CANADIANS CARRY POSITION WEST OF AVION, NEAR LENS FRENCH BEAT OFF FIVE SUCCESSIVE HUN COUNTER-ATTACKS

THE POLITICAL SITUATION

LAURIER MAY NOT AGREE TO A COALITION

Situation at Ottawa Promises to Become More Unsettled.

BORDEN MAY FIGHT ON RECONSTRUCTION OF CABINET AND POSSIBLE RECOURSE TO AN ELECTION.

Special to The Toronto World. Ottawa, June 3.—The political situation is not clearing; it promises to grow more unsettled, more murky in the next few days. But there is no doubt that the most serious political crisis that has ever come to Canada has come to it on this the fiftieth anniversary of confederation. Things have been bad for some months, as any trained observer could see at the time that parliament adjourned in February last to allow Sir Robert Borden to go over to England to the imperial council and the war conferences. At that time parliament was unable to get ahead and the Conservatives who had a real grasp of the situation then hoped that the mission to England and time might find a solution to an impending deadlock. Only a few, however, recognized at that time that a real crisis was at our door. So when, two weeks ago, Sir Robert Borden returned, home and had made his report of the proceedings in London; of the conditions of the war and how serious the situation was, notwithstanding that the Americans were already among the Allies; and continued by stating that there was no way out for Canada, but to send more troops even if they had to adopt conscription to get them; and wound up by declaring for such a policy amid the cheers of his followers—the conservatives and blacker for the Liberals. But that was more than two weeks ago; and after two days had passed things took on another phase. Sir Robert Borden and his friends in parliament began to receive protests against conscription and news came rushing in that Quebec from one end to the other was hostile to it. The result was that while the country awaited the introduction of the government's conscription bill for a whole week after the premier's announcement it failed to come forth; and then even last week there was talk of more delay and next day came the story, since verified, that the prime minister had gone to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the opposition, to hold him the real situation and to join in a coalition government to carry some kind of compulsory service into law.

No Answer Yet

Sir Wilfrid, as far as can be learned, listened, and said he would consult his friends in Quebec and elsewhere and then give answer. Up to six o'clock this Sunday night, no answer has been given, and whether one has yet been made is not known. So that the politicians here and elsewhere, the newspapers and the public have been and still are in a maze of rumors and guesses. But there is no doubt about the seriousness of the situation, and neither leader has disclosed any program of coalition or what they will do if that proposal is abandoned.

How serious the situation is in Quebec can be gathered from a statement circulating among French-Canadian members here that when national registration of the man power of the country was decided on by the government and R. B. Bennett, M. P., put at the head of it, Sir Robert Borden went down to Quebec and asked some of the bishops to advise their people to put in their names, that there was to be no conscription, and the French people are saying that on this assurance they gave in their names. Now they say the prime minister gets up in parliament and tells them there must be conscription. Whether there is any truth in this statement remains to be seen, but it is believed by many Liberals and is credited with the antagonism prevalent in Quebec.

And so whether this is so or not the fact remains that a crisis has arrived, that it is likely to last for some days and nobody can predict the outcome, the leaders least of all. In short, the political strain that has been growing more in intensity for over a year has come to the breaking point, and only uncertainty prevails at this moment.

Laurier May Decline.

The best guess tonight is that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will practically decline the offer of coalition, because it has come too late. As Liberals put it, it should have been made before conscription was announced. But it is also believed that Sir Wilfrid will not absolutely refuse to join, but will ask for further time and further explanations.

What will happen if coalition fails?

Sir Robert Borden can close the conversations with Sir Wilfrid, call his followers together, say he is going on with conscription, and then ask both houses to pass a resolution in favor of the extension of the life of parliament, and if he gets this, and he has sufficient majority, apparently, to carry the extension, to fight on as best he can. He will also more or less reconstruct his cabinet and propose food control legislation and other things of a war character. But it is quite clear now that he would have preferred to have done all these things with the assistance of the Liberals in coalition. He will receive, in any action, of his own hat, a lot of encouragement in Ontario, and from many of his followers in the house. They would sooner take the chance than join with Liberals; others would accept anything in preference to an election.

Or he can go straight to the country by dissolving parliament. Sir Robert has little taste for this, but he may yet take it as the one courageous thing to do, but full of peril.

Conservatives Unfriendly.

As for Sir Wilfrid, many of his followers say they want an election. They would believe what he would prefer, what he has already declared, what he will eventually do, and that is let the crisis continue to prevail until the only way out would be for Borden to submit to his terms for a national government more or less dominated by himself, and without an election. There are Liberals who think that such a government could carry conscription and carry on the war and the business of the country. But it would not be a Conservative government, and it might be a Liberal government. But it could carry conscription. Conservatives are not likely to be friendly to any such proposal.

But such a kind of conscription has to come will grow more and more on the Canadian people as they recognize the need there is for it, on account of the boys at the front, and see the vigorous example of compulsory service in that is to go into Tuesday next. But United States on Tuesday next. But what will the outstanding fact be that a crisis is on, that both parties are in bad shape, and that a coalition government would give conscription and a widespread housecleaning for both parties.

Merit of Coalition.

The merit of coalition would be the number of discredited men who would disappear. None of these men want to risk their chances just now. They would sooner stop under the party banner and fight an election or agree to stave off an election than take to coalition. There is little ahead but a series of bumps, one after the other, until a lot of over-ripe politicians in and out of parliament have been jolted out. The best recourse would be an election, but that would be three months of political discord in the midst of the world's greatest struggle for freedom and civilization. So look out for a continuation of the crisis, more bumps and a final effort at coalition.

HOOK AGAINST COALITION

Thomas Hook, M.L.A., has issued a statement contradicting a news item on Saturday to the effect that he was in favor of a coalition government. He stated that he is opposed to the suggested change in the administration, as he does not regard it as advisable at this time. Mr. Hook also states that he favors a further trial of the voluntary recruiting system before conscription is adopted by the government at Ottawa.

BRITISH AERIAL HERO IS KILLED IN ACTION

Capt. Ball, Missing Since May 7th, Known to Be Dead.

London, June 3.—The war office has confirmed that Captain Ball, one of Britain's most aviators, was killed in action some time ago. Capt. Ball had been missing since May 7. The aviator was most brilliant. He was shot down by the enemy on May 7, engaged in flight with three German aeroplanes. He did not return to his base, and since then a report has been in circulation that he had been made prisoner by the Germans. The aviator was most brilliant. FIFTY-TWO THOUSAND HUNS TAKEN ON FRENCH FRONT

Anglo-French Offensive Gains Many Prisoners Since First of April—Many Cannon Captured.

Paris, June 3.—The official communication issued by the war office last night reads: "From April 1 up to the present the number of prisoners captured by the French and British troops on the western front exceeded 52,000, of whom more than 10,000 were officers. Included in the enormous material taken from the enemy during the same time were 446 heavy and field cannon, 1000 machine guns and a considerable number of trench guns.

"On June 1 five German aeroplanes fell in flames or crashed to the earth after engagements with our pilots. According to late reports two other German machines were brought down, one on May 27, the other on May 30. Adjutant Ponck has brought down five German machines up to today.

RETIRED MEN SPREADING SEEDS FOR SOCIALISTS

Proposed Anti-Conscription Gathering Lasts Only Ten Busy Minutes.

SOLDIERS CLEAR HALL FOREIGNERS TOO SLOW RESPONDING TO CALL FOR NATIONAL ANTHEM.

Precipitated by the failure of objectors to conscription to sing "God Save the King," a near-riot occurred in the assembly room of the Labor Temple, Church street, last night, causing intense excitement for a brief time, in which several persons sustained beatings and minor injuries at the hands of Great War veterans and resulting in slight damage to chairs and wood-work.

