CHAPTER XV.
A NIGHT AT THE PLAY.

"No, no, of course not!" assents Sydney Calthrop hastily. "A mere suspicion, that is all. Come along," he says, but he pauses to look at the ring notwithstanding—"that's not a bad bit of horseflesh the girl is on," he says, turning away.

James goes to the curtains and looks down and then, half reluctantly, angry with himself for waiting to look, he glances across at the box opposite him.

He has chosen, by accident, the moment when Lord Reginald returns with brandy and soda, the only decent beverage he can procure. Kitty rises to change places, there is a slight confusion with the chairs, the two glasses, her shawl, which tumbles to the ground, and for the first and only time her face—conspicuous by its beauty and freshness—is visible to the house, and James Ainsley.

With a start he turns aside and catches Sydney Calthrop's arm.

"What is it?" demands Calthrop, though he knows quite well.

"She—Miss Trevelyan is here—you were right—in the box opposite!" gasps James.

Sydney Calthrop starts, melodramatically, and utters an exclamation of dismay.

"What, alone?" he exclaims.

"No, no!" returns James hurriedly; "with Lord Reginald, of course."

Sydney Calthrop whistles.

"I was right after all; and now, what is to be done?" and he stares honest James in the face as vacantly unresponsive as if he had not already planned out the course to be adopted—which he certainly had.

"I—I—don't know," confesses James. "Of course, we must go to them; we must do that, although I am afraid Kitty—Miss Trevelyan, will be offended; you see, she does not like anything of this sort."

"Hem, yes," says Sydney Calthrop, apparently lost in thought. "Miss Trevelyan is a young lady of high spirit, anybody can see that, and it really would be scarcely the thing for us both to descend upon her as if we were constables come to march her off to prison. If I might suggest—"

"Yes!" says James, with all the eagerness of a weak, though honest, mind to lean upon an astute, though dishonest one. "What is it?—we—we—mustn't be long, I'm sure, they won't stay much longer—"

"How would it be for you to go into the box—drop in just a casual way, and, after getting rid of Lord Reginald, say that you have got a fly ready; of course their present intention is to walk home, which would never do! Why, every one in Burlington would recognize them. No, we must get a fly and smuggle them into it—"

"And ourselves, too," interjects James.

"Ourselves, likewise, of course," assents the other, with a quiet, suspicious glance at the downcast, bewildered face, "and let the man drive us—say to the end of the lodge lane; there we can get out and all stroll in as if we had been for an evening ramble."

James groans.

"All this plotting deception is terrible!" he says, thinking of Kitty with true manliness; "but it must be done, I suppose," and he glances ruefully at the box opposite.

Sydney Calthrop nods gravely.

"Yes, and at once, I think, Mr. Ainsley. Go you and put a smiling face on it, and I will order the fly to be at the door in twenty minutes. Whether we are back or not, get her out of the theater and into the fly; if we are not at the door—if there are many people about I shall keep Lord Reginald out of sight. You can take us up just at the corner of the marketplace. Don't you think this is the best plan?"

And the Worst is Yet to Come—

"Yes," said James, but not very enthusiastically, "perhaps it is. I—I'd better go," and he moves to the door.

Sydney Calthrop goes with him as far as the end of the corridor, and then hurries off, saying as he goes:

"In twenty minutes. Get rid of Lord Reginald at once—say I am out here; I'll wait in the refreshment room."

CHAPTER XVI. LOVE PREDOMINATES.

IT is all told so quickly that the weak points of the plot, which in a cooler moment James could not fail to detect, are passed over by him unnoticed, and he goes on his errand to dupe as he is duped.

Outside the door of the box he notices his black gloves, and takes them off so that Kitty may not be reminded of the impropriety of his presence in such a place so soon after his uncle's death—and then knocks with his bare knuckles against the thin panels.

At that moment Kitty is leaning as far forward as she dare, laughing at the antics of the clown. Reginald is lounging back in one chair with his feet on another; both children are supremely happy and fearless. But at that knock conscience makes cowards of them both. The laugh dies away on Kitty's lips, and she turns to stare apprehensively at Lord Reginald, who slowly removes his feet from their elevated position.

"Put it over your head, won't you?" he asks, not daring to do it himself; though longing with all his timorous heart.

Kitty is obedience itself, and makes a hood of the shawl, then she puts her hand upon his arm.

"Are you cold?" she asks, raising her brows.

"It—it is a little chilly," says James. Kitty stares at him; there is a brilliant flush of heat and excitement upon her cheek. Cold!

"You ought to have the shawl!" she says, with a laugh, and they go down the slim staircase, empty as yet, and find a fly waiting at the door. James breathes a sigh of relief.

"Reginald doesn't seem to be here," says Kitty, hesitating.

"We can't wait here for him," says James, hurrying her on, and looking nervously behind him; to his excited imagination all Burlington is clattering down the stairs to stare and whisper at "Miss Trevelyan, of the Lawn."

"He will be at the corner of the marketplace—he and Mr. Calthrop. For Heaven's sake get in, Kitty, or you will be seen."

"You are more frightened than I am," she says; "but I suppose we had better get in," and she springs into the rickety conveyance.

"Two gentlemen—at the marketplace—take them up!" says James to the driver, and then gets in himself.

The driver—he has been waiting for an hour, and drinking beer—nods obtusely; he has received his directions already, and more distinct ones, and drives off.

Kitty throws herself back with a sigh of satisfaction and regret.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Ready prepared, and saves a whole lot.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It is cheap, but for prompt results is beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly breaks the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

she should be seen. Even at that moment, love predominates, and he flushes as his hands come in contact with the soft, silky hair. He wraps her shawl round her with the greatest care.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

If you are afflicted with skin disease, the kind that seems to baffle medical treatment, and leaves you wild with itch, do not fail to investigate a prescription that is now recommended by many of the best skin specialists, even in preference to their own prescriptions. This is the simple, soothing, liquid external remedy, D. D. D. Prescription. This liquid stops the itch instantly, and effects a cure that is permanent. In fact, it took thousands of cures, case after case, before the best doctors were convinced of the absolute merit of this remedy.

It is now thoroughly established among medical authorities that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ, and curable only through the skin. It is not a blood disease at all. The effect of D. D. D. Prescription is to penetrate the pores, kill the disease germs and to soothe and heal the skin, restoring it to its healthy condition.

D. D. D. has been found to be especially effective in all forms of Eczema, Red Leg, Pimples, Dandruff, Ulcers and other skin diseases.

SHIELDING HIS SUBJECTS.

LONDON, Dec. 6. The London newspapers to-day print an interview with Mohammed VI, the Turkish Sultan, obtained by a British correspondent in Constantinople, who describes this ruler as a very different personality from his two brothers who preceded him on the throne. Mohammed VI, says the correspondent, gives one the impression of possessing a strong character and considerable intellectual force. He is tall and slender and his appearance suggests a university professor. In talking with the correspondent the Sultan condemned the unwise and the lack of foresight which brought Turkey into the war and led her to the calamity which has befallen her. He declared that if he had been Sultan this would never have happened. The ruler expressed great sorrow at the treatment of the Armenians by "certain political committees of Turkey," and added, "Such misdeeds and the manual slaughters of sons of the Fatherland have broken my heart. I expected an inquiry as soon as I came to the throne, so that the fomenters might be severely punished, but various factors prevented my orders being carried out. The matter is now being thoroughly investigated. Justice will be done and we will never have repetition of these ugly events." The Sultan asked the interviewer to publish the following from the ruler: "The great majority of the nation is entirely innocent of the misdeeds attributed to it. Only a limited number of persons are responsible."

THE RHINE REACHED.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 6. German troops on Wednesday entered the Rhine, capital of the province of Rhenish Hess, and one of the principal fortresses of Germany on the left bank of the River Rhine, according to the semi-official Wolff Bureau of Berlin.

DON'T WANT TROOPS SENT TO SIBERIA.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 6. The Winnipeg Trades and Labor Congress at its meeting last night, passed a resolution demanding that Canadian troops now in Siberia and Western Russia be withdrawn and that troops being mobilized in Canada to invade Russia be immediately telegraphed to demobilize.

RESULT OF BOLSHEVIK RULE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. Petrograd is like a deserted city with probably one-half of its population gone through starvation and terrorism, according to Swedish press reports forwarded to the State Department. No details were made public.

SEES NO DANGER.

BERLIN, Dec. 6. Regarding the danger of a counter revolution in Germany, Hugo Haase, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said today, "Counter revolutionary tendencies exist, but I see no danger for the Socialist Government. The return of the old regime is impossible."

WANTS NATIONAL ASSEMBLY CALLED.

BERLIN, Dec. 4. Eight hundred and forty-six members of faculties of German universities have signed a statement demanding the earliest possible convocation of a national assembly. Among the reasons given by the signers is which comes into office on March 4, likely will be dominated by Republican imperialists who will oppose President Wilson's fourteen points. The call concluded, "If we desire an even half-way tolerable peace which would serve the vital interests of Germany, we must at least conclude a temporary peace before that time."

BENEDICT'S ENCYCLICAL.

ROME, Dec. 6. The encyclical letter addressed by Pope Benedict to the Catholic episcopate throughout the world exhorting it to offer public prayers for the guidance by Providence of the approaching peace conference, bears the date of December 1. It says in part: "That which the entire world so longs for, that for which Christianity implored with fervent prayers, and that we, interpreting the common grief, urged with paternal heart for the good of all, has in a moment come to pass as the last booming of the guns is silenced. Peace has not yet solemnly ended the war, but an armistice meanwhile has suspended the slaughter and devastation by land, sea and air, happily opening the way for peace." The Pope attributes the end of the war to Him who governs all events, who moved to pity by the persevering prayers of the good, conceded at last that humanity might recover finally from so many griefs. The Pontiff rejoices at the impressive demonstration of piety that has occurred throughout the Catholic world, and continues: "There remains now to implore the Almighty that the great gift granted us have its crowning, that the delegates of the various nations to meet in solemn congress to give the world a just and lasting

RUSSIAN DICTATOR WORKING HARD.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. The Russian Embassy was advised to-day that Admiral Kolchak, dictator of the all-Russian Government at Omsk, has announced he is working solely for the national reconstruction of Russia and will utilize military forces only for the purpose of restoring order in Russia and in maintaining the government. Political strife which impeded the work of the administrative bodies during the past two months has been eliminated and "extraordinary economic conferences" have been convoked for the purpose of uniting all the economic, industrial and other forces of the country. Measures are being taken to obtain improvement of economic conditions not only for the army but for the civil population in the districts freed from Bolsheviki control.

