Minard's Liniment used by Physicians

Why Not 8% and Safety

The old idea that safety accompanied a low rate of interest has long been put in the discard.

During the past 7 or 8 years, with banking facilities strained to the limit under abnormal demands, borrowers in the AAA class (Broadstreet's highest rating) have been obliged—compelled by circumstances beyond their control—to pay rates of interest without precedent.

Bankers today tell us that money is working easier—THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY to assure to yourself a high interest return for a long period of years, with a large margin of safety, by investing in the 8% convertible debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, carrying a bonus of 30% common shares.

Descriptive Circular on Request.

To W.A. Mackenzie & Co., Ltd.

38 King Street West, Toronto.

Dear Sirs: Please send me a copy of the circular describing the 8% Convertible Debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, and oblige.

Cape Breton Collieries May Order Lock-Out.

U. S. Government Issues Warning to Coal Strikers--Turkish Repudiation of Bolshevism--Ulster Says Death For Bomb Hur- lers.

A MAD POLICY.

SYDNEY, March 23. The coal miners' executive to-day voted 4 to 3 in favor of Secretary's McLachlan's policy to reduce the output until the profits of the British Empire Steel Corporation vanish. If the miners adopt this policy a lockout is expected to follow.

WILL NOT TOLERATE VIOLENCE. WASHINGTON, March 23. A warning that the Federal Government would tolerate no use of violence to prevent coal production during the threatened strike, was issued by Attorney-General Daugherty.

WANTS BOYCOTT REIMPOSED.

DUBLIN, March 23. Richard Mulcahy, Minister of Defence in Dail Eireann, to-night issued statement saying any officer or man attending the proposed conference on Monday of the Irish Republican Army would thereby sever his connection with the army, but that for the present the commanding officer would regard such case as one of suspension. The Irish Labor Party Executive has adopted a resolution calling upon the Dail Eireann to reimpose the boycott against Ulster.

TURKS REPUDIATE BOLSHEVISM.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 23. Turkey's National Government, by action of its assembly, has repudiated the principles of Bolshevism as contrary to Islamic doctrines, and has also decided to place no restrictions upon foreign capital entering Anatolia.

REDUCE WAGES OF RAILWAY WORKERS.

LONDON, March 23. The Central Wages Board of the British railways have agreed upon a reduction of four shillings per week for adult workers, effective on April 1st. This represents an approximate saving of a million pounds in the total cost of working the railways.

DEATH PENALTY FOR BOMB THROWING.

BELFAST, March 23. The House of Commons of the Ulster Parliament to-day added a new clause to the restoration of order bill authorizing the imposition of the death penalty for bomb throwing.

WILL PUSH STRIKE.

NEW YORK, March 23. The general strike of anthracite and bituminous coalworkers set for April 1st, will be prosecuted with the fullest and effective co-operation of the American Federation of Labor, it was announced here to-night after a visit of the miners' officials to President Gompers.

GERMAN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, March 23. All the previous low records of German exchange here were shattered to-day when the mark fell to 39 1/2 or less.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, March 23. The Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne was adopted to-night without division. The Maritime members featured in the closing speeches demanding that the old intercolonial railway, built under the provisions of the confederation agreement, be divorced from the Canadian National railway system and have its management installed at Montreal as under the old regime. While expressing loyalty to Canada the Prince Edward Island members claimed that confederation had been of doubtful benefit to them as they had been cut off from the natural market in New England.

FOUR BILLION DOLLARS BONDS.

WASHINGTON, March 23. The four billion dollar soldier bonus bill was passed to-night by the House by an overwhelming majority. It now goes to the Senate where its fate is regarded as uncertain.

REACHED REPORT STAGE.

LONDON, March 23. The Irish Free State Bill reached the report stage to-day in the Lords, but the third and final reading was postponed until Monday in deference to Lord Curzon's wishes.

REACHES PORT SAFELY.

CHESTERBOURG, March 23. The United States freighter West Caruth was towed into port here to-day after being reported missing.

Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

THE PLOWBOY.
I saw him as a train went by,
A plowboy with a wistful eye,
And this I know, he heard the grim,
Far, noisy city calling him,
And where the train was carrying me,
I knew he dreamed some day to be.

Above the whispering of the trees,
The gentle murmuring of the breeze,
The crows' "Caw!" and the chattering of the birds,
The lowing of the nearby herds,
I could hear the city's constant call.

I think, as oft I hurry by,
That look haunts every plowboy's eye,
He stands beside his horse, and seems
To view the city in his dreams,
And this he seems to cry aloud:
"Some day I'll join the city's crowd!"

Mixed Menu Muddles.

At a luncheon given in his honor by the Merchant Tailors, the Duke of York said:—"I confess I am glad to think that times have changed since the banquet given to James I, when his son was honored as I am to-day. I should hardly have relished the diet of owls and cuckoos with which he was regaled."

A reversion to the tastes of our forefathers would cause some strange dishes to figure on the dining table. In the thirteenth century the heron, the crane, the crow, the cormorant, and the bittern were considered dainties. The hare and partridge were despised, and were never seen on the tables of the rich, Edward I, when he was "Food Controller," fixed the price of pike higher than that of fresh salmon.

In the reign of Henry V, a favourite dish was fresh sturgeon served with wheals. Roast porpoise was also thought fit to set before a king. Another popular dish was sheep's heads soured in ale and served with onions, garlic, and leeks!

In Tudor times it was the general practice to pour honey over meat, and most of our ancestors' dishes would be too rich for modern palates. Even the most accomplished dinner-out would shrink from oysters stewed in wine, pigeons stuffed with gooseberries, grapes boiled in butter, and nuton stuffed with oysters.

But we will still back a public-school dormitory for weird compounds, such as sardines, condensed milk, cake, and jam. The writer heard some boys discussing tasty dishes, and the lover of haddock and pickles seemed to be the leading epicure, until a quiet lad gave an additional order:—"A half-penny-worth of raspberry jam!" Then, when his bloater came, he stuffed it with jam and ate it solemnly, to the admiration of his comrades!

Stafford's Phorotone will cure Coughs and Colds. For sale everywhere.—mar21

YOUNG WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Letter Points Way Towards Relief—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered from the time I was a school-girl until I had taken your medicine with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad at times that I was unable to work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines and was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to have an operation but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how to use it. I am relieved from pain and cramps and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the medicine."—Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14 Rockvale Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. This book contains valuable information.

Gorgeous Presents.

Never before, perhaps, has a bride received so many handsome gifts as has fallen to the lot of "our" Princess. For weeks presents of all kinds have literally showered into Buckingham Palace, until it is calculated the collection, in intrinsic value alone, is worth well over half a million sterling!

From the King the Princess received a tiara necklace and bracelet of sapphire and diamonds, and from the Queen a brooch with a great sapphire as the centre, with diamonds gleaming around it. The Prince of Wales's gift was a bracelet of sapphires and diamonds—a slim straight band. Queen Alexandra gave a gorgeous necklace of pearls and emeralds, with heavy pendants hanging from the rows. The Princess Royal, Princess Victoria, and Queen of Norway have each given a brooch. The Duke of York, Prince Henry, and Prince George presented their sister with a sapphire and diamond ring.

The bridegroom's gifts were the old family jewels reset into a magnificent corsage of sapphires with a sapphire and diamond fringe, and a rivière of diamonds and a diamond pendant with two large pearl drops; Princess Mary's present to her husband was a platinum and gold watch-chain, ornamented with pearls, and a pair of antique silver soured dishes.

From the Earl and Countess of Hereford the Princess received a fine diamond brooch. An antique clock was the gift from the Princess's uncle, great aunts, uncles, and aunts, and cousins, with their signatures in a red morocco and gold book.

The King and Queen's gift to Viscount Lascelles was a picture of Lady Canning, by Winterhalter; and Queen Alexandra's was a jewelled tie pin, while the Princess Royal, Princess Victoria, and the Queen of Norway sent him an enamel-and-gilt cigarette box.

The Royal Navy sent emeralds and diamonds in the form of a negligee pendant. The Army's present to Colonel H.R.H. Princess Mary from all her brother officers serving in the kingdom was a silver antique mirror with trays and candlesticks as a dressing set; and that of the Brigade of Guards was a large diamond pendant with the badges of all the Guards ingeniously grouped in its centre.