After Chairman H. B. Perkins had opened the meeting under the auspices of the Social-Democratic party the hall had been cleared of the crowd and the speaker restored as suddenly as it had been upset. During the ten minutes the speaker presented the eight frightened women and children, and struggling with strong men in a wild stampede to the stairways. Pandemonium reigned, beating and striking civilians with their fists, canes and crutches and then shoving them out of the room to the stairways. Pandemonium reigned. Chairs were overturned and some of them broken. Neither friend nor foe of the speaker could be distinguished in the struggling mass of men, women and children. Cheers, cries and frightened wails filled the air.

Chairman Perkins and A. W. Mance, one of the speakers, were seized and hurt by the soldiers who were rushing from the room with bleeding noses and cuts on their faces. The speaker was carried to the street station and to the non-resistance street station and to the non-resistance military street.

Building Locked Up.

Thousands of people were drawn to the Labor Temple by the excitement, and watched the veterans "fall in" and march away to hold a rally at the city hall after the disturbance had subsided. All possibility of a later meeting in the labor hall last night had been eliminated by the soldiers and the police. William Fordham, to lock the front doors. Even after this assurance had been given, groups of curious people stood in the vicinity of the front doors, anticipating a repetition of the scene.

It was evident from the first to the last that the speaker was being broken up, the hall cleared of the 800 people who were in the room and the order restored within fifteen minutes.

A group of veterans had seen the advertisement announcing the proposed gathering and had been waiting for the speaker to be broken up.

Despite this terrific pounding, the enemy clung to his positions as the outworks of the defenses of Lens. He even added to the number of men lurking among the ruins of La Coulotte. These men had a terrible experience on Friday, when the gas prepared at the village of Coulotte was added to the ground gained.

NIGHT ATTACK ENABLES HAIG'S TROOPS TO CAPTURE ELECTRIC STATION NEAR AVION—GERMANS IN COUNTER-ATTACKS PREVENT BRITISH FROM MAINTAINING PROGRESS.

By R. T. Small, Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.

With the British Armies in France, via London, June 3.—The infantry lull of several weeks was broken late last night, when under the light of a nearly full moon, the British made an attack southwest of Lens and in the direction of that beleagued city. The point of attack was due west of Avion, which is one of the western suburbs of Lens, the latter being the centre of a mining district which sprawls for miles along the valley of the Souchez River.

Most of last night's fighting was south of the river, although an advanced post was established north of that stream. The British, by early dawn, had captured all the intended objectives and were still fighting today, along the Lens-Arras road. They had captured the electric power station just south of the river, where the Germans had been established for many months and which was fairly stiff with machine guns. The station had been pretty well blown about by artillery fire, but still a formidable fortification. Further south the British captured some brick chimneys which had been transformed into a strong position. These objectives sound rather strange, but most of the bitterest fighting in the world war on a vast front has, from time to time, sprang from such fortifications, windmills, farm buildings, cemeteries, breweries, slag heaps, unimposing mounds like the Butte du Warcourt, churches, monasteries, and even asylums for the insane.

Count Hundred Prisoners.

Nearly one hundred prisoners had been counted this morning from the nocturnal operations about Lens, and there was every indication that heavy losses had been inflicted on the enemy. Artillery activity continued throughout the night, but the other objectives were rather strange, but most of the bitterest fighting in the world war on a vast front has, from time to time, sprang from such fortifications, windmills, farm buildings, cemeteries, breweries, slag heaps, unimposing mounds like the Butte du Warcourt, churches, monasteries, and even asylums for the insane.

GARDEN POTTERY

THE SECRET of the beauty that we admire in old Italian gardens lies, the gardeners tell you, in the nice relation between the architecture and the landscape.

A stone bowl, pot or box of flowers, placed just in the right spot, may give a surprisingly new and beautiful effect to a garden.

A collection of "A-ti-crete" Vases, Flower Pots and Boxes is on view in the basement. The material is of combined marble dust and Portland cement of a stone-like color that harmonizes well with the green of plants and shrubbery.

A pair of Vases, 13 1/2 inches in diameter and 18 inches high. Price, the pair, $28.00.

A pair of Flower Pots with medallion ornaments, 20 inches in diameter and 12 inches high. Price, the pair, $17.00.

A Flower Pot mounted upon a tall pedestal, decorated with oak leaves in relief, 44 inches high. Price, $19.50.

A Flower Box mounted upon a stand, 64 x 12 inches and 34 inches high, gracefully ornamented with groups of Greek figures in high relief. Price, $41.00.

Dainty Flower Pots of smaller size are priced as low as $11.00 a pair.

THE FLEXIBLE RATTAN and reed furniture looks, what it is, a standing invitation to rest in cool, informal comfort.

But no one will deny its light, tasteful beauty, a combination of art and usefulness that appeals at once to your sense of repose.

In the Furniture Building is arranged a large grouping of suites and separate pieces of rattan, willow and reed furniture. They are delightful, with bright, summery cretonnes, patterned in bird, foliage and floral designs.

The suite illustrated is of woven prairie grass, in either Baronial brown or verdure green, and consists of an octagonal-shaped table, 36 inches in diameter, at $16.25; arm chair, $15.25; arm rocker, $16.00; settee, $27.50, and floor lamp, $22.00.

THE VICTROLA XI.

WHAT KIND OF MUSIC do you like best? Is it the operatic arias of Melba or Caruso, or the charming old folk songs sung so sweetly by Gluck?

Whatever your favorite, it is always ready and awaiting to entertain you in this sweet-toned Victrola.

The cabinet is of either mahogany or oak, with shelves for records. It is 44 1/2 inches high, 20 3/4 inches wide and 23 3/4 inches deep; is equipped with a 12-inch turntable, nickel-plated sound box, Victor tapering tone arm and "goose neck" sound box tube.

All metal parts are nickel-plated and the whole cabinet beautifully finished. Price, $137.00.

This is but one of a number of Victrola machines on view, priced at $21.00, $33.50, $66.50, $102.00, $205.00 and $255.00.

For Out of Door Rest and Comfort on Porch and Lawn

IN THE HEAT of the Summer, when people seek the shade of awnings and the comfort of Summer furniture, the verandah supplied with one of these luxurious swinging couches becomes the most popular and interesting part of the house.

This couch, deeply upholstered in bright colored cretonnes, swings freely from the light-painted iron framework, and the whole is surmounted with a sophisticated awning that folds when not needed.

It is available in several styles, each complete with its hammock, awning, folding stand and cushion.

The upholstery is either figured or solid-tone, so may be selected to blend beautifully with any scene of Summer color and comfort. Price, complete, $46.25 and $51.00.

The Note Book

About the Queen Anne Tea Service.

Everyone who has travelled through the lanes and hamlets of rural England is familiar with the delightful old houses of plaster and oak beams, surrounded with their many-colored flower gardens. The period of English art that produced these gave us also the beautiful Queen Anne pattern of silverware.

The Queen Anne Tea Service in sterling silver, the same as used for so many years on the tables of many English residences, would add a note of beauty to your own home.

Because of its durability and classic, simple design this Tea Set will remain fresh and beautiful after a great length of service.

This design may be found among other interesting examples of English period silverware.

absolutely no importance. German aeroplanes dropped bombs rather indiscriminately back of the British lines during the moonlight hours of last night.

Raiders continue all up and down the front. A British raiding party made a large body of Germans in "No Man's Land" and had a hot night, finally routing the Germans, who fled, leaving numbers of dead and prisoners behind.

Recently captured letters written by a German officer on the western front show that the soldiers are not at all pleased with any proposals to change fronts. One written by a German officer on the Russian front is particularly interesting. It says:

It is quite untrue that Russians are deserting in great numbers, or that an armistice has been declared. As a matter of fact, the situation has led to more casualties than usual because the Germans are becoming foolhardy. We have lost here, during a short period, a battalion commander, regimental medical officer and company commander, all three lack of caution. The first two were bagged by an infantry sniper, while they were debating with a Russian on peace. Our great topic is the possibility of moving westward. We do not desire a change of front.

The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads:

"There was fierce fighting throughout the day with varying fortunes south of the Souchez River. The enemy, who lost heavily in our first attack, subsequently delivered a number of violent counter-attacks with considerable forces, in the face of which our troops have been unable to maintain the progress made this morning. We have taken 92 prisoners in these operations.