WILL BE INFORMED.

LONDON, Dec. 6. Arthur J. Balfour, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in outlining his views on the peace conference to-day, told the Associated Press that he thought the meeting in Paris this month would be merely informal, and preliminary to the conference of the associated powers at the first of the year, which would formulate all the important terms of peace agreements. This conference, he added, would be the most important and the longest of the series. When it was finished the enemy countries would be called in to ratify the conclusions reached. Mr. Balfour said the British Government had not yet made any fixed arrangement for President Wilson to visit England as it would be premature to do so until more was known regarding the President's own plans. Great Britain would be guided solely by his wishes. The Foreign Secretary said he believed the question of a League of Nations was the most important subject to be discussed at the conference. The work imposed on the conference, he said, was a valuable contribution to civilization, he declared, "I think," continued Mr. Balfour, "a League of Nations a vital necessity if this war is to produce all the good we expect to come out of it. The United States would have to bear a large share in the work it involves. It should be something more than a mere instrument to prevent war. The world is more complicated than we are inclined to think. It would be folly to imagine it possible to constitute a world with States endowed with equal rights and powers. But I wish to say emphatically in my opinion to devise in concert workable machinery for them is one of the highest functions the conference can deal with."

OPENS IN JANUARY.

PARIS, Dec. 6. The opening of the Peace Congress has been set for the first week in January. It is expected here that the peace deliberations will last about four months, unless unforeseen obstacles arise. The belief prevails in well informed circles that final action will be reached toward the early part of May. The British delegates to the peace conference will be Premier Lloyd George, Foreign Minister Balfour, Chancellor of the Exchequer Bonar Law, Labor Minister Barnes, and a fifth representative who has not yet been selected.

JUST LIKE OUR PREMIER.

LONDON, Dec. 6. Premier Lloyd George has taken up his old role of conciliator. He returned to London to-day from his speaking tour and took charge of the railway situation. The Premier conferred with Sir Albert H. Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, after which Sir Albert received representatives of the railwaymen and explained the Premier's attitude. The result of the Premier's mediation soon developed when word was sent from the conference that a beginning had been made by granting the locomotive men an eight-hour day. The settlement includes Ireland and becomes operative February 1. Other conditions remain unchanged while committees of both sides review wage and other questions.

RAILWAY FATALITY.

ORLEANS, France, Dec. 5. An express train from Orleans last night crashed into and telescoped another train loaded with American material near Mung-Sur-Loire, eleven miles southwest of this city. Twelve bodies have been removed from the wreck and identified. Other dead still remain in the debris. Twenty-five persons were injured and four of the railroad cars were smashed to bits.

NOW AMENABLE TO LAW.

BERLIN, Dec. 6. The Prussian Government has formally withdrawn the privilege heretofore held by the members of the Hohenzollern family, of immunity from law.

ELEVEN SAILORS MISSING.

LONDON, Dec. 6. Eleven men are missing as the result of the British warship Cassandra coming in contact with a mine in the Baltic Sea last Wednesday night, according to an official communication issued by the Admiralty. The text of the Admiralty statement says, "The British warship Cassandra struck a mine in the Baltic just before midnight Wednesday and sank at 1 a.m. Thursday. Eleven men are missing, presumably they were killed by the explosion. The remainder of the officers and crew were saved by our destroyers." Available shipping lists of British admiralty ships do not contain the Cassandra.

Youth and Age

"SO this is your birthday, grandmother."

"Yes, dearie, I am seventy-five years old to-day. It doesn't seem possible, for I don't feel old."

"And you certainly do not look old. Besides, you are always so happy and cheerful that you do not seem at all old."

"A woman is only as old as she looks you know, and I have always tried to keep young and healthy."

"And were you never sick, grandmother?"

"Oh, yes, indeed, there was a time in my life when I never expected to live to be fifty, say nothing about seventy-five. When your mother and my other children were small I had my hands full and got run down in health. I got so nervous that I could not sleep and had frequent headaches. Every little thing the children would do seemed to annoy and worry me until, finally, I gave out entirely, and was bed for months with nervous prostration."

"Did you have a doctor?"

"Yes, dearie, I had two or three doctors, but they only told me that it would take a long time for me to regain strength. One day your grandfather came in with some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. He said some one told him that it would cure me, and he went away to the drug store and bought half a dozen boxes."

"What did your doctor say about using it?"

"Well, what could he say? He only said that he had done all he could, and that he had run across a great many cases in which the Nerve Food had been used with excellent results. So I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it was not long before I was on the way to health and strength."

"And did it cure you?"

"Well, the best evidence is that I am here to-day, well and happy, after all these years. And I am more than ever enthusiastic for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for I have used it several times during the last few years when I felt that I needed some assistance to keep up vitality. As a person gets older I think their blood gets thinner, and they seem to need something like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to increase their strength and vigor."

"That is something worth knowing, grandmother."

"If you will take my advice, dearie, you will not forget about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when you get run down, tired out and nervous. This has been my advice to a great many people, and I know that it has done them good."

"EU" IN SOCIETY ISLANDS.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.
Consular advice to the State Department to-day from Papete, capital of Tahiti, in the Society Islands, said Spanish influenza had presented a grave situation there and that the authorities had sent out an appeal for assistance. EARTHQUAKE REPORTED.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.
An earthquake of great intensity approximately 2,800 miles south of Washington was recorded early to-day on the seismograph at the Georgetown University Observatory. The shocks beginning at 3:45 o'clock and continuing one hour were so severe that one minute after four o'clock the windows were dislodged from the masonry.

GERMANS OPPOSED TO MILITARISM.
LONDON, Dec. 6.
The man who more than any other person is responsible for Germany's present policy is Ernest Daumig, according to the Berlin correspondent of the Daily Express. Daumig told the correspondent of the Express that it was the Government's intention to get rid of all persons belonging to the old regime. The strength of the new German Army, Daumig said, would be decided at the peace conference. He did not think Germany would need much of an army or navy. The Germans he said were totally opposed to militarism and wished to live in peaceful understanding with other nations.

VANCOUVER FELT SHOCK.
VANCOUVER, Dec. 6.
This city was shaken violently by an earth tremor at 12:45 this morning. The tremors which appeared to be from North to South were felt for two minutes. A distinct rumbling was noticeable.

WILL PUNISH THOSE RESPONSIBLE.
LONDON, Dec. 6.
In the detailed restatement of his policy issued by Premier Lloyd George to-day calling for the trial and punishment of the men responsible for the war however high their place, he pledged the entire influence of the British Government at the peace conference to see that justice was done. In declaring for the expulsion and exclusion of all enemy aliens from British soil, the Premier pointed out that a considerable proportion of enemy residents in United Kingdom during the war had abused their hospitality and have forfeited their claims to remain. In the course of his speech the premier said the British Government referred the question of the criminal culpability of the Kaiser and his accomplices to their law officials and some weeks ago they invited a body of jurists in England to investigate the matter and they have unanimously come to the conclusion that the Kaiser and his accomplices in the making of this war ought to be tried by an international court. They also reported strongly in favor of the punishment of those guilty of murder on the high seas and the abominable ill-treatment of prisoners.

ANXIETY OVER TRANSPORT.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.
The army authorities here announced to-day they had been unable to get in touch by wireless with the United States Steamship Company since yesterday afternoon. The last wireless message received from the vessel, which is returning from Europe with American wounded troops, reported she was delayed by a heavy storm but was not in distress. The ship is four days overdue.

BRITISH WARSHIPS PROTECT ESTHONIA.
PARIS, Dec. 6.
(Havas)—British warships have entered the Russian seaport of Reval according to the Petit Journal, in answer to an urgent request from the government of Esthonia. Similar action will be taken, the newspaper adds, if any other of the small Baltic nations ask Allied protection.

MASSACRE OF JEWS.
STOCKHOLM, Dec. 6.
Nine hundred and fifty victims of the anti-Jewish outbreak in Lemberg, Galicia, have been buried so far, according to advices received here. Many bodies are yet lying in the burned buildings, it is added.

BRITAIN INCREASES PENSIONS.
LONDON, Dec. 5.
The British government has decided to increase war pensions owing to the high cost of living. The increase will be twenty per cent. It will begin as from Nov. 1 and will extend to the end of next June.

PEACE BY APRIL.
PARIS, Dec. 6.
(Havas)—The inter-Allied conference at Paris to deal with the peace preliminaries will open on December 1, according to the Echo de Paris. The sessions of this body it is thought will end about January 15, when the preliminary sessions of the peace conference will begin with the admission of the German plenipotentiaries. The probability that the conference may finish its labors at the end of April or at the beginning of May is indicated according to this journal.

New Partnership.

The latest partnership to be formed in the city is that of Bowring and Miller. Purchasing the machinery of the Empire Wood Working Co., they had it installed in a building specially taken over for a wood working factory. This is the building on Thomas Street, just off Water Street, formerly used by Hon. M. Power as a co-operative and it is well suited for such a factory. The machinery consists of a planer, a resaw, a moulder, a buzz planer, a table saw, a hand saw, an automatic grinder (for sharpening all kinds of blades and knives), a mortiser, a planer, and a variety miller. A large staff of skilled and competent carpenters and workmen are employed, and the factory can handle all kinds of work. The location is near the station and in other ways is very accessible. Mr. Bowring is well known as a contracting carpenter while Mr. James Miller is one of our best mechanics, having supervised the building of the Port Union plant, and with two such energetic and experienced business men at its head, the Bowring and Miller Wood Working Factory cannot but be a big success.