There is a long piece of priceless old lace from Lady Farquhar, and a glorious ostrich feather fan from the ostrich farmers of South Africa. Household linen of the finest Irish kind, came from the women of Ulster. "Some men and women of the stage" presented a diamond bracelet and ring; and a number of Princess Mary's close friends gave her a sable coat and an ivory, gold, and enamel tablet case, while her bridesmaids gave her a silver tray with their signatures indented. Earl Haig's gift was a quartette of gilt Scottish pipes as paper weights.

Of the novel presents that from the Prince and Princess Christopher of Greece is notable. It is a clock with opalescent sunrays radiating from a diamond star in the body of the dial. The longest point of the star always points to the hour, and a smaller diamond star moves round and points the minutes.

The Earl of Roseberry gave a peridot necklace pendant and bracelet en suite of great beauty and charm. Lord and Lady Mount Stephen have sent a negligee necklet of finest brilliants, Lady Nina Balfour and Mr. Arthur Balfour gave a silver teapot-stand ornamented with coronet and monogram. The Duke and Duchess of Sutherland contributed an antique French clock.

Magellan, the Navigator

It is four hundred years ago since the daring Portuguese sailor Ferdinand Magellan, by passing from the Atlantic to the Pacific round the southern end of America, proved that the world could be circumnavigated. His was one of the three greatest voyages in the history of the world. Only those of Columbus and of Vasco da Gama can be compared to it, and on the whole Magellan's was the most remarkable of the three. Under the patronage of Charles V. of Spain Magellan undertook to prove the possibility of reaching the spice islands of the Orient by sailing westward instead of eastward. It was a tremendous venture; none but a man of imagination, courage, and resolution could even have begun it; to carry it through to success required heroic qualities. The critical moment of the voyage was the passage round the extremity of South America, through the strait that has ever since borne the discoverer's name. From the time Magellan's little Armada started on the straits a month elapsed before he emerged from the western entrance, to which he gave the name Pacific ocean. The intrepid navigator had to meet every kind of obstacle and difficulty—storm, mutiny, shipwreck, disease. He faced them all and conquered. When he reached Guam on March 24, 1521, his men were dying of scurvy and were eating sawdust and the leather parts of the ship's rigging. But he kept his prow turned westward, and in the end came safe to the East Indies, to the island of Cebu, in the Philippines, which group he was the first white man to visit. It was three years after the five vessels of Magellan's fleet left Seville before the single survivor—the "Victoria"—returned to the mouth of the Guadalquivir. Magellan himself was not on board, for he had been killed a year before in a skirmish with the natives of Cebu. But he did not die until he had done what he set himself to accomplish. He had added much of the greatest importance to human knowledge of the globe; and had given to the world an inspiring example of the great things that can be wrought by dauntless courage and firm resolution.

Woman's Suffrage Meeting.

TRONSON LECTURES AT COLLEGE HALL. REVIEWS BY THE BANK OF INTERNATIONAL ALIANCE.

Mr. K. E. Tronson, visiting delegate and Secretary of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, addressed a capacity audience at the College Hall last night. The meeting was a most successful one, a number of men being present. The lecture was occupied by Mrs. W. G. Tronson, whose eloquence has already been demonstrated at a public platform. Mrs. Tronson spoke for over an hour, reviewing the work of the International Association in five continents. Her enunciation is very clear and her voice well modulated. She gave illustrations of the benefits that have accrued to many of the countries in which women have been enfranchised and have taken advantage of their right to vote. A great deal of information which could not be given in the course of her address. At the conclusion of her address Mrs. Tronson was warmly applauded. A vote of thanks to the speaker was proposed by Mrs. McNeil and seconded by Mrs. Hutton. Both these ladies possessed a fine ability in the art of public speaking. After Mrs. Tronson concluded her remarks she offered to answer any questions concerning the progress of the Woman's Suffrage movement. Only one question was asked by Mr. S. Tucker asking what effect the election of forty women members of the German legislature had on the German thought. Mrs. Tronson replied that their one aim was the betterment of the conditions of the women and children of the Fatherland and to that end peace was an essential. A reception in honour of Mrs. Tronson will be held to-day in the C.C.C. Hall.

The Royal Wedding.
 Solemnized Under Happiest Auspices.

Invested With Full Flavor of Romance.

(Glasgow Weekly Herald, March 4.)

Under the happiest auspices, Princess Mary was married to Viscount Lascelles in Westminster Abbey on Tuesday, Feb. 28. Not for centuries has a daughter of the reigning King been married in the Abbey, and circumstances conspired to invest Princess Mary's nuptials with the full flavour of romance, not the least being the personality and fine war record of her betrothed. It is almost a cliché that the bride upon whom the sun shines begins her wedded partnership with the best promise of future felicity. By her devotion to good causes, her amiability, and her sweet timid beauty, Princess Mary, who has so completely won the hearts of the people, was verily a sunshine bride. Had he planned it himself, the Duke of Atholl could not have ordered better. It was indeed a golden day, and the accompaniments to the wedding ceremony were set in brilliancy outside as well as inside the old Abbey. The sun burst forth about the time the Princess left Buckingham Palace with the King, and its effulgent beams were still in play when she emerged with her husband after the ceremony and drove back to the Palace amid a sustained wave of cheering and the waving of hats and handkerchiefs. The women of London, all but the privileged few who witnessed the actual nuptials, were in the streets, and their unbounded enthusiasm was the measure of the appeal Princess Mary's personality and attachment has made to their hearts.

A STATELY SCENE.

The stream of well-known people making for the Abbey by motor car, horse carriage, and on foot kept the spectators in Whitehall and around the Abbey at a high pitch of curiosity, culminating in the pomp and glitter of the processions whose notabilities, Queen Alexandra leading, embraced three generations of the British royal line. The great diversity of guests within the Abbey, ranging apart from the members of the Royal family, from the Premier to nurses and Labour men, was a distinguished epitome of the national life. It was more, for all the grandeur of the Empire was also there. As these "fair women and brave men" filed into their places, the interior assumed the form of a beautiful mosaic of colour, the dominant chord being struck by the rich uniforms of the gentlemen guests rather than the silks and brocades of the ladies. It was a well-disciplined and outwardly unemotional assembly. Under the ordeal of facing this keenly watching but friendly eyed gathering Princess Mary was a dignified and self-possessed figure. Only when it was all over did her slightly heightened colour bear evidence of any closely suppressed and tremulous emotion within. Of soldierly bearing and healthily tanned in the face, the bridegroom carried himself with the ease and grace of a man who belongs to an illustrious line, and who knows something of diplomacy and the Empire as well as soldiering.

THE SERVICE.

But one remarked more than the proud bearing of the bridegroom and the sweet naturalness of the Princess in her bridal dress of old Honiton lace with its gleam of silver and pearls. The Queen, as always, a striking royal figure, looked paler than is her wont, and her eyes were all for her daughter. The King's gaze, too, was mainly for the Princess. The bridesmaids, charming types of young womanhood and chosen from among the leading families of the British nobility, were perfect in their statuette composure. The accompanying music, mellow and beautiful, led up with perfect effect to the culminating notes of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The bridegroom touched the Princess's hand, and together they knelt as the Archbishop of Canterbury gave out the old solemn charge of the Marriage Service, and the bride and bridegroom pledged themselves to that fidelity which prince or peasant must give to their mate and receive from her. Few of the vast congregation could see the act of placing the ring on the bride's finger or hear the affirmations of the lovers, but a perceptible inclination of the heads could be noted from far down the aisles. This of course was the grand moment, and the silence throughout the church marked its solemnity. In his short and beautiful address, the Archbishop spoke of the new opportunities which had been given to Princess and Peer during the grim war years, and the noble use both had made of them. His words of Goodspeed upon life's partnership found a responsive echo in every breast.

THE WEDDING LUNCHEON.

Apart from the wedding luncheon of the Royal Family there was a second one for over 100 guests, among whom were the Prime Minister, his Cabinet colleagues, and other members of both Houses of Parliament, and officials of the royal household. At this gathering, the health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Viscount Farquhar, the Lord Steward.

After luncheon the two parties assembled in the Blue Drawing Room, where Princess Mary cut her bride cake. Thereafter the marriage register was signed for a second time, this document being for preservation among the archives of the Court. All the signatories of the Abbey register signed it, and additional were Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Chamberlain.

The bride and bridegroom, with the bridesmaids and best man, were afterwards photographed in the Grand Hall, and the guests took the opportunity of bombarding the newly-married couple with rose leaves.

TENDER FAREWELLS.