"We took a few prisoners early this morning as a result of patrol encounters east of Laventie, and a further 16 prisoners this afternoon in a successful raid south of Wytschaete. "Air activity continued yesterday. Four German aeroplanes were posed meeting, and decided, under the leadership of Sergt.-Major A. E. Lowery, to attend the event to see that proper recognition was given British customs. As they marched to the hall they were joined by other veterans and soldiers until their ranks swelled to several scores. The attendance in the hall was approximately 800 men, women and children, including about 400 soldiers, the majority of them being veterans. Many of the latter wore civilian clothes, but were distinguished by their buttons. The greater number of the civilians represented a foreign element who oppose conscription and promote militarism. Their understanding of English was limited, and many of them in feeling to the doors at the outbreak of the trouble were bewildered, almost wild with fright and totally at a loss to comprehend the cause.

Inspector Geddes, wearing civilian clothes, occupied a seat in the rear of the hall and had ten plainclothesmen scattered thru the audience. Uniformed patrolmen from two stations stood outside the hall guarding against a rush on the meeting from without.

Speakers for the proposed meeting were Chairman Perkins, A. W. Mance, J. Reid, Richard A. Riggs, M.L.A., Winnipeg, and Mrs. Hector Prenter. Whether Reid was hurt is not known. Mrs. Prenter was escorted unmolested thru the people to safety, and placed in a motor car, in which she was driven to her home. A number of men who, it is understood, were to speak in violation of the law, were also present.

Proceeding by a minute the time designated upon by Chairman Perkins to open the meeting, the voices of soldiers in the balcony demanded three cheers for the King. These were given with a will, and the same voices then called for "boo" for anti-conscriptionists, to which a ready response was given. Sergt.-Major Lowery mounted the platform, explaining

CRITICIZE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR

Special to The Toronto World.

Brantford, June 3.—At the Methodist conference sitting held on Saturday, Rev. Dr. Graham of Toronto criticized race track gambling, which brought Sean Carter, M.L.A., to his feet with the declaration that the lieutenant-governor had been told his duty on the floor of the house, and if God should spare him (the speaker) he would be told again. H. P. Moore of Acton asked why Toronto University had conferred its highest degree on the man who should see the practice abolished.

Police Were Present

As the action had been rehearsed, half of the audience sought to escape by the front doors and the other half attempted to get thru the rear exit. The latter was small and several children were flooded in the mad rush to that door. The women and children sought refuge from their pursuers on the adjoining street to the hall, a space about fifty feet square. Ignorant of the fire escape and unable to get farther away they huddled like sheep. A serious accident might have occurred had not the cooler-headed leaders of the veterans realized the predicament and corralled the soldiers to retreat. The soldiers cried out for "Jimmy" Simpson, but the well-known leader of the opposition to conscription was in Ottawa.

Within the hall men's heads were being battered and their faces disfigured. A trombone was thrown down a fire escape. A wrathful woman whose husband favored conscription but who had been hurt in the fray notwithstanding his sentiments scolded the responsible soldiers in a high-keyed voice. The noise and din was deafening, the tumult being heard squares away. People attending church serlowed by several men who had their faces badly cut and discolored where they had been bruised by flat or stick. Later two or three others limped out with their clothes covered with dust, torn, and in disarray. One man had his mouth badly lacerated and blood was streaming from both sides, covering his collar and clothes.

"E. Perkins, the chairman, and A. W. Mackenzie, who had passed out of the conscription party, came out much the worse for having run the gauntlet. Mr. Mance, who interviewed the sergeant-major of the World, said: "We had to surrender to superior numbers and adjourn the meeting, which had passed out of the control of seven Sergt. Lowery, whom we asked to sit on the platform."

men having closed the meeting, returned to the street, where Sgt. Lowery addressed them from the steps, and observers were given for conscription. "God Save the King" was sung with gusto, and the men saw to it that the head of every man was uncovered.

The parade was again formed, and, in passing along Shuter street, a man said to wearing the German colors, threw a bottle at the men. He was immediately arrested and took refuge in St. Michael's Hospital, where the soldiers, out of deference to the patients, asked the police to locate him, and went on their way to the city hall.

At the city hall another meeting was held, addressed by Sergt.-Major Lowery, who told them present that the men were an organized orderly body, and not a mob, and that they were continuing to fight for the ideals that they had upheld in Flanders. He told the returned men that James Simpson did not represent the labor men and labor organizations in Ontario, as most of the members were in khaki serving in France. The speaker announced that a delegation of returned men would consult Simpson and learn upon what authority he spoke. Prolonged cheers greeted this statement.

Sam Beal, whose recruiting meeting was broken up by the parade in passing, addressed the crowd of about a thousand, as also did several others. At the conclusion of the meeting the sergeant-major told the evening was a fitting celebration of the battle of Zillebeke and the King's Birthday.

Sergt.-Major Lowery, when interviewed by a reporter for The World, late last night, denied the statement that the returned men had got beyond his control. "At all times the meeting was under control, and the men behaved in an orderly manner, and did nothing that reflected any discredit on their uniform," he said. "Before the controversy started, the women present were asked to stand to one side of the room, and the men did all in their power to prevent them from being hurt in any way."

THOUSANDS CALL FOR CONSCRIPTION

Mass Meetings in Queen's Park Strongly Endorse the Proposed Measure.

With wild and unanimous acclaim of cheers and applause, hundreds of people, including many veterans of the great world war, adopted resolutions embodying demands that the Canadian Government put a selective draft system of compulsory military service into effect and to stop sedition, at mass meetings in Queen's Park Saturday afternoon.

The resolution reads as follows: "Resolved that this mass meeting of the citizens of Toronto places itself on record as in favor of the immediate enforcement of a policy of conscription by a 'selective draft' by the Canadian Government. "That it should apply equally to all parts of the country, and that there should be a uniform enforcement of the act, with nobody excluded. "Resolved that in the opinion of this meeting the federal government should take immediate steps to put down sedition in Canada, and immediately take steps to supply reinforcements, by conscription, so that the divisions now at the front will have sufficient reinforcements. "Resolved that this meeting call the attention of the federal government to the fact that certain sections of the country have not done their duty in this war in enlistments, and that a policy of conscription be adopted forthwith.

"Resolved that in the opinion of this mass meeting conscription is the duty of the hour, to the exclusion of all other questions, and we hereby urge on the government that such an act be put into force forthwith."

Crowds of people were addressed from two platforms, one erected in the southeast corner of the park, where Mayor T. L. Church presided as chairman, and from the old bandstand.

Speakers included Mayor Church, Sergt.-Maj. W. R. Whitton, Pte. James J. Shanahan and Sergt. W. E. Turley of the Great War Veterans' Association, Provincial Treasurer T. W. McGarry, Provincial Secretary W. D. McPherson, H. C. Hocken, Fred Dane and Maj. Charles Sheard.

Veterans of the present conflict marched to the park from their association building more than 100 strong, headed by the 12th York Rangers' band. Many other veterans rode in motor cars to the park. These were all cheered time and again by the people who watched the parade and in the park where hundreds had gathered to hear the speeches.

The Veterans' Association of 1866 was represented by approximately 30 men under Col. A. E. Belcher.

Arguing that conscription was the only fair means for Canada to adopt, Mayor Church, after reading the resolution, declared that Canadians were not now willing to see a make-shift coalition government to permit Quebec to escape the duty which is rightfully hers.

"In honor of the memory of our brave dead the government should enforce conscription at once, and everybody should be compelled to do his duty.

"The British labor party was in favor of conscription, so was the American Federation of Labor, with President Compton at its head.

If we lose this war. The Kaiser will be the labor union all by himself.

"Canada has done well so far, but is now lagging behind, and the only fair and equitable basis of recruiting is conscription thru and thru. It is an outrage to propose that a vote should be taken on the question when 400,000 of our boys are at the front.