ATTENTION!
Wednesday, Dec. 11th, is a date well worth remembering. It is the day on which the Congregational Ladies' Aid Society will hold its Annual Sale of Work. It will be the event of the season. The display of Fancy and Plain Needlework, bids fair to equal, if not surpass, all previous efforts. The Handkerchief Stall will be a wonder. The Refreshment Table will be well stocked with Marmalade, Jellies, Cakes, Pickles, etc., of the finest quality. Delicious 6 o'clock Tea will be served, and a grand Entertainment at night. Keep the date open.—dec2,4,7

Jack of all Trades

WAR'S LIMELIGHT IS OF THE HANDY MAN.
The war has demonstrated what an amazing number of handy men live in our midst. When peace comes we hope it will bring with it the opportunity for utilizing to the utmost the labour wealth of these many talented individuals. Time after time the military tribunals have been called upon to adjudicate the cases of men who, if their claims were correctly stated, were veritable "Jacks of all trades." The handy man is very rarely found in large towns. Industry there is too specialized to allow of a man distributing his energies among several occupations. But in the smaller county towns, and in the villages, the handy man flourishes. Take the case of a man who recently sought exemption from a rural tribunal. He was nearly fifty years of age, and worked in a mill from 4:30 a.m. till 6 p.m., and sometimes overtime. But he also helped a baker prepare his batch of bread, rising at four in the morning to do this. After work in the evening he did his own gardening, and was ready to take on the same work for anybody else. Besides this he kept pigs, poultry, and rabbits, while a family of nine young children claimed part of his attention.

The Mechanical Man.
Another man, besides his daily occupation as postman, did pig-killing and curing, hair-cutting, whitewashing and thatching. But perhaps it is the man with a mechanical bent who is most likely to win our admiration. He works on the railway, but utilizes his spare time in repairing boots and shoes, cleaning watches and clocks, repairing umbrellas, mending pots, pans, and kettles. He can do a bit of rough carpentry and there is scarcely any mechanical job which he cannot tackle with profit to himself and satisfaction to his client. Urgent need to find money to keep the wolf from the door is the impelling factor in most of these cases. But others find in the work a means of rapidly amassing what is reckoned wealth among working men, while a few almost work themselves to death to find the means for gratifying an insatiable thirst for drink. It is the handy man who has made the British Colonies what they are—the paradise of the worker. Let us hope that when the war is over he will find his way to Britain—Over-the-Sea in ever-increasing numbers; there to accomplish the double task of filling his pockets, and replenishing the Empire's exhausted treasury.—Answers

What to Leave
By RUTH CAMERON

"The hardest thing in writing," says the Author, "is not to know what to say, but what to leave out." Of course the Author is not particularly original in this statement. It has often been said before in one form or another. I remember, recently reading, a sonnet in which the author asked what he was doing, and what he was leaving out. The Author is not so original as he seems. He reminded me of a similar fact (no originality): namely, that one of the hardest things in the fine art of writing is knowing what not to say and what not to do.

at the Positive, Bad at the Negative.

Many people who are fairly good at the positive side of living, fall down when it comes to the negative side.

They don't know where to stop. In other words, they lack the common quality of restraint.

Don't you conscious of knowing many people in whom this lack is the very thing that makes the whole instrument imperfect?

People who would be interesting if they knew when to yield the floor to someone else and what to leave out, who only achieve the distinction of being considered bores by their inarticulate outpourings:

They Become Officious.

People who want to be helpful, and who only succeed in being officious and annoying because they don't know when to stop.

People who would be amusing if they only stopped at the right point, who keep on and become clownish or tiresome or vulgar?

Breeding and education and character-development inculcate restraint. In fact, of course, much more self-control in the young than in people of mature years. Occasionally over-restraint or an undue harshness in the setting of life will result in too much restraint.

What to Leave Out.

By BUTH CAMERON.

The hardest thing in writing, says the Authorman, "is not to know what to leave out." Of course the Authorman is not particularly original in this statement. It has often been said before in one form or another. I remember, recently reading a memoir of a certain historian spent his going over his proofs, and asked what he was doing said, "I'm leaving out adjectives."

People who are fairly good at the positive side of living know when it comes to the negative.

They don't know where to stop. In other words, they lack the quality of restraint.

They become officious. People who want to be helpful, and who succeed in being officious because they don't know when to stop.

Many of us in this danger. Certain kinds of manufacture—writing of steel for instance—has had just the right treatment to produce the desired consistency. To stop short of that point would ruin the product, to go beyond would do the same.

To impose too little on oneself ruins one's effectiveness, likewise to impose too much. How few of us need to beware the latter danger!

The effect is stupendous. The first was dropped on an enemy aeroplane around which was planted a veritable trieze of "archies" and searchlights. At the explosion every gun was silenced, the whirling bars of light were cut off, and the pilot groping home in darkness pondered whether his new weapon were as effective as the last poison-gas which the sergeant said not only killed the soldiers, but got in the paybooks and wiped out the next of kin!

The new bombs are very heavy, and dropping from immense heights may be exploded far above the earth, sprinkling the shrapnel and fragments over many acres of enemy territory. One recalls the big shell of the Queen Elizabeth which at Gallipoli was burst over a Turkish brigade in waiting, and the 2,500 fragments practically wiped them out as a fighting force.

Equal results are expected from the new bombs over enemy concentrations, aerodromes and cities. The long curves of our Independent Air Force mean in fact that enemy aerial resistance west of the Rhine is almost at an end, and during the long winter night Berlin is likely to hear at first hand the bombs of our aviators.

The secret of these new "terrors" has been well kept. While allowing the Germans to boast of their scientific prodigies, our chemists and framourers have been at work, with the result that heavier charges, more efficient "bursts" and a greater certainty of fire than ever has been obtained.

The German lead has again been outdistanced, and in their raids on and over our lines very out-of-date bombs are being used. Even our smoke-bomb is as yet a puzzle to their scientists, and a great protection to attacking infantry and artillery.

His Boy, Bill.

He was sick at heart and glum. For his boy's not going to come with his comrades gayly marching To the music of the band. He was pale, like someone ill, For his brave and big boy, Bill, is sleeping there at Argonne. Where he made his final stand. And he whispered: "See a shame. Two days later, victory came."

"One there was, unseen, unheeded. With the strength and courage needed To dismay the tyrant monarch And to check his rush of hate; One there was, by death undaunted, Struck the blow that Freedom wanted."

Then I saw his eyes grow bright With a touch of new delight As he caught a distant vision Of the way his boy had died; And in accents clear, unbroken, "It may be as you have spoken, BILL, I know, would die to win it; He was that kind," he replied. Then he added, with a sigh: "What a glorious way to die!"

A German Republic Can Pay.

Worcester Telegram: The largest debt owed one nation by another is that which is bound to be disputed between France and Germany. There is a real France but a chaotic Germany to carry on the argument, but the French have a chance to make good, because they can insist before the world peace council, which must be more or less a court of bankruptcy at some stages of its sessions. The Paris Matin says Germany owes France $68,000,000,000, itemized this way: Return of the indemnity of 1871, with interest, $12,000,000,000; expenses of the world war, $28,000,000,000; pensions, $8,000,000,000; reparations for damages, $20,000,000,000. No profit is figured into that.

It sounds just as this distance, but the figures are so large that the layman may be confused by the billions. It has not been the habit to force a nation to pay back an indemnity collected after a previous war, but that looks all right for the nation of Hunns. The Socialists may be able to prove that Germany is no longer Hunland, but the French have the preference in any court of the world right now. If that bill of France is allowed, and the others in the same proportion, the Germans will be made to pay a full $15,000,000,000, and perhaps more, as previously estimated. Socialism can never do it. Plain, earnest republicanism for Germany should be the insistence of the peace council. Nothing else will ever pay the big bills.

There was someone in that struggle Who broke down the tyrant's will; One on whom the world depended, Brave and big and strong and spindled. Who changed all the tides of battle, And it might have been your Bill. Two days after Bill had fought, Came the victory men sought.

House That Sings

Among the many strange buildings in India one of the most curious is a house which actually sings. Except for its extraordinary exterior decorations, it is, to all appearances, no different from other buildings in the neighbourhood, but as the wind sweeps round its niches and caves a very curious singing noise is omitted, which can be heard for some distance down the street.

For a long time the music remained a mystery, but at last an engineer solved the puzzle. He discovered that the sound was caused by the material with which the house was built—a porous cork stone, and the wind, blowing through the little holes, was the cause of the music. The building is known as the Palace of the Wind, and is situated at Geypore.

Milady's Boudoir

The effect of the eyebrows on the appearance and character of the face is seldom appreciated except by an actor, who in presenting a part addresses himself with all the skill he possesses to make the eyebrows do as much as possible in his makeup to express what he is supposed to set forth.

The eyebrows are very easily trained to an attractive manner of growth. It is, therefore, amazing that women do not take advantage of this fact and cultivate their brows.

Eye-brow brushes may be obtained in the shops, but a small fine toothbrush answers the purpose very well. With it the brows should be brushed night and morning to promote their gloss and train them into the proper shape. High-arched delicate brows indicate the aristocrat.

If they are thin a drop of olive oil or almond oil or a bit of pomatum or vaseline should be rubbed gently into them. The eye needs the protection of dark lashes and brows, so this is care which health dictates as well as beauty.

Ill-shaped brows may be disciplined into the proper outline by running a mullage brush over them at night. Dip it in gum tragacanth or quince seeds dissolved in elder flower water, rosemary or rosewater. Let the gum dry on and wash off in the morning with warm water. A month or two of treatment will reduce quite unruly brows to submission and coarse hairs will drop out.

Spices should be kept in air-tight cans. Ice cream can be sweetened with honey. Never boil a soup bone in an iron vessel. Pure alcohol will clean white kid gloves. Fine ashes are excellent for scouring.

Nuts can be chopped with a biscuit cutter. Rice flour can be used for thickening custard.

Compensation.

Newfoundland has a bill against Germany for compensation in the case of steamships and sailing vessels torpedoed and shell-sunk by German submarines. This bill amounts to no small total either. The suggestion made by a contributor, whose article is published beneath, that now is the time to be up and doing, is very appropos. We do not know if those who endured loss by sea from enemy ships, have prepared their claims against the German Government, for presentation at the Peace Conference, but if they have not already done so, they should lose no time in furnishing documents showing their actual losses sustained. To not do so would be unpatriotic, as Germany must be made pay for every sinking of unarmed and defenceless shipping, and her debt owing Newfoundland will have to be paid in full.

Canada is already preparing a statement of her claims for marine damage, and the bill of the United States is being made up.