While the King and his three sons and some of the bridesmaids were outside arming themselves with packets of rice and confetti, the Queen and Queen Alexandra remained in the Grand Hall saying good-bye to Princess Mary and her husband. Both the Queen and her daughter went, lingering long in each other's arms and kissing one another affectionately. Queen Alexandra calmed them by her kind words and sympathetic caresses. Each dried their tears quickly, and, with glistening eyes, smiled once again as the bridegroom with a firm handshake bade the Royal Mother and Grandmother an revoir. Their Majesties could not trust themselves to see the honeymoon pair into the coach, but, standing at the window, they waved a farewell and watched the coach disappear through the archway.

The coach had scarcely emerged from the archway, on the outer side of which the King and his sons and the guests were standing, than showers of confetti and rice fell from their hands on to the bridal pair, who accepted the joyful onslaught with laughing and intimate demeanour. They bent their heads as the showers of confetti grew in volume, and, as they passed beyond the hall they glanced round and waved their farewells.

THE KING'S THANKS TO THE NATION.

On Tuesday evening the King addressed the following message to the nation:—

Buckingham Palace, February 28, 1922.

The Queen and I cannot allow a day to pass which has been to us so happy and so memorable without

THE ROYAL PARTY.

The Queen, wearing her gown of cloth of gold brocade with velvet and her hat of gold with a panache of white ostrich plumes, was seated within the sanctuary, where chairs had been placed for the families of the bride and bridegroom. Over her gown the Queen wore the sash of the Garter and many sparkling diamonds and pearls. Queen Alexandra was on the right of Her Majesty, and after the marriage ceremony, when the bride and bridegroom went to the altar, the King crossed the sanctuary and took his place between the two Queens, who went with him into the Edward the Confessor Chapel to sign the register. On the Queen's right hand was the Duke of York, wearing the uniform of the Air Service; on Queen Alexandra's left were Prince Henry and Prince George in naval uniforms. The Princess Royal, Princess Christian, Princess Victoria, Louise (Duchess of Argyll), Princess Marie Louise, Princess Beatrice, and the Duchess of Albany, the Duchess of Athlone, Lady Patricia Ramsay, the Marchioness of Carisbrooke were on the right of the sanctuary; and on the left were the bridegroom's relations and friends, amongst whom were the Earl and Countess of Harewood, the Countess of Desart, Viscountess Byrne, Major the Hon. Edward Lascelles and Mr. Lascelles.

GEORGE R. & I.

Princess Mary was a lovely bride, serene and composed, though a trifle pale, as she approached the sanctuary and stood on the steps to give her hand to a commoner, vowing to obey him just as do other wives. The Abbey was filled when the bridal procession entered, so it was into a scene of splendour such as is rarely seen that the King stepped with his daughter. Every seat was filled, even up as far as the clerostory within whose grey arches spectators were crowded, with the bright lights of the stained glass windows above framing them.

SCOTTISH NOTABILITIES.

The magnificent uniforms outshone the colours of the toilettes worn by ladies. The Gentlemen-at-Arms had gold lace and waving white plumes; Privy Counsellors, Lords-Lieutenants of the county, added to the brilliance of military and naval uniforms. The mantles of cloth of gold or silver velvet in wonderful hues, such as "Mary" blue, emerald, orchid tones and ermine with dark sables and a few black toilettes, made a play of colour. As the guests assembled and were ushered to their seats it was possible to distinguish a few personalities of special interest to Scottish readers—the Marchioness of Dufferin and Ava, the Duchess of Argyll, the Dowager-Countess of Minto, the Marchioness of Crewe, Lord Beatty and Lord Haig, Mr. Asquith, Mr. Bonar Law, Mr. Winston Churchill, with Mrs. Churchill in brown velvet with a hat of coque feathers, the Lord Provost of Glasgow in the uniform of Lord-Lieutenant with Mrs. Paxton in grey with a fur coat having a large shawl collar and wearing a hat of grey satin; Lord Haldane with Miss Haldane in a dark toilette, having blue in her hat and an ermine scarf; Mr. Munro, Secretary for Scotland, and Mrs. Munro, whose gown was grey under a moleskin coat with a large black hat. Mr. Lloyd George in the Windsor uniform entered with Dame Margaret Lloyd George in mole, with a grey plumed hat, and their daughter, Miss Magan, in silver grey with a chinilla collar and a blue plumed hat. Lord and Lady Pentland were early arrivals too. Lady Pentland wore a cream georgette gown, a sash of pink sweet peas, silver leaves in their hair, fastened caps with veils of net. The music was exquisite, and surely never did the voices of the boys of the Abbey Choir sound with more bell-like tones. Colour, the sparkle of gold, the play of jewels were everywhere. Behind the clergy in their gorgeous vestments was the famous old picture of Richard the Second, heavily framed in gold. The banner of Canterbury was near the altar, which was a blaze of gold with its chalice and cross when the sun shone out. The Church dignitaries and officials of the Abbey were in dull red and gold, and the Archbishop of Canterbury wore the resplendent cope in which he officiated at the Coronation.

The effect of many of the toilettes worn by the ladies was decidedly Oriental, and in some cases the way veils were draped to the sides gave an Eastern touch. It is expected that the royal wedding will be the beginning of a social season that will revive something of pre-war gaiety.

That Flexible Surplus

Standard dictionaries define the word "Surplus" as meaning that which remains when use or need is satisfied: an excess of receipts over ordinary disbursements. Such definition is plain to every person. It is clear and concise and involves no further research or cross context as to its particular significance. Actually then in considering Public Finance a surplus is a sum left over to the credit of current account after all expenditure has been met but of revenue. A sum to the good on account of the country fortunate to realize it. Of such there have been several in Newfoundland Public Finance. The sums of these, as they have accrued, have invariably been placed in a Surplus Trust Fund, to be used only in cases of national emergency, or when the Legislature in its wisdom decided that the Fund should be drawn upon for the construction of public works, calculated to be a lasting good to the Colony. It was never contemplated that this Surplus Trust Fund should be of a flexible financial nature. Yet the present administration have been playing hide-and-seek with it ever since they assumed control of the Government. They have taken and replaced as expediency and the state of their financial misconduct of affairs demanded, and so elastic has this fund been now made that no person—save the Executive Government—knows whether it has been catapulted into current account entirely and so padded up as general revenue in an effort to make receipts and expenses balance.

The Prime Minister of Newfoundland, no later than Wednesday last admitted in the House of Assembly that the Government had gone to the Bank of Montreal and taken two and a half million dollars out of the Surplus Trust Fund and applied it to current account in order to meet an actual deficit, and yet the Speech from the Throne entirely omits—deliberately omits—in that simple language, which the Prime Minister said was so comprehensible, to make mention of this method of financial prestidigitation. Playing fast and loose with public money is a game which has brought many a promising politician to ruin, and at the present rate of going the Liberal-Reform Government is heading towards destruction, dissolution and disruption, a calamity which the people at large would view with equanimity, if only the Colony itself were free from being involved in their downfall. Taxes sweated out of the producers have been squandered right and left, and the nest egg provided by wise financiers has been broken and its contents wasted as well. Sir Michael Cashin pointed out and animadverted on this reprehensible practice of the present Government in appropriating Surplus Trust Fund monies and placing them in the general statement as revenue, and the Speech from the Throne, he said, contained a glaring falsehood when it stated that there would be shown an actual surplus of current receipts over current expenditure. Sir Michael further warned the Government of the consequences likely to ensue if they continued doing business in such a fashion, and endeavoring to hoodwink the people. There is a limit to endurance and eventually patience may cease to be a virtue. An outraged public will not stand for such methods of conducting the affairs of this Colony for much longer. The day of reckoning is approaching when all the equivocations and temporisings of the Squires-Coaker combination will arise in judgment against them.

At the House.

AMENDMENT FAILS—ADDRESS IN REPLY ADOPTED—OPPOSITION LEADER CLOSURE DEBATE.

After a short debate of only three days, the Address in Reply was adopted yesterday afternoon. The amendment introduced by Dr. Jones on behalf of the Opposition was defeated by a strictly party vote.

Sir Michael Cashin, in a powerful speech, concluded his debate on the Address. Last year the debate on the Address in Reply lasted for over a month.

VEGETABLES DISCUSSED.

The question which Mr. Vincombe had on the order paper in connection with the purchase of potatoes and turnips by the Public Works Department was the cause of an amusing debate which lasted for a few minutes. Mr. Jennings repudiated any accusations of unfairness.