"We must have more men," declared Mr. McPherson, "we must adopt a reasonable form of compulsory service. Many Canadians went to the United States to escape military service. But, now the United States is our grand ally. The international boundary will now afford no escape for either American or Canadian. Failure to keep up our forces imperils our imperial position. Germany has withdrawn thousands of soldiers from the east to put them on the western front. The military outlook is very, very serious. Let the spirit of Kitchener live. It is our duty to see that the sacrifices of the soldiers have not been in vain. One of the objects of this meeting is to wake up people to a sense of the significance of the seriousness of our position. Let us resolve to do our duty and acquit ourselves like men."

Dr. Charles Sheard said in part: "Canadians are a unit in backing the soldiers of Canada to the last man and the last dollar. Are you going to let these disreputable Germans escape the bar of public justice. No, no. We shall contribute everything that we own, and everything that we have, rather than submit to German tyranny. We will never stand for an arrangement which lets the slacker stay home loafing and making our laws. Under selective draft a man who refuses to do his duty should be imprisoned for ten years. Premier Borden will have the support of every loyal Canadian, regardless of party or party."

Dr. Sheard then proposed the resolution, and it was read again by Mayor Church and seconded by Rev.

Canon Dixon. Cheers and applause marked the adoption of the proposal.

Father Lawrence Minehan said that he had favored conscription ever since the war began, as the fairest, most democratic and logical means of military service.

"As a citizen I have a right to ask my government for protection," he said, "and my government has a right to expect me to contribute my share to the protection. Talk of a referendum on conscription is simply buncombe. You don't take a referendum when a house catches fire. This is no time for debate. There is nothing between us and the fate of Lens and Belgium except our khaki line."

Need New Methods. "Conscription does not sound nice," declared Sergt.-Maj. Whitton. "Men have been found to volunteer in the past. If these men have all volunteered and gone, some never to come back, then other methods must be found that will give support to the men who offered their services when the country called for volunteers. "If the alien is not conscripted, then he will have the opportunity of taking the jobs of the Britisher who is sent. Is that fair to those who may be sent overseas? "Should selective conscription be adopted, then a returned soldier should be appointed on each examining board. Let these decide as to who should not go. "Let us have done with the people who say, 'I am doing my bit, I'm making munitions.' Yes, and the women of Great Britain are doing the same work exactly as the men out here, with the exception of experts. Let the government contract for munitions also call for 60 per cent female labor and also that the wives and female relatives of serving soldiers be the first to be engaged on all government contracts.

Sang an Old Hymn.

The mayor's address was followed by the entire gathering singing "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Hon. T. W. McGarry, the provincial treasurer, followed in an address in which he declared his belief in the city's and province's loyalty to the conscription measure. He said that he believed that the time had arrived when the people of Ontario were desirous of expressing their opinion in regard to this measure. There was not a day in the last two months that the people were not convinced that we should have conscription in Canada.

Referring to an article appearing in an afternoon paper of Friday and entitled "Is Canada Going On With the War?" he stated emphatically that Canada was going on with the war, and his statement was loudly cheered. It was not necessary for any newspaper in Toronto to ask that question, as Great Britain, her allies and dependencies, had gone to war because a great principle was at stake, nor were we going to quit until our purpose had been accomplished.

Speaking of the result if the measure were not put thru, he said that the four divisions now at the front would in twelve months fade away to three if no reinforcements were sent across. In time these three would become two, and finally the name of Canada would not be represented on the soldiers' straps in France.

"We must have conscription, even if it is necessary to put the revolver or gun up to the man who will not go. The people of Canada ought to be united as one. There is no excuse for any portion of this Dominion failing to take up its burden. This province is united in its determination to have conscription, and to have that law applied to every portion of the Dominion of Canada."

Reinforce Division. Judge Costarvo said: "We must put something in force to reinforce the divisions at the front. It seemed so clear to the people of the United States, who were not tied so closely to men by talking about the conscription of wealth," he said. "We will attend to that when the time comes."

He believed that when the men who are called slackers were drawn under the conscription measure they would make excellent soldiers.

Sergeant Shanahan, vice-president of the Great War Veterans' Association, believed there was no necessity for a referendum regarding conscription. He thought it would only be a waste of money.

"I challenge any honest, thinking man to suggest any way to meet the obligations involved," he said. "The conscription of wealth is a very secondary matter when compared with that of conscripting sufficient men to reinforce the men of the earlier contingents now in the trenches."

"The men in the trenches are calling," said ex-Mayor H. C. Hocken, "and if the men at home do not heed the call the case of the men at the front will be terrible indeed."

George Easterbrook, secretary of the Association of Honorably Discharged Soldiers of Canada, replied to certain criticisms of the members of the association in a letter published in an evening paper recently. He said that the association was in favor of conscription. "Each and every one of our members," he said, "is unanimous in voicing his opinion that any true British subject who had to be conscripted should be paid no greater amount than 15 cents per day and that in any way of thinking is far too much."

He said that no man could become a member of the association unless his discharge papers for medical unfitness had a character sheet attached vouching for his good standing. No undesirable could become a member.

FAVOR CONSCRIPTION. The Sir Douglas Haig War Auxiliary have adopted a resolution in favor of conscription.

There were three times as many young men in Canada just as able to go to the front as those already gone. Many a young man would say, "Thank God my way is clear" after the bill was passed.

Sergt. Turley said that talk might lose the war. The talk of the Jimmy Simpsons of Russia had extended the war one year.

Let us know, he said, if this country was to be pro-German or pro-British. The jubilee of confederation would be celebrated by a people who were heart and soul with the allies.

If the heart of the country was sound, we should have conscription; if not, God help those already gone. It would be a crime if we did not put conscription thru.

It was a crime, he said, for men to say that labor was opposed to conscription. Labor men knew that democracy was safe in the care of Britain. They might have cause for grievance, but they would have greater cause under the German flag.

"Men are dying because your labor leaders went down to Ottawa and lined up sixty members of parliament as opposed to conscription. They are murderers, and we should be partners in their crime if they are successful."

Ald. Sam Ryding called for a vote on conscription and practically every woman at the meeting in the southeast corner of the park held up her hands. Presentation of the resolution was made by Fred Dane and was received with unanimous approval.

"Canada and the empire is facing the most critical time in the history of the world," he declared. "The action of Canada has a bearing on the work of the allies in France. Ald. H. H. Ball spoke of the glorious record of England's first expeditionary force. "Let us not evade the conscription of

LATEST OFFICIAL WAR FILM OF THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT

JULE AND JAY ALLEN PRESENT

THE FALL OF BAPAUME

Today at 1 p.m., and Daily All Week

Under the Auspices of The TORONTO WORLD

These pictures include every branch of the British activities in France. They show many of the famous regiments, including those of Canada and the other overseas Dominions. They show them at work, at play, in battle and in triumph of victory. A considerable part of one reel deals with the air service scouting over the German lines, 8,000 feet in the air. Some of the pictures of airplanes were made from another plane, and the beholder experiences the thrill of fighting in the sky, the very limit of daring attempted by man to date.

Will be presented the official film recording the current historic events of the present spring drive of the British armies in France, culminating in the smashing attack which forced the Germans to retreat to the Hindenburg line.

These pictures are the combined production of six military photographers. They bring the war in pictures up to the date of the German retreat and the evacuation of Bapaume and Peronne. They are authentic, official, comprehensive and photographically perfect.

A special musical program by the 16-piece Symphony Orchestra of the Regent Theatre, has been arranged as accompaniment to this film. The doors of the theatre will be opened at 1 p.m. The film consists of six reels, aggregating 6,000 feet. In addition to the battle film will be shown one reel of naval pictures, the first that the British Government has allowed to be taken since 1915. These pictures were taken just after the Battle of Jutland and introduce some of the men who became famous in that engagement.

Our 64th Birthday

Truly the 64 years' service which we have given to an appreciative public sits lightly on our business shoulders. No evidences here that our merchandising faculties are anything but the keenest; indeed, there is striking proof that the years have brought us increased wisdom, and an ability to shape our activities more effectively as the days go on.