The demands from the Allied press insist on full reparation, restitution and restoration, and until all outstanding liabilities are liquidated Germany is to be as a debtor and debared from the world's councils. Ship for ship, town for town, man for man, and a cash indemnity for irreparable damage. It would be throwing away the fruits of our great victory to permit any sentimental notions of leniency toward Germany to deprive us of that which is due. Robbery has been one of that country's characteristics, its wealth and prosperity having been founded upon assaults and national freebooting. Denmark, Austria and France have been plundered of territory in succession by the robber Empire, and not only was the latter country deprived of her ancient possessions, but she was held up for an enormous sum of money in addition, by the imposition of the iniquitous indemnity of 1871. Not content with seizing the rich and fertile provinces of Alsace and Lorraine after the Franco-Prussian war, Bismarck imposed on the vanquished French nation the burden of a sum, hitherto untold of in history. But now the hour of revenge as well as of glory has arrived for our gallant allies and their bill against Germany, along with the bills of Belgium, Serbia, Italy will be an additional tax on the future of German industry.

The whole German Empire, since its inception has not one brave or disinterested or worthy act to its credit. It has been alike false to friend and foe, and has used its growing power only toward the basest ends. Germany as a Republic is responsible for the payment of indemnities, no less than Germany as an Empire. There can be no evasion. That decision has been already made. Germany stands debited in the world's ledgers for countless human lives, which can never be restored, for the destruction of storied buildings which can never be replaced, for the commission of brutal crimes, for which just punishment must be inflicted, and the only way to make Germany suffer is through the pocket. All her resources will be mortgaged to the Allies until she has made good their financial losses. As Sir Auckland Geddes stated in a public address delivered recently, "To-day is the day of reckoning for our enemies and they will have to pay the uttermost farthing."

Our Bill Against Germany.

We notice by Canadian exchanges that the Canadian authorities and Board of Trade have made out a list of liabilities against the Germans caused by the losses at sea by the submarines during the past four years. Their intention is to place this before the Conference to be held by the Allied Governments in their discussions on the indemnity to be paid by Germany, previous to the signing of the peace terms by that country. This is right and proper and goes to show that our Canadian friends are determined to look after their interests and receive just recognition and remuneration for all the great sacrifices made by that country during the terrible conflict.

Canada has lost very considerably in shipping owing to the brutal warfare conducted by the German submarines, and they are determined to ask for and receive compensation for these losses.

But what about Newfoundland? Are our Government and Board of Trade going to sit idly by, and make no move in the matter for compensation for the great losses sustained by our people during the submarine warfare, whereby scores of our ships were torpedoed and sunk on the high seas by the German pirates? We have only to take up the case of the steamer Stephano, which was sunk without warning on a passage to New York, with one of the most valuable cargoes ever shipped from the port of St. John's, and, we understand, that very little insurance was on either ship or cargo. We are informed that the value of that cargo was in the neighborhood of one million dollars. Then there are many other losses of vessels by submarines, many of them insured in local schemes, which thus became a dire loss to our people.

It would be well for our Board of Trade to take up the matter in conjunction with the Government, and ascertain the total amount of loss caused to our people by the practical attacks and wanton destruction of valuable property. We should say that it will run into some millions of dollars, and now is the time for our people to make a move and demand compensation from Germany for all those losses to which we have been subjected. We have made great sacrifice in the cause of Freedom and Humanity by assisting in wiping out the infamous propaganda of the Prussian militarists, both on land, sea, and in air, and we should make them pay up to the very cent for all the losses to which we have been subjected by the brutal and practical mode of warfare carried out by their submarines. Such warfare is totally at variance with all the tenets of Christianity and civilization. Had the Germans been as victorious as an indemnity they would have demanded! So it is up to our Government now to present their bill, and without any cavilling, demand—Pay, Pay, Pay, and that to the very last cent.

Britain's Day.

To-day is being celebrated all over the United States of America as Britain's Day. Last July the French Nation was honored on Bastille Day, and now Great Britain, or to be precise, the British Empire, has its turn. The celebration of Independence Day, July 4, in the United Kingdom this year, did much to dissipate the misunderstandings between the two great Anglo-Saxon nations, but to the soldiers of the British and American armies is due the final cementing of the kindred peoples in bonds of lasting friendship, never more to be broken. A committee, the honorary chairman of which is Dr. Charles E. Elliot of Harvard University, and the chairman proper, Judge Alton B. Parker, has its headquarters at the Hotel Belmont, New York City. Strong committees have been organized throughout the Union, and there is a wonderful expression of the esteem in which America holds Britain's part in the war, and for the protection the Navy gave the United States against marauding Hun ships. Britain, inadequately appreciated by the American people, is now coming into its own. The Mayor of every city having 5,000 inhabitants and upwards has been invited to join in a nation wide demonstration of American friendship for the British nation and people, and public meetings will be held and band concerts and other special entertainments will be given. British musical airs taking a considerable part of such programmes.

A British poster campaign will be a special feature of the day, the central design being the British Lion, surrounded by his Cubs, 50,000 copies of which have been distributed throughout the country. Military and Naval demonstrations will take a prominent part in to-day's celebrations, and from New York to San Francisco, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, Rule Britannia and God Save the King will be heard for the first time by millions of men, women and children, who will join in a pean of rejoicing in honor of the disappearance of the estrangement between mother and daughter, and their permanent reconciliation.

Police Court.

Two women were charged with the larceny of $120 from an outport man of Port de Grave. His story was that last night, about 9 o'clock, he met one of the defendants outside a nickel, and making friends with her, they both visited a certain back street. In transactions that took place, she appropriated a purse of his containing the amount of $120. The money shortly after, and repaired to the police station, when Detective Byrne was sent to arrest the woman, which he did, she being then in a house on Rossiter's Lane. The woman's story was that she picked up the purse of money after she had left him, and taking the money from it, threw the purse away, and then went home. From there she went into another house on the same street, where the plain-clothes man apprehended her and captured the money. The second woman, who although not with the man and her chum, did see her pick up the purse, and her evidence cleared the defendant. Charles Finch, a Chatham, resident of Ottawa, was before court, charged with evading the head tax Act. Hon. R. A. Squires defended him, and explained that the Chinaman, who was a naturalized citizen of Canada, had not known that Newfoundland was foreign to Canada, but supposed it to be a part of that country, and consequently failed to pay the poll tax. He had his permit to leave Canada, and was merely here on a visit to relatives. Mr. Squires very ably defended him, with the result that the judgment of the court was that he enter into bonds for the amount of the tax until he returned to his home.

The Blue Puttee.

Undoubtedly the brightest spot in town is The Blue Puttee. Rawlin's Cross, any of these evenings after the theatre or nickel show is out—at least this was certainly the impression of our representative who visited there last evening. The parlors were literally besieged by patrons who had called there for hot drinks or cold refreshments after the evening performances and the place presented quite a continental appearance. An up to date piano and piano player has lately been installed and the finest kind of music was dispensed while the refreshments were being consumed. We understand from the capable manager, Miss Baddock, that over forty varieties of Ice Cream Sundae are served and a like number of Soda Drinks while the Hot Drink Department serves Hot Tomato, Clam and Oyster Bouillions, Hot Beef Tea, Chocolate and Whipped Cream, Arbuckle's Delicious Breakfast Coffee and Whipped Cream and other appetizing hot beverages too numerous to specify.

We were also informed that the well known contractors, Messrs. Pigeon & Murphy have plans underway for the enlargement of the parlors by the inclusion of the present "kitchen" or Ice Cream manufacturing department into the parlors, the ice cream machinery being moved elsewhere. When this work is completed the management contemplate making a specialty of serving afternoon teas during the winter months and this will also give better facilities for the steadily increasing trade of the Blue Puttee in providing Ice Cream for public and private dances, private house entertainments, etc.

A point that impressed us about the Blue Puttee was the absolute cleanliness of the establishment. All the glasses, dishes, etc., are thoroughly sterilized before being used and we were given to understand that all Cream and Milk used there is tested daily to ascertain its purity and quality. Only the finest grade of Fruits and Syrups are used, these being supplied by the Hungerford Smith Company, a concern with a world wide reputation, while cake and biscuits supplied locally come from such well known manufacturers as McGuire's Bakery, Johnson's Bakery, W. H. Jessop and other concerns whose reputation for quality and cleanliness is unsurpassed.

We strongly advise our readers to make a call at The Blue Puttee any or every evening that may be convenient.

Creamery Butter Commandeered.

The fact that Great Britain and her Allies need an additional supply of creamery butter is given as the reason for the recent Order-in-Council passed September 30, which commandeered all creamery butter made in the Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec between September 30 and November 9. People in Great Britain now have an allowance of one pound butter per month per person, and Canadian consumers are now purchasing on a basis of two pounds per month per person. Manufacturers of creamery butter now deliver their butter to cold storage warehouses in Montreal which have been designated by the Dairy Produce Commission. Forty-six and a half cents per pound is being paid for No 1 grade; 46 cents for No. 2; 45 cents for No. 3, delivered at warehouse Montreal, freight and cartage paid. These prices apply only to butter manufactured on or after September 30. Each manufacturer of creamery butter must make weekly returns to the Canada Food Board showing quantities and prices of each sale and the name of the customer. No person except the dealer may hold more than sufficient for his own use for thirty days, nor may a retailer or dealer sell to any party, except a dealer, more than is sufficient for the use of the party for thirty days. This means two pounds per person for each member in his household. The Montreal firms designated to receive butter will pay for it immediately after grading by the graders of the Dairy Produce Commission. They will accept the weight of the official weigher, and will receive and prepare the butter for export.—Farmer's Advocate.

INCONCEIVABLE FIGURES. LONDON, Dec. 6th. Great Britain will demand of Germany £8,000,000,000 sterling for Great Britain and her Dominions as reparation for the war, according to the Daily Mail. The newspaper says it understands that David Lloyd George, Premier, will make this announcement in a speech at Leeds to-day. This, the Daily Mail adds, is what the most cost Great Britain and her Dominions and British taxpayers will be relieved of £400,000,000 per annum by German payment. The British Empire, says the Daily Mail, has been prepared by a committee, under Mr. Poincaré, the Australian Premier, and Sir Robert Borden, former Governor of the Bank of England, who is one of the principal members of the committee. It adds that it is expected the report will be published Saturday. The Daily Mail says the French claim for reparation will be infinitely larger than that of Great Britain.

TO KEEP ORDER.