Sir Michael Cashin spoke for nearly two hours to the amendment. He ridiculed the replies of the Government to Opposition criticism. Returning to the Speech from the Throne, he repeated his assertion that despite the Premier's juggling with words, the revenue for last year was $2,500,000 short. If Governor Murray were here now, he would not have hesitated to alter the Speech from the Throne. Sir Michael next produced the Prime Minister's manifesto and quoted several extracts from it.

DEPARTMENT A SCANDAL.

In this manifesto it was stated that the Marine and Fisheries Department would be reorganized and would assume its right place as the most important of all Government offices. Instead, it was used by the now missing Minister for his own ends. It was a scandal to-day, Sir Michael, in referring to its present appearance, used an apt if unusual simile by saying it was like an "Irish wake." Every official had a pipe in his mouth and there was a smoke fog all over the place. After demoralizing the department and the Government, Mr. Coaker had left, said Sir Michael. He next referred to the recent F.P.U. Conference at which Mr. Coaker had said that regulations of some sort were necessary for the welfare of the fishing industry. Sir Michael, however, contended that this was not so, as supplies and demand alone regulated the price of fish. There was too much speculation on the part of fish merchants, and until this was stopped, the industry could not be put upon a proper basis. More individual exporters would greatly benefit the trade of the country.

THE HUMBER PROPOSITION.

Speaking of the Humber Proposition, Sir Michael said the reason the Prime Minister had gone to so much trouble to state that there was no such proposition before the House was because of the presence of financiers in the city and these would not make the new loan if it were thought that the Government would guarantee a large sum of money. Sir Michael then showed how the earning power of the country had decreased and the old avenues of revenue, such as the Bell Island mines, were now unproductive. He thought the railway could pay if it were worked the right way. He referred to the Prime Minister's deceptions in lighter vein, saying that if Sir Richard presented himself before St. Peter, he would talk him round and get into heaven before the saint realized he had been deceived.

AN UNFORTUNATE MINISTER.

When Sir Michael stated that a man recently fined for misappropriation of public monies was once more in the employ of the Board of Work, Mr. Jennings protested and asked the name. He was told to employ a detective if he wished to unravel the mystery. Mr. Jennings has an unfortunate habit of looking for trouble and he ventured upon a verbal battle with the Leader of the Opposition but was speedily rendered hors de combat. Sir Michael predicted a decline in the price of fish, and thought that Labrador would this year, fetch no more than $4.00 and Shore $5.00. There was too much politics. Action was what was needed. Upon Sir Michael resuming his seat the amendment was put and, lost on a division. The vote was strictly a party one. Following the adoption of the Address, several bills were put through the Committee stage, after which adjournment was taken.

Reports From the Fleet.

VERY LITTLE PROGRESS.

The reports received last night from the sealing fleet show that very little progress has been made during the past 48 hours. There seems to be general disappointment that the ships did not locate the patch of whitecoats spotted by Major Cotton. Several of the ships report a dense fog so that it will be impossible for the fishermen to make another reconnaissance until there is a change of wind. It may not be too late yet to secure good leads as last year the fleet did not succeed in getting any fat until March 27th, and in the following days the ships cleaned up nearly 90,000. So far the s.s. Terra Nova is in the lead with 15,000. The s.s. Viking in her last report had 13,400 and it is likely that when she next reports her catch will equal that of the Terra Nova. The messages received last night by the various owners were as follows:

BOWRING BROS.

Terra Nova (Thursday p.m.)—Hauled 1,500 on board to-day. Hope to do better work to-morrow. Position still unchanged except ordinary drift. Dense fog all day.

Eagle (Thursday p.m.)—Not doing anything to-day; unable to get through ice.

Ranger (Thursday p.m.)—Approximate position from Cotton's patch 40 miles; making fair progress eastward all day. Picking up scattered seals; on board and stowed, 3,000.

Viking—Owing to lines to Port aux Basques being out of order, neither the R.N. Co. or Bowring Brothers had any message from the Viking last night.

JOB BROS. & CO.

Neptune—Killed 100 to-day; have on board and stowed down 10,000. Steamed in direction of Cotton's patch nothing to be seen. Position thirty miles N. by E. of Cape Bonavista.

Thetis—Killed and panned to-day 500. On board and stowed 12,000. Weather foggy, ice light as far as can be seen.

Diana—The ship reported as being 40 miles S.E. of Cape Bonavista yesterday morning; conditions are as yet unfavorable for sending assistance to the disabled steamer.

REID NELD. CO.

Sagana—No report since Saturday night, March 19.

THE CATCH SO FAR REPORTED.

Table with 2 columns: Ship Name, Catch. Includes Terra Nova (15,000), Thetis (13,500), Viking (13,400), Eagle (11,000), Neptune (10,000), Diana (7,000), Sagana (6,200), Ranger (3,000), Total (79,100).

HIS DIARY.

March 23rd.—A very foul morning, and rained. To Water Street, where I did meet Mrs. McNeil and Mrs. Hutton and was pressed to come to the lecture which Mrs. Trounson gives to-night about Women's Suffrage. To the Board of Trade, where I had some private talk with Mr. Gosling of the lecture and he tells me he will go. A sitting of the Parliament, and I to it. The Address in Reply is adopted, and a mighty good thing, the debate having lasted but a few days and last year, was on for a full month. At night, with my wife to the Suffrage lecture, and she might expect thereby and will have no canvass in support of the movement. I tell her how I do not believe in it, and she greatly angered thereat, and did roundly berate me.

Seen From the Gallery.

Honorable members on Government benches, lounged in their seats yesterday, and occasionally squirmed as the leader of the Opposition assailed the dead-and-alive policy of the administration. Of course it needs a very sharp point to penetrate the pachydermatous hides of the Conker following, but Sir Michael had the weapon and succeeded in performing the operation.

Even the usually uneloquent Mr. Targett was constrained to break his vow of perpetual silence and contributed a few words in a tone which was so low that even those next him had to cup their ears to catch Messrs. Winsor and Abbott obviously were amazed at the temerity of their colleague, and hurriedly sat up with astonishment depicted on their otherwise immobile countenances.

The junior member for Trinity did not add anything of his wisdom to the debate on the Amendment. When the speaker came he voted with the crowd and thus helped to earn his day's pay. Even the "strong man" from Twillinnar district failed to contribute anything to the columns of Hansard, while Captain Jones was silently eloquent thereby increasing his laurels.

The Bay de Verde duo, as usual stolidly contemplated the animated physiognomies of members opposite, and wondered how long it would be an exchange of places occurred. Burgess and LaRue received somewhat of attention, his representation being busy engaged on other matters. So far he has not been seen from the Gallery. Doubtless he will be heard from later when he presents that promised denial (last year) on then prevailing conditions in his district. The man of destiny was missed from his accustomed seat, thought it was not apparent that any of his colleagues were greatly distressed by his absence. In the region of the equator it is much warmer than in Newfoundland, and blue skies and azure seas ever had an attraction for the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who from the deck of his ship can watch the bonita and albacore sport themselves in the waters of the Caribbean Sea, thinking ever of those whom he left at home to carry on and apostrophising after the manner of Puck in the classic words: "What fools these mortals (of mine) be."

Get Belt Line Working.

During the past couple of mild days the hazy weather street has been very hard on horses and troopers are now using wheels. The street railway is still operating one track on this thoroughfare, and as yet the cars do not make the circuit of the belt line. People living along the section where the cars are not running say that an effort should be made to clear the track, as it is in such a way that as at present exists that the trolley system is most useful.

Personal.

Mr. N. Snow, manager for Messrs. Bowring Bros. Dry Goods Department, returned yesterday by the S.S. Sablo I" from the English and American markets, where he has been purchasing goods for his firm.

Rev. Fr. Wilson left Trepansey this morning by the S.S. Malakoff for St. John's. The Rev. Gentleman is suffering from appendicitis and will enter hospital for treatment.

At the recent elections held at University Hall, Dalhousie University, Mr. William Cave, son of Mr. W. H. Cave, Minister of Shipping was elected member of the House Committee of that institution. Mr. Cave is just completing his first year at Dalhousie, and his election speaks well for his popularity.

The Political Situation.

MANY SNAGS AHEAD.

There is very little on the Order Paper for to-day and, with the exception of the Loan Resolutions, all the outstanding business can be cleaned up in a few minutes. The Loan Resolutions will probably be considered in Committee of the Whole this afternoon but a protracted debate is not expected. It is likely that the Estimates will be introduced early next week, possibly on Tuesday, and the Railway Bill is in course of preparation. The absence of the Finance Minister will not delay the introduction of the Budget. The legislation which is causing the most trouble to the Government will be the finding of a method by which supplying for the fisheries may be done without the possibility of another big loss and the demoralization of the people; and the solution of the railway problem. The Government, since its inception, has—to use an Irish idiom—believed in a permanent railway policy for one year. They now find that this policy cannot be continued without the loss of several millions and a definite solution must be shortly discovered.