To have 64 years behind a business; years filled with the good wishes and active support of a clientele such as it is the good fortune of these stores to have—is an inspiration for all time.

To look forward to another 64 years of merchandising activities based on the same spirit of absolute integrity of purpose that has guided the destinies of these stores so far, is but to anticipate the support—in the future, as in the past—of our patrons in whose cause we employ all the business talent we can command.

Entering our 66th year we bid good-bye to our 64th with pleasure, and we mark the occasion by devoting a whole week to the distribution of bargain features in which the figures "64" will play a very prominent part.

Today's list of Anniversary Bargain Features is a very wonderful one.

The Greater and the Lesser Patriotism.

A great deal of clear thinking is developing about the war in the United States since that nation abandoned its indecision and answered the question: "Is it nothing to all ye that pass by?"

When things look blackest they usually take a turn. All the forces that are in alliance against liberty and justice are apparently consolidating for a final effort.

For Those Who Obstruct Victory. Many of these forces are unconsciously and against the cases which they would support if they had more wisdom.

It is idle to protest, against blind forces of this kind. We are not all alike in experience, nor have we all studied the lessons of the French revolution.

A Rest for Soldiers. Editor World: I would like, with your kind permission, to voice in your paper a plea for a truce for the boys of the first Canadian contingent.

Wallon provinces under German suzerainty. 4. Alsace-Lorraine divided between Prussia and Bavaria.

It would be well for all pacifists of every class and order to consider these things well, and decide whether they wish to become Germans.

It is idle to protest, against blind forces of this kind. We are not all alike in experience, nor have we all studied the lessons of the French revolution.

When the "certain man" fell among thieves, the problem of the parable was the attitude of others to the certain man.

There is another problem not dealt with in the parable—the fate of the thieves. The "certain man" was despoiled of his goods and belongings, and the thieves escaped with their ill-gotten gains.

NEW WAR FILM AT REGENT TODAY

Latest Official British War Pictures Under Auspices of The World.

BEGINNING OF THE END

Splendid Views of Tanks in Action and Fleet After the Jutland Battle.

At one p.m. at the Regent

There are today the first presentation in Canada of the newest official British war film under the auspices of The Toronto World. This film is a comprehensive record of the British operations on the Bapaume-Peronne front, a campaign comprising several months of last winter and spring. It includes a complete story of great battle—shelling, smoke screens, bombing, aeroplane scouting, and the infantry attack. It shows the Australians when they entered the evacuated towns shortly after the Hun had completed their work of battle line destruction and had cleared out.

This film marks the end of the first chapter in the allied offensive, and the second step in the German retreat from France, the first of which occurred after the battle of the Marne. The struggle will rank in the history as the "beginning of the end."

Troops in Action.

That Toronto people will be interested in these pictures goes without saying. The "Battle of the Somme" pictures made new records for that atrial attendance in this city. This picture shows the successful culmination of the offensive initiated by the opening phases of the Battle of the Somme shown last fall. It combines the British troops in action, the Canadian troops, the Australian, East Indian and South African troops, the airplanes, the showy trucks shown as they have never been shown in pictures before, and an additional battle line proper, showing the ships of the British fleet moving just after the Battle of Jutland.

No pictures within the easy reach of the picture-going public.

The pictures are educational, and the World wishes it to be understood that they are such as ladies may see without dread of harrowing views of dead and dying soldiers on the field of battle. To show the thrill and excitement of actual warfare does not necessarily imply that there is any necessity to show grisly details of horror, for by the exercise of editorial care scenes of the inevitable sacrifice accompanying a victory up to the conditions of war today, have been eliminated from this film.

A special musical setting has been arranged to add due impressiveness to the pictures.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

BY Clarence W. Chadwick, C.S.B. Member of the Board of Lecturership of The Mother Church, The First Church, Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Christian Science: A Religion of Right Thinking.

Entitled Christian Science: A Religion of Right Thinking.

A Thought World.

In the evolution of human thinking it is becoming more and more evident that we live in a thought world.

Whatever confronts us must be of mental procurement else there could be no mental or conscious recognition of it. What does the eye behold but a mental image projected on the retina? We see thoughts because we think them.

It was in the year 1856 that Mrs. Eddy made the all-important discovery that "all causation was Mind and every effect a mental phenomenon." (Retrospection and Introspection, p. 24). By Mind she means not the carnal or mortal mind, but "an infinite, supreme creative governing intelligence of the universe, eternal and unchangeable."

Health and Disease. Christian Scientists are a great deal more interested in the subject of health than in disease. They have found out that the right idea of health when intelligently presented to humanity is far more contagious than the thought of disease. They have believed in getting sick and then having to become proficient in a knowledge of disease before learning how to be healthy. They have learned that health is the normal condition of man in Christian Science, and that disease is a mistake of the human mind to be corrected by a right understanding of health as an attribute of God.

The present widespread interest in spiritual things is solely due to the transforming influence of the true thought of God as revealed in the Christian Science. The absence of light, which we call darkness, is dispelled the moment the light is allowed to enter. Just as with disease, it is also dispelled the moment the right idea of health is allowed to dominate human consciousness.

If sickness and suffering are of God Jesus would not have healed them. Nor could Christian Science heal them today if they are a part of the divine consciousness. The right idea of disease is that of a mistake of the mortal mind, and only as the mortal mind is put on and the carnal or mortal mind corrected or destroyed. In other words, Christ is the one and only saviour of mankind, and Christ is the true protector of God, who is infinite Life, Truth and Love. Because Christian Scientists understand the divinity of the Christ they are enabled to heal the sick and reform the sinner.

Christian Science Healing. Christian Science deals directly with the moral fault in the treatment of disease. If one is receptive to the true idea of God, ready and willing to be shown how to change his habits of thought, this idea will quickly supplant an institute of erroneous theories and opinions, and often bring immediate relief from suffering. The greatest reform movement on earth today is the Christian Science healing, because it means the coming of Christ to human consciousness. One who honestly approaches Christian Science, even as a remedy for some so-called physical ailment, will meet with the greatest surprise of his life.

Our Leader. Mrs. Eddy's vision of the Christ not only healed her of the effects of a so-called fatal accident, but enabled her to reach a purified mental height where she could spiritually discern the true nature of God and give them to the world. She named her discovery Christian Science, "She was to use her own words, "only a scribe could write the names of heaven in divine metaphysics." (The First Church of Christ, Scientist and Miscellany, p. 115), consequently she had no excuse for offering for healing the word of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." The world owes a profound debt of gratitude to this noble woman for what is considered the unique look which she gave to the world.

CANADIANS' TURN TO BEAR THE CROSS

Conscription Redeemed by Glory of Sacrifice for the Liberty of All Peoples.

CLARION CALL TO ALL

Says Casualties Since April Ninth Total More Than a Whole Division.

Appealing for a greater unity between English and French speaking Canadians and a stronger backing of the measures the government sees fit to introduce in its endeavor to provide sufficient reinforcements for the expeditionary forces.

With reference to the context, he spoke of the exodus of the Jews from Palestine, and his longing for the day of restoration, and the greatest of all honors conferred on him.

These are great days, when we are called upon to bear heavy crosses. As a symbol of the unity of the empire, an empire which today is fighting for its life, and the continuation of the highest and noblest ideals.

Never was there a struggle so completely divested of false appearances. "Are we acting as a nation should act, whose principles are all at stake?"

Crux of the Problem. "The crux of the whole problem is in Quebec and in the attitude of the Roman hierarchy in that province," he declared.

Alliston' Red Cross. A fine record has been made by the women's institute of Alliston who, with a membership of only 27, have in one year raised and spent on Red Cross work, soldiers' comforts, etc., the sum of $1233.