LONDON, Dec. 6th. An official statement on the occupation of Turkish territory in Transcaucasia, issued to-day, says "The Army of Allied troops, either accomplished or impending, into Baku, Batum and other places in Transcaucasia, does not imply any intention of permanent occupation. The objects and measures, which have been necessary and by the Turkish attitude in Transcaucasia, are solely to enforce the terms of the armistice with Turkey, and to facilitate the maintenance of order in those regions, the ultimate status of which must be reserved for decision by the Peace Conference."

UNCONCEIVABLE FIGURES.
LONDON, Dec. 6th. Great Britain will demand of Germany $3,000,000,000 sterling for Great Britain and her Dominions as reparation for the war, according to the Daily Mail. The newspaper says it understands that David Lloyd George, Premier, will make this announcement in a speech at Leeds to-day. The Daily Mail adds, in what the Great Britain and her Dominions and British taxpayers will be required to pay of £400,000,000 per annum by German payment. The British Government says the Daily Mail, has been misled by a committee under Mr. Hughes, the Australian Premier, and Mr. Culliford, former Governor of the Bank of England, who is one of the principal members of the committee. It adds that it is expected the Daily Mail will be published Saturday. The Daily Mail says the French claim for reparation will be infinitely larger than that of Great Britain.

LONDON, Dec. 6th. An official statement on the occupation of Turkish territory in Transcaucasia issued to-day, says "the Allied troops, either accumulated or impeding, into Raku, Batum and other places in Transcaucasia, must not imply any intention of permanent occupation. UNFINISHED GUESTS LEAVE.

DISORDER IN BERLIN.
LONDON, Dec. 6. A despatch to the Daily News Agency says there were serious disorders in Berlin Wednesday by the unemployed. The disorders became so threatening that labor leaders addressed the strikers, promising assistance and pacified them.

DECLINED OFFER.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6. Mr. H. Tatt announced here today that he had definitely declined the offer to become Commissioner to succeed the late National Commissioner.

TAFT OBJECTS.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6. In opposing the wisdom of turning German colonies over to Great Britain and France, former President Taft declared, in an address to the Committee on Information of the League to enforce peace, here to-night, that the safest procedure would be to have them governed by a League of Nations. Mr. Taft declared the United States already is a member of a League of Nations, into which it was driven in defence of the freedom of the seas. He urged that the League should be made permanent at the peace table. Such a League will be necessary in some parts of the world, he declared, in order to enforce the terms of the peace treaty. It will be needed, he added, in order to set up new governments, in middle Europe, which will stand.

AUSTRALIAN CELEBRATIONS.
BRISBANE, Aus., Dec. 3. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Scenes unprecedented in the history of Australia were witnessed in Brisbane on the two days proclaimed by the Queensland Government for the official celebration of the victory of the Allies. Queensland was the only State which organized formal rejoicings. Great demonstrations were arranged under the instructions of Premier Ryan, including processions, thanksgiving services, public meetings and fireworks display. Premier Ryan is leaving this month for England, at the invitation of the Imperial Government, to take part in a Privy Council case, on behalf of the Imperial Government, in a suit arising from the action of the Queensland Government in connection with the Imperial meat supplies.

LATEST!
PRISONERS MUST BE PRESENT AT TRIAL.
MANCHESTER, Dec. 6. Sir John A. Simon, former Attorney General of Great Britain, speaking here to-day said there was nothing worse for a lawyer than to be called upon to prosecute a prisoner who did not appear. He would make it one of the terms of the peace treaty that the nation, to which an accused person belonged, should be responsible for producing that person before an International Tribunal.

BRITISH ENTER COLOGNE.
AMSTERDAM, Dec. 7. British troops entered Cologne at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

GETTING UNDER THEIR SKIN.
LONDON, To-day. An extraordinary meeting of the German Cabinet was summoned at Berlin on Thursday evening to discuss the possibility of the Allies occupying Berlin, owing to Germany's alleged inability to carry out the terms of the armistice, according to Amsterdam advices to the Express.

RESULT OF ILLTREATMENT.
LONDON, To-day. Thirty American soldiers, released from a German prison camp in West Prussia, landed at Leith, Scotland, yesterday, with one thousand British prisoners of war, many of whom were in an emaciated and pitiable condition.

BIG CELEBRATIONS.
NEW YORK, N.Y., To-day. Britain's Day, proclaimed a holiday in New York State by Governor Whitman was celebrated in this city to-day by a generous display of the Union Jack, and a series of dinners and fetes. The Pilgrim Society have a luncheon to-day in honor of the British Army and Navy, and to-night many prominent British and Canadian will be guests at a dinner under the auspices of the Belgrave Institution and the Adrian Club. Special services will be held in nearly all the city churches to-morrow. The morning newspapers devoting leading editorials on the subject, generally pay tribute to the leading part played by the British Empire in the great war.

LAST HOPE GONE.
AMSTERDAM, Dec. 6. The disarming of Field Marshal Von Mackensen's army has begun in Hungary, according to a Berlin despatch received here. The soldiers will not be interned, but will be permitted to cross the frontier.

CAN'T ESCAPE THIS WAY.
LONDON, To-day. If the Allies insist upon the delivery of the former German Emperor and Crown Prince, to an international court of justice, Holland will yield, but will first urge that the Allies consent themselves with an undertaking by Holland to intern them for life in one of the Dutch colonies, according to an Amsterdam despatch to the Express. Holland, it is understood, will suggest that Herr Hohenzollern and his son be placed on an island in either the East or West Indies, where they will be guarded by a Dutch fleet. It is also anticipated that Holland will be asked for compensation concerning a violation of her neutrality, by allowing German troops to pass through the Province of Lemberg on their retreat from Belgium, and receiving German ships from Antwerp. This compensation may possibly be the cession of certain territory along the Belgian frontier, owned by Holland since 1839. Perhaps the southern part of Dutch Lemberg will be demanded. The population of this region is principally Belgian.

SHAKE UP IN CABINET.
LONDON, To-day. Kurt Eisner, the Bavarian Premier, will probably succeed Dr. W. S. Soll as German Foreign Minister. Negotiations on the subject are now proceeding between Berlin and Munich according to the Cologne despatch quoted in an Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Queen of Swansea.
On this date, 1867, schr. Queen of Swansea sailed for "The Cove," with Dr. Dowley who was in charge of the mining supplies on board. The vessel ran ashore at Gull Island, and the passengers and crew jumped on the rocks from the ship-boom. Next day two of the crew went aboard to get food and some canvas for shelter. As they did so, the vessel slipped off the rocks and was driven to sea, taking the men with her. The remainder of the crew and the passengers, among them were two ladies, were marooned on the rock all the winter, and their bodies were found the following spring, they having perished one by one. A diary was found on Dr. Dowley's body, and this is considered one of the most pathetic diaries ever kept. Many people will remember this tragedy.

A Possible Tit for German Tat.
(From the Baltimore American.)
One of the submarine officers at the surrender defended the murder of crews of torpedoed ships as a military necessity, as otherwise they would be left to fight. On the same principle we might refuse the aid to Germany she is asking for, as a military necessity, as otherwise she would be strong enough some day to begin another war. It is a poor rule which will not work both ways.

Lunatics at Large

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Over 180 attendants at Ballynascree Asylum, Ireland, went on strike from that institution at half an hour's notice some days ago, leaving over 1,500 lunatics unguarded. There were in the asylum at the time over 280 cases of suicidal and homicidal tendencies. The committee offered a 10 per cent. pro-arr wages without the bonus, but this was refused.
Fifty patients, several of the most dangerous type, escaped and were still at large yesterday. After six hours' absence the staff were prevailed upon to go to work. The resident magistrate on his own responsibility guaranteed the required wages.

Montreal, Nov. 28.—The Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce has communicated to the Council of the Montreal Board of Trade a copy of an Order-in-Council authorizing a contract to be made with the Gulf of St. Lawrence Shipping and Trading Company, Limited, for the provision of steamship services between Quebec and points on the Lower St. Lawrence on the south shore, Prince Edward Island, the Magdalen Islands and Gaspe ports, including also a port on the western coast of Newfoundland. The company is to provide, in addition to the steamship service, refrigerated plants or icehouses at various points along the south shore of the Gulf, for the fish, meat and produce and to operate these plants in the developments of fish production and other natural resources of the Magdalen Islands, Prince Edward Island, and the north and south shores of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Married Men Read This!

(From the Boston Transcript.)
A translator of the Bible into the New Guinea tongue wanted a proper idiom for the phrase, "Far be it from me to do this thing." He consulted a learned native, who replied, "I understand. We have the precise idiom: 'May I speak to my mother-in-law before I will do this thing.'"
That sounded rather like a joke to the translator, but it wasn't, for in the New Guinea tongue, the wife of the unparadiseable man is for a man to open his lips to his wife's mother.

When Our Fleet Went Up The Dardanelles.

The spirit of these fine lines was surely in the heart of all our men when the British Fleet went on its victorious way through the Dardanelles to Constantinople. An invisible host of men returned their sad salute.
No Briton will ever make that voyage without thinking of the men who died to make it safe.
When the Fleet goes by
With the engines throbbing slow,
And the brave White Ensigns float
In the draught of every throat,
Will you waken there below
Dead men of Gallipoli whose fame will never die?
When the Fleet goes by
And the crowing forts are dumb,
Will the lids from British eyes
And their kin from overseas
Rise as wreaths unsewn and come
To greet the ships of victory new risen
In the sky?
When the Fleet goes by
Every man aboard shall turn
And salute across the waves
That land of many graves,
Where for evermore shall burn
The shining light of glory where the Touches of heroes lie!

A Bad Blunder.

Commenting upon the belated Admiralty announcement of the sinking of the Audacious in 1914, the Westminster Gazette recalls that that was the earliest serious naval loss Britain had in the war, and says that the concealment of the fact was a bad blunder of the censorship. "It cast a doubt upon the reliability of Admiralty news which lasted until long after a policy of keeping strict faith with the public had been adopted. The announcement this morning states that 'the sinking was kept secret at the urgent request of the Commander-in-Chief, Grand Fleet, and the Press loyally refrained from giving it any publicity.' The testimony to the ability of the Press is deserved, but we say as journalists that the Press kept silent against its own judgment. The fact of the sinking could not be kept secret. Long accounts of it were published in the American papers, which reached Germany, and as a fact the Audacious was included in a German list of vessels sunk while our own people were supposed to know nothing of what happened." The story was widely circulated in Canada also, and thousands saw the New York Herald's picture of the sinking ship.