Drawing for Trap Berths

Mr. George Badcock of the Marine and Fisheries Department, who was down the shore as far as Cape St. Francis in connection with the drawing of trap berths, returned to the city last night. Mr. Badcock was absent for two days and completed his work in this section in remarkably quick time, considering the condition of the roads. He will visit Petty Harbour and Bay Bulls in connection with the drawings as soon as the travelling is fit. The drawing for trap berths, Mr. Badcock says, has become established and all the fishermen are satisfied to take a chance of getting a good berth.

School for the Blind.

SEVERAL NEWFOUNDLAND STUDENTS AT HALIFAX SCHOOL. The Annual Report of the Halifax School for the Blind for 1921 makes an interesting booklet, giving as it does, statistics and valuable information concerning the work done on behalf of those who have been so unfortunate as to lose their sight. 176 blind persons attended the school last year, of whom 95 were males and 81 females. Of these, 29 graduated and in September last, there were 147 registered, 11 of whom came from Newfoundland. Last year the school celebrated its jubilee. The School for the Blind at Halifax is an institution which has worked untold good during its fifty years of existence and that its progress will be even more rapid in the future than it has been in the past, is sincerely hoped. Sir R. A. Squires, Prime Minister of Newfoundland is one of the directors of this school.

Engaged in Quarrying.

At present there are some 174 men engaged at quarrying and breaking stone in the East End. There are also 11 horses employed hauling the stone from the quarries on Signal Hill to the Council stone crushing plant near the old railway yard. The Citizens Committee on unemployment also have a large number of men engaged in the work of shaping out paving blocks and building stone. It is estimated that the returns from this work will show value to at least 50 cents in the dollar. Should the proposed Normal School be erected this stone will be used in its construction.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, MARCH 24. Poppend Tooth paste is unique in this respect, that by reason of the pepsin it contains, it dissolves the germ-catching shell that accumulates round the teeth, and that is often the precursor of tartar, pyorrhea, and other complaints. This scum is not easily removed by ordinary dentifrices, and is thus often present in the mouths of those who use the tooth brush regularly, and who are the last to suspect that their teeth are not thoroughly cleaned. If you are not a user of Poppend, try a tube next time. Price 70c a tube.

SABLE I. DETAINED.—S. S. Sablo I was detained in port for some hours this forenoon owing to ice conditions outside the Heads. The ship took as an additional passenger Mr. G. A. Gaherty. As far as could be learned the ship will not take a mail and business people are wondering what is wrong with the Post Office.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

A MOMENTOUS DECISION.

LONDON, March 24. The Allied Council of Ambassadors will convene in Paris on March 28, it was announced yesterday. It is expected that they will consider the question of continuation of Allied military control in Germany.

A FAMILY HOLOCAUST.

BELFAST, Mar. 24. A band of men forced a way into the home of Owen Macmahon, saloon keeper, early this morning and shot seven members of the family. The raid has profoundly stirred the entire city. Macmahon and his three sons were killed outright. Another son died of wounds and two others are near death. The crime is said to have been in reprisal for the shooting of a number of special constables yesterday. One son escaped by throwing himself under a lounge.

RAMMED SUBMARINE.

LONDON, March 24. Details of the loss, yesterday, in the Mediterranean of submarine H-42, state that the craft came to the surface thirty to forty yards ahead of the destroyer Versatile, which steaming at twenty knots rammed the submarine. A court of inquiry will be held.

SOMETHING DOING.

CLEVELAND, O., March 24. The general policy of the Committee of United Mine Workers of America met here to-day to complete arrangements for putting into effect what International President Lewis declared "would be the greatest strike in history."

TENSE SITUATION.

DUBLIN, March 24. "An open threat of revolution" signified by the decision of anti-Free Staters to hold the forbidden Irish Republican Army Convention on Sunday, has "created a precarious position," the London Times correspondent here declared in a despatch to his paper. The statement by Commandant Roderick O'Connor, that eighty per cent of the army's members are against the treaty, however, the correspondent believes to be exaggerated. Requests that call for the army convention were signed by only seven of nineteen commanders, and these represent mainly divisions in Cork, Kerry and South Tipperary, where disaffection is already known to exist. He believes that members of the army in Dublin, Midlands and a large part of the west are loyal and Dail Eireann, and can be trusted in any emergency and further that the country is not likely to regard any vote taken at Sunday's meeting as a criterion of the general temper of the army. The Dail Ministers believe the coming elections will result in a sweeping victory for the Treaty, and that hereafter they will be able to deal firmly with any anti-Free State movement.

Heavy Transportation Cost.

MOSCOW, (Associated Press) — A large proportion of the money which Soviet Russia itself has available for famine relief has to be paid to transport the food which the American Relief Administration is furnishing to 2,000,000 children and 5,000,000 adults in the Volga region. This was revealed in a recent speech by M. Kalinin, the "peasant president" of Soviet Russia. The sums expended by the Russian Government for transport of the American food from the Baltic ports to the actual famine areas, said M. Kalinin, almost equal the cost of the food. Up to date, he declared, Russia has spent 15,000,000 gold rubles, or about $7,500,000 for transporting food to the Volga, and, in 1922, will have to spend not less than 40,000,000 gold rubles, which, he added, is not less than the American Relief Administration itself spends.

Not Having Any.

Tom listened with great interest while his father read from a newspaper an account of life among the Mormons. Seeing the boy's attention, his father asked: "Would you like to live among the Mormons, Tom?" "What?" cried Tom, "and have to ask a dozen mothers every time I wanted to go swimming? No, thank you."

When Spades Were Trumps.

Miss Berta Ruck, one of the most popular of present-day novelists, has a good story to tell of a Canadian rancher.

It seems that some of the officials out there are not always above putting a little money into their pockets at the expense of the ranchmen.

One of these latter was called upon one day by a perky little jack-in-office for taxes he had already paid. Unfortunately, however, he could not find the receipt.

"I explained this to him," he said to a friend of his later, "and would you believe it, the fellow began to abuse me?"

"Did he?" said the friend. "And what did you do?"

"Do! Well I remonstrated with him."

"You did—to what effect?"

"I don't know exactly, but the shovel got broke!"

The Poet Longfellow.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, the author of "Evangeline" and other famous poems, was born at Portland, Maine, on Feb. 27, 1807. Poets are usually wayward and eccentric, defiant of all the rules and usages of society, and Shelley being notorious in this respect, Longfellow, however, lived a quiet, orderly and beautiful life, yet no one can deny he was a great poet, who wrote many beautiful things that the world will not willingly let die. After studying at the Portland Academy and Bowdoin College, where he graduated in 1825, he came to Europe for four years to perfect himself in the languages and literatures of France, Spain, Italy and Germany. On his return to America he took up duty as professor of Modern Languages, first at Brunswick and afterwards at Harvard. In 1837 he took a large house at Cambridge, which had been Washington's headquarters during the siege of Boston, and there he lived for the remainder of his life. His poetic faculty developed slowly and gradually. From simple themes on the aspects of nature he passed to narrative poems and then translations from the literature of Europe, culminating in his splendid translations of Dante. Then he took up many national subjects such as "Casabianca," "Hiawatha," and "Miles Standish," and made of them beautiful poems, which will be a delight as long as the English language exists. He attempted more ambitious works like "The Golden Legend," but was not so successful with these. All his poems are marked by simplicity and charm, and people who say they cannot read poetry will find them easy and delightful. He died at Cambridge on March 24th, 1862.

Farming by Electricity.

NEW THING IN SWEDEN NOW RUN BY POWER.

STOCKHOLM (Associated Press).—Electricity has conquered one-third of the entire cultivated area of Sweden, according to the latest official reports. The great country continues electrifying at the present rate, it will only be a few years till almost the whole country will be run by electricity. Most of the farms within the electrified area are now tapping the new source of energy, and nearly all the power used in the daily labor on these farms is derived from the high-power lines which span whole sections of the country. Large power stations deliver most of the electric energy used in the rural communities; but in many places the farmers themselves have installed turbines and built private power stations for harnessing for this purpose swift streams and small waterfalls on their own properties. These enterprises, however, are generally co-operative.

FARM LABOR BY MACHINERY.