Appeal to Motorists. An appeal is being made by the great war veterans to owners of motors, asking that they send their cars to the local convalescent hospitals for the purpose of conveying the men to the concert to be given in their honor at Columbus Hall on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

GREETINGS FROM TRENCHES. "Canadian corps heartily reciprocate kind message from Ontario Women's Liberal Association," is the answer received by the Ontario Women's Liberal Association in reply to their greetings sent overseas while in season, and given to the boys thru the courtesy of General Byng.

HONORED THE MEMORY OF LATE SECRETARY

Representatives of Y. M. C. A. Attend Memorial Service of Late W. H. Whinton.

Representatives of the Bloor street Presbyterian church, the National Council of the Y. M. C. A., the board of directors, the Broadway and the West end branches of the Y. M. C. A., and the Masonic Fraternity, all joined in the memorial service held yesterday afternoon at the central Y. M. C. A. in honor of the late W. H. Whinton, financial secretary for over eight years of the Y. M. C. A.

All spoke in the highest praise of his past work in connection with the association and his unselfish life of self-sacrifice. The president, Harry Ryrie, who presided, said that Mr. Whinton's life appeared to have been perfect except that it had been all too short.

With reference to the context, he spoke of the exodus of the Jews from Palestine, and his longing for the day of restoration, and the greatest of all honors conferred on him.

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

THE ROBINS PLAYERS.

One of the most notable productions made so far by Edward H. Robins and the Robins Players will be given this week when they will present for the first time in stock the greatest dramatic success England has known in the last 25 years, "Romance," a love story of old New York.

All spoke in the highest praise of his past work in connection with the association and his unselfish life of self-sacrifice. The president, Harry Ryrie, who presided, said that Mr. Whinton's life appeared to have been perfect except that it had been all too short.

Society

Sir Thomas White and Lady White arrived in town on Sunday morning and left for Ottawa again last night. The Hon. the Premier, Lady Hearst and the Misses Hearst spent the week end at the Clifton Inn, Niagara Falls, Ont.

All spoke in the highest praise of his past work in connection with the association and his unselfish life of self-sacrifice. The president, Harry Ryrie, who presided, said that Mr. Whinton's life appeared to have been perfect except that it had been all too short.

With reference to the context, he spoke of the exodus of the Jews from Palestine, and his longing for the day of restoration, and the greatest of all honors conferred on him.

TREAT INDIANS IN BOLIVIA AS BEASTS OF BURDEN

Rev. A. G. Baker Addresses Bloor Street Baptist Congregation on Missionary Work. That there are over 500,000 Indians in Bolivia, who are in great need of religious education, was the statement made yesterday morning by Rev. A. G. Baker of Bolivia in the Bloor Street Baptist church, under the auspices of the congregation. These Indians, he said, were treated by the people as mere beasts of burden and in order to raise their standard of life a very active missionary work was necessary.

Interesting Letter Regarding
Crop Conditions in Gorrie

FALL WHEAT FAILURE

Three Parts Has to Be Plowed
Under in That Vicinity.

Gorrie, May 30.—Seeding has been rapid this season due to the cold and late spring but it is practically all in now excepting the roots; of course it is early growing in the north. Potatoes and corn are going in the ground now. I have been planting potatoes this afternoon. The chief work of the present is hauling out the manure for the potatoes and corn and the roots, and then it has to be plowed under and harrowed. The grain has made wonderful progress this last day or two, oats are about two inches high, clover and wheat has been a failure around here. Three-parts has been plowed under and fresh seed sown in its place, but I think the farmers know what is expected of them. It is the horse-breeding time now. The stud horses are all traveling round, such fine big horses for breeding. You ask me what my work consists of. I get up about 6 o'clock, go out to the barn, feed horses and pigs, and then I take the milk to the creamery. I have six cows at present, then separate the milk, keeping the cream for butter; skim milk I give to the calves. It is a hard time, but I am glad to be out of doors. Root of day is filled in many ways; last week we were clearing a field of stones, some being so large that it was necessary to use a crane and a long chain to pull them out of the ground. Supper time at 6 o'clock, then feeding and milking again finishes the day. The work is different work time on. The young cattle are out to the pasture now; only the cows and horses kept in at present.

WHAT ABOUT THE FARMERS?

The Hon. Bonar Law addressed a large gathering of members of the British Home Farmers' Association at an annual budget speech on the financial affairs of the government. This year the increased amount of tax on the land is a matter of great concern to the farmers. Mr. Law said that the government is engaged in all kinds of trade whose profits were larger than in the year 1914. It is surprising to see how many farmers drive their motor cars. I remain yours sincerely, Fred R. Toplis.

POTATOES FOR AUTOMOBILES.

What the high prices of potatoes and other foodstuffs means to farmers is suggested in the following extract from a letter received by a respondent from a commercial traveler in Florida: "The potato farmers in Hastings, Fla., where we are working now from potatoes from 100 acres at $2 a barrel, are getting $2100 for a packard for his barefoot kids to ride around in. Just think of getting 500 barrels of potatoes for the price of a packard. Here is an instance where high prices paid to the producer, taken from the pockets of the consumer, are not properly valued by the grower."

RECONSTRUCTION COMMITTEE.

A. D. Hall suggests that it is possible to increase British agricultural output by about $20,000,000 a year, and to employ from 80,000 to 100,000 more men in the industry. These could be normally grown nearly 60 per cent of the wheat consumed, and all the oats, while producing more food for cattle than present, and an extra two million pounds worth of potatoes. This is important, if true, then, if Great Britain can normally grow two-thirds of the wheat she requires, and can intensify the yield per acre from 25 to 40 bushels, as Professor Hiffen, an expert adviser of the committee, says can be done, then the 30 per cent of home consumption normally obtained from India and today by the civic purchasing commission can be self-sufficient in the most vital of all foods. Great changes are foreshadowed in the agriculture of the British Isles. The deer forests of Scotland and the same preserves in England and Ireland will come under cultivation to produce wheat and potatoes. No land that would be serviceable to raise crops will be permitted to remain unworked, should the owner or tenant be obstinate after the government has offered him the right to enter upon the land to bring it into proper cultivation.

CITY CUTS PRICES.

Special to The Toronto World. Chatham, June 3.—Between six and seven hundred pounds of butter at 26 cents a pound, were sold to the citizens of Chatham yesterday evening and today by the civic purchasing board. Early this morning the market price was 45 cents a pound, but towards noon it was reduced to 38 cents. A considerable quantity of flour and potatoes were also disposed of by the board to the ratepayers at cost.

FARMERS GRATEFUL FOR HELP RECEIVED

Mutual Appreciation of Experience Expressed in Letters From Farmer and Volunteer.

Appreciation is a quality of the farmer, and, that he is not unwilling to express his good opinions at the right time may be seen by reading the letters below. The tractor and the hired man are both mentioned favorably, while the men behind the war production club must feel that their efforts have not been in vain when they read letters such as the samples reproduced. As will be seen, these letters reflect the experience of both the volunteer hired man and the farmer. One of the most far-reaching results of this voluntary farm labor movement, which is approved by the Ontario department of agriculture and the Toronto Board of Trade, will undoubtedly be a greater mutual appreciation of the other's point of view on the part of the city man as well as the farmer.

Wexford, Ont., May 2, 1917.

Dear Mr. Trimble: I arrived here safely and I am now taking the chance to write you and thank you for the position which you secured for me. The night I came Mr. [Name] and I carried my trunk for a half mile by way of the railway tracks. The people here are very nice, as far as I can see and expect. I got up at 5 in the morning and went to the stables feeding stock, after which I have breakfast, then I take the milk three-quarters of a mile to the town line and come back and work in the fields till noon. After dinner I work in the fields till 5:30, do some chores, have supper at 6:30 and then plump and hit the hay. We are not finished our seeding yet, but very near. Yours truly, Donald M. Ross.

Brampton, April 30, 1917.

Mr. G. T. Peppal, Toronto. Dear Sir,—I am taking the liberty of writing you to enquire if you could possibly arrange to extend my leave until say Wednesday, May 9. I hope I am not asking too much. By Saturday morning the weather continues favorable, we shall have finished completely the seeding of about 60 acres, which the farmer consented to enable me to finish seeding this week.—Yours truly, B. P. Lake.