German Bluff.

The German "bluff" was kept up almost to the end. Day by day the German papers were boasting of the strengthening of the German resistance and the unshaken moral of the German troops. Thus the "Frankfurter Zeitung" declared that the moral of the German troops was the decisive factor in the situation, and that with trifling exceptions it was as exalted as ever. Only a few days before the signing of the armistice the German wireless, reproduced with special headlines in all the German papers, declared that the German lines had been further shortened and strengthened, and that on the whole Foch's great blow of November 1st signified a fresh success for German arms and German leadership. A day later Marshal Foch was sending out instructions to the German plenipotentiaries who came with a white flag, as to the road they should take. And three days later the Kaiser was a refugee in Holland. History has few records of so sudden a collapse, or of such a bluff being played to the last by a tottering dynasty.—Halifax Chronicle.

Portselana.

The use of cement for making blocks in Greece and the neighboring territories is generally found somewhat expensive, for cement is imported in barrels or bags from France or England; but the volcanic island of Santorini, in the Aegean Sea, produces a natural cement called "Portselana," which mixed in certain proportions with lime and sand is an excellent substitute for the best cement. Portselana has been used for many centuries and is still being used throughout the Near East, in the construction of bridges, harbor works, breakwaters, forts, lighthouses, etc., in the Mediterranean, the Black Sea and Adriatic. With it the Venetians constructed the great fort of Monemvasia and Naupli, the then Gibraltar of the western Mediterranean, the foundations of which are in the sea, intact and immovable up to now after many centuries, according to the Near East. The forts of Crete and those of the Dardanelles are also built with Portselana. Small sailing ships are going a continuous trade with loads of Portselana to all the Mediterranean and Black Sea coast.—Scientific American.

Finds Cure for Rheumatism After Suffering Fifty Years!

Now 85 Years Old
—Regains Strength and Laughs at
"URIC ACID"

Go to Fishing; Back to Business, Feels Fine! How Others May Do It!

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over fifty years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures,' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can work with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change."

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Mr. Ashelman is only one of thousands who suffer for years, owing to the general belief in the old, false "theory" that "Uric Acid" causes rheumatism. This erroneous belief induced him and regions of unfortunate men and women to take wrong treatment. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as to try and get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints, by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. Many physicians and scientists now know that Uric Acid never did, never can and never will cause rheumatism; that it is a natural and necessary constituent of the blood; that it is found in every new-born babe, and that without it we could not live!

HOW OTHERS MAY BENEFIT FROM A GENEROUS GIFT.

These statements may seem strange to some folks, because nearly all sufferers have all along been led to believe in the old "Uric Acid" humbug. Look Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out this truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," a remarkable book that is now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of the Telegram wishes a copy of this book that reveals startling facts overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a postcard or letter to H. P. Clearwater, 256-A Street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return mail without any charge whatever. Send now! You may never get this opportunity again. If not a sufferer yourself, hand this good news to some afflicted friend.

A Glorious End.

"WHAT HAVE WE GAINED! THE WHOLE WORLD'S PRAISE, FRIENDSHIP AND TRUST AS IT STANDS AT GAZE."

The armistice which was signed yesterday marks the end of the war and the complete and overwhelming triumph of the cause of right, which is the cause of the Allies. It is not the final treaty of peace. That may not be signed for some weeks or months. It is the end of the slaughter and suffering. The terms which we set forth in this page, though not hard, are such as to prevent any possibility of the renewal of the struggle. The British nation has every reason to receive them with solemn thanksgiving and gratitude.

"The mills of God grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly small." And to Him who has so ordered events that as men look back this war seems like the culmination of all modern history and the final vindication of justice all will bow the head in praise. The Allies have triumphed, not because of their strength, though that was immense, but because they fought for a great and noble cause.

Our glorious soldiers and our Allies have endured to the end. With a constancy which is above praise, after years of agony and effort they have wrested triumph from failure. It is to the everlasting honor of our country that in the hour of decision she turned against the voices which bade her purchase ease with shame. Unprepared when war came, slow to realize what was required even when the Germans in their millions swept down upon Belgium, she yet rose to the emergency with a spirit more magnificent than she had ever before displayed. She has surprised even those who loved her most by the splendour of her efforts, the magnitude of her sacrifices, the unflinching tenacity of her purpose, the generosity and tolerance of her spirit, the matchless heroism of her manhood and youth. The living generation have seen her realize that great ideal of her greatest sons in the past, "of millions of men uniting to form one champion of the oppressed all over the world, and casting aside all thought of self-interest." For our noble Allies no praise can be too high. France and Belgium faced the first shock with unflinching devotion and steadfastness, and have borne without murmuring the wicked devastation of their territory and the cruel oppression of their peoples. Italy after many vicissitudes has achieved that complete union which was the dream of her teachers and poets. Serbia has risen, as it were, from the grave to take a glorious part in the final victory. The United States came to the aid of freedom in its darkest hour. Greece under M. Venizelos rendered precious help. Nor will the free peoples forget hapless Russia, who before German-subvented criminals overwhelmed her had accomplished so much.

In this day of rejoicing there will be one thought present in every heart and home—the thought of the dead who won for us this victory by their sacrifice, and now lie "dark to the triumph which they died to gain." Only the bravest and best are under the soil in France. The redeemed land holds its redeemers. The spring has gone out of our year with the loss of that "swift and joyful generation" which welcomed the call and obeyed. Proudly they gathered, rank on rank to war. As who had heard God's message from afar: All they had hoped for, all they and they gave. Mankind—themselves they scorned to save.

A Lover of Many Ladies.

(By a Neutral Secret Service Agent.)

Like Solomon, Dr. Richard von Kuhlmann, the Kaiser's dethroned peace emissary, about whom the whole world was not long ago talking, loved many strange women.

From his teens upwards, the most accomplished liar in the service of the Fatherland—for thus, I think, he may be described—has been a ladies' man. Girls and young women have lost their heads over him; rich old maids and impressionable elderly married women have lavished wealth upon him with a view to advancing his social and political career. Outraged husbands have thrashed him; he has paid breach of promise damages to more than one lady of the ballet; and, in addition to the scandal in which he figured not long ago, he has been the central character in many unsavoury episodes.

The first of Kuhlmann's matrimonial ventures was arranged for him after long and careful consideration. The hearts of the beauties of Berlin were throbbing wildly. Match-making mammas were spending anxious moments. The idea that this Lothario would marry any but a girl of striking beauty was scouted as untenable.

An Ironmonger's Ugly Daughter. But, unknown to these female aspirants, negotiations were taking place behind the scenes concerning von Kuhlmann's marriage knot. The Powers recognized that one day von Kuhlmann would become a power in German politics. He was young and headstrong and a terror among the ladies. Also he was poor. If his undoubted talents were to be used to the best advantage for the glory of the Fatherland, he must marry not only money but a woman who would conveniently efface herself when necessary, and not cover even the reflected glory which is supposed to be the legitimate portion of the wife of a rising Hun statesman.

From personal knowledge I can state that his Majesty himself had a hand in the negotiations. It is, by the way, one of the Kaiser's pet pastimes to "arrange" marriages. He appointed a small but absolutely trustworthy committee with the delicate task of finding von Kuhlmann a suitable matrimonial mate.

They looked round. Their attention eventually centred on a family called von Stumm. August Wilhelm, the head of this house, was once a humble Westphalian blacksmith. Then he set up as an ironmonger. He simply coined money. He became ambitious, went into society, and by the time he was forty-seven years of age, held an important position in the so-called "Anglo-American" department of the German Foreign Office.

The Beau Brummel of Berlin! Now, von Stumm had a daughter. I have seen her hundreds of times and, without being unduly complimentary, I can say that she was the woman's great fortune was pointed out to him, and Majesty's emissary emphasized how vastly important a part the fat Fraulein could play in his political career. He married her with a set, amused smile on his features and "Pa" Stumm was ennobled.

The Kaiser's capital rocked with laughter. Von Kuhlmann himself was wild with rage. Then the ugly woman's great fortune was pointed out to him, and Majesty's emissary emphasized how vastly important a part the fat Fraulein could play in his political career. He married her with a set, amused smile on his features and "Pa" Stumm was ennobled.

Kuhlmann had exemplified the noblest traditions of the Prussian aristocracy by marrying money, and there the matter ended. His marriage did not in the least degree curtail von Kuhlmann's amours. He practised them all over Europe wherever diplomatic duty called him, and the wife whose money had made the pathway of his life so smooth remained neglected. Only occasionally and for diplomatic reasons did she appear in the limelight.

But even a German woman cannot live without love. Frau Kuhlmann at last tired of being a wife in name only. She had ample evidence for a divorce, and at length she secured her freedom.

Now that he is dethroned, who will von Kuhlmann's second victim be?—Pearson's Weekly.

Cause of Early Old Age

The celebrated Dr. Michenoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused by poisons generated in the intestine." When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. It is 30-40 drops of "Sedger's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound, so

Days the Navy Will Remember.

(Daily Mail.)

On the evening of August 4, 1914, a British cruiser was carrying out a lonely patrol on one of our most important trade routes. For four days she had been at sea, and almost hourly her officers had expected to receive news that war had broken out.

German cruisers were in the vicinity, and their wireless had been intercepted from time to time—events which provided an interesting after-dinner talk at night. In the middle of a general argument on the relative merits of Marconi and Telefunken wireless systems the admiralty secretary appeared at the wardroom door and quietly read out from a paper in his hand: "War will be declared on Germany at 11 o'clock to-night. It is possible that fire may be opened in the meantime."

There was no cheering or outward display of excitement. Conversation ceased for a moment; one or two officers quietly slipped out of the mess, but the majority were content to await the next move. Five minutes later bugles sounded "General Quarters," and the decks resounded with the banging of hatches and hoarse orders shouted to gun crews and ammunition parties. "The Day" had arrived, but we at all events had not been caught napping.

On the night of December 12, 1916, the cruiser was in harbour, no longer a solitary ship miles from England, but part of a great fleet which anxiously awaited the day that the supremacy should be challenged. The wardroom dinner had just finished, and the wine was about to be passed to drink the toast of "The King" when a signal was handed to the commander.