A great deal of the most arduous farm labor is performed by electrically-driven machinery at a cost far below the cost of machines powered by steam or horse-power or of hand labor. Water is pumped for cattle by electricity, threshing machines are driven by electric current, timber is sawed by motor power, and farm hands are no longer ordered to cut firewood by hand because it is cheaper to have even that labor done by electricity. Candles have almost disappeared. In many cases grain is dried and cleared by being passed through electrically-driven hot-air fanning machines. It is not uncommon to find on the larger estates electric elevators which lift entire wagon loads of hay or grain and dump them where desired in the barns. One Swedish estate owner has installed an electrically-operated irrigation system whereby a large field can be watered in times of drought. It is now only a matter of a short time till plows and harrows will be propelled by electric power.

German City Once More.

COBLENZ FEELS REDUCTION OF U. S. ARMY OF OCCUPATION.

COBLENZ (A. P. MAIL).—Coblenz, once the temporary home of thousands of American soldiers, is again returning to its status as a German city. Within the last four months the American garrison on the Rhine has been reduced to such an extent that more civilians now are seen on the streets than soldiers, while a few months ago the city had the appearance of an army cantonment in the United States. Commercially the loss of so many soldiers can be felt throughout the American area. With the rate of exchange well over the 200 mark, prices of all kinds of merchandise had been advanced. Now that the bulk of their trade comes from the German population of Coblenz, the stores are forced to reduce their prices to fit the pocket books of their customers. Four months ago there were 15,000 American soldiers stationed in the American area. Within that brief period the force here has been reduced by 8,000 men. The American garrison in Coblenz to-day is smaller than the German force maintained here before 1914.

How Sound Travels.

In the newspaper accounts of a powder-magazine explosion which occurred recently, estimates of the distances at which the sound of the report could have been heard were given as 45, 70, and 100 miles.

The properties of sound-waves are not yet very clearly understood, as these varying opinions show, and it is extremely difficult to judge the distance a sound travels. We do, however, know something of the carrying power of the more ordinary sounds. Take the human voice, for instance. It has been found that a "hefty" voice will carry quite 1,200 yards. The ordinary average voice, however, will not travel much more than 1,000 yards. The whistle of a train engine can be heard nearly two miles away, while the rumble of the train itself carries just over a mile and a-half.

The sound-waves set up by the firing of a rifle carry almost exactly one mile—a similar distance to those caused by the bark of an average dog; and the croak of a frog goes just half-a-mile. Thunder is seldom heard more than 15 miles away from the "clap." During the Mount Katmai eruption in 1912 the noise was so tremendous as to be heard 750 miles off. This is believed to be a record for sound-travel. Sound moves only at the rate of 1,100 feet per second; so it would have been just one hour after the eruption occurred before the report was heard at the extreme points.

GRACE BUILDING, ST. JOHN'S

Bishop Gailor Assailed by Anderson

Another open letter to Bishop Gailor, President of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, regarding his stand on the prohibition question, was sent to the press recently by William Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York. "Instead of being squelched by your return fire of Scriptural quotations," Mr. Anderson wrote, "I am only the more curious to know what wet ecclesiastics are so ready with texts for the gratification of appetite, and yet so oblivious of those which make clear that obedience to law is essential to any genuine religion. "A clergyman in Massachusetts arose at a banquet and denounced the violation of the prohibition law. A group of clergymen in New Jersey refused to attend a banquet at which their nullification governor was to speak. Yet you, according to your own statement, recently attended banquets in New York City where the law was flagrantly violated, and so far as the record goes you made no protest either then or later against the violation of the law in your presence, but did attack the law itself. Even if some sense of moral responsibility was not strong enough to prompt you to action, do you recognize no civic obligation as a citizen to protest against the violation of the statutes of States and nation? "If high dignitaries of the Church are not squeamish enough to object to standing with criminals and outlawed in attacking a law, why should they get so fussed up when the light is turned on that fact?"

IN JAIL AND OUT.

WALT MASON

It doesn't get my heart with joy to see a man in jail; I'm sorry for the errand boy who's left the narrow trail. Some day I hope no man will dwell in here, wardens' keys are clinked, some I hope the prison cell will be a thing extinct. But since we have our costly jails, if they become a part of our justice system sags and falls and law goes galley west. Suspended sentences obtain, amusing sinful gent, paroles make punishment look vain, as vain as twenty cents. No sooner do we send a man to languish in the pen, than able lawyers work some plan, and get him out again. Each day the killers leave their dead, according to the dope, and of a hundred slayers red perhaps one draws a rope. We turn the vicious hoodlums loose with gentle reprimands, and then wonder why the deuce the crime wave still expands. We are too merciful, I fear, and make our law a freak; we sentence sinners to a year, and free them in a week. And then they take their guns and knives, and, filled with bootleg gin, they sacrifice some valued lives, and swell the wave of sin. And while I oftentimes bewail the harm that prisons do, I'd like to see such men in jail, the whole bottled crew.

Fads and Fashions.

Self-fabric flowers and bands of stitching are favorite trimmings for spring dresses. A typical dance frock has the long fitted waist, full skirt, and panel front and back. The long coats are quite likely to have wider skirts; and some are distinctly circular. Narrow silk braid studded with small heads is used as trimming for the popular cape. Sleeves are growing tighter, especially since the cape has come into such prominence. A sports dress of castor-color homespun has collar, cuffs and belt of French blue cloth. The quaint sleeve puff of finely tucked Georgette crepe is shown on a wool crepe costume. Crepe dresses are often made with lace yokes, the lace being of the same color as the crepe. Light grey ratine is combined with tangerine ratine to make a charming outdoor frock. Large hats show a tendency to be much trimmed, while the smaller hats are very simple in design. A three-piece costume of white silk ratine includes a gathered capewrap with a collar of slyax.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

THE FAMILY.

—Gay Hamilton.

Don't tell me so sometime.

I suppose some of my faithful readers will feel like reminding me that I have quoted that sentence before.

I plead guilty. I have. And I think I probably shouldn't.

Isn't it worth it?

But the reason I quoted it this time is that I want to add a sentence to it—

Give me and tell me so sometime, but wait and tell my family after I'm dead.

I had a letter this morning in answer to a note I wrote to the wife of a friend of mine who died a few days ago.

The Good Citizen.

This man was one of the best citizens I have ever known, and when I think of him I mean a great deal. I mean a man whom his friends can trust absolutely, a man who never flinches in family responsibility, who does whatever he has to do as well as it is in his power to do it, who is always ready to bear his share in the work of the community (during the flu he gave services with his machine, worked half the night on top of busy streets in another time of public crises and police duty.)

But to put some of my sense of worth into words in my note to his wife, and this is one of the things she said in the answer that came to me this morning.

"Oh, if Robert could only have had during all those hard years of his life even a small measure of the wonderful things said to him that have come to me as a blessed heritage for me and my children!"

Death Crystallizes Kind Feelings.

And as I read it my heart echoed, "Oh, if he were only back and I could tell him the thoughts about his work and his life that have crystallized in my heart since his death."

Since his death. That's the point, it seems to take death to crystallize our sense of a man or woman's worth. In life we take it for granted. Then death comes and we realize.

Perhaps it isn't possible that we should fully realize before but surely we do have some idea of our friend's excellences even before death underlines them.

Surely if we tried we could put into words some of these kindly feelings.

That King of a Heartache.

It's an old theme I know, but this experience has brought it home with new force to me. My heart aches with the longing to turn back the calendar and have my friend alive again and be able to tell him. Most of us have had that sort of a heart ache and know how overwhelming it is. Because there is nothing one can do. But there is something one can do. The past is irrevocably gone but the future is still ours and we have other friends. If the one who is gone knows that we mean to let his experience make us kinder to the living, surely he will be content.

Wedding Gossip.

THE PRINCESS'S CHARM.

The secret of Princess Mary's hold upon the affections of the people is not far to seek. It lies in her complete womanliness—in her successful sinking of the Princess in the British gentlewoman. Thanks to the care of Queen Mary, the Princess possesses all the accomplishments of the ideal wife and companion. She has had a thorough training in all the domestic arts. She sews, knits, crochets, and embroiders, and can cook and control a household as well as any girl of her age. She is a capable horsewoman and can drive a pair of bays. She rows, fishes, and plays tennis, and could probably drive a motor car if she had to, thanks to a few lessons given her by the Prince of Wales.

MUTUAL TASTES.