Inglewood, April 29, 1917.

Mr. J. C. Westerman, Toronto. Dear Sir,—With your kind permission I take great pleasure in writing you this letter to let you know that I have returned and sound and feeling rather fine and getting along nicely. My present position I now have a week in and sort of like it, and I must leave here Friday morning in order to work for, and I am getting the very best of treatment. Of course, when a person does as he is requested he can't help but get good treatment in return.

We have long hours, of course—from 5:30 a.m. till 8 p.m., but it is to be expected at this time of the season. I am glad to say that thru our hard work we shall be finished seeding in another week, and I expect to be back in Toronto in about three weeks.

Yours truly, Jos. Thiveling. P.S.—Best regards to all the boys at the store.

(Sgd.) Garnet Hamilton, Streetville P. O., R.R. No. 2, Ont. Streetville, May 5th, 1917.

Nashville, April 30, 1917.

Mr. Trimble: The man which you sent me (Mr. Herra) gave me good satisfaction. He helped me with my seeding. I would like for you to try and get me a good experienced young man for six months, if possible as I am in need of help. Thanking you very much for what you have done for me. Yours truly, Jas. W. Nattress, Nashville.

Newton Brook, May 21, 1917.

Mr. E. F. Trimble, Toronto. Dear Sir: Allow me to thank you and also the members of the War Production Club for their efforts in sending me such efficient help in assistance that their tractor has rendered to me. Thru meeting with an accident, I was unable to get my place seeded, now we have got everything in nicely, and also I beg to make special mention of the untiring efforts of your Mr. Moffatt to assist the work along and also of Mr. Greig and his staff of the Massey Harris Co. I think that the tractor is going to overcome the labor shortage to a very great extent and after harvest I shall try and get your tractor for the fall plowing again. I beg to turn my sincere thanks and I remain, Yours truly, Alex. Watson.

THE CALGARY LIVE STOCK MARKET.

The market for steers for the week ending May 26 at Calgary was decidedly weaker, hardly any cattle selling at over 10c. The live stock market of the Alberta Farmers' Co-operative Co. sold one car of 18 steers for Mr. Chipperley at Olds for $10.25, this being the highest price paid on the Calgary market this week. Best butcher steers are at from $9.25 to $9.75, extra good cows up to 9c; stocker cattle slow and dragsy. The hog market opened strong at last week's prices. We sold all our hogs at $15.95. On Thursday, in sympathy with the eastern markets, the market dropped to $15.40. No fat sheep on the market. The commission firm of Wade & Jack bought eight cars of hogs for the Wm. Davies Co. and six cars for Matthews, Blackwell & Co., Montreal. We do not look for hog prices to advance much now, as we are getting pretty fair runs of hogs.

ONTARIO SHORTHORN CATTLE TOP THE LIST

These Shorthorns were bred in Canada and are owned by an Ontario breeder, Gordon Anld of Guelph. Countess 16th was grand champion on the fall fair show routes, both in eastern and western Canada, last year and was second prize female at the Chicago show. Burnbrae Sultan was first prize bull at Chicago and was grand champion in eastern and western Canada. Together they are worthy examples of how Ontario breeders are setting the pace.

LABOR-SAVING DEVICES NECESSARY TO FARMERS

Hand and Power Machinery Designed to Help Farmers Should Be Thoroughly Investigated.

"Good morning! Yes, my husband is at the farm near Mulock's Corners. You can take the Metropolitan car and he will drive you over in his motor. We were just turning to go when a dull buzzing noise attracted our attention and the good lady of the house said, 'There comes a flying machine. And indeed, I beheld this new wonder of civilization traveling towards us way up in the bright clear sky of Wednesday afternoon. It was steady, swift moving, graceful humming bird, approached the city at a great height, then turned gradually and made off in a northwesterly direction, and soon was lost to sight in the distant heavens.' At the moment, of course, we know the airplane as the advance agent of destruction. Indeed, it is the very eye of the army and navy, the artillery messenger, as they are, to see beyond the haze of the unaided human eye.

But what of the future? Is it not but a few short years since the world first heard of the possibility of flying in a machine actually heavier than the air? Not a great effort is needed to turn our thought to the great opportunity that is already standing with open arms waiting till these weapons are transformed into busy bees and the resumption of peace reminds us of the fact that the flying machine, the tractor and motor car, has come to be the humanly in very truth to rise above its limitations, and that its nature is to be not that of the hawk, but rather of the pigeon; its chief use is not the carrying of bombs, but rather to be a natural means of better communication between people living apart.

Service the Necessity. The lesson all are learning is how to give and how to receive the greatest amount of help, and people are finding out that those who make themselves more accessible to their neighbors are generally the ones who have the more advanced ideas and who are the owners of the greatest labor-saving devices. Just stop to think of your friends who own an automobile, a tractor, a milking machine, a water supply system, an electric light plant or other such advance agent of better and more successful farming, and you will probably admit that he is a good neighbor who both makes himself known to others and has a ready welcome to the visitor, more especially if the visitor is interested in his new milking machine or his other valued possessions.

Very shortly we will have an article on the milking machine, and we cannot too strongly urge upon our readers the desirability of visiting any nearby farms where such a machine may be installed, and of course this applies to all other advanced inventions whose favorable performances are not so generally known to the neighbors. The binder, the threshing machine and other labor-saving machines which are still in process of improvement, even as is the flying machine, and will one day come to state that the time will never come when the journey to Mulock's Corners will be made by air rather than by the motor car.

TORONTO MAN ENLISTS.

Special to The Toronto World. Chatham, June 2.—George Albert Stinson, Toronto, best his way on a freight train to Chatham yesterday to enlist. He has been accepted for the overseas company of the 25th Regiment at St. Thomas. Stinson told the recruiting officer that his father was opposed to him joining up. His two brothers are serving at the front.

BRITISH FOOD CONTROLLER'S STRONG ARM.

At Old Street police court, London, Messrs. Glasgow, Son and Fooket, hay and corn dealers, were charged for selling hay, straw, and forage at higher prices than allowed by government regulation. The defence was that the sales were on a contract before the regulations were made. The summons in all totaled 14. In all, the penalties with costs, amounted to £182, 13s.

Another firm that has been in business 150 years, answered five summonses for similar offences. In this case the military authority did not ask for a heavy penalty or costs, as every penny the overcharge had been refunded. They were fined £15 on the five charges. No costs were allowed.

PUT A LIMIT ON PROFITS.

What the United States must do is fix a fair and even a liberal profit for manufacturers. Beyond that no producer should be permitted to go, and the indications are that he will not be permitted to do so. He would be multiplied by reckless waste for the burden of paying outrageous prices for raw materials in war in prices that very few might reap large profits. Our country has indulged in the council of national defence. It is now time to sober up. The hard-earned profits have been made during the last two years—made out of the belated bread-crumbs that were left over from the war. A fair quantity of potatoes was offered at the same price as last Saturday. The price of wheat is $2.25 a bushel on the spot market today. This is another drop of 25 cents from the price of last week. Flour is selling wholesale at $13 a barrel. Despite this there has been no reduction in the price of bread.

GERMAN GREEN CROP TO BE CONFISCATED.

Addressing a large meeting at Neustadt, Dr. Hiesinger, member of the centre party in the Reichstag, said that a new and heavy restriction for the farmers' class was imminent and that he personally was the author of it. This summer, at the moment when the first crops are ripening, the entire crop of bread-grain crop will be compulsorily confiscated. Only from a quarter to a third of the crop will be left to the farmers, everything will be organized on military lines. Farmers will receive their maximum price, plus the early threshing bonus of two marks per centner. Owing to the bad grain harvest of last year, this year's supplies are short. From August 16, next, the new harvest will be available, owing to the early threshing.