After a moment's hesitation he called for silence and proceeded to read the message aloud. It was the Kaiser's famous peace proposal. On hearing the opening sentences some thought that peace had come suddenly in 1916 as war had come in 1914, but the next few clauses soon banished all such thoughts. Surprise, derision, disgust—in fact, anything but satisfaction—appeared on the faces of the mess.

After dinner the usual amusements were abandoned to discuss the import of the peace proposals. We saw that Germany, in spite of her olive branch, could have no real desire for peace, and had adopted this course to impress neutrals, encourage pacifists, and sow dissension among the Allies in the hope of gaining by diplomacy what she was unable to seize with the mailed fist. It was a relief to know a few days later that the country shared our views.

To-day we await yet another message—one that will tell of our efforts being finally crowned with success. There will be cheers this time and for a few hours at least we shall give vent to our feelings. But later in that night of nights many of us will wonder what the future has in store for the Navy and those who have devoted the best years of their lives to its service. The year 1919 may give the answer. H. B. S.

Xmas Shopping, at any time, is both FATIGUING AND UNSATISFACTORY. Let us demonstrate to you this Season with what ease and promptitude you can SHOP for Men at Our Store.

BEING SPECIALISTS, it is our business to know what Men require in Dress Accessories, our whole time being devoted to studying their every whim, and, invariably, the verdict of our Patrons is: "I LEAVE IT TO YOU, AS YOU ALWAYS KNOW WHAT I WANT."

Our Buyer visited the Markets earlier than usual this year, consequently our large and exclusive selection of Xmas Novelties for Men EXCELS IN VARIETY, BEAUTY, QUALITY AND VALUE any previous effort of ours. To the few who will be unable to reach this BRIGHT AND BUSY STORE during the next three weeks, we give the following helpful hints:—

NECKWEAR.

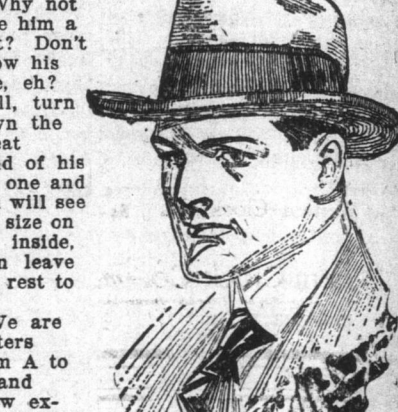

Neckwear is always most acceptable as a Xmas Gift. Everybody knows our Neckwear is unbeatable for its originality of design and superior quality. 6,000 patterns to select from. Prices 75c. to $4.00 each.

SILK PYJAMAS.

Now is the time to gratify that wish he expressed some time ago. We have them in China Silk, very durable quality, and the patterns are most exclusive. Or perhaps he would prefer Jaeger Fine Wool Taffeta. We stock only the best, $12.50 to $15.00 suit.

HATS.

Why not give him a Hat? Don't know his size, eh? Well, turn down the sweat band of his old one and you will see the size on the inside, then leave the rest to us. We are hat makers from A to Z, and know exactly what he wants. We stock the two best makes known to hat makers the world over—Christy's English Hats, Stetson's American Hats. Remember, these makes are not to be had elsewhere. A limited supply of Velours in stock.

SMOKING JACKET.

A Smoking Jacket or House Coat is just what he needs to save his business coat from being mused up when he comes in at night. We have all sizes just now, but secure His at once. You know we stock the celebrated Jaeger brand. None better.

COLLARS.

Perhaps he is short of Collars. We have all the new shapes in every size. What more acceptable than a dozen Collars; or if you wish to add an all-leather Collar Box, we have them as well. Price 50c.

GLOVES.

A pair of Gloves—well, rather! He is waiting until after Xmas to see if he gets them as a gift before he makes up his mind. Our stock is the largest and most select in the city. All sizes and all prices. $1.25 to $2.50. Kid, lined or unlined. $3.50 to $10.00.

SHIRTS.

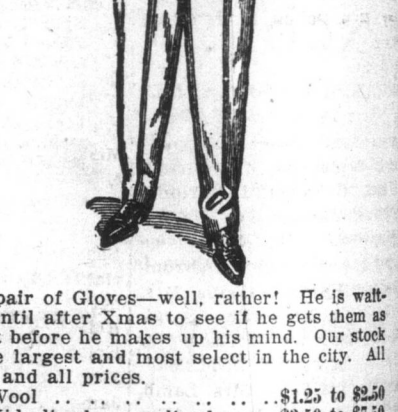

Our Shirts are so well known for their style and durability that they are always appreciated as a gift. We have some beautiful Jaeger fine Wool Taffeta Shirts and the patterns are just the thing he will like. We have a few Silk Shirts in stock that arrived a day or two since. Each one nicely packed in holiday boxes. Leave the size to us.

FANCY WOOL VESTS.

A Jaeger Fancy Wool Vest is a very acceptable gift in this climate of ours, as unlike the sweater coat, it can be worn at all times, and one does not have to change it, thereby running the risk of catching cold. All sizes in stock from 36 to 44. Price $10.00.

UMBRELLAS AND WALKING STICKS.

When in doubt what to give him, let it be an Umbrella or Walking Stick. We have some specials in both from a celebrated English firm. Look them over before deciding elsewhere. Ask to see our Silk Umbrellas; they are wonderful.

DRESSING GOWNS.

A Jaeger Dressing Gown or Lounge Robe is just what he has been looking for. We haven't been able to secure many, so get his early.

CAPS.

Talking about Fur Caps, we have a dozen or so extra specials in Hudson Seal. Why not give him one of these? He would surely appreciate it, as he would keep it for years.

"SPECIAL OCCASION" WEAR.

The First Jewish Flag in the British Empire.

The members of Mt. Sinai Lodge, Toronto, showed a fine spirit of generosity to their Masonic mother at their September meeting, when several handsome gifts were presented to the Lodge by R.W. Bro. H. A. Scully on behalf of the donors. These included a Bible from W. Bro. Brookstone, Altar Jewels of Silver from Bro. Louis Marrus, a complete set of Working Tools from Bro. N. Rosenberg, a set of Wands for the Deacons and Stewards from Bro. J. J. and M. G. Greenburg, a Baton for the D. of C. made of ebony and silver-mounted, from Bro. Wm. Harris. Perhaps the most important of all the gifts, from an historical and symbolical point of view, was a large flag of white silk, edged with pale blue, bearing in its centre the sacred Maugon David also in pale blue. This gift accompanied an interesting historical address by Bro. Dr. M. Schwartz, the donor, in which he expressed the gratitude of the whole Jewish race for the benefits received through the British victories in the Eastern field of battle.—The Masonic Sun.

The Army "Pullman."

Forty Men in an Open Railway Truck is Tommy's Way of Travelling. The night is very dark, and the square, solid shapes of the trucks and old coaches of which the train is composed stand out just a little blacker against the starless sky. In the background are the gaunt ruins of the station buildings, for this place was, before the advance, under enemy shell-fire, and is even now occasionally "strafed" by long-range guns. Now and then the darkness is broken by the flare of a match, as some- one attempts to pass away the dragging moments of waiting with a cigarette or a pipe. If one had the eyes of a cat, one would see a long, double line of men lying on the ground in all attitudes, with their rifles and equipment beside them, some sleeping, some talking and laughing. They have just been relieved from the line, and after a long, tiring march in the night have reached the point where they are to entrain for the vil- lage miles behind the line in which they will spend their period of "divi- sional rest."

Packed Liked Sardines. Presently a voice shouts "Fall in!" The cry is taken up by the officers and N. C. O.'s, and with a sigh of relief the men get up and struggle into their equipment. Then begins a slow, forward move- ment, with a halt almost every few steps, as the men are told off in batches to their respective trucks or carriages. We crane our necks for- ward to see if we are lucky enough to "click" a carriage, although this is a mixed blessing if there are ten men with all equipment in each compart- ment. But the sergeant tells us off one by one as we scramble into the truck, and we immediately dump our kits in the nearest vacant spot. Man after man pours through the opening, until it seems as though there must be at least half the company in our truck alone. Some wag reminds the sergeant that this isn't "the bloom" of Albert, and we all breathe valiantly into the man who deemed this truck capable of holding "40 Hommes." Certain lucky persons produce can- dles, and by their feeble light we settle ourselves down and attempt to get to sleep in our rather crowded temporary quarters. The only possi- ble way to get one's legs out straight is to hang all kit on the walls of the truck and lie sardine fashion head to feet.

Girls Thicken and Beautify Your Hair and Stop Dandruff.

Try this! your hair gets wavy, glossy and abundant at once. To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair: soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recom- mend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, softness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—bring- ing one small strand at a time. Your hair will be glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

A Hopeless Task.

There may be someone in the world who feels sympathy for the Kaiser, but certainly the eclipse of the Su- preme War Lord is hardly more com- plete than the reputation by events of his private soldier, Karl Rosner. With a constant flow of newspaper eulogy, Rosner kept the Kaiser favor- ably in the public eye. Never has press-agenting fallen with a more sickening thud. Rosner's function was like that of the cheerful dunkey, who carries the state umbrellas over Poo-Bah. He was always at the monarch's elbow, ever attentive and ready to interpret the slightest action or accident as a new evidence of the working out of divine right. Did the Kaiser pick violets? Rosner had it noted down. Nothing escaped his eagle look. Via the Crown Printer, from croaked their way into history. Everything that happened, and a lot that didn't, bore some august significance, proving anew the uncommon and immortal fame that was William the Second and Last. Rosner tried hard, but his was a hopeless task. A first principle of journalism is that the goods must be on hand to back up the talk.—Montreal Daily Star.