Bride and bridegroom have many tastes in common, particularly two—their great love of horses and their real knowledge of old furniture, with all the kindred arts that fascinate the keen collector of antiques. In both pursuits they spent a great deal of time together, and it is little wonder that, with so much to form the basis of true friendship throughout the summer, deeper feelings should have become aroused. The lovers rode in the Row together and walked side by side through London streets. Country house parties at which Princess Mary visited included the Viscount among the guests, and he was also at Balmoral during the autumn. Shortly after that he was staying at York Cottage and hunting with the West Norfolk Hounds, with the Princess as an enthusiastic companion.

OUR SEA KING'S DAUGHTER.

Princess Mary's most recent visit to the West of Scotland was in July, 1921, during the progress of the Clyde Fortnight, Britannia, the royal yacht, took a worthy part in the regatta, and more than once the Princess was aboard when the fine old craft went out to win fresh glory. Clad in oilskins and with a sailor's cap set jauntily upon her head, the Princess faced the boisterous elements in girlish abandon. When a long pull and a strong pull, and a pull together at the sheets became necessary, she played her part as nobly as did any of the crew.

FOR GIRL GUIDES.

The Girl Guides, of whom Princess Mary is president, have done rather well out of the wedding. Her Royal Highness insisted on the bulk of their own present being retained for purposes of organization, and now Mrs. Anne Archibald Sanderson, daughter of the late John D. Archibald, a former president of the Standard Oil Company of America, has arranged to present her beautiful English residence, Foxlease Park, at Lynnhurst, Hants, together with the pleasure grounds and home park, in all about 80 acres, for use as a training centre for Girl Guide officers.

Development of Fisheries Depends on Consumer.

In a recent address on the subject of increasing the consumption of fish, William Fellowes Morgan, Jr., of New York, briefly summarized existing conditions and suggested the following remedies:—

Most of the troubles affecting the fish business to-day can be cured by the consumer.

(1) If they will eat more fish and will eat it on other days of the week than Fridays. In other words, if they will help to make the fish business a two-or-three-day-a-week affair instead of a one-day-a-week affair the retailer's sales will increase, his prices will come down and production will be encouraged. Leaving the question of price out of it, the arguments in favor of such a course are entirely based on the question of health. This country eats more meat than any other country in the world. Any doctor will tell you that too much meat particularly in the case of full grown people is injurious. He will, moreover, state that fish is the very best substitute for meat. The United States Fisheries Association has in its possession letters signed by such authorities as Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Public Health Commissioner of the city of New York, and Dr. Eugene L. Fish, of the Life Extension Institute, recommending the commencement of increased use of fish as a means of promoting health.

(2) If they will buy the cheaper grades of fish which glut the markets at certain seasons of the year, they will help to bring about a reduction in prices on all varieties. These fish are every bit as delicious as the expensive fish but are looked on with suspicion on account of their being so much cheaper.

(3) If they will eat the frozen variety when the fresh variety is not being produced, they will help to bring about a tremendous stabilizing of all varieties.

The consumer might readily answer that since education is the cause of most of the troubles why not educate the retailer to cut his prices with a view to increasing consumption. Their theory that it would be much easier and less expensive to educate a comparatively few retail fish dealers than the fish consuming public is a logical one. It can't be done, however, because the capital of most retail fish dealers is not sufficient to carry him over from the time he dropped his prices with a view to increasing consumption to the time he began to feel the effect of such drop. Moreover the education of the retailer will be a much easier task if at the same time the effect of education on the consumer begins to be reflected in increased retail sales. The retailer will then begin to have a feeling of confidence in those who have been trying to help him.—N.Y. Fishing Gazette.

GOLDEN ROYAL PLATE.

Many of the treasures kept in the King's gold party were brought out to grace the tables at Princess Mary's marriage festivities. The magnificent collection of gold plate is seldom seen except on such important occasions. The pick is undoubtedly the George IV. gold dinner service, one of the table ornaments in the shape of a peacock being alone worth at least £30,000. The service is for 140 persons, and the plates, numbering thirty dozen, are worth by weight alone £10,000.

RING OF WELSH GOLD.

The statement that £100,000 worth of gold paying a royalty of £13,000, has been realized this year at the Mawddach gold mines greatly exaggerates the facts. There are a number of gold-diggers engaged in mining, and further discoveries of gold quartz are being made; but the mines are not yet in full work. The latest discovery was some quartz of fine gold, which was made into Princess Mary's wedding ring.

FOR LUCK.

When thousands of sightseers were gathered at the gates of Buckingham Palace on Tuesday there suddenly appeared, as if from nowhere, a black cat, which was at once hailed as bringing the traditional good luck to the bride and her groom. Photographers and cinematograph operators soon spotted it, and for the next ten minutes this cat had more plates and films exposed on it than falls to the lot of most animals.

THE BEST MAN.

Major Sir Victor Mackenzie, D.S.O., is a brother officer of Viscount Lascelles, and was a close friend during the war. Sir Victor took his Christian name as godson of Queen Victoria. He owns a large sporting estate in Aberdeenshire, close to Balmoral.

A Smart Prisoner.

Sir Charles Biron, the Chief Metropolitan Police Magistrate, tells this story of a brother brigandier.

An offender brought before him protested again and again that he was innocent. But the magistrate was not convinced. "It's no use," he intervened, "I couldn't believe you even if you swore suits."

It's Flavor that Makes the Meal!

And the sauces that the Libby chefs have adapted for you give flavor to the simplest dishes.

It may be eggs, or macaroni, or a cheap cut of meat—an unusual and delicious sauce will make it something you eat with delight and remember with pleasure—because of its flavor.

LIBBY'S CATCHUP and CHILI SAUCE are made from red, ripe tomatoes, grown in the fertile soil of Kent County, Ontario, picked when they are mellowed by the sunshine of long summer days, then rushed to the nearby Libby kitchen.

Here in sunny rooms the tomatoes are cooked with fragrant spices, onions, sugar and the best vinegar—cooked for hours until all the flavors are blended through and through.

Now the sauce is ready to give an appetizing relish to your steaks and chops, or a new piquancy to the meat gravy you serve with your roasts.

Your grocer has, or can get you, Libby's Catchup or Chili Sauce. Use it with your cold meat teas and note how quickly the second helping is necessary.

The delightful flavor of Libby's Beans is due largely to the wonderful Sauce prepared by the skilled chefs. Have you tried them?

Some Touching Gifts.
Amongst some touching gifts to Princess Mary is one made in a rural district outside London by an old man who brought $5.60—a goodly sum from him—wrapped up in a scrap of paper, on which was written in pencil the message that it came "from my dear Mary, who died last Christmas, after nearly 50 years of married life," and who begged that the message might be carefully noted, because she would have wished so much to give it to the little Princess.
A small maiden sent $5.60, which she says she "has collected among her little friends in siverpence, of which some were pennies, only you need not say anything about it."

Municipal Council.

WEEKLY MEETING.

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided, and Councillors Martin, Outerbridge, Collier and Ryan were present. After the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, the following business was given consideration:

A communication was received from Messrs. Bishop Sons & Co., in reference to cabs parking in front of their premises, much to the inconvenience of customers. The Council is taking up this matter with the Inspector General, with a view to re-arrangement of cabstands.

Communications were read from J. Crane, South Side, and H. A. Blundon, Beaumont Street, in reference to collection of garbage etc. In these localities, stating they considered they should be given some privilege for taxes paid the Council. The City Engineer and Sanitary Supervisor will visit both places, and report their views.

Application of L. W. Bonnell, for share of work in electrical or other repairing in this line, was ordered filed.

The following plans were submitted: Messrs. Harvey & Company, for alterations to Buttering Factory; J. Hillier, to alter and repair shop and dwelling, Duckworth Street, recently damaged by fire. Both plans were passed, subject to the approval of the City Engineer.

A communication was read from P. Bailey, Franklin Avenue with regard to B.P. sent him for City Taxes. The City Clerk will forward Mr. Bailey the information asked for.

Tenders are to be called for cast iron pipe, branches, etc., also for the supply of quarry spalls for coming season.

A number of applications were received for the position in connection with the Accounting Department. It is not the intention of the Council to make any new appointments, as they consider the office staff quite sufficient to handle this work without further assistance.

Reports of the City Engineer, Sanitary Supervisor, etc., for the week, were read; requisitions for various departments acceded to, and accounts ordered paid.

Before the meeting closed, Councillor Martin referred to the death of the Mother of Councillor Dowden, which occurred during the past few days, and moved the following Resolution of sympathy:—

WHEREAS sorrow has come to our colleague, Councillor Dowden, in the recent death of his Mother.