BURNBRAE SULTAN

These Shorthorns were bred in Canada and are owned by an Ontario breeder, Gordon Anld of Guelph. Countess 16th was grand champion on the fall fair show routes, both in eastern and western Canada, last year and was second prize female at the Chicago show. Burnbrae Sultan was first prize bull at Chicago and was grand champion in eastern and western Canada. Together they are worthy examples of how Ontario breeders are setting the pace.

SOME OF THE LIVE STOCK MARKETS IN ONTARIO.

The lowering of the prices paid for live hogs during the past week has stood in the way of any records being obtained for the sale of one or more hogs on the local markets. However, there is room and incentive to other farmers when a choice bunch of hogs are recorded, they are a credit to the feeder, the live stock buyer, and the butcher, an ad toothsome relish to the consumer.

That it pays to raise the right kind was made plain last week, when Andrew Lamont, 10th con. G'ry, sold a couple of 2-year-old steers, the best of which brought him $173 and the other $154. Samuel Walker was the owner of the latter animal. Mr. Lamont disposed of two similar steers five years ago, when he took about $200 as against $282 last week, while $22 for one he got for the two. Mr. Lamont is a good farmer.

F. W. Hobbs and son, Pickering, shipped 21 head of cattle which realized nearly $800. Who is better off than the farmer? A Beckwick, a Lanark County farmer, realized on $2,200 a few days ago for a herd of young cattle, most of them only 18 months old. M. Thompson of Chesley, a leading live stock dealer, issued cheques to the amount of $2,586 one day recently for cattle delivered at Chesley. Andrew Beacocher, Tavistock, shipped a car of cattle to Toronto last Saturday.

Six cars of cattle were shipped from the yards at Chateaufort, Toronto, and Brockville, and a poor crop about St. Thomas, Brantford, Belleville, Peterboro, Collingwood, Barrie and Owen Sound. Reports from all districts would indicate that spring wheat has gone in good shape and is doing well in nearly all parts of the province. It is too early to speak of the corn crop with any confidence, but the general impression seems to be that there will be a good acreage sown. Clover and timothy are a fair crop in territories tributary to Chatham, Windsor, London, Walkerton, Toronto and Brockville, and a poor crop about St. Thomas, Brantford, Belleville, Peterboro, Collingwood and Owen Sound.

Seeding has been carried on much more satisfactorily than last year, when excessive rain kept the farmers, for the most part, off the land until late in May. Our reports from the Province of Quebec are generally favorable. In western Canada our earlier reports were quite discouraging, the expectation being that the late spring would prevent anything like a large acreage being sown at the end of the month. John M. Quinn of Lanark, cattle buyer, has made an assignment to W. H. Stafford. Sheep-raising must be a good paying business, says Harry Carleton, who is able to report three sheep with an increase of four lambs each.

A number of fine looking hogs were purchased at Minden last Wednesday for army service, British and French standards of inspection. W. A. Lawry, Brussels, to Cobalt last week. Ben Edwards accompanied the car. A Toronto buyer picked up a lot of horses in the district of Bolton last week. A thousand sheep have been purchased by the New York supply committee, which will be sold to farmers now, in an effort to revive the wool industry in the State of New York. The sale will commence early in June.

BRANTFORD MARKETS.

Special to The Toronto World. Brantford, June 2.—Butter has dropped from one to two cents a pound, the prevailing price today being 40 cents. Rhubarb, green onions, lettuce and all other green stuff was in abundance and while the same prices as those of last week. There were live chickens on the market this morning, which sold readily at $1.25 to $1.50. A fair quantity of potatoes was offered at the same price as last Saturday. The price of wheat is $2.25 a bushel on the spot market today. This is another drop of 25 cents from the price of last week. Flour is selling wholesale at $13 a barrel. Despite this there has been no reduction in the price of bread.

The above article was printed April 16. It was applicable then; it is even more so now. Leading business men of the largest combines on earth called upon Secretary Houston, proposing to him that the United States Government fix prices for foodstuffs for a national defence. More than a month has elapsed. All the foodstuffs that they deal in or make, without exception, are more costly to the consumer. At the time the World made known how the wool merchants of the New England States sought to obtain contracts for wool from the United States Government, the council of national defence, the normal price, but they failed. There are some well-trained, conscientious men at Washington. There are a number of other large, carefully equipped manufacturing, mercantile and commercial concerns that will have to act straightforwardly or they will be swamped. In a lesser degree somewhat similar tactics have been in evidence in Canada.

PLOWING COSTS WITH TRACTORS

Agricultural Station Completes Interesting Trial Under Farm Conditions.

FIFTEEN-ACRE TEST

Results Obtained Will Answer Many Questions on Important Matter.

Note:—Readers can insert the cost in their district of hired man and thus estimate the cost of plowing their own field. As soon as similar experiments are carried out in Ontario are brought to its attention. The World will gladly publish the results for the benefit of readers.

The Agricultural Engineering Division of the Iowa Experimental Station, at Ames, has completed an interesting trial with a standard small-tractor plowing outfit, the results of which will answer a great many questions that the station has been asked to consider. The object of the experiment was to determine, under actual farm conditions, the amount of fuel and time required to plow an acre with a standard farm-tractor outfit, and to study the quality of the work that was done.

The land plowed was cornstalk stubble, classed as black loam and approximately level. The field was rectangular in shape and contained about fifteen acres. Thus the outfit was placed under rather unfavorable conditions as regards size of field, since the average field on most farms is twice as large. Lands with second crop furrows running the width of the field and starting at the edge of headlands about fifty feet wide. The outfit was operated by a standard tractor. The area plowed was accurately measured, and the time required to plow each furrow and make each turn was recorded, as was the amount of fuel used. The amount of fuel used was measured, and the time required to plow each furrow and make each turn was recorded, as was the amount of fuel used.

With kerosene costing eight cents a gallon, the average fuel cost during the test was eighteen and three-tenths cents an acre. The kerosene used during the latter part of the test was forty-one degrees Baume test, the lowest grade of kerosene obtainable, and there was no appreciable difference in the operation of the motor. One and eight-tenths gallons of fuel were burned per hour at a cost of fourteen cents per acre. The tractor required one hour and seventeen minutes to plow an acre, at the rate of .784 acres an hour. The furrows being short, about one-fifth of the time was spent in turning at the ends.

As determined by the dynamometer, the tractive horsepower delivered was 10.06, or it averaged a trifle more than the rated horsepower of the machine. The mean draft registered was 1677 pounds—maximum 1840, minimum 1476. The horsepower developed at two and a quarter miles an hour was 10.06, 11.04 and 8.85 respectively.

The depth of plowing was constant throughout the test and was estimated to be six inches. A point in favor of the three-bottom plow with fourteen-inch shares was found to be that it cuts the width between corn rows each time across the field. It was observed that approximately fifty feet is a convenient width to allow for the headland, as then the operator can easily turn into the furrow straight.

A summary of the results of the tractor trial follows: Net amount of land plowed during test, 5.14 acres; net time of plowing, including turning at ends, 10 hours 24 minutes; kerosene burned per acre, 2.29 gallons; kerosene burned per ten-hour day, 17.95 gallons; average time required to plow an acre, 1 hour 17 minutes; acres plowed per hour, .784; length of furrow, 16 rods; rate of travel of outfit, 2.25 miles per hour; average time for turning at one end, 38 seconds; average time for making three furrows, 2 minutes 46 seconds; percentage of time spent in turning at ends, 18.6 per cent; average depth of plowing, 6 inches; mean draft registered by dynamometer, 1677 pounds; mean draft per plow bottom, 14-inch, 559 pounds; average drawbar horsepower developed, 10.06 horsepower.

Many Men Will Be Getting Into These Straw and Panama Hats Today

Men who appreciate the comfort and improved appearance afforded by these lighter straw and panama hats will lose no time in getting into them. They know that for dress and comfort the straw or panama is far and away ahead of the stiff or soft hat--then, too, it's more seasonable in appearance. Warmer weather is here to stay and many "straws" will blossom today.

- Straws
