heart: 'Here am I, send me.' I have fought these days what a tremendous power is here in this Conference; but surely there is some supreme need. Do we care about that need which we have ever lost our way's sleep because of the sins and sufferings and woes of the world?"
Sunday at the Conference was one of the most notable days Toronto ever saw—beautiful by nature and grace a great Love Feast at 9.30 at which Bishops, Editors, Missionaries, Professors, Judges, Ministers and Lay men told of experimental religion.
At 10.30 Bishop Candler of the M. E. Church, South, preached a great sermon in which he showed no sympathy with modernizing the Gospel. The important thing for Methodists was to get people truly regenerated by the power of God and filled with God's love and save souls. There was no situation and crisis or problem for and for the old people. We had no problem in our age greater than Paul faced and John Wesley, they met it with the Gospel, we may do the same. At night the preached was Sir Robert W. Perks, Bart., of London, England. He made a plea for world wide Methodist Brotherhood. This was followed by a great open air mass meeting at which the great London Methodist Editor, Scott Lidgett gave a stirring appeal, followed by Ensor Walters, of Sheffield, in another great gospel appeal.

The writer records having spent one of the most momentous Sabbaths of his life. It was grand, sublime, stirring, glorious.

Excursion From Boston in 1913.

From letters received in the city from Mr. W. B. Summerville, of Boston, we learn that a number of Newfoundlanders have got together there and have formed an organization known as the Newfoundlander's Excursion Club. The movement was started a couple of weeks ago and already 100 members are in it, with the prospect of at least another hundred joining it later. The intention is to run an excursion to St. John's (the old time) in the summer of 1913 and a big crowd will come along. The committee in charge of the movement consists of Mr. Wm. B. Summerville, Chairman; Saml. Downs, Treasurer; E. Molloy, Secretary; S. Goss, W. Duggan, D. Kiely, S. Puddister, R. Devanna, S. Hogan, Jas. Murphy, J. O'ngdon, P. O'Hearn, J. Mackey, Jas. J. Murphy, Jno. Graham, G. Humber, Jas. Scully, P. Judge, Jno. Whittle, Jos. Skiffington and B. Mulcahey. Their friends here will be delighted to welcome the boys from the "Hub."

ANOTHER SPLENDID CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.
R. Moulaison, whom two doctors treated, finds relief and permanent cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Surette Island, Yarmouth Co., N.S., Oct. 27. (Special).—Mr. Renie Moulaison, a well known resident here, is telling his neighbors of his cure from a severe attack of Kidney Disease which kept him in a state of pain and suspense for two months and defied the efforts of two doctors who were treating him.
"My trouble started with a cold," Mr. Moulaison says. "My muscles would cramp and I had backache and dizzy spells. My head ached, and I had a tired, nervous feeling while specks of light flashed in front of my eyes."
"I suffered in this way for over two months and was treated by two doctors, but they didn't seem to be able to do much for me. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and they helped me almost at once. Six boxes cured me."

A Match Arranged.

Ever since Sam Anderson left St. John's lovers of the game of wrestling have been wondering if they would ever have the pleasure of seeing another contest with Young. The Telegram has much pleasure in announcing that they have agreed to meet again and the match will take place in the C. L. B. Armoury, on Monday, November 20th. Anderson is already undergoing a special course of training and is practicing with some of the best men of America. He is endeavouring to get off a match with Willoughby before coming to Newfoundland. Olson is also arranging for training, and will do his utmost to hold the coveted title and belt. The match should be the fastest and most exciting ever seen here, as both will put up the fight of their lives to win.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Cannot be cured with ordinary soothing syrups. The disease must be attacked at the root to eradicate the irritation of the lungs, heal the wounds and strengthen the respiratory organs. The composition of MATHIEU'S SYRUP of Tar and God Liver Oil and other Medicinal Extracts marks it amongst all other remedies as the true specific for the diseases of the throat, the bronchial tubes and the lungs. Here are a few conclusive proofs:

Dear Sirs,—In reference to your inquiry as to the selling qualities of Mathieu's Syrup, we might say that it is of no use whatever for us to keep any other Cough Medicine in stock. When you first began to sell it here, the Druggists did not handle it, and now every Druggist in town has it, and we are sure they find a ready sale for it. Mathieu's Syrup is sold by at least 18 dealers in Springhill.

Gasoline ENGINES For Fishermen.

THE ENGINE THAT MASTERED NIAGARA

The "FERRO" Marine Gasoline Engine

is the one which has given the Best Results in Fishing Boats. It is the most simple, and most economical Engine built, and where Gasoline is expensive, you will save more by its use, than kerosene, in the saving of fuel.

"FERRO ENGINES" can also be successfully run on kerosene, which is a point all Fishermen will appreciate.

The L. M. TRASK CO., who introduced "FERRO ENGINES," both in Canada and Newfoundland, have opened an office in St. John's, where they will carry "FERRO ENGINES" in car-loads. Also a full line of accessories, such as Batteries, Spark Coils, Propellers, Shafting, etc., and all repairs for these Engines. This advantage will be appreciated by all Fishermen, when they can get repairs without the usual delay and expense of having them come by express from the Factory.

The TRASK CO. have gotten out a very complete Catalogue, showing their full line of Engines, Engine Fittings and Machinery of all kinds. It contains valuable information for operators of Engines, and will be mailed FREE to anyone who will send us a post card giving their name and address, size of Engine required, and dimensions of Boat it is intended for.

Address: THE L. M. TRASK Co.,
P. O. BOX 845, ST. JOHN'S, N. F.

Don't buy a Kerosene Engine before you investigate the merits of the "FERRO." It will put you under no obligation to buy, and may save you hundreds of dollars. —oct:26,31,th,s,f

The Ingredients of Cakes.

These are—flour, butter, sugar and eggs, with perhaps milk, flavouring and fruit, and to make good cakes you must have sound and wholesome ingredients.

Those who bake at home can make sure of these, and also of cleanliness throughout. After that, to bake at home with success you must have a good raising powder. The sure raising powder is "PAISLEY FLOUR." It is mixed a part to 3 parts of ordinary flour, as a rule. It does the work of raising with certainty, and gives well and even raised light and digestible loaves.

The 22c tin contains 14 ozs. and will raise 12 1/2 loaves of flour; the 11c tin contains 7 ozs. and will raise 6 1/2 loaves of flour; the 5c tin contains 3 1/2 ozs. and will raise 3 1/2 loaves of flour.

ROBT. TEMPLETON'S.

Marie Corelli Talks "Right Up"

To the Rev. R. J. Campbell of "The New Theology" fame.

In what she considers an unfair attack on her new book "The Everlasting," Miss Corelli says, "That while preaching in the City Temple, London, he deliberately slanders both myself and my work without compassion. He says there is a certain strain of hard, bitter and earnest depravity running all the way through it, and I challenged him to prove it. Far from any hard or unsympathetic feeling towards human depravity, I endeavour to show how it may be lessened and finally overcome by one's own noble effort when once we realize the eternal law—that evil is always repaid by evil and good by good."

Every person interested in good fiction and in the social conditions of the people should read "The Life Everlasting." Paper, 50c.; cloth, 75c. Postpaid on receipt of price.

All books by Miss Marie Corelli and the Rev. R. J. Campbell are in stock. Write for list, also for lists of 10, 15, 25 and 30 cent reprints of the world's best novels.