BE IT RESOLVED that we hereby tender our sympathy in the loss which he has sustained, and our hope that Divine Providence may strengthen him in his bereavement.

BE IT ALSO RESOLVED that this Resolution be inscribed in the Minutes of this meeting, and a copy thereof forwarded to the Councillor.

The Mayor and other Councillors present also referred in sympathetic terms to the passing of the deceased. The meeting then adjourned.

C. L. B. Funeral.

HONOURS FOR DEAD MEMBER.

At the C.L.B. Cadets Armoury last night, the Dead March in Saul was played before the parade dismissed, while the Battalion stood at the present, in honour of the late private W. Hynes, whose funeral had taken place that morning. The deceased was a member of A. Company and previous to his passing, was in the employ of the Reid Newfoundland Company. He was a native of Kelligrews and his funeral, which took place early yesterday morning from his residence, Queen Street, to the Railway Station, was attended by Lieut.-Col. Goodridge and other representatives of the Brigade. Wreaths were sent from his Company and from the Officers' Mess. During last night's parade, Lieut. Co. R. F. Goodridge paid a tribute to the many many qualities of the late Private Hynes.

Memorial Billiards.

INCREASED INTEREST IN GAMES.

A very large number of spectators saw last night's game in the Memorial Billiard Tournament. Three games were played, and all were very exciting. The best break ever played in two games, are in the lead, as they won both. The B.L.S. and Guards are next, each Club having lost one game. In all 16 games have been played so far. The best break made last night was 38, run off by Ryan of the Star.

THE GAMES.

In the first game J. Strang (St. Andrew's) was defeated by P. Myler (T. A.) by 31 points. Strang led at the start, but when 200 was reached Myler had a lead of 9 which he steadily increased. The best break for this game was Strang's 13.

In the next game, W. Newbury (Guards) made a surprising recovery and defeated D. J. French (B.L.S.), who at one time was leading by over 50 points. At 237 French led by 5, but Newbury pulled up and won by 10 points. The biggest break was 22, made by French.

In the final game for the evening, J. Edwards (C.E.I.) defeated T. Ryan (Star) by 20 points. A surprising shot during the game, which provided the most thrills for the evening, was made by Ryan who jumped his ball over the white and pocketed red. Both players kept close together until the end. Good games are scheduled for tonight.

Eyes of the Heart.

DAINTY MARY MILES MINTER AT THE NICKEL.

That young and fascinating star, Mary Miles Minter appears at the Nickel Theatre to-night, in her greatest picture, "Eyes of the Heart." The picture contains a story of magnetic interest, and is fragrant with the love of a young girl who trusts everybody. The heroine is another little girl "Just like Pollyanna." It is considered to be the best piece of acting that this dainty star has performed in a long while. Eileen Sedgwick, the serial star supreme will be seen in the succeeding chapter of Universal's tremendous series, "The Diamond Queen," and followers of this intensely interesting story will certainly not be disappointed in to-day's episode. The remaining subject is a "Pictograph" reel. The film of interest to young and old.

Prize for Neat Housekeepers.

London.—Women of Leyton, England, will receive prizes of £5 each for the cleanest and best-kept house in that district by the will of Edward J. Davis, an educator, who has just died there. Mr. Davis bequeathed £1,000 the income of which is to be divided annually in £5 prizes to widows, wives or spinsters whose homes are neatest.

Agitators Lived Like Dives.

Copenhagen.—The Communist daily newspaper Arbejderbladet has ceased publication here, as Moscow authorities are unwilling to provide further money for its support. They allege that a part of the money supplied had not been spent in conducting the newspaper, but that it was used up in high living of the Danish Communist agitators.

Antipodean Eldorado.

London.—No man is unemployed in Victoria, Australia, and no man need be poor there, declared John McWhac, the new Agent-General for Victoria, who has arrived here, to start an emigration campaign. He says that Victoria is opening up its irrigable land and has about 1,000,000 acres of crown lands suitable for wheat growing. In 18 months or so, he announced, the government will be ready with a big scheme to provide work for many men on one of the largest electrical undertakings in the world. A deposit of brown coal of enormous extent is being developed and £6,000,000 are being spent on a plan to produce cheap electric power for the whole state.

Obeded Orders.

"I can't keep the visitors from coming up," said the office boy, dejectedly, to the editor. "When I say you're out they don't believe me. They say they must see you."
"Well," said the editor, "just tell them that's what they all say. I must have quiet."
That afternoon a woman called at the office. She wanted to see the editor. The boy told her it was impossible.
"But I must see him!" she protested. "I'm his wife!"
"That's what they all say," replied the boy.

over its front in apron style. When not required the bib portion is slipped under the blouse, which worn over the skirt turns the dress into a model which may be worn out of doors for shopping, marketing, etc. The width of the skirt at the foot is about 1 1/4 yard.
 A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

 NOTE:—Owing to the continual advance in price of paper, wages, etc., we are compelled to advance the price of patterns to 15c. each.
More Paper Issue.
 Moscow.—The Russian State Bank is contemplating an issue of its own bank notes to meet the general shortage of currency, particularly in the provinces. The Rosta (news agency) announces that the bank has been directed by the Finance Commissariat to work out an emission plan.

Poles Look to Canada.
 Warsaw.—The stoppage of emigration to the United States has turned the Polish emigrant tide toward Canada, according to reports of Danzig steamship officials here. At the same time the number of immigrants returning to Poland from America continues to increase. The total of incoming and outgoing emigrants passing through Danzig in 1921 was 140,000 as compared with 126,000 in 1920.
 Openwork braiding is a much-favored trimming. It generally matches the frock in color, but has an underlay of contrasting hue.

DR. LEHR, Dentist, 329 Water St. TARTAR.
 "Tartar" is a lime-like substance that forms on the teeth. It is composed of saliva, phosphate of lime, etc., and becomes attached to the teeth near the salivary duct. It is porous like a sponge and holds particles of food which decompose and taint the breath with an offensive odor. This tartar once formed increases, always in the direction of the gums; first inflaming them, then causing them to puff up and recede from the teeth, and finally by absorption of the bony sockets, to cause good, sound teeth to drop out for want of support.

Fashions and Fads.
 An afternoon frock of dark blue crepe satin is trimmed with bands of gray satin ribbon-studded with nail-heads.
 Spring frocks show a fondness for vivid collars; embroidered bandings and motifs rich in colors are used on costumes of dull hue.
 The flowing sleeves, cape back, skirt panels and bloused bodice are combined in a successful costume of black satin gloss crepe.

Bluffed an Entrance.

NEWSPAPER MEN NEVER AT A LOSS.
 ROME. (Associated Press)—The hard and fast rule of Cardinal Gasparri, inflexibly enforced by the Swiss Guards, that no photographers were to be allowed inside of Saint Peter's on the day of the Coronation of Pope Pius, the Eleventh, was broken at least once. The staff photographer of an English newspaper, wearing a top hat and bearing a beautiful leather valise, presented himself at the Bronze Gates when the crush was at its height. "No cameras allowed in," the huge Swiss Guard informed him, in a tone of finality. "Camera, nothing," responded the photographer haughtily, "this is a medicine case. Please let me pass that I may render aid to the injured inside." Pass right in, doctor," the Swiss Guard said, humbly.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.
 Constantinople (A.P. Mail)—A children's hospital, said to be the largest in the world, has just been opened at Alexandropol, in the Southern Caucasus. It is under the direction of Dr. R. T. Uhis, of Pittsburg, Mass., and has been financed entirely with funds from America by the Near East Relief. The hospital at present has 2,700 beds, housed in 40 wards, but when fully completed next May it will hold 6,000 beds. The child patients are drawn from six Russian, Armenian and Greek provinces, occupying an area larger than New England, and are all suffering from trachoma, a malignant eye disease which has become the scourge of child-life in this part of the world.

Upon His Honor as Minister of the Gospel

REV. W. A. THOMPSON WRITES OF DR. F. G. KINSMAN'S HEART TABLETS.

I had heart trouble severely for fifteen years and had many doctors to treat me with no discernible effect. I had become so low that I could scarcely walk fifty steps. At night I was troubled with fluttering of the heart, and by no means had a night's rest for that length of time. I had pains most excruciating and could not lie on my left side given for a moment. I tried five boxes of your Heart Tablets and can now truthfully say that I am well. I am a Minister of the Gospel and upon my word as such, I believe I could not have lived had it not been for your remedy. I am not, generally speaking, willing to give testimonials, but I fully owe this or more to you as owner of the Heart Tablets.