HENRY BLAIR

W. P. A.

A Conveners' meeting was held at headquarters yesterday morning, and after the usual reports had been received and other business disposed of, the Chairman, Lady Horwood, announced what had been proposed as the activities of the Association for the immediate future. There had been a certain amount of delay, which was unavoidable, in ascertaining just what work was most urgent at present, and most suitable for us to undertake, and for this purpose the Executive Committee has been waiting for replies to the telegrams sent to London some weeks ago, asking for information and advice. It has now been decided that the W.P.A. will devote its energies during the winter months to relief work,—to making and providing clothing for the destitute populations of the invaded countries, as our sister associations in Canada and the U.S. are now doing. The need for such assistance is acute. We are told that the suffering in the devastated districts of war-stricken Europe is beyond description. That in Belgium, France and Serbia are millions of destitute women and children, who in addition to enduring the horrors and bereavements of war, are now in dire need of food and clothing. We hear also that in the Bible Lands of Western Asia there are half a million starving, half-naked people, including 400,000 orphaned children. To do what lies in our power to relieve them is the work to which we are now asked to direct our energies. It is Red Cross work in its truest sense, and Red Cross funds and materials may legitimately be used for this very worthy purpose, as these people are suffering directly from the effects of the war. We are told that the need for clothing is especially urgent—that there is no possibility of having too many garments—and we are asked to make as many simple, sensible garments as we can,—plain dresses and underwear, for women and children, marked with the age, or size for which it is suitable, and with our own W.P.A. label sewn on it, so that the recipients may know that the women of Newfoundland are thinking of them and trying to help them. Shirts are wanted for men, and also socks, so there will be plenty of work for those who prefer to go on knitting and making shirts. The working parties for the most part, will continue their weekly gatherings, and the Workrooms at Headquarters will be open four days a week as usual, and we hope and confidently expect that our workers will come in as large numbers as when we had our lads at the front to provide for. This is the work that is being done all over the Continent at the present time, and the women of Newfoundland must not be behind hand in showing their practical sympathy with these innocent victims of the ravages of war.

Meeting at The Battery.

A most enthusiastic meeting of men was held in the Battery school house last evening. The Rev. Dr. Bond presided, and addressed the gathering on the school question and its needs, and also congratulated the people on having such an efficient school. The Rev. Dr. Curtis, Supt. of Education, was also present, and spoke of the work done in the school, and answered several questions put to him, satisfactorily to all. A friendly discussion then ensued, and a committee of five nominated to be responsible for the school and its upkeep. Several necessary repairs were ordered to be done and the proverbial hat was passed around and every one chipped in and quite a handsome sum was realized. A deputation from the Whirlwind Campaign Committee of Cochrane Street Methodist Church, consisting of Messrs. A. H. Salter, Arthur Mews, A. Peters and H. N. Burt, were also present, and in the order named, briefly addressed the gathering, congratulating all who had contributed from the Battery towards the success of the campaign, and also discussed several matters as to attendance at church and the children's attendance at the Sunday school sessions. Much interest was manifested, and it is expected before long that a good club may be started, so that all can gather together for an evening's enjoyment and discuss various matters in connection with Battery affairs.

The Canadian Book of Common Prayer.

It was with a great feeling of relief that Archdeacon Armitage, custodian of the Book of Common Prayer, received a cablegram from the Cambridge University Press with the mystic word in it—viz., "Safe." Archdeacon on his return from the General Synod prepared the MSS. of the Revised Book of Common Prayer as adopted by the General Synod, and was able to mail it to the publishers on Friday, October 11th. At that time German submarines were hovering around the coast of Nova Scotia, and watching an opportunity to raid and destroy shipping in the lanes of commerce. The cable stating in cryptic fashion that the precious MSS. had survived all the perils of the sea, and had arrived safely in London, is dated November 5th, but

Loses Fake Teeth

While returning home to dinner yesterday, a man was run into by a slide, on which was a number of boys. The man was knocked off his feet by the slide, when he eventually arose to a perpendicular found his false teeth missing. This was a plate holding one set and one denture tooth. The boy had gone out of sight, so he contented himself with searching around in the snow for them but failed to locate a plate, and for a time he feared that had swallowed them. However, when he had gone home, one of the boys came up to his house, and gave him 1 tooth, stating that he had found them in one of his pockets. In his collar with the slide, the break of chain had occurred, and the man was pleased at regaining his teeth that he thought the lad profusely, and called off any grievance he might have had.

A full house greeted "Seven Days" at the Casino Theatre again last night, and the audience was well pleased with the high-class performance. Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood are the authors of the play, which is told in three acts. It is a fine farce comedy of love, marriage and divorce. The humorous and witty sayings kept the audience well alive and all were genuinely sorry when the curtain fell. The cast was as follows: Tubby McKirk, living by his wits, Billy Webb; Dallas Brown, living on his friends, Thos. Brower; James Wilson, living on an allowance, Frank Urban; Kit McNair, living on hopes, Edythe Lee; Bella Knowles, living on alimony; Maisie Cecil; Aunt Selma, living in the past, Lillian Dean; Tom Harbison, living on love, Harden Klark; Officer Flannigan, living on duty, Chas. E. Mills. Last night's bill will be repeated this afternoon and evening, and Monday and Tuesday nights, "The Convict's Daughter," a strong melodrama play.

Hard Trip.

Yesterday afternoon a schooner was seen off Cape Spear showing distress signals. The tug John Green was immediately sent out and reached the vessel at 6 o'clock last evening. The vessel, David C. Rice, was then about 21 miles off Cape Spear. Both got back to port at 12:30 this morning. The Ritcey, Capt. Borden, had been on the coast the past few days, and during the recent storms had her canvas blown away and her mizzen boom broken. For the past few days food and fuel were short and the crew accordingly rationed. The schooner was 54 days from Cadiz and brought a cargo of salt to her owners, Tessier & Co.

N. I. W. A.

At last night's meeting the nomination of candidates for office for the coming term took place, resulting as follows: President, T. M. White; 1st V.P., M. Chipman; 2nd V.P., E. J. Rogers; Rec. Secy., W. J. Nauffts; Fin. Secy., A. E. Earle; Treas., W. J. Maloney; Marshals, E. Best, W. Dunn, G. Easton, Rd. O'Hearn; Trustees, A. Pitman, Jno. Squires, H. Taylor; Auditors, M. Foley, T. Smith, M. J. James; Executive, P. Bennett, J. Cadwell, L. Downs, W. French, J. Furlong, S. Honnesey, G. Hunt, P. Kavanagh, C. Nosworthy, Rd. O'Hearn, Geo. Tucker, W. Willar. The election will be held in January.

Runaway Horse.

Last night, a horse owned by the Fleischman Yeast Co., suddenly took fright. It dashed down Military Road at terrific speed and knocked down one of a group of boys playing around the corner of King's Rd. All who saw the incident thought the boy was injured, but when approached he burst out crying saying he had lost his five cents, or in other words his nickel fare. It is surprising how he escaped unscathed. The horse, unchecked in its course, rushed on with undiminished speed.

The Epidemic.

There are about twenty-five cases at Grenfell Hospital now. Two sailors of the schr. La Berge were admitted yesterday and also one of the Sheba's crew. The following messages were received by Dr. Fraser: 254 cases at Greenspond, whole families being down with the disease. All the residents of Sweet Bay are suffering from Influenza. A young lady is coming from Placentia, by order of Dr. McKendrick, to enter the emergency hospital.

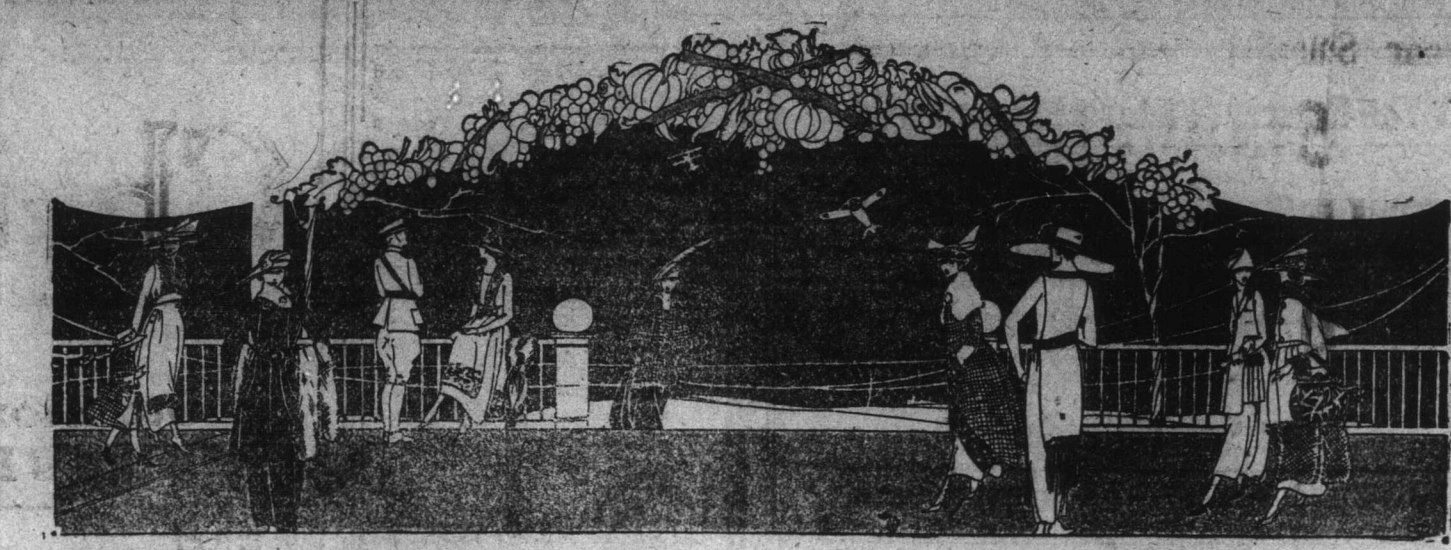

Dangerous Sport.

Boys have been noticed playing on the ice at Mundy Pond. Nearly every year some drowning fatality occurs by reason of boys going on thin ice. Parents should see to it that their children do not go on the ice before Jack Frost has had time to do his work well. The same thing is applicable to sleighing. Children should not be allowed to use sleighs on steep hills at the foot of which traffic is continuous.

Manslaughter Case.

The preliminary hearing in the case of Chas. Rose who is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of the man Barnes, who was killed at Bell Island recently, began yesterday afternoon before Judge Morris. Two witnesses, J. B. Gilliat and Rd. Bugden were examined after which adjournment was taken until 3:30 p.m. to-day. Hon. W. J. Higgins, K.C.D., sitting for Rose and Mr. L. E. Emson for the Crown.

RECOVERING. - Mr. Burgo, the Irishman, who was injured by the Bonavista train running off the track last week is now convalescing rapidly and will resume work in a few days time. The tender and engine have never been placed on the rails.
